

DMC report probes retirement system

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - The recently released Defense Manpower Commission (DMC) Report to the President and Congress contains several items of top-level interest in the Air Force.

The military retirement system is one area discussed in some detail. The report proposed a changed retirement system by saying, "To support the new career force profiles of the services, a restructured retirement system should be implemented based on the following:

- The present 20-year retirement with an immediate annuity should be phased out as a general practice. A full military career should normally be a minimum of 30 years, with earlier retirement eligibility reserved for actual service in the combat arms and closely similar assignments.

- The military retirement system should support the objectives of the recommended career force principles.

- The military retirement system should provide for retirement eligibility with an immediate annuity only upon an accumulation of 30 retirement points. Retirement points should be earned at a rate such that 30 years of service in noncombat jobs will qualify and a minimum of 20 years of service in combat jobs is needed to qualify. Intermediate rates should be assigned to jobs according to the mission and degree of combat orientation.

- Only those members who reach the career gate and volunteer to serve in the career force, if selected, should be vested in the military retirement system. Both officers and enlisted personnel would enter a voluntary indefinite status at that point, in contrast to the present system in which enlisted personnel are periodically required to renew their enlistment contracts. Thus, members should become vested in the military retirement system upon entering a voluntary indefinite status at the career gate in the 10th year of service. Voluntarily separating vested members should be provided a deferred annuity payable at age 65 or actuarially reduced at age 60. Involuntary separates should be provided a choice between readjustment pay in cash plus a deferred annuity, or an amount in cash equal to twice readjustment pay.

The Defense Manpower Commission was created by Congress in 1973 to study Department of Defense manpower needs.

Air Force officials say they do not know what impact the report will have on its people programs, but believe some members of Congress may be influenced by the recommendations and findings.

Enlisted force gets three-tier structure

(AFNS Editorial)

For the past several years, noncommissioned officers (NCOs) have expressed the feeling of losing their rank and job prestige. One reason is a perceived confusion over roles and responsibilities and a feeling that NCO talent is being underutilized. A contributing factor is that AFR 39-6, "Duties and Responsibilities of the Noncommissioned Officer," specifies just one all-inclusive role description for grades E-4 through E-9.

Also, questions have continually arisen over whether the E-4 is an NCO. The feeling exists that "everyone is a sergeant," therefore lessening the prestige of holding NCO status.

After continued review of major command inputs, suggestions from individual NCOs throughout the Air Force, and studies by last summer's Air Force Management Improvement Group (AFMIG), the three-tier approach to managing the enlisted force has been developed. A new AFR 39-6, "The Enlisted Force Organization," spells out responsibilities for each tier and each grade within the tiers.

A major part of the enlisted force management adjustments is the E-4 grade change which creates a two-level E-4 grade — the E-4 senior airman, and the E-4 sergeant.

The program operates like this: all E-4s, upon assuming the grade, are designated E-4/senior airman. They will retain all existing E-4 pay and entitlements but will be addressed as "airman." Upon meeting the following criteria, E-4/senior airmen will be designated E-4/sergeants:

- Twelve months in grade as an E-4/senior airman.
 - Completion of NCO orientation training (Phase I, NCO PME).
 - Have a sustained performance/conduct record which indicates potential to meet the responsibilities associated with NCO status.
 - Recommended by the reporting official and certification by the unit commander.
- After meeting this criteria, an E-4 will attend a formal NCO appointment ceremony. At that time, the new NCO will receive a certificate of appointment to the NCO corps which will authorize him to wear NCO insignia and be addressed as "sergeant."

Lowry volunteers test A-Swine flu vaccine

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) — Volunteers from the Technical Training Center, Lowry AFB, Colo., are participating in a test of a vaccine for A-Swine influenza.

A-Swine flu received national attention recently when several soldiers at Ft. Dix, N.J., came down with it. This was the first outbreak of the virus in nearly 60 years. During 1918, an epidemic of a virus thought to be similar to A-Swine flu was responsible for 20 million deaths worldwide, including almost 500,000 in the United States.

The purpose of the test is to determine the exact vaccine dosage needed to provide protection against A-Swine flu, according to Dr. Theodore Eickhoff, chief of the Colorado University Medical Center's Division of Infectious Diseases.

