NUMBER 26

JULY 1, 1977

LUBBOCK, TEXAS

Weekend brings full schedule of activities

July Fourth weekend begins tonight with a variety of activities being planned in celebration.

A street dance at the NCO Open Mess will begin the events July 1 with "Last Dance" providing the music.

The softball field will be a busy place July 2 when a 3-2 Slowpitch Softball Tournament begins. The tourney will begin at 9 a.m. and run into the evening with the tournament finishing up Sunday. At present, 11 teams are entered in the tourney.

The evening will be just as exciting with Al Wilson performing in the Mathis Recreation Center. Al gets into a crowd the way he gets into his music... with power and feeling... music is his whole life... from a lowly beginning in a small Mississippi town, through small clubs in even smaller towns, he made his way west, polishing his act, adding comedy and other touches of the pro. He was seen and signed by Johnny Rivers where he recorded "Do What You Gotta Do" followed by his hit "Show & Tell" which sold more than two million copies and was voted number one of the year by Cashbox magazine. The show begins at 9 p.m. and there is a $1.50 admission charge.

The Reese Golf Course will be the setting for activities July 3. A Firecracker Handicap tournament will be held with more than $150 in prizes to be awarded. Contact the course, Ext. 2819 to enter.

The remainder of events will be held July 4th at the picnic grounds. Entertainment will be provided through the day by Flash Mobile's Disco and "Overload." "Overload" will also be performing in the evening at the Mathis Recreation Center beginning at 9 p.m.

Sports events will also abound during the day. The finals of the Super Stars competition will take place. In addition, the Youth Center will have contests such as the egg toss and two legged race for dependent youths. Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

The senior officers will take on the junior officers in softball. This will be followed by the NCO vs. junior enlisted game.

Various booths will also be set up in the park. The dunking tank will be there again as will the jail house, football throw and many others. There will also be food and drink booths.

All in all the weekend should be very exciting and fun. Make plans now to attend.

LET'S HAVE FUN — This scene will hopefully be depicted during this year's basewide picnic celebrating 4th of July. A day of fun, music, games and eats are planned for this year. (U.S. Air Force photo)

201 years later, Americans continue to celebrate a freedom that began in . . .

1776

If celebrating our Nation's independence day on the Fourth of July was good enough for Thomas Jefferson, who had a significant role in writing the Declaration of Independence, it should be good enough for us today. Periodically writers or historians point out very learnedly that our independence did not in fact begin on the July 4, 1776, date.

It was Jefferson's idea that the Fourth of July should be the United States' primary national day. He set the tone for future celebrations on July 4, 1801, just after he entered the White House.

A guest described the festivities: "We found about 20 persons present in the room where sat Mr. J. surrounded by five Cherokee chiefs. After a conversation of a few minutes, he invited his company into the usual dining room, whose four large sideboards were covered with refreshments (by this time the crowd had grown to 100) . . . Martial music soon announced the approach of the Marine Corps of Capt. Burroughs, who in due military form saluted the President accompanied by the President's March . . . All appeared to be cheerful, all happy. Mr. Jefferson mingled promiscuously with the citizens. . . ."

In subsequent years, Fourth of July celebrations have been the highlight of our national calendar. It is interesting to note, however, that if our independence does not stem from July 4, 1776, nothing else of any national consequence ever happened on that date. For example, George Washington assumed command of the Army besieging Boston on July 2, 1775. On July 3, 1898, the Spanish fleet was destroyed during the Spanish-American War. On July 2, 1921, a joint resolution of Congress declared the war with Germany at an end. On July 3, 1944, the First U.S. Army opened an offensive in France.

One event of interesting consequence, however, did happen on July 4. George M. Cohan, whose popular songs included "Over There" and "It's a Grand Old Flag," was born on Independence Day in 1878, a fact that he noted in one of his famous songs: "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy . . . Born on the Fourth of July."

Although most of Cohan's more than 100 songs are remembered only by oldtimers, his "Yankee Doodle Dandy" has remained a well-known favorite, revived each year on the Fourth of July by every band marching down Main Street, U.S.A.

Lubbock promotes home grown Fourth

Lubbock will celebrate a Home Grown Fourth in 1977. Chairman of the Fourth of July Committee, J. D. Hufstедler has announced that a number of things will be happening that Lubbock citizens can enjoy and participate in. On the Fourth of July weekend there will be the Lubbock Open Highway Tennis Tournament. Headquarters will be at the Lubbock Municipal Tennis Center. Ron Kirchenbauer is chairman of the tournament. Those interested in entering should mail their entries to 3409 84th Street, Lubbock, Texas, 79423. All entries must be in by June 28. The matches will be played the 1, 2, and 3 of July.

The Lubbock Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring a 3-2 Baseball Tournament. Entry blanks may be picked up at the Parks and Recreation Department or by calling Steve Paxton, 762-6411, Ext. 308. These games will be played on the 2 and 3 of July.

The Governor's Cup Boat Races, sponsored by the West Texas Boat Club, will be at Buffalo Springs

Americans are still marching down mainstreet each July 4th to the tunes of "Yankee Doodle" and "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Have a nice weekend

Col. Charles Bishop
Wing Commander

First of all, let me wish each and everyone of you a super Fourth of July holiday. We are a top notch, hard working organization and I think we've all earned a little extra time off.

Of course, a hard working organization is usually a hard playing one. That's the way it should be. I hope everyone makes the most of the long weekend, but folks, please do it safely. You know, the Air Force saying that "everyone counts" is more than just a saying. It's a statement of fact. When something happens to any one of us, the rest of us must bear not only grief, but part of the burden. No doubt you've seen or heard the dire statistics the National Safety Council people predict for the long weekend. Well, numbers in themselves are cold and impersonal, but when a statistic becomes the name of a friend or relative, it's a different story. The unfortunate fact is that the speeder, the tired, sleepy driver, and the drinking driver will take a life, possibly several lives, this coming weekend. I sincerely hope that none of you fine people here at Reese join the ranks of traffic statistics. If you want to drink, please leave your keys with someone who doesn't. And don't try to go further than time and common sense would allow.

If you would like to avoid some of the highway hazards and have a really good time, I suggest you look into the Fourth of July activities planned by the people at MWR. Lt. Col. Laffey and company promise a full schedule of events with something for everyone this weekend.

Of course, if the weatherman is good to us, I'm sure there will be some who head for the lakes and campgrounds. Again, the key here is moderation. Getting into a boat or diving into a lake after you've had a few too many can be just as deadly as getting behind the wheel of your car or jumping on the seat of your cycle. So, if you're planning an outing at one of the lakes or fishin' holes, take along your good judgement as well as your swim suit and fishing pole. Have fun, but don't overdo it.

