Seven Graduates Named Instructors Here

GETS RESULTS — Kathy Hogue, civilian personnel office secretary, checks in with results of her first week seeking deposits in and new members for the Reese Credit Union. She secured six new members and $6,010 in deposits in the union's drive for members. A cash prize is offered to the person securing the most new members and another for largest total deposits secured. Mrs. Hogue hopes to win both awards. ### New Boys Join Little League; All-Stars Enter Tournament

The Dodgers came to life in the Reese Little League Monday night to play the Braves to a 12-12 tie in six complete innings. Spectator interest was the best of the season.

Lights on the new diamond went on Monday night and things in the league were looking up. New boys are showing up every day, ready and able to add to league play. Games under the lights will not start until after the all-star tournament.

League play is called off next week until after the all-star tournament in which Reese competes with Shallowater, Wolfforth, and New Home. Host will be New Home, which has a well-lighted and maintained field.

Reese meets Wolfforth at 8 p.m. the night of Thursday, July 21. The following night Shallowater and New Home meet and Saturday at 6 p.m. losers play for third place, with the championship set for 8 p.m.

Reese rooters are being encouraged to see the all-star games. The New Home diamond is on the Slide Road south of Slide.

All 11 and 12-year-old boys are eligible for all-star play. A practice Wednesday limited the team to 14 players.

PILOT REASSIGNED

First Lt. Larry James, Reese helicopter pilot, is being reassigned to Elmendorf AFB, Alaska. He has been here since last December.

Maintenance Official Due Higher Rank

CWO Donald J. Heskett, aircraft maintenance superintendent, is among 564 warrant officers of the Air Force listed for promotion to temporary W-3 under the accelerated warrant officer promotion program.

June 30 was effective date for promotion of 153 of the new W-3's and Heskett's elevation will come later, at a time his name is reached on the list. Elevation is on a seniority basis and all listed will move to higher rank during Fiscal Year 1961.

The Air Force has named 162 warrant officers to go to W-4. Special orders will be mailed to all listed when time for elevation is reached. The board which chooses those for promotion considered 2,410 men for elevation.

Also selected for promotion to W-3 is WO Clyde Moutchett, formerly assigned to the Reese personnel section.

Bonus Repayment Penalty Removed

First-term airmen serving on an extension of two or more years won't be penalized on their bonus money if they are selected for reenlistment under the 55/45 program.

Under previous rules, an airman selected for reenlistment had to cancel his extension and reenlist immediately. This meant he had to pay back part of his bonus. This provision now has been waived.

Four Return To National Guard Duties

Seven members of Class 61-A, to be graduated here next Friday, will remain at Reese as instructor pilots under reassignment orders received from Air Training Command.

Four members will return to their Air National Guard units as instructors and pilots and other members of the class are receiving assignments to MATS, SAC, ADC, and ATC. Foreign student graduates will return to their homes in Ethiopia and Germany.

Dr. William M. Pearce, head of the Texas Tech department of History and anthropology, and recently elevated to associate dean of the Tech Graduate School, will be speaker at graduation exercises in the base theater. The graduation will follow a formal wing review.

Native of Plainview, Dr. Pearce has spent more than 20 years in history teaching and research. He is the author of several research papers on the Matador Ranch, one of the nation's largest cattle raising ventures.

He is a graduate of Southern Methodist University, has a master's degree from Texas Tech, and a doctorate from the University of Texas. He also attended Cite Universitaire in Paris and the University of Mexico.

During World War II he was a tank unit commander in Europe winning a Purple Heart twice, a Bronze Star and other medals. He is commander of the 413th Civil Affairs Company of Lubbock, with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Dr. Pearce is a former archaeologist for the U. S. National Park Service. He is a member of many historical societies and has traveled in Mexico, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria and Italy.

Mrs. Wright New Service Club Head

Succeeding Mrs. Daphne Hargett as Mathis Service Club Director is Mrs. Betty-Jane Wright, wife of Lt. Col. Hanford Wright, personnel officer. Mrs. Hargett transferred to Perrin AFB, Tex.

Mrs. Wright has been assistant director of the club since October, 1959. Prior to that time she had been at Reese eight months, serving as swimming instructor in the Girls Recreation Program here. She also aided in the Wives Club Welfare Program.

