Officials discuss people programs

Several "people programs" are in the works here, according to announcements made at the November meeting of the Base Advisory Council held this week.

Among the new programs and services being offered Reese people in future weeks are the opening of the automobile parts store at the Auto Hobby Shop, the extension of holiday shopping hours at three Base Exchange facilities, the placement of washers and dryers in the Married Airman Sharing Together facility (building 39).

Ongoing programs discussed included the shuttle service to the South Plains Mall on Saturdays, the "all night disco" at the Mathis Recreation Center and the annual "Toys for Tots" campaign.

Jack Hood, chief of Morale, Welfare and Recreation, told the council members that the auto parts store will be open soon. He also added that the all night disco is developing a great following.

Dan Arias, Base Exchange manager, briefed the council on new hours for the Main Exchange, Four Seasons and Toyland. Arias explained that all three stores would remain open until 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 6, 13 and 20 (Thursdays) and from noon until 4 p.m. on Dec. 2, 9, 16 and 23 (Sundays). He also noted that the Exchange would be open from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Christmas Eve.

Three washers and dryers will be installed in the next few weeks in the MAST building for use by its members, according to Col. Monte Montgomery.

Another holiday program, the shuttle service to the South Plains Mall is getting a good response from Reese people, reported 1st Lt. Barbara Shippy, project officer for the shuttle program. The shuttle runs each Saturday through Dec. 22. The shuttle leaves Reese from in front of the Mathis Recreation Center at 1:15 p.m. The return ride starts at the Mall's front entrance, leaving at 5 p.m.

Lieutenant Shippy also mentioned a need for volunteer drivers. Interested NCOs may contact her at Ext. 3617. Those concerned also need to provide input concerning changing shuttle hours to coincide with downtown theater schedules.

More toys are needed for the Toys for Tots campaign, said

Christmas flying schedule set here

A reduced flying schedule is planned for Reese over the Christmas holidays, according to wing officials.

Reese's flying load is expected to be reduced to a few sorties per day from Dec. 21, 1979 to Jan. 2, 1980.

The annual break in student flying will allow Undergraduate Pilot Training students to take holiday leave. It is the only time during the students training here that they can take ordinary leave for more than just a couple of days.

Wing officials advised that all duty sections must be manned during the "down" time but that wherever possible, people should be encouraged to take Christmas leave.

For those not taking leave, the light flying schedule provides a chance to catch up on projects around the unit. The break is an ideal time for unit housecleaning, noted one official.

Airman of Month

A1C Jeffrey Francis, 64th Field Maintenance Squadron, repairs a fuel flow indicator, in the maintenance instrument shop. Airman Francis, an avionics system specialist, has been selected as the 64th Flying Training Wing Airman of the Month. He has been at Reese for nearly nine months. (U.S. Air Force photo)

Don't undersell yourself

Have you ever felt that if you didn't do your job no one would notice, or care, except your supervisor? Do you ever feel that your job is an insignificant part of the Air Force? If so, you are underrating yourself and your job.

Most people know that you can't fly airplanes without pilots. But, it is also true that you can't fly airplanes without fuel, without repairs when needed. And, we wouldn't have pilots to fly airplanes or airmen for maintenance if they didn't have places to eat and sleep; or if they didn't get paid; or if there was no one to provide them medical care.

We are all members of one big team. If we each do our job, and do it well, we will be an unbeatable team. But, if one of us fails to do our share, the team becomes a little weaker.

Don't sell yourself short! Whether you are a mechanic, a truck driver, a carpenter, a medic or a clerk-typist, you are an important part of the team that makes up the most powerful air force in the world. Be proud of your part on the team and let your work show it!

Holes in rug

I live in Barracks 320 and recently all of the rugs were removed for cleaning. When the rugs were returned I received a different rug. The previous rug was fairly decent, but my present rug has about 35 cigarette burns in the center area and what appears to be tar on it. The rugs were cleaned, but it looks like whoever cleaned it did not care. May I get the rug changed or get another rug without all the cigarette burns?

Dear Dirty Rugs,

If I were in your shoes I believe I would feel the same way you do, so here is what we will do. As soon as a better rug becomes available, your present rug will be replaced.

