Oil firms say they'll comply with sanctions

Associated Press

U.S. oil companies said they'll sever business ties with Libya but declined to assess any financial impact of the sanctions President Reagan called for in asserting that the North African nation supports terrorism.

An Israeli diplomat, meanwhile, said the sanctions are "the only hope against" international terrorism if adopted by other industrialized countries, while a leader of an Arab-American group said they would only increase Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy's popularity in the Moslem world.

Reagan said in a nationally televised news conference Tuesday night that he had invoked national emergency powers and signed an order saying that companies and individual Americans who remain in Libya. Libya or conduct business with the prosecution.

Reagan also said there was "irrevolved in the Dec. 27 airport attacks owner. in Rome and Vienna.

Two inches of snow blanketed Midland and most of West Texas Tuesday, giving Midland and Odessa youngsters a day off from school, and creating hazardous driving conditions on state highways and in area towns.

The snowfall, which began about 10:10 a.m. Tuesday and concluded about 7:35 p.m., was the result of a strong upper level winter storm that moved into West Texas and Eastern New Mexico from Nevada and Utah. according to a spokesman with the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal.

Cold arctic air blasted into the Permian Basin behind the cold front that extended as far south as Austin and San Antonio.

Youngsters were having a field day in the snow as schools in the Midland, Odessa and Greenwood area closed. Midland Independent School District coordinator of communications Becky Ferguson said MISD students will be required to make up the hours lost as the result of the storm. The date will be announced later

Snow equipment keeps airport active

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Assistant City Editor

One year after the Midland City Council voted to purchase snow removal equipment for Midland Regional Airport, the machinery was put to use Tuesday during this winter's heaviest snowfall and by this morning flights were landing and leaving on schedule, according to an airport official.

Although one runway was kept free of snow and ice during the Tuesday snowfall, some airlines still canceled flights because of what one man called "freaky' weather conditions - poor visibility and crosswinds.

Starting about 11:30 Tuesday morning, airport management pulled out part of its $300,000 equipment and began keeping one runway and the ramp area next to the Terminal building clear of the snow, according to Jon Mathiasen, assistant director of aviation/administration

We've removed all the snow. he said Tuesday, "but the winds are creating a crosswinds effect and some flights have been canceled."

In use were a snow plow, sand spreader, rotary broom and snow blower, all of which arrived in the past 60 days. Still on order are a dump truck with snow plow and sand spreader and a U-car which carries a material to spread on ice and snow to melt it.

"This is the first time we've been able to use all of it," Mathiasen said. Some had been tried during a light snow around Thanksgiving, he added. "We've been able to keep the airport open.

Without the equipment, Mathiasen said this morning, the airport would have been shut down. About 4-6 inches of snow was reported on the runways and ramps. The equipment was operated through the night, he said, and this morning it was completing clearing the ramp area and was starting on the general aviation areas.

Early today, airlines spokesmen reported planes landing and tak-ing off on schedule. Mathiasen said passengers should allow an extra 15 to 20 minutes driving to the airport - the fastest speed on Highway 80 was about mph. Airport personnel had sanded intersections coming into and out of the airport and at Stop signs.

Couple fights to let infant 'die in peace, not pain'

By SUZANNE WETLAUFER

BOSTON (AP) - Three days before Christmas, doctors told Lynn and Jack Bellingham their 3%month-old son Ricky had just days to live. The couple spent the holiday making funeral arrangements.

The infant is still alive - connected to an artificial respirator, fed through a tube in his stomach and sedated with morphine. But the Bellinghams are preparing to go to court to persuade Children's Hospital to remove the child's intravenous tubes and let him "die in peace, not pain

The Bellinghams said they are poised to file suit against the hospital soon as it orders more surgery.

Hospital officials refuse to discuss the Bellingham case, citing the infant's right to privacy, but spokeswoman Nancy Collins said Tuesday that, in general, doctors make every effort to preserve life, even when hope is sparse.

