

General Roberts takes over top ATC post

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) - Lt. Gen. John W. Roberts assumed command of Air Training Command (ATC) Aug. 29, replacing Lt. Gen. George H. McKee.

General McKee, ATC commander since August 1974, retired during the formal change of command ceremonies, ending a 35-year military career. He will make Lakeland, Fla., his home.

General Roberts voiced the traditional "I assume command, sir," to General William V. McBride, a former ATC commander and the new Air Force vice chief of staff. Also attending the command change was David P. Taylor, assistant secretary of the Air Force for Manpower and Reserve Affairs.

No Stranger

No stranger to the command or the San Antonio area, General Roberts was an operations officer at ATC headquarters here in 1957 and 1958. As the former deputy chief of staff personnel at U.S. Air Force headquarters, General Roberts was responsible for developing Air Force policy on all personnel matters, including ATC's mission of recruiting and training over 80,000 young men and women each year.

A native of Mankato, Minn., General Roberts began his military career in March 1943 as an aviation cadet. After earning his pilot's wings and commission in 1944, he served at Luke Field, Ariz., as an instructor pilot for two years.

After serving in Korea as a fighter pilot, flight commander and operations officer with the 4th Tactical Fighter Wing, General Roberts was assigned to ATC headquarters, then at Scott AFB, Ill., as a research and development and education and training officer.

After attending the Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell AFB, Ala., in 1957, he commanded the 3529th Combat Crew Training Squadron at Williams AFB, Ariz. He came to ATC headquarters at Randolph in late 1957 as an operations officer in the office of the deputy chief of staff for plans and operations.

Many Staff Jobs

In the years since, General Roberts has served in several command and staff positions in the United States, Hawaii, and at Air Force headquarters in the Pentagon. From 1968 to August 1970 he commanded the F-4 equipped 366th Tactical Fighter Wing at Da Nang AB, Republic of Vietnam, and later served as director of the Tactical Air Control Center at Seventh Air Force, Tan Son Nhut Airfield, Vietnam.

Since August 1970 General Roberts has served at Air Force headquarters, holding positions as deputy director, and later director, of personnel plans; assistant deputy chief of staff for personnel and, finally, deputy chief of staff for personnel.

In the latter position, General Roberts assumed responsibility for the management of Air Force military and civilian personnel, insuring that skilled people were available for worldwide requirements. Besides recruiting, training, and education, General Roberts developed Air Force procedures for assignment, career development, promotion and separation of personnel.

As ATC commander, he will be responsible for all initial Air Force training — military, technical and flying — plus all Air Force recruiting activities. The command has more than 120,000 personnel at its 15 major installations throughout the country.

