

Graduate program to be offered at Reese

A representative of the University of Northern Colorado (UNC) will be at Reese April 6 to explain a new graduate program that will be offered to Reese personnel and to local residents.

Robert Taylor, director for special and advanced programs, will speak in three separate conferences to explain the new program and to answer questions. The sessions will be held at 9:30 a.m., 2:30 and 7:30 p.m., in room 3 of bldg. 820.

The graduate study program has been recently approved by the Department of the Air Force as another education advancement opportunity. This new program will give Reese personnel and local residents a chance to complete requirements for their masters degrees without leaving the base.

A team of counselors will be at Reese from UNC, April 23 through the 26th and classes are scheduled to begin soon afterwards. The public is invited to these meetings and will be eligible for the UNC courses. The number and type of courses to be offered will depend upon interest indicated, as minimum enrollments will be required.

Through the nonprofit Center for Special and Advanced Programs (CSAP), UNC offers a fully-accredited "University Without Walls" program to military and civilian agencies. Officers, enlisted personnel and civilians (including dependents) can enroll in accredited undergraduate and graduate courses leading to degrees in their specialized fields.

UNC/CSAP tailors the format, schedule and content of the courses to suit the needs of the participating students in the military community. All courses are nonsequential. Students may start the program with any course at any time and may elect to take courses on a credit or noncredit basis.

After consultation with an academic counselor, the student may arrange for independent study or practicum courses which translate practical experience into academic credit through on-the-job training or work-study programs. In these types of courses, allocation of academic credit is based on approved performance criteria.

Complete details on the UNC graduate study program may be obtained by contacting the education office in bldg. T-1, or by calling ext. 2634.

Maintenance gives new 'life' to time line

Reese flying schedules—thrown off by heavy weather casualties to winter sorties—are nearly back to normal and Col. Walter H. Baxter, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, gives much of the credit to maintenance personnel.

"I think it's absolutely amazing we've been able to fly 2,200 extra hours since mid January," he said. "I know of no other wing that has accomplished so much in such a short period of time."

Whenever Possible

Since early November and the beginning of a worse than normal winter, pilots have been flying extra hours whenever possible and maintenance workers have been hard pressed to keep aircraft in the air.

Lt. Col. Richard J. Miles, head of the Organizational Maintenance Squadron (OMS), credited his workers with "considerable improvement in the number of operationally ready aircraft." He added, "This indicates maintenance men throughout the LG complex have really been getting with it and fulfilling our mission. They've done a good job and should be recognized for such."

Operational Readiness

For example, operational readiness of aircraft has increased considerably during the winter and catch up period. Operational readiness is computed on the amount of time aircraft are flyable against the hours the aircraft were physically available.

In November 1972, T-37s were ready only 78.4 per cent of the time whereas the operational readiness rate is 84.6 per cent so far this March. For T-38s in November the operational readiness rate was 69.8 per cent with the rate now at near 78 per cent.

Since students fell behind the time line (Reese's schedule for graduating pilots) maintenance personnel and operations planners have been launching more than 200 T-38 sorties and about 180 T-37 sorties per good weather day.

Best Engine Shop

"Our maintenance squadrons have improved the quality of their work and their morale and attitudes are better than when we started trying to catch up," Colonel Baxter said. "We have the best engine shop in ATC—no question about it. In fact, I believe we have the best maintenance in the whole business."

Capt. Bill Golleher, maintenance supervisor in the Field Maintenance Squadron (FMS), said maintenance personnel under him have been working many extra hours and especially hard since early November. "It's taken a fantastic effort on everyone's part to bring our position on the time line back to normal," he said.

"We have further to go," Colonel Baxter added, "but we certainly have come a long way."

Maintenance responsibilities are divided between the OMS and FMS with the OMS responsible for the launch, recovery, servicing and maintenance of all aircraft assigned to Reese.

FMS personnel accomplish repairs and authorized overhaul of aircraft and maintenance of training, ground and personal equipment.

"If we believe in our country, our duty and our flag, we should make our reasons known . . ."

By Lt. Col. John D. Herbert
Commander 35th Flying Training Squadron

One evening recently I attended the base theater to see a favorite old movie being shown on re-release. Much to my surprise I could barely navigate through the lobby due to the crush of waiting young people, only a few of which were waiting for popcorn. Even more surprising was that the inside of the theater was not at all crowded. It wasn't, that is, until the "Star Spangled Banner" finished playing, then came the rush of lobby-loiterers looking for a seat.

