Roses for residents: inspiring, spreading cheer a single rose at a time

Inspirations Floral Boutique has spent the past week delivering specially wrapped roses to area nursing facilities, assisted livings, and local hospitals through the support of community members and businesses.

Flowers can express emotion and heartfelt sentiment without a single word being spoken. This past week, Inspirations Floral Boutique along with the help from individuals and businesses in the community, has been delivering a special message to residents in local nursing homes, assisted living facilities and local hospitals.

Winter Storm Uri. We knew we needed to do something for our community; people we haven't had the opportunity to help yet," Arick Higginbotham, Co-owner of Inspirations Floral Boutique said. "As we've said, many times, we strive to inspire our community, and encourage people to do the same. It is important to show everyone within our community that they are important, special, loved. All of us want that feeling, and if we can provide that, that's the type of payback you can't get from any bank." As the idea sprouted in the minds of Higginbotham and his wife, a Facebook post was made reaching out for community support. Within just a few short hours of the post being made several donations had come in and one facility was completely taken care of. Deliveries have been made this past week as donations continue to roll in. While Early voting for the Special Election has officially kicked off. Instead of the vote centers that were utilized last election, votes can be cast at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on Election Day. Voters can still cast their ballots at the Howard County Courthouse during early voting as usual.

"Unlike most elections, we have 10 days of early voting," Duck said. For District 5, voters are choosing between Daniel Moreno and Troy Tompkins, and for District 6, voters are choosing between Casey W. Pledger and Maury Smith. The extended voting days will be March 1 and 2, with polls being open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Other normal election receiving flowers on Valentine's Day can be a heartfelt gesture that makes the heart smile, a simple wrapped rose can spread that exact same cheer any day of the year. Each of the roses that are being delivered is hand wrapped and includes a message to let the recipient to know they are not forgotten.

"I think our goal at the end of all of this is that every person who has been cooped up in a nursing home, or hospital through all or most of this pandemic need to know they are loved, and we're thinking of them each and every day," Higginbotham said. "We want those individuals within our community to feel inspired, then we might say, this mission is accomplished, and move on to our next."

Support has been pouring in since the project was first announced. Monetary donations are important, but they aren't the only piece of the puzzle. There have been those who have stopped by the shop to help wrap flowers before they are delivered and there have been those who have dropped off hand written cards to be attached. Each piece of the puzzle has helped make the outreach effort that much more special.

"If people want to help inspire people in their local communities, don't force it, let it come naturally. There are so many things to get involved in and people who need a helping hand every now and then, right here in Howard County and the surrounding areas. Find what you want to be involved in and go out and make a difference. It is an amazing experience," he said.

For those who haven't been able to jump on board with this project yet, there is still time. Higginbotham is projecting that all roses will be delivered by the end of the week.

"Big Spring is an amazing community filled with individuals who want to help. In a time like this, people are hurting, they want to feel normal again, know that there is light at the end of this tunnel, and if we can show them this is true for even one minute in their day, it's all worth it," he said. "Keep fighting on Big Spring, it is in our blood."

NY Times says it needs culture change, better inclusion

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says it needs a culture change to become a better place to work, particularly for people of color.

The newspaper told its employees in a report Wednesday that it will take steps to be more inclusive and welcoming, saying its study of the workplace culture represents a "call to action."

Like many news organizations, the Times looked inward following a national reckoning on race triggered by the death of George Floyd at the hands of Minneapolis police last spring.

Many employees were angered by a Times opinion piece by Arkansas Sen. Tom Cotton headlined "Send in the Troops" as an option to deal with racial unrest.

More recently, veteran Times science correspondent Donald McNeil Jr. left the paper after it was reported he used a racial slur while talking at a Times-sponsored trip to Peru for students in 2019.

A musical highlight of the Sunday service was a trumpet quartet playing "Country Pictures" by Vassily Brandt for the offertory. The musicians were Elijah Flores, Valerie Hernandez, Jayden Burciaga, and Ismael Castillo.

During Lent, the daily prayer meditation will highlight a particular word, then a scripture passage with that word will be read, followed by a prayer - a linked three-part meditation.

Also during Lent, the video devotionals will speak directly to Lenten themes and will be following along with ideas from the chapters of Augustine's Confessions.

Something to think about...

“And so we know and rely on the love God has for us. God is love. Whoever lives in love lives in God, and God in them.”

~ 1 John 4:16

Wagon wheels are part of the history here in the wild west. The legacy of settlers driving wagon trains is so ingrained in our collective memory that it's not uncommon to see them displayed in signs or decorations. Today one of those wheels caught my attention and reminded me of a reflection from the spiritual writer Henri Nouwen.

