October sees 41 promotions at Reese

With the first of October came the opportunity to sew on another stripe for 41 enlisted Reese personnel, according to local officials.

The 64th Field Maintenance Squadron (MS) and the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron (OMS) led the way with 21 of the 41 promoted assigned to the two maintenance squadrons. One master sergeant was upgraded to E-8; three technical sergeants pinned on their sixth stripe; six more received orders for E-6 promotion; 17 new staff sergeants were announced; and 14 airmen-first class were named as noncommissioned officers.

Ladisla J. Skrabala of FMS was promoted to the grade of senior master sergeant. Billie D. Broker, also of FMS, Billy F. Meeks, who is assigned to the 64th Student Squadron, and Richard L. Dodge of OMS were named for upgrading to master sergeant.

Technical Sergeant

Six were promoted to technical sergeant, according to the monthly increment list. In FMS, Billie J. Forney, Fred T. Kamper, Paul E. Lewis and Thomas R. Schaffer; Alexander L. McLeod in the 64th Air Base Group and Raul Sanchez of the Reese USAF Hospital were promoted Sunday.

Staff Sergeant

Seven pinned on their fourth stripe in OMS. They are Eugene Bousquet, Jr., Dennis L. Cosner, Arnold F. Estey, Robert L. Graham, Marshall L. Hunt, Carl W. Isbell Jr. and Donald E. Salazar. The five promoted in FMS were Lee M. Russel, David E. Woods, John R. Yost, Ronnie L. Hedrick and John S. Zybowski.

Others promoted to E-5 were Larry C. Agee of ABGp, William D. Abner and Gary C. Zettle of the 64th Supply Squadron, John P. Morbach, USAF Hospital and Paul R. Wilson of Detachment 3, 43rd Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron (MAC).

The remaining 13 enlisted men received the status of noncommissioned officer. Cleveland Peterson of ABGp was promoted along with Larry M. Braley and Joe A. Glenz. In Supply, Charlie A. Alexander, Willie D. Brown, Paul Hedges and Daniel E. Lawson were named for upgrading.

were named for upgrading.

At the Reese USAF Hospital, those named for promotion were John S. Gresley, Roger A. Heitzenrater and Emery Moss Jr. Robert C. J. Youngblood was promoted in FMS and Randolph E. Putnam Jr. in OMS. The orders also named Philip J. M. Gornail for promotion in the 2053rd Communications Squadron.

Fire Prevention Week Oct. 8-14 (U.S. Air Force Photo by SSgt. Mike Henning)

Fire station plans annual observance

Reese AFB firefighters will join their military and civilian counterparts around the world in the annual observance of Fire Prevention Week beginning Sunday and continuing until Oct. 14

The President of the United States traditionally proclaims Fire Prevention Week during October to commemorate the great Chicago fire of 1871 that destroyed a large section of that Fires kill more than 12,000 persons each year and cause annual property losses exceeding $2 billion throughout the United States. During Fiscal Year 1972 (FY 72), Reese AFB experienced four fires. These fires were small in terms of monetary loss but each was serious in nature, according to local fire officials.

The Reese Fire Department has planned four days of activities associated with the national observance. Fire trucks with flashing red lights will parade through the base and Reese Village Tuesday at 9 a.m. to kick off the week. The base fire station will hold an open house from 1 until 4 p.m., Tuesday through Friday. Other highlights include fire prevention films and lectures in the base theater at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., Tuesday and Wednesday.

In addition, there will be at least five fire extinguisher demonstrations at various locations around the base and numerous fire drills everyday throughout the week. A fire evacuation drill will be held at the Reese Elementary School at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Progress report given for on-base construction

A noon ribbon-cutting ceremony Thursday officially dedicated the new $450,000 NCO Open Mess at Reese AFB.

Performing the honors was Col. Walter H. Baxter, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, along with two honored guests, Lubbock Mayor Morris Turner and CMSgt. Thomas Barnes, Air Training Command Senior Airman Advisor.

