Captain Wins High Honors In Class 65-G

Captain Thomas A. Barrett Jr., of Winthrop, Mass., was honored as outstanding graduate during graduation of Class 65-G from undergraduate pilot training at Reese Thursday.

The captain received a letter of recognition from Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, commander of Air Training Command, and also was awarded the Commander's Trophy as the leading graduate in the class at Reese.

Captain Barrett was the outstanding student in ATC in the T-37 phase of undergraduate pilot training and was nominated for the Orville Wright achievement award presented by the Order of Daedalians to each class in ATC. The captain finished second in command.

Captain Barrett, reassigned to the new C-141 aircraft at Travis AFB, Calif., is a former student of Bridgewater Teachers College in Massachusetts. He is a qualified navigator and an electronics warfare officer.

Graduation speaker was Robert A. Nash, commander of the Lubbock Squadron, Air Force Association, and assistant manager of the Radio Station KFYO.

Nash, native of Plainview, has been a resident of Lubbock since 1932 and has been in the radio profession since 1946.

He is a 1942 graduate of Lubbock high school and served during 1942-43 in the Army Air Corps. He also is a former student of Texas Tech and the University of Denver, where he majored in accounting.

Serving his third term as president of the Lubbock Red Cross chapter, he is an executive director and public relations chairman of the Lubbock United Fund. He is a member of the boards of the Lubbock Advertising Club, Lubbock Rotary, and the board of the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra and is a member of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, First Christian church, Sigma Delta Chi and Alpha Kappa Psi.

The class included 35 young officers of the Air Force, all of whom will be awarded pilot wings.

Nash urged members of Class 65-G to live every moment as good citizens and to make wise decisions.