Each Lowry AFB volunteer received either a concentrated, average, or light dose of the vaccine, or a saline solution. The saline solution was used as a safeguard to determine the validity of the test, according to Dr. Eickhoff. Each volunteer's blood was tested before he received the injection, and it will be again tested three weeks after the shot. Results from the final blood test will help doctors determine the proper vaccine dosage needed for protection against A-Swine flu.

The test program is a result of President Ford's request to Congress that the vaccine be made available to all Americans by the fall of 1976.

Deadline for submission of copy to THE ROUNDUP for publication in the June 4 issue is May 28. This is due to the three day weekend beginning May 29.

FROM THE TRAIL BOSS

Col. Robert J. Sandvick
Deputy Commander, Resources

Col. Robert J. Sandvick, our deputy commander for Resources, hits the nail square on the head. Each of us, whether we work in a support job or directly with our students, must be aware of the impact our job has on the mission, and we have to realize that mutual support is a must.

Col. Edward Mendel
Wing Commander

Many of us on base are in the services area; in fact, most of us are. One of the disadvantages in providing services is that when we do a satisfactory job, or even an outstanding job, we seldom hear about it. It's only when we don't deliver that we are told what kind of job we're doing, and often only when we don't deliver several times in succession.

For Example, you aren't doing us a favor when you let your problem build up and then suddenly tell us that you haven't been paid for the past three months (this really doesn't happen) or that we have so many of your vehicles in our shops that you can't do your job (this does happen). We need to know of potential problems so that we can help prevent them from becoming problems. Then too, supporting you is a two-way street; we need your support as well. This is probably more apparent in the transportation area than in the other areas, although it applies to all of them.

Vehicles require day-to-day management in addition to that provided by the Transportation Division, and how well vehicles are managed within the units will directly affect the quality of the unit's vehicles. The user is primarily responsible for the operation, conservation, and condition of the vehicle he drives. So, in all areas, if we are to give you the best possible support, we need your help.

To put what I've said in the nutshell, if we are to give you the support we both would like to see, we need to be informed of your potential problems, and we need your support.

Commander's CARE Line

(Editor's Note: THE ROUNDUP will publish Commander's CARE Line calls which are of basewide interest. Names of callers will not be published, but callers should leave their name and duty extension in case their problem needs clarification. All calls are reviewed by Wing Commander Col. Edward Mendel. Reese people are urged to use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air complaints or comments, if possible. If not, call the CARE Line by dialing C-A-R-E (Ext. 2273). Please provide your name and duty section when calling.)

Dear Sir,

My complaint is about the new fence ruling. The new fence ruling that has just been sent out to us in base housing is completely high-handed, to say the least. If our fences, that we have put up with our own money and which plans we have submitted to CE as we were told to do and have been approved are to come down, I would like to ask some questions: (1) Why were they ever approved in the first place? (2) Why aren't they good enough now? (3) Why should the fences, our fences, that look just as nice and nicer than some old wood ones that are military issue, come down after most of us have spent a great deal of money and effort to put them up? (4) If they have to come down, will we be reimbursed for our losses? (5) If our fences look neat and well maintained, what is the problem? (6) If all our fences are supposed to be just so, look alike and so on, why doesn't the military provide fences for us? That way everything will be uniform. If these fences are to come down, then why can't they be phased out as we leave base housing? Let us get some use out of our hard earned expenses.

I can certainly sympathize with your wish to retain your investment providing it does meet standards and was approved.

The reason that the base commander has asked that some wire fences be removed is that they did not meet standards (old or new), did not look neat, they were not being maintained, nor had they been approved by base Housing personnel.

Some substandard fences were apparently approved because base Housing permitted a very lenient interpretation of the standard. Wing Regulation 90-1 has now been changed to better define the standards and to indicate that only certain approved wooden or chain link hurricane fences will be allowed in the future.

If you have a valid Form 332 from Civil Engineering and your fence is in good repair, then you may keep your fence until you move, but we just can't let some of these odds and ends hand-me-downs stay there. Please assist me in making Reese Village a desirable place to live.

