Mayor Akins hints at tax increase

Budget, projected rate may be finalized by Friday

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

Five days of concentrated work on the city budget should culminate in a finalized version and projected tax rate by Friday, according to Mayor G. Thane Akins.

Akins, who has been mayor since May, talked about city projects and his time in the city's top office to the Downtown Lions Club meeting Wednesday in Midland Center.

Because the city is growing in size and needs, said Akins, more money will be needed to provide services to residents. He hinted that the tax rate might be higher next year than the 39 cents per $100 assessed value that had been suggested earlier this year.

"City taxes haven't been raised for about the past 10 years," he added. Akins confirmed that the new budget includes hiring several employees for the police and fire department.

Money passed in the September 1979 bond issue is being used to improve streets "that are needing attention." The mayor explained that several streets built several years ago were not designed for "the kind of traffic we have now."

He added that the city staff is looking at making Michigan and Louisiana avenues one-way for east-west traffic, and at Loraine and Colorado streets for north-west traffic. Marienfeld is being considered as a one-way street to channel traffic into the downtown area and take some of the load off Big Spring Street.

Something will have to be done in the future about the city government's buildings, Akins said. In the 1979 bond issue, voters rejected items to enlarge City Hall, build a municip-pal court building and move the operations building.

"The operations building is sinking into an old landfill. We have to keep fans going to keep methane gas (seeping into the building from the landfill) out. That's no way to operate."

Municipal court has become so overcrowded that the city is considering adding a night session to handle the number of cases.

When questioned about the city's removal of parking meters downtown which are replaced with tow-away signs, Akins replied that downtown employees have been abusing the parking meters.

The meters were installed for short-term parking for customers coming downtown. "These are not intended for secretaries to plug every hour," he said.

The downtown parking problem possibly could be alleviated if an underground parking garage was constructed, according to Akins. The council considered, and rejected last year, a plan for such a garage under the park next to Midland Center.

And that park next to Midland Center should be coming to life by the end of summer. Akins said the contract has been awarded and work should begin soon. He explained the land was given to the city by the federal government to be turned into a park.

"The feds are disturbed it hasn't become a park yet and that people are parking all over it," he said.

Midland hasn't received any census data yet, Akins informed the group. Once the information does come in, the city only has 10 days to reply in a comprehensive manner if the city feels the figures are wrong.

School officials briefed on truth in taxation law

By SUE FAHLGREN
Staff Writer

Representatives of the State Property Tax Board gave area school board officials some detailed explanations on applying for reimbursement funds from the state under the new "truth in taxation" statute Wednesday when it met with local board members at the Region 18 Education Service Center.

At least 75 school board members from Midland, Odessa and surrounding cities showed up for the 3½-hour briefing session on the statute with three Austin representatives.

Because the new statute allows for homestead, agricultural use and senior citizen tax exemptions, the state provides funds to cover loss of revenues to school taxing entities for the next school year, as it did last year. However, in 1982 school boards will have to find revenues from their local taxes, SPTB representative Breck Bostwick told the group.

The homestead exemptions in the statute allow property owners to delete $5,000 from their assessed home valuations when figuring their local property tax payments. Additionally, citizens 65 or older can subtract $10,000 from their valuations. Further, school taxes for property owners over 65 are "frozen" at 1978 figures. As the representatives explained it, these property owners would never have to pay more for school taxes than they did in 1978; however, other local taxes could increase.

Also, schools will lose tax revenue from land used for agriculture which can be assessed under the new statute by production value rather than market value, which is frequently a lower assessment.

An additional tax exemption for disabled persons and qualifying survivors also limits revenues for school districts.

"The school district would be reimbursed because of the loss with a 45 percent minimum of revenue loss returned," Bostwick said. Because all allotted state funds for this reimbursement were not used last year, Bostwick said leftover funds would be added to this year's allotment, bringing the percentages of revenue return closer to a 55 percent minimum.

Bostwick showed school district representatives how to fill out applications. (See TAX OFFICIALS, Page 2A)

Mount St. Helens subsidizes as residents begin to relax

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — After spectacular eruptions that puffed steam and ash 10 miles high, Mount St. Helens went back to napping, and worried residents relaxed as a volcanic cloud floated away without leaving much of a dusting.

Relieved to find "just a bit of it (ash) on my car," Marion Lyver of Moses Lake said, "One thing for sure, we don't need any more of that stuff."

Only a glowing red crater remained as a hint of what may happen at the volcano in the future. Earthquake recording devices traced a flat line Wednesday as wisps of steam and a slight blue haze drifted from the crater where a lava dome once bulged, the U.S. Geological Survey reported.

The dome formed after the volcano's third eruption on June 12. It measured about 600 feet in diameter and 200 feet high when it was blasted into a clear blue sky in three pulsating eruptions Tuesday evening.

In its place, was a "large, glowing pit," said Charlotte Martin of the U.S. Forest Service.

Four Baylor coeds pose, but may escape McCall's wrath

WACO (AP) — Four Baylor University coeds bared more than their souls when they chose to expose curvaceous forms in September's issue of Playboy magazine — despite administrative threats of expulsion to any would-be posers.