Education Background

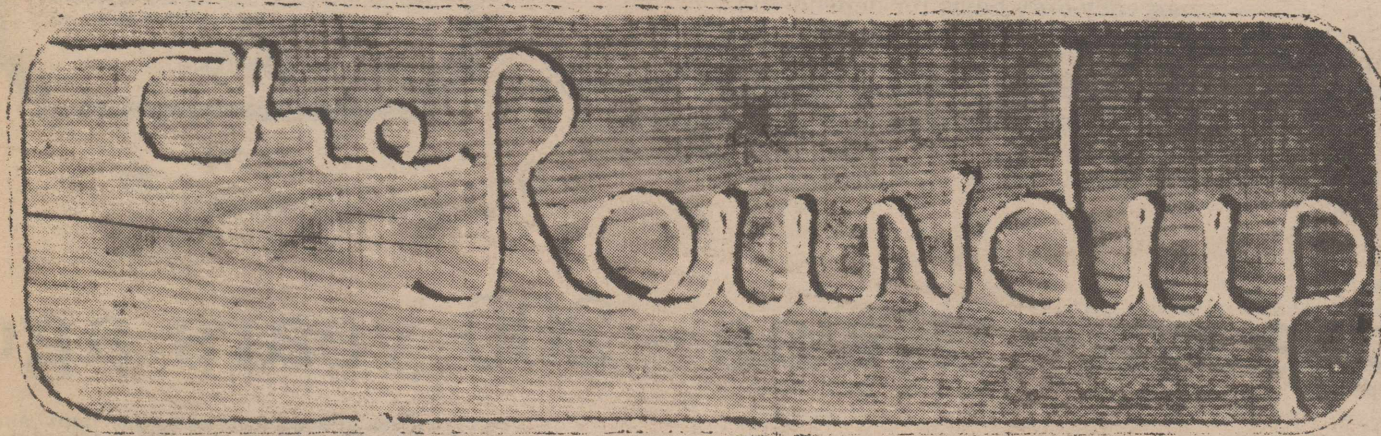

General Roberts earned a bachelor of science degree from Mankato State Teachers' College, Minn., in 1942. He received his master's degree in business administration from George Washington University, Washington D.C., in 1961. He is a 1964 graduate of the National War College in Washington, D.C.

Awards and decorations which General Roberts has earned include: the Distinguished Service Medal, with one Oak Leaf Cluster; the Legion of Merit, with one Oak Leaf Cluster; the Distinguished Flying Cross; the Air Medal, with seven Oak Leaf Clusters; the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award, with V for Valor; Korean Service medal, with two service stars; the Vietnam Service Medal, with three service stars; and several awards from the Korean and South Vietnamese governments.

General Roberts is married to the former Fern Johnson of Mapleton, Minn. They have four daughters: Nancy, Susan, Kathy and Judy.

Fewer ATC people killed, injured in '75

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) - Fewer Air Training Command (ATC) military personnel were killed and injured in the first six months of 1975 than in the same period in 1974, according to the command director of Safety.

Analysis of statistics compiled during the first half of 1975 for the Safety '76 program shows ATC exceeded its goals in four of the five reporting categories. The only area in which there was an increase was in civilian disabling injuries.

The federal Safety '76 Accident Prevention Campaign began in January 1974 and will continue through 1976. Its purpose is to emphasize the top management and supervisory involvement in accident prevention. In addition, the program establishes yearly goals of five per cent reductions in the number of fatalities, military and civilian injuries, and private and Air Force motor vehicle accidents.

Nine persons died in traffic accidents in the first six months of 1975, compared to 15 in the same period in 1974. Three other persons died in sports and recreation accidents, compared to two in 1974. One person died of smoke inhalation in the 1975 reporting period. There were no fatalities in this category in 1974.

There were 271 military disabling injured during the first six months of 1975, which cost 4,158 mandays and more than $1 million. Also, 30 civilians were injured resulting in 353 lost mandays and a cost of $37,055. There were 65 private motor vehicle accidents in ATC in the first half of 1975, a reduction of 38 per cent over 1974. The number of Air Force motor vehicle accidents increased slightly during the reporting period, but the command was still within the established goal.

Leaders urge CFC support

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - In a letter to major command commanders, Secretary of the Air Force John L. McLucas and Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. David C. Jones urged full support of this year's Combined Federal Campaign (CFC). They said:

"The annual opportunity for Air Force personnel to support leading health, welfare, and social service agencies will take place again this fall. This on-the-job solicitation raises funds for the United Way organizations, the National Health Agencies, the International Service Agencies and the American National Red Cross.

"This campaign offers us the opportunity to help people in our communities, in our nation, and overseas. The CFC organizations perform services that are essential to the well-being of the hungry, the sick, the handicapped, and the disadvantaged persons of all ages who need assistance. By participating in this year's appeal, and giving generously, we will be continuing the tradition of responsible citizenship which has always characterized Air Force personnel.

"Emphasis is directed to the prohibition against employee quotas, assessments, or any other form of coercion. Contributions must be on a truly voluntary basis."

The CFC drive at Reese begins Sept. 12.

Company responds to: "Why phone deposits?"

Since there has been much interest shown by Reese people in commercial telephone deposit procedures, the topic was brought up at the July 25 Base Community Council meeting.

At Reese's request, information on deposit policies was provided by Southwestern Bell. The General Telephone Company of the Southwest has not responded yet.

Southwestern Bell's Lubbock Division Manager, Bob Dunbar, wrote, "Southwestern Bell's deposit policy is designed to protect the company and other telephone users from added expense caused by uncollectable bills.

"Appropriate credit information is considered individually on each request for telephone service. A decision as to whether a deposit may be required is based solely on each customer's credit circumstances. Credit factors considered include employment and past telephone payment history, among others.