Just a few days later during retreat I observed three almost grown teenage boys completely ignoring a proud and established military tradition: while the strains of "To The Colors" and "The Star Spangled Banner" floated clearly over the base in the evening air, these boys, all sons of career military men, continued their activities until they were the only visible motion on the scene, except for the airmen lowering the flag.

Discussion of these two incidents with other base personnel revealed that these were not isolated incidents, with several of them noticing similar discourtesies of late. If this is true then it is time for us, the people of Reese AFB, to determine the extent of the illness and take individual corrective action to prevent further recurrences. While I am aware that actions of this nature have been accepted, even encouraged, at some non-military functions they have not, and will not be accepted on any military installation.

That such a condition might exist on an Air Force base seems incongruous to me. The men assigned here have sworn to uphold and protect our country. Their families are proud of the sponsors' decisions and roles in life. In addition, the Air Force family usually possesses an understanding, appreciation and pride in America and its way of life uncommon to its non-military contemporary. By virtue of their many and varied assignments throughout military careers, both at home and abroad, these families are exposed to a greater cross-section of life around the world. Invariably this exposure creates the feelings noted above. I have never known a U.S. serviceman to profess a desire for citizenship in a country other than the United States of America.

The people of Reese AFB typify this attitude and approach to life. They are unquestionably the most dedicated, professional and mission-oriented group of people with whom I have ever worked. Because of this, I feel certain that the discourtesies I mentioned do not represent a major deficiency within our military community, but pinpoint for us an area where we require more personal involvement.

If we believe in our country, our duty and our flag, we should make our reasons known to our loved ones. These ideals and attitudes are not inexpensive, and if we believe them, we should perpetuate them to and through our youngsters. Interestingly enough, each person I talked to about his actions was proud of his connection with the military and proud of his father's choice of career. He had simply never realized that he was showing disrespect to the symbol of our country.

Finally, I am aware that as parents we can never be certain of our dependents' actions regardless of how we train them. If, however, we show them how we feel and tell them why we feel and act as we do, I am confident that problems of this nature would soon become a thing of the past.

Single airmen to return to barracks soon

By Col. Frank B. McKenzie
Air Base Group Commander

In response to Gen. John D. Ryan's program for an all volunteer force and to the suggestions and recommendation from all ATC bases and Project Volunteer Workshop members, a program to improve bachelor living conditions has been established and is well underway here at Reese.

We all are aware of the refurbishing being accomplished in our airman's barracks here and because of this refurbishing it is, and has been necessary for these quarters to be vacant due to the extensive interior work being accomplished.

The whole package includes installation of central air conditioning, complete interior repainting, removal of one wall locker per room, installation of an additional electrical outlet in each room, the paneling of communal areas, general improvements in latrines, hallways and individual rooms and installation of a centralized television antenna system.

We have sufficient new ranch oak furniture to equip all rooms and communal areas and have budgeted for individual room carpets and wall to wall rugs. In addition, drapes and venetian blinds have been or will be installed in each room and in all communal areas.

As you know renovation of Alexander Hall, bldg. 420, has been completed, and it has been reoccupied. Bldg. 220 has most recently been completed and work will begin in bldg. 320 on about April 2. Of course all of this has resulted in some 300 airmen being given BAQ and sent downtown to live temporarily and some people have moved more than once in the shuffle.

At present, personnel in bldg. 320 are moving into bldgs. 420 and 220. This move in itself is the first step toward aligning room assignments and establishing organizational integrity in the barracks. What this means is that eventually, when bldg. 320 is completed in May and those people who live in town return to the barracks, Air Base Group personnel will live in Alexander Hall, bldg. 420; Field Maintenance Squadron and Supply will be in bldg. 220; and Organizational Maintenance Squadron and tenant units will live in bldg. 320.

You may ask why is this organization alignment necessary. There are many good reasons for it. Management of bachelor housing assets at Reese is the responsibility of the Air Base Group commander and he exercises control through his Base Housing Office and with the assistance of unit commanders, first sergeants and floor chiefs.