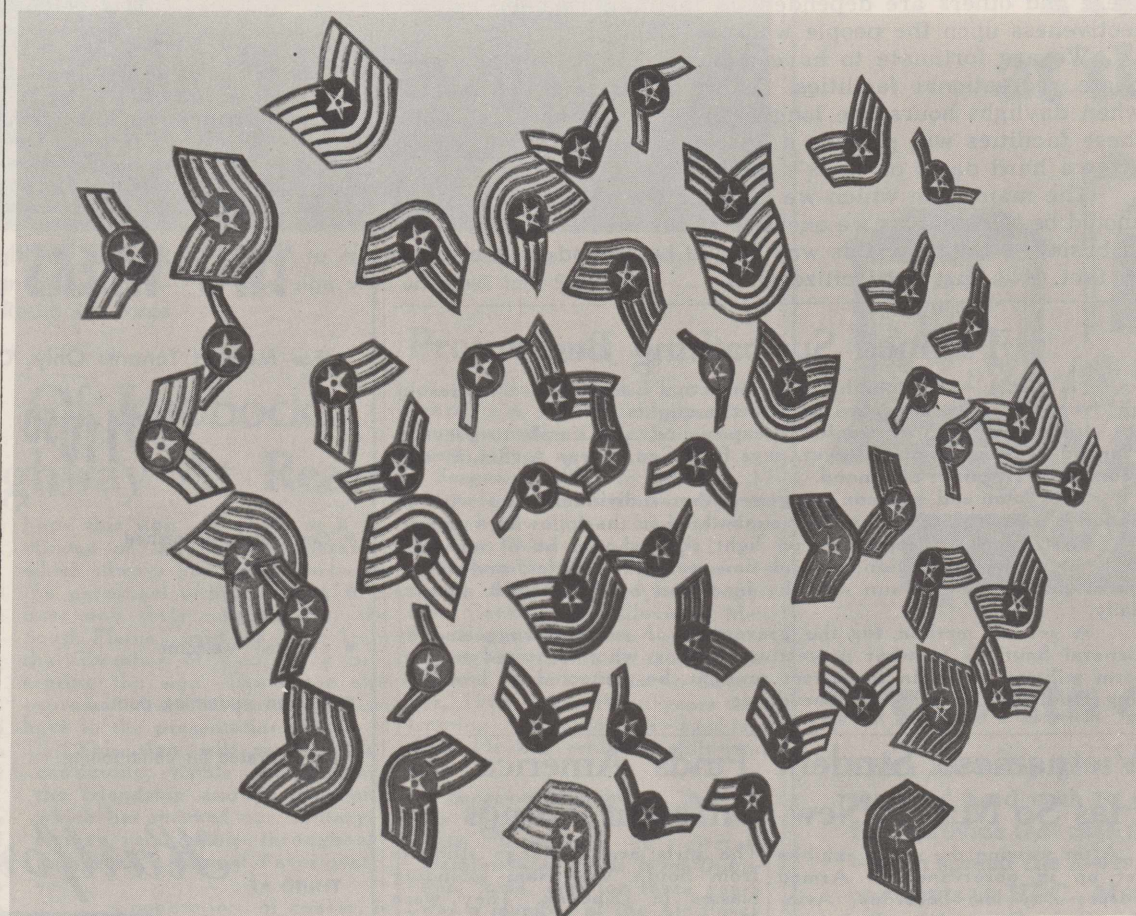

"If you would improve your citizenship," he said, "be a good citizen yourself and help influence those close to you to do the same. If you would raise the level of culture learn to appreciate the beautiful."

Supply Squadron Wins OJT Award

Scoring 90 points per month for the February-April period and pushing the cumulative total to 94 since the fiscal year started, the Supply Squadron has won the on-the-job training award at Reese for the past quarter.

The squadron, leading all units of the base, scored high in each of the four areas, having high upgrading, scoring well on test results, doing well on training participation and maintaining a low-non-progression score.

ATC Attains Goal For Fiscal Year In Cost Cutting

(ATCPS) — The Cost Reduction Program of Air Training Command has gone "over-the-top" for Fiscal Year 1965. The first three quarters of the year have brought savings of $29,658,400, some four per cent above the Fiscal Year 1965 goal of $28,600,000.

Program officials expect an even more impressive result when final Fiscal Year 1965 figures are available in early July.

Lowry AFB was the top saver with $3,911,000 reported against a goal of $1,970,000. Other bases that topped the $3 million mark included Amarillo AFB, $3,043,700 (goal of $2,400,500), and Sheppard AFB, $3,002,300 (goal of $3,329,600).

ATC has continually stressed the importance of attaining goals in individual areas, as well as meeting the overall command goal. These individual area goals have already been reached or exceeded in 10 of the 14 cost reduction reporting areas applicable to ATC.

By March 31, nine of Air Training Command's 18 bases were over 100 per cent and the others expect to meet their goals by the June 30 deadline.

NCOs Name New Board Members

Five new members have been elected to the NCO Open Mess board of governors. They will take office in June.

Named were Tech Sergeants Marvin Lynn, Organizational Maintenance; Lee Penn, Field Maintenance; John West, deputy commander for training; Kenneth Young, Air Base Group; and Vernon Morton, Weather Detachment.

The board plans and supervises all mess activities.

Reese has two runways 10,500 feet long and 6,500 feet in length.

Rain, New Equipment Assist Speed-Up In Beautification

Arrival of additional equipment and shipments of fertilizer, coupled with this week's rains, will speed the Reese beautification program, officials said.

Arriving were several large containers which will be set up in selected areas to hold trash cans. Four or five of the cans presently used will be placed in the large container to eliminate unsightliness and also prevent blowing of paper and other material from the smaller cans.

The fertilizer just arrived will be distributed over the base to assist in the production of shrubs and flowers.

Plans call for planting of thousands of flowers, mostly chrysanthemums, within a few weeks to assist in base beautification. Residents of Reese Village are being urged to plant more flowers and shrubs.

Fertilizer for village areas has been made available to residents and those who have not secured their quota may do so by visiting Bldg. 567 between 3 and 4:15 p.m. Monday, Wednesday or Friday.

Units needing flowers for base areas also are being urged to list their needs with civil engineers.

The base beautification committee had made plans for many actions which will add to beauty of the base and the housing areas and is asking complete cooperation of all personnel.

ATC Educators Review Policies

(ATCPS) — Air Training Command educators recently met at ATC headquarters recently to review policies and exchange ideas on the education program conducted throughout the command.

Education service officers from 16 of the 18 ATC bases participated in the conference. Howard T. Torrance, chief, Education-Libraries Division, Hq. ATC, presided over the two-day meeting.

Tuition assistance, testing security, accurate records and reports, Operation Bootstrap TDY and special education programs received emphasis at the conference.

Torrance said education continues to play an important role in ATC.

Reporting on the first half of Fiscal Year 1965, Torrance said 721 command personnel completed work for, and received high school diplomas during the six-month period. In addition, he said 70 in the command were awarded college degrees during the period. These included 52 bachelor and 18 master degrees.