"Deposit requests usually are limited to those cases where telephone credit has not been established with Southwestern Bell, or if there is a history of poor payment of telephone bills.

"All pertinent information provided by the customer is considered. The company always is willing to make further investigation into telephone credit information upon the customer's request.

"If a deposit is required, it is held (at six per cent simple interest) until a satisfactory payment record is established. At least six to nine consecutive months of satisfactory payment generally are required before the company will consider return of a deposit. Accounts are reviewed approximately twice a year to determine if a customer's payment history will allow return of a deposit," Dunbar concluded.

Utilize your base hospital!

In these days of cost reduction and economical management of resources, your hospital provides the best care available. Often the available appointments are not filled, while many patients are seen "downtown" on CHAMPUS. This not only costs you money but the Government as well. Seventy to eighty per cent of all medical problems can be handled by the staff and facilities. The rest will be referred for the appropriate care.

You will receive the care required. All recipients for medical care, whether active duty, retired or dependants, receive the same quality care.

The various specialties available at USAF Hospital Reese include pediatrics, internal medicine, general surgery, flight medicine, optometry, gynecology and dermatology. Other areas of professional interest include allergy and orthopedics.

The Preventative Dentistry program for children is an outstanding service used by less than 40 per cent of the eligible children. Dental care is of course provided to active duty members and retirees. Dental care is on an emergency-only basis for dependents.

In summary, the qualified personnel of the hospital provide many medical services - utilize them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Unexpected pressures could occur this week. If you're really bothered, take a second to cool off before you get into your car.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good week to be generous; an especially fine time to start a car pool.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may want to fly off the handle this week. Remember to keep your temper away from your gas pedal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't let another driver's mistakes goad you into recklessness. Come to a complete halt at stop signs.

CAPRICORN—(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If your car needs a tune-up, do it now. This is a time for preparation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A quiet time in your life. Stay calm if you have minor driving irritations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) In spite of your usually peaceful nature, you may feel like showing off. Take it easy when turning sharp corners.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You may feel like being overly-forceful in traffic. Be generous instead. If a driver looks harried on a freeway entrance, let him on.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Fortunate planetary aspects this week. Don't spoil it by unsafe backing in parking lots.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A time to watch your temper. If someone else has the right of way, let him take it.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) Be careful in your preparation for driving this week. Be sure to adjust your rear view mirror before starting a trip.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Could be a week for new relationships. Don't let someone else in the car distract you.

And that's the way it was - 200 years ago

By Bob Reed
ATC Office of Information

That Stamp Act was something else. As I remember, my school history books indicated that the sole reason the Americans became so enraged when the British Parliament passed the Act in March 1765 was because it was unconstitutional, because "the rights of Englishmen" dictated "... that no taxes be imposed upon them but with their own consent, given personally," through their own representatives. In short, "no taxation without representation."

That was true. The way in which the tax had been imposed was insufferable. But there was something else that I don't recall the books talking about too much, what today we would call a "gut issue" & dollars and cents, English pounds and shillings back then.

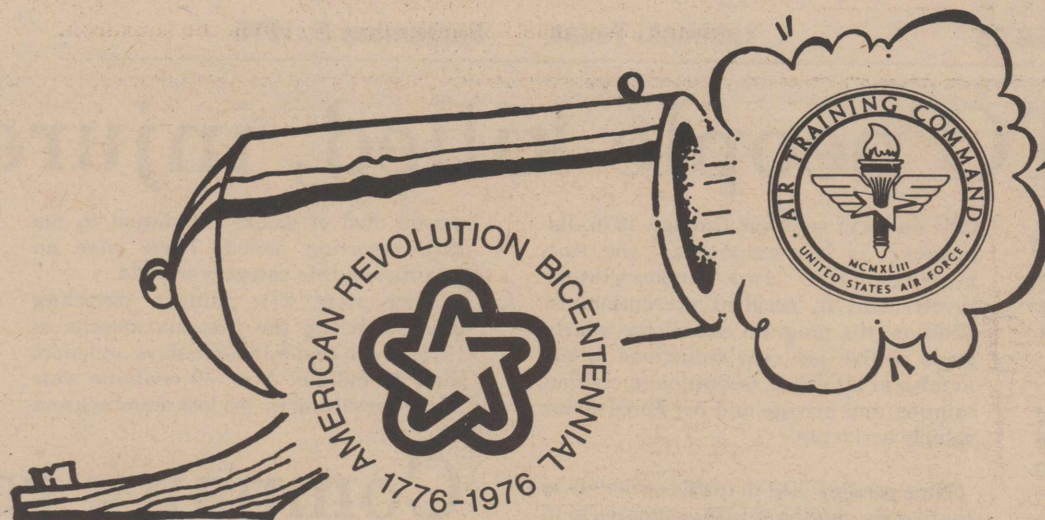

What brought this on is that I recently read the Act itself through for the first time. It was monstrous, could easily have broken the colonists' backs.

