HOPES SAID DIM FOR PAY RAISE

The Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Representative Dewey Short (R.-Mo.) said last week that after discussing the Pentagon's proposal for an eight percent pay raise with former chairman, Representative Carl Vinson (D.-Ga.) he is convinced the pay hike "is impossible of accomplishment."

Representative Short, who last year supported the proposal to raise military pay and allowances by 10 percent, emphasized that the Republican 83rd Congress will stress economy.

There was this other reaction on Capitol Hill following the Department of Defense's announcement: Representative John Taber (R.-NY), chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee, and an opponent of the small cost - of - living - increase voted last year, said the new pay request was being made belatedly by a "lame duck" administration.

Chairman of the committee Senator Styles Bridges (R.-NH) said the problem of military pay would have to be considered with the entire problem of cutting, speeding and balancing the budget.

Representative Paul Kilday (D.-Tex.), who spearheaded the drive for last year's pay increase, said it would be "unfair economy" to deny to those in uniform at least the 10 percent increase voted by the House last year, but reduced to 4 percent on base pay and 14 percent on allowances after compromise with the Senate. "I am prepared to support an increase to the 10 percent increase without hearings," said Congressman Kilday. "Beyond that, I would want detailed facts and figures. There is no question, however, that we should vote at least as much for our military personnel as we did for the civilian employees."

The former chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Senator Richard Russell (D.-Ga.), said he did not believe the pay raise could be justified, "but I have an open mind on the subject," he stressed.

Representative W. Sterling Cole (R.-NY), said he was not enthusiastic over the pay raise plan and added "the proponents will have to convince me."

Representative L. Mendel Rivers (D.-SC), said a pay raise for those in uniform "is justified and I will support it. We have taken care of Federal employees," he declared, "but have overlooked those who fight our battles."

TALENT SHOW IS SET AT TUESDAY EVENING

Cash prizes totaling $44 will be given away at the January edition of the monthly base talent show which will be held Tuesday at the service club, according to Miss Mary Sufall, director.

First prize will be $15, second $10 and third $5, with the next ten winners receiving $2. The show is free to all personnel.

Among the contestants who will appear in the show are the "Shaving Muggers" quartet and Lew Raines' cadet combo. Other individuals or groups who have specialty numbers are urged to sign up for the contest at the service center as soon as possible.

Washington (AFP S) — A flat eight percent increase in base pay for all members of the Armed Forces is being recommended to the 83rd Congress by the outgoing Assistant Secretary of Defense, Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg.

Receiving the full endorsement of retiring President Truman, the prospective bill would be the first increase in pay since May 1952. Public Law 346 effective then, provided for a four percent increase in base pay and a 14 percent increase in allowances.

If the increase is approved the boost in the Serviceman's pay since October 1949 would equal the rise in the Bureau of Standards price index for the same period.

In addition to the rise in the cost of living, Mrs. Rosenberg cited a concurrent increase in pay of comparable industrial workers, improved morale and the possibility that enlistments and reenlistments would be spurred as other reasons for the proposal.

THE MARCH OF DIMES really helps out when polio strikes! Little Galen Overby, 2½, learned that the hard way when he contracted the dreaded disease last September and had to appeal to the National Polio Foundation for aid. Shown with Col. C. P. West, base commander, Galen contributes his bit to the drive, fully realizing the wonderful help given to victims stricken with polio. For treatment at the Lubbock Memorial hospital and future assistance he may require, the foundation took care of all expenses necessary to complete recovery. Galen is the son of T-Sgt. and Mrs. Warren L. Overby; a sister, Janet, 20 months, was not affected by the polio virus that struck him.

SHUTTER-BUGS SEEK NATIONAL RECOGNITION...

Reesemen May Enter AF Foto Contest

Air Force cameramen are advised to load up and start shooting in preparation for an all-Armed Force display which will feature a photographic exhibit in the Pentagon building 11 to 30 May.

Photos will be judged and ribbons presented to winner on pictures in three classes, according to a recent TWX from ATRC: (1) action photos showing interest activity connected with command mission (2) human interest shots depicting the operational activity of the command or installation (3) general interest pictorial type showing scenes of general interest.

