Night Class Registration Starts Today

Registration for college courses planned to be offered on-base by the Texas Tech extension division starts today and will continue through June 1, Jerry Willett, base education officer, has announced. Classes to meet two hours on each of two nights, are to start June 5 and 6 and continue through Aug. 21-22.

Tuition is $10 per semester hour, with military entitled to assistance for three-fourths of the fees if they make arrangements through the education office. Registration is in the office.

A variety of courses are planned for the Reese summer education program in which classes meet at 5 and 7 p.m. in the Academic Building.

Instruction will be offered in accounting, government, economics, history, mathematics, education, speech and other fields in the accounting, economics, business administration and education at the graduate level.

Courses are being set up to meet requirement and requests of students, Willett said.

Colonel Morganti

Colonel Morganti Assigned From Pentagon Training Post

Col. Clyde J. Morganti, deputy director of Personnel Training and Education in Air Force Headquarters in Washington, will assume command of the 3500th Pilot Training Wing at Reese Aug. 1, taking over reins from Col. Ernest T. Cragg, wing commander since July 1966. Change of command ceremonies will mark the change of commanders.

Colonel Morganti, who said in the Pentagon he is an adopted Texan and at Reese has "the best job in the Air Force," began military service as an aviation cadet in December 1941 and was commissioned on completion of flying training in August 1942. He flew B-25 aircraft with a bombardment group in combat over Africa and Italy during World War II.

Following his combat tour, he held various assignments in flying and technical training activities of Air Training Command until 1952. During the period of 1952-1954 he served as an exchange officer with the Royal Air Force in England as a student of the RAF Staff College and later as a member of the staff of the RAF technical college.

From 1954 to 1958 Colonel Morganti was in the Pentagon with the director of Personnel Training and Education, moving to Air Training Command Headquarters in 1958 to serve as director of Aircraft Training for the deputy chief of staff for Technical Training. He remained in this position until 1960.

Served In Ecuador

From 1961 to 1963 the colonel was chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group and commander of the U.S. Military Group in Ecuador. Following this tour, he went to Washington, first as chief of the Technical Training Division and from 1966 until now as deputy director.

He is a native of Rock Springs, Wyo., and a graduate of Fort Lupton High School in Colorado. In 1941, he was graduated from the Colorado State College of Education, moving into military service shortly after graduation.

Colonel Morganti completed the Air Tactical School in 1948, the Royal Air Force Staff College in 1953, and secured a master's degree in Personnel Administration from George Washington University in 1966. He completed the Spanish Language Training Foreign Service Institute in 1961.

He earned the Army and Air Force Commendation Medals, the Air Medal with nine oak leaf clusters and other decorations. He has flown the B-25, C-47, C-54, A-36, P-47, A-26, RAF Meteor and other aircraft.

The colonel's wife is the former Mary A. Thomson. They have a daughter, Patricia Carol. He is 46 years of age.

Bicycle Rodeo Set Tomorrow

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded the best riders in each age group during the annual Reese Bicycle Rodeo at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the Mathis Service Club parking lot, Edward Hall, youth director, has announced.

The bicycle of each child between six and 12 years of age will be inspected and all youngsters will perform maneuvers to see if they are qualified riders. Those passing tests will be presented cards for billfolds which will permit them to ride on-base anytime.

For the first time, Security Police will examine each bicycle. Bikes in proper condition will be numbered and stamped and the numbers will be recorded in police headquarters. Thus, stolen or lost bicycles may be returned to owners more quickly.

The Bicycle Rodeo is planned each year by Joe Lopez, ground safety director. Members of the Texas Department of Public Safety will be on hand tomorrow to assist.

Catholic Seminar Planned May 17-19

A seminar on "Current Questions in the Catholic Church Today" will be conducted by the Reese Catholic Parish May 17, 18 and 19, Chaplain Raymond J. Condren has announced.

The Rev. Tito Sammut, head of the Catholic Students League at Texas Tech, will conduct the seminar, with nightly meetings at 7:30 p.m. Each of the three sessions will begin with Mass. Refreshments are to be served.

Father Condren is inviting all interested personnel to participate in the program.

'Copter Rescue, Safe Flying Recognized

The Reese Aero Club, a doctor, and members of the Western Aerospace Rescue and Recover Center detachment shared in honors presented Tuesday at the Reese wing staff meeting.