Three of the four apparently escaped the wrath of university President Abner McCall by graduating before the magazine featuring "Girls of the Southwest Conference" was published.

But a spokesman for the university said disciplinary proceedings will begin against the fourth coed, though she, too, may graduate before the pending action goes through.

When Playboy solicited coeds to pose last spring, McCall vowed to expel any Baylor student who appeared in the magazine.

The Southwest Conference cover article features 38 women from nine schools in the conference.

Playboy plans an extensive media campaign in Texas and Arkansas and is shipping an extra 120,000 copies of the magazine to the area.

Impact of alien decision not great in Midland

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Staff Writer

Children of undocumented aliens attending Midland schools will not create the same problems as those facing schools along the Texas border and in Ector County, according to Midland school officials.

Monday's ruling by a federal court in Houston allowing children of undocumented aliens to attend public schools without paying tuition fees has prompted fears of overcrowding and strains on school budgets by some school district officials.

However, Midland school officials do not foresee such problems here. They have not received any directive from the board of trustees to develop contingency plans for such future action and they believe it is not that necessary.

"In the first place, most illegal aliens would not come to the United States for education," said Payton Cook, director of pupil and community services. "The majority of them come for jobs."

Last year, the district estimated they registered less than 20 students whose parents are illegal aliens, Cook said. About 140 children of undocumented aliens were registered in Ector County last year, according to Ector school officials.

Perhaps the reason for a larger number of illegal aliens in Odessa is that Odessa is considered a blue collar town, while Midland is a white collar community, he said.

"Also, Midland is 20 miles further away from the border," Cook added.

Children of undocumented aliens did not really present a problem to Texas schools until 1975 when the legislature enacted an amendment which did not pay school districts for having children of illegal aliens in their classrooms, said Cook.

However, the state pays school districts for legally documented children attending school for a full day under the Average Daily Attendance program which in some cases accounts for about 40 percent of revenues a school district acquires, Cook noted.

When the law went into effect, school districts could not collect state monies to pay for having children of undocumented aliens in their class-

Senate moves to ease impact of windfall tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, turning a deficit-trimming tax bill into a relief package for segments of the oil industry, wants to soften the impact of the "windfall profits" tax on royalty owners and marginal "stripper" wells.

The Senate voted Wednesday to refund recipients of oil royalties up to $1,000 in "windfall" tax payments. It also moved to exempt the first two barrels of oil a day pumped from "stripper" wells — those that produce less than 10 barrels daily.

The Senate approved those changes — which mostly would be paid for by higher taxes on large oil producers — as it acted on a package of tax increases designed to raise an additional $4.2 billion in fiscal 1981, which starts Oct. 1.

The $4.2 billion package — along with $6.4 billion in spending cuts — was mandated by the Congress last month as part of the now-forsaken drive to balance the 1981 budget.

In another budget development Wednesday, House Republicans charged that President Carter's projected $29.8 billion 1981 budget deficit understates the likely red-ink figure because it assumes enactment of a dime-a-gallon gasoline tax.

Congress overwhelmingly killed a similar Carter proposal only last month.

Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, said the administration was "just trying to make the (budget) figures look better" by including $3.5 billion from a tax on gasoline and diesel fuels in its new revenue projections.

The gas tax idea resurfaced this week when Carter released his mid-year economic review that officially acknowledged that the recession had made his goal of balancing the 1981 budget impossible. Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, told the congressional Joint Economic Committee on Wednesday that the administration planned to reintroduce the gasoline tax in January and anticipated enactment in the spring.

However, Latta said flatly, "they're not going to get that."

The Senate approved the "windfall" tax changes after rejecting 73-24, an amendment by Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., that would have phased out the royalty refund for persons earning more than $40,000.

That change would have about halved the proposal's $190 million cost.

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and himself a recipient of oil and natural gas royalties, said it was "a bad oversight that royalty owners were taxed" under the "windfall" law.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., added that the $1,000 refund, to be achieved through a tax credit, was not intended to benefit "some fat-cat oil well owners" and that many royalty recipients were retired persons living on small incomes.

Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., said relief for stripper wells was needed to save some from being closed down as uneconomical. The partial exemption would save owners of stripper wells $1.4 billion, a Bellmon staff aide said.

However, members of the Senate Budget Committee criticized attachment of "windfall" tax changes to the revenue-raising package.

"You've fallen into the trap of all finance bills ... turning them into Christmas trees," said Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., chairman of the Senate Budget Committee.

Miller holds firm in opposing cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, told the Senate probably will pass a tax cut this year, says the administration is not about to reverse itself and pretend that today's persistent inflation has become acceptable.

But that's exactly what would be required for the administration to endorse a Republican plan calling for Congress to vote immediately on a tax cut to take effect Jan. 1, Miller told the Senate Finance Committee on Wednesday.

He pleaded for the committee to delay action on any tax cut until early next year, saying a premature vote might undo all the government's recent efforts to slow inflation by restricting credit and federal spending.

The committee, which seems inclined to reject Miller's recommendation, sought advice today from several private economists.

The House Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, arranged to hear from Arthur Burns, former chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and the current chairman, Paul A. Volcker.