We do not make decisions to preserve or terminate life based on social, economic or lifestyle reasons," Ms. Collins said. "It is hard to know when to stop treating a patient because some cases, especially in pediatrics, things change for the better." Ms. Collins said the hospital usually tries to follow the wishes of parents whose children are terminally ill, but if doctors believe a child can be saved, the hospital will seek custody or emergency permission to con-

Mrs. Bellingham, who has two children from a previous marriage, lives in the suburb of Marshfield with her husband, a 40-year-old construction worker. She said the couple had no idea Ricky was going to be born with physical problems.

"In the beginning, we went along with everything the hospital wanted to do," she said. "We wanted this and then, what's in this child's best interest from the child's perspecti-ve?" said George J. Annas, a profes-sor of health law at Boston University. "The question is, is this child better off dead than being treated this way?"

Block recalls 'proudest moments' in agricultural post

By JIM DRINKARD Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Agriculture Secretary John R. Block, who is re-signing next month, leaves behind a mixed record from his oversight of one of U.S. agriculture's most turbulent periods.

At a news conference to announce his departure, Block listed his proudest moments during the five years he was at USDA's helm: the lifting of the Soviet grain embargo in 1981, the 1983 payment-in-kind acreage-idling program, and the market-oriented policies of the 1985 farm bill.

But throughout his tenure, Block has faced constant criticism for what many saw as his relatively weak standing in the Reagan administration's inner councils and a barrage of questions about his own financial difficulties on his huge hog farm in Illinois

He also has had to take the lead in advocating austere administration farm policy proposals that critics said were dictated to Block by hardliners in the administration budget office. Those policies later were softened considerably by Congress, but the stigma on Block has to some extent remained.

"These have been stressful times for our farmers," Block, his wife, Sue, at his side, told a crowd of reporters and department officials Tuesday. "I do believe we are starting to turn the corner. We'll see better times ahead."

Speculation on Block's successor has centered on one candidate who likely would have both the president's respect and his ear - Richard E. Lyng, Block's former deputy and President Reagan's state agriculture director when he was governor of California.

Reagan, at his nationally broadcast news conference Tuesday night, gave no hint about Block's successor, saying only, "I'm certainly going to want someone just as Jack was, who has all the experience necessary in that field." He said, "it would be fine if we could come up with a working farmer.

Asked if he thought the depressed farm economy had hit bottom, Rea-gan said he thought it had.

"It's going to take a little patience, or time. You can't do something instantly, to pull out a rug that's been there for many decades," Reagan said. "But we think we have a program now that is going to help maintain an income for the farmer at the same time we get agriculture back out to market-controlled and not government regulation and controlled."

Many of the problems of agricul-ture, which has been in a serious economic slide nearly since the day Block took office, have been beyond the direct control of federal policies.

"In my view, most farmers will agree that Jack Block did a good job as secretary during a very difficult period for agriculture," said Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan.

"Seldom if ever has there been as frustrating a time to serve as secretary of agriculture," added Sen. Jesse Heims, R-N.C., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee. "He has constantly confronted problems which no government can solve." Those included the strong U.S. dollar that has made American commodities relatively more expensive in export markets, the remains of a global recession that has dampened export demand, and plummeting farmland values that have squeezed thousands of farmers out of business

Block, 50, declined to say what his plans were but speculation has been that he will join an agriculture-related group in Washington.

Reagan reveals Libyan sanctions

By MICHAEL PUTZEL AP White House Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Calling Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy "flaky" and "a barbarian," President Reagan ordered all American companies and workers to quit doing business in Libya and get out by the end of the month to show the United States won't tolerate terrorism.

Addressing a national television audience at his first White House news conference in nearly four months, Reagan announced Tuesday night there was "irrefutable evidence" of Khadafy's involvement in the Dec. 27 airport massacres in Rome and Vienna and called on the European allies "to join with us in isolating him.

He promised unspecified "further steps will be taken" if the latest round of U.S. sanctions fails to end Khadafy's terrorist activities.

The president refused to disclose his evidence against the Libyan lead-er, saying, "There are things that should not be revealed.

'But I can assure you that we have the evidence," Reagan told a questioner.

An administration official, speaking on condition he not be identified, said the evidence includes Tunisian passports that were said to have been confiscated by Libyan authorities. The passports then "found there way into the hands of those who perpetrated these acts" in which 19 people, including five Americans and four Palestinian terrorists, died.

