

THE ROUNDUP

VOLUME XXVIII NUMBER 2 JANUARY 14, 1977 LUBBOCK, TEXAS

THIS IS IT! — Lt. Col. Milton A. Melville, commandant, Air Training Command Noncommissioned Officer Academy, Lackland AFB, Tex., announced the accreditation of the academy during graduation exercises of Class 76-8 on Dec. 15, 1976. Earlier in the day, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Occupational Education Institutions granted the academy full accreditation for a period of five years. (U.S. Air Force Photo)

Accreditation given to NCO Academy

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) - Glad tidings came early during the 1976 Christmas season for the Air Training Command (ATC) NCO Academy, Lackland AFB, Tex. (Annex).

The academy, the highest level of NCO professional military education in the command, was given full accreditation by the Delegate Assembly, Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Occupational Education Institutions. Delegates voted Dec. 15 in Atlanta to give the ATC academy accreditation for five years. Accreditation is usually given for a shorter period of time.

Announcement of the milestone achievement was made during graduation ceremonies of Class 76-8. The accreditation came one month after the academy marked its third anniversary. Since it opened Nov. 14, 1973, more than 2,000 NCOs have graduated from the academy.

The academy's mission is to prepare selected technical and master sergeants for positions of greater responsibility by broadening their leadership and managerial capabilities, and by expanding their perspective of the military profession. Courses of study include communicative skills, military studies, world affairs, leadership and management.

Full accreditation means academy graduates will receive seven credit hours, granted by the Community College of the Air Force (CCAF). Accreditation is a key element in completing the CCAF program. All NCOs who have graduated from the academy are eligible for the seven credit hours.

'Jack Frost-77' now underway in Alaska

MACDILL AFB, Fla. (AFNS) - The United States Readiness Command (USRED) will conduct a joint readiness exercise, called Jack Frost-77, in central Alaska from Jan. 11 thru Feb. 3. More than 14,000 soldiers, airmen, sailors and marines will be involved in the exercise.

The purpose of the exercise is to train a joint task force to defend the main base complexes of Alaska under arctic conditions.

Jack Frost-77 will be conducted in four phases. First and second phases will cover deployment and climatic familiarization and a one-day command post exercise. The third phase will take in tactical operations. The final phase of the exercise will center on redeployment of forces.

The exercise areas will encompass the Tanana River Valley from Ft. Wainwright to Ft. Greely, Alaska. Most of the ground activity will be concentrated in the Blair Lakes area south of Fairbanks, with some special activities planned for Richardson and Kodiak Island areas.

The exercise will pit two separate task forces against one another. Friendly air and ground forces will be directed by the commander, Joint Task Force, Alaska, while the opposition forces will be directed by the commander, Joint Opposition Forces.

One-hundred-two C-141 Starlifter sorties and 18 C-130 Hercules sorties from the Military Airlift Command (MAC) will be used in deployment of forces. MAC will also provide 26 C-130s for tactical operations including parachute assaults and air landings.

Other exercise aircraft will include 24 F-4 Phantom II fighters; 6 RF-4 Phantom II Reconnaissance aircraft; 6 F-111 swing-wing, all-weather aircraft; 8 A-7 Corsair II and 1 A-10 close air support aircraft. The A-10 is presently being tested on its ability to operate in the arctic environment. Special operations forces will provide a special operations base and two C-130

Spectre gunships and two C-130E Combat Talon aircraft.

The intelligence setting for the exercise will portray an increase in world tensions caused by the mythical country of Mira's sending invading forces into Alaskan territory.

The exercise director for Jack Frost-77 is Lt. Gen. W. W. Marshall, USRED deputy commander in chief. Lt. Gen. Marion L. Boswell, commander, Alaskan Air Command, will command Joint Task Force, Alaska.

That Freedom is

Now Ringing

In the last Presidential election blacks throughout the country turned out in record numbers to vote. This was a partial fulfillment of the dream expressed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., back in the 1963 March on Washington where he said,

"When we let freedom ring, when we let it ring from every village and hamlet, from every State and every city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of that old Negro spiritual: Free at last! Free at last! Thank God Almighty, we are free at last."

