PTA Fall Festival To Be Saturday

Hunting Preserve On Base Offering Backyard Sport

Reese nimrods today began using their backyard duck hunting preserve, complete with blinds, boats and decoys, with the official opening of the season.

The shooting grounds encompass Reese Lake, south of the golf course. Six blinds, one in the middle of the lake, have been erected and 12 dozen decoys have been procured from Personnel Services.

Plans for the reservation occurred last year when TSgt. John D. Chandler, NCOIC of the Small Arms Branch, observed flocks of ducks settling on the lake. However, work didn't begin until August of this year.

Hunters must make blind reservations no earlier than 72 hours in advance. They must procure blind cards and receive a safety briefing at Building T-255 after the reservation is granted. Only two persons may occupy a blind, and the cards must be returned to the base range officer.

Shooters also must have a current state hunting license with a Federal duck stamp. The former may be procured at the Base Exchange, the stamp may be obtained at the Post Office.

Shotguns may be checked out from the Personnel Services office. Authorized gauges include 10, 12, 16, 20, 28 and 410. Number four shot is the largest shot authorized.

NCO's Position Stressed Again In Revised Reg

Another piece of the Air Force Quality Control Program was fitted into place with Oct. 30 publication of revised Air Force Regulation 39-6, "Responsibility of Noncommissioned Officers."

Starting with the clear-cut statement that a noncommissioned officer is an officer other than a commissioned or warrant officer, the regulation further defines an NCO as an airman in the grade of SSgt, TSgt, MSgt, SMSgt, CMSgt.

This seemingly obvious statement sets the stage for three important provisions in the regulation: NCOs must be delegated all authority necessary to exercise leadership responsibilities; they will be provided the advantages and privileges commensurate with their responsibilities; and they normally will not be assigned duties or details that will compromise their positions as leaders.

The regulation said that NCOs have a continuing responsibility, both on and off duty, to maintain good order and discipline, and for the immediate correction of conduct that might embarrass or discredit the Air Force.

Removal Of Gate Guards Discussed

An "open base" policy which does away with main gate guards was a prime subject of discussion at the ATC Provost Marshals conference late in October, Maj. Kenneth G. McGuire, Reese provost marshal, said this week.

No decision was reached on elimination of guard, he said, but provost marshals spoke for and against. Other subjects discussed were security, organization of Air Police units, and Air Force uniforms. Representatives of 27 bases attended.

FLY BOYS — The three sons of Capt. and Mrs. Edgar Smith dress like daddy much of the time lately. Flying suits, complete with name tags and Dust-Devil patches, were made for the trio for Halloween. Helmets are of the Steve Canyon type. Here Randy, 5, slips on his helmet at the parachute section as Greg, 4, on the right, wonders what the trouble might be and Gary, 2, sits on the floor trying to figure out what all the excitement is about. The boys are using the suits most of the time during chilly weather.

Variety Program Planned To Boost School Projects

Large attendance is expected again at the annual Fall Festival at the Reese Elementary School Saturday night. The program is scheduled to run from 4:30 to 8 p.m.

Numerous attractions have been planned to raise funds for the playground and other projects of the school PTA. Mrs. John Erdmann is general chairman of the festival, with Mrs. Russell Hainline as vice chairman.

Dinner in the cafeteria will include barbecued beef, baked beans, and cole slaw. MSgt. John DiAgostino and SSgt. James Harvey are in charge.

Attractions throughout the building also will open at 4:30 p.m.

The private first grade will have a cake walk, the first grade a dart game, the second grade a fish pond, the third grade a beauty shop, the fourth grade a cartoon circus, the fifth grade a smoker, the sixth grade the country store, and the seventh and eighth grades special games.

A grandmothers parcel post booth will be operated. Grandmothers of the school children have sent packages, which will be sold unopened. A coke bar where cokes, ice cream, pop corn and cotton candy will be sold is scheduled.

Mrs. John Garrett is chairman of the talent show, scheduled for 7 p.m. with MSgt. William R. Pomeroy as master-of-ceremonies.

