Training Reduced

Spending Cuts Announced

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird announced action to cut Air Force training not connected with Southeast Asia by 300,000 flying hours for the remainder of the current fiscal year.

In a statement here Aug. 21, Mr. Laird said the move would be part of an overall effort to cut defense expenditures up to $3 billion during fiscal year 1970.

"We will be required, in order to make these savings, to lay up ships, reduce flying hours, close some bases, and reduce military and civilian manpower," he said. He did not identify the bases.

An example of the spending cuts which are required, Secretary Laird said he had approved new expenditure reductions which will reduce defense spending this fiscal year by more than $1.5 billion. Some $1.1 billion in cuts have previously been announced.

As a result of cuts, the armed forces fiscal year strength will be reduced by more than 100,000 military and more than 50,000 civilian personnel, he said.

Proposed actions to save money, in addition to the cut in Air Force flying hours, will include:

- Army cuts in non-Southeast Asia operations, maintenance and training by approximately $500 million.
- Navy inactivate more than 100 ships.

Mr. Laird said Congress would receive 48 hours notice on any base closing.

The Defense Secretary said the budget cutbacks are required as the result of Congressional action which imposed a limitation on Federal expenditures for fiscal year 1970, by anticipated budget cuts by congress and by the economic needs of the Nation.

"I am taking this action. In doing this, I shall strive to insure that the cuts have the least possible impact on our readiness, but I want the American people to know that there will be an inevitable weakening of our worldwide military posture," he said.

Secretary Laird said implementing instructions concerning the various functional areas of the Air Force portion of the $3 billion cut which will be effected are being prepared.

Details will not be available until these instructions are transmitted to affected commands. Announcement of unclassified details will be made at that time or shortly thereafter.

SSgt. David R. Perez, a jet mechanic with the 3500th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, has been selected by the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron as Crew Chief of the Month for July.

New Air Force Decals Available

Security Police has announced arrival of the new vehicle registration decal adopted by the Air Force earlier this year.

Distribution of the decals will begin Tuesday at the pass and registration section of Security Police.

Proof of adequate insurance coverage must be provided during registration by E-4s and below as well as GS-5s and below.

All military and civilian personnel at Reese will be required to display the new decal.

In a letter congratulating the sergeant, Lt. Col. William E. Moore, 3501st PTS commander, stated that, "Sergeant Perez displayed outstanding devotion to duty, military bearing, job skill and personal appearance. Sergeant Perez is a credit to himself, the 3500th Pilot Training Wing and the United States Air Force."

The 23-year old sergeant is a native of Montebello, Calif., and entered the Air Force in 1967. He was previously assigned to the 510th Tactical Fighter Wing, Republic of Vietnam, leaving that assignment in December, 1968. Sergeant Perez and his wife, Catherine, have one son, David, 2.

Cost Reduction Helps Thy Neighbor

By Brendan P. Holland
 Management Analysis Branch
 Just the other day the possibility of a cost reduction was mentioned to this writer by an interested airman in the Deputy Commander for Material Division (DCM). The possibility involved substantial savings in an operation controlled by Security Police. The word was passed on and the cost reduction item is now being developed by the sub-project officer.

Cost reductions in Area III.B.1., General Management Improvements, can be accomplished and identified by any function at Reese. Experience in the past shows that the full potential will not be reached if each function confines their thinking to their own operation. General management improvements include cost reduction items in interservice between functions and these possibilities have been overlooked in prior years.

Do you perform a service for another function or have you submitted a suggestion that reduces the cost for another organization? Let them know about it; help thy neighbor.

Discuss your general management improvement—cost reduction ideas, new ones as well as those that may have been overlooked, with the sub-project officers assigned throughout the base.

The following is a list of sub-project officers for the Air Base Group: Comptroller Division, Mr. Holland, ext. 781; Air Base Services, R. L. Matthews, ext. 347; Chaplain, Capt. C. F. Pressley Jr., ext. 538; Base Procurement, MSgt. R. C. Boyd, ext. 314; Personnel, 1st Lt. R. E. Hoch, ext. 432; Headquarters Squadron, Capt. J. B. Peterson, ext. 738; Administrative Services, SMSgt. Cecil Tilghman, ext. 243; Security Police, 2nd Lt. Edward V. Albert III, ext. 614; and Judge advocate, TSgt. R. E. Smith, ext. 506.