Following the ceremony the trio joined a host of base and city officials in a luncheon in the dining room of the new facility.

The new open mess has two lounges, party room, main dining room, ball-room, a package store and offices.

In other construction news at Reese, base Civil Engineers report the new base theater, being constructed across from the old theater at a cost of $340,450, was 36 per cent complete as of Sept. 25 with work progressing according to schedule.

The next largest project at the base is the new base operations building being constructed at a cost of $192,000. It is 34 per cent complete but is somewhat behind its anticipated completion date of Nov. 13. Alterations and repairs on two airmen dorms at Reese, Dorms 220 and 420, are progressing with work about 1/3 completed.

Five other projects are in the design or contract stage. Bid opening is scheduled Dec. 2, on a 120-man officers quarters. Construction time on that project has been set at 365 days. Another bid opening is scheduled Jan. 7, 1973 on a new wing head-quarters building with construction time set at 274 days.

A newly authorized Officers Open Mess is in the design stage and two dorms, one a 144-man and the other a 40-man, has had the design authorized with bids expected to be let shortly.

frame of reference

"All fire hazards . . . must be eliminated if we are to have a successful fire prevention program."

Colonel McKenzie

By Col. Frank B. McKenzie 64th Air Base Group Commander

President Nixon has proclaimed the week of Oct. 8-14 as Fire Prevention Week. That week marks the anniversary of the great Chicago fire that occurred on Oct. 9, 1871.

The anniversary is observed on a national scale. During this period and throughout the year it is the responsibility of every person included in Reese's mission to observe the simple rules of fire safety. All fire hazards and potential hazards must be eliminated if we are to have a successful fire prevention program.

Fire, when used properly, is a wonderful aid, but a moment of carelessness may turn it into a devastating destructive force. Millions of dollars in equipment and buildings may be reduced to ashes and rubble in a matter of minutes, and it can cause loss of life and the grief that follows.

We have an unfortunate habit of dismissing most fires as accidents—as sorts of visitations of bad luck which, somehow, are unavoidable. But how unavoidable—or predictable—is the fire started by carelessly discarded cigarettes, or overloaded and defective wiring or poorly maintained heating and cooking equipment?

As shown by National Fire Protection Association studies, these and similar uncomplicated causes are responsible for the great majority of fires. We need to acknowledge the fact that fires are not only wasteful but avoidable, then go on to reform the habits and remove the hazards which cause fires.

When each of us as an individual has accomplished this, we will no longer risk our lives, jobs and possessions to the destructive forces of fire.

Air Force people warned on security

Today's football fan is becoming more aware that a team is both offense and defense. Many a coach has developed his offense at the expense of his defense and the results are nearly always disastrous.

Imagine the game if your team's quarterback was "sacked" 10 times and had eight interceptions. The outcome is clear! The vaunted air offense has been throttled by a great defense. Or was it a great defense?

Ordinarily, a football team develops secure means of calling the identifying the exact instant the play will begin. Yet, in this game, your team decided to use an open huddle and discuss each play within earshot of the defense. As the team comes up to the line, the center asks the quarterback when he should release the ball. The left end tells the left tackle to watch his smoke down the sideline for a delivery of the pill.

Armed with this information, the defense is bold and sends a fierce pass-rush in and puts two men on the left end. The center releases the ball, the defensive line moves instantaneously. The left end is well covered and the quarterback is trapped for a loss.

Ridiculous? Yes! A football team would never risk a play if the defense had that much information about the offensive attack. The strongest offense in the proscouldn't win a game against the weakest defense under these conditions.

Can you imagine an Air Force mission being discussed over insecure communications, pilots describing time-over targets while en route to the target or air control systems passing target information hours before missions? It sounds like our football team and the results can be similar.

A coach must develop a secure system of guiding his offense. The Air Force must do the same.

Each member of the Air Force team must use the secure systems available. If secure communications aren't available, identify the problem to your supervisor.

Let our air and ground offense operate with the extra protection of security.