The program will include vocal numbers by Donna Goodkin, Marett Conn, Melissa Collins, Larry Aulgur, Dwight Hall, and Bob Johnson, a cornet solo by Mike Hritz, and a comedy skit by John O'Connell, Richard Johnson, Steve Parker, and Robert McCall. A hula dance will be presented by Cynthia McElroy, Ronnie Benevent, and Sherry Conn. A ukelele solo and song will be offered by Peggy McGuire, who also will accompany Mary McGuire in a hula number.

Mary Lou Wright will present a ballet number, Clay Walker is to play a guitar solo, and Christine Britain and Paddy Faulkner will give an exotic dance.

The four beatniks, Tommy and Terry Garrett and Susan and Gregory Repose are to offer a number, Patty Sue Johnson will give a pantomime, as will Susan Williams, and Elizabeth McConnell will give a reading. Penny King will give a hula dance.

Two More Nations Send Cadets Here

Two additional foreign countries, Denmark and Germany, will be represented by students in Class 60-H, due to arrive at Reese on Nov. 30. Each will have two students in the all-cadet class of 44 coming from civilian contract schools at primary pilot training bases.

Also included will be two students from Greece and one from Viet Nam.

Reese has taught students of 23 foreign countries, with Denmark and Germany making up the 24th and 25th countries.

Previously represented among Reese students were Colombia, Ecuador, Iran, Honduras, Venezuela, Chile, Peru, Thailand, Cuba, France, El Salvador, Korea, China, Viet Nam, Guatemala, Bolivia, Haiti, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Pakistan, Greece, Puerto Rico, and Saudi Arabia.

MARS Guard Shows He's Doing His Job

The MARS station is one place A/3C Carroll P. Ramsey, Air Policeman, will approach with caution at night. He's been there.

The airman Thursday night of last week noted a partially closed window at MARS. He climbed through the window to investigate and saw something moving in the semi-darkness. He drew his revolver and "hit the deck."

In the darkness he saw a large dog, moving in, noiselessly.

Ramsey moved toward the outside door; but the dog beat him to the exit.

Ramsey debated what to do. "I wondered if I'd have to shoot him."

The dog let the Air Policeman use the telephone, unmolested. SSgt. Marion Ivey, Air Police supervisor hurried over.

He looked the situation over and called for TSgt. Raymon Brady, MARS NCOIC. Brady got out of bed to perform the rescue.

Tom, the 2½-year-old, half boxer, half Dane, lives at MARS. Brady trained him from a pup to stand guard. Like any good Air Force assignee, he does the best he can.

REASSIGNED

First Lt. Charles E. Funderburg, OIC of the wing instrument school, is being reassigned to the aircraft maintenance officer course at Chanute AFB, reporting in March.

Officer Retraining Field Broadened

Officers in surplus fields at Reese and other fields have a broader field into which to transfer.

Last year, Project CHANGE OVER got under way. The program is designed to point out the hard and soft fields to officers, thus giving them an opportunity to switch over if qualified or retrain if necessary to the critical skill areas.

Lieutenant Wins President's Cup

The President's Cup at the monthly meeting of the Officers Toastmasters Club held last Thursday went to 2nd Lt. Jack Simmons, who spoke on "Apathetic Public Opinion." The meeting was conducted by Toastmaster 1st Lt. Edward Miller.

Other speakers included Maj. Erceal Doty and Capt. Ira Espe, with 1st Lt. James D. McCarty presenting a topic portion on the recent TV scandals.

A new member, 1st Lt. Chuck Allen, was admitted by 1st Lt. Herb Hawthorne, club president.

SCORES HIGHEST

SSgt. John Marquess of the synthetic trainer section has scored the highest grade in the 7-level test for the 34171 AFSC in the Air Force, the AIR FORCE TIMES says this week. The grade of 167 was for instrument trainer technician and was established in the July testing. The previous high for 34171 was 138.

Project CHANGE OVER is basically a volunteer program. It started with the modest goal of retraining or reassigning majors and lieutenant colonels in AFSC's 7024 (Administrative officer) and 7016 (Administrative staff officer) to either 4316 (Aircraft maintenance staff officer) or 3216 (Armament staff officer).

The apparent success of the program so far has encouraged USAF to expand its "career monitoring." It has added to the "short" skill list communications and electronics, civil engineering and weapons controller.

Captains through lieutenant colonels in AFSC's 1435 (Operations officer) and 1416 (Operations staff officer) may be considered for reassignment or retraining into any of the five listed critical skills.