To the Air Base Group commander nonorganizational housing doesn't present the problem that it does to the unit commanders, the first sergeants and most of all to the individuals themselves who live in the barracks. A unit commander has very little control over his personnel in the present spread out assignment system. Unit integrity and esprit de corps are stamped out. He has no way of knowing how this unit is being treated or in most cases by whom. At the same time a barrack's first sergeant is hard pressed to have it any better, having personnel from literally every organization on base assigned to his barracks. No matter how "SUPER" he may be, he can't have a feel for the various schedules and shift requirements of these individuals like he would if they were from his own unit.

As for the man in the barracks, life can get understandably confusing under the present system. He has barracks first sergeant, unit first sergeant, a job supervisor and all tell him what his next move will be. It gets really confusing when the barracks first sergeant tells you to clean up the barracks; the unit first sergeant tells you to cut the grass; and your supervisor has you doing something else.

With unit first sergeants in charge of barracks in which their own personnel live, these kinds of problems should go away and the first sergeant can really be a first sergeant by taking care of his own people and working those problems inherent in his own specific organization.

DFC

Capt. Eugene A. Bardal of the 35th Flying Training Squadron (FTS) will receive the second through the fifth Oak Leaf Clusters to the Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC). Captain Bardal will be recognized for aerial service he contributed in Vietnam in a Douglas A-1 Skyraider. He was cited for four different occasions of combat.

Also scheduled to receive the DFC are two other Reese pilots. First Lt. Gary M. Boystel and 1st Lt. Ronald L. Kuhl will receive the honor. Both men are instructor pilots in the 35th FTS.

In addition to his Oak Leaf Clusters to the DFC, Captain Bardal will also receive the second through the 10th Oak Leaf Clusters to the Air Medal. Lieutenants Boystel and Kuhl will also receive Oak Leaf Clusters to the Air Medal. Lieutenant Boystel will be awarded the first through eighth and the ninth and 10th Oak Leaf Clusters. Lieutenant Kuhl will receive the first through the ninth Oak Leaf Clusters to the medal.

Also scheduled to receive the Air Medal today is Capt. Brian C. Dugle of the 64th Student Squadron. Captain Dugle will be awarded the second and third Oak Leaf Clusters to the Air Medal.

Commendation Medals

Four men will receive the Air Force Commendation Medal (AFCM) today. Capt. Byron N. Kimball of the 64th Student Squadron will be awarded the AFCM for service in Thailand.

MSgt. William L. Stevick of the 64th Supply Squadron will be awarded the third Oak Leaf Cluster to the AFCM at the ceremony and the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the AFCM will be pinned on SSgt. Darrell C. Crofutt of the 64th Flying Training Wing. Sgt. Joel D. Fitzgibbon of the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron (FMS) will also receive the AFCM.

TSgt. Patrick T.M. Forrest of FMS will receive a certificate of achievement from the headquarters of the Military Assistance Advisory Group of the Republic of China. Sergeant Forrest will be recognized for work he did while stationed at MAAG during the period from December, 1972 to January, 1973. At this time, he was responsible for the training of Chinese Air Force maintenance personnel on the proper maintenance procedures for the Northrop T-38 Talon instrument systems.

Also scheduled for recognition at today's ceremony will be the March Airman of the Month, A1C John D. Moorman of the Reese USAF Hospital.

Some fee increases due from Special Services

Patrons of the various Special Services activities may notice slight increases in fees and charges for the use of programs, facilities and equipment after tomorrow. These increases are the result of a Headquarters Air Training Command (ATC) directive establishing certain mandatory minimum fees and charges at all ATC bases.

This directive also created some new charges in previously free activities. The fees are necessary to provide for equipment replacement, maintenance, supplies and salaries in the various activities. Any profits derived from these activities are used to support other recreational programs for which no fees are charged. Anyone having questions about recreation fees and charges may call Special Services Division, ext. 2412.

Some of the more significant increases are: golf course rentals—lockers (full size), previously free, will be charged for at the rate of $1 per month. Club storage (including cleaning) will increase from no charge to $2 per month; bowling lanes—youth line fee, previously 20 cents per game, will increase to 35 cents. Shoe rental, previously 15 cents per pair, will be raised to 20 cents; base nursery—children's lunch and supper meals will be raised from 35 to 40 cents. The service charge for feeding will go up from 15 to 25 cents; youth activities—athletics, previously free, will be charged for at the rate of $5 per child per sport, not to exceed $15 per family per sport.