The Aero Club received the Federal Aviation Agency Award for accident-free flying in 1966.

The Kaman Aircraft Corporation Award went to Capt. Harold A. Solberg, commander of Detachment 13, WARRC; Capt. James E. Jarrett, flight surgeon; TSgt. Melvin Stanford, fireman; and AIC Alexander Montgomery, rescue specialist. They were honored for rescue of two surveyors from Tule Canyon near Floydada Jan. 31.

The Aero Club Award was "presented for exercising skill and judgment in the accident-free operation of aircraft during 1966." The Reese Aero Club won the award the second consecutive year, flying 1,573 hours.

The Kaman award stated that each of the four men "has participated in one or more missions of mercy accomplished by the use of a Kaman helicopter and has displayed an unusually high degree of skill, courage and judgment under adverse or hazardous conditions, thereby relieving a fellow human being of extreme suffering or impending bodily harm or imminent death."

Victims Suffer

The HH-43 helicopter from Reese flew to Tule Canyon to rescue W. D. Newell, 72, and Oliver Denning, 79, who had become lost and stranded. During the night the men had become quite cold, one had fallen into water up to his neck, and had undergone other suffering. Rescue, except by helicopter, would have been difficult, it was said. Captain Solberg and his crew effected the rescue within minutes, hoisting Newell and Denning from the rocky area and taking them to a Plainview hospital.

The rescue was definitely "a save," Kaman officials stated.

ASTRONAUT—Astronaut Gordon Cooper gives a hug to his daughter, Cam, Texas Tech freshman, after she was pledged to the Angel Flight, AFROTC auxiliary at the college. Col. Ernest T. Cragg, Reese wing commander, and Mrs. Cooper look on. Colonel Cooper came to Lubbock to speak at the Tech AFROTC dining-in Friday night in the Reese Officers' Club.

AWARD—A Certificate of Flying Safety Achievement was awarded to Phase 1, Primary Pilot Training for 20,000 hours of accident free T-41 flying. The presentation was made by Col. William C. McGlothlin, Jr., (right), acting wing commander, to Mack Hale, general manager for Serv-Air Aviation Corp. Between Feb. 3, 1965 and April 12, 1967 T-41 personnel flew 20,000 hours and made over 47,000 landings. During this period 721 students were graduated from T-41 training.

BOND DRIVE MOVING; UNITS QUALIFY FOR AWARDS

The 1967 U.S. Savings Bond Drive moved steadily forward this week, with 59 per cent participation of military and civilian personnel reported Monday and additional sales made during the week.

Military bond buying had moved from 46 to 60 per cent and civilian purchases from 47 to 59 per cent. Indications were that several Reese units will qualify for Treasury Department Awards.

"If you like the non-pressure sales approach of this year's Bond Drive you probably are not alone," commented Lt. Col. Clifton E. Wiswall, drive chairman. "According to early sales returns the 1967 Bond Campaign is going to be a huge success."

He pointed out that underlying the drive is a need to save, with bonds filling the need.

Aids Airmen

"A bond investment is especially good for airmen who save for the time when they may need the savings," the colonel said. "During May, base personnel are given the chance to review their future financial needs, whether they be near at hand or in the distant future, and to see how well Savings Bonds can serve them."

It also was cited that E Bonds or H Notes (Freedom Shares) are exempt from state and local income taxes and also can be used to draw high interest. Bonds taken out in a child's name and used for education are tax-free if the child's income is less than $900 in the year they are redeemed.

"Although the official pressure is off, the inexorable pressure of personal financial need is always present," said Colonel Wiswall. "During May you can take effective steps toward your own and your family's security by saving through the payroll deduction plan."

The 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, Hospital and Student Squadron already have qualified for U.S. Treasury Department Awards which go to organizations of 50 to 400 assigned personnel who enroll 25 per cent of non-participants or who maintain a minimum participation rate of 20 per cent for a year. The Student Squadron also has qualified for the Minuteman Flag, going to organizations of more than 400 personnel who attain 90 per cent participation, and the Minuteman Award which goes to an organization enrolling a minimum of 35 per cent of non-participants during the campaign or achieving 65 per cent participation during the campaign.

Other units are nearing the qualification area.