With the latest move, officials hope to level off about 250 surplus officers in AFSC's 1435 and 1416.

Under Project CHANGE OVER, the commands are given the first chance to reassign or retrain their officers within their own bailiwick.

From The

COMMANDER'S DESK

By Col. L. C. Hess, Base Commander

Safety consciousness, we all know, must be present in all our minds if we are to avert accidents. It is the duty of the supervisor to implant ideas which will make habits safe habits.

Supervisors must be on the alert and keep their eyes open to initiate action which will bring these safe habits and eliminate hazards.

People, too often, are lulled into a feeling of security. They feel that when no accidents occur in their particular area there will be none in the future. Thus, accident prevention effort is gradually reduced.

But responsibility for accidents rests with each of us. Individual effort will protect us all from serious injury, as well as minor incidents which might handicap us for a short time.

As the Law of the Conservation of Energy sets out, whatever you put in has got to come out. Whatever we put into accident prevention eventually will result in reduced accidents. If we do well, we can make Reese a better place to live.

Primarily, I am interested in saving lives, reducing injuries, eliminating property damage and lost time, and in being able to do the job better, as well as a good safety rate.

The cooperation of everyone will permit us to reach the goal.

Soviets Break Word

Do the Soviets keep their word? Read this:

The Agreement

Mar. 10, 1947 — Council of Foreign Ministers, meeting in Moscow, agrees that all German prisoners of war should be repatriated by Dec. 31, 1948.

The Results

Aug. 3, 1955 — Soviet regime furnishes West German Red Cross with data on the health and whereabouts of only 20 of about 14,000 Germans known to be still held in USSR.

The Agreement

July 27, 1953 — Military armistice established between United Nations Command and opposing Communist forces, assisted by USSR, of China and North Korea. Armistice agreement pledges signers to "cease introduction into Korea of reinforcing military personnel."

The Results

July 11, 1955 — U.S. Command details long list of armistice agreement violations by Communist parties.

May 6, 1957 — U.N. Command, in another of series of official complaints, charges that Communists have sent troops into Korea's de-militarized zone six times in a period of less than four months.

The Agreement

Jan. 14, 1956 — USSR signs agreement with Yugoslavia, pledging $100,000,000 in credits for industrial construction.

Aug. 4, 1956 — USSR pledges an additional grant of $175,000,000, bringing total to $285,000,000.

The Results

May 28, 1958 — Yugoslav sources disclosed that the Soviet Union had postponed for five years the grant to Yugoslavia amounting to $285,000,000. This, it was charged, was an attempt to punish Yugoslavia for its refusal to accept the Soviet Communist party's ideological leadership.

Linebackers Important

With credit to Perrin AFB for supplying the idea, let's talk about the Reese linebackers, since it is football season.

When the mission is completed, the pilot instructor might be likened to the football halfback who scores. His instruction is the play that scores the touchdown.

But the plaudits must be shared with the mechanics, the office workers, the support personnel whose work supplied the blocking to eliminate opposition and make the final result possible.

Every person on the base is a member of the Reese team, all working toward completion of the mission. Even if the job is remote from flying, the worker is a part of the team.

