Education Office gives last call for program

The Reese Education Office announces the last chance to enroll in the University of Northern Colorado Masters Degree Program conducted at Reese.

The masters programs include degrees in business management. This unique program does not require either a grade point average or a graduate records examination as entrance requirements.

Two weekend session seminars offer resident seminar credit for Reese personnel and Lubbock residents. A different seminar is offered each month. As many as 20-quarter hours may be transferred into the 48-quarter hour master degree program. The end of the course requires a competency examination but no thesis.

Leading educators from top universities across the United States are utilized for this unique program which is now operating on more than 30 military installations including Webb and Goodfellow AFBs, Tex., and Holloman AFB, N.M.

Interested persons are urged to contact the Education Office at ext. 2634 or 2469 as soon as possible. Persons may also call Capt. William D. Croom, chief of Academics for the 64th Student Squadron, at ext. 2688.

Campaign exceeds goal by $20,000 at Reese

Reports indicate that the 1974 Combined Federal Campaign at Reese has exceeded its goal by more than $20,000 with pledges still being initiated.

The report came from Capt. Frederick B. King, Reese CFC project officer. The goal this year was set at $70,000. Receipts had exceeded the $70,000 mark as of Tuesday. The goal for all federal agencies throughout the Lubbock area was set at $67,000. More than $89,000 has already been pledged.

Complete details on the returns will be released in next week's edition of the Roundup.

Chief of Staff encourages forthright opinion

CHICAGO (AFNS) - Gen. George S. Brown, Air Force Chief of Staff, recently stressed the need for Air Force people to speak frankly and forthrightly to the American public about Air Force business, as he delivered an address on Air Force policy before the Rotary Club of Chicago. He also pointed out the need for the public to understand fully why the United States needs an Air Force. Following are excerpts from his speech:

... A segment of our society is moving toward isolationism. There are many manifestations of this ... But the sophistication of today's world will no longer permit a policy of isolation. Many of the reasons are obvious. We are no longer an island protected by two oceans. We are no longer self-sufficient within our own borders. We are no longer an overwhelmingly dominant economic force in the international marketplace.

Common Thread

"However, these political and economic factors, though different in many respects, have one common thread-competition for the limited resources of the world.

"... I don't believe that there are truer words than those which state that the military man is the one who hates war the most-because he's seen it and lived it firsthand ...

"I believe that we will continue to have conflict-I believe that international conflict, bred of competition for resources, is inevitable. But I also believe that, in order to prevent war in order to secure a generation of peace-we must have a formula or a national strategy, if you will, that will permit the management and control of this conflict.

"In Guam, in 1969, our President introduced just such a formula for managing and controlling conflict-a formula designed to assure a generation of peace ... (with the following declarations: (1) the United States will keep all of its treaty commitments; (2) we will provide a shield if any nuclear power threatens the freedom of an ally or any other nation whose survival is considered vital to our own security; and (3) the United States will provide military and economic assistance to those underdeveloped nations that are externally threatened ...

Illustration

"... Let me illustrate where the Air Force fits into this equation.

"In the realm of nuclear warfare or nuclear blackmail, our strategic offensive and defensive forces have provided a successful shield since the end of World War II ...

"... Our general purpose forces are those which are designed (and) tailored specifically to perform the missions that a large-scale conventional war would demand-to gain and maintain control of the air over the battle area-to provide close air support to the forces fighting on the ground-to interdict enemy forces and supply lines within and beyond the battle area-and to provide the aerial reconnaissance and aerial resupply capabilities necessary to quickly resolve a situation of this nature.

"Having just emerged from the conflict in Southeast Asia, we find that Air Force strategic, general purpose, and airlift forces, while smaller in numbers of aircraft and personnel, are stronger and more capable than ever before in our history.

"... Our greatest national treasure is our American way of life. Deprived of this, we have little else of worth with which to concern ourselves. The strength of our national defense posture-as recognized by our national strategy-is, in my mind, our best insurance for maintaining a lasting peace for generations to come. The Air Force is structured and ready to serve that end."

(End of excerpts from speech by General George S. Brown, Air Force Chief of Staff, in Chicago Oct. 16.)

