Procurement Division earns recognition as 'best in ATC'

The Air Training Command (ATC) 1973 Outstanding Wing Procurement Office Award was recently presented to the Reese division, along with two other honors.

The award of ATC Outstanding Procurement Officer was presented to 1st Lt. Bonnette L. Sholley and to 2nd Lt. Julian L. Camp. The awards for the best office was presented to Lieutenant Sholley by Col. Jack W. Waters, ATC deputy commander for Logistics. All three awards were presented for service during fiscal year 1973.

Annual Honor

The ATC procurement award is presented annually to recognize the most outstanding organization and to foster improvement management throughout the department. Points covered to be in the running for the honor include proficiency in mission accomplishment, management of resources, overall management improvements, extraordinary accomplishments in relation to assigned functions, adherence to regulations and directives and evaluations and findings by inspectors as well as any other factors announced by ATC or Air Force.

Reese was selected as the best office on the wing level and Keesler AFB, Miss., was chosen by ATC as the Outstanding Training Center Procurement Office. Reese was then selected over Keesler to represent ATC in the Air Force Procurement Award competition. A winner will be announced Nov. 30.

Commendable Item

Cited as an ATC Inspector General team "commendable item" in the 1972 visit, the procurement office completed the award requirement of performing an extraordinary accomplishment.

The food service contract ended in November, 1972. Timely action by William W. Weeks, deputy Procurement officer, in conjunction with the Civilian Personnel office resulted in a unique action. The civilian workers in the wing dining hall were rehired as Civil Service employees in order to avoid a complete shut-down of the wing dining hall. This and other findings resulted in an overall "excellent" rating from the ATC IG.

Their Trophy

Upon receiving the 2½-foot tall trophy, Lieutenant Sholley commented, "It is extremely gratifying for me to accept this trophy on behalf of the 22 people assigned to this office. It's their trophy and I'm particularly proud of them."

Reese CFC tops all UPT bases

Reese surpassed all other Undergraduate Pilot Training (UPT) bases in Air Training Command (ATC) for the second straight year in total collections for the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC).

The receipts of $70,011.86 exceeded collections from other UPT bases by margins ranging from $15,000 to $49,000.

Final Report

The drive officially ended Oct. 26, when a final report was made to the Lubbock and Reese representatives of this year's campaign. The Reese collections represent a figure of 140 per cent of the goal established at the outset of the drive. Collections from the federal agencies in Lubbock totaled $18,720.92.

The official goal for all federal agencies in Lubbock (including Reese) was set at $67,000 at the beginning of the drive. When the final count came in, the total read $88,732, almost $22,000 over the top!

Participation High

An overall figure of 83 per cent participation from the base was logged. Of that total, 65 per cent gave through the payroll deduction plan.

Of the final tally of $88,732, the Lubbock United Fund will receive 78 per cent, or nearly $70,000 for its needs

The number of personnel assigned to each UPT base was compared to the total collected from each base. Reese's total was collected from an assigned strength of 3,000. Williams

AFB, Ariz., has approximately 3,500 assigned and collected $55,000.

Other bases' totals were reflected as follows: Columbus AFB, Miss. with 3,500 personnel collected $26,244; Webb AFB, Tex., has 2,600 people assigned and their total was $36,200; Moody AFB, Ga., collected a total of $42,200 from their assigned strength of 3,000 and Laughlin AFB, Tex., from 2,600 personnel assigned, collected $34,510. The remaining two UPT bases showed figures for Vance AFB, Okla., of $26,500 from 2,400 people assigned and $21,300 from 2,500 people at Craig AFB, Ala.

"... I more concerned about how we do when we aren't being inspected"

By Col. Walter H. Baxter III Wing Commander

When we know we are going to have a visit by a higher headquarters inspection team, we get all our stuff together and put our best foot forward. This is as it should be, for we want to do our best on evaluations. I think we do very well on announced inspections, but I am more concerned about how we do when we aren't being inspected.