“In my home country, the Netherlands, you still see many large wagon wheels, not on wagons, but as decorations at the entrances of farms or on the walls of restaurants. I have always been fascinated by these wagon wheels: with their wide rims, strong wooden spokes, and big hubs. These wheels help me to understand the importance of life lived from the center. When I move along the rim, I can reach one spoke after the other, but when I stay at the hub, I am in touch with all the spokes at once.

To pray is to move to the center of all life and all love. The closer I come to the hub of life, the closer I come to all that receives its strength and energy from there. My tendency is to get so distracted by the diversity of the many spokes of life, that I am busy but not truly life-giving, all over the place but not focused.

By directing my attention to the heart of life, I am connected with its rich variety while remaining centered. What does the hub represent? I think of it as my own heart, the heart of God, and the heart of the world. When I pray, I enter into the depth of my own heart and find there the heart of God, who speaks to me of love. And I recognize, right there, the place where all my sisters and brothers are in communion with one another.

The great paradox of the spiritual life is, indeed, that the most personal is most universal, the most intimate, is most communal, and the most contemplative is most active.

The wagon wheel shows that the hub is the center of all energy and movement, even when it often seems not to be moving at all. In God all action and all rest are one. So too prayer!”

Are you wearing yourself out trying to live life on the rim? I pray that we all discover the peace and power that comes as we live from the hub!

Reflections: When God Seems Far Away

There are times when God seems very near. We feel his forgiveness, acceptance, comfort and peace. Our hearts are filled with joy and songs of praise for His goodness and beauty. But what about the times when God seems far away?

King David sometimes felt this way. Repeatedly he asked, “Why are you in despair, O my soul? And why have you become disturbed within me?” (Ps 42:5, 11; 42:5). “O Lord, why do you reject my soul? Why do you hide your face from me?” (Ps 88:14). After confronting the prophets of Baal, “Elijah was afraid and ran for his life ... he went a day's journey into the wilderness ... and prayed that he might die. ‘I have had enough, Lord,’ he said. ‘Take my life, I am no better than my ancestors.’” (1 Kings 19:3).

Going through times when we feel God is far away is a normal human experience. The prophets felt it. God even allowed his own Son to experience it. At the moment He paid the penalty for our sins, He cried out, “My God, My God, why have you forsaken me?” (Matthew 27:46). So, when those times come, what are we to do?

When we feel God is far away, we are often filled with worry, uncertainty, doubt and despair. But this will not last. We will yet feel His presence again and praise Him. Our feeling that God is distant is temporary. This is what sustained King David in his dark times. In every case, he declared, “Hope in God, for I shall again praise Him.”

BILL TINSLEY

We must rely on God's promises and not on our feelings. Even when we don't feel His presence, He is near. Repeatedly God has said, “I will never leave you nor forsake you.” (Deut. 31:6,8; Joshua 1:5; Hebrews 13:5). Jesus said, “I am with you always, even to the end of the age.” (Matthew 28:20). David wrote, “Where can I go from Your Spirit? Or where can I flee from Your presence? If I ascend to heaven, You are there; if I make my bed in Sheol, behold, You are there. If I take the wings of the dawn, if I dwell in the remotest part of the sea, even there Your hand will lead me, and Your right hand will lay hold of me. If I say, ‘Surely the darkness will overwhelm me, and the light around me will be night,’ Even the darkness is not dark to You, and the night is as bright as the day.” (Ps. 139:7-12).

We must continue to do everything that is right and good in His sight. One of Jesus' favorite parables was the story of a wealthy landowner who left for a long trip. In his absence, some of his servants decided he wasn't coming back and began to abuse his property, doing things they knew the landowner would never condone. But the landowner returned, and when he did, there was a reckoning. The real evidence of our faith is not what we do when we feel His presence and know He is near. The real evidence of our faith is what we do when we feel God is far away. He will return.

Bill Tinsley reflects on current events and life experience from a faith perspective. His books are available at www.tinsleycenter.com. Email bill@tinsleycenter.com.

Nothing But The Truth

“For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ.” John 1:17

There is no truth but God's love. In other words, if we want to know the truth, we must seek it in God's strong love. God's love is truth because He tells us the truth about ourselves.

So, what is this truth-telling all about? Well, first, God tells us the bad news about ourselves. He tells us that we are sinful because our sin is exceedingly sinful. He informs us about the fact that we cannot save ourselves because, even our “good” works aren't so good after all. But this is not an agreeable truth, or a feel-good truth, and it sure as shootin' isn't a popular truth. We don't like to hear that the best that we can do will never be good enough to gain God's favor or His love.