The Democratic-controlled committees scheduled the hearings after congressional Republicans and their presidential candidate, Ronald Reagan, began pressing for an immediate vote on a $36-billion tax cut that would take effect next year.

Republicans say the reduction — 90 percent of which would go to individuals — is necessary to offset part of the tax increase caused by inflation and to revitalize American business.

Miller told the Finance Committee the GOP proposal would fuel another round of classic inflation: too much money chasing too few goods. The individual relief would be felt almost immediately, putting more money into consumer hands. But, because it would take much longer for the business tax incentive to show effects, the supply of goods could not keep up with the increased demand, he said.

The administration request to delay a tax-cut vote until after the Nov. 4 election won general acceptance from Democrats on the Ways and Means Committee. But the Finance Committee was a different story.

"The Senate looks pretty much favorable to a tax cut voted this year," said Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the committee chairman.

Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., added, "We are going to pass a tax bill, we are going to do something here."

And Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, while praising President Carter's courage in trying to fight inflation and recession simultaneously, told Miller, "It's time for the administration to get its face up off the floor" and commit itself to a tax cut in 1981.

Administration officials have said often in recent weeks that a tax reduction next year may be desirable. Miller refused on Wednesday to go beyond that position, saying it is too early to tell what kind of stimulus the economy might need five months hence.

And just in case there is a tax reduction in 1981, Miller added, Congress should consider offsetting a portion of the Social Security tax increase that will take effect on Jan. 1; moderating the "marriage penalty" in the tax laws that sometimes makes it more profitable for a couple to stay single, and a simplification and liberalization of current provisions that allow businesses a faster tax write-off for purchases of buildings, machinery and cars.

WEATHER SUMMARY

Hot weather is expected today through Friday across most of the Southern states and into the Plains. Cool weather is forecast for the Northwest, while other areas should remain warm.

Midland statistics

Table with 2 columns: WEATHER FORECAST and LOCAL TEMPERATURES. Includes data for sunny days, high/low temperatures, and local readings for various times of day.

Texas temperatures

Table with 3 columns: City, High, Low, Precip. Lists temperatures for cities like Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Brownsville, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, Marfa, Midland, San Antonio, and Wichita Falls.

Texas area forecasts

West Texas: Partly cloudy Panhandle and southwest through Friday with widely scattered late afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms, otherwise clear and hot.

North Texas: Mostly clear and hot through Friday. Highs 94 to 104. Lows 76 to 86.

South Texas: Clear and hot through Friday. Highs near 100 except near 90 immediate coast. Lows near 80 coast to low 70s Hill Country.

Border states forecasts

Oklahoma: Clear to partly cloudy and warmer through Friday with widely scattered thunderstorms, mainly High temperatures upper 90s to 103. Lows 68 to 75.

New Mexico: Widely scattered mostly afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms. Otherwise fair through Friday. Highs 70s and 80s mountains, 90s lower elevations. Lows 40s and 50s mountains, 60s elsewhere.

Alien schooling ruling impact not great here, official says

When a child whose parents are undocumented aliens registers to attend Midland schools, explained Cook, the district makes a note in its records to the state that it cannot count that child as eligible for state compensation.

Insurance rate hike 'inevitable'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State Insurance Board Chairman Bill Daves says a car insurance rate increase is inevitable. Daves said at the close of Wednesday's auto insurance hearing that the board will make a decision in "mid- or late August" and new rates will take effect Nov. 1.

The weather elsewhere

Table with 3 columns: City, High, Low, Precip. Lists weather for cities like Albany, Albuquerque, Amarillo, Anchorage, Asheville, Atlanta, AtlantaCity, Baltimore, Birmingham, Bismarck, Boise, Boston, Brownsville, Buffalo, Butte, Charlotte, Charleston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Dallas, Denver, Des Moines, Detroit, Duluth, Fairbanks, Hartford, Helena, Honolulu, Houston, Indianapolis, Jacksonville, Juneau, KansasCity, Las Vegas, LittleRock, Los Angeles, Louisville, Madison, Miami, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York, Norfolk, OklahomaCity, Omaha, Orlando, Philadelphia, Phoenix, Pittsburgh, Portland, Me., Raleigh, Reno, Richmond, Salt Lake, San Diego, San Francisco, San Jose, Seattle, Spokane, St. Louis, St. Paul, St. Petersburg, Tampa, Tulsa, and Washington.

Extended forecasts

West Texas: Partly cloudy with a chance of afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms. Otherwise fair through Friday. Highs near 90 along the coast and mid to upper 90s inland. Lows will be near 80 coastal sections and mostly 70s elsewhere.

North Texas: Clear to partly cloudy and continued hot. Widely scattered thunderstorms northeast Monday. High temperatures upper 90s to 103. Lows in the 70s.

South Texas: Chance of thunderstorms along the upper coast and over southeast Texas Monday. Otherwise partly cloudy with no important temperature changes. Highs near 90 along the coast and mid to upper 90s inland. Lows will be near 80 coastal sections and mostly 70s elsewhere.

Oklahoma: Clear to partly cloudy and warmer through Friday with widely scattered thunderstorms, mainly Highs 90 to 106. Lows 68 to 75.