Prior to arriving at Reese in March, 1959, Mrs. Wright was with her husband on a two year tour in Turkey. There, she taught English to Turkish nationals and did Family Service work.

Operation of Early Warning System Told

"Our deterrent forces have 15 minutes to get on their way; Communications has 90 seconds to tell them they must."

How the early warning system operates and is planned to operate from far and wide points to close at home is discussed and detailed in "90 Seconds to Go," a lead article in the July AIRMAN'S Magazine. The discussion deals mainly with the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System, BMEWS.

"At the present rate of its growth, it will soon be capable of detecting an attack aerospace weapon, identifying it, reporting its presence to an entire continent, selecting the weapon to attack it, launching the weapon, guiding it to its target, destroying that target, and simultaneously launching a retaliatory force all without the necessity of any human voice speaking a single word. It is doubtful, however, that this full capability will ever be exploited, because final decision must remain in human hands," says the article by Capt. Ted Sturm.

Troops attending Reese Commander's Calls are being urged to read this discussion, and others in the magazine. They are being told numerous articles are "must" reading.

First Instructor Signs-In For NCO Academy On Base

Establishment of the Reese NCO Academy moved a step closer today as the first instructor, MSgt. Ebbie N. Grant, signed in. Plans call for the Academy to open Sept. 12. Sergeant Grant, from Denison, Texas, has been an NCO Academy instructor at Moody AFB. He will be joined by other instructors later.

The NCO Preparatory Course of 120 hours and four weeks is USAF accredited and graduates will not be required to attend the management course for Air Force supervisors.

The mission is to assure that staff sergeants and potential NCO's are aware of their full responsibility and to increase their ability to fulfill their proper role in the Air Force.

Students will be airmen first class who are potential NCO's, or staff sergeants who have not graduated from a similar course. All will be volunteers and recommended by unit commanders. Students will be excused from all duties during the course. Graduates will receive certificates.

Three hours are devoted to introduction and orientation, 4 to Air Force courtesy, customs, uniforms, etc., and 22 to drill and ceremonies. Six hours are devoted to the NCO as a manager and organizer, 11 to the NCO as an instructor and supervisor, and 16 to oral and written communication.

Seven hours are spent in study of human relations, 12 in leadership, and 5 in discussions of personal affairs. Military law is considered for six hours, security for four hours, physical education six hours, citizenship two hours, and ground accident prevention three hours.

Supervised study and discussion is allotted six hours, testing and evaluation four hours, and critique and graduation two hours. The Chaplain will speak an hour.

Officials Wait For Pro-Pay Instructions

Reese officials this week awaited instructions from higher headquarters before moving toward possible selection of airmen to receive higher proficiency pay, starting in September.

USAF has announced that about 2,100 airmen in the grade of technical sergeant through master sergeant will draw an additional $60 a month in the first P-2 money allotted. Reese has 16 men drawing P-1 proficiency pay but criteria for nominating to P-2 status has not been received.

Before Fiscal Year 1961 ends the Air Force expects to have about 8,330 men in P-2 status, all of them in skill levels "7" and above, and all senior NCO's.

The first increment in September will be in six or seven skills, it was said, with 21 other skills added during the fiscal year. About 100 skills are included in present pro-pay.

illustrations, as usual. There's an enlightening discussion of the Minuteman missile, an article on aeronauts, and a satire on how to get things fouled-up. The pilot of a Delta Dart tells how it feels to fly by automatic navigation, others tell how they came out of close scrapes in the air, and a researcher advises on how to avoid being gyped in buying a car. There's an article on how NCO's at Dover AFB sharply raised their education status. And the rest of the 50 pages contain short and long articles on a variety of other subjects. All are worth reading by Reese people, Commander's Call attendants are being told.

From The COMMANDER'S DESK

By Colonel L. C. Hess, Base Commander

A permanent change of station always poses many problems for the individuals and families concerned. Getting acquainted and adjusted in the new surroundings is often hard. This can be made much easier for our newcomers if each person assigned to Reese will take it upon himself to assist the new arrival and make him feel at home and a part of the team.

First impressions are often lasting impressions. We certainly want our new arrivals to feel at home and have a sense of belonging from the very start.