General Stresses Success

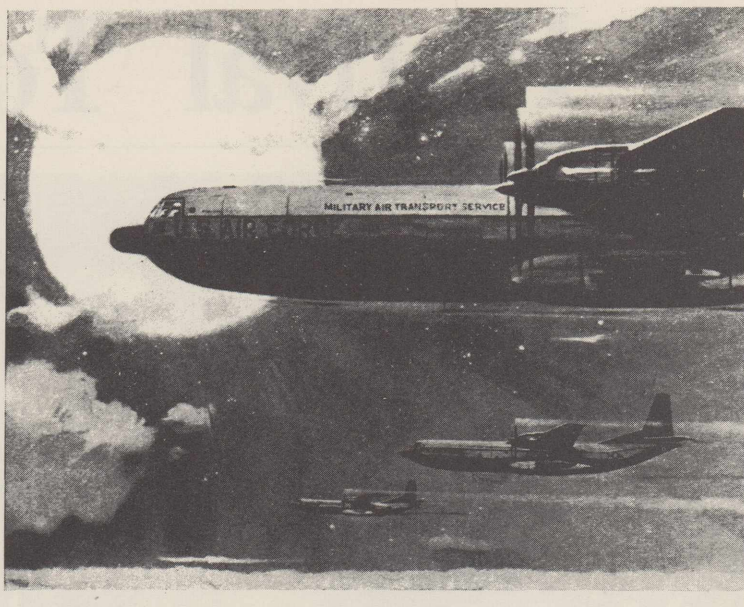

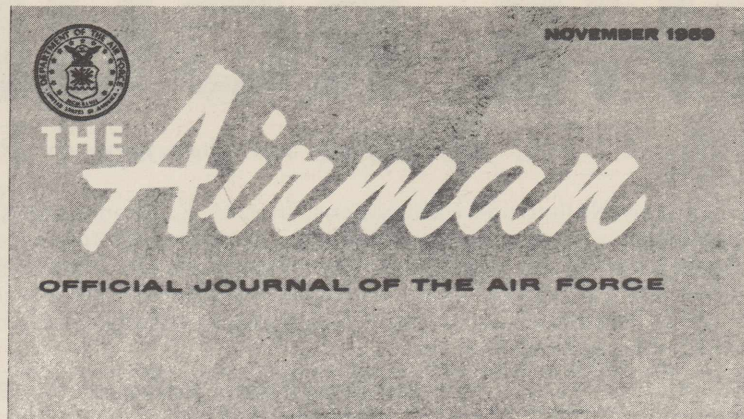

Importance of people in Air Force success has been stressed again by Gen. Thomas D. White, Chief of Staff. He has stated:

"The United States Air Force must provide the best military aerospace power for the security of our nation and the promotion of world peace.

"This requires offensive and defensive weapon systems to include aircraft, missiles and spacecraft, as well as a myriad of supporting functions, equipment, and facilities.

"To assure that our weapons and supporting systems are, at all times, modern and capable of optimum mission performance, a strong and virile research and development program is mandatory.

"Finally, and most important, highly skilled and dedicated people are needed for the most effective management, operation, and support of these weapons systems. Thus, every Air Force member has a vital role to play in achieving the aerospace power our nation must have."

The Roundup

PAVING of a 1,000 foot end of the runway at the Terry County auxiliary field was scheduled to be started today. The contractor, Nolan Brothers, expected to pour concrete. The 5,400 feet of asphalt runway will be poured in the spring.

HOUSING AREA construction permitted turn back of the 96th dwelling by the contractor this week. Work of renovating is moving well, it was said.

PERSONNEL SERVICES has some tickets for the Texas Tech Homecoming football game, scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Tickets are $2 to military persons.

HOURS FOR USING the newly opened golf course gate during rush periods are slightly altered, starting Monday. The morning period will be from 7:30 to 8 a.m. and the night period from 4:45 until 5 p.m. The periods are shortened.

OMNI-RANGE navigation facilities for the Lubbock area today are expected to become effective on a permanent basis.

GCA FACILITIES at Reese go out of operation tomorrow until Nov. 22. Factory representatives will assist in a regular checkup and overhaul.

PHILIPPINE CITIZENS in service are being told they have certain taxes to pay when assigned to that country. U. S. citizens are exempt in the armed forces on articles not for resale.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff advise and assist the Secretary of Defense and the President in operational direction of unified or specific combatant commands.

They also prepare strategic plans and provide for strategic direction of the Armed Forces, prepare integrated logistic plans, review major requirements of the Armed Forces, establish doctrines for unified operation and training of Armed Forces members, and prepare military guidance for use in development of budget, research and engineering, and military assistance programs.

Right now the Air Force can begin to deliver 90 per cent of this nation's offensive within 15 minutes, should "the whistle blow." The striking power of our highly mobile aerospace force represents a capability which, in conjunction with the Navy's air arm, constitutes an offensive power capable of action anywhere on the globe.

Christians Must Preserve Morals

By Chaplain Henry C. Bielski

"I wholly disapprove of what you say but will defend to the death your right to say it." These are words of Voltaire. Many in the world of today subscribe to it, in the belief that it expresses true democracy, because it calls for freedom and liberty of speech. What Voltaire says seems to be liberal and broad-minded, at first reading.