Quote of Note

(An AFNS Feature)

"The military is not in business to perpetuate itself or to squander national resources by intent or mismanagement. We are here to provide our country with the security it deserves at the best price we can afford, and I think we are doing a pretty good job of it. We are now and will strive to be more responsive and more responsible — and it's important they perceive us in an accurate way. . . .

"I find the military man today — from basic airman to general — more dedicated, more concerned, more worried — and yes, working harder for his country than ever before. This selflessness, unfortunately, is seldom recognized. But, we are not seeking recognition for this alone. Selflessness has been a prime characteristic since Valley Forge — it will continue to prevail along with dedication, professionalism, and love of country. And I guarantee you that you can count on it." — Gen. William V. McBride, Air Force Vice Chief of Staff, Feb. 19, 1976.

PAUL REVERE'S RIDE — April 18, 1775, the colonists discovered that British General Gage was about to move his crack troops from Boston for a secret raid on Concord. If the British went out by water, two lanterns were to be displayed in the North Church steeple. If by land, one lantern. When it became apparent the troops were leaving by sea, Paul Revere was rowed in a small boat past the British ships to Charlestown where he mounted his horse and galloped through the countryside to warn that the British were coming. Commander expresses thanks for Reese effort in AFA drive

Col. Edward Mendel recently expressed his appreciation for the efforts put forth by Reese personnel during this year's Air Force Association Membership Drive.

The drive, which recently concluded, has been one of the most successful at Reese AFB. Unofficial sources indicate that Reese led all other UPT bases in new members. In addition, this year's drive almost doubles that of last year.

Lt. Col. Phillip Raign, this year's campaign chairman, added his appreciation. Colonel Raign added that we had over 160 new members at the close of the drive and four more new members after the drive officially ended. These figures, however, do not account for any personnel who might have joined through applications taken from counter stands or through applications printed in the ROUNDUP.

Colonel Raign noted that the 64th Student Squadron led in this year's drive with 38 new members and Operations Division (DOO) was second with 18. The USAF Hospital, 64th Supply Squadron, 35th Flying Training Squadron and 54th Flying Training Squadron ran a close third with 12 to 14 new members in each organization.

"Without the extra effort and work put forth by our individual unit representatives we could not have been so successful," Colonel Raign stated. He added that, "The success we achieved is due to the support we received from everyone involved."

Anyone wishing more information on the Air Force Association should contact 1st Lt. Wayne Hodges at Ext. 2354.

Graduation parade receives vote of smashing success

By 1st Lt. Jim Nelson
64th Student Squadron

You know it had to be a slow week when the first thing mentioned is last Saturday's graduation parade. Group II unanimously voted it a smashing success primarily due to the brilliant leadership of Capt. Bob "Gomer" Agne. Rumor has it Captain Agne cracked the canopies of the static displays with his crisp command voice, the result of months of practice and the purchase of a pair of tight jockeys. Eat your heart out Ella Fitzgerald.

The squadron welcomes 1st Lt. Joe Dye, the newest addition to the Class Commanders. Joe will be heading up Class 77-04 as they work their way through A&E flights. Now if we can only get his wife, Marge, to play on the softball team.

Class 76-10

This is Capt. "Buff" Malloy writing this week's article. Finally I get my say! Second Lt. Kevin Smith, our resident reporter, has been sticking me long enough. I have many candidates for the bullet this week, so let me elaborate. Second Lt.

Bruce Edstrom decided to abort this week due to negative TACAN before finding out that it was off the air.

Second Lt. Keech Gabrys almost taxied to the wrong runway but his alert IP saved the day — nothing like seeing a mirror image on takeoff. Our resident garbage mouth, 2nd Lt. "Mad Dog" Newland has once again been confusing the airways with what I think is English. Second Lt. Tom McKee dazzled his IP with checks during a recent formation flight . . . unfortunately they were the wrong checks. Last but not least is 2nd Lt. Kevin Smith, just for general principles. Thanks for letting me write this week's article.

Class 77-03

The end of Instrument classes was a welcome relief for all of us. Our instructor, Captain Cotter, was as relieved as we were. The few hours of relaxation ended quickly, especially for our outstanding Guard troop, 2nd Lt. James K. Branch, who did, single handedly, take off and land a powerful, low-wing, dual control jet trainer of all metal construction, manufactured by the Cessna

Aircraft Corp. When questioned about his adeptness at landing a T-37, Lieutenant Branch replied, "Well, somebody had to get me down."