Security Police

I would like to compliment the good job the Security Police did in making our children have a safe Halloween. Everytime I looked out I could see they were patrolling the area.

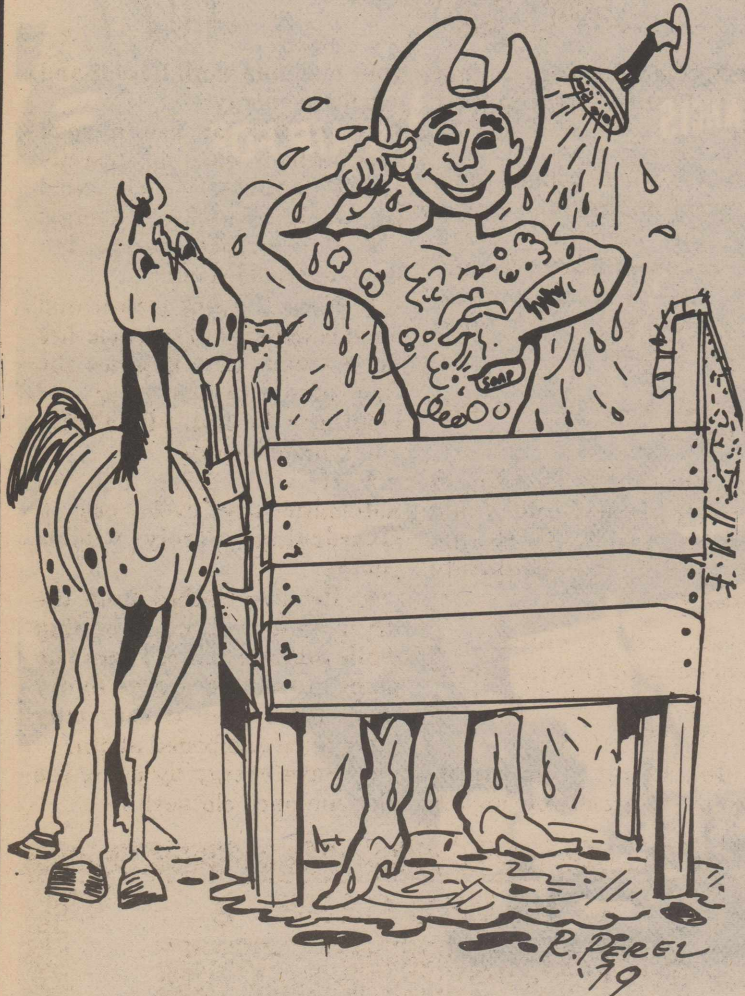

Again, thank you for making it a safe Halloween for our two small children and the other children in Reese Village.

Dear Good Job,

Thanks for your compliment. Your thanks have been passed onto the Security Police personnel.

The Security Police are always concerned for the safety of Reese children, but particularly on Halloween. Thanks again for your good words.

Through AFRAP

Get a free trip home

by MSgt. Octaviano Guerrero

If you are a first-term airman, highly motivated, and can get a recommendation from your supervisor and commander, a two to four week paid temporary duty assignment to your hometown might be possible.

This is the Recruiter Helper aspect of the Air Force Recruiter Assistance Program (AFRAP). All that you have to do for this trip is assist your hometown recruiter with his recruiting. Through experience, it has been found that a satisfied customer is the best salesman and you would be helping the recruiter sell the Air Force to potential customers in your hometown.

To get in on the program, you must contact your recruiter to let him or her know that you are interested and willing to assist.

If you cannot go TDY or would like to help the recruiters here in Lubbock, call me at Ext. 3445 or contact your unit AFRAP Representative. Lubbock recruiters have a continuing requirement for assistance.

Another part of the AFRAP program is the Lead Referral Card system. At the present time, Reese is lagging behind other UPT wings in submission of Lead Referrals. If you know of a potential enlistee or an individual interested in obtaining Air Force enlistment information, fill out a Lead Referral Card in your orderly room and drop it by the Customer Assistance Unit in the CBPO (building T-1). For every two Lead Referral Cards submitted, we will give you a pass for a free meal at a Lubbock restaurant.