U.S. officials, however, acknowledged that the imposition of unilateral trade sanctions against Libya are unlikely to have much effect, and the prospects are slim that Libya's major Western trading partners such as Italy and West Germany will go along.

'Civilized nations cannot continue to tolerate in the name of material gain and self-interest the murder of innocents," Reagan said in his prepared statement. "Khadafy deserves community."

Asked if the failure of the allies to go along wouldn't severely curtail the impact of the sanctions, Reagan said, "It may be frustrating, but we're going to go on with what we think has to be done."

And he warned in his statement that "Americans will not understand other nations moving into Libya to take commercial advantage of our departure."

Acting under his emergency pow-ers, Reagan ordered all U.S. companies to halt their Libyan operations and pull out by Feb. 1. That would affect Occidental Petroleum, Oasis, Conoco, Amarada Hess and the Houston-based Brown and Root construction firm that is building a giant irrigation system in the Libyan desert.

Except for journalists, who are specifically exempted from the order, all Americans must be out of the country by the end of the month or face criminal charges should they return to the United States. U.S. officials said they could, if convicted, be sentenced to 10 years in prison and be fined for disobeying Reagan's order.

Administration officials said Reagan's order means no American company or U.S. citizen may continue to buy, sell, lend or borrow anything in Libya or contribute to its economy in any way, not even to purchase groceries on which to live.

Asked how seriously he takes Khadafy's threat to launch suicide missions in the United States if Israel or the United States retaliates for the terrorist attacks, Reagan said, "I wish he was planning to do that himself. I'd be happy to welcome him. "How can you not take seriously a man that has been proven that he is as irrational as he is on things. I find he's not only a barbarian but he's flaky," Reagan said.

While refusing to elaborate, Reagan revealed that U.S. authorities had thwarted 126 terrorist missions in the past year.

Congress to raise Pentagon spending by 3 percent after inflation in the fiscal 1987 budget that he sublimits to Congress next month. At the same time, he is expected to propose more than $50 billion in politically painful domestic program cuts needed to meet the deficit reduction goals in the new Gramm-Rudman budget legislation.

- It was the first news conference since his summit with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev in November, but with the Libyan issue dominating the session, Reagan was asked little about his Soviet counterpart. The president did say that no date has been set for the second summit. June had been discussed, but Reagan said the Soviets have suggested September.

Reagan opened the question period in a light note, welcoming back White House reporter Sarah McClendon. 75, who had been recuperating from hip surgery. He called her "a true Washington institution" who has kept "eight presidents in all, and me, on their toes over the years."

Ms. McClendon responded with a smile and then asked one of her customary zingers, needling the president on the threat that budget cuts may make Medicare even more costly and asking why the United States could not emulate Canada in providing virtually free medical care.

Reagan said, "We're looking for answers," particularily for those facing bills from catastrophic illness.

In December 1984, airport management including Aviation Director Vic White requested the City Council to purchase the equipment with 90 percent of the cost being funded by a federal grant. The idea was rejected at that meeting although some local managers of airlines serving Midland Regional Airport also requested the equipment. Eric Downward, general manager for American Airlines, had said, "It's remarkable that a city which prides itself on quality of life doesn't have snow removal equipment.

In January 1985, the council reconsidered and voted to apply for the federal funding. Casting the only dissenting vote was Mayor G. Thane Akins who said buying the equipment couldn't be economically justified.

The city paid $30,000 as its share for the equipment. But the cost is being recouped through the charges airlines pay the city for using the airport, according to Mathiasen.

On Tuesday, Downward said American Airlines hadn't canceled any flights. Snow around the ramp and gate area was partially cleared and there were no ruts. "I am delighted to have the snow removal equipment. It was really good of the city councilmen to take this forward a step and to have advanced snow removal equipment. We're really proud of the city management.

Muse Airlines canceled two flights Tuesday because of weather conditions and not the runway, said Mathiasen.

Also canceling flights Tuesday due to weather conditions was Southwest Airlines, which stopped 10 of its 16 daily flights out of Midland. Danny Gholson, Southwest Airlines station manager, said city employees operating the equipment "are doing a fine job. But the problem we're having is with low visibility and crosswinds. It's like fighting a losing battle. It's one of those times where we've got the equipment but other weather conditions are keeping us from landing."