It wasn't too many years ago that Ferrante and Teicher were one of nearly a dozen two-piano teams on the circuit enjoying a fine reputation, an impressive box office following, and a meager income. The Ferrantes of New York City and the Teichers of Wilkes Barre, Pennsylvania, enrolled their sons in the Juilliard School. This, Ferrante and Teicher found themselves, each only six years old, at the school's Preparatory Center. A friendship grew and a common bond evolved; and while they were still in their teens, as they discovered how much more could be done with two pianos, Ferrante and Teicher determined that they should become a professional two-piano team. So began a long and sometimes bitter struggle that was to last for twelve years and take them to almost every city in the United States. The true measure of their popularity can best be gauged by their solid box office success all over the country and the phenomenal list of recording hits which followed "The Apartment". Ferrante and Teicher are today the most sought-after musical combination in show business. They have appeared on every major radio and TV network program. Their annual concert tour continues to be a sellout attraction in over 100 locations where their appearance is a highlight of the concert season.

Certificate given to club at meeting

The Reese Mexican-American Club was presented an award from the Lubbock Muscular Dystrophy Chapter during a meeting held March 16 in the NCO Open Mess.

The award was presented in recognition of the assistance given by the Reese club to the Lubbock Chapter during 1972. Accepting the award was Henry Salgado, club president.

Also present at the meeting were officers of the Lubbock Christian College Chicano Club. The group attended the meeting for the purpose of discussing possible plans for joint projects between the Reese club and the LCC organization.

A benefit dance was held March 16 at the Mathis Recreation Center for the Guadalupe Memorial Fund. Music was provided by a Chicano band from Lubbock with $150 collected for the Guadalupe fund.

Benefit dance scheduled

The Reese Mexican American Club has announced a benefit dance to be held from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. tonight at the NCO Open Mess. Featured at the dance will be Pete Morales and his orchestra.

Profits received from donations taken at the door will be used to assist underprivileged Chicano high school students who wish to participate in an educational seminar sponsored by the Los Tertulianos club of Texas Tech University, which will begin April 14.

The purpose of the seminar will be to encourage higher education among Chicano high school students. Approximately 130 high schools within a 250-mile radius of Texas Tech will be represented at the seminar.

Keynote speaker for the event will be Paulina Jacobs, a Texas Tech law graduate and teaching assistant. Other speakers will include Texas Tech administrators and counselors.

In addition to providing financial assistance for the seminar, some members of the Reese club will also participate in the event as aides and advisers.

Women from local civic and cultural organizations in Lubbock will be the honored guests at a come-and-go tea from 2 to 5 p.m. Thursday at the Officers Open Mess.

Sponsored by the Officers Wives Club, the theme of the event will be "Spring Into Art" and will include an exhibit of paintings, sculpture and other art work by members of the OWC.

General chairman for the event will be Mrs. Clarence K. Whiteside with Mrs. James Price serving as refreshment chairman; Mrs. John Brumfield Jr. and Mrs.

Michael Bradrick, invitations; Mrs. John Beaty, art display; and Mrs. Gerald Kuykendall, name-tags.

A combo from the Mathis Recreation Center will provide background music and Mrs. Al Egolf will be featured on the piano.

Cookie sale termed 'great success'

The annual Girl Scout cookie sale has ended and was termed a "great success" by Mrs. Joseph Williams, Reese cookie chairman.

The sale, which lasted from

Feb. 23 to March 10, netted the Reese AFB Girl Scouts $1,420 from sales of $1 boxes of cookies. Approximately 76 girls participated in the drive that combed the base.

In addition to the scouts and their parents, Mrs. Joseph Filippo, Mrs. John Parham, Mrs. Charles Pusser, Mrs. John Severson, Mrs. Delbert Wright and Mrs. David Browder were named as instrumental in the success of the drive.

IP of Month

Lieutenant Morgan cited

First Lt. Kenneth R. Morgan has been selected Instructor Pilot of the Month for March by the 54th Flying Training Squadron (FTS) at Reese.

Lieutenant Morgan was nominated by his commander, Capt. Dale Sprotbery of F Flight. Captain Sprotbery cited the lieutenant's "outstanding leadership qualities and superb performance as an IP".