It is the kind of statement with which all lovers of liberty are expected to agree, wholeheartedly and unreservedly.

Yet, both the statement itself and the opinion of those who think it to be an expression of true democracy and the essence of free speech are actually false. The first concern of every worthy Christian should be the preservation of good morals; but to defend the right of a person to say what he wishes may be very bad morals. Suppose we hear someone deliberately lying about another. Good morals demand that we do all in our power to prevent that lie from spreading. They also demand that we do not become willing listeners to a lying story which mars the good name of our fellow man; otherwise, we become co-operators in the evil that is done.

Therefore, we have no right to defend a liar. To hold that a man is free to say whatever he thinks is a proposition which is morally indefensible.

That such an erroneous idea has come to be held by many people is due to the fact that they have a completely wrong idea of what liberty and freedom mean. Liberty does NOT mean that we have the right to say, think, or act as we please. Such an understanding of the term is merely to confuse liberty with license.

True, liberty is the faculty or power, bestowed upon us by God, of choosing between two or more modes of action wherever such a choice is permissible, provided that, in making the choice, we do not interfere with the known rights of a third person.

A certificate and letter of appreciation also were given. Sergeant Roach served 24½ years with the Army, Army Air Corps, and Air Force. He was first sergeant of the M&S headquarters squadron section at retirement. He's going "somewhere west."

Academy Flying Physical Moved

Air Force Academy candidates have been authorized to take the flying physical examination at the same time they take the entrance examination.

The move has a two-fold objective: streamlining the administrative process, and early notification of the candidate whether he is physically qualified for admission.

The new system will be inaugurated in the first testing cycle in January and will become a regular part of the procedure thereafter.

In the past, Academy hopefuls were administered the Air Force Officer Qualification Test (AFOQT) and the Physical Aptitude Test (PAE) but had to wait until the results of these tests were evaluated before going on to take the physical.

Reeseites Adopt Japanese Daughter

A seven-year-old native of Japan today had a new name, that of her new parents, TSgt. and Mrs. Thomas R. Carleton of Reese. Her new daddy is NCOIC of the base communications office. Sandra Lorraine came to the United States in 1955 and had been living at Harlingen AFB. Late in the summer Sergeant and Mrs. Carleton learned she was available for adoption. They went to Harlingen and visited a half day with the little girl, and immediately decided to start adoption proceedings. Sandra Lorraine came back with them and a Lubbock lawyer began legal steps. There was no hitch in proceedings and late in October court approval to adoption was given. Final steps toward securing a new birth certificate — in English — have been taken. Sergeant Carleton said action toward taking a Japanese child into his home has been studied for a long time. "When we found out about Sandra Loraine, we moved quickly. Now we are extremely happy," he commented. The little girl is attending Bayliss School in Lubbock and "is doing fine and loves it."

Trainees Sent To Six ATC Centers

Reese continues to send airmen and officers to Air Training Command's technical training center where non-rated specialists are taught. Reassigned personnel may go to any of six ATC bases. At Amarillo, aircraft and missile maintenance, metal working, utilities, supply, guided missiles systems are taught. At Chanute, weather, aircraft maintenance, motorized and miscellaneous equipment, rocket propulsion, and missile training instruction is offered. Keesler training specializes in radio and radar systems, communications operations, air traffic control and warning, and missile guidance systems. At Lackland, not only is basic military training conducted, but also classes in officer training, pre-flight, recruiting, personnel, air police and air base defense, communications operations, and marksmanship. Lowry AFB offers work in photography, fire fighting, armament systems maintenance, special weapons maintenance, and guided missiles. At Sheppard trainees learn of intelligence, communications operations, aircraft and missile maintenance, helicopter maintenance, transportation, and missiles. Four of ATC's technical training centers — Chanute, Amarillo, Lowry and Sheppard —

"Best Qualified" Rules Promotion

The "best qualified" system will be used to promote captains to major and majors to lieutenant colonels under the revised system placed in effect in the Air Force. The number to be promoted will be limited by a specific quota (80 per cent of those eligible). All selections, it was announced, will be made at the USAF headquarters. Until now both Regulars and Reserves became eligible for temporary promotion primarily according to time-in-grade. Personnel planners long have considered this to be an unrealistic measurement for promotion. But because the Air Force was so young, total Active Federal Commissioned Service or Promotion List Service could not be used as the basis for all temporary promotions until the officer force had built up sufficient service. Then too, for quite some time there were enough jobs and promotion vacancies to provide a limited promotion opportunity. Most of these vacancies are filled. The Officers Grade Limitations Act authorizations have been reached.