Four negatives and a glossy print will be submitted in each category to ATRC by FTAF, the message indicates. It emphasizes, "Particular stress should be placed on quality of photos and pictures should have been taken or produced any time during the period from 1 March 1952 and 1 March 1953."

Shutter hopefuls should submit their photos to T-Sgt. Joe Blanks, Information NCOIC, building T-421 by 16 March in order to get into the competition. The photos will be sent to FlyTAF where the three best will be chosen and sent to higher headquarters for further consideration.

Urge Study For Testing Next Week

Airmen affected by the third group of career field tests are urged to prepare themselves for the exams which will be given beginning Monday. Sixteen career fields are being subjected to the testing.

Copies of career field study guides are available in those squadrons which have airmen in the 25, 32, 36, 42, 53, 55, 56, 72, 75, 77, 81, 83, 92, 93, 94 and 95 fields. Supervisors in charge of men on OJT also have the references.

Airmen who desire to advance in their career field and pave the way for promotion should be encouraged to self-study 1st Lt. Henry G. Phillips, base testing officer said in announcing the tests.

At the completion of the coming tests, about 90 percent of USAF active airmen will have been tested. The pattern of two testing periods annually for each career field will be continued, but test questions will be changed from time to time.

On-Base Class Begin in Feb. if Personnel Nod

Tentative scheduling of two on-base classes has been set at the first of February, Mr. J. F. Reeves, base education officer, said, adding that more students are invited to sign up so as to fill the required quota.

Courses in review arithmetic and English will be held if sufficient demand on the part of base personnel warrants their offering by the Office of Education Services, building T-421. Airmen wishing to enroll in the classes are urged to contact the office at extension 574.

The arithmetic class will include a review of grade school and junior high school mathematics. Including such subjects as the arithmetical dealing with whole numbers and common and decimal fractions and percentage, the course will be valuable in passing the high school level GED test, Mr. Reeves said.

Parts of speech, punctuation and spelling will be emphasized in the English class, which also will be useful for GED aspirants as well as in preparing for college freshman English.

Classes will meet two nights a week from 1900 to 2100 hours.

Credit Union Shows Gain Elect Leaders For 1953

Members of the Reese AFB Federal Credit Union met 20 January in the civilian cafeteria for their annual meeting to declare a dividend and elect new officers.

For the year of 1952, the union showed a net profit amounting to $608.55 before division among the members. It was decided to hold a reserve of $1222.54 for delinquent loans. The dividend was set at 2 percent.

The total shares in the union are worth $41,883.39, which are held by 772 active members. Loans given during the year of 1952 amounted to $101,320.37 in 2489 individual transactions.

Miss Ruth L. Allen, treasurer of the credit union, announced the results of the elections. Named to board posts were M-Sgt. Fred Sykora, Lt. Col. R. L. Bouleware, Lt. L. F. Mongeon, and Maj. A. A. Katt.

The new members of the credit committee are Mrs. Ellen Reifers, M-Sgt. James Rogers, and Mrs. Vera Noble. Named to the supervisory committee were A. Belous and Capt. E. L. Rhodes.

SUGGESTIONS PAID OFF for these four civilian employees at Reese last Friday. Col. C. P. West, base commander, presented the workers with checks for their time, labor, and money saving ideas left to right are Mr. James O. Mears, 2108 21st St., Mr. Van T. Walker, 2215 9th St., Colonel West, Mrs. Thelma F. Williams, 3115 Dartmouth, and Mr. O. D. Oakley Anton, Texas. Mr. Mears' award of $13.44 was for a wrench assembly he designed for use on aircraft fuel pumps. His method virtually eliminates breakage and saves many man-hours. Mr. Walker suggested a device for lining up aircraft tires for wheel mounting and received $12.28. His device not only saves man-hours, but is considered a great safety factor. Mrs. Williams devised a portable parachute tub which resulted in labor and time saving and generally improved working conditions in the parachute department. She received $10. Mr. Oakley received the top award of $50 for installation of an inspection plate on a gasoline truck fuel transfer unit. Saving considerable man-hours, this device permits working on the unit without removal from the vehicle.