While I tick off some of the taxes it levied, bear in mind that in those pre-Revolutionary times 20 pounds was considered a good yearly salary. (I assume that 20 shillings made up a pound, as they do today.)

The tax on newspapers was an extra shilling per page, plus two more for every advertisement in it. A deck of cards called for a shilling tax. And dice shooters were sure dealt a body blow: the tax on a pair of those was 10 shillings.

The Parliament, hoping to raise 60,000 pounds quickly, didn't miss a trick. Charitable donations, college degrees, liquor licenses, mortgages, calendars — the list was endless. Everything was taxed.

No wonder the citizens were mad. As John Adams wrote (marking his entry into active politics). "... Considering the present scarcity of money... the execution of that Act for a short space of time would drain the country of its cash, strip multitudes of their property, and reduce them to absolute beggary..."

ATC PRESS SERVICE BICENTENNIAL EXTRA

So 28 representatives from nine colonies assembled in New York in October 1765 and resolved not to buy any more English goods subject to the tax.

That did it. London merchants quickly petitioned the House of Commons to back off, asserting that the colonists wouldn't be able to pay several million pounds due them. Parliament saw the light and repealed the Act in March (1766).

But the damage had been done. Besides John Adams, other citizens who had been comparatively quiet up till then joined the fight.

Like Patrick Henry. Protesting the Act in Virginia's House of Burgesses, he came up with a line that set the colonies on fire.

"Tarquin and Caesar each had his Brutus," he said; "Charles the First his Cromwell" and George the Third..."

Here he was interrupted by cries of "Treason!! Treason!!"

When they subsided he calmly picked up where he had left off: "... and George the Third may profit by their example."

Then came the stirring phrase that still rings out as loudly and clearly as our Liberty Bell must have sounded when first tolled:

"If this be treason," he shouted, "make the most of it!"

From that moment on, the Stamp Act was dead, and the colonies had found their orator.

Commissary patrons beware

Were you ever stepped on, run over, and bumped into in the Commissary? Here are a few characters you might meet during one of these fun shopping strips.

ROADRUNNER - Races through aisles in wild pursuit of groceries. Storms past in concentrated fury, only to come to an abrupt halt directly in front of you. Tosses items into basket with the flare of a berserk globetrotter. Sometimes tosses items into your basket by mistake.

ACHILLES HEELER - Tries to run shopping cart right up your back. Never says "sorry" until you scream in agony.

HAMBURGLAR - Enters with two carts. Plants them lengthwise in front of meat counter. Glares angrily should you attempt to bend over his barricade. The trick is to intentionally fall into his cart and smash his eggs.

LOST SOUL - Wanders aimlessly through store with shopping list scratched down on laundry ticket. Always walks wrong way down a one-way aisle. Tries to pile everything into his arms. If you can't see him, you'll hear him, dropping cans and apologies with regularity. Usually a new husband or father.

BUGGY BUMPER - While waiting impatiently in line, threatens to crack all your vertebrae with incessant banging against your bruised body.

WHEELER DEALER - Counts change even when returned by the automatic changer. Tries to pack groceries himself. Insists he can handle six bags with the help of wife and baby. Leaves pennies for bag boy.

GRIM WEEPER - After surviving ordeal inside store, returns to 104 degree temperature inside locked car. Loads car with three kids, 11 bags and one dog. Thinking the worst part is over, looks over shoulder to back out. Crunch. The sound of crumpling metal reveals car was still in first gear.

A little bit of courtesy goes a long way. (AFCS)

Dental clinic serves needs of Reese, local community

By Dr. (Lt. Col.) Leonard J. Spencer

The dental clinic at all military installations is provided for your well being and convenience. Reaching its full potential is everyone's right and responsibility.