FOR THE COMMANDER

Comm Squadron Provides Reins

Col. Ernest T. Cragg

By Capt. Russell C. Buol

Commander, 2053rd Communications Squadron

The Air Force Communications Service's (AFCS) motto is, "Providing the Reins of Command." The 2053 Communications Squadron's "raison d'etre" at Reese AFB is to do just that; to insure that commanders and their personnel at Reese have the capability and service necessary to communicate command and mission essential decisions and ideas to all agencies.

The Automatic Voice Network (AUTOVON) is one of the most effective ways the 2053rd Communications Squadron provides the "Reins of Command" to this base. The degree of effectiveness of the AUTOVON system is directly dependent on one person: YOU, the user.

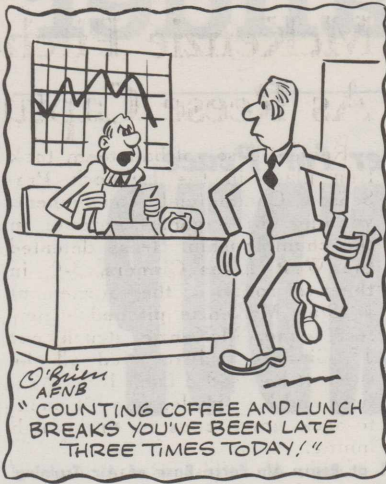

Misuse of the precedence system (reference page 4, Reese telephone directory), time limitations and the use of AUTOVON for unofficial calls seriously hinders the AUTOVON system not only at Reese, but on a world-wide basis.

Normally, priority will be the highest precedence which may be assigned to administrative matters for which speed of handling is of paramount importance. Assignment of a priority or higher precedence to a call which could be placed on a routine basis increases the nonavailability of circuits for other users. Exceeding the time limitations and the use of AUTOVON for personal or other unofficial calls drastically decreases the overall effectiveness of the system.

Only with the cooperation and judicious use of AUTOVON by all users can this system continue to be the "Rein of Command" it was intended to be. The system is an indispensable aid to our mission and its effectiveness can be improved only by YOU.

Capt. Buol

Colonel Earns DCO Position

Col. William E. Shelton, commander of the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron, has been re-assigned to Laughlin AFB, Del Rio, Tex., as deputy commander for Operations. He will direct all undergraduate pilot training at Laughlin.

The colonel, promoted to his present rank May 1, has been at Reese since September 1964 and has been commander of the 3501st Student Squadron, operations officer for the deputy commander for Operations and 3500th PTS. He also served four months as DCO recently.

The colonel has been in service since 1942 and during World War II flew submarine patrol in the Pacific area. He came to Reese from Turkey, where he commanded the Istanbul Air Station.

Colonel Shelton and his family leave Reese May 27 for the new duty.

Additional Reese Airmen Promoted

Twenty additional Reese airmen, all assigned to Reese after being nominated by previous bases, were promoted May 1. Four moved to staff sergeant, 12 to airman first class and four to airman second class.

New staff sergeants are Kay L. Wilen, Clifford J. Smalley, Albert L. Atterbury and Lamar E. Weems.

'Don't Toss The Pills In Trash'

Warning against throwing medications in places where children can find them was issued this week by Dr. D. N. Sattem, chief of the Reese Military Public Health.

"Children were found playing with medications they had found in garbage cans in Reese Village this past week," the doctor said. "The danger in this is obvious. There have been other instances of this in the past few months."

"It should be strongly emphasized again that no medications should ever be disposed of by putting them in the trash. Liquids should be poured down the sink drain or into the toilet. Pills should always be flushed in the toilet. Any unused medicine should be disposed of immediately."

Repair Revision Decreases Costs

Savings totaling $10,000 have been realized in the Cost Reduction Program through revision in repairing the syncro transmitter assembly of T-38 engines at Reese.

The transmitter sends a signal to the engine fuel flow indicator. When it went bad it was replaced.

However, it was found that two transmitter bearings caused the trouble and these are replaced under the new program. The transmitter is not discarded.

A difference between materials for bearings and transmitters brought a $3,742 saving. Offsetting labor costs totaled $302, to give annual savings of $3,440 per year for fiscal years 1967, 1968 and 1969.

Re-Enlistment Marks Leadership

By and large, re-enlistment is the result of successful leadership and the proper handling of airmen during their first enlistment. Any program for re-enlistment which is sporadic will inevitably produce only sporadic results.