Production Of Film All Moved To Lowry

Commander's Comments...

By COL. DUDLEY E. FAVER
Wing Commander

With warm weather already upon us, it is expected that our base recreational areas will be receiving extremely heavy use once more throughout the summer. This, of course, is good; since these facilities do much toward making our community a more enjoyable place in which to live.

Commensurate with our opportunity to enjoy these areas lies a comparable amount of responsibility, which the considerate readily realize. The prime responsibility is thoughtfulness: the courtesy of allowing others to enjoy the facility as much as we do. The primary way to accomplish this is to assure that each person does his or her part in keeping these recreational areas neat and clean. Picnic grounds, tennis courts, softball complexes, swimming pools, parking areas — these and others are dependent of their appearance and effectiveness upon the people who use them.

We are fortunate to have a number of more than adequate recreational facilities. As we enter into the months when daylight hours are longer and the weather favorable, these facilities will provide a welcome means for relaxation after a hard day's or week's work.

The manner in which we care for our recreational areas should be the same as we exercise at our homes and our place of business. Living in this way should be second nature to us. In fact, it is just good citizenship.

Planned Sunbathing Best

(ATCPS) — "Sunbathing — an actual burn of the skin resulting from excessive exposure to direct sunlight."

It's easy to define, painful to experience, and simple to prevent. Planned exposure is the answer, says Brig Gen. Larry A. Smith, surgeon, Air Training Command.

The command surgeon suggested that individuals who wish to obtain a suntan should plan their sunbathing in the following manner: First exposure, especially on light skin, should be of no more than 15 minutes duration; second time out, 20 minutes, and subsequent periods in the sun may be increased by five to 10 minutes daily.

A second method for the prevention of sunburn suggested by General Smith is to wear protective clothing when required to perform military duties in the direct sunlight. be protected by loose fitting clothing and protective headgear.

Vietnamese Student Finds America Has So Many 'New, Different Things'

After viewing the many exhibits set up in observance of Armed Forces Day last Saturday, Aviation Cadet Duong Ngoc Bich from Viet Nam, relaxed in the large hangar, P-82.

While ordering a coke he commented "There really is a difference between 'coke' and 'pepsi,' even though my American friends have continually told me there isn't.

"Perhaps the reason I can taste a difference is because we do not have so many varieties of soda pop in my country. In a way, it is better! While in America I have had the pleasure of learning about many new and different things. Your countrymen will find it hard to make new discoveries, and the excitement that results from making them."

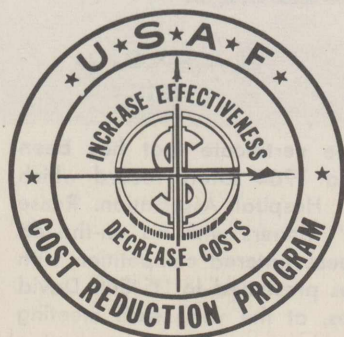

Cadet Bich made this observation about the American people during his visit to Reese May 8. He flew a T-28 propeller driven aircraft to the base for Reese's Armed Forces Day exhibit. The aircraft, he said, is the type he will fly in his nation's air force.

He leaves today for his homeland after completing the pilot training course at Randolph AFB. He said he is very anxious to return and take an active role in the fighting there.

Cadet Bich graduated Tuesday from training as a member of Class 65-G, A flight. Accompanying him to Reese was his instructor pilot, Capt. Robert Coburn, who was stationed at Reese four years ago.

With Cadet Bich and Captain Coburn during the day's activities were four co-eds from Texas Tech.

Talk Air Force

There are 16 separate and distinct commands, with separate and distinct missions, but there is only one Air Force.

Esprit de corps and competition at squadron, group, wing and command level is desirable as such competition increases the effectiveness of all units. However, such competition is effective only when it favorably affects the entire Air Force.

Air Force commands are interdependent upon each other to accomplish their missions. But the mission of the Air Force itself is paramount and it is the reason for the existence of each command.

No other service can match the deterrent power of the Air Force. Be proud of your command — extol its virtues — but keep in mind the primary reason for its being and for your being in uniform. This reason is each element, from individual airman to command, is an integral part of the world's mightiest military team — the Air Force team.