Had the Air Force continued to promote on time-in-grade, by 1962 only Regular officers would be promoted to major and lieutenant colonel.

These advancements would be based upon the completion of 14 and 21 years of Promotion List Service respectively. Promotions for Reserves to these ranks would be out of the question. Now both will have the 80 per cent opportunity for temporary promotion already guaranteed Regulars for permanent advancement.

Concern has been expressed by some personnel officers over the effect the change would have on the morale of officers who were eligible under the old system but who would not qualify under the revised one. Examples are captains with more than 5 years time-in-grade but less than 10 years active commissioned or promotion list service.

Col. William W. Berg, Chief of the Promotion Branch, Directorate of Personnel Planning, says every conceivable advantage had been carefully weighed against the disadvantages.

He added that if the advantages had not out-numbered the possible inequities the program would not now be going into effect.

Captains who become temporarily ineligible under the new rules will eventually come under consideration. On the other hand, under the old set-up, it would be possible for an officer to conclude his career without being able to seriously compete for promotion due to the small number of vacancies, time-in-grade and other factors.

Under the revised method captains and majors who complete the necessary active commissioned or promotion list service will have an 80 per cent chance for promotion in two opportunities. Two pass overs, that is failure to be selected on both occasions, will be the basis for separation, retirement or retention for retirement if the individual has more than 18 years but less than 20.

The 3,000 extra major spaces authorized by Congress will make room for the promotions through FY 60 after which attrition is expected to make spaces available.

The two years time-in-grade requirement for the primary zone is expected to be cancelled out in the next three years. This factor was introduced to cover isolated cases in which an otherwise eligible officer had not been long enough in grade for his performance to be judged.

The reduction of the Air Force from 845,000 to 825,000 is not expected to dictate drastic changes in the new promotion picture. The 20,000 reduction would involve only about 600 major's spaces which can be absorbed without seriously affecting the forecast figures. It was previously announced that 6,300 Reserve captains and 1,100 Regulars would be considered for promotion by the end of Fiscal Year 1961.

Parents Cautioned Against Accidents To Their Children

Several parties are being planned for Lt. Col. and Mrs. O. Aiken Mays, who leave early next month for reassignment at SHAPE headquarters in France. Mrs. Mays entertained at a coffee for Medical Group wives and nurses in the Phantasy Room this morning. Medical wives will be hostesses at a farewell dessert bridge next Tuesday afternoon at the Officers Club honoring Mrs. Mays.

Parents of children living in the housing area were urged again this week to keep close tab on the boys and girls playing around construction.

Parents were told conditions might be dangerous and injuries possible for the children. Emphasis was placed on preventing the children from playing with construction tools.

Air Police have been instructed to report incidents of non-compliance with instructions.

HONOR GRADUATE — Aviation Cadet Robert J. Boucher of Reese is the highest ranking student in Class 60-D in ATC. He will receive the Daughters of American Colonists award on graduation.

Retraining Needs Studied by USAF

Air Training Command and other commands have advised USAF headquarters what they need in on-the-job retraining in order to meet local requirements.

Presently, AFR 39-8, "Airman Utilization and On-The-Job Retraining," controls and reduces surplus grades and skills on an Air Force-wide basis. USAF officials believe the regulation tends to limit local commanders in meeting certain local retraining requirements.

OERs Rate High In ATC Analysis

Reese ranked third among 28 Air Training Command bases for submitting Officers Effectiveness Reports during the March-August period of 1959, the base was notified this week.

A quality analysis of OERs was used to obtain the standing of all bases of ATC.

Considered were promptness in submitting reports, sufficient copies, aeronautical ratings listed for each officer, proper handling of outstanding performance material, signatures, job descriptions, and other matters.

Upward of 1,000 OERs for each month were analyzed.

Early Separation Work Commenced

Reese personnel assignees this week began work on the "early out" program for separation of airmen prior to the Christmas season.