Numbers of re-enlistments is not the object; quality re-enlistment is. Apart from supporting any specially designed re-enlistment incentives, commanders and supervisors at all levels are expected to treat this matter as a part of their daily activity and by personal example generate the esprit, the desire to serve and the dedication which are so very necessary in the make-up of a professional military force.

Our Air Force is not only a business; it is a family. Each member should be treated that way. (ATCPS)

QUOTE OF NOTE

"The Air Force is contributing a large share of the overall effort of the United States in helping the emerging nations. Around the world our uniformed men and women are devoting countless hours to teaching people the essentials of nation building. Our people do this with infinite patience; with sincerity and with lots of hard work. They also do this with no expected reward except that which accrues from making new friends through helping them to help themselves. I am very proud of the accomplishments of our Air Force people."—Gen. Bruce K. Holloway, Air Force vice chief of staff.

Make A List; Check It Thoroughly

Time to make up your mind — about whether to stay in the Air Force or go back to being a civilian? Don't hurry! Make a list. Put down the good things. And the bad! Take medical care. It costs a military family $6-8 dollars to have a baby. You'd pay $500 as a civilian. And don't forget health insurance you'd need on the "outside." Set aside some "extra" for that. Lots of items aren't covered in a policy.

Pay? You can put that on both sides of your list — good because it keeps going up, bad because in the lower ranks it still is only adequate.

But if you're good at your job — good enough to demand all that "clover" from industry — you won't stay in those lower grades too long. Your chance for promotion is the best its been in years.

Look at time-in-grade requirements. Promotion to E-3 in five months. And to E-4 — eight months. Monthly promotions will make your chances even better. They'll start in July if Air Force can work out details by then.

Then there's your estate. Did you know an airman first class with just over three years has a life insurance policy of $50,000? Ask your personal affairs people to figure it out for you.

And retirement. It would cost you $160 a month for a 20-year endowment policy that would yield the $200 a month you'd get as a retired tech sergeant.

One more thing! It's not something you can touch like money. It won't buy a car. You have to give it — freely. Dedication is a hard taskmaster. Nor does it always say "thank you." If you don't have it — well, maybe you aren't cut out for the military. And that's all right, too. Not everyone is.

But make that list. Add up the pros and cons. Just be sure those dollar signs in your eyes are in focus! Could be you'll decide you have a pretty good deal right where you are!

Sergeant Boosts Suggestion Cash

MSgt. Devon R. Ulshafer of Field Maintenance, has added $45 to his previously won $100 cash awards in the Reese Incentive Awards program.

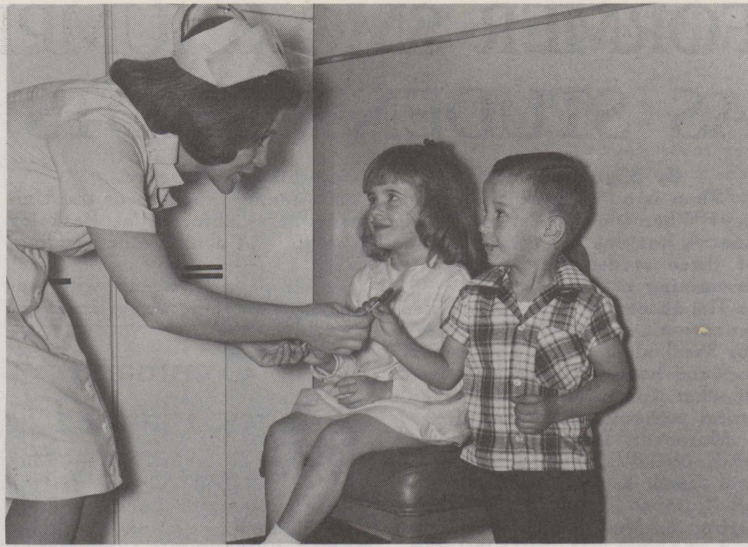

The Incentive Awards Committee has approved the $45 for two maintenance improvements he proposed. One affords an annual saving of $592 in salvaging parachutes. The other improves parachute packing by use of a rotary webbing wheel. The sergeant earlier submitted a suggestion which saved Reese and other Air Force units a considerable sum. He was awarded $55 at Reese and an additional $45 when the suggestion was adopted elsewhere in Air Training Command.