One final thing. Fireworks. Of course, a fireworks display is traditional on the Fourth of July. I'm sorry, but for safety reasons we can't permit the use of fireworks on Reese AFB or in Reese Village. We have dry grass that could burn, and houses in the Village are a little bit crowded. Chances are your neighbor wouldn't appreciate having his house catch on fire. Many of our surrounding communities will be having fireworks displays and I'm sure they would welcome their neighbors here at Reese.

For those of you who live off base and plan to set off your own fireworks (where legal) please be extremely careful. Be sure to keep children away from the fireworks. Be especially careful about approaching fireworks which appear to malfunction. Make sure the area is wetted down and that all dry grass and combustibles are removed. Also, it is a good idea to have a garden hose ready, just in case. Still, the best way is to be a spectator at a professional display.

Have a good, safe, and happy Fourth. We certainly want you to be around on the Fifth.

Commander's CARE Line

(Editor's Note: All calls to the CARE Line MUST be accompanied by the caller's full name and duty phone so that answers may be provided personally if space is not available in THE ROUNDUP. All information will be held in confidence and names will be withheld from print upon request. Names and numbers are required in order to give quick, personal responses to legitimate questions. Reese people are urged to use their chain of command or the office of primary responsibility to air complaints or comments, if possible. If not, call the CARE Line by dialing C-A-R-E (Ext. 2273).

A Job Well Done

I would like to compliment Civil Engineering (CE) on a job well done. On Wednesday afternoon, my washing machine began draining into my bathtub. I called CE and within an hour they were at my house searching out the trouble. They spent several hours cleaning out the main, working long after the 5 p.m. quitting time. They came back Thursday to finish the job only to discover that there was still a problem. This time they tried everything, finally resorting to digging up the yard to get at the clogged line. Airmen Grba and Marvin, and SSgt. Beckers and Mr. Gibbons as well as a few others were polite and hard working through the frustrating hot work, and they were even careful not to damage my plants. Thank you for a job well done and appreciated.

Ms. Sara Richie

Civil Engineering welcomed your comments of appreciation. More often than not they are unsung heroes. We tend to take them for granted; thereby, only complaining when their work is not up to our expectations. When people are given credit for a job well done, it has a positive affect on morale. I'd like to thank you and other base personnel who have been giving credit where credit is due.

Grass Cutting

Whoever is cutting the grass around Building 800 needs to either be fired or trained in how to cut grass. I have never seen a good job of cutting the grass around the building. I think this needs to be corrected.

Sgt. Jerry Wolfe

Grounds maintenance for Building 800 is actually accomplished by two different agencies. Normally, a building custodian for a building is responsible for all grass cutting, policing and trimming around the building to a distance of fifty feet from the building, or to the nearest curb or street. In the case of building 800, the Civil Engineering Squadron has graciously used their large gang-type mowers to cut as close to the building as possible. This was done because the gang-type mowers can easily cut close the building with a few passes. This is being accomplished as a courtesy to the building custodian who is responsible for the finish mowing and trimming around the facility. Civil Engineering personnel who operated these mowers are thoroughly trained in their responsibilities, but sometimes building custodians' help is not properly trained. To that end, a series of articles will be published in the base newspaper to acquaint all personnel with requirements for maintaining grounds properly for good base appearance — to include proper grass height, cutting and watering frequencies.

Message from . . .

General Roberts

"On July 4th, Americans rise as one to pay tribute to those incredibly brave forebears - less than three million of them living in 13 small colonies - who challenged the world's mightiest military force with a ringing declaration of independence. Our Bicentennial celebration was a fitting reaffirmation of our pride in those gallant ancestors and our continuing allegiance to their ideas.

This year's celebration of the 'Fourth' must be even more meaningful as it marks another year of our nation's existence as the beacon of hope for oppressed human beings the world over.

As with the past, however, we cannot look only to the future and neglect the 'here and now,' we must dedicate ourselves anew to the vital tasks which demand our professional attention each day, moreover, as Americans, we must do everything within our power to assure our country maintains a constant military readiness and more importantly - a commitment to make whatever sacrifices may be necessary if called upon to defend her.

On this Fourth of July, let us - who made that commitment when we proudly volunteered to serve in the Air Force - join with our military and civilian friends and neighbors in once again celebrating our birth as a free nation, pledging together that our priceless legacy of freedom will remain forever untarnished.

A final thought: As is always the case, on our national holiday our beaches, playgrounds and highways will be crowded to overflowing. We must remain alert at all times if we are to return home without having our holiday outings marred by personal injury, or worse, end in tragedy. Please be especially careful."

The Bible says

Who creates man, how was mankind created by 1st Lt. Carl Knott

Question: If God created man, why is it that less than one per cent of all mankind knows that He exists?

Answer: There is more to this question than appears at a casual glance. Actually, three questions are asked in one, does god exist; if he does, did he create all things (especially man); and if He does exist and He did create man, then how do you explain why less than one per cent of all humanity knows of His existence?

First of all, the Bible begins with God, not with arguments for His existence. Genesis 1:1 reads like this: "In the beginning God . . .". This leaves little room for speculation. Hebrews 11:6 reads, "But without faith it is impossible to please Him, for he that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." According to the Bible, God does exist, He is. We each either choose to accept this as true or think it is a lie. Psalm 14:1 says, "The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God." Where do you stand?

Secondly, the Bible says that God did in fact create all things. This is clearly declared in the first chapter of Genesis, and you are urged to read it for yourself. Notice the appearance of these phrases: "God said . . . and there was"; "God said . . . and it was so"; "God created"; "God made". While some will say outright this is a lie, others will go for a compromise by watering the Scripture down to "God made some basics and then merely watched things be made." There is no Biblical basis for such a "compromise". In addition to the Genesis record, John 1:3 reads, "All things were made by Him, and without Him was not anything made that was made." Colossians 1:16 says, "For by Him were all things created . . .". Now, unless we read something into or out of the Bible, it does not say the God watched, it says He made.

Thirdly, why does less than one per cent of all humanity know of His existence? I find this statistic most questionable, and know of no source whereby such a figure can be substantiated. But even without the statistic the question is worthy of answers from the Bible. The Bible says that God's existence is visible to all, not to a percentage. Psalm 19:1-4 and Romans 1:19-23 are excellent answers to this question. The heavens and the earth are testimony to God's existence to all humanity. The Bible says that through them God's existence is so clearly seen that we are without excuse! As Romans 3:11 so aptly puts it, the problem is not that He doesn't exist, but that there are none that seek Him. Instead He sought us out, and gave His Son, Jesus Christ, to die on a rugged Roman cross as our sacrifice. Thus we may, by placing our trust in Him, have forgiveness and peace, and life abundant and eternal.

