

Kids Welcomed To Annual Open House

A Decade Of Security Through Global Airpower

Special Entertainment Planned At Base For "Tomorrow's Leaders"

Hundreds of boys and girls of the South Plains and surrounding communities are expected to visit Reese AFB during the annual observance of Kids Day.

The base will be the focal point for the observance sponsored by Kiwanis International, with the Air Force cooperating. "Tomorrow's Leaders" is the theme of the day.

"The youngsters who visit us every Kids Day will have the responsibility of running the world of Tomorrow," Col. Dross Ellis, base commander, said. "During our open house they will get a glimpse of a portion of the Air Force and its importance."

Near the flight line the synthetic trainer section will be open and qualified operators will be on hand. Some of the visiting boys and girls, as many as possible, will be permitted to sit in a trainer and operate some of the controls.

Reese AFB will have on display on the flight line a T-33 jet aircraft and B-25 aircraft, with ramps to permit the boys and girls and their adult supervisors to see into the cockpit and other areas of the planes. Also open and manned will be the largest hanger, where men will be working on the aircraft.

The parachute pool also will be open and demonstrations will be given on packing of parachutes, how they open and perform their duties, and what would happen if the chutes are not properly packed.

Free Movies

The base theatre will show free movies from 8:30 to noon including Air Force films and cartoons.

Another popular spot is expected to be the captivator B-25, a cutaway aircraft on pedestals. Here the children may climb all over the aircraft. The nearby academic building will be open, including classrooms and their cutaway engines and other equipment.

The physiological training section also will be manned and operating. Here student officers and aviation cadets learn to high altitudes and how they affect the flier.

Base officials have arranged to keep areas of the base open for visitation which have proved popular on past Kid's Days. They have cooperated with the two Lubbock Kiwanis clubs in staging the event.

Another special attraction will be a diving exhibition in the swimming pool near the base gymnasium. Expert divers among base personnel will participate in the exhibition scheduled for 10:45 a.m.

United Fund Drive Collects $13,899

A total of $13,899.52 was collected in this year's United Fund drive which was slightly less than the 1955 total, Maj. Edward S. Ashley said. The 1955 total of $12,441.40, did not include the Air Force Aid Society drive, which was a separate campaign. This year the Air Force Aid Society was added to the United Fund drive thus accounting for the difference in total funds collected.

There are still other contributions coming in and these will be turned in to Lt. Col. Charles E. Wilson, chairman of the United Fund campaign. Starting next week Colonel Wilson will also accept contributions from new arrivals.

Major Ashley expressed his sincere thanks to all personnel for their efforts in working so hard on the drive.

ROTC Grads Dominate Members Of New Class

Student officers who received commissions on completion of Air Force ROTC training dominate statistics in Class 57-J, just arrived for basic multi-engine pilot training.

The class includes 49 student officers, 37 of them ROTC graduates, and 39 aviation cadets. The cadets include eight from Bolivia and two from Cuba, who will be trained under provisions of the Mutual Defense Assistance Program.

All but one of the student officers are college graduates. The one did not go to college. United States cadets include a dozen high school graduates who did not go to college, 14 former college men without a degree and one college graduate. Two cadets obtained certificates of high school graduate equivalency through study in service.

Thirty states are represented among students, with New York's 12 student officers and 2 cadets leading. New Jersey has four officers and two cadets, while California has three officers and three cadets. Washington state has five officers, while Massachusetts has one officer and four cadets.

Colgate university's six graduates and Virginia Military Institute's five lead colleges.

Reese Day At SP Fair

Friday, September 28 has been designated as Reese AFB day at the Panhandle South Plains Fair. Base personnel will be admitted in the Fair grounds free by showing their ID cards.

Four cadets formerly were stationed at Reese AFB as pre-cadets. They are Warren K. Vest, Joseph M. Schick, Arthur L. Dickinson, and Kenneth J. Bratton. The students received primary pilot training at civilian contract training schools located at Graham Air Base, Fla, Spence AB, N. C., Bainbridge AB, Ga., Malden AB, Mo., and Moore AB, Mission, Texas. The class will remain at Reese AFB five months.

