Cash Given Suggestors Of Changes

Cash awards for management improvement suggestions have been made to five civilians and two military enlisted men at Reese Air Force Base.

S/Sgt. John D. Fortner received $10 for a proposal on consolidation of computations in the dining hall, estimated to save $225 annually in manhours. S/Sgt. Paul Piambino received $10 for a suggestion on installing telephones, also estimated to save $225 a year.

A $15 award went to W. H. Bobbitt, civilian, for a suggestion on a lead bracket, expected to save $228.80 in manhours annually. Louise Fowler, civilian, received $10 for a proposal on telephone request changes, estimated to save $100 a year.

Other $10 awards to civilians went to Theo W. Wright, Bill L. Cottrell, and Ruel G. Nugent. Wright proposed a test item work sheet which was adopted by ATC. Cottrell suggested fire warning detectors which saved $75 in materials, and Nugent suggested a manhole cover tool which eliminated hazards and provided intangible savings.

Smaller Promotion Quota Allotted Base

Thirty-four promotions have been allotted Reese AFB for September, as compared with 36 in June. A slight increase had been expected.

No master sergeant slots are allotted, as for the last quarter. One tech sergeant is allotted, the same as in June. Three staff sergeants are listed for September, as against two in the prior list. Elevation to airman first class dropped from seven in June to four next month, while airman seconds remained at 26.

Boards will meet next week to select all airmen to be promoted. Names of master sergeants to become senior master sergeants in the new grade of E-8 also are expected to be announced September 1, along with other enlisted promotees. The 19 E-8 positions announced last week for Reese will be filled over a four-year period, it has been announced.

FLYERS CAUTIONED

Reese personnel this week were cautioned to make certain they have permission from the wing commander before flying privately owned aircraft. Regulation requires written permission from the commander.

PROPOSAL LAUDED—S/Sgt. John D. Fortner of Air Base group receives congratulations and notice of a $10 award from Col. Marcus Satisfsky, ABG commander, for his management improvement suggestion for consolidation of computation of subsistence issue to the dining hall. ATC estimated adoption of the proposal would save $225 in manhours at each base, or $3,825 for the command. The sergeant turned over his award check to the Air Force Aid Society.

Airman Starts 6,000 Mile Journey To Marry Okinawa Girl; Months Of Wait Finished

With about 6,000 miles ahead of him and much red-tape behind him, A/1C Phil Koerner of Reese's Finance & Accounting section left Wednesday for Okinawa and marriage with "the girl" he has not seen since July 16, 1957.

Airman Koerner served on Okinawa for two years prior to being sent to Reese. He met and became engaged to Haruko Yara, Air Force employee, on the island and since arrival at Reese has been working toward the marriage. He expects to fly all the way, but is not certain of arrival and, therefore, has no exact date for the wedding.

When he returns to his duty as accounting and finance clerk at Reese, he still must await arrival of his bride to set up a new home. Under existing law and regulation she cannot apply for a passport and visa until after she is married. Thus, it will be six weeks or two months, perhaps, before the new Mrs. Phil Koerner becomes a resident of Reese.

Airman Koerner applied for permission to marry about 11 months ago. There were affidavits, requests, examinations for the airman and his bride-to-be, more papers, and finally in March he received a message that all was approved. Negotiations required conferences and approval of the squadron commander and the wing chaplain.

Miss Yara has been a worker at Kadina AFB for several years, assisting in support of her mother and two younger brothers.

T/Sgt. Robert E. Ellis of Air Base group headquarters has been re-assigned to Lowry AFB to enroll in a course on guidance systems analyst. He will leave in November.

Unit Commanders Told To Act Promptly To Prevent Accidents

Prompt disciplinary action against personnel who disregard traffic laws and have accidents has been directed by Col. Dross Ellis, base commander, as the result of the August vehicle accidents.

"It is with grave concern for the welfare of members of this command that I must inform you of the large increase in USAF and private vehicle accidents so far this month," the colonel wrote group and squadron commanders. "During the first nine days of August, one private and three USAF vehicle accidents have occurred.

"It is a recognized fact that accidents do not 'just happen,' but are caused. The primary causes of these accidents were excessive speed and drinking.

"Commanders must impress upon their personnel that preventable accidents will not be tolerated. I expect commanders to take prompt disciplinary action in those cases where disregard of traffic law is obvious."

Colonel Ellis said he felt caution and good judgment will go a long way toward reducing accidents and emphasis should be on reducing excessive speed, reduction of fatigue and drowsiness, driving while intoxicated, and violation of law and regulation.