REESE AIR FORCE BASE, TEXAS 79489

OFFICE OF THE COMMANDER

Let me take this opportunity to thank you for your support of the Combined Federal Campaign. The more than $70,000<sup>00</sup> you contributed will be used in worthy causes and appreciated by people who will never have a chance to say "thanks".

Thanks, also, for the absolutely first class open house on 28 October. The Thunderbirds put on a tremendous air show, but the open house would not have been a success without all the work you did in preparation.

To each of you who once again worked to prove that Reese is Thunder One, my sincere thanks,
Buz Baxter 30 October 1973

Little things mean a lot

You hurry and finish the job from memory. Then you get a 3 a.m. call from a line chief who found some things you missed and he isn't happy.

Little things, like being on time, being in uniform, doing your job.

Little things, like an improperly torqued bolt, improperly administered medicine, an improperly computed paycheck.

Little things, like unshined shoes, unworn hats, uncut hair.

They've got a lot to do with the Air Force.

And if you're in the Air Force, they've got a lot to do with you. (AFNS)

It's 8:30 a.m. and you're 30 minutes late for work. Your boss lets you know in a few well-chosen words that he doesn't want it to happen again.

And you wonder, "What's this got to do with the Air Force?"

It's 11:30 a.m. and you're on your way to chow under a broiling sun. A cool breeze is blowing so you take your hat off. Out of nowhere some captain appears to give you a lecture on proper wear of the uniform.

And you wonder, "What's this got to do with the Air Force?"

It's 5 p.m. and if you follow the tech order you'll be working overtime.

Open letter thanks personnel for efforts

To All Reese Personnel:

I recently received the following letter from Maj. Gen Alton D. Slay, deputy chief of staff for Operations at Air Training Command (ATC) Headquarters concerning a program that was conducted at Reese and throughout ATC this past summer:

"I have just received a letter from Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem II, commander of Air University, thanking ATC for our support of this summer's AFROTC jet orientation program. He cites the rides as the high point of the entire program for the cadets.

"It is always pleasing to me to see such laudatory remarks directed toward our Command and especially toward you and your people who did the job. It is quite obvious to me that the tremendous success of this program exists only because of the high level of professionalism, dedication and hard work of all echelons of the Command.

"Many of those cadets will become Air Force leaders of tomorrow. All of them will carry the memory of their jet flights for the years to come. Thinking in such terms, I can only feel that our initial investment of time and resources will result in incalculable dividends for the Air Force as we approach an all volunteer posture.

"I would again like to add my personal praise and sincere appreciation to that of the Commander, Air University and our Commander. To you and all your people, a richly deserved 'Well Done'."

It is always a pleasure to receive high praise of our people for their good work. General Slay's letter points out the superb performance that Reese people are known for throughout the Air Force. I want to thank all who were responsible for making this summer's AFROTC jet orientation program such a complete success at Reese.

letters

Sir:

I was the last person on Earth who ever thought he would be writing to a Wing Commander but here it is. I just wanted to drop a letter of appreciation to one of your better organizations for a job well done. This organization is the 64th Supply Squadron, and I had the privilege of spending a 2½-year tour there. But in my mind stands out one person in all of Reese that has really taught me a lot, and that's Mr. Fred Truelock in the Forward Warehouse Complex. So this is the only way of getting the point across to a person I am grateful I had the privilege to know and work with.

Commander's CARE Line

Editor's Note: The Roundup will continue to publish Commander's CARE Line inquiries as long as they are of base-wide interest. All inquiries will be reviewed by the Wing Commander. Reese personnel are encouraged to first use their chain of command or to contact the office of primary responsibility if at all possible to air comments or complaints. If these methods do not work, dial C-A-R-E.

Sir:

I am a member of the base football team and as we went out to practice tonight somebody had shut out the electricity. I don't think it is fair to cut off our lights when they have the flightline lights going at night with all the runway lights on and all the fuel the jets are burning. They could cut down on some of the pilots and save some of the energy by stopping some of the flights at night and turning off the runway lights. The base football team is for the whole base and I think we should get a chance to practice, just like a pilot gets to practice landing at night.

I wish you had put your name to this, for I would like to talk to you about our mission and priorities.

Sir:

This is SSgt. Trombly of Command Post. I would like to see if something can be done about making it possible to walk to the tennis courts without walking through the mud. At the present time you have to walk through an area covered with mud to get to the courts.