Cadet Accomplished Varied Activities

For versatility A/C John D. Bailey of Class 57-J, just arrived on the base may be near the top.

A Chicago man, he has served in the Navy and Navy reserves, in the Marine and Marine reserves, and in the Air Force. He was on the USS Iowa at Pearl Harbor and has several decorations.

He received a high school diploma through GED work after he entered service. He is a graduate of the Navy damage control school, Navy basic engineering school, Marines warehouse equipment course, and the Air Force primary pilot training school.

He speaks Spanish fluently, is a square dance caller, a folk and ballad singer, and can teach small arms, chess, fencing, and judo.

He also lists "people" as a hobby.

ON TOP OF THE WORLD—A previous Kids Day visitor perches himself on top of a large globe in the Academic section, one of the many units being open for inspection by the visitors. Thousands of Kids will attend similar open house activities throughout the United States this weekend.

Instructors To Conduct Classes For OJT Training Supervisors

Information was received this week that Technical Training Air Force would send instructors to Reese AFB October 29, to conduct formal classes of instructions for OJT administrators and supervisors.

This course was conducted at TTAF bases having formal tech schools, M/Sgt. DeWitt Simon, wing OJT supervisor said, but with the increased emphasis on the On-The-Job training program, Hq. USAF and ATC have agreed that instructors should be sent directly to bases requesting this type service to increase the efficiency of the program.

Present plans call for classes to be held in the Base Supply Conference room with eleven students in each class. Classes will last two weeks and are conducted simultaneously with one class in session from 8 a.m. to noon and the other from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Students to attend will be selected from all the organizations on the base and must be officers, NCO's or civilians from a high supervisory level. Test stu-

Four Offices Located In Different Buildings

Four offices have moved to new locations as a result to make room for increased storage of parachutes and equipment in the base operations building.

The Form 5 section formerly in base operations has moved to the Old Basic Instructors school in T-64. BIS in turn went to the Air Base group headquarters in Bldg. T-61. The group headquarters is now located in the Office of Information Services Room in Bldg. 815 and OIS moved upstairs in the Wing Publications building.

dents should have a high retainability and the ability to organize and direct the training within their unit as well as be able to orient the commander, his staff, and other training personnel. Sergeant Simon pointed out.

Students completing this course will receive full credit. They will be given Certificates of Completion and appropriate entries will be made on their Form 7 or Form 66, as the case may be.

Commander's Welcome

Welcome to Reese Air Force Base, kids! I am happy to join with the Kiwanis clubs of Lubbock in sponsoring the annual observance of Kids' Day.

We have opened the Base to all kids today so that you may have an opportunity to see your Air Force in action. You'll see how we work and live at Reese, and how we accomplish our mission of training young men—the kids of yesterday—to be capable pilots and Air Force commanders of tomorrow.

Exhibits have been prepared to show you just how we accomplish this mission. You'll see the aircraft we fly, mechanics working on these aircraft to keep them the safest planes in the world, and the Ground School where we teach the thousand and one things a good pilot must know.

Enjoy yourselves; we hope that you will be able to tell your friends and families that you are proud of Reese Air Force Base and of the United States Air Force.

ADDS TO COLLECTION — John B. Fuller, employee of field maintenance shops, right, is awarded a $100 bond by Col. Dross Ellis, base commander, for winning third place in the Air Training Command annual vehicle roado at Tyndall AFB, Fla. He drove a large refueling unit in competition. "You are making a collection of these bonds," the colonel commented. Fuller previously won a $25 bond for taking first place at the base and then won a $100 bond for finishing ahead of all others in the Flying Training Air Force competition. The certificate was awarded to Fuller "for his safety and efficiency demonstrated by his participation" in the ATC roado. (Photo by Haynes)

How To Get The Right Worker

"A good product sells itself." But a lot of people have to find out how good it is first.