TSgt. William A. McElroy earned $30 for saving the base $521 annually in name tags.

AIC Gary L. Diehl and Homer L. McKee earned $12.50 each for suggesting a stainless steel patch on jet engine blankets.

Twenty-two persons were awarded Suggestion Certificates for proposing improvements in safety welfare and morale areas.

They are MSgt. B. B. Thompson, AIC Charles M. Lents, 1st Lt. Ronald M. Hodges, Col. William C. Sipes, A3C James A. Abbott, A2C Robert L. Taylor, SSgt. Pedro R. Cruz, A3C Robert McCarthey, A2C David J. Kava, Capt. William H. Johnson, AIC Carroll R. Fritts, Maj. Raymond A. Malacarne, Sgt. Jack Schmitt, 1st Lt. F. E. Doherty, SSgt. Jimmy R. Trammell, Maj. Forrest B. Fenn, Paul C. Turpen, Lester E. Orr, David A. Cothron, TSgt. Joseph R. Turenne, Mary M. Bagwell and N. B. Neal.

SUCKERS FOR IMMUNIZATIONS—Edith Franklin, a volunteer Red Cross worker at the Air Force clinic, gives Roxanna, 5, and Carlton Hooley, 4, suckers after their immunizations. The suckers were donated by the Officer's Wives Club to help push the immunization program.

ROUND ABOUT REESE

Supply Sergeant Earns Top Honors As Reese's Athlete Of The Quarter

SSgt. Javier (Chico) Reyes has been named Athlete of the Quarter for January, February and March by the Base Athletic Council.

Sergeant Reyes, 36, father of five, was praised for his participation and guidance in three base sports: baseball, volleyball and bowling.

"The 3500 Supply Squadron Volleyball Team under Sergeant Reyes' assistance and guidance won the Reese Intramural Volleyball Championship," said the squadron letter of nomination. "Sergeant Reyes was an outstanding player for the squadron team and displayed the finest attitude of sportsmanship and fair play at all times."

Chico is the second baseman of the Reese Rattlers baseball team. He is the mainstay of the Supply Squadron bowling team.

At his last assignment at Chateaux AB, France, Chico was a member of the base baseball team for more than three years. The team went to two international tournaments, one in Milano, Italy, and the other in Amsterdam. The sergeant also participated in three command volleyball tournaments, 1963-65, while stationed in Europe.

Sergeant Reyes is a native of San Antonio, Tex., with more than 17 years service time in the U.S. Air Force.

FORMER SMOKEJUMPERS TRAIN AS STUDENT PILOTS AT REESE

By SSgt. Vic White
When is a "gobbler" not a turkey? When it's a forest fire! A big one. A hot one. Just ask any one of three student pilots currently in training at Reese.

The three officers, second lieutenants all, were "smokejumpers" for the United States Forest Service, and have firsthand knowledge of what it is to fight one of man's worst menaces: the forest fire.

Moreover, Ben D. Smith, class 68-E; Neil W. Hayden, class 68-F; and Garth L. Wilson, class 68-F, all "jumped" together before entering the United States Air Force and undergraduate pilot training.

It's sheer coincidence that the three former smokejumpers find themselves together at Reese, rather than split up at several UPT bases. From 1962 through 1966, at different intervals, in between classes at their respective universities, they spent their summers in training, and then actually fighting fires. They were based at Missoula, Mont., but smokejumping took them to many parts of the West, Northwest and Alaska.

Tools Dropped
Lieutenant Smith spent three summers fighting fires and accumulated 40 jumps.

"Basically, a smokejumper is involved in fighting those inaccessible fires that occur throughout the West which can not be reached by vehicles," he related. "We were trained to use steerable parachutes and jump from light planes near the area where the fire burned."

"We carried personal gear such as food and clothing. The tools to fight the fires were dropped in by chute right after we hit the dirt."

Several methods are used to fight fires in these isolated areas, but the basic one was to dig a trench rimming the fire. Sometimes a backfire was started in order to eliminate burnable material and snuff the fire out.

Follows Father
Smith's father, Glenn H. Smith, was one of the original smokejumpers back in 1939. He was one of the first five men trained to fight fires in this unique way.

Lt. Smith, a graduate of Montana State University, and native Californian, is single and intent on a career with the Air Force, preferably "flying for TAC."

Lieutenant Wilson, a graduate of the University of Idaho, hails from Orofino, Idaho, and has over 20 jumps to his credit.