Braking action on the cleared runway, he said, is "fair and airplanes can still operate on it."

But the winds "are high enough to keep the airplanes from land-ing. It's a freaky thing."

WASHINGTON - President Reagan says balancing the federal budget may eventually require a tax hike, but that he "got burned" supporting one in 1982 and remains determined not to advocate one now. Reagan told a nationally broadcast news conference on Tuesday he will submit a budget to Congress next month that meets deficit-reduction targets without raising taxes or lowering Social Security benefits.

However, the president tempered his remarks by conceding that a tax increase might be needed in 1991, the year deficits would be eliminated under the new Gramm-Rudman budget-balancing law.

'We're going to keep on trying for the next five years to get down to the balanced budget through spending cuts," Reagan said, even though his term expires in January 1989.

"Then, if that isn't enough, and if we're convinced that we have government down to the absolute level where it cannot go below that and peform government's functions and services, then it would be a time to look at revenues. But not now.

American oil employees must leave Libya or face criminal prosecution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans who stayed in Libya after the United States imposed a ban on travel to that country in 1981 were regarded as "economic soldiers of fortune" by the U.S. government.

Now, under President Reagan's new orders, Americans remaining behind will be regarded by their government as criminals unless they are working journalists or directly involved in getting other Americans out of the country.

The State Department and spokesmen for U.S. companies still doing business in Libya said Tuesday that few American companies have U.S. citizens at work there.

Instead, most of the 1,000 to 1,600 Americans thought to be in Libya are working for the government of Libya or its oil company, or for for-eign corporations, the officials said. The number includes dependents. Most American workers in Libya are petroleum engineers, technicians or consultants, since U.S. oil technology is regarded highly and is in demand, a State Department official said.

Americans also are working in construction projects in Libya, including a major desert water pipeline on which Brown and Root, a Houston construction company, has an engineering contract.

Work done under contracts that existed legally before Reagan's or-der must be halted by Feb. 1.

Reagan banned Americans from traveling to Libya in late 1981, and also ordered other restrictions, such as a ban on importation of crude oil. But Americans could obtain permission to travel to Libya, particularly if they were working on contracts in place before the 1981 restrictions were imposed.

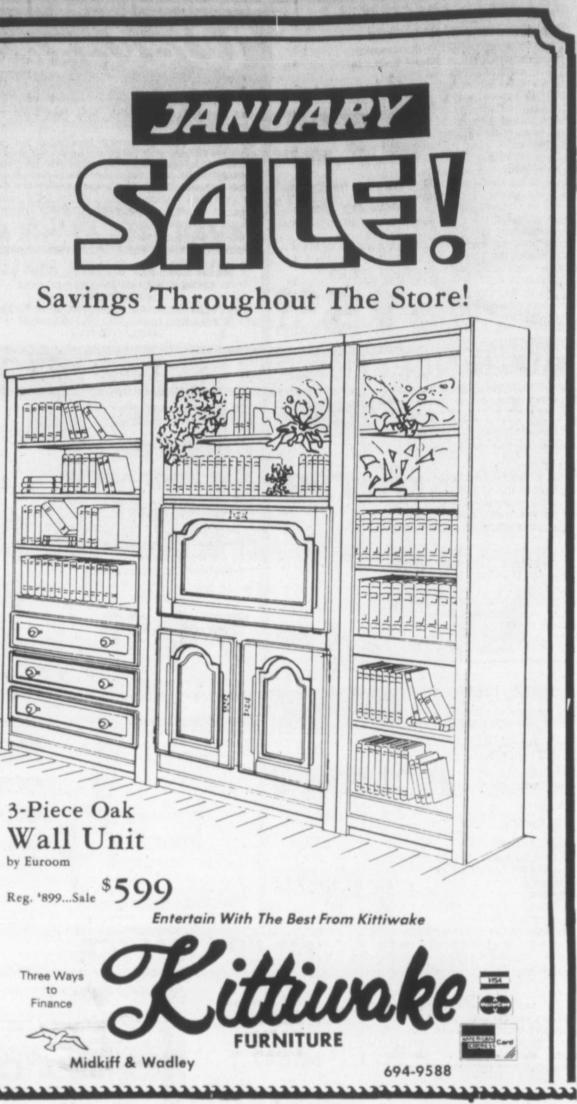

Several oil companies maintained large operations in Libya following the 1981 restrictions, including Occidental Petroleum Co., Conoco Inc., Marathon Oil Co. and Amerada Hess

Corp. Most say they have substituted Canadians, British and others for their American employees. But the replacements would also be forced to pull out under Reagan's order.