Put your heart in the right place.

 Red Cross.
The Good Neighbor.

Space 'A' travel: how, why it works for you

Space-available travel is probably one of the most misunderstood benefits of military life. Knowing a little more about how the space-A program works can help you take advantage of a number of travel opportunities.

Military forces have been reduced over the years and airlift requirements have been reduced accordingly. Consequently, there have been fewer seats for space-A use.

"Many service people see this as a lack of sensitivity or responsiveness to their needs or desires to travel," says Lt. Col. Ramon Taranto, chief of the passenger section in the Air Force directorate of transportation. "It is extremely important that prospective travelers understand how excess seats become available and may be used," he pointed out.

Perhaps the most important fact for potential travelers to understand is that the Air Force can make no special arrangements for space-A passengers.

According to Colonel Taranto, the services are prohibited from funding, providing manpower or scheduling aircraft specifically for space-A passengers. He emphasized that space-A seats are a byproduct of regular scheduling to support duty passengers and cargo.

The Military Airlift Command is the primary military operator of passenger aircraft. Air Force transportation officials say MAC averages about a 95 per cent seat use rate for duty passengers in high density routes leaving the United States.

Transportation officials also say improved scheduling and booking procedures are expected to increase duty-passenger use rates and further decrease the number of space-A seats.

The space-A roster is of obvious importance, but is also a source of confusion, to potential travelers.

"Many people don't understand how they can be number 8 on the roster at one time and number 20 a short time later," Colonel Taranto says. The explanation lies in Department of Defense Regulation 4515.13-R which contains policies affecting passenger transportation.

Duty passengers travel on a priority I, space-required basis. Military personnel on emergency leave travel in the same category.

There are four specific space-A categories (in order of priority): (1) dependents on emergency leave; (2) military personnel on ordinary leave; (3) student dependents; and (4) retired military personnel.

The colonel explains that personnel in categories two through four can expect the greatest amount of fluctuation as space-required and emergency-leave passengers seek transportation.

"It is also important for prospective travelers to be aware of their entitlements," Colonel Taranto said. For example, dependents become eligible for space-A travel through their military sponsor. When the member dies, the space-A travel is no longer authorized.

Another example the colonel mentioned is travel through error. If a member or dependent obtains space-A transportation to which he or she is not entitled, the individual must repay the government.

Repayment is required even if military officials mistakenly issued paperwork authorizing the transportation. The rates are listed in Air Force Regulation 76-28 and are about the same as the cost of commercial transportation.

Tax Reform Act approves SITW

by R.C. Talleur
Accounting and Finance Officer

Military members have been subject to state income tax for some time if they maintain a legal residence in the District of Columbia, or in one of the 36 states which tax its residents who have entered the military. In most cases, the requirement to file a state tax return (and if applicable pay state income tax) exists regardless of where you are stationed in the world. Unlike Federal income tax there were no provisions to withhold state income tax directly from an individual's pay until the Tax Reform Act of 1976 was passed. A part of this legislative revision requires the Armed Forces to withhold state income tax from their members' pay. The Air Force will implement state income tax withholding (SITW) today.

Not all members will be effected by SITW. There are 14 states which either have no state income tax, or do not tax military pay. They are; Alaska, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Michigan, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, Washington, and Wyoming. Members who have legal residence in one of these states, will not have state income tax withheld from their pay. In addition, there are five states (California, Idaho, Missouri, Pennsylvania and West Virginia) which require withholding from only those military "residents" who actually reside within these states during their military service. Reese AFB personnel with a legal residence in one of these states will not be effected by SITW.

Personnel with legal residences in the states of New York or New Jersey must meet several special conditions to avoid SITW. Besides not physically residing in the state, members must also satisfy all of the following conditions.

- They must not maintain a permanent place of abode within the state (New York/New Jersey).

- They must maintain a permanent place of abode outside the state.

- They cannot spend more than 30 days within the state during the tax year.

Members meeting these conditions must certify so in writing. Certification forms were mailed to all members meeting the above conditions who have not yet returned their certification forms (or those who did not receive forms in the mail) should contact the Accounting and Finance Office immediately. New York/New Jersey legal residents who do not satisfy the special conditions will have state income tax withheld from their pay effective today.

All personnel should review their Leave and Earning Statements (LES) to insure two important bits of information have been properly recorded. First, the Remarks section of the LES contains the following statement, "Your State Tax Leg Res is (abbreviation of state)". Your correct state of legal residence should appear in this statement. Second, Block 50 of the LES should reflect your correct marital status and the number of exemptions you are claiming for tax purposes. If any of this information is wrong, contact the Accounting and Finance Office immediately.

On a special note, members should not make an arbitrary change of their legal residence to avoid taxation. Such attempts may result in legal actions should the original state question the change.

Members are urged to consult with the Staff Judge Advocate if they are contemplating such actions.

To date 19 states and the District of Columbia have finalized agreements with the U.S. Treasury to begin participation in the SITW program. Withholding for 13 of these states starts today. They are; Alabama, Delaware, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Utah and Virginia. Six states (Massachusetts, Colorado, Indiana, Maryland, Wisconsin, and Rhode Island) and the District of Columbia will commence SITW on Aug. 1. Withholding for the remaining 17 states will start once their agreements with the Treasury are finalized. Base publications will advise personnel of effective dates as they become known.

Class 7706 graduates, Squadron wins again

by Capt. Cliff Napolitano

Congratulations go to the Class 7706, yes, all completed! Graduation day, pin on those silver wings - now you can fly in the clouds by yourself and mark a "good" in the judgement block on the ATC Form 1500.

The softball game this week was as usual a victory for the student squadron. The only catch is when two student squadrons teams play. It is hard for one team not to win.

Student Squadron 3 defeated Student Squadron 1 in a seesaw battle.

Jerry Davis has returned, dragging his golf clubs behind him from a week of leave. A brand new set of war stories about all the rowdies from Kentucky. The squadron has been quiet as of late, our leader, Lt. Col. Brower has been on leave so the GOYA ward does not change hands.

Byers performs safely, wins Quarterly Award

On February 15, 1977, 2nd Lt. Michael J. Byers, 64th Student Squadron, distinguished himself while performing as a solo student pilot in the T-37 trainer at Reese AFB, Texas and received a quarterly individual safety award for his actions.

At 11:40 A.M. on that date, Lieutenant Byers' aircraft experienced a flameout of the number one engine immediately after takeoff. His approximate altitude was 50 feet with airspeed approximately 100 knots, which prohibited him from aborting the takeoff. The aircraft was configured with full flaps and landing gear down. Accurately assessing the situation, he quickly accomplished the appropriate emergency procedure enabling him to attain a safe air speed and altitude in spite of the limited thrust available. He then attempted an emergency airstart, which was unsuccessful.