But God is not about to let us get backed into a corner by the heavy, hard-hitting punches of the harsh truth and reality about ourselves. Oh no! He's gonna tell us about another truth that will far surpass the truth about ourselves. And when we learn this truth, we will be glad that God was truthful with us about our own sin and helpless estate.

You see, this truth is the truth about Jesus, yes, that Jesus which befriended some really bad people – I'm talking about the offscouring of the earth; publicans and harlots. Yea, I know, these were really bad people. But what in the world was Jesus, the God of heaven doing, hanging around this sort of low-lives? Didn't Jesus know that these bad sinners would tarnish His good reputation? Well, yes, He did. But He didn't care about that because He didn't come to this earth to uphold His good reputation. As a matter of fact, the Bible tells us that Jesus made Himself of no reputation. Yes, you heard me right – He made Himself of no reputation. Jesus set aside His good “religious” reputation to eat with sinners; publicans and harlots. What is this? This is - the Law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ. We see the truth about Jesus Christ, not in do-good religion, but in the fact that He ate with, and befriended the vilest of sinners. And this tells me that Jesus loves me because I am the vilest and chiefest of sinners.

I love this because this tells me that in Jesus, I will always get nothing but the truth; the truth about my sin and the truth about His unconditional love and grace.

TOM SLOAN

Not ashamed

When I was a little girl, my mother would ask me if I wanted to stand in the corner for misbehaving. I always said, “No” because who would want to do that? She would usually stand me in the corner anyway because what I had done or said was offensive and she was trying to correct my behavior. I had to stand there for five minutes and not talk. If I did, she would add another minutes. Sometimes I would be there for 10 or 15 minutes because I couldn't keep still -- especially if my brother was in the other corner.

LILLIAN BOHANNAN

So why do I feel shame at times? I was ashamed when I got caught doing something my mother told me not to do. I felt shame not because I was sorry for doing wrong; I was ashamed because I had disappointed my mother. And shame is something we don't feel too much these days when everyone seems to be doing what seems right in their own eyes.

So why do I feel shame as a grown person? Usually it is now a remembrance over what I used to do, but am no longer doing and have been forgiven by a Holy God.

He expected me to be sorry for the wrongs I do, but once forgiven and clean and pure before Him, He doesn't expect me to wallow in my past.

“For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto Salvation” Romans 10:11.

Jesus is the One who paid the debt for my sin and shame. His Gospel is believing He was crucified according to the scriptures, was buried according to the scriptures, and rose again on the third day according to the scriptures. Asking Him to take away the burden of sin and shame is being born again into His family.

Sometimes He gets me in the corner so He can talk to me. That's called prayer.

I think in our day and time, He is trying to get us in a corner so He can show us His mercy and grace. Go stand in the corner awhile and see what He says to you.

On Sunday Feb. 21, Pastor Ricky started a Lenten series on the “Last Week of the Life of Jesus”. Pastor Ricky shared with us about that first Sunday of the last week of Jesus life. The triumphal entrance in to Jerusalem. What we know as Palm Sunday, His entrance into Jerusalem that day was fulfilling of a prophecy from the Old Testament Zechariah 9:9. As Jesus entered Jerusalem, Jesus proclaimed that He was the Messiah. Jesus showed us His courage and showed us His commitment to do the will of the Father. This coming Sunday, Pastor Ricky will be continuing in his Lenten series.

We look forward to seeing you.

Cavaliers hand Rockets ninth straight loss, 112-96

By BRIAN DULIK

Associated Press

Jarrett Allen tied his career high with 26 points, grabbed 18 rebounds and blocked four shots as the Cleveland Cavaliers pulled away for a 112-96 win over Houston on Wednesday night, extending the Rockets' losing streak to nine games.

Allen, who leads the NBA making 67.2% of his field goals, went 10 of 11 from the floor as Cleveland won for the second straight evening after dropping its previous 10 contests. It beat Atlanta 112-111 on Lamar Stevens' dunk with 4.1 seconds left Tuesday.

"At 22 years old, Jarrett is not near his part I'm most excited about," Cavaliers coach J.B. Bickerstaff said. "He plays off his teammates well and he knows they're looking for him."

Allen did it by himself in the third quarter, going coast to coast with a rebound and finishing with a one-handed dunk that reminded his coach of the legendary Julius Erving in the American Basketball Association.