Sergeant Trombly

Sergeant Trombly,

I've got to agree with you, Sergeant Trombly. The materials are on order and the work is scheduled for completion soon.

Sir:

I was looking in the base paper and noticed that this guy had a complaint about Finance. I would like to comment on the professionalism of the people here at Reese. I was diverted here in late August, with my furniture halfway across the Atlantic and my pay records and personnel records at two other places. The people I have dealt with on this base-in personnel, Finance, Transportation and Claims—have gone out of the way to help me. I've got 14 years of service and I'd just like to let you know, sir, that the people here at this base in all four of these areas have taken really good care of me. I'm really appreciative and thought I'd just pass it on to you. These are real top people who deal with a lot of people every day, but they have a heck of a good attitude and they're really friendly. If you should decide to use this in the paper, I wish you'd go ahead and sign it 'anonymous..

We asked SSgt. Baker of CBPO if he would let us use his name, and he finally agreed. So often the good goes unnoticed while the bad always hits the front page. Thanks, SSgt. Baker, for caring enough to call.

AAFES gives yule safety tips

Dallas—As the yuletide draws near, the Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) has offered some safety tips to consider when shopping for and installing Christmas trees and holiday accessories.

- Select a fresh tree and keep it in water.
- Replace light strings that have worn insulation or broken wiring. All larger exchanges will have a wide assortment of lights and other electrical accessories.

- Beware of electrocution. Do not place light strings on a metallic tree. Use an off-tree spotlight instead.

- Keep trees away from radiator, fireplace or heat source. The tree will last longer and the danger of fire will be lessened.

- Decorate with nonflammable ornaments.

- Never burn evergreen boughs or gift wrapping in the fireplace.

- Do not leave lighted trees unattended. And speaking of lights, do not use indoor lights for outdoor displays.

Christmas accessories sold in exchange can provide many years of service with care and attention and safety. Sales personnel will be happy to assist shoppers in selecting from the array of holiday decorations to be featured everywhere.

The 10 minute cassette, aimed at all Air Force personnel, explains that each blue suiter is charged with conducting Air Force affairs in strict compliance with this policy.

The film also explains the role of the Equal Opportunity Staff, treatment of women in the Air Force and the Air Force-wide Race Relations Training.

The film may be viewed in room 12 of the Consolidated Base Personnel Office, bldg. 815.

Winning guesses continue

By A1C Jeff King

Gasman and Mr. Bass did it up right this week, hitting 100 per cent for their guesses of the top college and professional games.

For this weekend's bout between Colorado and the Cornhuskers of Nebraska, it would appear that Colorado has the slight edge, being favored by all but one of our predictors. LSU seems a four-point favorite over Mississippi in college action.

For the pros, Dallas doesn't seem to be the usual overwhelming favorite as they face the Cincinnati squad. Losing by seven points last week, Cincinnati is expected to give the Cowboys a good fight but the pokes should be able to silence the hot Bengals.

Last but definitely not least, is the big game Monday night with Washington meeting the Steelers at Pittsburgh. Quarterback Terry Bradshaw of the Steelers is hurt and his appearance could be doubtful. Will George Allen's 'Skins walk all over the opposition or will the hot Pittsburgh back field spring into action and make up for a Gasman says the Steelers can do it and he says they'll do it to the tune of 24-21. Mad Dog even gives Pittsburgh another point, making his projection 21-17. The others pick the Redskins but no one will

All in all, the weekend looks exciting. Our weekly guessers are way up on the winning side so their pix can't be taken too lightly. It's all in fun so pick your favorites, compare them to the chart below and turn on the television.

Captain Seebo wins at ATC art show

A painting by Capt. Thomas C. Seebo captured first place at the first Air Training Command Amateur Art Show hosted by Moody AFB, Ga., Oct. 20.

Captain Seebo's oil painting "Moon Psalm" led the competition at the show in the Contemporary Division of the Painting Category at the ATC Show. The captain had previously swept the Reese contest with "Moon Psalm" and "Search for Another," his only two entries.

More than $400 in Savings Bonds and two plaques were awarded participants in the three-day ATC contest. Art works submitted by 13 of ATC's 15 bases were displayed and points were awarded to each base according to the placement of the individual entries.