While continuing around the outside pattern, another air-start was attempted which was successful, and a subsequent uneventful simulated single engine pattern and landing were accomplished. During the entire incident, Lieutenant Byers acted in a clam, professional manner and required only minimal assistance from the Runway Supervisory Unit Controller.

Lake on July 2 and 3. Last year this race had entries from nine states. Those entering as well as spectators are in for excitement as they watch these races.

On July the Fourth everyone in the community is urged to fly his flag, go on a picnic, have a block party, and attend the special events. Festivities will begin with the Early Settlers Reunion in the Merchants Building at the Panhandle South Plains Fairgrounds at noon. Old Timers can have an old time picnic and reminisce. This year special recognition will be given to the first graduating class of each of the city's high schools. The "5th String", a musical group from Reese Air Force Base will provide music. Rex Webster will be Master of Ceremonies and lead a singsong.

The Antique Car Club of Lubbock will have antique cars on display at the Fairgrounds during the Early Settlers Reunion.

Red Cross hold free

CPR class

The Lubbock Red Cross will hold a free certified 8-hour course in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation on Monday and Tuesday with class beginning at 6:30 p.m. - 1313 Avenue L. All persons at least 13 years of age are eligible. The cost for the book is $2.00.

According to Sahab Ates, local Safety Programs Director, cardiopulmonary resuscitation, also known as CPR, is a combination of artificial respiration and artificial circulation, which should be started immediately as an emergency procedure, when cardiac arrest occurs, by those properly trained to do so. The Heart Association and Red Cross are actively engaged in training as many persons as possible in this Life Saving Technique.

Improper watering cause many problems

Contrary to popular belief, sound water conservation and good turf management principles are compatible. Overwatering and improper watering are responsible for many of our turf grass problems.

The most common error is irrigating turf is applying water in the form of frequent light sprinklings rather than withholding water until foliage demonstrates definite evidence of moisture stress and then recharging the soil to its full water holding capacity. When soil is recharged to its full moisture holding capacity and grass is allowed to almost reach its wilting point before additional moisture is applied, deep grass roots are developed. Deep roots enable grass to sustain growth and maintain attractive appearance for much longer periods of time than shallow roots under comparable conditions. By forcing grass to develop a deep root system using this method, a substantial reduction in water use can be made without detracting from grass appearance.

The amount of water that is required to recharge a soil will vary with many factors. During the growing season, two inches of water will be used during hot dry weather and the rate will reduce in proportion to growth and weather conditions. Most home and small sprinklers apply around one-half inch per hour, so it will normally be sufficient to water an area for four hours per week during the hottest dry weather. Most normal soils will not absorb water at one-half inch per hour, making it necessary to move sprinklers on and off an area several times before the total need is satisfied. In all cases, it is important to apply the total application in the fewest number of total elapsed hours possible.

Mowing

Mowing height of turf is an important factor in reducing the amount of water required to maintain attractive turf. If the mower is set at one to one and one half inches in the early spring and slowly raised until it is one and one half to three inches (depending on specie of grass) when the hot weather of midsummer starts, the transpiration and evaporation rate from the soil will both be reduced. In turn, less water will be required to replace that lost from transpiration and evaporation.

The following watering schedule is established for Reese Village:

- Monday, Wednesday and Saturday - North side of Mitchell
- Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday - South side of Mitchell
- The "Water Today" sign on Mitchell Street at the main gate will be posted accordingly.

It is each building custodian's responsibility not to water the same lawn area more frequently than once every seven days. This includes each occupant of Reese Village.

Also all watering will be curtailed for seven days after a rain of one inch or more. All personnel will be reminded of this by the posting of "No Watering Today" sign at the entrance to Reese Village on Mitchell.

In these days of cost consciousness, it is more imperative than ever to properly irrigate our turf areas with the least water required. Properly applied, irrigation water will provide attractive healthy turf and require less total water than has been the case in many instances in the past.

Take time when traveling to prevent holiday disasters

Taking a trip over the Fourth? Many of us will be. Go ahead, have fun. But be realistic. Don't try to overextend yourself. Divide the distance you plan to travel so it comfortably fits the number of days you have for your trip. Trying to go too far in too short a time can be a trip to disaster.

• "Occupant was thrown from the vehicle and killed. Safety Belts not used."

The names and locations may change, but the basic facts remain similar.

Our purpose in presenting these grim statistics is not to scare you or depress you or to ruin your weekend. On the contrary, we want you to have a super Fourth. But just think how much better your Fourth will be if you're around on the Fifth!

Nationwide there may be as many as 400 people who will lose their lives in accidents over the Fourth of July weekend. Last year in Lubbock 3 people died and another 31 were injured in accidents over the long weekend. Even closer to home, two Reese airmen were permanently injured in two separate, tragic motorcycle accidents.

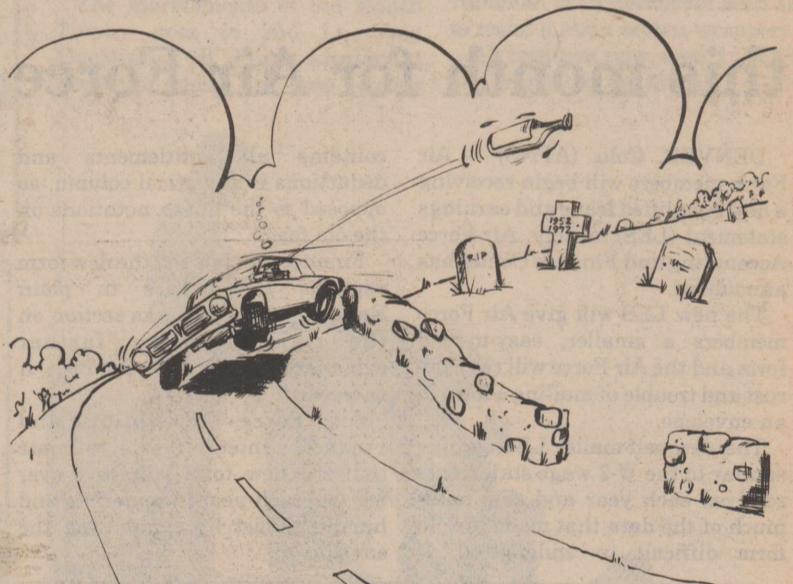

Accident reports across the nation this coming weekend will probably reflect the same tragic story over and over again:

- "Driver was speeding and lost control."
- "Operator was under the influence of alcohol."
- "Driver apparently fell asleep and crossed the centerline."