Here at Reese is one of the finest dental clinics in Air Training Command. We have daily sick calls from 8 to 9 a.m. and 1 to 2 p.m. Annual dental exams are given to every active duty member stationed in the Reese area. These appointments are scheduled through squadron orderly rooms.

During each appointment X-rays are made. Also, a thorough oral examination is given and an appointment for teeth cleaning and required dental treatment is set. The appointments are made as soon as possible. Through your efforts we have a very small percentage of broken appointments.

Contacting the dental clinic in the event of conflict with a set appointment is everyone's responsibility. This allows the clinic to use all available time by filling in cancellations.

Military retirees are authorized complete dental care and are offered this service. As one of the benefits promised to our retired members, it is indeed a luxury to still be able to obtain treatment. In many areas this benefit has been either suspended or is on a space-available basis.

Now we would like to address everyone's questions concerning dental care for dependents. Congress has placed upon us rather stringent restrictions on the type of dental care we can provide. All dependents are eligible for emergency care. We cannot provide routine care. However, many other benefits are available. Requests by orthodontists for extractions of teeth are honored. X-rays are taken and mailed to civilian dentists upon written request by them. Temporary fillings can be placed but they require followup treatment for the permanent filling by a civilian dentist. Some abscessed teeth and fractured teeth of your young children can be treated. Impacted third molars causing pain are scheduled for extractions by our staff on a space available basis.

Our concern in emergency treatment is to get you, the patient, free of pain.

Of primary importance is the Children's Dental Health Program. On the sponsor's birthmonth, children can be given a dental appointment which includes dental

X-rays for all children five years of age. Their teeth are also cleaned, a fluoride treatment is given and a dental exam is rendered for all dependent children 5-21 years of age (the age limit is extended on dependent children in college up to 23 years of age).

A meeting of the dependent children and at least one sponsor is held at 5:30 p.m. the last Thursday of each month at the Reese Elementary School. A movie, "The Toothkeeper," is presented and a lecture by the Preventive Dentistry officer is given. Unfortunately less than 40 per cent of the eligible dependent children take advantage of this program. It is up to you, the sponsor, to take advantage of this program and make appointments.

Commander's CARE Line

(Editor's Note: THE ROUNDUP will publish Commander's CARE Line calls which are of base-wide interest. Names of callers will not be published, but they should leave their name and duty extension in case their problem needs clarification. All calls are reviewed by Wing Commander Col. Edward Mendel. Reese people are urged to use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air complaints or comments, if possible. If not, call the CARE Line by dialing C-A-R-E (Ext. 2273). Please provide your name and duty section when calling.)

Motorcycle Parking

I would like to inquire about the feasibility of transferring one or two of the reserved carpool parking spaces across from the Supply building into parking slots for two-wheeled vehicles. Right now, there is only one space for this purpose and it's impossible to park more than three motorcycles in one space. Any consideration on your part, sir, would be greatly appreciated by quite a few people in the squadron.

Thank you for your inquiry. A new two-wheel vehicle parking area has been built between Buildings 51 and 52. This would allow both Supply and 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron workers to park their motorcycles in a more convenient and better-protected area.

New Heads?

I would like to make an inquiry as to why the heads on the drum sets in the Recreational Hall have not been changed. I have been on this base almost a year and they have been telling me that they were either going to get a new set or change the heads and nothing has been done so far. We have really got to get a group here on base and the equipment is just falling apart. It needs replacing or repairing and nobody has done anything about it. I was wondering if there was a reason for this because they have just got a $50,000 grant. There is no excuse for why the drum sets should be in the condition they are in.

An estimate of repair to the drum set was determined by the Mathis Recreation Center director and by you.

The needed materials were ordered from a downtown music store. It is my understanding that after the parts were received, you volunteered to repair the "beat" drum set. These are the positive steps and attitude that help us get a "fix" on things that affect our base and people. Thank you for your assistance.

Van Bastelaar earns month's top honor in 54th FTS

First Lt. Joost Van Bastelaar has been selected as the 54th Flying Training Squadron (FTS) Instructor Pilot of the Month for August.