A word about ideals! They are the sources of the power which molds our conduct, the well-springs of the inspirations which shape our aspirations and our dreams. They are the blue prints according to which we would build our character. They should be for us what the cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night were for the Israelites in their journey to the Promised Land — the lodestars in the charting of all our paths.

Without high ideals there can be no lofty character. As water cannot rise above its source, neither can character rise higher than the ideals to which allegiance is proclaimed. We should pay homage to the ideals of justice, honor, truth, righteousness and love not only in the realm of those abstract universals wherein Plato discerned the scaffolding of the moral universe and the evidence of God, but also in their concrete embodiment in the particulars of our daily conduct. The man of character must render these ideals incarnate. They must be assimilated into his moral nature and become part and parcel of his being.

Are we using our time to equip ourselves well with a character which will assure us of success here and hereafter? Remember the tried and true axiom—

“Sew an act and reap a virtue
Sew a virtue and reap a character
Sew a character and reap a destiny”

GETTING THERE FASTER!

GOING PLACES and getting there fast! That's what modern Air Force jets are doing.

You're going places, too. You are going ahead in your career, taking on more responsible jobs, and getting promotions. In order to do these things, you must keep abreast of new developments in your service, and keep on doing a good job.

Your professional education is a Library Offers New Book For Hobby Enthusiasts

Readers of Popular Science Monthly will welcome a new book published by that magazine and lately received at the Base Library. THE MAMMOTH HOME WORKSHOP MANUAL has directions and illustrations for practically any hobby you may cherish, whether your medium is wood, metal, of plastic.

The home handy man will find a wealth of suggestions for making the home more convenient and attractive as well as tips on the construction and care of sports equipment.

Visit your base library.

ATTEND OCS at home! You can take a course based on the resident Air Force OCS by enrolling for the Officer Candidate Correspondence Course of the ECI (US AF Extension Course Institute). You do not become eligible for a commission, but the course will be a great help to you in your career. See the base education officer about enrolling today.

vital part of your going ahead. Officers and airmen, lie men in other professions, need constant training to keep up-to-date.

You can keep up your military education by enrolling in courses offered by the USAF Extension Course Institute. These free home-study courses are designed for all grades. Four General Education courses, the Officer Candidate, Squadron Officer, and Field Officer correspondence courses, are similar in material to the resident Air Force schools at these levels.

Also, the Institute offers courses in many Air Force specialties of wide interest to service personnel. These courses deal with such subjects as Air Force procurement, supply, aerial photography and military law.

With the successful completion of each of these courses, you will receive a diploma for your 201 file. The diploma will attest to your achievement and bring recognition from "top-side."

You can't help but get ahead if you have the "know-how," the educational background these courses will give you.

KADET KORRAL ...

All Cadets To Be Shown Effects Of High Altitudes

One of the most interesting courses that Cadets receive while here at Reese is known as physiological training, or altitude chamber. During the last war many casualties were caused by unfamiliarity with hypoxia, or lack of oxygen, and the proper use of oxygen equipment. Physiological training consists of two phases. First there are about 20 hours of lectures and movies covering the problems of high altitude flight from a physical stand-point, and then there are three simulated flights in a pressurized chamber. Conditions in this chamber can be set up to simulate any level from the ground up to about 60,000 feet. Cadets are given practice in using their masks and recognizing the symptoms of lack of enough oxygen. They also undergo free fall from about 40,000 feet, and explosive decompression, which is nothing more than a sudden loss of oxygen at high altitude. All of which points up another way in which Uncle Sam trains better pilots.

The Cadet Choir is busily sharpening its chords for a spring concert, scheduled for the pre-Easter season. Director Paul Langer, a 53-Bravo man, also revealed that a tape will be cut sometime next week to be sent to Washington for use in the annual Air Force Talent Contest. Two of the numbers on the list for the tape are, "The Halls of Ivy," and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

This weekend at the Cadet Club features Phil Kligman's orchestra Saturday night, with dancing from nine until one. Sunday afternoon at three the cadet combo holds forth. Everyone is invited.

Brooks Combo to Play At USO Informal Dance

Playing for an informal dance at the USO, 1311 Main tomorrow night will be Ray Brooks and his orchestra. Well known as a popular combo in the Lubbock area, the modern group will perform for dancers from 2030 to 2330 hours Saturday. Hubbettes will be junior hostesses, Miss Leona Gelin, USO director, announces.