The importance of exercising the right to vote in fulfilling Dr. King's dream of freedom was expressed by the Reverend Walter E. Fauntroy, Washington director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, in his 1968 plea after the assassination of Reverend King: "The clock must not be turned back as a result of his death. They have killed the dreamer, but what shall become of his dream: the answer to that question may well rest with your vote. So as a living tribute to the sainted memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., register and vote...

for one America, for the fulfillment of his dream."

As the eulogies pointed out eight years ago, Martin Luther King Jr. was born on Jan. 15, 1929 in Atlanta, Ga. Educated as a minister, he held both Ph.D. and D.D. degrees, as well as noted prizes for scholarship.

While pastor of the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery, Ala., Dr. King assumed leadership of the Montgomery bus boycott which ended segregation on city buses. The use of nonviolence by the Montgomery Improvement Association proved successful as a technique in combating discrimination, and it put the name of its advocate, Martin Luther King Jr., in the headlines. From that time on, he became the symbol of the civil rights movement in the United States; in 1963 he was named the "Man of the Year" by Time magazine.

With a group of Atlanta ministers, he organized the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to stage massive demonstrations and carry the civil rights struggle for equality into other areas of the Nation. Birmingham, Ala., became the first target for Dr. King. Jailed as the leader of the nonviolent demonstration he wrote his famous "Letter from a Birmingham Jail." It was the March on Washington in 1963, culminating in Dr. King's famous speech, "I have a Dream," that gave impetus to passage of the Civil Rights Act in 1964. To implement the gains expressed in the act, Dr. King organized the voter registration drives in Alabama. In 1966 he directed his activities at the slums of Chicago. He was planning a poor people's march on Washington, when on April 4, 1968, he was shot by an assassin in Memphis, Tenn.

At the private services held for Dr. King at the Ebenezer Baptist Church where he had so often preached, a tape of one of his own sermons was played. In the sermon he said, "If any of you are around when I have to meet my day, I don't want a long funeral. And if you get somebody to deliver the eulogy, tell him not to talk too long... Tell them not to mention that I have a Nobel Peace Prize. That isn't important. Tell them not to mention that I have three or four hundred other awards. That's not important. Tell them not to mention where I went to school... I'd like somebody to mention that day, that Martin Luther King Jr., tried to give his life serving others. I'd like for somebody to say that day that Martin Luther King Jr. tried to love somebody..."

A special memorial service will be held at 4 p.m. today in the Base Chapel to honor the 48th anniversary of Dr. King's birth. Music will be provided by the New Galilee Baptist Church. Leon Anderson pastor of the church, will be the main speaker. Colonel Edward Mendel, 64th Flying Training Wing (FTW) commander, and Joseph Brotherston, Base commander, and MSgt. Arnold Mathews, president of the Reese Black Culture Club will also give talks.

As the Nation honors Dr. King we are reminded that the good a man does lives after him. The seeds of justice planted during his lifetime have borne fruits of greater equality and freedom for all Americans.

FROM THE TRAIL BOSS

Col. Edward Mendel
Wing Commander

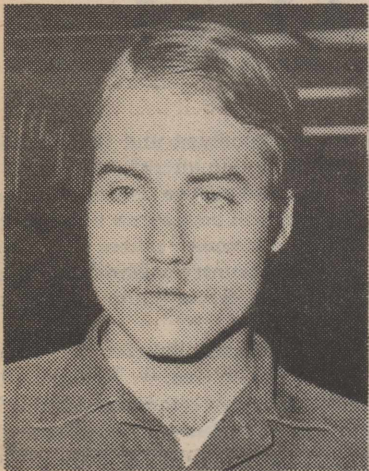

Tomorrow marks the birth date of a controversial American who has been called by many a "Prophet in our own time," Martin Luther King, Jr. There is not one of us today whose life has not been affected by the life of this man. He lived and died pursuing a dream for all of America, the dream of equality for the people of our land. It was out of his stirring of the conscience of apathetic citizens that many of the racial barriers that has been perpetuated for decades began to fall, and our nation embarked on a rough, rocky, sometimes violent road to right the ills of our society.