I sincerely solicit your cooperation and attention to this important matter.

If There's Emergency, Then What?

The American people have placed considerable faith, and with it, a heavy responsibility in the U. S. Air Force and each of its members. As the first line of defense and the main deterrent to aggression, the Air Force must be constantly on the alert, with personnel in all areas of operation who are well informed, proficient in their job, and highly motivated. This applies to those who must operate complicated weapon systems, train pilots, fly, and to members whose mission is one of support only.

Each commander and supervisor must know that the individual knows his job and responsibilities thoroughly. The officer or airman should understand not only all there is to know about his individual job, but also about the various related factors that might affect it and thereby prevent him from accomplishing his task in a professional manner. The individual, his supervisor, and his commander must help in preparing for adverse conditions.

A man who operates a weapon system must know everything to make it "hit the bull's eye." The maintenance man must know how the weapon works, properly and safely. The custodian must know dangers and protection. Each must be able to cope with any unforeseeable emergency — he must know step by step actions he must take.

Is everyone ready at Reese to cope with the unforeseeable to avoid failure or embarrassment?

Marriage Serious Business

To become a pilot in the Air Force on the operational level requires anywhere from 80 to 90 weeks of training. The man who makes it has willingly put in time to bring himself to a peak of proficiency, and he will spend the rest of his military career in perfecting his techniques. Short-cuts could be fatal.

Yet is it not unusual for a starry-eyed young Air Force man to rush into marriage with little or no preparation at all. He may have known the girl for a very short time; they may come from completely different cultural and religious backgrounds; they may differ vastly in regard to education. When questioned about these things by some conscientious Air Force Chaplain, he may say, "Those things don't matter, Chaplain. We're in love."

Love is wonderful — there's no doubt about that. But love cannot grow in an unsuitable environment any more than a rose can grow in ashes. Marriage, the making of a home and the care and upbringing of children is a serious business. It requires thought and preparation. So very many people have rushed into marriage on the wings of love alone and then have experienced the shattering effect of a marital disaster.

It is necessary that there be a reasonably lengthy engagement period when the boy and girl can thrash out some of the problems they can expect to face in marriage: finances, military moves, religious attitudes, the desire for a family. Let Hollywood push the "I will pluck a star out of the sky and pin it in your hair" business. This has its place, of course, but preparation for marriage that depends solely upon sweet expressions is no preparation at all. About the only ones to benefit from it are the divorce lawyers.

South Plains Calls for Help

When floods hit parts of West Texas last week, Reese assistance came fast. The base sent 100 steel cots, mattresses and blankets to Slaton for use of families forced from their homes by water and temporarily housed in a school.

The next night, 50 cots, mattresses and blankets were hurried to Levelland for a similar purpose. Before the equipment's use had ended a call for 50 cots came from flooded Plainview, but aid could not be furnished.

A request also was made of Reese officials and the Corps of Army Engineers to send power equipment to near Woodrow to pull out farm machinery from a flooded farm. However, no equipment here was available which would do the job.

The nation looks to the Air Force for protection. In emergency, the South Plains turns to Reese for help. When possible, help is forthcoming at once.

WINNER AGAIN—Tabulating no cost for the fourth consecutive month, the Air Police Squadron has won the administrative accident potential organization Green Flag of Safety again. The ground safety flag is being presented by Col. James D. C. Robinson, left, deputy base commander. Maj. Kenneth McGuire, AP commander, is receiving the flag as Col. Harold T. Babb, Air Base Group commander, looks on.

Chaplain Pleads

Good Influences

Out-Weigh Bad

By Chaplain George J. Worner

Few stop to realize that in our constant relationships with others each one is having an influence, good or bad, upon those around him. The fact that we are all influenced by others and are in turn influencing others is undeniable. Every serious-minded person should therefore be concerned about the nature of his or her influence.

A man once dreamed that he was in hell. When asked to give an account of what he had seen — if there were flames there, and suffering there, and wrecked and malign creatures with whom he had to associate, and if the place resounded with oaths of blasphemy — he said, "Yes, but there was something far worse than that: I was compelled to face my influence. I knew that I deserved punishment, for I had scorned and rejected God; but my sorest pain was to see what the effect of my life had been upon others."