The base commander wrote to unit commanders about the time a report was received from ATC which showed Reese in seventh place in the Commander's Vehicle Award Category, as of July 31. Keesler was leading, with Lackland second, Perrin third, Craig fourth, Greenville fifth, and Amarillo sixth.

Motorcycle Crash Adds $2,700 Cost To Reese Record

A disabling injury which took an airman off duty for 90 days and was listed as costing Reese $2,700 headed the first aid injury list for the base last week, M/Sgt. Melton Sexton, ground safety technician, reported.

The airman received a broken leg when his motorcycle was in collision with a civilian automobile in Lubbock.

Also listed were seven first aid injuries to military and four first aids for civilians, adding $77 to costs.

An airman hit his head on the bottom of a swimming pool; an officer bruised his knee playing softball; an airman sprained a thumb playing softball; an airman cut his foot taking a shower; an officer received a bruised side playing softball; an NCO was hit in the nose while scuffling; and an airman received a mashed thumb adjusting machinery.

One civilian injured a finger tightening a fastener; another received a foreign object in his eye; a third was hit in the head by a tire he was unloading; and a fourth received a cut on his thumb when a fan blade struck it.

Warning was issued this week that all Reese personnel have comprehensive knowledge of operation of guns before going hunting. Attention was called in the wing staff meeting to the fact that guns and other hunting equipment may be checked out in the Personnel Service office, but complete knowledge of weapon use should be present.

Re-Up For Overseas Restored; Vacancy Controlling Factor

Airmen now can re-enlist or enlist for overseas duty for the first time in nearly a year, due to lifting restrictions against these actions in effect since last September.

However, these re-enlistments are to be made through the 3500th Recruiting Wing's centers, rather than base re-enlistment offices.

Eligibility and assignment procedures in AFR 35-81 remain the same for the most part, with one modification. Enlistment and re-enlistment for overseas will be not only restricted to the AFSCs listed in the AFR's attachment 1, but also to the AFSCs for which there are specific vacancies (requirements) overseas.

Must Be Vacancy

Applicants will be advised at recruiting centers that assignment to a theater of choice will be predicated on the existence of a requirement and vacancy in that theater. They will be specifically counseled that enlistment for overseas means basically enlistment for any theater, although every effort will be made to assign airmen to the theater of their choice, where possible.

The global commands which man or partially man their own overseas units have been told to send overseas requirements immediately to the recruiting wing.

Date Uncertain

Enlistment and re-enlistment for overseas is scheduled to begin again with the receipt of the overseas requirement information by Recruiting.

The base against re-enlistment at ZI Air Force bases for overseas assignment will be lifted beginning next March. This is the program under which an airman volunteers to re-enlist for overseas four months before his current enlistment ends and before he intends to take a short discharge for re-enlistment.

STORY HOUR — These 20 youngsters are "all ears" as they participate in the Story Hour at the base library. The hour was held regularly through the summer.

Suffering Guides Justice

by Chaplain Gerard M. Lougen

One of the profound mysteries of life is the vast amount of suffering that prevails in the world. Every human being experiences some form of pain in the course of his journey from the cradle to the grave. Sometimes it is a bodily affliction, the deathlike torpor of paralysis, the piercing agony of cancer, the insidious blight of consumption, the pathetic helplessness of advanced age.

Suffering is no respecter of persons. It can find its way into the mansions of the rich, as well as into the hovels of the poor. It can crush the heart of the monarch, as well as the heart of his lowliest subject. It can cripple the vigorous limbs of the young as well as the wasted bodies of the aged.

In recent years science has done much to relieve human misery; and as time goes on much more will undoubtedly be accomplished toward this praiseworthy end. But as we all know, however numerous and effective may be the remedies and the sedatives and the artificial helps that future generations may devise for the alleviation of suffering, there will always be aching bodies and grieving hearts in this world as long as the human race shall last.

However, let us not forget that many of the misfortunes that fall to the lot of human beings are of their own making. The person who abuses his free will, a God given gift, must pay the penalty. The man who gives free reign to sensuality or intemperance has only himself to blame if a fatal disease attacks him. The man who is harsh and unjust towards his relatives and friends is only reaping as he sows, if in his declining years he finds himself friendless and alone. The man who squanders his money on luxuries and amusements has no reason to complain if eventually he is reduced to direst poverty. We often say that NATURE punishes those who violate its laws; but in reality it is the GOD of nature, manifesting His justice.