To many, Martin Luther King was a paradox. A religious man, a christian dedicated to the cause of peace, and yet leading his followers in dangerous ways that often brought turmoil and strife. It is a paradox, and yet an understandable one, for change is never easy. When it involves changes of attitude and elimination of prejudice, the reaction is strong.

The dream that Dr. King dreamed is still far from being achieved. Many steps have been taken, but more lie ahead. It is true that the Armed Forces of the United States have been front runners in the cause of equal opportunity, and we have made real progress. We are doing well at Reese, but we should not be content with our achievements. There are many more things that might be done. This birth date of a man who was dedicated to the dream of equality for all races should stand as a reminder of the man and his dream. This is of special importance to military people who have dedicated their lives to support a nation founded on equality and justice. Make his dream yours.

What do you think of the amnesty program?

I think we should have the program. People should have their rights as to what they feel. If they didn't believe in fighting why prosecute them.

I'm against the amnesty. Anyone who runs should be punished or do government service.

Commander's CARE Line

(Editor's Note: THE ROUNDUP will publish Commander's CARE Line calls which are of basewide interest. Names of callers will not be published, but callers should leave their name and duty extension in case their problem needs clarification. All calls are reviewed by Wing Commander Col. Edward Mendel. Reese people are urged to use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air complaints or comments, if possible. If not, call the CARE Line by dialing C-A-R-E (Ext. 2273). Please provide your name and duty section when calling.)

Flag Display

I noticed that the American flag is down in front of Wing Headquarters. I was wondering if there is a wind limitation on it. I also noticed on my way to work this morning that the flag was up before sunrise. Isn't that against regulations since there is no light on it?

I appreciate your interest and concern for the proper display of the American flag. All too often, we become somewhat callous and noncommittal regarding the customs and courtesies rendered our flag.

AFM 900-33 and AFR 50-14 allow the Base Commander to establish the time for reveille as the start of the duty day. The flag is raised at reveille. The Base Commander, incoordination with the Wing Command Post has established a 30 mile per hour wind restriction on the flag to prevent it from being damaged. Anytime the weather is not conducive to proper flag display, it will be taken down. Thanks again for your concern.

Ladies' Night

I would like to know the reasoning behind letting Monday night be Ladies' Night. Since intramural basketball is played between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday there is no time for open play. Very few women use the gym in comparison to the persons who want to use it but cannot.

I agree that we do need more indoor gym space. Unfortunately, we have only one gym, so we try to schedule the facility in a manner that will reach the most people.

Since Ladies' Night was moved to

Monday night, we have noted increased participation. This indicates that the three hours spent on Ladies' Night is providing a service for female personnel who cannot normally use some of the gym facilities, the Sauna, for example. Currently, during off-duty time, the gym has about 21 hours of free play, nine hours of intramurals, and three hours of Ladies' Night. I recognize your concern for the limited free play time available, but we must be able to schedule time for our organized activities. These organized activities do reach a significant number of our gym users, and I believe that our schedule provides an equitable distribution of the available time.

Incidentally, we are working on getting a sauna for our female customers. When this is installed, the Ladies' Night situation will be reviewed.

Dear Chaplin Millsaps:

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to you and all the fine people at Reese that helped with the Christmas Party for our children this past year. Giving the children a choice between a tour of the base or watching the movies was a tremendous success. The children wish to express their thanks to their "sponsors" for the very wonderful gifts.

Thank you for having Buckner out for the party this year and for thinking of us at this time of the year.

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - Air Force officials have announced changes to revitalize the Air Force Physical Fitness Program (aerobics). The changes are included in a revision of Air Force Regulation 50-49 due soon to the field.

Aerobics revisions include revised testing, possible administrative actions against those who continually fail to measure up to fitness standards and more recognition for members who excel. Another major revision is the increased command emphasis on fitness.