"I got the rebound and I took two dribbles, so it's close, it's close (to what Dr. J did)," Allen said, laughing. "We have the same first initial, we both had the afro and we both were soaring through the air."

John Wall scored 17 points and Victor Oladipo had 20 points and six rebounds in his return from a strained right foot for Houston, whose last victory occurred at Memphis on Feb. 4. Eric Gordon added 17 points off the bench.

The Rockets were outrebounded 55-33 and didn't start a player taller than 6-foot-6, which Wall and Oladipo both admitted frustration about. P.J. Tucker and rookie Jae'Sean Tate led Houston with seven boards apiece.

"I'm used to playing with a traditional big that rolls and pops, just like John [Wall], but we've got to figure out a way to win," said Oladipo, who sat out the previous four games.

The Cavaliers blew the game open with a 22-9 run in the fourth, capped by a 3-pointer by rookie Isaac Okoro that made it 106-89. Cleveland later extended its lead to 112-93 on a trey by Collin Sexton, who scored 23 points.

Dean Wade scored 11 points and Cedi Osman had seven points and eight rebounds as the Cavaliers held an opponent below 100 points for the first time since Feb. 1, a span of 11 games.

"Our defense wasn't good and our offense was disjointed," Houston coach Stephen Silas said. "It wasn't very good all around."

Darius Garland collected 11 points and 10 assists for the Cavaliers, who shot 67.6% in the second half. Rookie Dylan Windler scored 13 points on 4-of-4 3-point shooting, extending his string of makes beyond the arc to nine.

"Continuing to see growth as a player is my goal, game after game and year after year," Windler said.

TIP-INS

Rockets: Houston will play 10 back-to-back sets in the second half of the season, which it opens on March 11 with a stretch of 11 games in 17 days. ... C Christian Wood (right ankle sprain), who has been out since Feb. 4 at Memphis, will return after the All-Star break. ... G Kevin Porter Jr., acquired from Cleveland on Jan. 29, is averaging 23.3 points for Rio Grande Valley in the G League. Silas said he will join the Rockets in March.

Cavaliers: F Taurean Prince (left ankle soreness) played his first action since Feb. 14, playing eight minutes before his injury flared up. ... Wade made his second straight start after not playing in the previous two games. ... Bickerstaff's first head coaching job was on an interim basis with Houston in 2015-2016. "I learned the daily struggle of how hard it is to manage 15 guys there," he said. "That was a big difference."

UP NEXT

Rockets: Play the Raptors in Tampa, Florida on Friday. Wall is averaging 19.1 points and 8.0 assists in 27 career games against Toronto, all of them with Washington.

Cavaliers: Visit Philadelphia on Saturday. Sexton had 22 points as Cleveland beat the 76ers 118-94 on Dec. 27, posting its largest victory margin since March 11, 2019.

Gilgeous-Alexander scores 42 as Thunder top Spurs 102-99

By CLIFF BRUNT

AP Sports Writer

Shai Gilgeous-Alexander scored a career-high 42 points and Lu Dort hit a 3-pointer as time expired to give the Oklahoma City Thunder a 102-99 win over the San Antonio Spurs on Wednesday night.

San Antonio turned the ball over with 3.9 seconds remaining, giving Oklahoma City the ball with the score tied. Dort's corner 3-pointer dropped as the buzzer sounded, and his teammates mobbed him.

Dort, known mostly for his defense as a rookie last season, has improved as a perimeter shooter this season. He made three 3-pointers in the fourth quarter against the Spurs.

"Lu's changed it around, obviously, changed the narrative," Gilgeous-Alexander said. "It's just him working hard, not getting down on himself, being confident. When you work hard, confidence comes with it because you believe in yourself."

Gilgeous-Alexander became the first Thunder player to score at least 40 points in a game since Russell Westbrook had 42 on March 20, 2019. He made 13 of 20 field goals, 10 of 11 free throws and shot 6 of 11 on 3s.

Gilgeous-Alexander was one of the NBA's highest-scoring players to be left off the All-Star rosters, but he said there was "no extra push or anything like that" to score a lot of points and make a statement about being snubbed.

"I wouldn't have known how much I had if my teammates weren't telling me," he said. "I was so locked into the game, honestly, just trying to win. Big nights are huge, but personally, if we didn't win tonight, I wouldn't feel close to what I feel right now."

Dort and Al Horford each scored 16 points for the Thunder.

Dejounte Murray had 27 points and Patty Mills added 15 for the Spurs.

San Antonio hadn't played since Feb. 14 because of health and safety protocols, and the Spurs were still depleted. DeMar DeRozan, the team's leading scorer, sat out for personal reasons. Rudy Gay, Keldon Johnson, Devin Vassell, Quinny Witherspoon and Derrick White were out because of health and safety protocols.