New Mexico: Widely scattered mostly afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms. Otherwise fair through Friday. Highs 70s and 80s mountains, 90s lower elevations. Lows 40s and 50s mountains, 60s elsewhere.

Fair skies, sunny days forecast

Look for sunny days and fair skies at night at least through Friday. That's what the weatherman's calling for.

Footnote: Oh yeah. Afternoons should continue to be "very warm." According to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport, the typically dry, hot weather Midland has experienced most of the summer should continue through this week. There won't be much break in the heat.

Daytime temperatures should reach the upper 90s Friday after an early-morning low in the upper 60s. Winds should blow out of the southeast tonight 5-10 mph, but become southerly 10-15 mph on Friday.

And the weather is just about as exciting throughout the remainder of the Permian Basin. Area weather-watchers were reporting warm temperatures and clear skies when contacted this morning.

Wednesday's high temperature in Midland was 95, much more comfortable than the sultry 103-degree record high for that date set in 1974. This morning's low reading was 66, only four notches higher than the record low for this date — 62 degrees — set in 1947.

Showers and occasional thunderstorms were also scattered from the Eastern Gulf Coast to southern New England.

La Donnie Brodnex grimaces as she is helped on to a stretcher by Midland emergency personnel. Ms. Brodnex was injured when a station wagon driven by Claud Gary and a pickup driven by William W. Wallace collided at the intersection of

Front and Marienfeld streets Wednesday about 11:40 a.m. Ms. Brodnex, a passenger in the station wagon, was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital and was listed in satisfactory condition this morning. (Staff Photo by Bruce Partain)

Tax officials brief school board

Applications for state reimbursements and provided them with deadlines for the applications. If the completed applications were received by the SPTB by Oct. 1 and if the district qualifies for the aid, Bostwick said, state payments would be received in January 1981. If the application is not received — or a letter from the school district explaining why it hasn't been sent — by the specified time, Bostwick said the Texas Education Agency and the SPTB will "terminate state funds to the school districts."

"I'm not suggesting that if you don't have the information for the application that you send it in anyway," Bostwick told the group. "Just get a letter to the board before the deadline."

Bostwick said at least two school districts had funds terminated last year.

After January, Bostwick said, school districts would have a period for appeal to the board if they were not satisfied with SPTB's audit of the application.

Bostwick said SPTB was set up to hear complaints about mistakes. "It is a Board of Equalization at a state level — more or less," he said.

He advised dissatisfied boards to do their own audit, or ratio study, of market values by sales records in each part of the city after January 1979 through the city tax assessor's office. "We will even help you put together your appeal," he said. The idea, he said, is "for you to let us know where we made our mistake so we can correct those mistakes."

Mistakes or not, in 1982 when all of Texas is to be using the ad valorem tax bases and comply with the "truth in taxation" statute, state funds will not be available for reimbursement of local school boards. Bostwick said, however, pleas could still be made to the state legislature.

"Unless the legislature takes some action this session," he said, "the money is not reimbursed after this year. If they don't deal with it, it's (the money) gone after this year."

Bostwick, who said he was not a lobbyist, did recommend concerned citizens contact their state representatives about the matter. "I would suggest each and every one of you do (contact the legislature) if you have strong feelings about it (the continued state aid)."

Local school board representatives who still have questions about the application or need additional information can call a toll-free number to the taxing board: 1-800-252-9121.

Miss Texas sponsors file suit called 'sour grapes'

DALLAS (AP) — Disgruntled sponsors of the Miss Texas Pageant first runnerup contend in a lawsuit that the contest was unfair and the winner should be ordered to surrender her crown.

Pageant organizers called the suit "sour grapes" and said there was no reason to dethrone the reigning Miss Texas, Terri Eoff.

If a state district judge grants Miss Dallas Scholarship Pageant's request during a trial next Monday, Miss Eoff's title and her spot in the upcoming Miss America competition will go to first runnerup Bobbie Lynn Candler, the current Miss Dallas.

Miss Dallas sponsors claim Miss Eoff violated the time limit during the talent competition that counted towards half the contestant's final score.

The sponsors contend Miss Eoff's dramatic reading at the July 12 pageant in Fort Worth ran four minutes and 45 seconds, well past the two minute and 50 second limit spelled out in the Miss America Pageant entries committee manual.

"It was to her benefit to be allowed to continue well beyond the time limit," said Rose Railey, a director of the Miss Dallas pageant. "I don't know of anybody that's ever violated the time limit that excessively after signing a contract that says she will abide by the rules."

"If they (Miss Texas officials) are going to arbitrarily choose which rules they are going to enforce, how can I continue to enter girls in good faith?"

Miss Eoff was not available for comment, but her sponsor in the Miss Lubbock Pageant, Jack Geddis, called the lawsuit "a bunch of hog wash."

Pageant organizers said the rules are only considered guidelines.

"There is no statement in the Miss America rules that says a girl will be penalized if she goes over (the time limit) — it just says she may," said B. Don Magness, chairman of the board for the Miss Texas Pageant.