Many a person has come to life's end with the serious prayer that their influence be buried with them. How much better to so live now that we can live in the hope that our influence has been of the calibre that young and old have been turned Godward because of us. So live, that God is pleased.

Reese Men Attend

Life Conference

Five Reese men will attend the annual Spiritual Life Conference at Estes Park, Colo., July 21-25.

Flying to the conference will be Capt. William Threlkeld, Chaplain George Worner, A3C Dennis Groves, A1C Guy Owings, and A3C Rex McLennan.

The Estes Park meeting will be devoted to religious study and recreational activities, with nationally-known leaders leading discussions.

Chinese Reds Hesitant

Premier Khrushchev has said Russia wants peaceful coexistence. What does he mean? More than three months before the called Summit Conference, Andrew H. Berling, U. S. Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs, said:

We gain the vivid impression that the Chinese Communist rulers are reluctant to see Chairman Khrushchev engage in conversations with the Western leaders. They appear to fear he is weakening in what they think should be a merciless fight against the free world. They seem to feel, and resent they are being left out of the councils of the great. But at the same time they insist that the rest of the free world accept their standards rather than the reverse.

Elsewhere in the Far East the situation has distinctly improved. The last decade has seen real progress achieved in the Far East. There has been an awakening of Asian awareness to the real dangers of the Communist threat. Communist China's own actions in Tibet and against India have vividly illustrated these dangers.

The independence and freedom of our Asian friends has been maintained through our individual and collective security efforts. Our economic aid programs are helping their peoples toward a better material life.

The new decade we have just entered should see further progress in economic, social and political endeavors to meet the basic aspirations of Asian nationalism.

Last week there occurred an event of profound significance to the Pacific area, Asia and the world — the signing of the Treaty of Mutual Co-operation and Security between Japan and the United States. This treaty set the seal of friendship upon the partnership for peace of the two nations. With the co-operation of the vital, ingenious, forward-looking Japanese people, we can look with greater confidence towards increased stability and economic betterment in the area.

This is the first month of a new decade which should prove decisive for the future of the world. This initial year of the decade promises to be an extraordinarily busy one, probably an augury of the whole decade.

This year should give us further evidence of the astounding benefits science can bring to mankind if only good sense, restraint, tolerance and consideration for others is manifest throughout the world.

My own hunch is that we shall have peace. This can be the uncertain, unreal peace we have now, or it can be true peace with justice. We shall never cease to assert that the former is not good enough for the men, women and children who inhabit the globe. We shall continue unceasingly to work honorably for the latter. For it is the only basis on which mankind can prosper and be truly happy.

What we want, and what the peoples of all the world want, are much the same things. We want to construct a better world for our children, one in which they can live in security against war, privation, ignorance, and injustice. We want a world in which each nation can freely contribute its ideas and the benefit of its experience to others, and can as freely draw upon the ideas and experience of other nations. We want to co-operate with other peoples in building an international order in which each can realize its national ambitions without exploiting or threatening the well-being of others.

Nations with different economic, political, and social systems, we believe, can work together fruitfully for common goals, if they accept the principles of the UN charter: tolerance for other nations' ways of life and voluntary co-operation for the good of all.

Good reading on nuclear weapon use thinking is contained in the Spring issue of the Air University Quarterly Review. Gen. Frederic H. Smith, Jr., Commander in Chief, USAFE, and former ATC commander, is the author of an article on "Nuclear Weapons and Limited War," which gives views on best ways to halt limited wars.

Periodic Maintenance Has Full-Time Job Keeping Aircraft Flying

Performing periodic maintenance inspections on 86 T-33 jet training aircraft is a full-time job for the Periodic Maintenance section of the 3502nd Flight Line Maintenance Squadron, commanded by Maj. Joseph B. Burdick.

Under the supervision of CWO Flagle E. Stewart and SMSgts. Floyd V. Edwards and Raymond L. Heck, the five periodic maintenance dock chiefs and 34 civil service employees accomplish an average of 40 aircraft inspections each month.

Stewart and Sergeants Edwards and Heck have a combined total of more than 60 years of experience in aircraft maintenance management. The Periodic Maintenance Section has secured many excellent reports on productivity and efficiency.