Sub-project officers for DCM include: supply management procedures, D. Eubanks, ext. 415; Organizational Maintenance Squadron, Maj. Kenneth Pearson, ext. 636; Field Maintenance Squadron, Capt. N. R. Hull, ext. 446; and maintenance standardization, 1st Lt. W. R. Keefner, ext. 758.

Theodore Wright, ext. 766, is sub-project officer for the Deputy Commander for Operations Division while 1st Lt. Robin T. Campbell, ext. 526, is sub-project officer for Reese hospital. Capt. William J. Hubbard, ext. 324, is the Information Division representative while Safety is represented by Maj. D. L. Clendennen, ext. 214.

FOR THE COMMANDER

Let's Conserve Base Utilities

Col. Clyde J. Morganti

By Lt. Col. George F. Holtgrewe Jr.
 Wing Executive Officer

"Education makes people easy to lead,
 But difficult to drive,
 Easy to govern,
 But impossible to enslave."

—Lord Broughman.

I wonder how many readers of this article have recently seen the above quotation. It appeared on the latest utilities conservation brochure circulated to all units on base. The brochure goes further by asking everyone to, "Help the Utilities Conservation Committee identify and solve their problems."

Col. Holtgrewe

The main objective of the Utilities Conservation Committee is to conserve HEW. In this instance HEW takes on a different meaning than what some of you may first deduce. What the committee strives to do is influence everyone to stop wasting Heat, Electricity, Water. Perhaps what is needed is more education to stimulate a more effective influence. If such be so, here are some educating facts you can cogitate on.

1. Last year Reese AFB spent over $250,000 for HEW. Approximate costs last year were $70,000 for heat (gas), $146,000 for electricity and $34,000 for water.

2. The water produced by base wells has a flourine content which far exceeds the optimum. Early in 1969, higher headquarters gave us permission to purchase our water from the city of Lubbock and granted additional funds to cover added costs. City water has a 0.8 part per thousand gallon flourine content which is the optimum. During the next fiscal year it will require an additional $39,000 to purchase all our water from the city of Lubbock.

3. In July of this year the base consumed double the amount of water which had been budgeted for. Granted it has been a hot and dry summer. However, if we don't start conserving this resource now it may become imperative that strict rationing or other controls be imposed in the future.

4. Although residents in Reese Village don't receive a monthly utilities bill they do indirectly pay a share of utilities costs from their tax dollars.

5. The water schedule for Reese Village provides a convenient choice of watering days. It is not necessary that you water lawns and shrubs each of the scheduled days. Watering every ten days will keep them alive — not necessarily green — but alive. Flower beds of course may require more frequent waterings.

6. There has been a $1.5 billion cut in this year's defense budget. It is difficult for any of us to fully comprehend how many dollars that really is. Surely we would all agree that it is a formidable amount and a sizeable reduction in the defense bank account. With such a reduction, it should go without saying that when we have used what we now have there will be no place to go for more.

The commander does not wish to harass the dwellers in Reese Village. Although increased watering abuses have been noted, every restraint has been made to avoid taking any official act of discipline against the abusers.

The quotation says that the educated cannot be enslaved, but they can be lead. The immediate problem then is one of education on conservation consciousness. Having done this, it now becomes a matter for individuals to develop an intelligent mood of cooperation and help conserve all of our utilities.

The Whole Man Concept

A Moral BX Plan

There is satisfaction in belonging to a growing fraternity of Americans who are making the 20th Century dream come true. While we stand on guard, protecting man's inalienable rights, scientific breakthroughs are being made by military technology. However, these rewarding experiences demand airmen disciplined for the rigors of modern life.

Airmen are a unique and distinct group of people. The combination of physical qualifications, intelligence, emotional stability and social adjustment places them a notch above the average category of American Manhood. The mental, physical, ethical and social demands on the airman in the aerospace force are strenuous and exacting. Basic exercises (BX) are needed for this "whole man." A moral curriculum is in order and here is a basic set of exercises:

BX-1—A balanced diet and plenty of exercise are necessary for a healthy body.