I am interested in how we do on a day-to-day basis—if that won't stand the IG's test, it simply isn't good enough for Reese.

Are you doing your job well enough? Do you know of an area you hope the IG won't inspect? If the IG were heregtoday, would be proud or sad?

Give it some immediate thought.

Uniforms: Do they really count?

By SSgt. John Bunker

Uniforms attract attention! Or do they?

Some people who put on a uniform become self-conscious. Or do they?

While kitchen manager in a nationally-known chain restaurant, I decided to return to the military. Following that decision, I was confronted by various employees as to why I would return to a uniformed service where everyone looked alike.

The question appeared rather odd to me as I looked at the waitresses in cute little hats and red dresses, and the cooks in their black trousers and red shirts-all having the chain name on their collars, shirt cuffs, dress cuffs. Oddly enough, they also had their last names over their right front pockets on the dresses and shirts-the same as the military.

They say you should never answer a question with a question, but in this case I couldn't refuse.

"Don't you mind wearing the same dresses, hats, shirts and trousers that 30,000 other employees of this chain are wearing all over this country?' I asked. "It never crossed my mind,"

Side effects of medicine could drive you up the proverbial, literal wall

By Wing Safety Office

Whether you take a medication by doctor's orders or prescription, or on your own, you should check with him on possible side effects if you intend to do any driving.

Hay fever medications and many cold remedies, while doing their intended job, produce side effects which are dangerous to persons who must operate machinery. The medications may make you sleepy, blurry-eyed

Tranquilizers, while relaxing the nervous system and relieving tension, may also make you foggy, less alert and less able to do a good job of driv-

Amphetamines, commonly called pep pills, speed or uppers, are the driver's often-used answer to driving while sleepy. They act like that cup of coffee taken in the break from driving, except that they are usually taken on the run. While they generally work fine for a while, they vary in duration of effectiveness, and exhaustion may be the price paid for the temporary

Generous giving proves people at Reese care

By Maj. H.M. Hailey, Jr. Chairman, CFC Joint Working Group

The outstanding Combined Federal Campaign results produced by the people of Reese prove they care-and cared enough for their fellow man to personally and individually put this year's Combined Federal Campaign (CFC), "over the top."

The spirit of wanting to help prevailed throughout the entire base with few exceptions. With dedicated leadership providing a sense of direction toward community, civic and moral obligations, more people contributed more money than ever before at Reese.

This outpouring reflects not only a genuine care for others, but a true understanding of what vital elements of today's society the many agencies of the CFC and the United Fund really are.

Reese has again proven to be the pacesetter among the ATC Flying Training bases—this time in the CFC.

My curiosity aroused, I reviewed the restaurant's operating instructions. Funny thing. Those instructions outlined the wear of uniforms and apstandards. They specified hair length, shoe color, proper wear of hat, etc. Sound military?

Many military personnel have decided to get out because they consider the stress put on bearing and appearance is "Mickey Mouse."

If you think bearing and appearance are peculiar to the military, look again. Civilian life is not so different, unless you're eliminating jobs that require a uniform: policemen, cooks, medical personnel, bread and soft drink salesmen, bus drivers and many others.

Before making your decision to shelve your military uniform and return to civilian life, take another long

If you can't measure up in the military, you may not make a good civilian

Approximately five million persons of Mexican ancestry reside in the United States. Most live in the states of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Colorado, but a large number have made homes in the greater Chicago area and in other industrial centers. In many sections of the Southwest, particularly along the border from San Diego, Calif., to Brownsville, Tex., Mexican-Americans are the majority population, and their language and culture serve to provide the entire region with much of its charm and distinctiveness.