"According to the U.S. Forest Service, 85 per cent of the fires in the greater Northwest are caused by lightning," Wilson stated.

"This happens mainly in Washington, Oregon, Montana, Wyoming and Alaska. Fires in California are usually caused by people who are careless."

Wilson's wife is the former Marsha Mann of Lewiston, Idaho.

They are the parents of a new baby girl, Wendy Lnn, born April 4, 1967.

Biggest Fire
Perhaps the biggest fire any one of them helped to put out occurred in 1962, near Orleans, Calif. Lieutenant Hayden was assigned to that one which, by the time it was quenched, had burned for 11 days, and had destroyed over 17,000 acres of valuable timberland.

This kind of work involves a great many risks to life and limb. One such risk happened to Lieutenant Hayden during one of his 25 jumps.

He was second man out of the plane during a jump and his chute failed to open. Before he could pull his emergency chute, his body tore through the chute of the man who had jumped before him. He momentarily was snarled in the shroud lines. Fortunately, after clearing the other jumper's chute, he was able to release his emergency chute and both men landed safely.

His arms bear the scars of the burns incurred as he flew through the nylon chute of the other jumper. His free fall lasted seconds, but he traveled over 700 feet before his chute opened. Hayden, a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley is single and a native of Redding, Calif.

All three men speak with enthusiasm of their experiences as smokejumpers, just as they do about their present life as undergraduate pilots.

They are emphatic in their high regard for both the U.S. Forest Service and the Air Force, and enthusiastically speak about their past adventures as smokejumpers, as well as their exciting future careers as pilots in the United States Air Force.

ATC Command Changes Planned

HQ. ATC (ATCPS) — Maj. Gen. G. B. (Ben) Greene Jr. will take command of Lackland Military Training Center, Lackland AFB, July 1, Lt. Gen. Sam Maddux Jr., commander, Air Training Command, has announced. General Greene currently is the commander of the U.S. Air Force Military Personnel Center at Randolph AFB.

The present commander of Lackland, Brig. Gen. Frank P. Wood, will become chief, Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG), Italy.

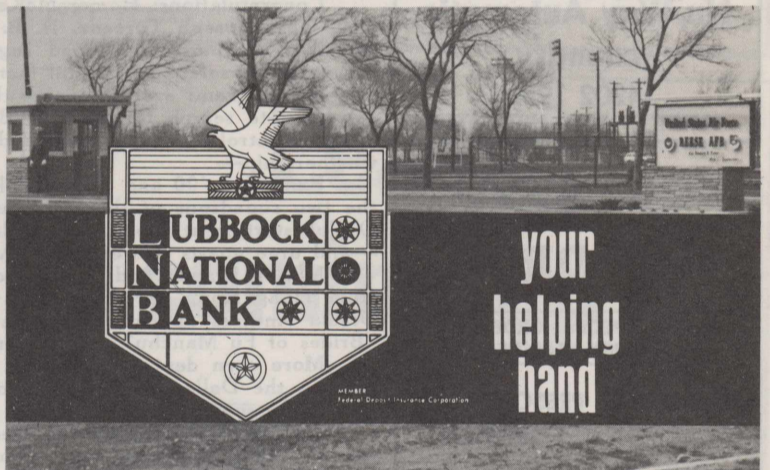

Maj. Gen. James C. McGehee, presently chief, MAAG, Italy, will assume command of Keesler Technical Training Center at Keesler AFB, Miss., replacing Maj. Gen. R. W. Puryear, who is retiring.

Concurrently, Headquarters U.S. Air Force announced that a major general selectee, Brig. Gen. Robert J. Dixon, will assume the Military Personnel position held by General Greene. General Dixon is presently commander of the 45th Air Division at Loring AFB, Maine.

DATE MOVED

Liller Wins Last Game For Rattlers

By 1st Lt. John L. Kreideweis
 Jim Liller gave his final performance as a Reese Rattler Sunday as he pitched and batted the Rattlers to a 9-6 victory over Lubbock Electric at Mackenzie Park. Liller relieved John Kreideweis in the second inning with the Rattlers trailing, 3-2. Over the remaining six innings he gave up one earned run on two hits while striking out 12. It was a fitting climax to his tour at Reese that he struck out the last man to face him on two fast balls and his best pitch — a drop!