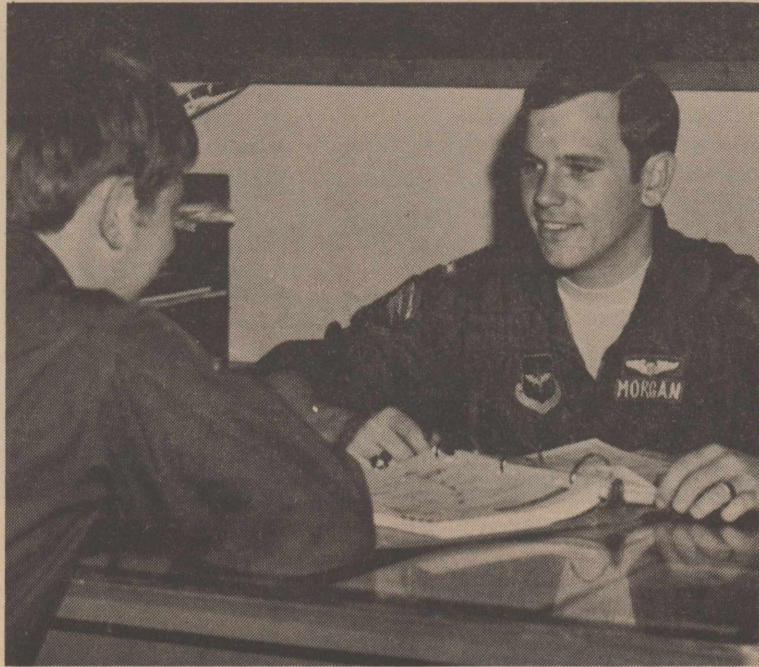

Lieutenant Morgan has served in several additional positions outside of his duties as an instructor. He has served as flight computer officer, emergency procedures quiz officer, flying safety officer, computer control officer and flight scheduler.

The nominating letter continued, "Lieutenant Morgan has continually accomplished all tasks with outstanding results which benefit both students and other instructors. He is the type of IP that can take a marginal student and show him the light."

"Lieutenant Morgan has demonstrated his outstanding flying ability by consistently scoring high on standardization/evaluation check rides. He is a top quality instructor and an outstanding young officer", Captain Sprotbery concluded.

The 25-year-old native of Fulton, Ky., is a 1969 graduate of the University of Illinois at Urbana. He received his degree in industrial administration. His wife, the former Miss Chris Martin, is a native of Chicago. They live at 4908 58th St., Lubbock.

Change in weather sees new look on time line

By Capt. Roger Carter

The 54th welcomed spring and a new look on the time line this week. Thanks to a reprieve from the harsh winter weather of West Texas and a lot of dedication by the squadron's personnel, the 54th finally saw the plus side of the magic board in front of headquarters building.

It has been a long flight since last fall and one done safely. Let's keep our guard up as we catch our breath. Remember, ATC Stan/Eval is forecast to blow in next month.

New additions to the squadron this week include reinforcements for Barracuda, Cloud and Echo

Flights. Capt. Dave Barton returned to the 54th and residency with the Barracuda bunch. Captain Barton completed Undergraduate Pilot Training (UPT) with Class 73-02 and returns for IP duty. Barracuda's Capt. Mike Shelton moved his talents to the Officer Training Section.

Charlie Flight gained 1st Lt. Phil Baker to its ranks while former C Flight scheduler, 1st Lt. Lyle Nevius, left for the Academics Branch. Echo's new talent is 1st Lt. Rick Sullivan.

Congratulations to Echo Flight's 1st Lt. Tom Pipkin and his wife, Janis. They welcomed James Thomas to the world last Friday.

Record of the week goes to Alpha Flight's Dorin Balls. He managed to spend $450 in San Francisco in one day and never found a date. And then there was the Alpha Flight student who, when given an altimeter setting of 29.94, wondered why approach gave him a manual frequency.

A quick reminder—if you're having trouble figuring out your income tax, see 1st Lt. Buzz Erickson in Hawg Flight. He might not be able to find all the answers for you but he said he does know a few "aggie jokes". If you are one of the fortunate ones to get a refund this year, Goat Flight's Maj. Jim Erickson says remember the Savings Bond drive starts next month.