The eight military personnel and 34 civilians, all citizens of the Lubbock community, take pride in their work as professionals.

The organization of aircraft mechanics and supervisors has never been charged with a reportable personnel injury, nor has an aircraft accident occurred due to faulty maintenance performed by the organization. Laxness is not condoned.

Each aircraft inspection is accomplished with the aid of a detailed check list and sequence chart. The checklist is followed closely to insure that nothing is overlooked during the inspection. The sequence chart is used by the dock chief as an aid in plotting the progress of the inspection and to insure that each phase of the work is accomplished on schedule.

Starting at the washrack, the aircraft is cleaned and the engine removed before sending to the Engine Shop for inspection. From the washrack, the aircraft is moved to one of the docks where thorough inspection begins.

In the dock, four aircraft mechanics, plus electrical, instrument, communications, and egress specialists from the 3505th Field Maintenance Squadron, complete a searching inspection of every component of the aircraft.

As the inspection and maintenance of each aircraft is finished, re-inspection is done by the Group Quality Control inspectors. This double check is added insurance that the instructor pilots and students are furnished aircraft in perfect mechanical condition.

After all inspection has been completed, each aircraft is test flown by a highly qualified test crew. Any malfunctions noted by test pilots are corrected before the aircraft is placed on the flight line for student training.

There are two main objectives in the periodic inspection program — to aid training and to assist the Wing Command in assuring accident-free missions.

Reese Delegation Studies Situation At Primary Base

Seventeen Reese persons and a Texas Tech AFOTC captain this week visited Graham Air Base, Fla., to study training methods and other situations which may be involved in Reese work when primary and basic pilot training are consolidated.

The Air Force program calls for primary pilot training bases to be closed by December and for basic pilot training bases to take over all production of proficient pilots. Much of the Graham facilities will come to Reese.

The delegation from here studied training methods, maintenance, and other features of Graham AB activities. It left Monday and was scheduled to return late Thursday night or early today.

Going to Graham were Col. James D. C. Robinson, deputy base commander, Lt. Col. Victor C. Correll, Majors Roland E. Lane, Lewis J. Britain, and Foley Collins; Captains Richard K. Buckland, Earl F. Mabus, and William P. Reece, 1st Lieutenants Glenn O'Banion, Donald G. Shirkey, and Thomas E. Wizoreck, SMSgt. Rodney Williams, SMSgt. Carl Carter, SMSgt. Leason Dale, MSgt. Woodrow Pickron, and TSgt. Almon L. Webster, all of Reese, and Capt. Oscar Ogletree of Tech.

Former NCO Here Given Commission

Newly-commissioned 2nd Lt. Robert H. Eusebio paid a return visit to Reese last weekend, enroute to navigator training at Harlingen AFB.

For three years he was assigned to the synthetic trainer section at Reese, leaving last January to enter Officer Candidate School at Lackland AFB. He was graduated late in June.

The former Reese staff sergeant while here was an instructor and maintenance man in the synthetic trainer section. He is a graduate of high school in California.

Final Plans Laid For Church School

Final plans were being laid this week for the annual Vacation Bible School conducted by the Chaplain's staff and Sunday School leaders.

"Vacation Church Schools are playing an increasingly important role in Christian Education," said Chaplain James D. Taylor. "Educators consider the intensified study during 30 hours of a 10-day period to be the equivalent of approximately one and a half years of Sunday Church School, and we believe that there can't be too much preparation for Christian living under the tensions and stresses of today.

"It is our belief that vacation church school is one of the best times to touch the lives of children. We feel there is a great necessity for operating it because if every child were present every Sunday of the year he would get 52 hours of Christian education. "Children receive 180 hours in public schools each year to prepare them for earning a livelihood. Our purpose and responsibility are to teach them how to live. Fifty-two hours are not enough; even the additional 20 hours in vacation church school are not enough; but they are better than nothing."

Bad weather which interrupted pilot training of students has forced flying during the mornings of tomorrow and Saturday, July 23. Instructors hope to drastically reduce hours "in the red."

A shift in assignments announced this week sends Maj. Joe Setnor to the wing operations office, Maj. John J. Garrett to command of the Wing Headquarters Squadron Section, Maj. Joseph O'Connell to assistant wing inspector, and Maj. Richard Conn to M&S Group as maintenance control officer.