Don't become a burglary victim

By TSgt James W Neal
Security Police Division

Vacations are wonderful, but if you come home to find your home has been burglarized you will be very unhappy. The Reese Security Police wants you to have a very enjoyable vacation and will help keep a watch on your property, but they must be informed of your absence.

Remember it is your home and your property and you have the prime responsibility to protect it. In the last two articles we have given you suggestions on protecting your home. We can only offer these suggestions, it is up to you to act.

If you do not inform us of your planned absence and ignore the value of neighbors, friends and relatives you can be a victim of a burglary.

Let us assume you have gone on a vacation and not informed us. You are gone for two weeks and on your return you find your home was broken into and most of your valuables are gone. The burglary occurred the day after you left. This means our investigation is about thirteen days late in getting started; the property that was taken may be in Mexico, Oklahoma, New York or California. Another problem is that we will unlikely be able to get any fingerprints at all and other investigative resources will be late to be of help. In other words, we probably will not be able to help at all and if everything follows the pattern, you will blame us.

The truth is the blame rests with you, after all, it is your property. Yes, we want to help and if we would have known of your absence along with a neighbor, it might have been only a few hours after the crime occurred that the break-in was found and our investigation might be aided by the time saved and we might have your property back on your return. Better yet, if we would have known of your absence and you followed our other suggestions, there may not have been any burglary or we might have apprehended the criminal at your home because we knew you were gone and so we were patrolling your home more frequently than normal.

We are here to help you, but you must share the responsibility. Enjoy your vacation and return to a secure home. For more information contact Security Police at ext 2400.

Laughlin graduate receives quarterly achievement award

Randolph AFB, Tex. (ATCPS) — Capt. Robert F. Johnson, who graduated from undergraduate pilot training (UPT) at Laughlin AFB, Tex., was selected to receive the Orville Wright Achievement Award for the January-March 1977 quarter.

The award is presented quarterly by the Order of Daedalians to the outstanding student graduating from Air Training Command (ATC) pilot training courses. The Order of Daedalians was established in 1934 by World War I pilots to perpetuate the spirit of patriotism, love of country, and high ideals of sacrifice which place service to nation above personal safety or position. The Order's headquarters is in San Antonio.

While attending UPT Captain Johnson won the Academic Award, the Outstanding Officer Award, an Outstanding Graduate Letter and the ATC Commander's Trophy. He was also described as the best class leader to have completed UPT at Laughlin AFB.

Captain Johnson was commissioned in June 1972 and attended undergraduate navigator training at Mather AFB, Calif. After assignments to tactical fighter units in Arizona and the Republic of the Philippines, he entered UPT.

Captain Johnson is presently assigned to the 58th Tactical Fighter Wing, Luke AFB, Ariz.

Simplified LES begins this month for Air Force

DENVER, Colo. (AFNS) — Air Force members will begin receiving a new simplified leave and earnings statement (LES) in July, Air Force Accounting and Finance Center has announced.

The new LES will give Air Force members a smaller, easy-to-read form and the Air Force will save the cost and trouble of mailing a form in an envelope.

The new self-mailer LES form is similar to the W-2 wage statements received each year and eliminates much of the data that made the old form difficult to understand. It contains all entitlements and deductions in a vertical column, as opposed to the linear notations on the old form.

Finance officials say the new form explains the entries in plain English, with a remarks section on the right side for further explanation of the figures, if necessary.

Air Force Accounting and Finance Center officials estimate that the new form will save over $90,000 each year in materials and handling, just by eliminating the envelope.

AFSA convention draws 600 worldwide delegates

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 13, 1977 — More than 600 delegates from the continental United States and U.S. Air Force bases around the world will meet in Atlanta, Ga, July 17-20 at the Peachtree Plaza Hotel for the annual Air Force Sergeants Association (AFSA) convention. The association is an affiliate of more than 80,000 active, retired U.S. Air Force, Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve enlisted personnel.

This year's convention theme is "The Total Force — To Meet the Threat." It was selected to inspire the dramatic need to weld the active Air Force, Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard into a singularly dedicated and programmed entity . . . backed by the allegiance and active loyal participation of retired and former airmen of the United States Air Force.

Two distinguished guest speakers at the convention will be Gen. Robert Dixon, commander, Tactical Air Command, who will open the convention with a keynote address Sunday evening, and CMSgt. Thomas N. Barnes, chief master sergeant of the Air Force.

Lt. Gen. Kenneth L. Tallman will be honored on Wednesday evening with the L. Mendel Rivers Award of Excellence, AFSA's second highest award. It will be presented to General Tallman for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service to the United States, United States Air Force, its people and its mission. AFSA's highest award, the

William H. Pitsenbarger Heroism Award, will be presented to MSgt. Lewis O. Brabham Jr., presently stationed at Clark AFB, Philippines. In 1975 Sergeant Brabham received the Silver Star for his "gallantry in connection with military operations against an opposing armed force at Tan Son Nhut Air Base, Republic of Vietnam."

Snake finds new home as mascot

by Capt. Mike Dendinger

The biggest thing to happen this week was the acquisition of a new squadron mascot. Ansel, the Bull Snake, was found holding in take-off position on the inside runway on Monday and has found a new home in "A" Flight. Ansel's trainer, Sluggo Wilken, says bull snakes have been known to eat baby birds, but we emphatically deny rumors that our four and one half foot newcomer was licking his chops at passing tweets. By far, the greater danger is his appetite for toads. By the way, we're looking for a mate for Ansel (preferably named Gretel).

The Marblemouth of the Month Trophy goes to 2nd Lt. Greg MacMinn of "B" Flight. Lieutenant MacMinn spied a crop duster dusting a little close to the fizzle traffic pattern one day, and decided to report it. The brain to mouth interconnect was a little overloaded, however, and he warned everyone on Channel five of a low-flying "dust crapper". Must be some kind of reverse vacuum cleaner.

TOAD 02

Couldn't let this one get away. One day last week, Capt. Ron Cone and 2nd Lt. Jim Queen were on their way out to fly aircraft 8038 when they mistakenly walked up to 0838. We're told that they had most of the walk-around inspection completed before spying the telltale paper and tape that betrayed the mothballed Hummer. (Ron had never been able to resist a plain brown wrapper).

AF wins okay to move mobile homes for junior enlisted due to base closures

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — The Air Force has gained authority to move mobile homes at government expense for junior enlisted members who have to relocate because of base closings. The most immediate impact — at significant savings to individual members — is expected at Kincheloe AFB, Mich.; Craig AFB, Ala.; and Webb AFB, Tex., scheduled for closure later this year. Military homeowners who have to sell their homes because of base closures can apply for relief under the Homeowners Assistance Program, but the program doesn't apply to mobile homes. Until now, the Air Force hasn't been authorized to pay for relocating mobile homes for junior airmen (E-4s with less than two years in service, and lower grades).