Education In All Forms Aids

In the past we have written about the place of education in our mission. Specifically we called attention to this fact: a high level of technical skill is required in our modern, complex Air Force. However, this is not at all intended to downgrade the value of a liberal education: a knowledge of the arts, literature, foreign languages, music, mathematics and the sciences.

"Perhaps one of the chief faults of our modern systems of education is to forget the man while developing a technique." This is what the old Living for Leadership manual said. A good liberal education is for the whole man. It deepens him, broadens his background and gives him a wide field of interests. The man who knows his business, his technical field, is an absolute necessity in the Air Force.

Even more desirable is the man who is not only an expert in his field, but also has a wide intellectual background. Through its schools, correspondence courses and educational program, the Air Force encourages all its members to educate themselves. The ideal combination is a technical education with a liberal education.

Graduation Time Brings More Social Activity

By Lt. Donald L. Harlan

Whatever social activity may seem lacking to the students during their stay here is usually more than made up for at graduation time.

It's noted such is the case with Bravo class starting the last week in August, with a party being thrown by the 11 officers who have made first lieutenant since coming to Reese. This promises to get things rolling, followed by a full pre-graduation week of festivity and celebrating, and capped off by the stag party, and graduation dinner-dance on the second of September.

The dinner-dance will feature Sam Baker and his orchestra, and will be held in the officers' club.

And speaking of graduation, the class will be honored to have as guest speaker, Brig. Gen. George E. Keeler, Assistant Deputy of Supply, Headquarters Air Material Command, whose son, Lt. Harper Keeler, will be graduating with Class 59-B.

The assignments received last week ran true to form, with 66 per cent of the class going to SAC, and the rest to various other commands. In all there were 20 KC-97, 12 B-47, and 3 KC-135 assignments to bases all over the country.

The remainder were dispersed as follows: five helicopters to Stead, two jet B15 to Laredo, three SA-16's, one C-97 at Travis, two C-118's at McGuire, three C-124's at Donaldson, and two WB-50's at McClellan.

Echo class, after two full weeks on the flight line, has encountered most of the same problems and experiences that each new class finds with the B-25. It seems that the two captains are several hours between the rest of the class, with the only explanation given that old age had slowed them down, but they hoped to finish with the rest of the class on January 21.

ATTEND MEETING

Maj. Frank Fleming, base accounting and finance officer, and O. K. Montgomery, supervisory accountant, have returned from a conference of accounting and finance officers at ATC headquarters.

TOUR PLANNED

Wives of newly arrived Reese personnel will be taken on an orientation tour of the base at 2 p.m. today, with Flight 9 in charge. Emphasis will be on flight line activities. Refreshments will be served the wives.

HAS BIRTHDAY

The 3500th Pilot Training Wing will mark its tenth birthday Monday quietly. The wing was organized Aug. 25, 1948, at Barksdale AFB and moved to Reese the following summer. Few personnel on the base are charter members of the organization.

PARKING OFF

Renovation of Hangar Line road this week forced personnel to park their automobiles elsewhere than along the road edges. Full parking on the road is expected next week.

Reese Educational Record Good; Aims At Air Force Goal

"Every officer a college graduate and every airman a high school graduate," is a minimum desired by the Air Force through use of its Education Services program.

At Reese the program has been highly successful, J. F. Reeves, educational specialist, believes. He produces figures to support his stand.

During the 1958 fiscal year there were 434 military and 114 civilian new enrollments in the Extension Course Institute, and 170 new enrollments in U. S. Armed Forces Institute courses. High school GED tests were taken by 122 persons, college GED tests by 43. End of course tests for high school and college courses were written by 87. There were 137 vocational tests written.

"We are very much pleased that 95 Reese persons obtained high school diplomas or certificates of equivalency during the year," Reeves commented. "Our records show 87 enrollments at Texas Tech for night courses.

"Facilities and courses are available," he stated, "to carry anyone through any educational level up to and including a college degree."

This Year Best

Stating that 1958 promises to be one of the best years education-wise since the base's reopening, Reeves also stressed the importance of self-improvement through off-duty study courses.

Among these are resident study at Texas Tech, USAFI courses, The Extension Course Institute, group study classes, and college correspondence courses. In addition, testing is accomplished during duty hours, and TDY to colleges is available under certain circumstances.

Tech Program Popular

Most popular among Reese personnel are the Texas Tech program and USAFI and ECI self-study courses.