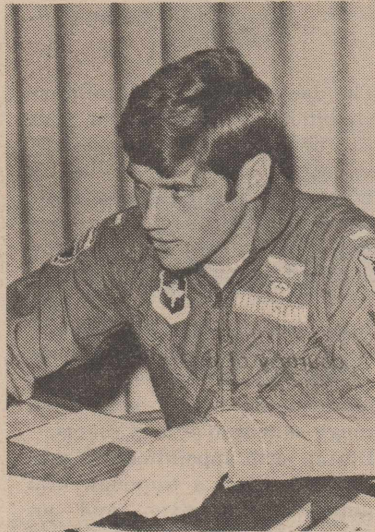

Assigned to "G" Flight, Lieutenant Van Bastelaar is the Emergency Procedures officer for student standardization. He is also the student coordinator for parades, buddy instructor pilot monitor, and is in the process of "checking out" as a senior controller.

"Dependable and conscientious... good leadership qualities... always the IP chosen to fly VIPs," are some of the words of praise that Capt. Jeff Britton, "D" Flight commander, used to describe the lieutenant.

Besides the many duties Lieutenant Van Bastelaar performs for the squadron, he also finds time to support the intramural sports program. He is the captain of the 54th FTS basketball team and a member of the 54th FTS fast pitch softball team, which won first place in the intramural competition. He is also active in the squadron football, volleyball and slow pitch teams.

Off duty, Lieutenant Van Bastelaar enjoys motorcycles racing and is also active in church baseball and basketball leagues.

Base vet discusses plague

(Editor's Note: Several stories have appeared recently in the local news media about possible cases of bubonic plague in New Mexico and West Texas. The concern expressed by some Reese people warrants a clarification of the local situation. Dr. (Capt.) G.M. Stay, base veterinarian provides the following information.)

Bubonic plague is known to exist in the western third of the United States. Plague in man in the U.S. is limited to rare instances of exposure to wild rodents or their fleas.

Bubonic plague is passed by the bite of an infected flea, or by handling the tissue of an infected animal. Vaccination of persons living in areas of high incidence is justifiable but not to be relied upon as the main preventive measure.

The best prevention is to discourage rats by good housekeeping. Control of food, garbage and refuse and ratproofing of buildings to reduce rodent breeding places and harborages are all good measures.

A recent survey of the Reese grounds reveals a very limited number of prairie dogs. Those species of wildlife on the golf course which have been presented to this office for examination have not been flea bearers. As stated before, the flea transmits the disease from animals to humans.

Still, a plague outbreak on Reese is possible. However, based on the wild animal population, the surrounding terrain (farm land versus pasture land), and good housekeeping practices employed by Reese people, the chances of an outbreak on this reservation are very, very remote.

'Very Concerned'

Whenever a potential hazard to the health of this command exists, the Reese USAF Hospital staff is very concerned. We will keep doing all in our power to prevent the hazard from becoming a fact.

Your reducing rodent harborages and their food sources will further help. It is further advised that everyone avoid contact with any wildlife.

Hometown learns from AF form

Who are you? What are you doing now? Where are you stationed?

These are just a few questions that a person can answer for his friends and relatives in his hometown when he has filled out a Home Town News Release, AF Form 175.

Your home town has a right to know accurate, timely and factual information about you. That is, recognition of your accomplishments and where you are located.

A major benefit you receive from the Home Town News Release is that your relatives and friends take pride and pleasure in hearing of your accomplishments. They enjoy knowing you remain an acknowledged member of your service community. The general acceptance of being in the military is improved because each community is kept aware of what is happening to you.

So next time that you receive an award, medal or you are recognized for some activity on or off base, let the Information Office know, so that we can inform your home town. The office may be reached at Ext. 3410.

Reese Sunday School opens doors this month

The Reese Chapel Center has announced both Catholic and Protestant Sunday Schools will begin here early this month.

PROTESTANT

Protestant Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m. Sunday. Classes are available for ages three years through adult.

According to the Chapel, the "unified curriculum" will be used in classroom work. This method, noted Chapel officials, provides a varied approach to Christian education.

The curriculum includes music, some crafts, art, pupil participation and teacher leadership.

Registration for Protestant Sunday School may be done at the school office anytime during the school hours on Sundays.