So talk Air Training Command, Strategic Air Command, Air Defense Command, or whatever your outfit, but first talk AIR FORCE. There is only one.—Williams AFB Jet Gazette

Connally Plays Operation Role

JAMES CONNALLY AFB — This Air Training Command base is playing an important role in the Joint Army-Air Force "Operation Silver Hand" being held at Fort Hood during the first two weeks of May.

Some 400 men of the Tactical Air Command and U.S. Army, actively participating in the exercise, are now at James Connally. The maneuvers are under the direction of the U.S. Strike Command. The men and equipment at James Connally support six RF-101 aircraft flying out of the base during photo-reconnaissance missions over the Fort Hood area.

Also included in the exercise are selected ground forces of the armor-heavy III Corps at Fort Hood plus three jet fighter squadrons. In all, some 35,000 Air Force and Army personnel are participating in "Operation Silver Hand."

SO ALL MAY KNOW — A gift of Lubbock citizens, a large illuminated sign at the south-east corner of the base marks Reese Air Force Base to travelers along the Texas highway. The sign was unveiled last Saturday.

New Sign, Gift Of Lubbock, Erected On Highway At Reese

A large new sign, gift from the people of Lubbock, this week identifies Reese to passers-by.

Large letters say: "United States Air Force, Reese Air Force Base, Air Training Command — The World's Largest Training System."

The sign has a white background, with black lettering, and in the opinion of all concerned fills a need of long standing. Its cost was about $2,000.

Lubbock civic clubs, as well as businessmen and the Chamber of Commerce aided in the financing under direction of the Reese relations sub-committee of the chamber's Armed Forces Committee. Dr. O. W. English heads the sub-committee.

The new addition to Reese was formally presented by John Logan, general manager of the chamber. Accepting was Col. Dudley E. Faver, Reese wing commander.

"We, the citizens of Lubbock, iful things of the world, and teach that appreciation to someone else.

"You can no more completely change this country, this base, or the world by yourself than you can stop a flood by lifting a cup of water out of a river. But if the world ever does improve, and reach the high level of culture, material wealth and spiritual strength we want it to reach, it will be because the individual citizens of the world, all working together and helping each other, raise their individual levels of culture, material wealth and spiritual strength.

"The way you choose to make the contribution you can make is up to you."

Nash urged the graduates to guide their children into wise decisions and the right way of life.

"The ability to decide — to make up your mind — to quit straddling — to chose wisely and courageously under any circumstances is unquestionably one of the earmarks of greatness in men," he added. "It means the ability to choose between the wise and the foolish, between wasting time and using it wisely, between the safe and the unsafe, the sound and the unsound, the good and the bad, the beautiful and the ugly, the virtues and the vulgarities of life."

Nash said decisions are not easy. He cited many people who worked against odds to succeed.

hope this sign will serve as a reminder of the close cooperation which always has existed between the personnel of Reese Air Force Base and their neighbors of the South Plains," said the letter from the Chamber of Commerce presenting the sign. The letter also expressed the pleasure the citizens have in the presentation.

"This sign will serve as a continuing, visible reminder of the friendship and cooperation which has marked our military-civilian relationship throughout the years," Colonel Faver stated.

"... Cooperation, of course, is a two-way street. Time and again the people of Lubbock have demonstrated their friendship through the many things they have done for Reese Air Force Base. Today, we witness another indication of that helpful spirit. I hope we at Reese will have similar opportunity to be of assistance to the Lubbock community in a project equally as worthwhile as the one we observe today."

"Lubbock and its citizens always are on the alert to do anything which we feel will benefit Air Force Base, an important part of our community," Logan said in presenting the sign.

"We all are happy that we could bring this addition to the base. It is the hope of all Lubbock that opportunities will arise in the future when we may again be of service to Reese."

Bond Purchase Speed-Up Seen

Added speed in the annual U.S. Savings Bond campaign at Reese was expected this week by Lt. Col. William Ayres, project officer.

"To start this week we recorded 48 bonds purchased through the payroll savings program during the drive period," the colonel said.

"Our minimum goal is 313 bonds during the campaign. This leaves us a long way to go. Key workers in each unit are stepping-up efforts to add to the list and we are hopeful everyone will cooperate.

"We know that 35 per cent of Reese people were buying bonds regularly prior to opening of the drive. This is commendable. Each of these people has learned that regular bond purchases is adding to savings and is proving a good investment.

"Others must want to save and it is so easy to secure bonds by having part of each pay turned to purchases. Even if the amount is small every payday, the savings will mount up rapidly and the feeling of security will be intensified.