It's that way with the Air Force. And telling about it and selling it to future members is the job of the 3500th USAF Recruiting Wing. Its job is to procure enough high quality manpower for the Air Force to accomplish its mission.

The Air Force assumed its own responsibility for recruiting on July 1, 1954 when it separated from Army recruiting. The 3500th Wing comes directly under Air Training Command at present, with its headquarters at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. But on January 1, 1956, it is scheduled to begin operating under Technical Training Air Force.

Under the Wing are six groups that operate within geographical boundaries identical to the Army areas in which they are located. Group headquarters are located at Mitchel AFB, N. Y.; Olmsted AFB, Ill.; Robins AFB, Ga.; Lackland AFB, Texas and Parks AFB, California.

Under the Groups, which serve as the direct link in the chain of command from Wing Headquarters, are 63 recruiting detachments. The detachments, in turn, operate more than 800 recruiting stations, to blanket the entire 48 states. All areas of the continental United States are covered by USAF recruiter-salesmen.

The Recruiting Wing's efforts are backed up by a professional advertising campaign planned by a New York advertising agency, plus the resources of the Joint Services Recruiting Publicity Center in New York City. The overall recruiting program is monitored by Headquarters USAF.

In its first year of operation after its "divorce" from Army recruiting, the 3500th procured 181,947 Air Force enlistments — 96.9 per cent of the established goal.

In addition to the Recruiting Wings' activities are the enlistment programs at every Air Force base. Their goal is to retain our trained and experienced airmen. This is the most pressing of current personnel problems because the reenlistment of good airmen saves the Government many thousands of dollars in skilled personnel.

Because airmen handle important jobs and care for intricate and expensive equipment, the Air Force can't permit itself to enlist or retain men of poor mental or moral quality. And Air Force members don't want to work with that kind of men.

But what can the Air Force member do who is not in recruiting or reenlistment, about getting and keeping good men in the Air Force?

He can help himself and the Air Force by (1) making an effort to persuade capable airmen he knows to reenlist — and (2) he can tell friends and relatives and young civilian men he knows about the career to be found in the Nation's air arm.

Your Record Does Count

The following reprint of a letter from a major corporation might help to again emphasize how a bad conduct or dishonorable discharge may effect on our future. It explains the company policies concerning the hiring of men who have received other than honorable discharges.

WESTINGHOUSE

Electric Corporation

Colonel Norman R. Burnett
Commander 3750th Confinement Screening Group
Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas
Dear Colonel Burnett:

In reply to your letter of July 5th, I would like to advise you that it would be our policy in the employing of personnel for Westinghouse to reject anyone who had a Dishonorable, Bad Conduct or Undesirable Discharge from the Service.

It is our practice to carefully screen all applicants for employment with our firm and to accept only those whose past records indicate that they have been good members of society or employees elsewhere.

It is our opinion that if they have not been acceptable in other areas, they will not make good employees for us. Whatever you can do in the area of convincing these young men that a good record in whatever field they are working will go a long way toward helping them in private life, and will be of tremendous value to the young men themselves as well as to industry and society in general.

Very truly yours,
W. H. NELSON, Manager
Industrial Relations

AF Publishes Booklets On Overseas Stations

If your husband is on overseas orders and you're wondering about family needs in a strange land, you'll be interested in a series of Air Force pamphlets now being published for dependents.

In the 34-8 series, these pamphlets give information on climate, housing, schools, appropriate clothes, geography, customs, languages, government, and other subjects concerning most countries where Air Force dependents are permitted. They tell you whether to take your good rugs and linens to Okinawa, what electrical appliances you can use on the current in Germany and other details you'll need to know about the country you'll be living in the next few years.

Fifteen pamphlets in the series already have been published and are available at the base Personal Affairs office.