Modern - day Mexican - Americans play vital roles in the industrial, agricultural, artistic, intellectual and political life of the Southwest, but the significance of this group cannot be measured solely in terms of presentday accomplishments. It is certain that the Southwest as we know it would not exist without the Mexican-Spanish heritage. That which sets New Mexico off from Oklahoma and California off from Oregon is in large measure the result of the activities of the ancestors of our fellow citizens of Mexican descent. Our way of life has been and is being immeasurably enriched by their presence north of the present-day international boundary.

Commander's CARE Line

Editor's Note: The Roundup will continue to publish Commander's CARE Line inquiries as long as they are of base-wide interest. All inquiries will be reviewed by the Wing Commander. Reese personnel are encouraged to first use their chain of command or to contact the office of primary responsibility if at all possible to air comments or complaints. If these methods do not work, dial C-A-R-E.

I would like to put in a complaint for the General Telephone Company. I am trying to call base operator and all I get is a dial tone. I finally got the operator and I still could not get a base line. Now what I want to know is why the General Telephone system has so much trouble in getting through to a number.

Sorry I can't help you. I need more information, such as time, place, phone number, etc.

I would like to complain about the speeding in Reese Village. especially past my house. Local residents are guilty of it, as well as the large moving company trucks and delivery-type trucks. This is extremely hazardous to the children in the area. I don't think it will be very long before some child is struck and hurt. I think this should be brought to your attention and should result in better safety in Reese housing.

Capt. McGuire 54th FTS

Capt McGuire:

I concur with your analysis. Several measures have been implemented to reduce speeding incidents in Reese Village. Patrol coverage has been increased and radar is used on a random basis. Patrol coverage is not as persistent as we would like because of personnel limitations. We request the support of the Village residentsreport speeders, civilian and military, to the Security Police, ext. 2400. Portable speed bumps will also soon be used to discourage speeders.

hours, plus 15 more semester hours from a Community College of the Air Force transcript, which includes tech school training. The age limit for nonrated officers has been raised to 35 by the time of commissioning.

The Air University, through the Air Force Institute of Technology, has been given the responsibility for the new program.

The Air Force Officers Qualifying Test (AFOQT) is now required only for those applying for pilot or navigator positions.

Reese airmen who are interested in these or any other educational programs are invited to contact the Education Office, located in bldg. 62, or call ext. 2634 or 2469.

OUSE OF PETS Lubbock police nab 8 airmen in recent narcotics raids locally

Seven young Reese airmen were arrested for possession of marijuana and heroin, Nov. 2, in a Lubbock apartment complex.

The carefully-planned raid by Lubbock police and Department of Public Safety officials netted an estimated $30,000 in narcotics. Three handguns were also confiscated. Five civilians were also arrested in another location

With one exception, the airmen are in the custody of civilian authorities. Charges against one of the airmen were not filed and he was released Monday.

According to the "Lubbock Avalanche-Journal," "The raids climaxed a three-month investigation with information received from local informants . . ."

AF recognizes Willis with Outstanding Airman Ribbon

TSgt. Valton J. Willis, presently of the Wing On-the-Job Training (OJT) Unit, has been presented with the Outstanding Airman Ribbon.

The award is presented by Headquarters U.S. Air Force to personnel nominated by major commands for "unique, unusual or outstanding accomplishment within the year."

Sergeant Willis earned the honor while assigned to the Security Police Division of 64th Air Base Group (ABGp) here at Reese, serving as Superintendent of the division. In this capacity he assumed the responsibility of two positions, both of which were authorized personnel of higher grade. He also served as Chief of Security Police when the actual Chief was absent from duty.

Augmentee Program

During 1972 the SP Division lost many men because of reassignement and separation. In order to maintain a high state of morale within his unit and an effective work force, Sergeant Willis initiated an augmentee program. He personally assisted in the training of the augmentees, while continuing the training program of newly-assigned SPs. Sergeant Willis' interest in training resulted in many of his men completing their OJT training in record times with record scores at Reese.