"We know there are a number of airmen owning trailers who might have to go into debt or leave their homes behind, rather than face the moving costs," Secretary of the Air Force John C. Stetson said. "Selling their homes was not a viable option," he continued, "because the announcement of the base closure had depressed the resale market. Therefore, we appealed to the Department of Defense for a waiver to the Joint Travel Regulations (JTR)," the Secretary explained, "and we are pleased that our request was approved."

The JTR was changed June 11 to give the service secretaries authority to make these determinations in the future for junior enlisted members at bases being closed without having to seek DOD approval. Air Force officials say the change is not retroactive and is not a blanket authority.

Air Force officials point out that individuals with mobile homes will still have to pay some moving costs, but their expenses should now be much less than previously. The current allowance for moving trailers is 74 cents per mile, but actual costs are estimated about $1.50 per mile.

When a member receives his change of station orders, he or she works with base transportation officials to arrange for a commercial contractor to move the mobile home. The contractor bills the Air Force. The Air Force then determines the amount allowed for the move and bills the member for the difference.

The member must pay the difference between the two figures or file for "remission of indebtedness." The procedure is explained in Air Force Manual 177-373 and Air Force Regulation 177-1.

Depending upon the particular hardship involved and other factors, the Air Force may decide to cancel (remit) the debt.

Officials emphasize that remission of indebtedness is not automatic but is decided on a case-by-case basis. By law this avenue of relief is open only to enlisted members.

"The number of personnel affected at Kincheloe, Craig and Webb is relatively small (about 35)," Secretary Stetson said, "but we're talking about a significant amount of money for the particular individual involved."

"The savings could range from several hundred dollars in moving expenses to several thousand if the member is forced to sell at a loss or abandon the mobile home because of the expense of moving," he said.

In addition to getting this special authority to move mobile homes, the Air Force is trying to get full travel and transportation entitlements for junior enlisted personnel.

Officials say extension of full entitlements to junior enlisted members will raise personnel costs so the matter is complex and will be time consuming.

save on your electric bill . . .

It makes good sense to use electricity more efficiently, saving wherever you can, and assisting in the conservation of natural resources. For example, you can help your air conditioner do its job more efficiently by following these suggestions:

- Whenever possible, run the fan without using the cooling portion of your unit.
- Place the thermostat on the highest comfortable setting. For each degree you raise the air conditioner thermostat, you can save at least five percent on the cost of operation.
- Check the filter periodically, cleaning or replacing it as necessary. A dirty filter makes the air conditioner work harder to do the same job.

And . . . there are other things you can do to make your home more comfortable this summer. For instance:

- Turn off unnecessary lights or appliances, such as television sets, which produce heat — particularly range cooking units when not in use. Use an exhaust fan above your range.
- Keep windows and outside doors closed.
- Save your "moisture producing" activities, such as showering and laundry, for cool early mornings or late evenings. If possible, use a bathroom exhaust fan.
- When outside temperature drops below the temperature inside, open your windows to let heat escape. Close your house tightly during the hottest part of the day. You should also keep out solar heat by closing blinds and draperies of windows exposed to direct sunlight.
- Just as insulation saves on your heating bill by keeping warmth in, good insulation also pays summer dividends by keeping heat out.

Two shows lined up for weekend

Mathis has two great shows and dances lined up for the 4th of July weekend.

Recording star Al Wilson, will be performing in person tomorrow night at 9 p.m. There is a $1.50 cover charge with military ID card and $2 for all others. There will be two shows besides the dance.

On the night of the 4th and also during the day at the picnic grounds, "Overload", a new group to Reese will be performing. Overload is a versatile group sent to us from San Antonio, home of the Peddlers. They will play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Mathis and from 2 to 5 p.m. at the picnic grounds during the day.

Starting off things at the picnic grounds at 1 p.m. will be Flash's Mobile disco. Flash is a regular at the Rec Center and the disco promises to be even better for this special event. Other activities at Mathis for this weekend include pool, ping pong, and various card tournaments with trophies being awarded. Mathis patrons are reminded that we will be closed during the day on Monday, but will open the doors at 8 p.m. for the dance. Come celebrate the 4th with us, see you there!

Base Housing

Occupant can install detector

by Mark McMahan
Housing Referral Officer

Last year 12,000 persons died in fires in the United States. Six of those were in the Air Force. Ninety-three percent of the deaths occurred in residential dwellings - apartments, single-family homes, mobile homes, etc. The latest studies conducted for the U.S. National Bureau of Standards reveal that in 85 percent of all cases, fire could have been detected in sufficient time to provide safe escape if smoke detectors had been installed. The Air Training Command has documented cases where installed smoke detectors saved the lives of occupants of on-base housing units; e.g., a family of six at Lowry AFB in December 1974, and, most recently, a housewife at Williams AFB.

The Air Force is endeavoring to equip each Air Force owned housing unit with smoke detectors using appropriated funds. However, this will be a long-range program. In the meantime, all housing occupants, both on and off base, are encouraged to purchase and install smoke detectors in their private quarters.

There are many high-quality, reliable detectors available at minimal cost in the Base Exchange and in local stores. Be certain the smoke detector you purchase possesses the UL seal. This assures you the unit meets Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. (UL) testing and safety requirements. The ideal fire detector has not been perfected at a reasonable cost. No one type of detector, heat or smoke, can furnish 100 percent protection against all kinds of fires. Beware of some unscrupulous salespeople, sometimes in the guise of "fire experts" or "fire analysts", who use scare tactics to sell smoke detectors at grossly inflated prices.

An AF Form 332, Work Request, will not be required to install smoke detectors in Family Housing units on base. Detectors installed by occupants will be considered personal property. If additional information is desired, please contact the Family Housing Office, Ext. 2601.

Library obtains best sellers

A new best seller has just been released but you'll have to wait for payday before buying it. Maybe not! Check with the base library, chances are, they have it.

Using the McNaughton Plan, the library is able to obtain popular books and best sellers faster. The program lets the library rent the books and after a time, buy them at a discount or return them. The librarian selects books each month from a list sent to her.

A few of the newest books the library has acquired through the plan are: Trans Siberian Express, Rumor of War, Temple Dogs, Fishbait: the Memoirs of Congressional Doorkeeper, Menace of Atomic Energy, Not Above the Law, and Death of the King's Canary.

Warehouse Sale

Effective today, the Warehouse will no longer be open on Fri.-Sat. featuring clearance merchandise. The Warehouse will reopen during the July Spring and Summer clearance Sale. Will publicize dates in advance. For additional information call Mr. Dan Arias, Exchange Manager at 885-4583.

Holiday Closing

The commissary sales store will be closed for Federal Holiday on July 2, 1977. Normal operations will resume on July 5, 1977 at 9:00 a.m.