"Each bond helps the government face its tremendous task in meeting world situations. It is our duty to assist all we can by buying as many bonds as we can."

The annual campaign will extend through May and reports are submitted each week by key workers.

Colonel Ayres noted that Lt. Gen. William W. Momyer, Air Training Command commander, is actively supporting the bond drive.

Gen. Momyer stated that "The benefits derived from savings bond purchases are twofold: (1) The Government is provided with an effective means for managing the public debt; and (2) Bond purchasers are stimulated and oriented toward an automatic method of savings. There is a definite correlation between thrift and stability, and experience has shown that an individual with a systematic savings habit almost without exception is a more stable and productive worker."

Air Force Vote Marks Increase

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — An overall 58 per cent of Air Force members cast their ballots in the 1964 national elections, a sample survey has revealed.

This is roughly a third more than voted in 1960 and more than three times the number who went to the polls either in person or by absentee ballot in 1962.

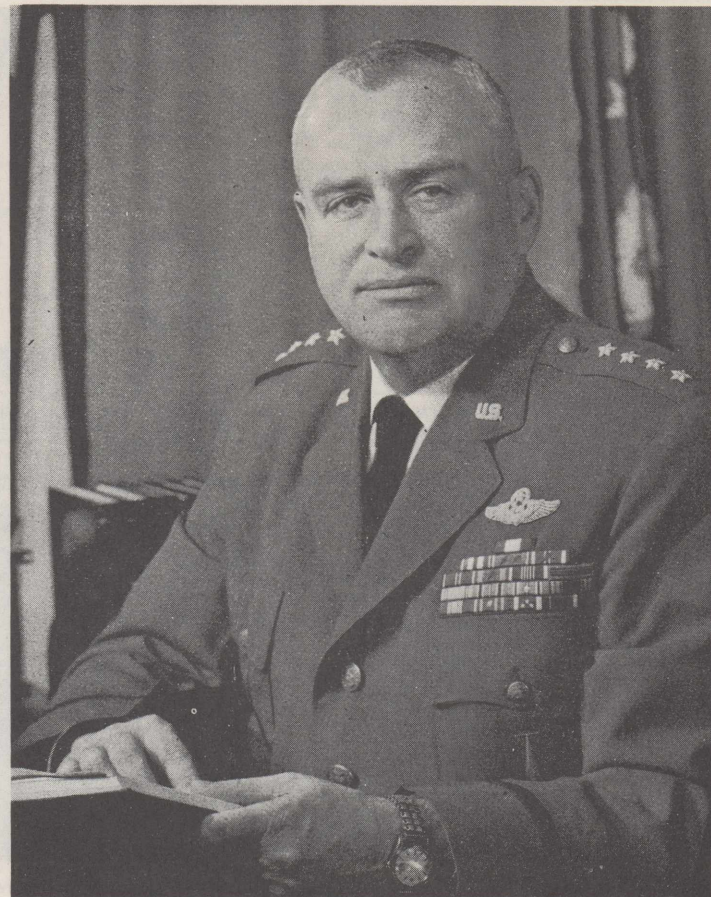

Officials attribute the significant increase to the heavy emphasis placed on the Federal Voting Assistance Program last year.

Broken down, the survey indicates that 72 per cent of the officers and 51 per cent of the airmen voted. This compares with an average of 44 per cent for the Army and 48.2 per cent for the Navy, according to Department of Defense figures.

Rattlers Drop Opening Game

After losing the opening game of the season, the Reese Rattlers baseball team this week stepped-up practice and worked on sharp- ening actions which may help in the National Baseball Congress and service competition ahead.

The Rattlers suffered a 27 to 10 loss to the Texas Tech freshmen last Saturday in a game marred by high winds and dust and many balls which should have been caught but went for hits.

Tech scored five runs in the first inning and hammered out 19 hits, including a triple and two home runs, before the game was over.

Dub Jones got two singles in three trips to the plate and drove in two runs. John Kreideweis connected for a single and grand- slam home run, driving in four runs.

The Rattlers have planned four scrimmage games prior to the NBC openings in two weeks.

Lieutenant Easy Tourny Winner

Second Lt. Ronald Yamagami took honors over competitors during an Armed Forces Day tennis tourney, Saturday. In the first pairings, 2nd Lt. Eric Elbel was stomped by Airman Robert Rock- hold, 6-0. Rockhold was the only tennis player from the hospital squadron, with the others being student pilots.