AFRAP is just another way for you to serve the Air Force. Recruiting has become increasingly difficult in recent years. Your assistance and personal involvement in selling the Air Force way of life are needed.

If you want to be part of the Recruiter Helper Program, contact me at Ext. 3445 or 3444.

Crook warns residents

Hello folks, I'm one of those people, probably a lot like you, who just can't wait for the Christmas season. I don't, however, wait for the same reason you do.

You see, I'm a thief. When I first arrived here, Christmas was a hard time for me, what with trying to buy expensive presents for all my family and friends. I just could not afford it.

Now, thanks to your carelessness, I buy even the most extravagant gifts that I couldn't afford to look at a few years ago. You have helped me a lot by leaving so many nice things lying around insecure... like bicycles. All I have to do is just pick them up. I can sell that bicycle off-base for a tidy sum and make some easy Christmas money.

Why, last Christmas, I made more than a thousand dollars by reselling six bicycles, two cameras and numerous other items. I also kept a motorcycle, a beautiful stereo system, three rings, a watch, and a great pen and pencil set that I now use at work.

The items I've kept for myself have been checked over carefully. None of them had been marked for identification by the original owner.

I just mark it with my own driver's license number, and even if I'm busted, the cops can't pin anything on me because all the property is marked as my stuff. Why, I can even change the looks of the item so even the original owner wouldn't recognize it.

Anyway, with Christmas just about here, I know I can count on your foolishness to keep my wallet full of spending money.

Please continue leaving your desk drawer at work unlocked, keep your windows open at home while you're not there, keep leaving your wallets and watches on the towel shelf at the gym, keep your bicycles laying unlocked in front of the bowling alley and the recreation center.

Again, many thanks for your help. You really put me in the Christmas spirit with your generous giving. Life is so great here, I think I'll extend for another tour.

See you around,

The Christmas Crook

P.S. I've got this girl friend who really loves pretty wrapped surprise packages, so if you would please, leave those newly purchased gifts in plain view in your unlocked car while you shop. (By the way, she wears a size 11 dress.)

Energy saving tips

Most people today are looking for ways to save energy in their homes.

One area where considerable amounts of energy can be saved is in the laundry through conservation of hot water and by using your automatic washers and dryers less often and more efficiently.

Here are some ideas to help save energy:

- Wash clothes in warm or cold water, rinse in cold. You'll save energy and money. Use hot water only if absolutely necessary.
- Fill washers, unless they have small-load attachments or variable water levels, but do not overload them.
- Don't use too much detergent. Oversudsing makes your machine work harder and use more energy.

- Pre-soak or use a soak cycle when washing heavily soiled garments. You'll avoid two washings and save energy.
- Fill clothes dryers but don't overload them.
- Keep the lint screen and outside exhaust of your clothes dryer clean. Lint impedes the flow of air in the dryer and lengthens the drying time, thus, using more energy.
- If your dryer has an automatic dry cycle use it. Overdrying merely wastes energy.
- Remove clothes from the dryer that will need ironing while they are damp. There's no point in wasting energy to dry them thoroughly if they only have to be dampened again.
- Save energy by using the old-fashioned clothesline.

Shuttle keys exploration

Saying "adventure must give way to business," an Air Force officer representing the National Security Council called for new perspectives on America's leadership role in space.

"The gestation time for transportation revolutions is usually measured in decades, but (the space-shuttle program has) to mature . . . by the early 80s," said Lt. Col. Wayne L. O'Hern Jr. in a paper delivered before the American Astronautical Society in Los Angeles.

Colonel O'Hern and Brig. Gen. Robert A. Rosenberg, a policy advisor for the NSC, will continue to grow as we pursue our national goals.

"We are being driven to more dependence on space as economically viable or quickly available conventional ground-based alternatives are denied by budget, technology, geographical, political or operational factors."

Summarizing presidential directives the officers noted three points that applied to use of the new technology:

- the role of the shuttle in affirming freedom of access to space;
- the role of the shuttle, used on a regular basis as part of a practice and the long-standing U.S. position that the space systems of any nation are national property and have the right of passage through and operations in space without interference.