Spring brings out sports

By Capt. Charles M. Thrash

With the arrival of spring and warm weather again, the jocks around the squadron are beginning to come out of hiding.

The softball team is actively recruiting players, and they should start practicing soon. It looks like this should be a strong team, with nearly all the regulars back from last season except Capt. Roger Stanffer. Seems Roger is trading Reese for an F-111 to England. Some people always get their priorities mixed up.

The golf team is also looking for some swingers. However, the golf team's roster is being kept in a secret place so only certain people will have access to it. The truth is it is being kept from Lt. Col. Jack Herbert. After seeing what he has done to the bowling team, we thought it better to keep the CO in the background this season and give him a little more time to straighten out his fade.

The first new arrival of the season was a son born to 1st Lt. Brent McGlothlin and his wife, Laura. It's always good to get a new season started off with a future fighter pilot.

There have been a few new people arriving in the squadron lately. Dave Browder, Mike Zahn and Rick Brown have all returned from Pilot Instructor Training (PIT) to start flying on the line. They will be replacing some of the personnel who have departed or will be leaving soon. We're pleased to see more IPs—it helps spread the work around and allows more people to support the stag bar.

The Gee-Whiz-Award this week goes to 2nd Lt. Guy Davis of Class 74-02. When asked what he liked best about Undergraduate Pilot Training (UPT), he said 2nd Lt. Al Westrom. Seems Guy and Al got confused when they were briefed on how close they would become to their classmates during their year at pilot training.

British wives plan meet

The Reese British Wives Club has planned its monthly meeting for 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, in the Family Services Center, bldg. 6100.

Entertainment for the evening will include free bingo. Each member is requested to bring a salad of their choice. The March meeting of the wives was termed a success due to the number of American visitors at the meeting. Thanks have been expressed to Mrs. Ray Beauboeuf, Mrs. Michael Weber and Mrs. Robert Whitfield for their efforts.

Further information for this month's meeting of the British Wives Club may be obtained by contacting Mrs. John Depanion at 885-2293 or Mrs. Paul Troutman at 792-7688.

Bond drive slated for May 1 kickoff

The annual campaign promoting the sale of U.S. Savings Bonds through the payroll savings plan will begin May 1 at Reese. It will continue through June 1.

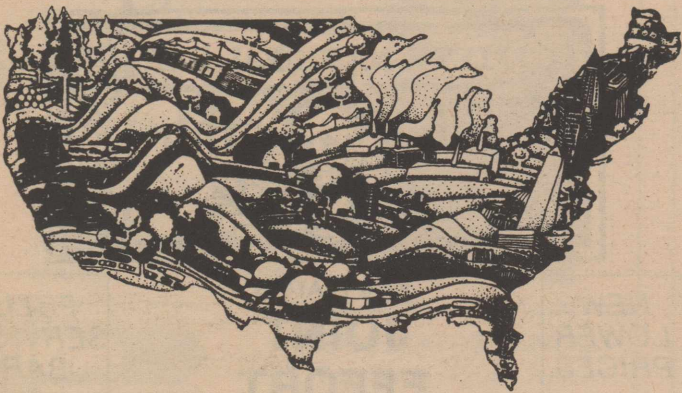

"Our goal will be to encourage each and every civilian and military member of the Air Force to join payroll savings plan or, if already participating, to increase their participations," said Gen. John D. Ryan, Air Force Chief of Staff.

General Ryan said, "Savings Bonds offer an ideal means for every person to put aside small sums of money on a regular basis for emergency needs and future opportunities. He further explained that the five and one-half per cent rate of interest paid on bonds, when held to maturity, is guaranteed for their lifetime. No matter what happens to the open market, Savings Bonds are always worth what the buyer paid for them.

"While there are many valid reasons for supporting the 1973 campaign, it must be made clear that the purchase of bonds is a strictly voluntary decision on the part of each participant," General Ryan added. (AFNS)

"Fiddler On the Roof" kicks off this week's schedule of feature films at the base theater. The base theater is open Tuesday through Sunday. All evening performances at the base theater begin at 7 p.m. unless otherwise noted, and the Saturday matinee starts at 2 p.m.