BX-2—The mind must be exercised by expanding it with knowledge, wisdom and experience.

BX-3—Loyalty of friends and members of the family must be cultivated.

BX-4—Spiritual goals can only be nourished or recaptured in the quiet moments of devotion and worship.

There is one thing to keep in mind about this moral "do-it-yourself" program—"It must be an individual matter." Military academies and Air Force professional schools stress this personal responsibility. They find that the old fashioned virtues of courage, honor and loyalty are still modern principles. However, the 24-hour man can only be taught spiritual goals if he has a personal plan of moral exercise.

NEXT WEEK: THE PHYSICAL SELF

'By A Star'

The following poem was written several years ago by a service wife.

"By A Star"

How often my mother has said to me,
 "Where are you planting your family tree?
 Uprooting the children and moving each tour, how can they possibly feel secure?"

How can I explain about children's hearts?
 When love is present, fear departs.
 We love a man who strides the earth,
 who visits Hong Kong, Crete and Perth.

This love will always keep us secure and give a peace that will endure.
 Some day I hope to make Mother see,
 we live by a star not by a tree.

(An AFNS Feature)

"In addition to priority action on military compensation, Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard and I will direct an imaginative new look at our total use of manpower resources, military and civilian. The objective will be to eliminate any wasteful and inefficient practices and procedures and to devise and implement innovative programs to achieve increased efficiency in the use of our most precious resource, people." (Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, press announcement, Feb. 4, 1969)

Working Man Honored Monday

Instead of a day to honor the working man, as established 75 years ago, Labor Day has become just another time to get away from work.

As in the case of many of our holiday observances, Labor Day's true meaning has become obscured. Where once there were parades along the main streets of cities and towns in honor of the working man, about the only parade you can now see on Labor

Day is the parade of cars jamming the highways, taking families to the lakes, beaches and mountains for their last annual holiday fling.

This is unfortunate when you consider the tens of millions of working men and women who have played a major role in making this nation the richest and most productive country in the world.

The past, present and future strength of this country is in the multitudes of working people who produce the commodities and services essential to the growth and development of the nation.

We in the military have a special debt to the working man. In times of war and national emergency he has joined us in meeting the threats of aggression, either by laying aside his tools and joining our ranks, or providing us with the essential supplies and equipment to accomplish our mission.

In time of peace he has met the challenges of progress, supplying us with the latest and best weapons and equipment to deter the threat of world aggression.

The American working men and servicemen are strong partners in making this the most progressive, safest and greatest nation in the world. (AFPS)

Prime Beef Units

Teams Follow In Camille's Wake

HQ. ATC (ATCPS)—Elements of the Prime Beef "C" (contingency) teams from Randolph, Lackland and Sheppard AFBs, all in Texas, are at Keesler AFB, Miss., helping restore damaged buildings and power facilities following the passage of Hurricane Camille.

The storm was reportedly the worst to ever hit the U.S. mainland. Heavy rains and winds estimated at more than 120 knots (135-plus miles per hour) hit the base causing damage to buildings and knocking down power lines. Disaster control personnel at Keesler reported roof damage and flooding in the housing areas. The base operated on emergency power sources until normal power could be restored.

The Air Training Command Prime Beef team personnel departed for Keesler Aug. 19, and included 11 men from Randolph, 11 from Sheppard and 12 from Lackland. Keesler's own Prime Beef team has been on duty since the storm subsided and has been busy cleaning the debris left by the storm.

In addition to ATC, additional Prime Beef C-team personnel have been provided from other Air Force commands by the Civil Engineering Center, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. Additionally, elements of the 560th Civil Engineering Squadron (Heavy Repair) (Red Horse), Eglin AFB, Fla., are also on the scene with heavy equipment and operators.

The deployed ATC teams will remain at Keesler for approximately two weeks, command Civi Engineering officials said.

At dusk, visibility decreases rapidly and traffic is usually heavy and drivers impatient. You are asked to remember that while headlights do not appear to help vision, they do make vehicles more visible to other drivers. Play safe and turn your headlights on early.