Sergeant Willis also insured that all men assigned to the division were well informed of their Air Force career opportunities as SP Enlisted Career Counselor. His counseling directly resulted in the retention of two first term airman out of three eligible for reenlistment, as well as resulting in influencing one other to apply for the Airman Education and Commissioning Program.

Off-Duty Example

Sergeant Willis supports the Boy Scouts of America in his as well as instructing local high school students in practical driving techniques.

* The Outstanding Airman Ribbon may be awarded to all enlisted members of the Regular Air Force, the Air National Guard and the Air Force Reserve. However, according to Headquarters USAF, "the standards for this award are so high that for the year 1972 only 76 men performed with an adequate degree of distinction to merit selection."

The message from Air Force continued to say, "The 64th Flying Training Wing is very fortunate to have a man of the caliber to warrant this signal honor."

AIRMAN RIBBON—TSgt. Valton J. Willis, presently assigned to the Wing OJT Unit here is shown preparing to enter his Security Police patrol car not too long ago when he served as SP Superintendent. November brings first hint of winter to area

By Capt. Bill Parker
November is the first of e chilly-willy months. It is the chilly-willy months. It is time to break out the warm clothing and anti-freeze for cold, foggy mornings. The first snowfall is just around the corner.

This year, unlike the last, freezing temperatures have been delayed by unusually warm weather. I assure you this will not last much longer. Be especially careful during the coming weeks. Foggy mornings, frosty windshields and freezing rain will create a driving hazard.

Remember, November is only the beginning of a long winter ahead, so bundle up and drive carefully. See you next month for a look at December's weather.

STATE FARM MUTUAL AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE COMPANY Home Office:

Dishonest acts prove costly

DALLAS (AFNS)—The Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) here said that military morale programs and the price of exchange merchandise are being adversely affected by a variety of dollar-draining dishonest acts.

Maj. Gen. C.W. Hospelhorn, AAFES commander, said he is greatly concerned with "the staggering loss of revenue due to shoplifting, rubber checks and many more crimes committed against the soldier, airman_ and their families."

War Declared

According to the general, AAFES has declared war against a small but active group of culprits who steal from their buddies each time they commit a dishonest act against the exchange service.

He pointed out that each year monies earmarked for a central morale fund are lost through those acts. "I'm talking about millions of dollars which never buy dayroom furniture, pay for unit sports programs, chapels, libraries, hobby shops and many more recreation programs."

Another factor to be considered, according to General Hospelhorn, is the large sum of money spent on equipment and personnel needed to combat losses. "Someone has to pay for it and AAFES, like all other retailers, has to figure those expenses into the price of merchandise."

Feel Pinch

Bad check writers are one group now feeling the squeeze through an intensified AAFES effort, the general said. "Last year AAFES had to write off over $1 million due to bad checks. But we have acted to curb that problem."

He explained the exchange is now selectively using computers to quickly verify checks. The introduction of a finger impression device at many exchanges has also made it more difficult to cash a bad check.

Of the many ways the AAFES patron is victimized, perhaps the most widely known is shop-lifting. Commanders' columns and circulars warn of the dangers of being caught and quote local statistics that reveal just how bad the problem may be from installation to installation.

Winds

Caught In Act

Last year some 6,000 AAFES customers were caught in the act of shoplifting, with a total of nearly $50,000 in recovered merchandise. Those statistics may seem comparatively small, but they are just the tip of an iceberg. Police and retailers agree that only one shoplifter in 10 is apprehended.

"That means last year alone the Exchange Service was taken for roughly $500,000. It also suggests there were 65,000 acts of shoplifting in AAFES outlets" General Hospelhorn said.

This year, about 3,500 shoplifters already have been caught. If the "one-in-ten" principle is applied, thieves are in for another big year—and AAFES in store for greater loss.