The program this year provides for separation between Dec. 10-18 of airmen and non-regular officers whose date of separation is Dec. 18 through Jan. 4, provided early release is requested and there is no military consideration to the contrary.

Airmen separated under the policy will be ineligible to reenlist for 91 days.

New Regulation Stresses Controls

Insistence that proper action be taken at squadron, group, and wing levels to insure Airman Quality Control is made in a new regulation aimed at tightening the program.

Success of the program, AFR 121-27 points out, depends on action at these levels. Commanders are told to be on the alert to understand the program and to see that rules are followed.

In force for slightly more than two years, the Quality Control Program is aimed at having a force of highly qualified professionally orientated airmen.

The USAF inspector general, who initiated the regulation, urged that commanders see that career-minded volunteers are given school retraining opportunities, that criteria and procedures to assure promotion of best qualified airmen are followed, that means of identifying unfit airmen and NCOs at squadron level are strengthened, that repeated offenders are identified, and waivers for excessive lost time for reenlistment be not granted.

In all, 24 points of emphasizing the program have been stressed. Specific instructions are given on identifying and evaluating marginal and sub-standard airmen, for tighter reenlistment controls, strict promotion policies, and certification of eligibles for proficiency pay.

NEW BOOKS PUBLISHED

A new book, "The Amazing Results of Positive Thinking," by Norman Vincent Peale is to be brought out shortly by Prentice-Hall. This one will be based on letters received by Dr. Peale from readers of his earlier "The Power of Positive Thinking." The new one appears seven years to the day after the publication of the old. The old one was on the best seller list for 186 weeks. Sales total 2,100,000 and it is still selling at the rate of 35,000 to 40,000 per year.

The other day Harry Golden figured he had autographed some 50,000 copies of either "Only in America" or "For 2c Plain." Since the publication of the first title he has been the star of about 100 autograph parties.

Earl Mazo's "Richard Nixon" has been out since last summer and the following are in the process of creation: "Stuart Symington: Portrait of a Man with a Mission," by Paul I. Wellman; a biography of Nelson Rockefeller by Joe Alex Morris; a political biography of Senator John F. Kennedy by James M. Burns; "This Is Humphrey" by Michael Armine and "Nixon and Rockefeller: A Double Portrait" by Stewart Alsop.

Greater Use Of MARS Expected

With installation of additional equipment, workers in the MARS station at Reese are expecting greater use of facilities.

The station is available for telephone calls to virtually every other military installation in the nation on official and semi-official business, for calls by Reese people to their parents or others, and for use of "ham" radio operators.

"We have a small amateur operator's club, but want more members; anyone interested is asked to inquire about joining," said Capt. Donald S. Knierim, Transportation Squadron, officer in charge. Calls may be made to the captain or TSgt. Raymon Brady, MARS NCOIC.

The station can handle calls to any base in SAC, AMC, ADC, TAC, ATC and MATS, as well as Army and Navy stations, provided weather conditions permit.

It has more than 400 kilowatts of power, with transmitters, receivers and patch equipment to permit telephone calls.

It is installing radio teletype equipment to bring faster traffic in military messages. It has surplus equipment and technical aid for persons desiring to build or experiment with radio equipment.

"We are anxious that all possible calls be made by MARS to save utilities costs," Captain Knierim said. "Many calls can be made without cost, while long distance calls may run into considerable money."

The station is operated by Sergeant Brady and A/2C Robert Walsler. Volunteers are on duty nights and new members to the "ham" club also will be used, if they desire. MARS is a part of the base communications system.

Golf Notes

By A/3C Michael O'Brien

This week the Officers Wives clan held its weekly golf tournament on Sunday. This week the husbands and wives were teamed for a low net tournament.

First place went to Flo McGuire and Maj. Kenneth McGuire. Other winners were Wanda Hess and Col. L. C. Hess, second, and tied for third were Muriel McElroy and Lt. Col. M. B. McElroy and Mary Oldaker and Lt. Col. Quinn Oldaker. Low putt of 31 was made by Colonel and Mrs. Hess.

Every Sunday at 1:30 p.m. for the past four Sundays the OWC has had good success with tournaments. A large increase in players has marked each weekend.