Return Crutches

Anyone having crutches which are not being used, please return them to the Physical Therapy Clinic at the Hospital.

FMS Airman of the Month

Airman David J. Ducharme was selected as the 64 FMS Airman of the Month for June 1977. This is the second time that Amn Ducharme has been selected as Squadron Airman of the Month. He works in the Avionics Branch as an instrument specialist on Reese's T-37 and T-38 aircraft. David recently completed his OJT course and received an end-of-course exam rating of "Outstanding" which is seldom accomplished.

The Reese Junior Officer's Council will meet Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Party Room 1 of the O'Club.

Agenda topics will include: Manpower/fund support for class fund drives, a proposed trip to Six Flags or Palo Duro Canyon, election of new officers, status of JOC funds, and support of Camp Blue Yonder.

All voting members and other interested persons are urged to attend.

GROWING WITH THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

BIG CARS ARE COMING DOWN TO VOLVO'S SIZE...NOT UP TO VOLVO'S STANDARDS.

Have you noticed how some of the fat cars have reduced to almost Volvo-esque proportions? It's true. One major manufacturer has cut the size of his over-size models by an average of 700 pounds. But try as they might to copy our lines, they haven't managed to duplicate our features.

Standard equipment like four-wheel power-assisted disc brakes. And a dual braking system in which each circuit operates on three — not two — wheels. Plus orthopedically-designed bucket seats. And a 12-outlet heating/ventilation system. They're on every Volvo we sell. (Or lease...an alternate way to finance your Volvo.) But conspicuously absent from Detroit's slimmed-down models.

Then there are the little things Volvo owners have come to expect which other car buyers expect to pay extra for. Like stereo door speakers. Steel-belted whitewall radials. And tinted glass all around. All of which suggests it doesn't make much sense to buy a sensible-size car unless there's a Volvo inside it. See us for both.

A PORSCHE WITHIN REACH.

A Porsche for less than $10,000.*

Yes, a Porsche. The Porsche 924. The car you promised yourself you'd own someday has become a car you can own today.

And although the 924 is less than you'd expect to pay for a Porsche, it is all Porsche. The design is sleek. Graceful. Strictly Porsche.

The interior is constructed, as it should be, for comfort and practicality. Like all other Porsches.

And the 924 handles as only a

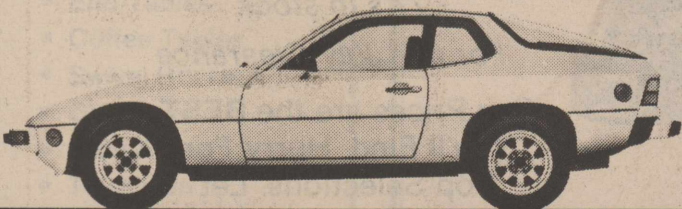

Porsche can. Because years of engineering knowledge and precise craftsmanship went into its development. Its unique rear transaxle system gives the car nearly perfect 50-50 weight distribution. The 924 is so beautifully balanced that it takes corners and curves with ease.

Look at The Porsche 924. Drive it.

Your fantasy car is now available at a realistic price.

A Great Selection of New and Used Cars Only 20 Minutes Away in Levelland

Emblem winner receives $200 shopping spree

KELLY AFB, Tex., — A $200 shopping spree will go to the commissary customer who draws the emblem that best illustrates the threefold, worldwide mission of the Air Force Commissary Service (AFCOMS), according to officials, here.

To find that artistic customer, AFCOMS is conducting a contest from now through June. The rules listed below are simple and the winner will be notified by July 31, 1977.

- Contest open to authorized commissary customers only.
- Entries must be neatly drawn on a plain 8x10½ or 8½x11 sheet of paper.
- Design must be a new and original idea and depict the worldwide mission of the Air Force

Commissary Service (AFCOMS) which is to provide groceries and related merchandise at the lowest practicable prices to authorized patrons, to provide troop issue/subsistence, and to generate sufficient earnings to cover some overhead and construction costs.

- Have as prominent colors on the shield the official Air Force colors, ultramarine blue and golden yellow. May contain up to four more colors.
- Judges decisions will be based on originality and neatness and the winner will be the entry that, in the opinion of the judges, best depicts the AFCOMS mission.
- Entrants may submit as many entries as they like in the same envelope.
- Entrants should print their complete name and address, including zip code on the back of each entry and mail to AFCOMS/XPP, Kelly AFB, TX 78241.

• Deadline: Entries must be post marked by midnight, tonight.

• Winner will be notified via mail by July 31, 1977.

Winning entry becomes the property of the United States government as represented by the Commander of AFCOMS. Winning contestant will be required to assign all rights in the emblem to the government. Other entries will be returned only if entrant encloses a stamped, self addressed envelope with the entry.

Winner will receive $200 in commissary merchandise of his or her choice. Purchases should be made by Oct. 31, 1977.

Fireworks blind 9 in Texas during last year's 4th of July

Last summer in Texas nine youngsters were blinded by carelessness with fireworks, reports a survey conducted by the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness. 89 responding ophthalmologists also treated 34 persons for eye injuries, with bottle rockets causing the greatest number of eye loss and damage cases.

Fireworks, even the small ones, are still a needless menace to Americans. Even sparklers, usually purchased for small children, burn at 1,650 degrees Fahrenheit, leaving a steel core hot enough to sear flesh or set clothing afire. A five year old San Antonio girl was treated for severe eye damage from just that cause in 1976, the Society reported.

Ironically, the greatest number of accidents were reported in the major cities of Texas, where it is illegal to have fireworks within the city limits.

The Federal Consumer Products Safety Commission stated fireworks caused approximately 4,750 hospital recorded injuries last year; more than half the victims were under 15 years. The Commission is presently working on a control law which will ban all but the smallest fireworks in Texas.

The Texas Society makes a special appeal to parents to see to it that children are not permitted the use of any form of fireworks, and to see that their children are kept away from anyone who is using them.

Celebrate the 4th of July, by all means, but without fireworks. Attend a public display, sit at a distance and enjoy the thrill of our nation's 201st birthday celebration.

Diamonds defeat Devils, may be charged with loss

by Johnny Arthur

The Blue Diamonds defeated a determined Dusty Devil team in the first game of the day, but may be charged with a loss. Marj Dye's 3-run homer and many other Diamond hits enabled them to amass 12 runs by the 7th inning. The Dustys', who are known for their hitting power, had a bad day at the plate, with Sandy Fruber (double and single) and Bobbie Powlett (triple and double) accounting for most of the few Dusty hits.