Conoco, Marathon and Hess each have minority interests in Oasis Oil Co., with controlling interest held by the Libyan National Oil Co. Because U.S. importation of Libyan oil is banned, the companies say they sell or trade their product in European markets.

Marathon Oil spokesman Bill Ryder said his company's interest in the Oasis venture is "an economically viable operation." Marathon's daily oil production from Libya in 1984 was 70,000 barrels out of the company's total production of 280,000 barrels

Radio listeners mail trash to Libya

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — It's anybody's guess how much trash actually has been neatly packed up and mailed to Moammar Khadafy.

But whether it's enough to fill a wastebasket or a landfill, an unmistakeable point has been made, says the manager of a Maine radio station that called on its listeners to use parcels of "clean garbage" to send the

Libyan leader an anti-terrorist message. "I think we've been on every talk show in America," said Jack Roberts of WGUY-FM in Bangor on Tuesday, five days after the campaign began. From as far away as Brazil and Europe, hundreds of calls have poured in on the station's listener line, 90 percent expressing support, said Roberts. Broadcasters in Georgia also picked up the campaign and reported strong support.

The effort was billed by WGUY as a way to direct the public's attention to Khadafy's threats against the United States and his alleged support of terrorism.

"Obviously, sending trash to (Libya's) U.N. mission won't stop terrorism. But it does show people that Americans are concerned, that they do care," Roberts said.

The mischief began at the 3,000-watt rock music sta-tion following a news report in which U.S. officials accused Libya of helping terrorists and Khadafy reacted angrily.

"What a bunch of garbage," exclaimed disc jockey Brian Mathews. And before long he, his listeners and other announcers dreamed up the rubbish mailing plan.

So far, Libya's U.N. mission in New York has appar-ently received only a handful of candy wrappers, cigarette butts and a wadded napkin.

That refuse spilled from an envelope sent to the mission, said a secretary who refused to give her name during a telephone interview Tuesday. There have been no foul-smelling packages, no suspicious parcels, and, as far as she knew, no requests to postal authorities to intercept any such mail addressed to the Libyans.

"If we get anything, we'll just toss it in the trash can without opening it," she said. The acting head of the mission, Rajab A. Azzarouk, was out of the office and unavailable for comment, the secretary said.

NATION in brief

Cities' growth stalls

WASHINGTON (AP) - Economic growth in the nation's cities appears less uniform and robust than it did a year ago, with little improvement seen for the jobless and homeless, a survey of municipal leaders said today.

Only 25 percent of elected officials from 371 cities told the National League of Cities they expect strong economic growth in their area in the new year. At this time in 1985, 45 percent of city leaders looked for a strong economy in the year ahead.

"The momentum of economic recovery is flattening out in most of the nation's cities, and the concern of local government leaders is to keep it from stalling," said Alan Beals, executive director of the National League of Cities.

"Their economic outlook for this year is a good deal more modest than what our survey found a year ago - in terms of their own city outlook and their outlook for the national economy," he said.

Jury may hold hearts

WASHINGTON (AP) - A military jury may be asked to don surgical gloves to examine preserved human hearts as it tries a Navy surgeon charged with causing the deaths of five patients through negligence in the operating room.

The trial of Cmdr. Donal Billig on five counts of involuntary manslaughter and 24 counts of dereliction of duty is expected to take more than a month, beginning with selection of the jury today.

Billig's lawyer, Lt. Cmdr. Stephen C. Baker, on Tuesday objected that the court-martial should not be shown "scarred, deformed, uglylooking, shriveled hearts," but the

King children arrested

ATLANTA (AP) - Three children of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., and three state senators were among 10 people arrested Tuesday night at an anti-apartheid demonstration at a supermarket.