Gilgeous-Alexander took over in the third quarter. He hit a 3-pointer while being fouled, and his free throw sent San Antonio's lead to 53-51. He later drained a 3 to tie the game at 65.

His layup as time expired in the third put Oklahoma City up 76-73. Gilgeous-Alexander scored 21 points in the period on 5-for-5 shooting from the field and 8 for 9 at the free throw line.

"I just wanted to be aggressive, try to put the defense on their heels, and from there, make the right play," Gilgeous-Alexander said. "Oftentimes, I found myself in position to score in that quarter."

Horford's 3-pointer on an assist from Gilgeous-Alexander put the Thunder up 87-86 with about seven minutes remaining, and the game remained close from there.

TIP-INS

Spurs: LaMarcus Aldridge returned after missing six games due to hip soreness. He had 11 points and seven rebounds. ... San Antonio went 5 of 10 on 3-pointers in the second quarter. ... The Spurs made 10 of 15 free throws.

Thunder: Made six 3-pointers in the first quarter while holding the Spurs to one. San Antonio didn't make one until the final minute of the period. ... Missed all seven of their 3-point tries in the second quarter. ... Hamidou Diallo did not play in the second half because of left groin soreness.

NEW ROLE

Aldridge came off the bench for the first time since the 2006-07 season — his rookie year. He's not sure if the move is permanent.

"It was fine," he said. "Very different. Still trying to figure it out, how to be ready to go. It's definitely a different task coming off the bench, having very few minutes to get loose and kind of find a rhythm. I'm still figuring it out. It wasn't perfect tonight, and I don't think it's going to be perfect for a while. It's going to take some time for me to figure it out."

STAT LINE

Thunder forward Darius Bazley missed all eight of his shots from the floor and went scoreless, but had 10 rebounds in 30 minutes.

LaVine scores 35 as Bulls beat Timberwolves 133-126 in OT

By JAY COHEN

AP Sports Writer

Zach LaVine is an All-Star for the first time, and he wants more. Same for the rest of the surging Chicago Bulls.

LaVine scored 35 points against his original NBA team, helping the Bulls beat the Minnesota Timberwolves 133-126 in overtime Wednesday night.

Chicago shot 59% from the field and had seven players score in double figures. Coby White had 20 points, and Wendell Carter Jr. finished with 17 points and 10 rebounds.

The Bulls (15-16) won for the fifth time in six games, but felt they should have played better against the lowly Timberwolves (7-26). Looking for the franchise's first playoff appearance since 2017, just winning isn't enough anymore.

"These guys have worked really, really hard, but I don't think that we played to the level of standard that we want to play to," coach Billy Donovan said.

LaVine, named an All-Star reserve Tuesday night, made 14 of 21 shots in his 16th game this season with at least 30 points. The dynamic guard was selected by Minnesota in the first round of the 2014 draft and spent three seasons with the Timberwolves before he was traded to the Bulls in June 2017.

"You always want to go and play good against the team that traded you, but also have love for them as well," LaVine said.

Minnesota lost for the 10th time in 11 games despite a gutsy second-half rally while playing for the second straight night. New coach Chris Finch is winless in two games since taking over after Ryan Saunders was fired Sunday night.

Malik Beasley scored 25 points for the Timberwolves, and Karl-Anthony Towns had 24 points, eight rebounds and five assists. Anthony Edwards added 21 points, and Jarred Vanderbilt matched his career high with 16.

Towns fouled out on a questionable call with 12.3

seconds left in regulation, and the Timberwolves missed his presence in overtime.

"We're not playing the best defensively right now, and we've got to find ourselves," Towns said.

Minnesota was down 119-116 when veteran guard Ricky Rubio was fouled by White on a 3-point try with 4.9 seconds remaining. Rubio calmly made all three foul shots and LaVine missed a 3 as time expired, sending the game to overtime.

"I felt like I fouled him well before the shot," White said. "He didn't even know I was fouling him. I fouled him, they called it five seconds later after he threw the ball."

Chicago responded with a 7-0 run. LaVine capped the spurt with a 3-pointer, making it 126-119 with 3:27 left.

White made two free throws with 15.1 seconds remaining to help the Bulls hold on.

Minnesota trailed by 14 early in the second half, but Towns had 15 points in the third quarter and Josh Okogie's layup trimmed Chicago's lead to 98-97 with 8:59 left in the fourth.