"If she (Miss Dallas) had won, there wouldn't have been anything said about it. This is just a case of sour grapes."

But Miss Candler, who is not a party to the suit, said she had been treated unfairly.

"I have no sour grapes," Miss Candler said. "I'm not directly involved in the suit. I have no malice to Terri or any qualms about her. I think she's an excellent actress. She's obviously a good enough contestant to beat several girls who were veterans."

"She doesn't seem the type to violate the rules, whether she knowingly did it or not. But it wasn't run fairly and I didn't have a fair chance to win."

Miss Dallas sponsors said if Miss Eoff is not forced to surrender her crown then they will file suit to recover $25,000 they spent to prepare their contestant.

Big Spring man injured in mishap

STANTON — Randol Joe Davis of Big Spring was transferred to Malone-Hogan Hospital here and admitted for observation following a traffic accident near Stanton Wednesday evening.

A Department of Public Safety spokesman said the accident occurred at 8:25 p.m. two miles west of Stanton on Interstate Highway 20. Davis apparently was westbound on I-20 when the wreck occurred. DPS reports said Davis passed a vehicle, left the roadway and went into the median. He corrected and went into a roadside skid, slid back across the westbound lane onto the north side of the roadway and then overturned four times end over end.

Davis was not thrown from the vehicle. He was taken to Martin County Hospital and then transferred to Malone-Hogan in Big Spring.

The accident was investigated by Trooper Wayne Turner of Stanton.

Big Spring man facing 'indecent' charges

BIG SPRING — A 26-year-old Big Spring man was arrested and charged with indecency with a child Wednesday morning at his place of work, according to a Big Spring police department spokesman.

Earris Dunn Jr. was held in county jail until the $30,000 bond was met, the spokesman said. The incident reportedly occurred Monday night.

Arresting officer was Lt. Avery Faulkner.

PSA has 'unscheduled arrival' — a baby boy

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Pacific Southwest Airlines had an unscheduled arrival here — a 5-pound, 14-ounce boy born on a plane that had just landed on a flight from Los Angeles.

It was the first time a baby had been born on a plane owned by PSA, which advertises "pickup and delivery service to more than 500 communities throughout California, Utah, Nevada and Arizona."

The plane's crew called for an ambulance as the plane touched down Wednesday, saying that a passenger was about to give birth "immediately."

That turned out to be exactly the case, because four minutes after paramedics arrived, 25-year-old Teresa Carrillo of Southgate, Calif., gave birth.

Paramedic Lou Meyer said the only difficulty was that the umbilical cord was wrapped around the infant's neck, but the cord was quickly dislodged.

Jose Carrillo held his new son in his arms, then joined his wife in the ambulance for a trip to San Joaquin General Hospital.

Mother and son were doing fine.

Two men killed, two injured in collision of small planes

RIALTO, Calif. (AP) — Two single-engine planes collided in the air near a municipal airport here as they were attempting to land, killing two men and injuring two others, authorities said.

The planes, a Cessna 150 and a Pitts

Special, hit the ground together and started a small fire that was quickly extinguished, Police Sgt. Michael Visser said after the accident Wednesday.

Visser said firefighters had to cut open the twisted cockpit of the Cessna to free the body of a passenger, David Andrew, 49 of Rialto.

The identity of the other victim, believed to have been a passenger in the Pitts, was withheld pending notification of relatives.

The pilots — identified as Ralph Knight, 47, of Riverside and Jose Antonio Pabon, 32, of San Bernardino — were taken to San Bernardino Community Hospital and were in satisfactory condition, officials said.

The crash took place about 1,000 feet east of the airport runway.

"They apparently were practicing 'touch and go' landings and the Pitts airplane landed on top of the Cessna and drove it into the ground," said Visser, quoting a witness.

An investigation is in progress, Visser said.

"Both of these aircraft are difficult to see out of. Both have blind spots and the pilots have to be constantly on the lookout for other traffic," said John Gibson, a Federal Aviation Administration accident prevention counselor.

Anderson calls for Carter probe

He finds Billy's Libyan role 'distressing'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Independent presidential candidate John B. Anderson said Wednesday a special prosecutor should be named to investigate Billy Carter's ties to the Libyan government.

"It seems to me that the situation would require this type of treatment (a special prosecutor)," he told a news conference on the first day of a three-day campaign swing across California.

Anderson said he was not accusing President Carter of personal involvement in any wrongdoing, adding, "It is certainly not his (the president's) fault that he is saddled with a brother like Billy."

Earlier Wednesday, Anderson said he finds it "unbelievably distressing" that White House officials asked the president's brother to intercede with Libya in seeking the release of American hostages in Iran.

In his speech, Anderson said that on his recent 12-day trip to Europe and the Middle East, he found strong fears that the Atlantic alliance might be disintegrating.

"There is concern among the leaders of Europe that unless steps are taken to renew the spirit of the alliance, the Atlantic partnership may slowly drift apart," he said.

Criticizing what he said was the president's failure to share foreign policy decisions adequately with European leaders, Anderson said traditional American ties to those nations have reached "a critical juncture."

"In the past few years," he said, "our great and historic partnership has become increasingly troubled."