Reese took a 2-0 lead in the first on the strength of a double by Kreideweis with two men on base, but fell behind as Lubbock Electric came up with three runs in the bottom of the first. With the score 4-3 in favor of Lubbock Electric, Reese came up with six runs in the top of the sixth inning to put the game out of reach. In that inning Liller connected for a single with the bases loaded to drive in the two go-ahead runs. Roy Kalisz also had a run producing single.

During the three and one-half years that Liller was a member of the Reese Rattlers he compiled a 2.08 earned run average per game. He also averaged nine strike-outs per game against some of the best competition available in the Lubbock area. Liller batted for an overall .261 average, but was connecting at a .395 clip in this, his best season.

Liller is leaving to attend AFIT in pursuit of his masters degree in astronautical engineering. His departure leaves a great hole in the Rattler pitching staff, but we all wish Jim and Linda and Clint the best of luck at Wright-Patterson.

ABG Unbeaten In League Play

Air Base Group leads the intramural softball league with a 3-0 record. Field Maintenance and the Hospital squadron teams are following right behind undefeated with 2-0 records.

Paul Barber pitched a two-hitter against Supply giving ABG a 12-4 win over their opponents. Supply's four runs came without the benefit of a hit.

The Hospital team chalked up a slim 9-8 victory over 3500th Pilot Training Squadron. Hospital was behind 8-5 in the bottom of the fifth inning when it scored four quick runs in succession to edge their opponents.

AIC Don Bennett of the Medics was winning pitcher.

FMS's Stan McKenzie hurled a two-hitter against the Student Squadron, and won the game for FMS, 6-2.

Joe Thiesen hit a three-run homer in the first inning to give the Hospital team a 4-1 victory over the 01st PTS.

In other action Supply walloped Organizational Maintenance, 19-1, ABC won over the 00th PTS, 15-8, Students defeated Communications by an astronomical score, 27-6, and ABC won a squeaker over the 01st PTS, 16-15.

Swimming Pools Open Saturday

With temperatures reaching the 80 degree mark on numerous days lately, the personnel services division has announced an early opening day, Saturday, for Reese's two swimming pools.

Reese's two pools, the officers' pool adjacent to the Officers' Open Mess and the airmen's pool next to the gym, will be opened seven days a week.

Pools will operate weekdays between 5 p.m. and 8 p.m., and Saturdays and Sundays from noon to 8 p.m.

These hours only apply up to June 1.

A new schedule adding more swimming time after June 1 will be formulated next week.

McKenzie Pitches No-Hitters As Reese Captures Tourney

Reese's base softball team took first place in the Lubbock Pre-Season Commercial Tournament, winning three games enroute to the championship. Reese defeated the West Texas Ginners, 3-0, in the first round of the tournament as Stan McKenzie pitched a perfect game. McKenzie struck out 15 Ginners and received all the support he needed from John Mayfield and Ken Hyde, who hit back-to-back home runs in the fourth inning.

In the semi-finals Reese pounded Litton Industries, 11-0. Litton had been favored to win the tournament but ran into Reese's own "dynamic duo" plus one. Mayfield and Hyde put back-to-back homers together twice during the game and McKenzie fired a no-hitter. McKenzie lost his perfect game when he walked the first man up in the seventh. He then proceeded to strike out the side and wound up with 10 strikeouts for the night.

two-run round tripper in the third to give final support to McKenzie's two-hit, 11 strikeout pitching.

The Reese juggernaut will next see action at home against Cannon AFB. Cannon is the defending TAC champion and finished fourth in last year's Air Force World-Wide Tournament. The two teams will play a doubleheader Saturday on Softball Field No. 1. Game time is 1 p.m. and refreshments will be available.

Summer League

Bowlers WANTED!

Early Identity Of Promotees Seen

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Some 30,000 airmen selected for promotions to grades airman first class through chief master sergeant in the first cycle of monthly promotions might get the good news late this month.

In announcing the return to monthly promotions last month, the Air Force said that names of all airmen selected for promotion in the first cycle would be announced June 15.

For airmen first class this cycle includes monthly increments through September. For grades staff, tech and master sergeants, the period runs through November. An undisclosed number of senior and chief master sergeants will be made monthly through December.

The June 15 date was selected to permit major commands sufficient time to prepare selectee lists based on board actions in the last promotion cycle of fiscal year 1967.