MATHIS FEATURE-Kenny Brent, shown here at a recent performance at the Mathis Recreation Center, will return with his group to the center tonight for another performance. Featured in "The Kenny Brent Show" also is pretty Donna Harris, bass player and singer. The group is popular throughout West Texas as club musicians and recording artists. At the country music dance the Boondock Rodeo Club will sponsor a membership drive, while Mathis will provide the free beer for everyone 18 and older. The military and public are invited, and admission is also free. (Courtesy Photo)

First-term rate exceeds ATC reenlistment

First term airman reenlistment rates for October at Reese tallied over the Air Training Command goal of 21 per cent, with three of 13 reenlisting, for a 23.1 percentage in that cate-

The 64th Air Base Group first termers hit 100 per cent during the month, with two of two eligible signing up for another term. The only eligible airman in 64th Supply Squadron also reenlisted for an identical percentage in that unit.

Second term airman maintained a 75 per cent figure during October, with three of four eligible signing on the dotted line. In this category USAF Hospital and 64th Organizational Maintenance both held 100 percentages.

Career airmen once again tallied 100 per cent, with three of three eligible reenlisting in October. The 64th Field Maintenance Squadron and 64th OMS contributed to the perfect figure.

Total base figures for all eligible airmen at Reese stood at 45 per cent. 64th ABGp and 64th Supply Squadron both scored 100 per cent in the total airmen category.

Cumulative rates for fiscal year '974 thus far show that 20 per cent of eligible first termers reenlisted, 66.7 per cent of the second termers signed, and career airmen saw a 94.7 percentage. The overall total airmen at Reese held a 44.1 per cent tally so far in FY 74.

program offers Palace flying to enlisted

RANDOLPH AFB, (AFNS)-The Palace Fly program, one of the few opportunities for airmen with nonflying Air Force specialty codes to become aircrew members, has openings for additional volunteers.

Full aircrew status and benefits await those who retrain as B-62 defensive fire control operators (AFSC A327X0) or KC-135 boom operators (AFSC 425X0).

Volunteers must be in the grades of sergeant through technical sergeant, not selected for promotion to master sergeant and meet the prerequisites of the training courses. Applicants must meet the retraining requirements of paragraphs 3-7a(1) and 3-7a(2), AFM 39-4.

Stateside airmen may apply at any time, but those serving overseas must apply between the eighth and 12th month before their expected return date. Applicants may list six stateside Strategic Air Command (SAC) bases of choice on their applica-

Those applying for B-52 training must be in their second or later enlistment, while KC-135 training is limited to career airmen with less than twelve years total service and first termers selected for reenlistment who must reenlist before entering the program.

Full details of the program and assistance in making application are available at consolidated base personnel office customer service centers.

SEA policy change thaws freeze

(AFNS)-A major change to the Air Force Southeast Asia assignment policy has thawed the freeze imposed by the enlisted SEA critical and involuntary second SEA tour skills lists and the officer SEA selection policy.

The three have been the primary Air Force tools in insure all similarly qualified people equally shared the SEA combat risk, insuring that no one was involuntarily returned to SEA for a second tour until everyone else in the same grade and specialty had served a SEA tour. The action being taken opens many assignment opportunities to U.S. Air Force members. More important, Air Force Military Personnel Center officials say, it removes the distinction between assignments to Thailand and other short tour (under 18 months) overseas areas.

Both officers and airmen will be affected by the change but, according to MPC representatives, the greatest impact will be on the enlisted force.

The policy has been that airmen with specialty codes on the freeze list would not receive another assignment until completing an initial or second SEA tour, as applicable. The Air Force has been reserving SEA frozen people for assignement to SEA (Thailand and formerly Vietnam) although their oversea tour history might have made them eligible for other short tour assignments. As a result, some less eligible people who had already served a SEA tour had to fill these other short tour requirements. Now, all short tour selections—Thailand included—will be filled based on the individual's number of previous short tours and short tour return date (STRD).

Assignment officials point out that the policy change won't necessarily preclude the return to Thailand of individuals who may have served there on previous tours. That will depend on their short tour vulnerability, compared with other members of their grade and specialty.