LOADING SUPPLIES—Airmen load supplies collected in a base-wide campaign to aid victims of Hurricane Camille that struck the Gulf Coast last week. Bound for Keesler AFB, Miss., on a Lockheed C-130 Hercules, the goods consisted of hundreds of pounds of food, clothing and personal items. Items were donated by most of the base organizations as well as individuals and collected at the Family Services Center for boxing. (U.S. Air Force Photo By Sgt. David L. Blenkhorn)

Reese Personnel Contribute Items For Hurricane Relief

Hundreds of pounds of food and clothing departed Reese Tuesday aboard a Lockheed C-130 Hercules bound for Keesler AFB, Miss., as relief supplies for victims of Hurricane Camille.

The items were contributed by almost each organization on base and many individuals. Several organizations such as the NCO Wives Club and Officers Wives Club, collected donations and purchased supplies from base stores. The material included children's clothes, adult clothing, soap, canned food and personal supplies. Collected at the Family Services Center during the weekend, the goods were loaded into boxes by volunteers.

The shipment was part of supplies being collected by Air Force bases throughout the country for distribution by officials at Keesler.

In addition, offerings collected at all protestant and Catholic services, $167, Aug. 24, were turned over to the American Red Cross for the disaster relief fund.

'Battlefield Angel' Still Lives, Red Cross Continues Cause

her spirit and selfless efforts to aid the wounded would spread to Reese AFB, Tex.

Today, however, the cause which began with Miss Barton's aid to the wounded on the battlefield, is known as the American National Red Cross, and is functioning at Reese and thousands of military installations the world over. Volunteers everywhere serve to assist the servicemen in any way possible, as well as providing vital relief to areas hit by natural disasters such as the recent hurricane, Camille.

The volunteer program at Reese is presently undermanned due to the turnover of personnel. Red Cross volunteers are needed in at least 10 units of the Reese hospital. There are presently only about 20 active volunteers. On an average, these women sign up for one-half day of work per week, but many are now working as many as three days because of the shortage.

No Prior Training Needed

Volunteers need no prior nursing training. Mrs. Vickie Eichmeier, co-chairman of volunteers at Reese, would like to see about 50 more volunteers attend the next orientation to be held Sept. 11 from 9:30 a.m. until about 2:30 p.m., in Ward 5 of the hospital. The orientation will include lunch and a tour of the hospital. Once a volunteer has attended an orientation, she is eligible to work in any military hospital.