The 10 were among a group of 33 protesters at the store on Martin Luther King Jr. Drive. They were charged with criminal trespassing after refusing a request to leave by police.

The demonstration was the latest in a series of protests of the chain by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which King founded. The civil rights organization claims Winn-Dixie supermarkets supports apartheid by buying products from South Africa.

Those arrested were Martin Luther King III, Yolanda King, Bernice King, state Sens. Julian Bond and Arthur Langford and David Scott, Ralph David Abernathy III, Vernon King, Angela Farris and Alice Eason, said police spokesman Kevin Forier.

Jenco held one year

CHICAGO (AP) - A year ago today, the Rev. Lawrence Martin Jenco was abducted by Moslem extremists in West Beirut, and after 12 agonizing months of fear and disappointment, his family says "there's no ifs, ands or buts" about continuing their efforts to free him.

Proof of the 55-member family's resolve are yellow ribbons still tied around the trees in their yards, and the sign in front of Mae Mihelich's Joliet home will be updated today to read 365 days of captivity for her brother.

The family also organized a special anniversary Mass today at the church Jenco attended as a boy to make sure he and the other five Americans missing in Lebanon are not forgotten, said Mrs. Mihelich, Jenco's sister.

came back to put his views into effect. They are not capitalist, but they do accept a degree of market discipline and incentives, which undermine the austere orthodox belief that absolute egalitarianism is more important than production.

Therefore, he has no need to apologize for the past. He is evidently having the traditional Chinese trouble with the entrenched bureauracy, as well as with elderly party leaders who never shared his views. But his own consistency gives him a certain freedom for innovation.

This is not the case in the Soviet Union. The people Stalin purged stayed purged. The leadership represents the heirs of a system that has mellowed in its methods but not in its principles. To open the Soviet economy the way Deng is trying to do in China would imply an admission that the principles were not correct.

The Russians have made changes periment with foreign investment and a relaxation of central economic controls. Stalin himself tried to use limited incentives in his Stakhanov-. ite program.

Change in China, Russia not capitalism

But there has never been a Soviet acceptance of the new Peking dic-tum that Marx "did not overrule the laws of supply and demand." For Gorbachev to do so would mean refuting what was done to build the Soviet Union into a mighty power. No one who has made his way up through the Soviet nomenklatura can be expected even to think of such a thing. Deng is building on the utter wreckage left by the Cultural Revolution. Gorbachev is tinkering with a system that he and his colleagues believe to be basically sound. There never really was egalitarianism in the Soviet state, and the flourishing black market is tolerated as a necessary fact of life that the theory refuses to acknowledge.

Whether or not Deng's concept

He Policy, which Stalin ended, did ex- succeeds will probably be an open question not only until the next leadership that is forming comes to power but for at least another whole generation. If it does, that would be the greatest possible challenge to the Russians because it would put at issue the legitimacy of their rulers, based on their claim of knowing how to make a Communist society function. But Gorbachev doesn't have to face that now. Nothing in Marx dictates the Soviet structure; it has simply been taken as typical because the Soviet Union was the first state to proclaim Marxism as an official ideology. Deng is developing another version of communism.

The vagaries of interpretation have drained Marxism of meaning as a clear-cut model. What is left in sharp, crystalline pattern is Leninism, which the Chinese state cherishes as much as the Soviet Union does Marxism can be defined as a theory that considers property the foundation of all power, and therefore holds that putting economic power in public instead of private hands will assure a fair distribution of all benefits. Leninism can be defined as a method of organizing political power so that it has control of the economy and is so overwhelming that no other power base can challenge it. It remains vigorous in China.

Capitalism isn't truly an ideology, though some ultra-enthusiasts try to make it sound like one. It is a technique for organizing the economy that has proved not only very productive but a good support for democracy, which is an ideology. Democracy holds that people have a natural right to differ from their governors and among themselves, and that their consent must be the source of power.

No one should hold his breath until Gorbachev takes Deng's road, or until Deng adopts capitalism, which is unacceptable under Leninist rule because it tends to create a counterpower. For the West, it is always preferable when such countries concentrate on their internal problems instead of interfering with others. If the Russians would just follow China in that direction, the world could breathe more easily.