The policy revision will affect only selections made after Nov. 1. Assignment selections prior to that date will go unchang-

Units' counselors aid career officers

Do you want to be the Air Attache in Tahiti? Would you rather be the Air Force recruiter in Walla Walla, Washington?

Whatever your career preference, officers can make them known by providing career managers with short and long term career goals on the Air Force Form 90, Officer Career Preference Statement.

This fact was stressed by Lt. Col. Don Rigg and Capt. Jerry Hokanen of the Career Development Division, Air Force Military Personnel Center (AFMPC) in their recent visit

Best Communication

The following are excerpts from an informal discussion between Colonel Rigg, Captain Hokanen, and several of the Reese Unit Career Development Moni-

"The Form 90 is the individual's best form of communication with the man who is making your next assignment. The first step in the assignment process joins your Form 90 with your selection folder. At that time, past and current performance is matched with your personal career preference statement.

"These two documents are then passed through the various career development monitors for appropriate comments. Fighters, bombers, airlift, rated supplement, all have a look at you and the 'you' they see is reflected in the all-important Form 90.

Current Choice

"What does your current statement reflect right now? Does it accurately portray your goals based upon your current status? If your first choice of assignment is not available, does the career development monitor have a second option? A third? A fourth? A fifth?

Does the remarks section of your Form 90 say as briefly and concisely as possible what you would like to say to the assignment board when they are making your assignment?

"One suggestion which may prove helpful is to develop an imaginary phone conversation with the Military Personnel Center and, after making it as concise and accurate as possible, place it in the remarks section of the Form 90. After this is done, translate it into the blocks of the Form 90."

Goal Too Low

When asked what was the most common error made in completing a Form 90, Colonel Rigg noted that many officers set their goals too low. He went on to say, "Remember, for a fast burner, a lot can happen in 12 years. You may be Director of Operations for Tactical Air Command, in a Major General slot. Take stock of where you are now, set your ultimate god in your career, and the walk the cat backward and see where you must be in 12, 9, 6, then 3 years from now. Properly accomplished, the AF Form 90 can have a profound effect upon your Air Force

He summed up the goal of all career developers as being "to make sure all officers have told it the way they'd like it to be."

Liberal leave, outs seen

WASHINGTON (AFNS)—The Armed Forces will observe liberal leave policies and permit early separation of members for 1973-74 Christmas-New Year's holiday season, according to a Defense Department announce-

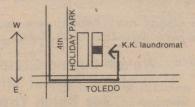

Air Force officers and enlisted people whose normal separation dates occur between Dec. 6 and Jan. 6 may be separated anytime beginning Dec. 6, if requested. This policy does not apply to service academy graduates of Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps Financial Assistance Grant graduates who have not completed initial service obligations.

The announcement said that all Air Force local commanders have been authorized and urged to exercise liberal leave policies consistent with operational requirements during the holiday season.

Raquel Welch stars in the "The Last of Sheila" to usher in this week's schedule of features at Simler Theater.

Beginning Sunday, showtime will switch to the theater's winter operating schedule. The box office will open at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, with the scheduled feature beginning at 7 p.m. The Saturday matinee begins at 2 p.m., with the box office opening at 1:30 p.m. for that performance. The theater is closed

In addition to the new schedule, a new program will go into effect this week. A second showing will be featured on Friday nights when the film attraction warrants the additional billing. The second showing will begin at approximately 9

Tonight

Raquel Welch, James Coburn and Dyan Cannon are featured in "The Last of Sheila," the story of a powerful Hollywood producer who avenges his wife's hit-and-run death in a most bizarre manner. A grotesque murder game unfolds as he singles out his wife's killer during a party on his huge yacht. The show is rated PG, parental guidance suggested.