Tonight

"Fiddler On the Roof", a film made in the great film tradition, is based on the Broadway hit. The scene is a small Ukrainian village deep in Czarist Russia. The life of a poor farmer, his three dowryless daughters, nagging wife, lame horse and menial chores is detailed in the turn-of-the-century setting. It stars Topol and Norma Crane and is rated G, all ages.

Matinee and Tomorrow Evening

"Snoopy, Come Home" brings the Charles Schultz characters to life once again. Snoopy and his friend, Woodstock, set out to find a long lost friend and encounter several harrowing situations and misadventures. It is rated G.

Sunday

"The Magnificent Seven Ride" stars Lee Van Cleef and Stefanie Powers. It is the story of six convicts, one of them seriously wounded, and a newsman who team up to take on as much of the west as they can in one lifetime. They run head on into a town filled with women led by Stefanie Powers. It is rated PG, all ages admitted, some material may not be suitable for pre-teenagers.

Tuesday and Wednesday

"2001: A Space Odyssey" is an adventure which spans the whole history of the human race. From the toss of a caveman's club into the air, the viewer soon finds himself hurtling through space. The film stars Kier Dullea and Gary Lockwood and is rated G.

Thursday

"The Heartbreak Kid" is the story of a man who gets fed up with his wife on the honeymoon. It seems she received a bad sunburn and he goes to the beach alone, only to meet a beautiful young coed. The film stars Charles Grodin and Cybill Shepherd. It is rated PG.

Rockets, Knicks take top spots in youth cage action

The Rockets of the 8-10-year-old bracket of the Youth Basketball League have completed their season undefeated, boasting a perfect 5-0 record.

First place in the 11-13-year-old bracket was captured by the Knicks with a final season record of 7-2. The competition concluded Sunday afternoon in the base gym.

Second Place

Second place in the 8-10-year-old bracket went to the Cougars who wound up with a 3-2 slate and the Pacers ended the season winless. In the 11-13-year-old bracket, the Lakers took second place with a 6-3 record. Third place in that field of competition went to the Celtics with a 5-4 record and the Royals stayed on the minus side all season, winding up with an 0-9 record.

In the championship games Saturday and Sunday, the competition was fierce as the eventual league winners showed their power for one last time. Saturday morning's action saw the Rockets crush the hapless Pacers by a whopping 16-4 in the 8-10-year-old bracket.

Lakers Win

The second and third games of the day were in the 11-13-year-old bracket. The Lakers smashed the Royals, 48-14, and the Knicks edged the Celtics, 11-10, to move into the second day of action.

The Cougars wound up their season Sunday by once again beating the Pacers, 12-7, in the 8-10-year-old play. The powerful Knicks of the 11-13-year-old group flexed their strong arm at the Royals in the second game of the day as they breezed to a 38-11 victory. The final game of the season was between the Celtics and the Lakers. The Celts drew a full game closer to the top spot but it was all for naught as the Lakers wound up in second place for the season. The final decision in that bout went to the Celtics, 26-22.

Interesting Stats

Officials of the Youth Basketball League have compiled some interesting statistics for the season's scoring. The top scorers in both leagues have been named. In the 8-10-year-old bracket Degal Brown tallied 50 points for the season. Brown plays for the Rockets.

Brad Swanson of the Cougars logged 24 points for the season and his teammate, Brooks Benford, scored 20 points for the season. Donnie Cunningham of the Pacers finished the season with 19 points.

Top Scorers

Leading scorer for the 11-13-year-old league was Mike Benson with 102 points while playing on the Celtics. Next in line in that age bracket was Elda Roberts of the Lakers who tallied 88 for the season. One of his teammates, Rick Gueraro, had a season total of 73.

Ricky Williams of the Knicks scored 63 points during the season and Tony Beauboeuf, also of the Knicks, logged 59 as his season effort.

Youth basketball officials announced that an all-star team will be chosen from the 11-13-year-old bracket to represent Reese in competition with a youth all-star team from Cannon AFB, N.M. The team and the date for the tournament have not yet been selected.

Youth bowling standings given as end of season approaches

With the end of the season rapidly approaching, standings have been announced in the Junior-Senior League of the Reese youth bowling competition.

May 5 has been scheduled as the last day for the young kglers to compete as teams. The Junior-Senior League contains members between the ages of 13 and 21 years.

There will be no championship games held to determine the winner in the youth bowling compe-dition. Whoever is in first place at the end of the season will be declared winner in that league.