One change to testing raises the aerobics test-passing standard from Category 11 (Fair) to Category III (Average). This will require, for example, a 33-year-old member to run 1½ miles in the 12:30 to 15:00 minute range instead of the current 15:01 to 17:00 minute range.

Another testing change provides three fitness-testing options. These options are fast walking, running and running in place.

Other changes require review of all current test excusal waivers, participation by all medically qualified members regardless of age, and testing all members regardless of location with absolute minimum exceptions.

The AFR 50-49 revision also modifies fitness testing for Air Force women. The revision eliminates the 10BX optional exercise program and adjusts aerobics and testing standards to accommodate participation in the program by women.

Possible administrative actions include a separation policy for repeated test failures.

In a letter to commanders of major commands, Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. David C. Jones noted that good physical condition is a vital ingredient in maintaining a well-disciplined, high-quality force.

The general said, "Our people must participate fully in the physical conditioning program if we are to attain a high level of fitness. The aerobics program, when used properly, can help achieve this fitness level."

Women pilot trainees finish solo flights in Cessna T-37s

WILLIAMS AFB, Ariz. (AFNS) - The first 10 women to enter Air Force undergraduate pilot training have completed their solo flights here after 30 hours of flying time in the Cessna T-37 training aircraft.

If all goes well, the women will complete T-37 phase graduation on March 18, 1977, and begin training in the Northrop T-38 Talon on March 21. They are scheduled to complete 90 flying hours in the T-37 and approximately 120 flying hours in the T-38 training aircraft.

How do the women feel about successfully completing their solo requirements? "It's really too difficult to put into words," said 1st

Lt. Mary M. Livingston. "Each day is more exciting and challenging than the day before. As for the solo flight, it's a tremendous feeling to be in complete control of the aircraft after flying so long with an instructor pilot sitting beside you watching your every move. It's when you finally prove to yourself that you can do it. The only person you can depend on is yourself."

No officer RIF forseen in remainder of FY 77

WASHINGTON (AFNS) - The Air Force has announced that strength projections now indicate that an officer reduction-in-force (RIF) can be totally avoided in fiscal year 1977. A Reserve Officer Screening Board has not been planned.

Officials have been extremely concerned in the last three fiscal years over the requirement to involuntarily separate large numbers of officers. As a result, Air Force has aggressively pursued alternatives to minimize RIF.

Procurement during this fiscal year will continue to remain at levels which are well below normal. Additionally, many of the strength reduction programs employed in previous years have been extended into fiscal year 1977 including the recently announced rated and nonrated early release program.

The losses that are expected to occur from on-going strength reduction programs should be sufficient to reduce fiscal year 1977 officer strength to the current objective level.

Napolitano's silver bar multiplies over holiday

By Capt. Jim Nelson

I'm sure hundreds of you have been wondering why Cliff Napolitano is wearing two silver bars on his hat. Well it seems Santa accidentally dropped a set of captains bars into his stocking and no one has the heart to tell him.

The squadron is in the midst of an epidemic of frozen pipes. The symptoms are all there . . . late reporting, fragrant offices and a path beaten from the front door to the latrines.

Class 77-05

Second Lt. John Hensley keeps muttering something about his initial solo ride going awful fast. Tell us Max, what is the speed of sound at 5,000 feet?

Meanwhile 2nd Lt. Larry Ridgeway showed the RSU how many times you have to fly straight through on initial to read the runway change procedures in the inflight guide. The senior controller gave him a gift certificate for five free speed reading lessons.

Class 78-01

Santa was very good to everybody in 01. He brought us bags of P-missions, links, a few sorties, and even Saturday links. He's always good to the new kids on the block.

On the lighter side, we've had two academic tests with no busts and our first EPQ (and no comment). Special mention goes to the student who on his first sortie, asked his IP what seat he should sit in. Second place goes to the IP who put down full flaps in a 95 knot nose wheel touchdown condition. However, everything worked out . . . his student corrected him. Third place to the student who wondered if he got a "rest period" between flights when he was scheduled to double bang. Fourth place to the student's wife who, at the Newcomer's Dinner, told Colonel Brotherston he could use some "lip closure."