The paintings and sculpture at Moody were entered in two categories, traditional and contemporary. The entries were judged on originality, ingenuity, composition and design, and on execution and technical ability.

Art Education Professor Claud Singer of Valdosta State College and a judge for the show, commented that the show portrayed a great feeling of expressiveness... an appreciation of life or the value of life. The professor also indicated that a log of social comment was predominant in the show.

When informed of his win at the ATC contest, Captain Seebo exclaimed, "How about that!", citing the news as "a very pleasant surprise." His parents, Maj. and Mrs. Thomas C. Seebo, who now own the winning painting, are also at Reese, and granted the captain permission to show the work.

Captain Seebo serves as assistant chief for Wing Flight Management for the Operation Branch at Reese.

Football team wins intramural flag title

By Capt. Charles M. Thrash

Victory! The football team got it all together last week and ran away with the base championship.

They swept the playoffs, beating the spooks and the Hospital team and finished the championships unscored upon. The team is now awaiting a bowl bid. Rumor has it that the 35th Dust Devils will meet the Texas Tech Red Raiders at Muleshoe in the Biannual Sandhill Crane Bowl.

Good Hunting

The IPs around the squadron have started taking advantage of the good bird hunting in the Lubbock area. However, with the different seasons opening and closing for the many different types of birds, it sometimes becomes difficult to remember which birds you can shoot and which ones you can't.

Several weeks ago some of the guys from "D" Flight were Teal hunting in the morning when a game warden stopped by to chat with them. While checking their licenses and birds, one of our party asked the warden if he would like to see the dove he had killed earlier.

The game warden ignored the question, but our man finally insisted he look at the dove. It was then that the game warden informed him that it was illegal to shoot doves in the morning. Shooting started for this bird at noon.

The Moral

The moral to this story is to check when the season opens and closes and know the hunting regulations. A little proper planning may prevent a large fine later.

There have been a number of recent arrivals in the squadron. Capt. Don Lamontagne and 1st Lt. Ed McCann have returned from instructor training and must now go to work. Seeing Don on the line as an IP makes me feel a little older.

The reason is that Don is the second student I soloed. I've been here so long that I guess that F-15 assignment to Tahiti should be getting here pretty soon for me.

Quote of the Week comes from Cadet Amini of Class 74-08, Section II. When asked what instrument approach he was going to perform on the simulator trainer he was quick with the answer, "Albatrkey."

Long weekend brings wilderness adventures

By Lighthouse

Whenever a three day week-rolls around, most of us are overcome by a mysterious feeling to do something different.

In this day of advertising gimmicks, getting back to nature means trying out a fruit flavored shampoo or eating unprocessed cereal. To the more adventurous types, like me, it means going camping in the unexplored wilds of a state park or camping ground. That may not sound too challenging, but before you make any judgements, let me tell you about my trip last weekend.

Ready to Go

After checking out my equipment from Special Services, I hopped in my car and headed for the great outdoors dressed in $90 worth of Ernest Hemingway jackets, bird shooter boots and all of those things guaranteed to make you look very rugged and natural.

My first inking that everything was not going too well, came when I had to follow a cattle truck from Lubbock to Amarillo. Since my car was loaded with all of my weekend provisions, I just couldn't get up to passing speed. I got to Amarillo watery eyed and dizzy from cattle odor, and swung west to New Mexico.

I arrived at my camping site about noon and set about the work necessary to get my tent up. I soon discovered that a four man tent doesn't mean how many people can sleep in it, but how many people it takes to put it up.

I struggled for two hours and the only thing I succeeded in doing was getting my new Hemingway jacket torn in three places and tiring myself out. So I laid down for a short nap and woke up three hours later with a sunburn, and a severe case of dehydration.

Despair

I ended up throwing the tent between two rocks for shelter and started to fix my first meal outdoors. Unfortunately, I didn't bring any charcoal, and the only thing large enough to burn in New Mexico are rocks and sage brush.

In the next hour I managed to slice two fingers cutting up sagebrush for the fire, blinded myself from the campfire smoke, and dropped by steak on the ground, which was immediately stolen by a rampaging prairie dog. The only thing left to eat was a can of beans, and I had to open them by smashing the can with a rock.

Now most people would have given up about that time, but since I am basically an optimist, I decided to stick it out for the night; a near fatal mistake.