TIP-INS

Timberwolves: Jarrett Culver (left ankle sprain) missed his 17th straight game. The No. 6 overall pick in the 2019 draft was listed as probable. ... Rubio finished with nine points and 10 assists.

Bulls: F Lauri Markkanen (sprained right shoulder) isn't expected to return until after the All-Star break. He got hurt during a 123-119 loss at Orlando on Feb. 5. "He makes progress, but he has not done anything contact-wise," Donovan said. "He's done nothing that at this point in time would show us that he's going to be back within the next week." ... White and LaVine each committed seven turnovers.

UP NEXT

Timberwolves: At Washington on Saturday night. The Timberwolves lost 130-109 to the Wizards on Jan. 1.

Bidding quiz

You are South, and the bidding has gone:

South	West	North	East
2♣*	Pass	2♦	Pass
3♦	Pass	3NT	Pass

*strong, artificial waiting

What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

- ♠A♥AKQ83♦AQJ984♣7
- ♠10♥AK95♦AKQJ7♣AK6
- ♠AK♥KQJ4♦AKQJ62♣3
- ♠AK♥AK32♦KQJ103♣AK

1. Four hearts. By bidding four hearts, you imply a five-card heart suit, since it would make no sense to introduce a four-card suit at this point.

At the same time, the heart rebid identifies a holding of at least six diamonds, since if your two suits were equal in length, you would have bid hearts rather than diamonds at your second turn.

Although your hand is very promising for slam purposes, you cannot safely bid more than four hearts. The impetus must come from your partner, whose responses so far have promised nothing.

2. Pass. It may seem dangerous to pass with a singleton spade, but it would be even more dangerous to bid again. Introducing your four-card heart suit on the four-level is chancier than hoping partner has sufficient length and/or strength in spades to stop the opponents from taking the first five tricks. Your best shot is to rely on the nine tricks in notrump you already have right in the palm of your hand.

3. Five diamonds. There is no need to risk notrump with this layout — you have only eight certain tricks at notrump — when you are virtually assured of 11 tricks in diamonds. Just about all you need from partner to make five diamonds is the ten of hearts.

It would be wrong to bid four hearts; if partner has only three hearts and three or fewer diamonds, he might elect to pass and leave you in a contract that is not as good as five diamonds would be.

4. Four notrump. This is not Blackwood but rather a raise in notrump asking partner to keep on bidding if he has any values at all. Four notrump is a powerful bid, since it indicates a holding of 10 tricks even if partner has nothing. Obviously, he is permitted to pass.

Tomorrow: Another string to your bow.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Advanced

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

Cosmic Captain Obvious

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You will let go of a little piece of pride in the hopes of coming to a harmonious place in a relationship. Other parties may not be so willing, at least not initially, but your example will lead the way.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Love is many things. Today, it's being able to correctly assess and cater to an emotional state. Turn your nurturing powers in on yourself or turn them to another person. Either way, the love begets more love.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). There's a situation you pursued in the past. The doors were closed back then. Now brings the beginning of the turn. This one doesn't need to be seized so much as slowly, curiously encountered.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You admire emotional restraint, but don't be fooled. People who seem in control of their "feels" are possibly not feeling them quite as deeply as you are. Your passion intensifies the highs and lows.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You'll be bright in two moments: the practice moment that happens in the safety of an empty room and the moment of inhale that pauses the action just long enough for you to insert yourself between opportunity and a grand potential.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). There was a time you didn't know the standard, only your own experience which didn't teach you enough. Now you know how people can effectively help one another, so you see what's not going on as clearly as what is.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Your sense of focus is on point and you've never been so serious about advancing your interests and the interests of those you answer to. Narrow down your task list so the big important things get the best of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). If there's one thing you don't need today, it's advice. For starters, your intuition is on fire. And furthermore, you're going to do this thing in a way that's so unique, no one else has thought of it yet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). There is no such thing as failure. If you're putting things out into the world, trying things, working through fear and limitation, risking your pride, then you're winning no matter what the outcome.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Impart the plan and cast your supporters in fitting roles. Then, watch it unfold. You're a guide through this process. Don't get so involved in the labor that you forget to put your head up to get the overview.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). There are people you appreciate because you can count on them to make good sense and help you onto the right path. Then there are people you appreciate because they don't have to make sense to be love-able to you.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Because you want to know what others want, you ask, fully expecting to get back lies. It takes a special kind of listening to get past social niceties and know which questions to ask to get to the real truth.