In the fourth inning, a protest was entered by the Dusty Devils. A Blue Diamond player who had been removed from the line-up was reinserted as a pinch runner when Gail Maring pulled a muscle. If the protest is upheld, ASA ruling requires a forfeit of the game to the offended team. This would not only hand the Blue D's a third loss, but would seriously impair their chances of overtaking the 1st place Red Hots.

In the second game of the afternoon, the Better Halves hit the winning trail, easily defeating a lackluster Red Hot team. The Halves, who have been improving tremendously each week, hit well and put forth a solid team effort. Becky Barron's work on the mound and the bats of Betty Pusser and Kris Adams wrecked havoc on the opposition.

The Red Hot's power at the plate was non-existent except for Mary Nothstine, who went 3 for 3. Betty Creager achieved fame as she fouled off a pitch and broke the car windshield of umpire Bill Bendele. Bill immediately took charge of the situation as soon as he stopped crying.

The Better Half coaches and players must be commended on the remarkable improvement of their team over the past few weeks. Team spirit and harmony is the key, and believe me, these girls have it! I predict that they will win the remainder of their games. Final score was Better Half 12 and Red Hots 7.

News Notes

It's good to see Bobbie Powlett back with the Dusty Devils again. Bobbie has been at reservist training for the past few weeks learning to battle foreign warts!

There will be no games next week due to the 4th of July Holiday.

Homers help spearhead Sox over Tigers 11-10

by George Davis

Jason Eaton's two homeruns spearheaded the Red Sox's come from behind win over the Tigers 11-10.

The losers took the lead in the first inning when Scott LaVine led off with a walk. Mike Davis followed with a double off the left field fence to score the runner. Another walk and a sharp single by Kim Davis produced two more runs.

Leading 3-2, the Tigers struck again in the second to score four more runs with the aid of three wild pitches and an error.

The Red Sox went in front 11-10, scoring nine runs in the third inning and then held off a desperate Tiger threat in the bottom of the inning to win the game. Rain halted further play after the fourth inning.

Pirates 10, Braves 8

The Pirates scored five runs in the last inning to scalp the Braves 10-8 in the battle for first place.

Trailing 8-5, the winners loaded the bases with three straight walks. Jun McClean lines a single to centerfield, that got by the outfielder, to clean the bases and tie the game. With two outs, Scott Spurgeon blasted a triple to score two more runs that produced the victory.

Red Sox 2, Braves 0

The Red Sox scored two runs on an error in the fifth inning to nip the Braves 2-0 in what has to be the game of the year thus far.

Anthony Miller outdued two Brave hurlers, Johnny Hernandez and Ron Gregorio to gain his eighth win without a defeat but it wasn't easy.

The game was marked by some great defensive plays starting in the first inning. Steve Davis singled with one out for the Red Sox and Miller followed by hitting a foul ball down the first base line. Sonja West, the Brave's fielder gave chase and caught the ball near the visitors dugout. She then nailed the runner at first to complete a double play.

In the third, the Braves threatened with a runner on third. Jimmy Bradford lined a ball to first baseman John McKnight, who tossed it to second baseman Dennis Fueller covering first for the put out.

Red Sox catcher, Jason Eaton, tossed out a runner trying to steal second base in the fourth inning. Plays in the out field by Raymond Drapeau provided further excitement for the spectators and stopped the Red Sox from starting a rally.

The winners finally scored in the bottom of the fifth when McKnight and Emilo Valdez walked. Davis then hit a ground ball to second baseman Gentre Dozier who forced the runner out at second. His relay throw to first went wild and McKnight scored. Another overthrow at third allowed Davis to score the final tally.

The Braves threatened in the last inning when pinch hitter Tommy Gregorio walked and went to third on a pass ball by the catcher. A wild pitch sent the runner to third. On the next pitch, the ball got past the Red Sox catcher but he recovered quickly to nail the runner attempting to score. West followed with a two out single to right field. The next batter struck out to end the game.

One observer was heard saying "No team lost today, the Red Sox won only by the score." Despite losing a game, a team is still a winner.

Last Week's Games

In last week's final game the Pirates used another last inning rally to defeat the Tigers 11-10.

The winners jumped off to a quick 9-1 lead, highlighted by a home run off the bat of Jun McClean and key hits by Mike Perry.

The roar of the Tigers was heard on the third and fourth innings, as they scored eight runs to tie the game. Chris Adams led the attack with a pair of singles.

The Pirates scored again in the bottom of the fifth when Dave Perry led off with a triple. He scored on a single by Scott Spurgeon. The Tigers tied the score again in the last inning when Diane Smitherman doubled in a run.

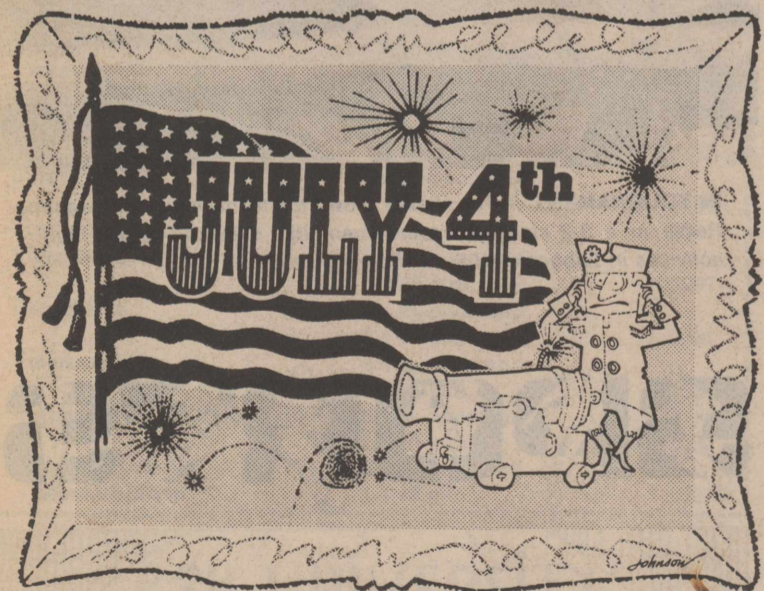

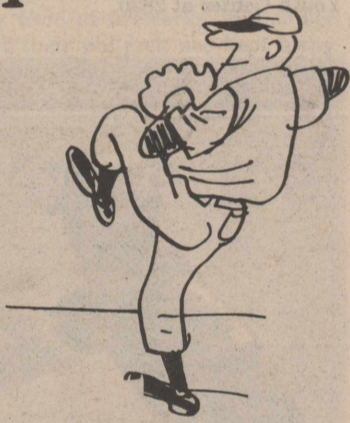

With two outs and two runners on base in the bottom of the inning, the winners ended the game on ground ruled double by McClean that scored the winning run and enabled the Pirates to stay tied for first place.