Not His Bag

I zipped myself into my sleeping bag and crawled under the tent canvas, which blew away forty minutes later in the rain storm. The zipper on the bag stuck and I spent the rest of the night trying to keep rain water out of my nose.

By morning, I had chewed a hole in the bag large enough to get my hand out, which I used to pull myself over to the car and my knife. I sliced two more fingers before I freed myself. After packing, I started home and ended up following a cattle truck back to Lubbock (the same one I think), arriving just in time to settle, bloodied but unbroken, into my easy chair for Sunday football.

The next time a three day weekend rolls around and that feeling to do something different starts to come over me, I'm going to fight it... boy, am I going to fight it.

I CAN'T LOOK—This youngster seemed to think the USAF Thunderbirds wouldn't pull out of a steep dive, causing him to turn his head. The boy's fears were unfounded, however, as the aerial demonstration team performed many dangerous stunts at the Reese AFB Open House Sunday without a mishap. (US Air Force Photo by A1C Buddy Lerch)

Dancing students to give public recital at theater

The Reese Youth Activities Branch will sponsor a dance recital 8 p.m. Monday at Simler Theater for six students of dance.

The six girls began their lessons, which were sponsored by Youth Activities and directed by Lynn Swinney, assistant youth director, in August, meeting four hours a week until November. The instruction began with simple warm-up exercises and moved into problem-solving and movement exploration as well as movement techniques.

Next the girls began movement patterns and exploration sequences, leading to the development of many of their dances. The classes closed with instruction in modern jazz dancing, using the Luigi technique of warm-up. The jazz routine in the recital was choreographed by Luke Lalerich of Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

The performance Monday will begin with everyone participating in the Luigi warm-up. Christine Olenik, Doris Warfel and Juanita Filippo will perform to "Shaft." The second number, "Spinning Wheel," will be performed by Karen Benson and Teresa Filippo. Jim Wade will assist Mona Lopez in her rendition of "The March of the Siamese Children."

Mona, Juanita and Doris will again take the stage to perform "Smiling Faces Sometimes Tell Lies," followed by Teresa and Karen performing to "Pink Panther."

Christine will then perform "Harmonica Man," after which the entire class will perform the Jazz Routine, finishing up the recital.

The public is welcome to attend the recital.

The beauticians currently employed are from some of the best schools in the country and are fully qualified to handle any individual problems you may have.

Reese man earns high honors in photo contest

SSgt. Allen J. Talacek of Reese took second place honors at the recent Air Force Worldwide Photography Contest as Air Training Command shuttles walked off with top honors for the competition.

Sergeant Talacek's monochrome print, "Lazy Sunday Afternoon," was good enough for the second place ribbon in the scenic category. Other ATC cameramen earned awards that resulted in the selection of ATC as tops in the Air Force in the scenic and close-up categories of the competition that was held Oct. 19 at Richards-Gebaur AFB, Mo.

When all photos had been judged, SSgt. Lanny R. Grubbs of Craig AFB, Ala., and SSgt. David L. Embey of Laughlin AFB, Tex., had won first place honors.

Sergeant Grubbs' "Alone Again" entry was best in the

Your "plus" is their varied experience and ability to do all types of hair and styling.

Services offered at the facility vary from the simplest to the most complex, and include stripping, bleaching and cold wave processing, generally considered to be the more difficult methods to work with.

The policy of the new management is to provide the best beauticians obtainable, and the very best and speediest service, consistent with good results.

scenic category and Sergeant Embay's "Sunflower" was tops for close-ups. Sergeant Grubbs was also awarded an honorable mention in the experimental category for color transparencies.

Along with Sergeant Talacek was another second place award. It went to 2nd Lt. Donald R. Fraser of Sheppard AFB, Tex., for his "Devil's Sinkhole," an experimental category entrant.

Three other honorable mentions were awarded to Capt. Mark D. Hopping, Vance AFB, Okla., picture story, color print group; MSgt. Richard J. Steigerwald of Sheppard AFB, close-up, color transparency group and Capt. Andrew H.P. Swift of Vance in the picture story, color transparency group.

There were more than 500 entries in four groups of competition: monochrome prints, color transparencies and cinematography.