"Freedom to operate in space, or denial of control to hostile nations, is becoming increasingly critical for the maintenance of world peace and our national security," they stated.

prepared the paper to address current space policy and implications for the space-shuttle program.

The space shuttle is part aircraft, part spacecraft; a reusable space vehicle designed to carry payloads beyond the earth's gravity and then return. Five space shuttles are planned with initial launch scheduled for the summer of 1980.

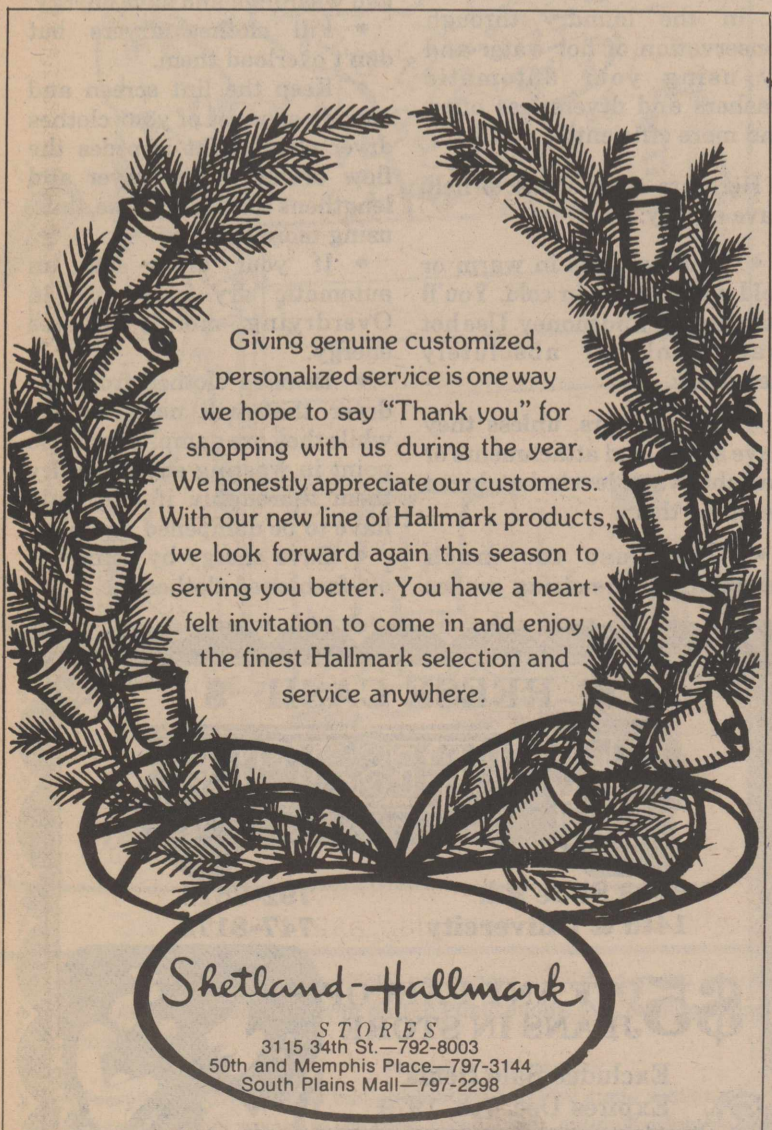

According to the Air Force officers "our reliance on space space transportation system, in providing that access; and

- the immediate need to exploit the shuttle's potential to the fullest extent.

The issue of freedom of access to space is important, they stated, because of the danger of arms competition in space in what they called "the anti-satellite arena."

"In the anti-satellite arena, the Soviets have also raised a challenge to established legal

Williams AFB tests flexible work hours

One Air Training Command unit, the 82nd Civil Engineering Squadron, Williams AFB, Ariz., is taking part in a three year test of the alternative work schedule program being conducted by the Office of Personnel Management.

Known as MAXIFLEX, the program provides employees with maximum flexibility in scheduling their working hours, subject to supervisory approval. All 82nd CES members are voluntarily taking part in the program.