Pamphlets on these countries have already been published: Spain (AFP-34-8-2), United Kingdom (AFP-34-8-3), Germany (AFP-34-8-4), France (AFP-34-8-5), Alaska (-34-8-6), Panama (AFP-34-8-7), Hawaii (-34-8-8), Newfoundland, Labrador and Greenland (AFP-34-8-9), Puerto Rico (-34-8-10), Johnston and Kwajalein Islands (AFP-34-8-11), Japan (-34-8-12), the Philippines (AFP-34-8-13), Okinawa (AFP-34-8-14), Bermuda (AFP-34-8-15), and Guam (AFP-34-8-16).

Those scheduled for future publications will cover: the Azores, Italy, Greece, Libya, Turkey, Norway, Iceland, and Formosa. Information to be covered in AFP-34-8-1 has not yet been definitely decided. It possibly will deal with general information on overseas travel.

The Bible Speaks On The Family

By Chaplain (Major) Wilbur J. McDaniel

To bring children into the world.

"And God blessed them, and God said to them 'Be faithful and multiply, and fill the earth.'"

To teach them the truths of God.

"You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your might."

"These words which I command you this day shall be upon your heart."

"You shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall talk to them when you sit in your house, and when you walk by the way, and when you lie down, and when you rise."

God has not changed His purpose—but Satan has challenged it.

In the gospel God gives the power and the principles by which His purpose for the family can be fulfilled.

German Measles Hold Subtle Danger

By Col. Raymond A. Lawn
Base Surgeon

A mild sputtering fuse may be a little noticed forerunner of the explosion to follow. Likewise the mild form of measles known as rubella or German measles is often ignored but just as dangerous.

If measles are contracted at the right time, its seriousness is frequently not recognized until it is too late. Blind and otherwise deformed children often are born to mothers who have this relatively mild disease during the first three months of pregnancy.

A committee report of the American Public Health Association which is approved by the military services states that approximately 10% to 20% of living infants born to mothers who had the disease during the first three months of pregnancy have deformities. The percentage increases considerably if the disease occurs during the first or second months of pregnancy. The report recommends that no attempt be made to protect female children in good health against exposure to measles before they reach the child-bearing age. The disease is highly communicable although mild, and one attack usually renders a person immune. Preventive medicine experts agree that a practical immunizing vaccine is not available.

Probably the most frequently observed deformity produced by German measles in young mothers-to-be is blindness due to congenital cataracts. Deafness and heart defects are among other serious consequences. Pregnant women should make every effort to avoid contact with German measles, especially during the first three months of pregnancy. Because of the mild nature of the disease and the tendency to disregard its seriousness, this caution cannot be over-emphasized. German measles should be recognized today for its hidden dangers by families as well as the medical profession.

It is well to remember that in polio, we have a vaccine which will protect you from Infantile Paralysis. Experts feel although it is not conclusive, that the vaccinations you may receive such as for polio or for smallpox may work in such a manner in your body that additional types of virus diseases such as measles may be prevented or at least minimized.

Fashions Modeled At Autumn Show

By Audrey Hall

The annual fall style show of the Officers Wives Club was held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. The show, "Autumn Festival of Fashions", was sponsored by Dunlap's, under the direction of Mrs. R. E. Nelson, tea chairman. Mrs. John Conklin served as senior hostess with Mmes. Edward Nielson, Amos Fox and Eldon Gordon assisting her as junior hostesses. Mrs. Conklin, with Mr. Bill Childress of Dunlaps did the staging.

The models, chosen from the Wives Club roster were Mmes. James Moore, Robert Shaw, Robert W. Maupin, Ronald F. Kibler, Harley Johnson, and Charles H. McKenzie. Mrs. McKenzie also did the art work for the programs. The narrator Mrs. W. J. McDaniel, also sang "Autumn Leaves", accompanied by Bernie Howell who furnished the music for the show.

House guests of Lt. and Mrs. John Brooks are Mrs. Brooks parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Rohr and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Rohr.

Capt. and Mrs. William Sherwood spent the past weekend in Dallas visiting relatives.