Next Saturday's dance will feature an auction and taxi dance to benefit the March of Dimes drive. Girls will charge airmen a nickel a dance, to be turned over to the polio campaign. An auction during the evening will be held with various items being sold for the benefit. A floor show has also been planned, Miss Gelin added.

Dear Mrs. Shea:
Can a WAF go to school after her discharge on the G. I. Bill if she is married while in service?

A WAF airman

Dear WAF airman:
Yes. Apply to your nearest Veterans Administration Office after your discharge.

Nancy Shea

We have been married ten years and now are considering adopting a baby. Do you think this is a wise move in these uncertain times and since my husband is a pilot in the A. F.?

A Major's wife

Dear Major's wife:
A childless marriage is always incomplete, no matter how compatible a couple may be. The woman who goes through life without a child is robbed of one of life's greatest joys. I am strongly in favor of adoption in cases where it is impossible for a couple to have children. About the times: they have always been uncertain as far back as I can remember. There are few things in the world so fine and so noble as a childless man and wife bringing up a child as their own. Surely heaven's greatest blessings should go to those who make institutional babies their own. . . may God Bless you!!

Group Holds Ladies' Nite

Ladies Night — the first for the group — was held Tuesday evening in NCO Club ballroom by the M&S Spellbinders. Guest of honor, besides the wives and dates of members, was Col. C. P. West, base commander.

Thirty-one attended the dinner with club members carrying on a regular club meeting attired in formal military dress, complete with white shirt and black bow tie.

Topic for the evening was a pro and con discussion of the advantages of being single versus the advantages of being married. Masters Sergeants H. J. Rogers, Keith Kavalowski and William Jeffries, and T-Sgt. John Custer were the speakers. Topic master was S-Sgt. Bill Lindsay and toastmaster was M-Sgt. A. W. Millard.

M-Sgt. John Andrews gave the invocation, the news bulletin was handled by T-Sgt. Robert R. Bizzack and wordmaster for the evening was T-Sgt. M. K. George. Sergeant Rogers acted as general critic, assisted by four evaluators.

A quartet composed of Sergeants George, Millard, Bizzack and Rogers sang several selections after a "spontaneous" request by the sergeant - at - arms. Present for the dinner were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Walter Kerbel. Colonel Kerbel, M&S Group commanding officer, is advisor to the group.

Sometime next month, the club announces, the Lubbock Toastmasters club will be their guests. Recently, the Lubbock group entertained the Reesemen at the Caprock hotel.

M/Sgt. Dick Synan, president presided over the meeting. He reminds that the Spellbinders meet every Wednesday at 1130 hours in the NCO Club and invited interested NCO's to attend. Those who wish further information on the speaker's club may contact any of the members or call any first sergeant in the M&S Group.

USAF Courtesy No Joke, Says Writer

By A-3C LLOYD SAULSBURY

How well do you know your military courtesies? Sure, you salute when passing an officer on the street or reporting to the CO, but do you know what to do in every instance that occasionally pops up? Don't get caught with your salute down; be sharp, know how to act.

Suppose you are riding in a civilian car when retreat sounds. Do you race madly for the nearest gate? No, stop the car and stay inside. No salute is required.

You and a general are about to enter an automobile, do you gracefully open the door, allow the general to climb aboard, wave madly to your public, and climb in last? No, not unless you have more stars than he. If not, enter first and allow the general the pleasure of waving to the peasants.

Next you are at a football game in civilian clothes without a hat when the National Anthem is played. Do you run out and get the girl friend (assuming that is, you are somewhere besides Lubbock and can find one) a hot dog? Might sound like a real cool idea, but custom requires that you stand at attention and do not salute.

Another small item — seriously frowned on — is bootlicking. The Airman's Guide, which is normally discarded at the end of basic, states that "no honorable man resorts to 'politicking' and 'bootlocking' as a substitute for honest effort." Quote, unquote.

The commander of a small craft is an ensign (second lieutenant). On board, would you address him as Ensign, Captain, Mister, Sailor, or Hey-you? To be correct, you would address him as Captain, as long as he is in charge of a military vessel.