B Spiritual development elevates your experience. Whether pleasures are many or few, goals are met or not, relationships grind or sail blissfully, your joy, grace, gratitude and compassion flow strong through it all. Professional shifts align brilliantly with your talents. Bonus money allows for fun improvements. Virgo and Leo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 30, 33, 1 and 14.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST: ARIES: Leave room for speculation, play and a disruption of the routine, which will be the best part. TAURUS: Though reason is powerless in the poetry of love, it works wonders to sort out the details of a shared lifestyle. GEMINI: While you love to impress, an audience that's too demanding takes the fun out of that. Set boundaries. CANCER: A certain someone is constantly on your mind. If you don't make a move now, then when? LEO: You don't want another person to conform to you, nor you to them. The differences widen both of your perspectives. VIRGO: When people are able to see one another in a different way, much is possible. Conflict can end, attraction can kindle, opportunities open and close. LIBRA: Learn the love language of another and you won't have so many problems with wonky translations. SCORPIO: You're the social director with all the fun ideas. People need structure and you make the game fun. SAGITTARIUS: You're not a robot, but you can program yourself to some degree to respond to matters of the heart in a way that empowers you and gives you more options. CAPRICORN: Even the best people don't always take the best action. Give do-overs. AQUARIUS: Your wise handling of a knotty problem will get you promoted in someone's esteem. PISCES: Whether they've known you for years or minutes, people open up to you.

COUPLE OF THE WEEKEND: As the full moon in Virgo reflects the glory of the Pisces sun, these two can bring out the best and the worst in one another. It's a real Dharma and Greg, Will and Grace, Felix and Oscar, Bert and Ernie situation here in which the give and take is that of opposites. They teach each other about perspective, responsibility, pleasure, boundaries and each expands the other in some meaningful way.

Annie's Mailbox

Husband Wants to Reconcile After Affair

Dear Annie: My husband and I have been having a rough time. He cheated on me with a young woman and got her pregnant. I think this was her goal, secretly. She knew he had a wife and wanted him to leave me.

Anyway, the baby will be 1 soon, and now that my husband is seeking reconciliation, I feel stuck in the middle. I've already been through my hurt stage and would hate to go through it again. What should I do? -- Betrayed

Dear Betrayed: What you want to do.

Whether you decide to stay or go, you'll have made a valid choice.

I will say, infidelity does not have to be the end. Many couples have worked past betrayals and come out the other side stronger than ever, with the help of couples' counseling. If you and your husband enroll in marriage counseling, this could be the case for you. But if you are past that point, mentally, I wouldn't blame you for leaving. Trite but true, listen to your heart.

Dear Annie: I am blessed to not have real problems like so many endure, but I would appreciate your opinion on a predicament.

I am a healthy 90-year-old man. I have outlived two wonderful wives. My first love and I were together for only eight short years. She came down with acute leukemia. During the five months that she suffered with it, one day she told me, "Dear, you will have to get the kids a new mother." We had a 3-year-old son and a little girl that was only a year old when her mother died in early December.

I was devastated. But then a concerned neighbor friend asked me one day, about two months later, if I would like to meet a nice girl. I said that I wasn't ready quite yet. After a while, I called her. The most difficult trip I ever made was driving down to meet her. It turned out to be the best trip I ever made. We married about 10 months later. Losing my first wife made me appreciate my second wife all the more.

Fifty-one years later, my second wife had a light stroke which brought on the beginnings of dementia. Of course, it progressed. Four years later, it took her life. We had 55 years of bliss together.

I have been alone now for three and a half years, with the support and love of my children. Five months ago, a very dear friend lost her husband of 63 years, and I'm interested in seeing if there might be something between us. I am not happy living alone. I have the feeling that I could be a great support for her. She lives alone now, too, and I want to help her.

I need to give this special lady more time to grieve over her loss. Presently, she wants to go on as she is, as just being friends. My daughter told me to not push her too hard. And I agree. But she is the only woman I am interested in. What is your advice to me? -- CW

Dear CW: I'm sorry for your losses. I think it's wonderful that you enjoy companionship so much. As the song goes, "People who need people are the luckiest people in the world." But your daughter is right that you should give your lady friend space to grieve. And in the meantime, I would encourage you to learn how to enjoy the pleasure of your own company. Try a new hobby, enroll in an online course, write your memoirs. Take some time to really nourish your own sense of self. Then you'll be even more present if and when you do get into another relationship.

Today in History

Today is Friday, Feb. 26, the 57th day of 2021. There are 308 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Feb. 26, 1993, a truck bomb built by Islamic extremists exploded in the parking garage of the North Tower of New York's World Trade Center, killing six people and injuring more than 1,000 others. (The bomb failed to topple the North Tower into the South Tower, as the terrorists had hoped; both structures were destroyed in the 9/11 attack eight years later.)