This week's action saw Peter Ondrasek of team #3 logging high game with his score of 189. Other totals for Saturday morning's play at the Reese Lanes saw Mark McCandless and Tony Gaston both scoring 156 and Sylvia Gaston knocking down 155 pins for her high game.

First place is presently held by team #2 with their 58-42 record thus far. Second spot is held by team #5 with their season tally of 57½-42½, and third spot belongs to team #6 with their 51½-48½ record.

The Junior-Senior League bowls every Saturday morning at Reese Lanes beginning at 10:45 a.m. They are preceded by the Bantam League which begins at 9 a.m. A summer session is planned by youth bowling officials. The leagues are open to all Reese dependents.

Baseball registration planned

Registration for the Reese boys summer baseball program has been set for tomorrow and April 7 between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. at the Reese Little League Field, according to the Special Services Division.

Boys who wish to participate in the program and at least one parent are requested by the division to meet the program organizers at the field. As required by Air Training Command, a fee of $5 per boy (or a maximum of $15 per family) will be collected at the registration. The accompanying parent must sign a registration release form.

The program is comprised of three leagues. The 6½-to-9-year-olds will be in the minor league. The major league will consist of 10-to-12-year-olds, and 13-15-year-olds will be placed in the Babe Ruth league.

Fathers and other interested persons are needed as managers, coaches and officials. Interested persons may obtain more information from SSgt. Ed Weisbord, ext. 2576, or 885-4350 after duty hours.

Golf course marshalling scheduled to begin today

Marshalling of the Reese AFB golf course will begin today in a move initiated by the Reese AFB Golf Council to speed up play, promote personal safety and to watch out for violation of rules.

The marshalling will be handled through the council's Rules and Courtesy Committee, Jim Comeaux, chairman, and members Leo Prior and Brian Prigmore.

Under the system, a golf council member or an appointed representative of the council, will make at least one "sweep" of the course aboard an electric cart during the morning and the same during afternoon play each Saturday, Sunday and holiday when the course is crowded. In addition, golf council members will be alert for violations during their own course of play at all times.

The marshalls will be identified by arm bands or golf council caps, or both. In the case of golf council members who are not wearing these items during the course of their regular play, they will identify themselves by name with the statement that they are members of the golf council and then correct the violation.

Some of the things the marshalls will be looking for are: more than four golfers playing in a group; groups playing so slow that they hold up play behind them (in which case the group will be told to either speed up play or allow the group behind to play through); more than one player playing out of the same gag; players wearing unauthorized footwear; players who fail to repair ball marks or otherwise cause damage to the greens, and any other infraction of the rules and/or courtesy of the golf course.

Failure to comply with such requests from the marshalls will result in the violator or violators being reported to the golf council for possible sanctions. In extreme cases where personal safety or damage to government property might occur, the violator will be escorted from the course.

Golfers are asked to cooperate with the marshalls in the interest of making the golf course a better and safer place to play.

Van Hoose leads at half-way mark

At the half-way point in the base roll-off to determine a Reese team for Air Training Command (ATC) competition, Mark Van Hoose has taken a big lead.

After 12 games, including high games of 225, 224 and 204, Van Hoose has a total of 2,261 pins chalked up in his favor. The competition is scheduled to close Sunday at the Reese Lanes. The best six male contenders and best two female contenders will be sent to the ATC championship, scheduled for April 23-27 at Chanute AFB, Ill.

In second place, trailing by 72 pins is Sam Mele with a current total of 2,189. The highest single game effort of the roll-off so far has been logged by Rodney Foertsch with his 229 tally.

Other totals for the competition so far include Denny Brill's 2,165 and a total of 2,154 for Skip Franklin. Joe D. Smith has tallied a 2,132 score so far in the

New hours for driving range given

The golf course driving range is now open for business under contractual agreement with Dick Davis of Carlisle, Texas.

Under the terms of the contract, Davis will operate the driving range on weekends and holidays and after 5 p.m. on weekdays (except Monday when the course is closed) with buckets of balls selling for 35 cents each.

There is one modification over last year. The tees for the driving range will be moved forward approximately 20 yards to make clearance on the practice green to the right of the driving range. Golfers may use the practice green, behind the line of the driving range tee markers, using either driving range balls or their own.