Good weather, big crowd make show 'huge' success

By Capt. Bugs Forsythe

The nice weather, a large crowd and the superb flying of the Thunderbirds all combined to make Sunday's open house a huge success.

I hope you all enjoyed yourselves at the festivities. If you only came to see the flying, you may have missed the fabulous Moon Rock. To the uneducated, it probably looked like just another rock, but those of us in the know could really appreciate this piece of granite . . . or gravel . . . or whatever it was.

A couple of new IPs have joined the ranks with 1st Lt. Jim Twaddell in "A" Flight and 2nd Lt. Ed Heit in "Dawg" Flight. Jim was a former Bronco Buster (OV-10) in SEA and Ed is a returnee from UPT at Reese.

New restrictions and limitations have again been placed on our pilots to insure us good health and a long life. The BX has a rush order in on our new wings, which have a small printed message on the backsides. It reads:

This pilot limited to 300-foot ceiling, one-mile visibility; 1,200-foot, two-mile visibility unless the supervisor of flying okays, a 1,000 mile radius and local flying unless there's a written note from his mommy.

It's hard for some people to realize how policies are determined and see the need for them. Remember, there are many things you'll never see—three good examples are the real Air Force, the regular crew chief and the big picture.

Congratulations to Class 74-03 on their graduation. May you all have a glorious flying career with blue skies for cruising, calm winds for landing and per diem on all your cross-countries. Here's hoping you look back upon your days at Reese Air Patch with a warm spot in your heart. Remember, all days weren't highlighted by EP Quizzes and exciting "I" rides.

A few Halloween pranks were seen Wednesday during this great American holiday. Maj. B.C. Clark said Cecil was visited by the Great Pumpkin himself and deposited in a neighbor's yard.

... just a few miles from Panadero Ski Area (now under construction)

This new recreational subdivision could well have been brought about especially for the military person.

From Peterson Field, Fort Carson, the Air Force Academy, ENT Air Force Base, NORAD and Colorado Springs, RIO CUCHARAS is less than 100 miles along a modern four lane freeway.

Bejeweled by more than three kinds of evergreen trees, 13,000 acre RIO CUCHARAS has:

- * a beautiful new country club with tennis courts, swimming pool, restaurant and sauna baths. (under construction)
- * horseback riding from RIO CUCHARAS stables and rodeo arena
- * complete camping facilities

RIO CUCHARAS is four miles from Walsenburg, Colorado.

- * pronounced "quu-cha-ras"

RIO CUCHARAS is adjoined by Lathrop State Park, one of Colorado's favorite, having great fishing, boating, water skiing, full overnight camping facilities, 9 hole golf course and its own buffalo herd.

RIO CUCHARAS is also located fifteen miles from national forest property and one of Colorado's number one elk hunting areas. Here can be found fishing, hunting for deer, elk, bear, turkey, and small game. There are many trails to be explored by foot or four wheel drive. Secluded areas just as the Indians and Spanish conquistadors found.

RIO CUCHARAS is nestled at the foot of the Spanish Peaks and the Sangre de Cristo mountains. In the same area the Panadero ski resort is now under construction.

RIO CUCHARAS is the place where everyone wants to retire to. Something to use now as well as in years to come.

RIO CUCHARAS is brought to you by Golden Cycle Land Corporation, a subsidiary of Golden Cycle Corporation which has been active in Colorado since the famous Cripple Creek gold boom where Golden Cycle gained its fame. Golden Cycle Land Corporation operates under the same honest philosophy that has guided Golden Cycle Corporation for almost a century.

Protestant Men change name of group, broaden purpose

By A1C Buddy Lerch

Taking a cue from the major oil companies who have recently changed their names, but not their intent, the Reese Protestant Men of the Chapel, at their monthly luncheon meeting, voted to change the name of the organization to the Christian Men's Fellowship (CMF).

According to Capt. Bill Lamar, spokesman for the organization, "The name was changed so that the organization would appeal to a larger cross-section of Reese men."

"In addition to the organization's name being changed, the objectives were expanded from strengthening the chapel program to strengthening the Kingdom of God at Reese AFB," the captain added.

While the CMF is chapel-sponsored, the monthly luncheon meetings are open to all Reese personnel. Captain Lamar stated that women are welcome to attend but stressed the fact that the base chapel program also includes the PWOC, or Protestant Women of the Chapel.