Europe no longer looks to the United States to take the lead on many international issues, including a declining world supply of oil and the Soviet military buildup, he said. As a result, "the steady coherence of American foreign policy has given way to a babble of incoherent and discordant voices."

Anderson, beginning a three-day campaign swing through California, a state considered crucial to the success of his independent candidacy, said his administration would "recognize that the alliance must be a union of equal partners."

Anderson must obtain 101,300 signatures on petitions by August to get on the state's general election ballot in November. State campaign officials say he probably will get at least 250,000 signatures.

Hotel workers face court order

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Striking bellhops, maids and restaurant workers faced a court order to refrain from picketing some of the city's most elegant hostelrys today as negotiations resumed in a week-old walkout.

Superior Court Judge Donald Constine granted a temporary restraining order Wednesday night for 11 of the 36 hotels struck by the 6,000-member Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union Local 2.

Constine scheduled a hearing Aug. 5 to determine whether the order requested by such Nob Hill landmarks as the Fairmont and the Mark Hopkins should be made permanent.

Attorneys for Local 2 could not be reached for comment.

The order, which was to be served today, restricts the number of pickets at doorways, prevents use of noisemakers and directs the strikers not to harass guests and non-union employees.

The order followed the arrest Tuesday of 46 strikers at a rally of several hundred union members in front of the Hyatt Regency, one of the hotels which sought the order.

A federal mediator scheduled a meeting today, the first talks since the strike began July 17, with representatives of the union and the Hotel Employers Association. Although neither side appeared to be budging, mediator Richard D. Williams said he wanted negotiators to meet face-to-face in hopes of producing a basis for further talks.

Vincent Strabella, an international union representative, said the local's negotiating team is "prepared to bargain in a realistic fashion."

Hotel association directors met Wednesday but made no statement.

Union officials, who are seeking improvements in working conditions, have declined to say what wage increases they are seeking. Union members now average about $5 an hour, the officials said.

Hotels involved in the dispute account for about half of the city's 3,000 rooms. They report they are at near seasonal capacity, despite having to offer reduced service.

A check of strike-affected establishments showed hotel group bookings were way down, non-hotel restaurant business was up and taxi and limousine business was slow.

Higher, wider bridge suggested

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Sunshine Skyway Bridge, rammed by a freighter in a May accident that claimed 35 lives, should be replaced with a higher, wider structure, says a select committee of the Florida House of Representatives.

The committee, formed to consider alternatives for reconstructing the collapsed span of the superstructure linking St. Petersburg and Bradenton, unanimously reaffirmed the Legislature's previous recommendations about the bridge Tuesday after nearly seven hours of hearings.

Republican vice presidential nominee George Bush is surrounded by a crush of newsmen Wednesday evening, as he arrives at a Los Angeles airport. Bush will be meeting with GOP presidential nominee Ronald Reagan and top campaign aides, beginning this morning. (AP Laserphoto)

State college tuition increases recommended for construction

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas college tuition increases should be set aside for construction and capital improvements, including computers and library books, a special committee on higher education has recommended.

The State Higher Education Assistance Fund would be established only if the 1981 Legislature approves an earlier committee recommendation to increase tuition at least 100 percent.

Ten percent of the increase would finance scholarships based on need. The rest would go into a special fund to be spent by colleges outside the University of Texas and A&M systems for land, construction, capital equipment — including library material — and major building repairs.

The Special Committee on Higher Education Financing in Texas, headed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton, Wednesday also urged the Legislature to approve a constitutional change that would allow UT and A&M to issue bonds and notes equaling 30 percent of all Permanent University Fund investments and assets, instead of the current 20 percent.

Kenneth Ashworth, state commissioner of higher education, warned it was a "high risk gamble" to disturb present state college financing which includes the Permanent University Fund for the UT and A&M systems.

"Texas has more funds available to make a great university than any other state," he said.

The Texas College Coordinating Board had recommended that a tuition increase go mainly for faculty pay raises, with building repairs and rehabilitation as second, he said.

President Max Sherman of West Texas State University said he had "a concern that we should preserve what we have and not commit ourselves to new construction."

Frank Erwin, former UT regent, said the constitution change was needed because UT regents planned to share Permanent University Fund financing with eight or 10 of its system schools, relieving the Legislature of the need to finance their building programs with state taxes.

Church group praises court ruling that state must educate young aliens

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas is "bankrupt morally" if it refuses to educate children of illegal aliens, the executive director of the Texas Conference of Churches said Wednesday.

The Rev. James C. Suggs praised a ruling by U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals of Houston that the state must provide a free public education to the children. He criticized Attorney General Mark White's decision to appeal.

"It is premature to conclude that Texas schools will be bankrupt by the influx of children of undocumented workers, but we know for sure that our state is bankrupt morally if we continue to refuse to educate those children," Suggs said.

In 1979 and 1980, conference assemblies adopted resolutions calling for education of all Texas children, regardless of citizenship.

Suggs said in a statement that he feared statements by some Texas officials "could fan prejudice against immigrants, especially Hispanics."

"It is deceitful to suggest that Texans can save money by denying free public education to one group of children. What about the tremendous cost — not only in dollars but also in wasted potential — of generations of immigrant children growing up without education," Suggs said.