Class 77-04

In between the gail wind forces here in beautiful West Texas, we were able to sneak in our parasailing. This week, the "Tough Boids" award had to go to all the students in Section Two who thoroughly demolished Section One in a softball doubleheader by the scores of 20-10 and 12-6. This just goes to show what a little talent and aggressiveness can do for you. By the way, who is responsible for the green cloud which still lingers in Bldg. 820 Room 10?

Women instructors needed

RANDOLPH AFB, Tex. (AFNS) — The Air Force is looking for women to work with airmen during their first months of active duty.

Air Force Military Personnel Center (AFMPC) officials say there is a continuing need for female military training instructors (MTIs), special duty identifier (SDI) 99128, at Lackland AFB, Tex., and student training advisors (STAs), SDI 99138, at Chanute AFB, Ill.; Keesler AFB, Miss.; Lackland; Lowry AFB, Colo.; and Sheppard AFB, Tex.

Sergeants through chief master sergeants may apply, although the majority of requirements are for sergeant through technical sergeant. Grade waivers are considered on an individual basis.

Customer service center at the consolidated base personnel office (CBPO) can provide aid in application. Application procedures and selection criteria are in Chapter 8, AFR 39-11.

Talon ACEs pack for trip

Star Date 76.135
 Capt. Henri Stricted for Talon Service News with an end of week update. Although the news was published long ago we noticed several changes to flight suits and uniforms within the squadron. Our congratulations to Col. James C. Gibler and Lt. Col. Robert Staples, which proves that the Air Force recognizes exceptional talent.

Members of the 54th are packing winter clothes and preparing for the northern trek. (For those aspiring hopefuls here is a chance to become A.C.E.) The accelerated copilot enrichment program will team the Talon drivers and SAC flyers for a bout with the T-38. Now let's hear from you folks who didn't like the weather at Reese or thought it was silly to use Lubbock as a divert base. The administration workers informed us of the new surprise in the squadron. No... it's Sergeant Surprise a new face behind the desk to help fill the slots vacated. Sergeant Wendling will soon depart the fix as will Airman Bishop since he received notice of his ROTC acceptance. Well done to those leaving and congratulation to Airman Bradshaw on his promotion. Airfield gets name change

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Peterson AFB is the new name of Colorado Springs' joint-use military airfield. The name applies only to the military side of the airfield. The facility had been called Peterson Field since 1942 and is named for 1st Lt. Edward J. Peterson of Alamosa, Colo., who died of injuries received in an aircraft accident at Lowry AFB, Colo. Peterson AFB supports the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), Aerospace Defense Command, and Air Force Academy. All activities now located at Ent AFB, Colo., will be relocated at Peterson AFB by the end of 1976.

Salvation Army needs Reese help

Today marks the final day of National Salvation Army Week here in the Lubbock, Tex. area.

The Salvation Army is a unique international religious and charitable organization "dedicated to the three S'es: soap, soup and salvation," according to Major Avedis Kasarjian, commander of the local chapter.

Major Kasarjian explains that the Lubbock Chapter offers more than 30 distinct forms of assistance that can be broken down into three main areas of concern: family assistance, transient services, and disaster assistance. "All our programs are geared toward soothing human discomfort and suffering in order to help see that humanity is brought into right focus with their God."

One way that Reese families could assist the family services program of the Salvation Army would be to consider donating their old or outgrown clothing to the Chapter prior to a PCS move from the area. Items for the assistance programs may be delivered to the offices at 17th St. and Ave. K in Lubbock or arrangements for pickup at your home may be completed by calling the Major's office 765-9434. That number is also good for those seeking assistance from any of the Army's programs.

Rising electric rates strain budget; save $$ by avoiding peak periods

By Lomas L. Freeman
64th Civil Engineering Sq.
Our electrical rates keep rising and we all keep straining to stay within our utility budget. Last month Southwestern Public Service Company's bill for Reese was $29,961. In the summer with air conditioners going, it is even higher. The bill for the same month a year ago was $22,004.