The wives club bowling league will start in October. Anyone interested contact Mrs. Jerome Witty, Hurlwood 2921 or at 109 Andrews Drive, Reese Village. No opening date has been decided as yet, but the date for starting will be published in the daily bulletin.

Officers and wives of the Standardization Board and B.I.S. complimented Capt. and Mrs. Edward Nielson with a farewell cocktail party Saturday evening in the Phantasy Room of the Officers Open Mess. A B-47, flanked with a floral arrangement of pom pom and mums centered the champagne clothed table.

HANDBOOK OF TROPICAL AQUARIUM FISHES

—by Herbert Axelrod
Here in one comprehensive and up-to-date volume is a book of everyday usefulness for tropical fish hobbyists advanced collectors, and members of the tropical fish trade.

An outstanding feature of this book is the use of correct scientific nomenclature for many tropical fish which, in the past, have been generally known by incorrect names. To avoid confusion both names are listed in the index.

Over 449 species of fish are described in detail and more than 600 photographs and drawings are used. 180 of these drawings are in color.

Those of you who have been requesting this book will be pleased to know that it is now on the shelves at Base Library.

Ah—the football season is about on us again and 17 games of major importance and umpteen games between smaller colleges and prep schools will be played this weekend.

We at the fort are most fortunate to have Lord Helpus and Count MeOut back with us this week for a short visit. As you know, both of the gentlemen from jolly old England visited the base this past summer and met at the base this fall just before attending the National Dust Weevil festival in the upper Pecos Valley.

Lord Helpus returned from his native land and the count, who had given up selling box lunches on the streets of Goodfellow AFB has been out watching football practices since early in August. From this experience the count felt that he was fully qualified to predict the outcome of 10 of the Saturday games. So here is the dope, speaking through his interpreters.

The Baylor Bear should be victorious over California, likewise Georgia Tech over Kentucky. He shut his eyes and picked Maryland over Syracuse and Notre Dame over Southern Methodist, and UCLA over Utah. "Duke should beat South Carolina," Lord Helpus chimed in "and if North Carolina don't beat North Carolina State I'll stick to watching cricket matches."

Both agreed that TCU has an edge over Kansas and Texas will wind up a few more times over the goal line than Southern California. As for the Texas Tech, Texas Western contest the count said Tech is better for this reason. "Since it is a night game the Tech boys should have a better chance because I have seen many of the players out around at late hours of the night getting their eyes in shape for the Saturday game," Count MeOut said.

The count also had a report on several of the school's cheerleaders but his account was interrupted as everyone in the OIS grabbed his or her desk and placed it in the refurnished office above the publications building. The count, winded by the climb up the stairs, sacked out in a corner.

A meeting has been called for all interested in starting an Airmen's bowling league on Wednesday at 1 p.m. in the base gym. At 2 p.m., all managers of football teams are asked to be at a meeting, also in the gym.

At present, 25 persons have signed to play in the base golf tournament starting October 1. There still are openings for players and all interested are urged to sign up at the base gym. Deadline for entering is Tuesday, September 25.

Softball Tourney Nears Completion

As the ROUNDUP went to press four teams remained in the base softball tournament; two of the teams, 3502nd and Support squadron, without a loss.

Thursday night the Pilot Training Group and 3502nd Maintenance played the first game and Support squadron played 3502nd Maintenance.

On Wednesday the Pilot Training Group and 3502nd Maintenance squadron played the remainder of their game which had been stopped at the fifth inning under protest. The 02nd won the contest 10-7. In the second game of the evening Pilot Training Group beat the Pilot Training Wing 12-7.

Best Unit Award Goes To OSI Group

The Air Force Outstanding Unit Award has been presented to the 1005th Special Investigations group, the command unit of the (OSI) Office of Special Investigations.

A citation, in part, read: "The selfless devotion to duty of all personnel of the 1005th Special Investigations Group and their superior professional accomplishments have reflected the greatest credit upon themselves and the Air Force."

The Reese AFB detachment is headed by Special Agent Tilden R. Schofield.