Correction

Last week's front page story on the numerical designation change of units at Reese listed the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron as being changed to the 54th Flying Training Squadron and the 3500th Pilot Training Squadron being changed to the 35th Flying Training Squadron.

Actually, this was the original designation but a change reversed the designations that was never received at the Roundup. The 3501st PTS (T-37 squadron) is now the 35th FTS and the 3500th PTS (T-38 squadron) is the 54th FTS.

By Capt. James R. Nuber

Class 73-04 is now the senior class and it's the same hassle as all the students try to decide what assignment they want.

Some think, "Will I get a lot of flying time? Will it be an accompanied tour? How soon can I upgrade to aircraft commander?" Of course the AUTOVON has been going continuously as they all call different bases to see what the mission of that base is like.

Then there is the never ending problem of everybody not getting the assignment of his choice. To that I can only say, the Air Force needs come first...always!

I must congratulate the squadron football team. The participation has been outstanding. I think it deserves mentioning that basewide competition has left our mighty nine undefeated and unscored upon. Keep up the outstanding job.

The recent amount of promotions make it difficult for me to mention them all. I would like to congratulate all the new captains. We are all looking forward to the promotion party.

Flu season nears; immunizations ready

Annual mandatory influenza immunizations have been scheduled for this week, according to Reese USAF Hospital officials.

All personnel reporting for shots must have their personal shot record in their possession. The immunizations will begin Tuesday in bldg. P-82 for personnel in the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron. Hours of operation will be from 1 until 6 p.m.

Wednesday will be the day for the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron. Their shots will be given in bldg. 59 from 1 until 6 p.m. Persons in the 64th Air Base Group will have two days in which to receive shots. Thursday, immunizations will be given from 1 until 6 p.m. in the Mathis Recreation Center. Shots will also be given Friday at the same time and location. Persons

Awards given at monthly Cub Scout pack meeting

Reese Webelos Cub Scouts are presently receiving boat safety and sailboat training.

The announcement was made at the monthly pack meeting of Reese Pack 548 Sept. 28 in the Community House on base. Pack Master Martin Johnson announced that the training will be conducted by Richard Rowley, pack treasurer and sailing enthusiast. Webelos Den 1 received shore training Wednesday and will complete the course tomorrow at Maxey Lake in Lubbock.

Also at the meeting, 12 new scouts were presented with their bobcat pins following opening ceremonies by Den 2. The 12 new scouts are Steve Saul, Billy Duke, Michael Tucker, James Dotson, Steve Maybon, Robert Benson, Robert Spanyard, Scott Watson, Garry DePanion, Kenneth Belanger, Marc Floyd and Herbert Bond. New Den Mothers and assistants were also welcomed at the meet-

This week's review of the Palace Flicks program available at the Consolidated Personnel Office (CBPO), bldg. 815, at Reese centers around the sound-on-film cassette entitled "Military Sponsor Program."

Aimed at both officer and enlisted personnel, this five-minute film outlines the mechanics of the military sponsor program. It spells out specific items covered by the program and what information and services the Air Force member can expect.

Married or single, the film explains, the military sponsor program aids Air Force officers and airmen in getting established at new duty locations. Information on the new base, the housing situation, dependent travel, recreation and medical facilities, schools, and uniform requirements, to name a few are furnished through the program. It also provides for a sponsor at the gaining base to help the reassigned member process and get situated at the

In December 1962, she was reassigned to Washington, D. C., in the Public Information Division of SAFOI.

Continuing her college education that started in 1952 at Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y., Major Namaksy entered the University of Nebraska at Omaha, in September 1964, graduating in March 1965 with a bachelor of education degree.

Her next assignment, which lasted for three years, took her to Headquarters Pacific Air Forces, Hickam AFB, Hawaii, as a protocol officer. Her outstanding performance in this job merited her the Air Force Commendation Medal.

Since the Hawaii assignment, Major Namaksy has spent the last four years in Air Training Command at Randolph AFB, Tex.