Conservation

How do we reduce this bill when we have cutback to the limit? One thing that would help a lot is to change the time we run our appliances and equipment that use a lot of electricity. You ask how does this help? A kilowatt is a kilowatt. What many don't know is that the kilowatts used is not the total bill.

We have a "Demand charge" which amounts to approximately $5,000.

This demand charge is simply a penalty for using electricity for a short time at a high rate. This charge is based on our highest rate for a 15 minute period. Each added kilowatt to this high demand costs $1.25. Our lowest electrical use rate is $0.01 per kilowatt. So you see a sharp drop in our high use period could save a lot.

Why "Demand Cost"?

You may ask why we are charged this demand cost. The answer is simple. Since electricity can't be stored, the electric company has to keep extra generators and transmission lines to satisfy these requirements for a few minutes a day. Thus the "Demand Charge" was created to discourage this high peak use.

Now that we understand the problem, what do we do about it? First, we must know when our high peak electrical use occurs. In the summer when the air conditioners are running, the peak is around 2 p.m. To save, we must try to operate all high electrical using items at night, weekends, or during the day before 10 a.m. or after 3 p.m. Let's all try and make these "time of use" changes and see what happens.

FROM THE GRAND PRIX RACE TRACKS OF THE WORLD

The bold, slashing wedge you see on Grand Prix race tracks is here now on the roads of America—in the Triumph TR7. The edge of the wedge knifes through the wind, forcing the front down for solid control. It cuts drag, enhances power. But shut your eyes and you're riding in a luxury sedan. You sit and stretch in elegant space. This swift, nimble sports car is simply beautiful. But most important—TR7 is beautifully simple; engineered for endless pleasure and low maintenance at a price that's a steal.

Record number receive achievement recognition

A graduate recognition program was held May 11 in the Base Chapel for 45 Reese personnel who had earned degrees through on base colleges and area schools. This is the first time that 45 Reesites have earned degrees in one year (June 1, 1975 through May 31, 1976).

Eighteen of the 45 had attended school by bootstrap, the others had obtained degrees during off duty hours. Fourteen received masters degrees from the University of Northern Colorado. These degrees were earned without leaving Reese.

Representatives from on base colleges and area schools were present at the recognition ceremony.

Col. Edward Mendel, commander, 64th Flying Training Wing, in his welcoming address indicated the significance of the off duty education program in a time when the fully funded programs are being cut back.

Personnel Director, Lt. Col. Ivan Jenkins concluded the ceremony with an expression of the appreciation of our civilian students and the vital contribution they make to the program in permitting a larger selection of courses for military students.

Bill Trafton, Education Services officer, presented a plaque of recognition to Dean Don Yarbrough, Dean of Continuing Education of South Plains College, for his efforts to "Carry education to the people" in 12 South Plains communities.

Several husband and wife teams were recognized for their academic achievements. Sgt. Billy Millwee of the USAF Hospital was recognized in three areas on base as well as for the Social Science Division of the college.

Blue Diamonds, Better Half win

By Barbara Reiland

Sunday turned out to be a bad day for the Dusty Devils and the Red Hots, but a very good day indeed for the Blue Diamonds and the Better Half.

The only change in standings, however, is that the Red Hots and Blue Diamonds are not tied for second place. The Dusty Devils remain in first and the Better Half remains in last place.

The first upset of the day took place between the Dusty Devils and the Blue Diamonds, with the Blue Diamonds walking away with a 25-13 win over the first place team. As a team, they had it "Together" and just outplayed the opponent. Lisa Higgs helped the Blue Diamond effort with her home run in the fifth inning and her consistently outstanding pitching. She had three strike-outs during the game. For her first time in the rover position, Cathy Beiry proved herself to be a valued defensive player for the Blue Diamonds - keep up the good work Cathy.

The Dusty Devil's shortstop, Sandy Gruber, not only hit a fine home run with two RBIs, but pulled off a classic double play. Now that's what a good shortstop is for! Bobbie Powlett's triple helped the team out too, but the Blue Diamonds were not to be denied on this one.