Matinee Tomorrow

Bruce Dern, Cliff Potts and Ron Rifkin star in "Silent Running," the exciting story of a 21st Century space freighter and its crew. They have as their mission to preserve the only botanical specimen left from Earth . . . the rest has died due to pollution. The G-rated flick details man's last desperate attempt to save the Earth's natural beauty in space.

Tomorrow Evening

Rod Taylor, Anne Heywood and Jean Sorel star in the classic film "Trader Horn." Set in British West Africa during World War I, the film tells of a trader who wants no part of it, and so deals with both sides, eventually becoming a fugitive. Escaping to the jungle, he takes up with a safari looking for a platinum mine. The feature is rated PG.

> Sunday "Lady Kung-Fu" is the newest martial arts queen who uses her body to attract and destroy lovers. The actionpacked film is rated R, patrons under 17 require accompanying parent or adult guardian. Angela Mao stars in the title role.

Tuesday and Wednesday

The second film of a series, "Class of '44" tells of the continuing adventures of Hermie, Oscy and Benjie after they graduate from high school and go their separate ways. The salute to the bygone days stars Gary Grimes and Jerry Houser, and is rated PG.

Thursday

"American Graffiti" is the film that asks the question "Where were you in '62?" Four buddies cope with ex-girlfriends, pickups, baby sisters, the police, drag racers and their own futures in a rockin' and rollin' rolickin' good times flick. Over 40 hits of the early sixties grace the soundtrack from start to finish, beginning with Bill Haley and the Comets singing "Rock Around the Clock." The film is rated PG.

Tech readies for bout with TCU

By Bill Tynan

Lubbock's favorite football team, the Texas Tech Red Raiders, improved their season record to 7-1 with a solid 19-6 victory over Rice Saturday in Jones Stadium.

This week, the Raiders will travel to Fort Worth to play a 2 p.m. game against Texas, Christian University, a school it has lost to the last two years and has not beaten in Fort Worth since 1964.

With their outstanding record, and number 12 and 14 national rankings, respectively, in the AP and UPI top 20 pools, it seems almost certainty that Tech will receive an invitation to a post-season bowl game.

With that in mind, I asked Coach Jim Carlen what bowl game he would prefer to play in. "Right now, the only bowl game I'm interested in is this Saturday's TCU bosl in Fort Worth," he replied. He continued, "TCU has beaten us two of my three years here. Last year they humiliated us at our own homecoming—as you well know—and they beat us there the year before.

"This year its their homecoming, they have no injuries and are in their best physical shape of the season. Their offensive line—which overwhelmed up us last year—is even better this year. The rest of their team is at least as good as last year's, plus their kicking game is the best in the Southwest Conference. But to get back to the original question, I feel that we have a good chance of winning this game if we play well.

74-07 II ties for top grid spot

The fifth week of student football play saw only three games scheduled, with Undergraduate Pilot Training Classes 74-07 II and 74-06 I boasting victories to retain their lead of the two leagues.

74-07 II shut out 75-01 II by an 8-0 score, while 74-06 I defeated 74-04 I by the same margin.

In other action, 75-01 II recovered from its defeat earlier at the hands of 74-07 II to take an important game from 74-05 in a 16-0 triumph. The win keeps 75-01 II in as hopefuls for the upcoming playoffs.

The season standings show 74-07 leading with 20 wins and 5 losses so far. 74-06 follows with a 16-8 record. 74-08 holds a 9-5 season history, followed by even-seasoned 75-01 with a 10-10 record. Class 74-05 has won 5 games and lost 11, with 74-04 registering one win in its 14-game season so far.

The Army and Air Force Exchange Service said that military morale programs and the prices of exchange merchandise are being adversely affected by a variety of dollar-draining dishonest acts.

"The band, the cheerleaders and the Saddle Tramps are all going to Fort Worth with us for the weekend and that will help but I hope we get a lot of Lubbock people to come along to support us too. If we win and do well in our final two games, the extra post-season merangue will take care of itself."