The common guess is growth between 2.5 and 3.5 percent, not much different from 1985 (probably around 2.5 percent when the final figures are in). This is good news because both the U.S. and the world economy can't live with much less. The dangers of no growth or outright recession would be unacceptable.

Slumping commodity prices and rising indebtedness in the Third World, more than $2 trillion in U.S. government debt and an enormous trade deficit could transform a minor slump into a disaster. Many still believe this is ultimately inevitable - but not, apparently, in 1986.

Despite the good news, several serious problems exist in 1986. Modest growth will aggravate exists. the U.S. deficit by $11 billon for each percentage point in lost government revenues. Unemployment remains stuck at 7 percent. An overvalued dollar, one of the major causes of the trade deficit, has been only partially relieved by the currency's moderate drop in 1985's fourth quarter. Perhaps most disturbing is the fact that an economy stimulated by both supply-side tax cuts and heavy government

Finally, there is the wild card ally in recession, the overall of falling oil prices. The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries has chosen to compete for market share by cutting the price of oil. This will help contain inflation in the West, creating a painless opportunity for the U.S. to impose an import fee to trim the deficit. But sharply lower oil prices reduce the revenues of those oil-producing countries that are heavily indebted, making their economic situation even more precarious.

Thus, while the outlook for the U.S. seems promising, events abroad remind us we are living on borrowed time; the year's best good news is that we have more of it than we thought. But while the dangers of a fragile world economy remain. This, then, is the year to address those dangers, while the opportunity still

Third World debt should be restructured, the U.S. deficit trimmed by a major tax hike, commodity prices stabilized by joint action and both world trade and currency rules reformed by international agreement. These steps will help make the next downward swing in the business cycle survivable, instead of devastating - which it would be if it occurred in 1986. - The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Fashionable food can kill conversation!

EW YORK - I am very weak on food. This creates constant humiliations, as, for example, on the occasion some years ago when I went to a flossy California restaurant in a party that included Craig Claiborne, a man who is strong on food, very strong.

cut an impressive figure in Mr. Claiborne's presence, I did not blanch when presented with a menu in French. As international sophisticates are aware,

Anxious to

Russell Baker

French is a comparatively easy tongue for Americans, menu French is harder to understand than the directions for filling out an income-tax return.

Determined not to ask for help and noting that everybody else was ordering two items from this incomprehensible document, I chose two French words at random from the menu and uttered them as well as they could be uttered by a tongue that had grown up on cornpone, fried pork chops and roastin' ears. The waiter eyed me with an inso-

on food, and the sight makes them insolent

Making no effort to hide his incredulity, this waiter, this Californian with a Hollywood Parisian accent, said, "M'sieu wants fish two times?

His emphasis on the "two" was the twist of the dagger. My random choice of French words had put me in the apparently absurd position of ordering a fish course to follow a fish course. Thus died my dream of impressing Craig Claiborne with my savoir faire at the table d'hote, not to mention my je ne sais quoi with the pommes de terre.

Until that instant I never knew that people who are strong on food do not eat fish two times at the best restaurants. In my scorebook this was Strike Three against the best restaurants, Strike One being their insistence on the use of menu French and Strike Two being their irresistible power to turn sensible people into raving food critics.

Being weak on food, I have just three ratings for meals:

"Terrific." "O.K."

"Lousy.

I believe 99.8 percent of American males confined themselves to the same three ratings until just recently when the consumption of highpriced victuals became a national craze. Since then it has become al-lent stare. Veteran waiters can in- most impossible to find a good dinstantly identify people who are weak ner conversation because your companions - people who grew up just like you, thinking real olive oil on the salad dressing was the essence of elegant eating - constantly interrupt to criticize the comestibles.

> The conversation moves happily toward a delicious divorce scandal when - just a minute now! - someone is exasperated by the endive. The endive is not quite as crisp as the best endive should be.

Which reminds someone else of the best endive she ever tasted. Which reminds another of the embarrassing meal he once attended at which a hostess served a Waldorf salad with goat cheese and then at the meal's close offered a Stilton cheese without butter for the cracker.

"Cheese two times!"

"Believe it or not." You make another effort to get back to that divorce story:

"Is it true that the man in the case incessantly invited other men's wives up to his apartment to see his etchings?"