Does an aviation cadet rank above or below a master sergeant? Your answer must be according to regulations and not a personal opinion. A cadet ranks between M-Sgt and WOJG, but does not have corresponding authority.

Well, did you know all the correct answers? No? Then you had better brush up a little or go back to basic. (Gad, what a thought!!)

ATRC Boss Likes Public 'Okay' of AF

HQ,ATRC. . . Commenting on a recent Gallup poll which indicated that the Air Force and airmen rate tops with the American people, ATRC's commander, Lt. Gen Robert W. Harper, expressed his pleasure at this evidence of public support.

"In turn," the general added, "our people should always conduct themselves in a manner to confirm and continue the public's confidence in us."

The poll referred to was the one in which people were asked this question: "Which branch of the Armed Services do you think should be built up to a greater extent — the Army, Air Force or Navy?" Of those interviewed, 54 percent voted for the Air Force. The army was voted into second place with 11 percent of the votes.

The same survey showed only a slight majority in favor of more defense spending.

The public's support of the country's air arm is a continuing one. A Gallup poll conducted in 1935 demonstrated that the public, at that time, also was strongly in favor of a greater Air Corps (the Air Force was then a branch of the Army).

53-A to be Commissioned Under New Program

Lt. Col. Lee R. Lambert, wing operations officer, has announced that the graduation of Class 52A-1 will be held on 2 February. The entire class will receive their commissions on that date.

Although all the cadets in that class will get their bars, only one-third will receive their wings. The remaining will not get their wings until a later date. Class 53A-2 is scheduled to graduate about the middle of February, with 53A-3 at the end of February.

The graduation ceremonies have been simplified and there will be no parades.

B'way Show To Play Here

Musical comedy in its finest fashion comes to Reese next month with the presentation in the base theater of the Broadway success, "Kiss Me Kate." The New York touring group will present two shows 19 February at 1800 and 2100 hours.

Hailed by many to be the finest score and lyrics ever written by Cole Porter, "Kiss Me Kate" rates as one of the few shows of all time to have attained a record of over one thousand performances on Broadway.

The show is being presented here by personnel services in association with the Civic Drama Guild of New York. The last musical seen at Reese was in March, 1951, when Cole Porter's "Anything Goes" played here.

The Roundup of SPORTS

Boxers Eye Golden Gloves

Reese's undefeated boxing team will travel to Clovis, New Mexico, to compete in the state regional semi-finals of the Golden Gloves 2, 3, and 4 February, coach Don Barr disclosed this week.

The highly touted pugilists are expected to capture some of their bouts and continue on to the finals in Roswell later in the month. As a team, the Rattlers are not up to full strength because of the loss of two boxers, middle-weight Clarence Peter and welterweight Bob Taylor.

However, the individual weight brackets are well manned and if the Reesemen do not turn up with a team trophy, they should capture laurels in several divisions. Continuous workouts and training have been carried on under the direction of Barr and Trainer Sheldon Katz to put the men in top notch condition.

The men who will make the trip to Clovis 31 January are Winfield Jay, bantamweight; Jack Davis, featherweight; Hank Williams, lightweight; Bob Steel, a newcomer in the lightweight class; Juan Garcia, lightweight; and Warren Dixon, heavyweight. Barr and Katz will also accompany the men on the trip.

The Reese boxers have scored wins over Perrin AFB, Vance AFB Ellington AFB, and Clovis AFB with no defeats in previous competition. Their record is good; the results of the encounter at Clovis will definitely disclose how good, and just how much Golden Gloves success can be predicted, Barr said.

WARREN DIXON, 205 pounds of bruising boxer, will carry Reese hopes of a Golden Gloves heavy-weight title to Clovis, New Mexico, for the state regional semi-finals. Dixon, shown working out on a heavy bag, is well known for his rugged boxing style with a treacherous haymaker attack.

Cagers Drop Two to Continue Losing Streak

Failing to click at the right moments cost the Reese basketball team two more wins at Kirkland Air Force base over the weekend.

The Rattlers lost 60 to 82 in the first game and 55 to 60 in the second. Taylor was the high scorer for the Rattlers in contributing 20 points each night:

Lubbock Groups Seeking Funds for New Iron Lung

A fund-raising campaign to add another iron lung for use in Lubbock and the surrounding area is under way. In order to make the drive a success, $2400 must be solicited for the purchase of the lung.