Notices of other tournaments, including one this weekend, are posted in the BX, Officers Club and golf clubhouse.

Squadron golf this week found no handicap from weather. The 3501st PTS leads with 3½ points, trailed by PTW and the 3505th with 8 each. Tied at 6½ are M&S and Air Police, while Installations has 3 and Air Base Group 1½. Transportation is still trying to score.

This Week's Tip

It's a poor golfer who blames his tools. A golf pro spends a life time studying the fundamentals which can suit every type of player. He can give you the best instructions possible — so utilize your golf professional. He will be glad to help you.

a new set of smaller bowling balls comes in. Mrs. Bill Farlines is the instructor.

The nation-wide American Junior Bowling Congress consists of 160,000 members. Their balls are from 10 to 12 pounds, which they roll in three regular games in competition.

According to Mrs. Mildred Drollinger, scout leader of Troop 83, "the children do very well for their ages in bowling." Peggy McGuire holds the top average of her team with 118; Linda Blake-man, 82; Billie Erdmann, 80; Pat Lindler, 72; Nancy Parsons, 67; Carol Porter, 62; Carolyn Carlwell, 59; Katherine Drollinger, 57; Diana Bloomer, 54; and Betty Pomeroy, as of yet, hasn't bowled for an average.

At the present, the local league is competing against each other. However, in the spring, children with the high scores will compete in the National League against the 160,000 members across the nation. Their scores will be sent in to headquarters in Chicago to determine trophy presentations.

Last year, out of 9,650 teams in the National League, Lubbock made an outstanding record by taking 52nd place.

The Reese girls dressed in black and white uniforms are sponsored by the Lubbock Western Wear Co. Fees for joining the club are 50 cents per year and uniforms are not necessary.

"Mrs. Drollinger, scout leader, pays all expenses for the Girl Scouts," stated Mrs. Farlines.

In order to join the league, call Mrs. Farlines at SW5-4346, Oakwood Lanes.

The intramural basketball season will start Nov. 16, with the first of two games starting at 6:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday nights.

Bowling...

The Wing Wizards today held a three-game lead in the Officers Bowling League on a 32 won - 12 lost basis. They defeated the Flight 9 Hustlers, 3-1, Wednesday night.

In second place are the PTG Spoilers, 4-0 victors over the Flight 3 Comanches Wednesday. They have a 29-15 record. Operations upset the M&S Greasers, 3-1, to hold third place on a 27½-16½ record.

Major Joe Setnor of the Dust Devils rolled a 236 high game as his team marked up a 942 game and 2,475 series. First Lt. Don Arnts had a 589 high series.

Intramural League

SSgt. Joe Jurecic rolled a high game of 210 and a 541 series to highlight Intramural League Bowling activities during the past week. The 3502nd turned in an 852 game and the Air Base Group toppled 2,347 in high series.

Keesler and Reese played a scoreless game, with Keesler winning on three-yards more penetration.

Decrease Of 8,000 Men Planned In Air Force Strength

The Air Force will cut 8,000 men from its military strength within the next eight months, reducing its military manpower level to 825,000 by next June.

Under the present plans, this calls for a cut of 2,574 officers and 163 warrant officers from current strength figures. Number of airmen will be reduced by 6,162.

It is expected that most of the reduction will be taken care of by a cutback in procurement and a stepped-up early release (discharge) program, as well as by normal attrition. Adjustments will have to be made to allow for the addition of 801 aviation cadets and aviation students, and 431 more USAF Academy cadets during the same period.

Originally, the Air Force expected to have a total force of 845,000 men at the close of the current fiscal year.

The cut, announced by the Secretary of the Air Force James H. Douglas, was prompted by the need to stay within the budget. The manpower reduction will enable the Air Force to direct funds into missile, aircraft and other defense systems.

ASSUMES DUTY

Captain Mervin Parrack, former Reese IP, has become chief military check pilot at Graham Air Base.

AIRMEN ENCOURAGED

Sunday, Nov. 22, has been designated as a special time on which single airmen are urged to attend a church or chapel, Chaplain John O. Ballantine, said Thursday.

"We especially invite all to attend on this day, if at no other time in the year," he said. "This does not mean that those who have families are to stay at home; in fact, families should encourage the single man by attending services."