Taxes paid directly and indirectly by undocumented workers help support public education.

COLORADO CITY — Services for Mable Clair Dalton, 80, of Colorado City, sister of George Allen of Midland, were at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday in Kiker-Seale Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. Homer Salley, minister of First United Church of Westbrook, and the Rev. Mike Cummings, minister of St. Luke United Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Trent Cemetery in Trent.

She died Monday afternoon in a Colorado City hospital.

Mrs. Dalton was born Jan. 2, 1900 in Butler, Ala. She was a 13-year resident of Colorado City and a Methodist.

Other survivors include a son, two sisters and a grandson.

Ann Fischer

Mrs. Leon (Ann) Fischer, 55, 3110 Humble Ave., died early Tuesday in a Midland hospital after a lengthy illness.

Rosary was recited at 7 p.m.

Wednesday in St. Ann's Catholic Church. Services were to be at 10 a.m. today in St. Ann's Catholic Church with the Rev. Clifford Blackburn officiating. Burial was to be in Resthaven Memorial Park directed by Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were to be Jim O'Neill, Max Schumann, Bill Parsons, George Goebel, Eugene Abbott and Don O'Shaughnessy.

Honorary pallbearers were to be Bill Kleine and Louis Beique.

James Bullack

ODESSA — Graveside services for James Oliver Bullack, 65, of Odessa and formerly of Midland, were Wednesday in Odessa Cemetery under the direction of Hubbard-Kelly Funeral Home.

Bullack died in an Odessa hospital Saturday after a long illness.

Born in Oregon May 28, 1915, Bullack was an apartment manager. He moved to Odessa from Midland in 1978.

Survivors include a daughter, a sister, and a grandson.

20 more executed at dawn in Iran

By The Associated Press

Twenty more officers and men of the Iranian army and air force were executed in Tehran at dawn today for taking part in the military plot to bomb Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's home and overthrow his revolutionary regime, Tehran Radio reported.

Another man was put to death for killing four persons because they "were not prepared to renounce their Islamic beliefs and embrace Marxism," the Iranian government radio said.

The executions brought the total in Iran this week to 51, including 25 convicted of involvement in the conspiracy. At least 500 persons were reported arrested for being part of the plot, and death sentences are expected for most of them.

Tehran Radio said the plotters executed today included four captains and a first lieutenant, all of them air force pilots; an air force technician and army noncommissioned officers.

An Islamic revolutionary court found them guilty of plotting a coup against the Islamic republic, planning to bomb Khomeini's home in northern Tehran and "mutinying against the Islamic regime," the broadcast said.

The plotters put to death on Sunday included a retired brigadier general and five air force officers, and the announcement of their execution said they were preparing a fleet of 35 to 50 air force jets to bomb Khomeini's residence and other key points.

The others executed this week were convicted of other counter-revolutionary activities and drug offenses.

On the political front, Iran's official Pars news agency reported that President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr appeared to have chosen Mostafa Mir-Salim, the chief of the state police and deputy interior minister for political affairs, to be the Iranian republic's first prime minister.

The news agency said Bani-Sadr held an unusually long meeting with Mir-Salim on Wednesday, and when reporters asked the police chief whether he would be the president's choice, he replied, "Anything could happen."

Pars reported Mir-Salim has the support of the Islamic Republican Party, the clergy-led, hard-line faction that dominates the new Parliament, or Majlis.

Bani-Sadr was expected to nominate his prime minister by Friday. The nominee will put together a cabinet, then with it face a vote of confidence in the Majlis.

Leaders of the revolutionary regime have said that once a prime minister and cabinet are confirmed, the Majlis can turn to the country's major problems and decide what to do with the 52 American hostages.

The Americans were spending their 264th day in captivity today. The Majlis is expected to delay the start of its debate on their fate for some weeks or perhaps months. But an Arab newspaper published in London, Al Sharq Al Awsat, reported on Wednesday that the revolutionary regime is considering freeing them in about three weeks, at the end of the Moslem holy month of Ramadan.

Quoting "well-informed Arab sources," the paper said the regime now considers the hostages a "heavy burden." It said the Majlis might decide to classify the prisoners as spies and order their expulsion from the country.

In the United States, meanwhile, police arrested two American Black Muslims and were hunting for a third one for the assassination on Tuesday of Ali Akbar Tabatabai, the former press attache of the Iranian Embassy in Washington and a foe of the Khomeini regime.

Tabatabai was shot and killed Tuesday afternoon at his home in a suburb of Washington by a man posing as a mailman. Officials said the missing man was the one who fired the shot.

Former Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar, the head of the last royal Iranian government before the revolution, said the target of an assassination squad posing as reporters last week in Paris.

New Hebrides rebellion ends peacefully today

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The eight-week, bow-and-arrow rebellion in the New Hebrides ended peacefully today — a week before the archipelago gets independence — when 200 British and French troops landed on the island of Espiritu Santo and were greeted with garlands of flowers, officials said.