According to the co-sponsors of the project, the Odd Fellows and Lubbock Rebekah Lodge, the iron lung will be placed in the main Fire Station in Lubbock. A booth has been set up on the main floor of Hemphill-Wells company for collection of contributions to the fund.

A representative of the Rebekahs emphasized that anyone who cannot visit the booth may mail contributions to Lubbock Rebekah Lodge, P. O. Box 3204, Lubbock. Checks should be made payable to that organization.

mural basketball

Intramural basketball got under way this week at the base gym with seven games played.

In the three tilts Monday night ABG squeezed past PTW 42 to 37; Food Service beat the Air Police 28 to 21; and Base Officers knocked off AAC 46 to 31.

Tuesday night PTG outscored 35-05 Maint. 47 to 35; Cadet A whipped Supply 31 to 24; and in the tightest contest of the young season, Cadet B just barely managed to edge the Medics 36 to 35.

Next week THE ROUNDUP will present a list of all teams and their standings in addition to the game scores.

AN AIRMAN'S PRAYER

Dear Lord I pray on banded knee
That thou will hear my humble plea
For transfer from this barren plain
To lands of green, of tree, of rain
To land of soil that's free of dust
And I, of no necessity must Sift my food when meals I take
Or brush my clothes with comb or rake
To places where there's scent of flowers
And I might spend my leisure hours
With pole or rod on stream or lake
And hunt with gun in woods or brake
To land of rolling hills of green
Or mountain where the snow is seen
Where raindrops glisten like the dew
And snowflakes fall, and fall anew
To cities where it's safe to drive
No worry that I won't arrive
My car will keep it's factory look
And not end up with tarnished crook
To cities where the Pubs abound
And I don't have to look around
Each time I drink a stronger brew
Than something they call "Three-point-two"
Where Cowboys may be only seen
On stage or television screen
And cowboy shirts and boots adorn
The kids, and by the men not worn
To cities where they don't deprive
The "Juke-Box" of the thing called "Jive"
And Hilly-Billy tunes are rare
And not the daily music fare.
Oh! Lord I beg you look
To see if it is "In the book"
I mean MY transfer — just the one
If not! Dear Lord — "THY WILL BE DONE"

Amen.

The news from the local entertainment media is scattered for this writing — hence, here's a station - by - station briefing of what's happening and when:

KDUB-TV: At last! That's the sigh for viewers of Channel 13 when they tune to the Arthur Godfrey Show every other Wednesday night at 7:00 p. m. Next screening is scheduled for the 4th of February with all of Arthur's friends, Jeanette Davis, Frank Parker and Marion Marlowe to name a few. Those who've enjoyed the "empathy" of the Redhead on CBS Radio will get more kicks via the tele-waves. — Sunday has a tentative hold over at least an hour's worth of last Tuesday's Inauguration activities in the Nation's Capitol. At presstime, it wasn't certain whether the entire event would be carried or not, but the hour was pretty well verified. — Unless the entire five-hour Inauguration is carried, the new show, "Headlines on Parade," will screen at 9:45 p. m. — Two new religious programs debut this Sunday afternoon: "The Hour of Decision," with Evangelist Billy Graham, is carried at 3:00 p. m. And "What's Your Trouble?" with Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, religious columnist, is carried at 3:15 p. m.

KCBD-MBS-NBC: Show-wise, you can now hear the Houston Symphony Orchestra every Monday night at 9:00 with Efrum Kurtz conducting. — Personnel-wise, Hal Moon is leaving KCBD and radio for a sales position at the end of the month. He'll be replaced by Jerry Drennan the first of February. Jerry, married, with two young'ns, hails, most recently, from KEYE, Perryton Tex. Before that he was associated with KPAN Hereford, and KICA, Clovis, N. M. Welcome to the club!

KSEL: Harry Van Slycke interviews Professor J. Evetts Haley, head of the Institute of Americanism at Texas Tech, this Sunday afternoon at 3:45 p. m. Professor Haley, author of the recent novel, "Fort Concho," airs his views on the crucial subject of the Canadian River Dam. — In an effort to make sure every possible voter votes, the League of Women Voters airs a quarter-hour forum at 8:30, Monday night, on the payment of poll taxes. The show promises to be not only informative, but also a broad hint for all concerned.