"The CMF monthly luncheons are held on the third Wednesday of each month, and are designated as Christian outreaches at Reese," according to the captain.

Membership in the chapel organizations is open to anyone, and the luncheons are provided through the base chapel fund. Captain Lamar stated that fliers will be distributed each month to remind interested persons of the meetings.

OWC to sponsor art auction

The Reese Officers Wives Club, in cooperation with the Robert Sills Gallery of Chicago and Los Angeles, will sponsor a Benefit Art Auction Nov. 10 at the Reese Officers Open Mess.

The gallery will present approximately 125 pieces, ranging in value from $20 to $100, with a few pieces slightly higher. The collection will include paintings, lithographs, etchings, coppered enamel and nut-and-bolt sculpture.

According to Mrs. John W. Brumfield, an OWC spokeswoman, "The gallery stands behind the authenticity of all pieces." Mrs. Brumfield also stated "Robert Sills himself has graciously donated a work of art, valued between $100 to $150, to be offered by the OWC."

All proceeds will go into the club's Welfare Fund.

The social and viewing hour will begin at 7 p.m., with free hors d'oeuvres served, compliments of the Officers Mess.

Purchases may be paid in cash, by check or charged on BankAmericard or Mastercharge directly through the gallery. The auction will be open to the public, and all military and civilian personnel are welcome to attend, according to the OWC, as they have been at past fund-raising events.

Last spring the OWC donated a total of $1,880 to local groups. In addition, the club has supported a foster child, given on-base donations and contributed to the National POW/MIA Scholarship Fund.

According to Mrs. Brumfield, "We hope to do as much this year, but we need the support of the community in return."

NCO Wives give plans

Rehearsals for the upcoming NCO Wives Club Variety Show will begin at 2 p.m. at the NCO Open Mess.

A reminder has been issued by the club for "all involved to get their acts together," as the Variety Show is set for Nov. 24 at the Officers Open Mess.

The NCOWC Executive Board will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the NCO Open Mess. Mrs. Joe Perez will serve as hostess for the meeting.

Scout den needs leader

A volunteer Cub Scout den leader is needed for the Lubbock State School for Boys.

The subject was recently presented to the Reese Domestic Actions Council by Mrs. M. Schultz. The idea was approved and supported by the council.

Anyone interested in the job should contact Mrs. Schultz at 885-2114.

Pack 548 awards laurels to members

The Cub Scout Pack 548 monthly meeting Oct. 25 was highlighted by the presentation of 30 awards, as well as a miniature carnival.

Den 2 performed the opening ceremony, setting the stage for the presentation of awards. The Webelos Den performed the skit at the meeting.

A small-scale carnival featured games prepared by each of the pack's dens.

Receiving their Bobcat Awards during the ceremony were David Hart, Frederick Farley, Ricky Piper, Steve Ingle and Ronald Ingle. Gary Piper was awarded his Bear. Donald Mitchell received a Gold Arrow while both he and Troy Johnson received Silver Arrows.

Webelos Colors were awarded to Donald Mitchell, Frederick Farley and Gary Piper. Corky Spickenreuther was given his one-year pin, Donald Mitchell and William Carson were presented their two-year pins, and Jimmy Spence and Donald Wetter garnered their three-year pins.

The largest award category came with the presentation of Webelos Craftsman honors. Receiving this award were Jimmy Spence, Karl Williams, William Carson, Dale Maness, Gregory Justin, Joel Richey, Kenny Balanger, Carl Nelson, Donald Wetter and Tim Johnson.

Jimmy Spence and William Carson were awarded the Arrow of Light. Jimmy Spence also graduated to the Boy Scouts during the ceremony.

The closing ceremony was performed by Den 4.

The pack was busy Sunday at the 1973 Reese Open House. The pack sold soft drinks, cookbooks, tool kits and popcorn. According to Cubmaster SSgt. Marty Johnson, lots of scouts had very tired feet Sunday night from going around with their popcorn baskets and enjoying the selling. Indications from Johnson were that everyone enjoyed the afternoon.

The next pack meeting has been announced for 6:45 p.m., Nov. 29 at the Picnic House. All scouts are urged to "bundle up," as a marshmallow roast will be featured after the meeting.