Not a shot was fired and there was no resistance from the rebels on the South Pacific island, spokesman John Beasant said in a telephone interview from Port Vila, on Efate island, the capital of the 72-island chain 800 miles east of Australia.

He said rebel leader Jimmy Stevens, a former bulldozer driver who took over Espiritu Santo on May 28 with a band of tribesmen armed with bows and arrows, was on hand to meet the 100 British commandos and 100 French paratroopers.

"I understand there was a big crowd in Luganville to see them land," he said.

Stevens, who has said he gets his orders from God, had promised to meet any arriving military force with dancers and flowers, and French officials in Paris said the troops met no resistance and were warmly welcomed with garlands.

Beasant said the paratroopers were dropped in first, cleared the airfield and then the other troops landed. The French came from neighboring New Caledonia on Wednesday; the British had been in Port Vila for more than a month.

French officials in Paris said the joint force would act quickly to restore supply lines of food and other provisions, which were interrupted since the island's secession.

It was not known what action the government would take against Stevens and his supporters. The chief minister of the New Hebrides government, Father Walter Lini, an Anglican priest, said earlier that he would deport all foreigners involved in the rebellion.

Espiritu Santo is the largest and richest of the New Hebrides, which have been administered jointly by Britain and France for 74 years.

Sister Sledge guitarist dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Garry Cooke, lead guitarist for the musical group Sister Sledge, has died at the Medical College of Pennsylvania, a spokeswoman for the hospital said. He was 24.

Arson suspected

in local fire

Firemen suspect arson in a shed and fence fire about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The alarm was turned in by police, who notified the Fire Department of a fire at 402 S. Adams St. On their arrival, firefighters found the shed and fence burning and they used 900 gallons of water to extinguish the blaze. The fence and shed, owned by Margarette Smith, received heavy damage.

Firemen also were called to two grass fires, four miles west of Midland Regional Airport about 3:40 p.m. Wednesday and at 1415 S. Lamesa St. about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday. They also were called on to extinguish two trash fires, at Interstate 20 and Highway 715 about 5:19 p.m. Wednesday and in the 700 block of North Lincoln Street at 3:31 p.m. Wednesday.

Since Wednesday afternoon, nine people were transported by CFD ambulance.

Cook, who was also musical director for the group, had been ill for a year and a half, according to family members, but was able to continue touring with the Philadelphia sisters — Debbie, Joni, Kim and Kathy Sledge — until the group opened in Las Vegas at the beginning of the month.

A song by the group, "We Are Family," became the theme of the Pittsburgh Pirates last summer as the National League baseball team was making its way to the pennant and victory in the World Series.

Cooke, a composer as well as a performer, wrote music for Sister Sledge and other groups. He began playing the guitar professionally when he was 12.

He played for Blue Lava, the Best of Friends and Natural Experience before joining Sister Sledge as the group was beginning its rise to national recognition.

Funeral services were scheduled for Sunday.

Khomeini supporter charged in slaying of Iranian exile

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — An American Black Muslim supporter of the regime of Iranian revolutionary leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is being sought on a murder charge in the slaying of a prominent Iranian exile who opposed the Khomeini government.

Charges were filed in federal court against three men Wednesday, including David Belfield, 29, of nearby Washington. Belfield, also known as Dayoud Salahuddin, is wanted for first-degree murder and conspiracy.

Also charged was Tyrone Anthony Frazier, a U.S. Postal Service worker who had originally told police he abducted at gunpoint by three men who then took his postal jeep for use in the plot.

Ali Tabatabai, the former Iranian press attache in Washington during the reign of the now-deposed shah of Iran, was shot and killed Tuesday afternoon at his home in this Washington suburb.

Police say Tabatabai was killed by a gunman who was dressed as a postal service worker when he opened the door to receive what he thought was a special delivery package.

Frazier, charged with being an accessory before the fact, changed his story during questioning by police Tuesday night, authorities said. Police said Frazier named two accomplices, including Salahuddin and Horace Butler, a carpenter from Avondale, Md.

Butler was arrested Wednesday on a charge of conspiracy to violate Tabatabai's civil rights.

Officials have refused to speculate publicly about a connection with the slaying and the Khomeini regime.

But according to court records, a telephone number at the Iranian interests section of the Algerian consulate in Washington is involved in the case. Officials at the consulate declined comment.

Iran currently has no official diplomatic mission in Washington. President Carter ordered the embassy closed in April and its members expelled in retaliation for the seizure in Tehran by Iranian militants of 53 American hostages.

In documents filed to support the arrest warrant for Belfield and Butler, FBI agent Jerome Buyny said a telephone number given Frazier by Belfield, for use in an emergency, was the number of the Iranian interests section at the consulate.

Buyny called the section "a known cover for Iranian interests in America."

At a news conference Wednesday, police said Frazier, who like the two other men in the case is a Muslim, agreed to give Salahuddin access to his mail truck for $500, including $200 in advance and $300 after Salahuddin was finished.

Three aliens robbed, killed

SAN YSIDRO, Calif. (AP) — Authorities were searching today for a possible fourth victim of a border murder-robbery that has left three illegal Mexican aliens dead.

Authorities said the men apparently were the victims of border bandits. Police had no suspects in the incident.