Each participant must ensure that 80-hours in the bi-weekly schedule are accounted for through the use of credit hours. This allows an employee to have variations in the work week up to and including four 10-hour days. Initial response within the squadron has been favorable.

Anticipated benefits from the program are increased productivity, improved morale and energy conservation. The test will not be permitted to degrade the normal functions of the squadron but the additional hours of coverage are expected to increase in-house service capabilities.

The test was mandated as a result of Public Law 95-390, Federal Employees Flexible and Compressed Work Schedules Act of 1978.

Opportunities increase for women in service

The Air Force will substantially increase opportunities for women to train as pilots and navigators during the next year, according to Under Secretary of the Air Force Antonia Handler Chayes.

Chayes announced the expanded training plans during her testimony on women in the military to the subcommittee on military personnel of the House Armed Services Committee.

Specifically, the Air Force will select 122 women for undergraduate pilot training during fiscal 1980, five times the number trained in fiscal 1979.

The Air Force hopes also to begin 29 women in undergraduate navigator training in fiscal 1980 — up from the eight women in fiscal 1979

Eight E-3s get below-zone nod

Eight Reese airmen have been selected for "below-the-zone" promotion to senior airman on Dec. 1.

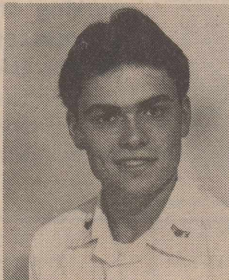

Organizational Maintenance led the promotion parade, having three airmen selected by the special Reese board. Field Maintenance had two picked while the 1958th Communications Squadron, Air Base Group and the Hospital each had one member selected.

Selectees are: Peter R. Montague, Russell D. Pogue and David C. Seets, OMS; Robert E. Cook and Mark A. Oliver, FMS; Carlos Meza, ABGp.; James K. Michell II, Reese Hospital; and Byron J. Miranda, Comm. Sq.

Twenty-six airmen met the below-the-zone board on Nov. 15. The eight airmen selected will sew on their new senior airman stripes on Dec. 1.

Security Police sponsor first 'speedometer' check

Reese people will get a chance to check the accuracy of their speedometers Dec. 8 as the Security Police sponsor the first of a possible series of checks between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

near the hospital and Security Police Personnel will check the speedometer readings at 20 and 30 miles per hour.

A local speedometer shop informs that the cost of calibrating a defective speedometer can vary between $15 and $40.

Response to this first check may lead to a monthly session according to Security Police Superintendent SMSgt. John Wilson. Those requiring more information may contact Sergeant Wilson at Ext. 3614.

A radar unit will be set up at one end of the perimeter road

Preventive law seminar on tap

A preventive law seminar is being offered each Thursday by the Staff Judge Advocate's office.

Each seminar, consisting of between 20 and 25 people, will deal with the Uniform Code of Military Justice. Specifically, subjects covered will include what a court martial is, things that a person will get in trouble by doing or not doing and certain articles that govern everyday military activities.

According to Capt. Richard McDonald, schedules are being filled through unit orderly rooms. However, those who wish to attend but have not been scheduled are welcome and may get in by contacting their orderly room.

Airlines continue GI fares

The Military Traffic Management Command has released details involving the continuation of discount furlough fares on 18 of the nation's major airlines.

The command had previously announced the decision by the carriers to continue the fares that offer a 25 percent discount for military travelers in a leave status.

The following airlines extended the furlough fare through September 1980: Western, United, Trans World, Northwest, Eastern, Delta, Continental and American.

Extending indefinitely are: USAir, Inc. (Allegheny), Texas International, Republic, Piedmont, Pan American World Airways, Ozark, National, Hughes Airwest, Frontier and Braniff International.

The fares may be used only on leave and when traveling at personal expense.

Communications squadron wins dormitory competition

Eighteen members of the 1958 Communications Squadron who reside in Dormitory 230 were recently honored as winners of the third quarter Base Commander's White Glove Dormitory Competition.

Base Commander Col. Monte Montgomery rewarded the winners with a steak dinner at the NCO Club.