The second round of play between Lieutenant Yamagami and 2nd Lt. James Wilson ended with another 6-0 score.

In the final set of the afternoon, Yamagami scored 6 over Rock- hold's 2 points.

ECI, Major Correspondence School, Has New Examination, New Courses

Students enrolled in the Extension Course Institute soon will be required to pass a comprehensive end-of-course examination for successful completion of their course. Examinations under controlled testing conditions will be administered to all persons enrolling after June 30. In addition, those already enrolled but who complete the last of their lessons after Sept.

1 will be subject to the new testing requirement.

All courses listed in the ECI Catalog, both mandatory and voluntary, are affected.

All men seeking success in the Air Force are being urged to improve their proficiency in home study through ECI, the correspondence school of the Air Force. ECI offers courses in strictly military subjects similar to those taught in residence schools.

Without leaving Reese, J. F. Reeves, base education officer, points out, men may study electronics, firefighting, photography, weather and many other subjects. ECI is one of the largest correspondence schools in the United States and lists 100 or more courses.

Enrollment as of March 31 was 325,673, with 44,539 new enrollments during March. Examinations processed totaled 12,265 and diplomas awarded were 30,927.

Popular courses included management for Air Force supervisors, NCO academic course and NCO leadership for enlisted personnel and the Air Command and Staff School college correspondence course for officers who have completed squadron officer school study.

Career development course enrollments are increasing for enlisted personnel. The staff college course for officers has been revamped to include new fields. It covers 12 units and 636 study hours.

Housing Repair Bid Opening Set

Bids for renovation and repair of family housing quarters at Reese and for renovation of the guest house on the base will be opened soon by Maj. Joseph V. Sullivan, chief of the Reese procurement division.

Quotations will be opened at 3 p.m. May 24 for sanding and refinishing of floors and interior decorating of housing units in the Reese Village. Units which become vacant during a three-month period of the summer will be renovated.

Bids will be opened at 3 p.m. on June 3 for repair and alteration of the guest house, which contains several suites for visitors.

Armed Forces Day Success

Armed Forces Day 1965 this week went into the record books as another success. An estimated 20,000 persons attended the all-day observance of armed forces which centered last Saturday at Reese.

High winds hampered the aerial show, but on the ground were various types of defense equipment which drew and held attention during open house from noon until 4 p.m. Fighters, bombers, transports and trainers of the Air Force, aircraft, missiles, rockets and other weapons of the Navy, Army, Marines and National Guard represented those services.

Virtually all areas of Reese were open to the public.

Bozo, the clown helicopter from Fort Wolters, and F. Don Pittman, stunt pilot from Sapulpa, Okla., participated in the aerial show, gaining much applause. Their performances were curtailed by weather.

Other highlights of the program were performances of dogs of the Lubbock Police Department, which showed obedience and how they assist in the capture of suspected criminals; marching of military units; and motion pictures and athletic contests.

A large new sign for Reese, given by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and business men, was unveiled at the southeast corner of the base and military and civic leaders were guests at a reception and military ball terminating the day at the Officers' open mess. A teenage dance was held during the afternoon at the Youth Center.

Officers Awarded Conduct Medals

Nineteen Reese officers have been awarded Air Force Good Conduct Medals for demonstration of exemplary behavior, efficiency and fidelity while serving in enlisted status.

Recognized were Lieutenant Colonels Charles W. Merritt and William E. Shelton, Majors George E. Dreier, William F. McCullom and Joseph V. Sullivan, and Captains James N. Heggarty, Paul W. James, Neil A. Graff, Clyde L. Jones, William E. Benedict, Wilden S. Holley, Ervin R. Ostic, James M. Woner, Andre A. Deshaies, Bruce C. Bowden, Forrest B. Fenn, Owen R. Jones and Gerald P. Rich.

Little League Opens Tonight

The 1965 Reese Little League baseball season officially opens at 5 p.m. today on the diamond north of Reese Village as the Cardinals take on the Yankees in a minor league game.

The season will open with a high official tossing out the first ball. Doing the honor will be Col. Richard A. Steele, base commander.

The Reese Cub Scouts will raise the flag while the six Little League teams stand in uniform on the field.

Following the minor league encounter, the major league season will open with a game between the Braves and Red Sox, scheduled for 7 p.m.

Fires starting in living rooms make up 37.2 per cent of home fires.