It now has been determined that many commands will have their lists completed in advance of the June 15 date. The consensus is there is no reason to keep members of the enlisted corps in suspense longer than necessary.

Armed Forces Day

Reese again this year will be the focal point of the South Plains in observance of Air Forces Day May 20.

An open house is scheduled from 1 to 5 p.m., with emphasis again on the undergraduate pilot training program. Several armed forces units are cooperating.

Aircraft used in training and by other military units will be on display and demonstrations are planned. Expected to be on the program are a parasail demonstration, ejection seat display, fire-fighting and crash demonstration and Lubbock police sentry dogs in action. In hangars various exhibits will be set up.

Armed Forces Day will be observed throughout the nation May 20, with thousands of citizens expected to visit installations. Project officer at Reese is Lt. Col. Bennett P. Browder.

Major Develops Gear Indicator; Test Successful

The solid state landing gear indicator developed by Maj. James L. Priest of Reese was successfully tested last week by the manufacturer at Grand Prairie, Tex., but bad weather kept the major from witnessing the test.

Major Priest spent 18 months in the Wright-Patterson AFB propulsion laboratory prior to coming to Reese, devoting his time to researching and developing the landing gear indicator.

A manufacturer was given the contract for producing the indicator and May 4 tests were run. Major Priest, by special invitation, was to witness the test, but high winds kept his plane grounded at Reese and he was unable to go to Grand Prairie for the successful performance. The indicator is adaptable to all types aircraft. It was tested on the XC-142.

Armed Forces Day Bake Sale Planned

The Officers Wives Club will sponsor a bake sale on Armed Forces Day. Members are asked to turn their baked goods in by May 18. Baked goods are to be taken to Mrs. William Kilpatrick, 101 Andrews; Mrs. James McQueen, 301 George; Mrs. Ernest T. Cragg, Bldg. 1221; or to Mrs. Frank Poucher, 5318 46th Street, Apt. 123.

LOAN DEADLINE

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Cut-off date for World War II G.I. Home Loans is July 25. The Veterans Administration said that date is the absolute deadline for applications for VA-guaranteed or insured G.I. Home Loans for veterans of World War II.

GCA Operator Earns Title As Reese Airman Of Month

Study in college work, devotion to duty and professional performance have won for A1C Gerald K. Collins of the 2053rd Communications Squadron selection as Airman of the Month for May at Reese.

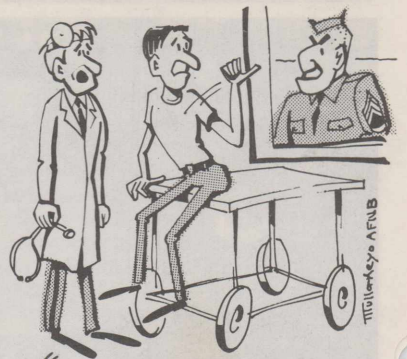

The airman, from Sacramento, Calif., has been in service three years and came to Reese a year ago.

He is a Ground Control Approach operator who is credited by his squadron commander, Capt. Russell C. Buol, with outstanding performance in controlling air traffic at Reese, one of the busiest air fields in the nation. He also is credited with sound judgment in heavy traffic and emergency and with suggesting innovations which benefit the service.

Captain Buol said Airman Collins works for the best interest of the Air Force, is loyal and has been outstanding in appearance and attitude.

The airman has completed two Extension Course Institute college courses by correspondence and is enrolled in a conservation course at the University of Minnesota and a mathematics course at the University of California.

"Airman Collins is a dedicated airman; his devotion to duty, military bearing and behavior are of the highest standards," Captain Buol said in his letter of recommendation.

"NOW JUST WHERE IS THAT PAIN IN THE NECK?"

'Pepper' Shelton Captures Honor

William E. (Pepper) Shelton Jr. of Reese is winner of a U.S. Air Force Merit Scholarship, one of three Lubbock recipients of scholarships awarded in national competition. He plans to attend Yale University and major in English for a career as a teacher and writer. Amount of the scholarships has not been disclosed.

Young Shelton, son of Col. and Mrs. William E. Shelton, has gained an award set up through arrangement between the Air Force and National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

His selection was based on high grades through junior and senior high school and a long list of honors he has gained in many fields, including athletics, leadership, civic contributions and studies.