Sgt. Bruce G. Norris, dorm bay chief, felt that the recently finished self-help project of painting the rooms aided their effort to win the quarterly award.

Other winners included Sgt. Walter M. Nutting, Sgt. Kenneth J. Provost, A1C Anthony Moses, A1C Keith A. Blake, A1C James E. Campbell and A1C Phillip R. Winders.

Also on the list were Amn. Robert Fusco, Amn. Keith E. Jones, Amn. Kelly A. Donohue, Sgt. Kevin N. Schaller, Sgt. Bret P. McIntire and A1C Raymond C. Mittan.

Rounding out the winners list were A1C David W. Richardson, A1C Wayen A. Glifort, Amn. James L. Carter, Amn. Mark S. Hunt and Amn. David S. McWilliams.

Reese supports 'Toys for Tots'

Reese's Toys for Tots drive is off to a good start with almost a truckload of toys already collected.

According to 1st Lt. Stephen Gladstone, project officer, toys have started coming in well and he expects to call the Marines for the first pickup immediately.

"It's the time of year to give and this is a good opportunity," said Lieutenant Gladstone.

Drop locations for donation of new or repairable toys have been set up at 25 strategic points around base. For those who cannot locate a drop point, call Lieutenant Gladstone at Ext. 3179.

BAC airs programs

1st Lt. Stephen Gladstone, campaign project officer. Collections at 25 toy drops will continue through Dec. 7. New or repairable toys are sought. Reese donations will be added to those collected by the Marine Corps drive in Lubbock and given to disadvantaged youth in the area at Christmas.

A final item concerning the hours of the Golf Course Gate resulted in a request for extension of those hours being turned down. A recent traffic flow study was cited as the reason for the refusal.

FWP plans lunch program

Beginning in January, the Federal Women's Program, working in conjunction with the Education Center, will sponsor a Lunch and Learn program.

According to program manager Mary D. Figg, the courses are offered in response to the need for career training and continued education and will offer people an opportunity to study college level courses during the lunch hour.

A minimum enrollment of 15 people is required and tuition for one course (three semester hours) is $43 plus books, for two courses, $46 plus books. Financial assistance is available for persons enrolled in six or more semester hours.

Questionnaires have been distributed throughout the base for interested parties. Those interested who did not receive a questionnaire may get one by calling Mary Figg at Ext. 3781.

Hey good lookin' Whatcha got cookin'?

What makes our burger better?
Fresh meat for one. Pure 100% beef, sizzlin' hot off the grill.
Fresh buns. Toasted up while your Whataburger's cookin'.
And fresh produce. Crisp lettuce. Ripe, red tomatoes. Juicy pickles and sweet onions. Fresh off the farm.
And what makes it bigger?
Start with a full quarter pound of beef. Top it with a big hot bun. Then pile on more lettuce, more tomatoes, more pickles and onions.
And presto!
We've built a bigger, better burger. Right before your eyes.
So come on in to Whataburger.® And we'll build one for you.

Tidbits

F-16 needs name

The F-16 doesn't have a popular name as do the F-15 Eagle or F-4 Phantom. Air Force officials are searching for an appropriate name.

Reese people with an idea on what to call the fighter should submit their suggestions to the Public Affairs Division, building 800, Ext. 3410, before 4:45 p.m. Monday.

A local board will send three names to ATC for consideration. ATC will later send three submissions to Air Force.

Bids requested

The contracts division of Procurement recently requested bids for installation of cable TV in base housing and certain on-base buildings. These buildings will include all dormitories, the Rec Center, Officers and NCOs open messes, the golf course, child care center and fire department, among others.

Request for bids on construction of the new commissary were also recently released by the Contracts Division.

Chapel dinner

The Catholic and Protestant Chaplains and the Councils of both chapel congregations invite all newcomers to Reese to a potluck dinner on Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Base Chapel Social Hall.

Chapel will furnish beverages, salads and some meat. Couples attending are asked to bring a covered dish to feed themselves and three others, if possible. Singles just bring a good appetite.

Base Nursery will be available at Chapel expense. Please RSVP to Base Chapel (Ext. 3237) by Dec. 6 if you plan to attend.