COUNSELING—J. F. Reeves, education specialist, points out Extension Course Institute subjects to Maj. Ervin H. Wyman, a Reserve officer from Pampa, Texas, who spent 15 days of summer training with the Air Base Group. ECI offers 75 career field study courses free of charge.

At Texas Tech, military personnel and their dependents may enroll in three-semester hour resident classes at $15 per course. Around 75 courses are being offered in evening classes which begin September 22. Registration will be September 17, 18, and 20.

USAFI has been called the "greatest educational bargain in existence." It offers over 200 courses on the elementary, high school, technical and college level. Enrollment fee is $5 and every course may be taken without additional cost provided end-of-course tests are satisfactorily completed.

Free Courses

Free career field study courses are available through ECI at the Air University, Maxwell AFB. The correspondence courses contain practically the same information taught at the resident school. Around 75 are available for the various career fields.

3502nd Upsets AACCS; Wins Crown 4th Year

The '02nd Maintenance captured the base softball championship crown for the fourth consecutive season this week by defeating the AACCS nine 8-2.

Saupo Tupua, a steady winner all season for the '02nd, was credited with the victory. Bob Snow, having done a splendid job for AACCS and the Chapel team all through the summer, was charged with the loss.

The AACCS nine started off slowly and was quickly tagged for three runs in the escond inning by the mechanics. Before the seven innings had passed the '02nd had scored five more tallies resulting from solid hits and a few errors on the part of AACCS.

Four of the winning team left Tuesday, to play with the Reese team in the North District competition at Perrin AFB. They included Saupo Tupua, Roy Cork, Seeman Gray and Jerome Patsner.

Other '02nd players that were instrumental in the squadron winning their fourth crown were Lloyd Edwards, manager; R. L. Walker, John Wolfinger, William Petitti, and Leroy Hanes. The team wasn't out of first place the entire season and lost only four games in the last four seasons.

Maj. Robert Beckner, personnel services officers, presented the winners with a shiny trophy which the team will add to an already large collection. The AACCS nine also received a trophy for runners-up in the base tourney play.

Golf Chatter . . .

The long Labor Day weekend will feature two tourneys at the base golf greens. There will be no entry fee for the three-day events.

On Saturday, August 30, a Scotch Foursome is on tap. Handicaps will be used in pairing the two-men teams. All entries must be in the golf clubhouse by 7 p.m. Friday, August 29.

On Saturday morning the teams will be posted in the clubhouse, and play will begin at 1 p.m. The event will be an 18-hole medal play affair.

A low net and a low gross tourney is slated to be played on Sunday and Monday, August 31 - September 1. It will be a 36-hole tourney with handicaps used in the low net affair. There will be some blind prizes awarded in this event.

At 6 p.m. on Monday, September 1, a golf clinic will be conducted by Ken Shields of the golf course, followed by a grab bag driving contest. Prizes will be awarded to the longest driver.

Capt. I. D. Westerberg and M/Sgt. Lawrence Caldwell won the high-low two ball event last Sunday with a low ball of 54.

Three teams tied for second place with 61's; 1st Lt. Paul Rader and A-1C W. B. Malcolm; Maj. Jay Britain and Capt. R. L. Dinwiddie, and Sgt. J. Dennis and Sgt. T. A. Hunsucker.

Score cards of all individuals desiring to enter tourney play are requested to be turned in to the clubhouse for determining the necessary handicap scores.

SUGGESTION PAYS

Helen A. Blair, former finance office employee at Reese, has been given a cash award and suggestion certificate for a management improvement proposal submitted at Dyess AFB, where she is assigned to the civilian payroll section. She proposed microfilming of civilian payrolls.

Wage-Hour Workers Given Raise In Pay

Payroll changes for base wage-hour employees will be included in checks issued September 12, Maj. Frank Fleming, Reese accounting and finance officer, said this week.

Raises averaging from 15 to 17 cents per hour for basic workers and slightly higher figures for leaders and foremen become effective August 24 as the result of a recent wage board survey of the Lubbock community.

Major Fleming requested all areas of Reese with wage board employees to send in change slips without delay.

PLAY-OFFS SET

Play-offs for awards in the Reese Little League will start Saturday and continue Monday, with double-headers both days. The Red Sox play the Dodgers at 2:30 Saturday and the Giants test the Braves at 4:30. On Monday the losers meet at 2:30 p.m. and the winners at 5 p.m.

Numerous Base Personnel Re-Assigned To Other Stations