KFYO-ABC: Tonight's boxing on the new 790 (1000 watts) spot features middle-weights Willy Troy, Washington, D. C., and Bobby Jones, San Francisco, teeing off at St. Nick's arena at 9:00. — Opera enthusiasts should tune in at 1:00 tomorrow afternoon for the "Met's" offering of "Aida." Production stars Zinka Milanob, Thom as Hayward with Fausto Clevea conducting.

A new thrill show of extraordinary happenings is entitled, "Tales of Tomorrow." Put yourself into the future and hear of things that could happen in another day by tuning in Thursday nights at 8:00. — Monday through Friday evenings' 6:55 spot has been filled by a five-minute newscast by Ken Griffiths of ABC Radio. — Uncle Arch has returned to the "fold" with an all new "Funny Paper Show" every Sunday a. m. at 8:30. All the kidders will get a kick out of this very pleasant thirty minutes.

The MARCH OF DIMES still needs your help. Give till it hurts, so that someone else won't hurt so much! See you next time!

Cop: How did you knock this pedestrian down?
Truck Driver: I dunno. I just pulled up, stopped the truck to wait for him to pass, and he fainted.

Volunteers Map Finale For 'Dimes'

You still have a few days to get that March of Dimes contribution in. The nationwide campaign to raise polio-fighting funds closes January 31 when an estimated 1,500,000 volunteers will begin tabulating the results of their month-long efforts to raise the needed money.

In a last-minute appeal, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, reminded campaign workers that more polio sufferers than ever before are counting on the March of Dimes for needed financial aid.

Cites Unpaid Bills

"We simply cannot let a single patient suffer for lack of funds," Mr. O'Connor said. "We must raise enough money to care for 58,000 who were stricken in 1952 and prior years and still need our help."

"This is in addition to the more than $7,000,000 in unpaid bills inherited from last year, together with the responsibility for pushing our research programs to the limit. We simply can't coast during these last few days."

Although local campaign leaders are optimistic about the results of this year's drive, no one could say whether or not the necessary funds would actually be raised.

Half of all money contributed to the March of Dimes is used by our county chapter to help pay cost of treating local polio patients or, in emergencies, polio patients elsewhere. The other 50 per cent finances March of Dimes research, professional education and epidemic aid programs.

A recent Gallup poll shows that most adults feel that a young man should be making $50 a week before marrying.

A SURPRISE in the form of silver bars was awarded to Lt. Henry G. Phillips Jr. Monday morning. Presenting the insignia to Lt Phillips is M-Sgt. Clyde Mouchett. The new first lieutenant has been at Reese since July 1951 and is assistant wing military personnel officer.

Failure will go running if you give it a swift kick in the can'ts.

MEET ... The Men Who Teach 'em How

By Lt. CHARLES R. WOOD
 Captain Robert E. Myers is the officer we have selected for this week's interview. While currently serving as an instructor in flight two, Section One, flying the Terror Six, Bob has managed to squeeze he moved to Chico and Oroville, where he attended high school. He moved back to San Francisco, where he graduated from Galileo High in 1938. Bob then attended San Jose State College for his higher education.

He embarked on his military career by entering cadets in 1942. He graduated as a member of class 43-G at Stockton, Cal. After graduation, he attended B-17 transition and then went overseas, to add a new twist, as a B-24 pilot. After putting in 50 missions in the European theatre, he returned stateside, and served as a pilot in the Bombing Thru the Overcast program at Victorville for two months, and then as sub-depot and engineering officer. He then became a civilian for two years.

However, in February of 1949, the Air Force again felt need of his services and Bob went back on active duty, flying the airlift for seven months. He then returned to Victorville for two years as aircraft maintenance officer. The next eight months were spent in mobile training instructing with a crew of specialists on C-97 and C-54's. Following this, he went through the Instructor's school, Craig Field, Ala., and reported to Reese. He enjoys his work and says he looks forward to teaching more students how to earn those wings. With his backlog of experience, we know he will do a good job.