December luncheon program

The Federal Women's Program manager, Mary Figg, has announced the upcoming December luncheon program.

A style show featuring holiday fashions, lounge and ski wear will be presented by Hemphill-Wells. The luncheon will be at the Officers' Club on Dec. 6 from noon-1:15 p.m. Cost will be $2.25. Tickets will be available Monday from Candy Cook, Ext. 3148; Durita Cagle, Ext. 3843; Linda Huffman, Ext. 3853; Billy Swanson, Ext. 3801; Marsha Wood, Ext. 3711 or Jeane Yarbrough, Ext. 3149.

More use seat belts

With a 92 percent usage rate, the results of Reese's October seat belt check turned out higher than any month since April 1978.

According to Henry Ussery of the Safety Office, 148 vehicles were checked in October.

Beginning this month, a new goal of 300 vehicles per month has been established by the wing commander, so Reese people can expect to see more check stops in future months.

Wayland Baptist

A yearbook photographer will be at Reese Dec. 4 from noon-3 p.m. to shoot photographs of all Wayland Students. He will be located in the test room of the Education Center, Bldg. 91.

Civilian personnel moves

The Civilian Personnel office here has moved to building 75. All telephone numbers for the personnel offices remain the same as those listed for the old offices in building 37.

UNC program

University of Northern Colorado officials have elected to extend the deadline for entering the school's on-base master's degree program.

Those seeking a Master's Degree in Business Administration, the only graduate study currently available on-base, must register for UBUS-530 by Dec. 31. The original deadline was set at Nov. 19.

Christmas party

On Dec. 9 at 3 p.m., the Officers Wives Club will sponsor a childrens Christmas party featuring visits by Santa Claus and Sunshine Sally the clown.

Then on Dec. 13 from 1-3 p.m. the club will hold a Christmas Punch Party featuring Paul Ellsworth and his string quartet. Admission is $1.50 per person.

Cagers start title race

Reese's intramural basketball league cruised through its first full week of play with five lopsided games and one nail-biter.

Air Base Group opened loop play with an easy 68-43 win over Sturon-3, Gus Arizu and Chedrick Henderson led the Group attack with 18 points each.

Last year's championship team, the 54th Flying Training Squadron, got off to good start in its bid for a second straight unbeaten season and loop crown by downing the Hospital, 44-26. Jeff Steig topped all scorers with 18 points for the 54th.

In other one-sided games Edward Norman's eight points led Organizational Maintenance past Sturon-2, 40-29; Bo Wilson scored 16 points to pace Supply past the Civil Engineers, 59-44; and Mike Farage's five baskets sparked the 35th FTS to a 35-25 win over Sturon-1.

Alex McClanahan hit four consecutive free throws in the waning seconds to lift Resource Management to a 50-49 victory over high regarded Field Maintenance. Cecil Spivey topped the winners with 24 points.

This week's intramural schedule pits RM against the 35th, Sturon-1 against Supply and FMS against Sturon-2 (Tuesday); the 35th against FMS, Sturon-2 against Sturon-1 and Supply against OMS (Wednesday); and the Hospital against CE, Sturon-3 against the 54th and the Youth Center against Group (Friday).

Rattlers fumble weekend games

The Sheppard Senators continued their 1979 mastery over the Reese Rattlers by sweeping a two-game series here last weekend.

Reese was routed 137-84 in the series opener and fell 103 to 75 on Saturday. It was the fourth straight loss to Sheppard this year. The varsity cagers have lost the four games by an average of 32 points.

Sheppard used a high powered balanced attack to roll up its twin wins. Six Senators reached double figures in each game.

Don Fuller led the all scorers in Friday's contest, ripping the nets for 34 counters. Bo Wilson added 12 points and William McDonald chipped in 10. Fuller, the local squads leading scorer, was held to 22 points on Saturday as he was in foul trouble most of the game. Wilson and Cecil Spivey each contributed 14 points.

Despite the losses, Rattler coaches remain optimistic about the squad's chances in the Air Training Command regionals early next year. Co-coach Nate Jones continues to express belief in the team. He says that the squad has yet to play near its potential.