CATHOLIC

The Catholic Sunday School of Religion (CCD) will take reservations of all children grades one through twelve after all masses on Sept. 6 and 7. The CCD classes themselves will be held from 11 a.m. to noon on Sundays starting Sept. 14 in the Chapel Center.

Chaplain (Maj.) Earl V. DeBlieux, Catholic chaplain urged "All Catholic youth not attending CCD should register so that they may grow in the understanding and practice of their faith."

The Chapel also announced an ecumenical teacher training course will be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 9 - 11 in the Chapel Center. The course is for all teachers and substitutes in both the Protestant and Catholic Sunday School programs.

Bargains abound at Thrift Shop

By Jan Gilbert
OWC Thrift Shop

Do you need carpeting or drapes? A new lamp or baby items? How about a mess dress or a set of dishes? Are you tired of shopping in the same old places?

If the answer to any of these is "yes," then let me introduce you to the Reese Officers' Wives Club Thrift Shop.

they are picked up by the owner on the expiration date.

Items must be priced by the owner, with 50 cents the minimum price.

The Thrift Shop is operated by volunteers from the OWC. If you are interested in volunteering, come on in any Tuesday or Friday. It is a good way to meet people and become involved with Reese. You can pick up some fantastic bargains I should know, I have been working there three years!

From 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. the Thrift Shop will have an open house with free coffee and cookies. Come on in and browse. We have recently painted, cleaned and reorganized. Be sure to bring your money. You never know what you are going to find.

At the Thrift Shop one can find almost anything from books and large appliances to antiques. It solves the problem of what to do with all those usable items which are too good to throw away. It also provides a service to the people of the base.

Consignment System

The Shop is open for business from 10a.m. to 2 p.m. Items are taken for sale by consignment and donation. Profits from the sale of items brought in go in the Officers' Wives Club charity funds.

All items brought in on consignment must be in working order. Clothing must be clean, pressed and complete with buttons and zippers. No outdated clothing will be accepted. Also not accepted for sale are lingerie items, swim suits, shoes, wigs, magazines and records, firearms and ammunition, paint or varnish or tires.

All motors in items brought in must be completely cleaned of all gasoline and oil.

Only children's clothing will be accepted this month. Winter clothes will be taken in from Oct. 1 to Feb. 28.

One Per Month

Customers are allowed one consignment contract per month, with a limit of 18 items per contract. The contract is good for 90 days. Any items remaining on the contract after that become the property of the Thrift Shop, unless

Contest With a Point

For everyone who did not keep up with the results of the Labor Day Sports events Monday, let it be known that in the final standings, the USAF Hospital squadron placed first with a total of 20 points.

The other squadrons that took part placed as follows: 35th FTS - second with 17 points, ABGP - third with 13 points, 2053 Comm. Sq. - fourth with 8 points, 64th Supply Sq. - fifth with 7 points, 64th civil engineers Sq. - tied with Supply with 7 points, 64th-OMS - seventh with no points.

In the softball showdown between the junior officers and senior NCOs no one was really sure of the score. It seems that everyone quit keeping score after it became obvious that the junior officers were going to win. However, one source puts the score at 16-3 in favor of the officers.

In horseshoes the squadron placed in the following order: Hospital - first, Supply - second, 2053 Comm. - third, and ABEQ - fourth. In the volleyball competition Hospital again captured first, followed by the 35th FTS in second. ABGP came in third.

In the popular Tug-of-War even the 35th FTS overcame the CE squadron to win first place.

What's so hot about it? Begin with the name. Scirocco: a swift, hot wind that howls up out of the desert. Scirocco, the powerful new 2+2 sport coupe from Volkswagen. Start it. First, the sound of an overhead-cam, 1.5-liter engine. Mounted transversely in front over the drive wheels for incredible traction. Go. Seven and a half seconds later you're going fifty miles an hour. Scirocco's hot, but not too hot to handle. Front-wheel drive and progressive rack-and-pinion steering account for the sharp steering response and good neutral cornering ability. And this is the ride of your life. Coil-spring shock absorbers up front and a totally new rear stabilizer axle provide true four-wheel independent suspension. With great roadability on tight curves and rough surfaces. Scirocco is this, and much more. All at about 38 mpg on the highway, about 24 in the city.* What you've been waiting for is here. Scirocco, Volkswagen's Hot One.