Saint Nick brings Graf gift of Captain's grade

By 1st Lt. Mike Dendinger

Taking a head count, I notice everyone made it back from the holiday break in (relatively) good shape. Some of you may have noticed that yours truly was in such good shape that he overlooked last Monday's most important duty-writing this article. Sorry I missed you last week.

The most unique Christmas gift I've seen went to 1st Lt. Ed Graf who evidently found a pair of captain's bars under the tree. I didn't know Santa could do that, or I would have asked myself. Congratulations Ed.

For all of you who didn't hear about "E" Flight's Christmas party, be advised that the new mood in the squadron is progressive country. Now, I won't say this thing is big, but I'm buying all the country music I can get my hands on, and I'd advise you to do the same. As a matter of fact, Waylon Jennings is now an honorary member of the squadron, and rumor has it that Ray Wiley Hubbard and Jerry Jeff Walker are going through P-Qual. (How come all these guys have three names?) Admit it though - We should have seen it coming. What can you expect at a base that's half way between Amarillo and Abilene?

Toad 01, IDENT

This week's toad happens to have been the star of "E" Flight's holiday get together. Deciding that he'd had enough of a good time, he stuffed his shoes in his back pockets, asked John Thompson one more time why the seat of his pants was wet, and proceeded out the door. Anyone who was worried about our hero's ability to find his car needn't have fretted. He walked into the back of it.

Dear Dinger,

I can't stand country music. What should I do?

A Yankee

Dear Yankee,

Look for a job selling shoes. You might do well with a line of pointy toed, high heeled flying boots.

Equipment Unit provides necessary items for duty

A pilot needs a flight suit. A Security Policeman needs a pair of white gloves. An airman working in Civil Engineering needs a pair of protective boots. Helping these and other people acquire items they need to perform their duty is the job of the individuals assigned to the Individual Equipment Unit of the 64th Supply Squadron.

NCO In Charge SSgt. Thomas Tritz along with Senior Airmen Daniel Rivas and Jerome Patterson are responsible for about 400 different items that personnel at Reese need to perform their jobs more safely or comfortably.

The main function of the unit is like that of other units on Reese — support the flying mission. This entails issue of flight suits, flight bags, boots, jackets and other items a pilot will require, however the unit also supports other squadrons such as Civil Engineering and Security Police. They are able to fill these request 99.9 per cent of the time.

"One of the most interesting things about working in here," said Sergeant Tritz, "is the opportunity to meet a large number of people who represent not only different parts of the country but also different career fields in the Air Force."

Steven Cupps completes AFIT's Contract Course

A member of the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, Steven J. Cupps, has just completed the Contract Preparation Course at the Air Force Institute of Technology (AFIT).

The two week course, conducted by faculty members at AFIT's Civil Engineering School, increases the capabilities of architects and engineers to write a service, construction, or architect-engineer contract specification. The fundamentals of government contracting, such as the Armed Service Procurement Regulation, contract law, and procurement coordination, are stressed.

The civil engineering career field includes many specialties, and AFIT's Civil Engineering School provides a series of resident continuing education programs and nonresident programs designed to develop and ensure continued professional competency for members of the civil engineering career field.

A major component of Air University, AFIT plans, organizes, conducts, and administers degree-granting and continuing education programs in a variety of academic disciplines to meet Air Force needs.

The Institute has three resident schools at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio: The Civil Engineering School, School of Engineering, and School of Systems and Logistics.

Anyone interested in AFIT sponsored educational programs should write to the Admissions Directorate, AFIT/RR, Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, 45433 or call (513) 255-6231, AUTOVON 785-6231.

Kammire receives IP award

The 35th Flying Training Squadron (FTS) has selected 1st Lt. Fredrick A. Kammire as Instructor Pilot of the Month for December.

"Lieutenant Kammire consistently demonstrates an outstanding ability to instruct and communicate with his students," said Lt. Col. Robert Bradshaw, commander of the 35th FTS.