The second game was the best of the year for the Better Half as they upset the second place team, the Red Hots, 12-7. Betty Pusser's two home runs, for a total of four runs being added to the Better Half score, really helped the game along. One was in the bottom of the first inning and the other in the sixth. Teresa McCutchin knew how to hit home runs and proved it by bringing in two others with her. Triples by Irene Parham and Christl Johnson didn't hurt either. Christl, playing rover, was the Red Hots' nemesis. She delt her vengeance by catching every fly to short center that was hit — and there were quite a few.

Barb Burho seemed to be about the only hero the Red Hots had Sunday. Her home run in the top of the third inning finally put some runs in the score book, three of them. Not until the seventh inning did the Red Hots do any more scoring. That was with the aid of Betty Creager's triple and my hit(?) Betty's was an honest-to-goodness hit. Mine was just a little dribbler in front of the plate that I got lucky with and made it to third base. One player that I think deserves some recognition is Mamie Butler who played second base for the Red Hots in the first half of the game — she made outstanding plays.

If you think you can stand the excitement, come on out Sunday to the ball diamond and watch the Blue Diamonds take on the Better Half at 3 p.m. and the Dusty Devils play the Red Hots at 5 p.m.

Numerous cycle literature available to increase knowledge, enjoyment

By Church Maas

OK fans, since you've come this far with me, I thought I'd give you a rundown on some of the literature available on cycling. No one rides all the time, and there's hardly any better way to expand your knowledge than through reading. So here's some thought on how to spend your reading time effectively.

There are several categories of magazines on the stands, from general coverage types to very specialized ones. Some have interesting copy and accurate statistics, others are mostly pictures — the best strike a happy medium.

Two of the best of the general variety are "Motorcyclist" and "Cycle Guide," with "Cycle" a close third. There are a host of others of course which may appeal to you.

On the Specialty side, dirt bikers have a broad choice, but in my opinion, "Dirt Bike" rides the top of the heap. "Dirt Rider" is also good and has some excellent maintenance articles.

Until just recently, touring riders had but one choice — "Road Rider". Filled with colorful tour stories and excellent equipment reports, it has a well deserved reputation for high quality. About a year ago "Rider" came along. By any count it is a fine addition for the road goer with slick photography, glossy paper, and well written articles.

Two of the host of newsletters bear mentioning. The BMW Motorcycle Owners Association prints a monthly piece which is virtually packed with "how to" columns, letters, and a great flea market section for specialized parts and accessories. If you own one of these fine bikes you ought to sign up. "Endo News" is published right here in Texas for enduro riders throughout the southwest — if you're competing it will keep you up to date.

These are the periodicals. In the future I'll fill you in on some of the books that have flooded the market, but if you cover half of what I've mentioned here you'll be busy. Good reading.

Game changes golf tourney date

The Reese AFB Partnership Golf Tournament which was originally scheduled to begin June 18 will now be played June 25, 26, and 27. The change in playing dates was made to avoid a conflict with the Coaches All-American game, scheduled for June 19 in Lubbock.

Contestants will be competing for a total of $1,800 worth of merchandise prize certificates. Play will consist of 54 holes of competition, 18 holes each day. Teams will be flighted after the first day based on their recorded handicap and scores. The seven stroke rule will be in effect again this year.

There will be four flights of golfers with prizes awarded to both members of each first, second and third place teams in each flight. Each first place winner will receive $100. Second place is worth $75 each and third place is worth $50. Shotgun starts are scheduled each day for 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

On the evening of June 26, a catered dinner will be served in the Reese Golf Clubhouse for all participants. The tourney entry fee of $20 per golfer entitles each golfer to bring one guest to the dinner.

Entries must be registered with Stan Navage, club pro, at the Reese Golf Clubhouse no later than 4 p.m. June 23, Call Ext. 2819.

Steve Long and Jeff Mitchell are the defending title holders in the Championship Flight.

James Jenkins, 64th Supply Squadron, won a first place trophy in the Meridian Invitational Wrestling Tournament that was held April 16, 17 and 18 in Oklahoma City, Ok.

Using the Korean form of Wrestling, Wang Soo, Jenkins emerged as the champion in the light-heavy weight division of more than 20 wrestlers. His only loss was in the first match of the double elimination tournament.

Wrestling since the 6th grade, Jenkins became interested in Wang Soo while stationed in Korea.