Reese people were urged again this week to bring their locator cards up to date. They were told difficulties in location of emergency will be reduced if their cards are correct. New addresses should be recorded promptly on both base and squadron locator cards.

The Mobile Training Detachment, located at Reese three years, has returned PCS from a 90-day tour at Sheppard AFB. It came back with a new designation, Detachment 748A (T-33). The unit returned Sunday and Tuesday began its first class in aircraft maintenance. Students are young airmen on the "3" level. The course will run 70 hours, instead of the former 62 hours.

The across-the-board pay raise given graded employees at Reese will be reflected in pay checks issued July 22 and 29.

Reese finance workers closed out the fiscal year ending June 30 in fine order, it was announced this week. All necessary paperwork was completed on time and in order. Finance office workers gave praise to all units of the base for prompt taction in completing work.

Base Boys Win Championship

The Reese-filled First National Bank baseball team has won the championship of the Southwest Pony League in Lubbock. The league's all-star team will meet another all-star aggregation Tuesday night.

Eight of the First National team are Reese dependents, and three have been named to the all-stars. Capt. John L. Johnson is manager and coach of the league champions. First National finished the regular season with 12 wins, 3 losses and five of its players finished among leading hitters. Vic Correll led all hitters with a .604, getting 29 hits in 48 official times-at-bat. During the season, he caught, pitched, and played third base.

Second among hitters was Alan Johnson, pitcher and shortstop, with a .560 average on 23 hits in 41 appearances at the plate. Steve Burgoon, third baseman and outfielder, hit .380, and Rudi Rushing, second baseman and outfielder, had a .310 average. Lubbock lads on the team also were among leading hitters. Bill Gee tabbed. 542, Sheddy Jones, .511, and David Seim, .387. They were named to the all-star team.

The Southwest all-stars meet the winner of the Southern-Northeast game next Tuesday night at Maxey Park. Southwest drew a bye in the opening round.

The 14-boy roster of First National also included other Reese boys: James Westbrook, outfield; Arthur Jordani, second base and outfield; James Weaver, second base and outfield; and Mike Hritz, outfield.

The team had a hitting average of .408, getting 155 hits in 379 times-at-bat.

Golf Notes

By A1C Curtis Blue

Construction of the Golf Club House was on schedule as of Tuesday.

As for golf itself, the course was temporarily closed last week due to the heavy downpour of rain. The thunderstorm caused the small lake north of the club house to over-flow several yards, covering the approach to the No. 1 green. The ground is still rather soggy in that particular area.

Two trophies, on display at the golf shop, are awaiting to be presented to the first and second low net winners of the OWC ringer tournament in progress now. The two trophies will be given on Aug. 9.

Full handicaps will be used to determine the winners. Everyone participating has a chance.

Ladies day has been changed to Tuesday with tee-off time beginning at 8 a.m. Also the Sunday "Officers and Wives" tournament tee-off time is 1:30 p.m. Whether you are a new golfer or a newcomer to the base — the OWC invites you to come out and join them.

TOP REESE SWIMMERS were not able to leave for the ATC Swimming and Diving meet held at Chanute AFB, Ill., last week. The four representatives awaited a change in weather for which to take to the air, as planes were grounded. Maybe next year will bring better fortunes.

Softball . . .

With PTW selected as the sixth team in the Intramural Softball League playoffs, the M&S nine got off to a good start Tuesday night with a 23-3 win over Air Base Group. The game was played on the reconstructed diamond, where work had been in progress two weeks.

Winner of the playoffs will represent Reese in the ATC softball competition July 21-22 at Perrin AFB. The Reese tourney will be completed by Sunday.

PTW entered the playoffs with a 19-18 win over the Civil Engineers in a free-hitting contest Wednesday night. Previously, ABG, M&S, PTG, Hospital, and '02nd, had won a place in the double-elimination competition.

The M&S sluggers included three homeruns over the new fence in the hitting attack that downed ABG and caused a losing stalwart to mutter: "That team is all strength."

Weather hampered reconstruction of the softball diamond but work has ended, including installation of an irrigation system which will provide sprinklers for keeping the playing area in shape during dry weather.