Besides distinguishing himself as an instructor pilot, Lieutenant Kammire also received praise for his ability as a Runway Supervisory Unit (RSU) controller and as an Assistant Associate Standardization Evaluation member.

Colonel Bradshaw concluded, "His performance and personal characteristics establish him as one of the finest young officers and instructor pilots in the squadron."

First baby of year award to Matthew Churchill

Nobody can accuse Matthew Aaron Churchill of having poor timing. Along with all the joy that a new born infant brings, Matthew brought with him the honor of being Reese's first baby of 1977. This brought more than $175 in merchandise to Matthew and his parents, 1st Lt. and Mrs. Edward Churchill of 5509 3rd St., Lubbock.

Matthew became a member of the Churchill family at 4:58 p.m., Jan. 5. He was born at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock and weighed in at a whopping 11 pounds. It was the second happy event for Lieutenant Churchill who is a member of the Stan/Eval unit of the 64th Student Squadron. Three and a half years ago they had their first child Tara.

The contest rules state that the baby must be born in Lubbock County. That left out twins, Rodney Gene and James Robert Black, who were born at Wolforth Hall, Lackland AFB on New Year's Day at 1:10 p.m. Their timing was perfect, but they were off by 420 miles. The parents, Sgt. and Mrs. Rodney Black of 107 McGuire, aren't complaining though. They have a lot to be happy for.

So, by good timing and 420 miles, Matthew Aaron Churchill and parents will receive the following prizes: Two free passes to the South Plains Cinema, a high chair from the El Paso Wholesale Co., an oriental rug from Knight Carpet Service, two chicken dinners from Colonel Sanders, a thermometer from L&H Drugs, a $25 gift certificate from Baby World, a planter from Redbud Floral, 10 gallons of gas from Kyle's Texaco, a box of cigars from Smoker's Haven, a free portrait from Frame of Mind, a toy from Young Fun Inc., a $15 certificate from Greenhouse, a sterling baby cup from Furr's Family Center, a baby book from Shetland-Hallmark, and $10 gift certificates from each of Hemphill Wells, Gibson's, Latham's, West Texas Savings, Reese Credit Union, Sears, Intimate Impressions, and Montgomery Wards.

Congratulations to both the Churchills and the Blacks on this joyous occasion.

Mr. & Mrs. Rodney Black, Reese Village on the birth of twin sons, one weighing 6 pounds 4 ounces at 1:10 p.m. and one weighing 5 pounds 9 ounces at 1:11 p.m. January 1, 1977 at Wilford Hall USAF Hospital in San Antonio.

AlC and Mrs. Gary Dunlap of 1606 Elkhart #16 on the birth of twins, Jason Paul, weighing 4 pounds, and Brian Anthony, weighing 5 pounds 12 ounces, at 6:28 p.m. and 6:34 p.m. respectively, Jan. 10 in University Hospital.

New classes begin at Lubbock College

Thirteen new classes are getting underway this month in the Lubbock Christian College Continuing Education Division.

Five of the courses are aimed at giving persons skills or knowledge that can be used for new careers. These classes include transcription/dictation, basic book-keeping, beginning typewriting, basic real estate and intermediate real estate law.

Macrame and intermediate oil painting are two courses that are getting underway in the art field, while cake decorating and microwave cooking will help students add creative touches in the kitchen.

Rounding out the January offerings are novice dog obedience, anxiety workshop, charm and personal development and sign language for the deaf.

Classes in the Continuing Education Division are offered at night so that they may be taken by homemakers or those with fulltime jobs. They are offered for self-improvement and enrichment, but recipients do not receive college credits.

For further information or registration, call Frankie Faver, director of LCC's Continuing Education Division at 792-3221.

Enlisted wives plan afternoon of fun

Because Santa's visit Dec. 18 and the children's magic show Dec. 30 were such a success, the Enlisted Wives Club will host another special afternoon of games at the NCO Club just for children.

The fun will start at 2 p.m. tomorrow with an exciting cartoon feature followed by games in which 10 individual prizes will be given away. Refreshments can be purchased at the club.