Her first ATC duty was WAF Squadron Section Commander at Randolph from August 1968 through June 1970. Upon completion of that tour of duty, she was awarded the Meritorious Service Medal.

She was then assigned as Chief of Protocol for ATC, a position she held until her present appointment.

Major Namaksy, is married to Capt. A. J. Namaksy Jr., who is assigned to the Military Personnel Center, Randolph.

Chiefs crush Chargers, plan weekend homestand

The Reese Chiefs advanced their winning record another notch this week by defeating the tough Chargers by a score of 20-14 lay at Hutchinson Jr. High ol in Lubbock.

The first score came in the second quarter when Donald Creager darted around left end for a 20-yard romp and a touchdown. The next T.D. came in the third period of action when Nicky Olenik blasted through the middle and didn't stop until he reached the goal line, 50 yards later. He was also responsible for the only extra point of the game as he bullied his way across for a twopoint conversion.

The final Reese score came in the fourth quarter as Brent Swanson copied Olenik's trick and ramrodded through the middle for 50 yards and another Chief touchdown. Steve Hancock led an outstanding defensive drive, holding previously high-scoring Chargers to only 12 points.

Dave Morrison of E Flight, if the attritian rate continues at its present clip, there will be no bachelors left in four months. There would be no one left for the married guys to get in trouble during cross-countries.

Teh Gee-Whiz Sir Award this week goes to Class 74-01. In just one short week they have managed to nearly close our snack bar down by losing the ice scoop. Now, that doesn't seem bad in itself, but if you've inspected your snack bar lately, you know how much it means to have an ice scoop around to keep up the sanitary level of such a place. Congratulations, 74-01, the price of a new ice scoop will be

HISTORICAL AIRCRAFT-In August 1934, Boeing began construction of the XB-17. First flown in July 1935, it led the way to one of the world's most famous series of bomber airplanes. Flying characteristics of this plane were outstanding for the time, establishing performance records that far outclassed most airplanes of the era. Accepted by the military in January 1937 as the YB-17, Flying Fortress, it had a top speed of 256 miles per hour, service ceiling of 30,600 feet and a maximum range of 3,320 miles. In the way years that followed, the B-17 became the symbol and vindication of strategic bombing. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

Scholarship dedicated

U.S. AIR FORCE ACADEMY (AFNS)—The creation of a scholarship in memory of the late Gen. George B. Simler has been announced by Maj. Gen. Robert J. Smith (USAFR Ret.), president of the Falcon Foundation of Dallas.

General Simler was director of athletics at the U.S. Air Force Academy from 1957 to 1960 and was one of the select group who provided the inspiration and guidance which brought about the formation of the Falcon Foundation, said Air Force Academy officials.

The Falcon Foundation, established in 1958, is a non-profit, educational organization which provides one-year preparatory scholarships to worthy applicants who aspire to attend the Air Force Academy but who need preparatroy schooling to meet the academic standards for entrance.

More than 448 scholarsh have been awarded to deserving young men since the foundation was established.

General Simler, former Air Training Command commander, was killed in a T-38 Talon crash Sept. 9 at Randolph AFB, Tex.

AFN 37 film reviewed

The Air Force Now (AFN 37) film to be shown at all Commander's Calls during the month of October is opened by Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force, Richard D. Kisling.

The theme of the film is "Listen, Learn and Lead" and the beginning of the film centers around various personnel programs instituted Air Force-wide. Several scenes in the movie are filmed at council meetings and organizational stages of program institutions across the country.

While the first part of AFN 37

focuses on Air Force people working as a team to solve people problems, the last part shows teamwork in mission accomplishment. Sequences cover the aroundthe-clock teamwork necessary maintain a missle site in Nor Dakota and the steps necessar, to develop a laser-guided bomb which can destroy hard-to-hit military targets while avoiding civilian areas.

The closing of the film illustrates the teamwork necessary to carry out a life-and-death rescue mission.