Base Bowling Team In City League

Reese AFB has entered a team in the city bowling league of the Men's Commercial League division. The team now consists of M/Sgt. Paul E. Peacher, Headquarters section, PTW; M/Sgt. Gayland Combs, Headquarters section, PTW; M/Sgt. Ennis DeRamos, 3502nd Maintenance squadron; S/Sgt. Ray Whitley 3500th Support squadron; A/IC Richard Tafoya, 3502nd Maintenance squadron. The team members pay their own bowling fees and bowl each Wednesday night at 9 p.m. at Lubbock Bowling Club on Avenue Q.

Gun Club Shoot

The Rod and Gun Club trapshoot at Lake Imhoff last Sunday afternoon was highly successful and participation by non-members was excellent.

C. E. Harris won the trapshoot Floating Trophy for this month and M/Sgt. Berlin J. Brown was second. Their scores were close, with Harris hitting 23 and Sergeant Brown, 21, out of a possible 30 clay pigeons.

Fourteen Accidents Add To Injury List

Fourteen accidents to base personnel last week added up to $181 in costs, Joe Lopez, ground safety inspector, said this week. The most costly accident was a sprained ankle an airman suffered when he tripped while dancing in Lubbock. He lost three days time at a cost of $31 per day. The other 13 mishaps brought a cost of $91.

Two officers were injured. One cut his face numerous times while shaving; another cut his hand when the handle of his brief case broke.

Three NCO's were hurt. One cut his finger on an aircraft cowling; another cut his thumb on an engine; the third received an injured elbow when the saddle on a horse he was riding slipped.

A civilian mashed a finger on a maintenance stand; another hurt his head on a vehicle door. An airman scraped a knee sliding into home plate in a softball game; a third cut his forehead on a cowling. Another airman guided his scooter into a parked automobile, bruising his leg; another fell from a horse, bruising his head; and still another was thrown from a vehicle in which he was riding, bruising him.

Airmen Proficiency Tests Given Quarterly

Airman proficiency tests will be administered quarterly beginning January 1, 1957, Hq USAF announced in mid-September.

Increasing the APT schedule from the present three times yearly will reduce the time required for commanders in the field to complete skill upgrading of their airmen.

A total of 300 airman proficiency tests now are administered to airmen seeking upgrading to 5 and 7 skill levels. As a result, more than 98 per cent of the airmen in the AF must take an APT test before being considered for skill upgrading.

Under the new plan tests will be administered in three groups or phases—one group per month, completing each testing cycle every three months.

Tests will be administered in January, April, July and October in the following career fields: 22, 23, 25, 30, 32, 40, 45, 53, 55, 57, 58, 65, 67, 68, 70, 72, 74, 75, 77 and

92. Tested in February, May, August and November will be the following career fields: 36, 42, 43, 64, 90, 98.

March, June, September and December will be the test months for the following career fields: 20, 37, 29, 46, 47, 56, 60, 62 and 73.

Assigned OSI Squadron

Four Airmen First Class have received assignment in the November shipment to the 6001 Special Investigation squadron in Japan.

The airmen are: A/1C Carl D. Meguess and A/1C Billy F. Chumley Hq. Sq. 3500th Pilot Training group, A/1C John R. Kilian, Hq. Sq. Maintenance and Supply group and A/1C Billy R. Black, 3502nd Maintenance squadron.

Going To FEAF

A/1C Chester R. Pendley, Hospital, will leave October 14 for assignment with the 5th Air Force in the Far East Air Force. He is taking a delay in route before reporting for overseas shipment.

Reese Toastmasters

By 1st Lt. Theodore E. Dahfors
The Reese Officers Toastmasters Club had their meeting last Monday evening in the private dining room at Pete's Drive Inn, which proved to be a very interesting and instructional meeting for the 15 members who attended. The speech making portion of the program consisted of every member giving a two minute impromptu speech. Capt. Robert L. Caris won the President's trophy for giving the best speech.