On this date:

In 1904, the United States and Panama proclaimed a treaty under which the U.S. agreed to undertake efforts to build a ship canal across the Panama isthmus.

In 1940, the United States Air Defense Command was created.

In 1942, "How Green Was My Valley" won the Academy Award for Best Picture of 1941, beating out nine other films, including "The Maltese Falcon" and "Citizen Kane."

In 1945, authorities ordered a midnight curfew at nightclubs, bars and other places of entertainment across the nation.

In 1952, Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced that Britain had developed its own atomic bomb.

In 1966, South Korean troops sent to fight in the Vietnam War massacred at least 380 civilians in Go Dai hamlet.

In 1984, the last U.S. Marines deployed to Beirut as part of an international peacekeeping force withdrew from the Lebanese capital.

In 1994, a jury in San Antonio acquitted 11 followers of David Koresh of murder, rejecting claims they had ambushed federal agents; five were convicted of voluntary manslaughter.

In 1998, a jury in Amarillo, Texas, rejected an $11 million lawsuit brought by Texas cattlemen who blamed Oprah Winfrey's talk show for a price fall after a segment on food safety that included a discussion about mad cow disease.

In 2014, Republican Arizona Gov. Jan Brewer vetoed a bill pushed by social conservatives that would have allowed people with sincerely held religious beliefs to refuse to serve gays.

In 2017, at the 89th Academy Awards, "Moonlight," an LGBT coming of age drama, won three Oscars, including best picture of 2016 (in a startling gaffe, the musical "La La Land" was mistakenly announced as the best picture winner before the error was corrected).

In 2019, after making his way from Pyongyang in an armored train, North Korean leader Kim Jong Un arrived in Vietnam's capital ahead of a summit with President Donald Trump, who arrived later in the day aboard Air Force One.

Ten years ago: In a statement, President Barack Obama said Moammar Gadhafi had lost his legitimacy to rule and urged the Libyan leader to leave power immediately. Space shuttle Discovery arrived at the International Space Station, making its final visit before being parked at a museum.

Five years ago: New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie stunned the Republican establishment by endorsing Donald Trump for president.

One year ago: President Donald Trump declared that the U.S. was "very, very ready" for whatever threat the coronavirus would bring; he put Vice President Mike Pence in charge of overseeing the country's response. The World Health Organization reported that the number of new coronavirus cases outside China had exceeded the number of new infections in China for the first time. Brazil's government confirmed the first case of the coronavirus in Latin America; a 61-year-old man who had traveled to Italy had tested positive. Facebook said it was banning ads that made false claims about products tied to the coronavirus. As Christians around the world marked the start of Lent with Ash Wednesday, worshippers found churches closed and rituals changed by virus fears. An employee at a Wisconsin brewery opened fire on co-workers, killing five of them before taking his own life. Maria Sharapova retired from professional tennis at the age of 32, after a career that included five Grand Slam titles.

Choo signs $2.4 million deal to play for South Korean club

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)

Free agent outfielder Shin-Soo Choo has agreed to a one-year contract to play for a baseball club in his native South Korea.

Choo, who spent the last seven seasons with the Texas Rangers, signed a 2.7 billion won ($2.4 million) deal with a Korean Baseball Organization team owned by an affiliate with the Shinsegae business group, the company said in a statement.

Choo, 38, has confirmed the deal.

"I was born in Korea where I was raised and started baseball. I've always had hopes in my heart for a long time to play in Korea one day. Now I think it's time to put into action and start a new chapter of my life," Choo posted on Instagram. "I might not be able to promise how good I will be, but I promise that I will do my best."

Earlier this week, E-Mart Inc., the biggest discount store chain in South Korea, finalized deals to take over the SK Wyverns baseball team based in Incheon, just west of Seoul. The team's name is tentatively called Shinsegae Electros, but it could change, company officials said.

"The Shinsegae Group has listened to the voices of Incheon baseball fans who want us to bring Choo Shin-soo," the company said in the statement. "(We've) been paying attention to his successful career, diligence and steadiness."

The 2.7 billion won annual salary for Choo is the biggest of its kind in the KBO league. Choo plans to donate 1 billion of that to social charities, according to the group statement.

During his 16-year career, Choo batted .275 with 218 home runs, 782 RBIs and 157 steals in 1,652 appearances. He was selected as an All-Star in 2018. Before the Texas Rangers, he played for the Seattle Mariners, the Cleveland Indians and the Cincinnati Reds.