Remember, any children at Reese can join the fun. Bring a friend.

The Enlisted Wives Club would also like to thank Jay Bulson for all his help and support during Santa's visit to Reese.

Bowling lanes offer specials for bowlers

The Reese Bowling Lanes has several on-going projects and several future projects which should interest bowlers or prospective bowlers.

For those who already know how to bowl, league bowling is available. Two rent-a-lane programs are also available. Sundays, a lane may be rented for two hours for $3.50. During the week, a lane may be rented for $2 per hour. Lanes are also available for parties. Call Ext. 2116 for reservations.

For the beginning bowler, free instruction is offered at 1:30 p.m. Wednesdays. A Coach-Student league is also available. One experienced bowler teams with two beginners in this league. Helpful tips may be picked up this way while participating in a competitive league.

A Ladies' afternoon Mini-league is also being formed. This league will run from January to May.

For relative inexpensive entertainment, the Reese Lanes offer a real bargain.

'PRO' concept begins Feb. 5 with basketball

Beginning Feb. 5, Youth Activities will try a new idea in sports activities.

Called "PRO" (Primarily Recreationally Oriented), the program will be aimed at improving athletic skills and participating in a sport for the mere enjoyment of the activity.

This program differs from the usual sports league in that no formal registration or forced practice is required. There are no set teams or win-loss records. Instead during the first hour of the program, skill instruction will be offered. During the second hour a regular game will be played with teams selected from among those present.

The first program will be with basketball. Instruction and games will begin Feb. 5 from 1-3 p.m. in the base gym.

This program is family oriented with parents encouraged to help "coach" or take part in skill instruction or game play.

If interest in participating in this program, call Jerry Brodkey at Ext. 2820.

1958 picks Lisa Yocum as top Amn

To be sure, A1C Lisa Yocum considered her selection as the 1958th Communications Squadron Airman of the Month for November as the high point of her brief Air Force career. Adding to the event's importance was the presentation of a certificate of recognition by Brig. Gen. Donald J. Bowen, commander, Southern Communications Area (AFCS).

Airman Yocum is a navigation aids maintenance specialist with the 1958th. According to her supervisor, she is doing so well in training that she has been given several additional duties in the duty section.

Ten Pin Alley

Scores continue upward increase

by Sonny Serutan

Can't tell what is going on yet. Everybody is bowling so good, maybe this game is rigged.

The intramural showed up pretty good this week. Chuck Wingfield dropped a 626 on the people (210-206-210). Don Hutchings had 204/584, Mel Parker 195/571, Rod Wilson 204/563, Ed Smith 204/557, and Rob Willoughby and Sam Mele 542. M. Warren found the range with a 254 game.

Karen Goad (Goad Editor) had a 197/505. Pretty good for government work.

Jim Armstrong led the shooters Wednesday night with a 220/580, followed by Rod Wilson 211/574, Doug Bradford 190/521, and Frank Owens 512. Doris Rogers had a 188/530 to lead the ladies.

Thursday we had the Ball and Chainers out knocking the pins down again. George Clark had a 222/561, Bill Register 202/543, Sam Mele 201/539, Connor Russell 212/522 and Wally Caskey 515.

The ladies came to bowl too. Jo Ann Clark had a 516, Shirley Walker 201/515, Johnny Caskey 209/511, Gladys Mele 508, and Mary Arnold 501.

The Hospital group came roaring through this week. Rob Willoughby jumped up with a 225/604 and Bob Gregario had a 221/594. Jo Bossart led the ladies with a 462 series.

Saturday the group came on pretty good. The fun and games starts at 8 p.m. Come early to be sure of getting a spot.

The double elimination tournament is tomorrow. This one is made to order for you guys and gals. There'll be lots of fun and spectators are invited.

S.S. is really in trouble this week. Acts are getting pretty tough to get. Even with all the excuses and alibis, he still blew it. People just do not want to see an instant replay of Connor Russell winning on the pin ball machine.

Sonny Says: "Be sure and register for our tournaments."