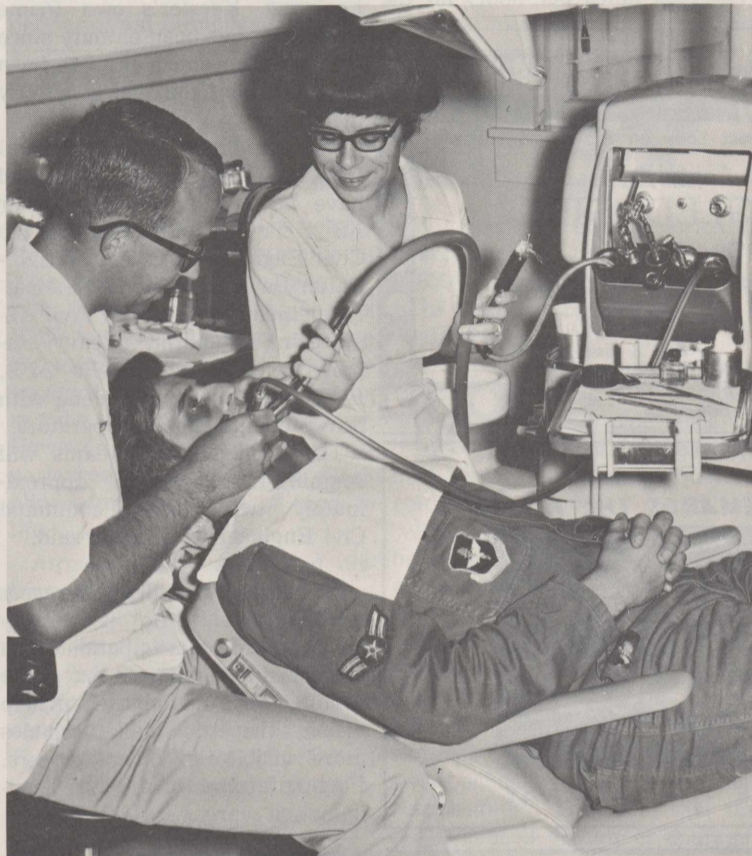

Red Cross volunteers perform a variety of duties depending on the section they work in. Each unit has a chairman who handles scheduling, and if a volunteer desires to change to a different clinic, she has only to coordinate it with the unit chairmen. Volunteers can choose where they work and can change until they find one in which they feel they can best help. "If we expect volunteers to make patients feel comfortable and at ease," Mrs. Eichmeier says, "it is essential to see that the volunteers are happy".

Critical Units Listed

Units in which volunteers assist at Reese include Ward I, family clinic, pharmacy, records, OB-GYN, X-ray, pediatrics, dental, veterinarian, laboratory and field office.

Jobs performed in each unit vary from administrative duties of typing and filing, to chaperoning during examinations, to weighing and measuring babies, and many more. In the dental clinic, volunteer work can provide the training necessary to become a qualified dental assistant.

Red Cross Volunteer Workers Share History Of Giving Aid

(Continued from Page 4) portant functions of the Red Cross volunteers is to help raise the morale of servicemen, whether in the hospital or serving normal duty. In the hospital the volunteers perform tasks such as writing letters for patients, reading aloud, going to the base exchange for cigarettes, magazines or books, and other favors.

For women who would like to volunteer but just don't like being in hospitals, the Red Cross field office in Building T-39 also needs workers. This is where Miss Jan Christofferson, field director for the American National Red Cross, handles case work for families with personal problems, and assist in emergencies other than hospital confinements. Work in the field office includes helping families send emergency messages, gain emergency financial assistance, and simply being available to listen when people feel they want to talk to someone about a personal problem. Volunteers must pay a nominal fee for the Red Cross uniform. For women with children, the Red Cross will pay all nursery fees incurred while the mother works. Following the orientation and 10 hours of on-the-job-training, volunteers are eligible for "capping" held twice a year. Anybody interested in the program can call ext. 215 for more information.

The volunteer program provides training and experience to the individuals, and fulfills an important need in the hospital. But the most important factor which accounts for the success of the Red Cross at Reese and everywhere is that the volunteers not only care for people, they care about them. The assistance is provided by women who, in the same spirit of Miss Barton in the 1860's, simply want to make life easier for the American serviceman and his family.

Mrs. Eichmeier says it is a gratifying feeling to know you have made someone's day happier, and that when she is working in the hospital she can't help but feel good herself. It is this type of humanitarianism which has carried the Red Cross to its respected position around the world.

Assistance Program Outlined For Homeowner Relocation

Homeowners serving or employed at military installations which are ordered closed or partially closed may be eligible for financial assistance through the Homeowners Assistance Program.

The aid is a result of a law passed by congress in November 1966, authorizing the Secretary of Defense to provide financial assistance to homeowners meeting the requirements.

Not all installations are covered by the law. The close-down order must have been announced after Nov. 1, 1964.

As a serviceman or Federal employee, an individual may qualify if his assignment or job is ended as a result of the closure. The law also covers certain individuals who were transferred after the closure announcement and whose position which was formerly occupied will be eventually terminated by the closure.

For complete qualifications, interested persons are asked to call SMSgt. Anderson, ext 317.

ATC Golfers Fare Well In Air Force Tourney

Air Training Command took the team championship by a narrow margin over Strategic Air Command in the 1969 Air Force Golf Tournament held at Langley AFB, Va., earlier this month.

ATC and SAC teams ended play with 1,216 points each, but ATC was awarded the team championship by virtue of matched scores by each team's fifth man. UNICOM was third with 1,218 points.

ATC made its best showing in the seniors and women's divisions. In the seniors, Lt. Col Jerry Weiler, Tactical Air Command, won with a 72-hole score of 316. ATC placed the next two men on the Air Force Senior's Team, Col. Walter Davison, 317 and Maj. Gail Vogel, 318.

First Lieutenant Mary Ann Baughman, ATC, dominated the women's play carding a 245 for 54 holes. Second was Capt. Kay Huber, SAC, with a 258, and third place went to 1st Lt. Sharon Hoke, ATC with 259. All three will be on the Air Force team.

Fourteen golfers remained at Langley to participate in the Interservice Golf Championships which, by the time this paper is out, will be concluded. Early scores showed the Navy team enjoying a lead, but with Air Force hot on their heels.

Reesite Winner Of Pistol Meet

Jim Commer, Organizational Maintenance Squadron, won first place in a National Rifle Association (NRA) sanctioned pistol match sponsored by the American Legion Post 575 recently. The match climaxed a six-week course in which Commer and two other Reesites attended.

Commer fired 205 out of a possible 300 to win the match using a .22 caliber pistol at the standard 50-foot range. Second place went to another Reesite, C. G. McKenzie, Field Maintenance Squadron. The other Reesite participating was Mike Dean, Organizational Maintenance Squadron.

The three men attended the Basic Small Arms course sponsored by the NRA and American Legion.

Golf Course Sets Labor Day Meet

The Reese AFB golf course will sponsor a member-guest tournament Monday at its Labor Day attraction on the golf course.

Golf pro Ken McGuire said members may bring one guest to form a team of two. The Calloway system will be used in scoring for both members and guests to determine winners. Entry fee will be $1 per person ($2 per team) with prizes awarded on the basis of 50, 30, 20 per cent for first, second and third places—provided there are enough entries.

Golfers may register on the day of the tournament.

The Calloway system is that which—according to the individual's score—allows the golfer's worst hole or holes to be discounted in the scoring.

Fall-Winter Bowling Prepares To Open

By MSgt. Martin Harbison
Manager, Reese Lanes
Awards will be presented to-night at Reese Lanes to the winner of the Friday night Mixed Couples League. The league ended play Friday with the team of Harbison-Scott winning the league by taking four games from the team of Bolka-Van Tine.

Second place was won by the team of Smith-Ingram by winning four games from the team of Beacham-Middleton.

With the summer schedule ended, the fall and winter bowling leagues are beginning to take shape.

The popular Intramural League is scheduled to get underway Tuesday with eight teams expected to compete. They will bowl each Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The Independent League will begin bowling the following week—on Monday, Sept. 8. The league is basically made up of teams from the various sections on the base. There is still time to enter a team.

The Wednesday morning Women's League will get underway Sept. 24. Dependents desiring to roll in this league should contact Shirley Scruggs for further information.

In addition to these leagues, there will be a Thursday night and a Friday night Mixed Couples' League and should be formed up within the next week or so.

Falcon-SMU Game Tickets Now On Sale

Reese AFB personnel desiring to attend the Air Force Academy—Southern Methodist University football game at Dallas, Sept. 13, should make their reservations for tickets and overnight accommodations now.

Capt. William J. Hubbard, chief, Information Division, said forms for ordering the tickets to the game are now available in his office in Building 815. The ticket orders will be returned to the Air Force Academy and tickets mailed from that point. The tickets will be in one section in order that Reesites may sit together with Air Force Personnel during the game.

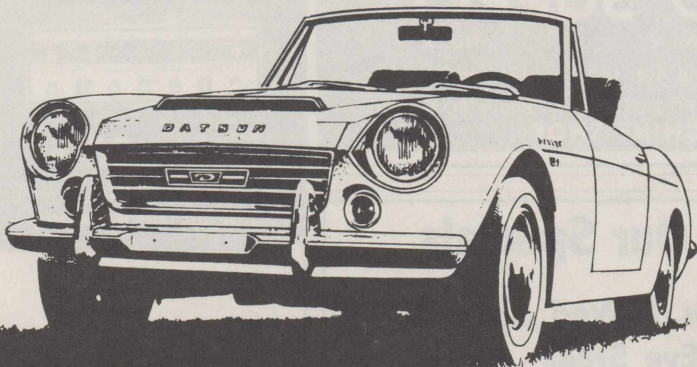

Captain Hubbard said also that special hotel rates are being offered in Dallas for those Reesites who wish to stay over night in Dallas and return Sunday. The game is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Cotton Bowl.

Personnel Services indicated that if enough interest in the game was generated, a special chartered bus may be arranged for those making the trip.