"Etchings? No woman is fetched by etchings anymore. Nowadays it's sushi that does the trick.' That reminds me of this fantastic thing they do at the Cafe La Hooch avocado stuffed with sushi and chopped suckers from octopus tentacles. "Speaking of octopus, what in the world is the other herb in this incredible fennel sauce?"

"This fennel sauce you call incredible? Surely you joke. I've had better fennel sauce in Switzerland, and you know how inferior the Swiss sauciers can be."

You want to talk about whether the Reagan crowd can be stopped from destroying the government, why Elizabeth Taylor hasn't got married lately, how your real estate partner bribed the zoning commission? Just try:

"Dismantling the government would be unfortunate, of course, but could anything be half as unfortunate as what they've done to this broccoli?"

And: "I hadn't thought of Liz lately. Don't you think it's so much healthier nowadays that we all think of mushrooms instead?"

The meal I described here would rate an "OK" by my system, except that by the time it has been critiqued all the way to the intensivecare ward it must be dropped to a "Lousy."

This is what can happen to a delightful institution like eating when you turn victual consumption into a national craze. For people who are weak on food, it takes all the fun out of eating.

At Midland Regional Air Terminal flights were arriving and departing on schedule today, an airport official said.

Although one runway was kept free of snow and ice Tuesday, some airlines chose to cancel flights because of poor visibility and crosswinds.

Airport officials advised passen-gers to allow an extra 15 to 20 minutes driving to the air terminal. Airport personnel had sanded intersections leading to and from the terminal and at the stop signs.

No major accidents were reported as the result of the snow, a spokesman with the Texas Department of Public Safety said. Several motorists had run off the road because of the ice, but they were able to get back on the highways with some help from DPS troopers. DPS reports indicated most of the accidents were concentrated in an area about six miles west of Midland on U.S. Interstate 20. Officials also reported several minor accidents on or near State Highways 80 and 191.

The Midland Police Department reported 20 minor automobile accidents early this morning while the Odessa Police Department said it received reports of only six fenderbenders.

Police departments in area towns also were on the road, helping travelers brave the highways.

Andrews, Upton and Glasscock County officials reported only minor accidents while the Dawson and Howard County Sheriff's Departments reported no ice or snow on county roads.

Only the Crane County Sheriff's Department reported major accidents as the result of the weather. Officials there reported two vehicles rolled over Tuesday. The first oc-curred about 10 miles west of State Highway 329, while the other occurred about 18 miles west of SH 329. No one was injured in the accidents. NWS officials say hazardous conditions were expected to continue through much of today as a travelers advisory was in effect. Decreasing cloudiness was expected to bring the temperatures up to near 40 degrees, but colder temperatures in the low 20s would cause the streets to freeze over during the evening and early morning hours.

Forecasters say tonight will be fair and cold with the low near 20. Winds will be light and southerly. Thursday calls for sunny skies and warmer temperatures. The high will reach the upper 40s. Winds will be from the southwest at 5 to 15 mph.

Tuesday's high of 43 was 38 degrees below the record set in 1989. The morning low of 12 was two degrees above the record set in 1987.

BOSTON (AP) — Boston College hardly is ready to crack the Top 10 or even the Top 20, but the Eagles are showing that they belong in the tough Big East Conference basketball race after just three games.

"I thought it was there for us tonight," Coach Gary Williams said Tuesday night after his Golden Eagles upset 10th-ranked Big East pow-er St. John's 79-77 in overtime. "We knew we could play with a team like St. John's. We saw some real confidence in our players."

St. John's, now 14-2, flirted with danger for the third time within a week. The Redmen had escaped with overtime victories against Thursday against Providence and Saturday against Pittsburgh.

In the only other game involving a ranked team, No. 16 Notre Dame beat Providence 78-72. Senior co-captain Roger McCready scored 29 points, including five early in overtime, and grabbed a team high nine rebounds in leading the BC upset. The game figured to come down to a duel between McCready and St. John's junior forward Walter Berry, who had a 25.2 aver-age while leading the Big East in overall scoring and rebounding.

McCready came out ahead. Berry, plagued by four fouls with just under eight minutes left in regulation, had 18 points but pulled down 14 rebounds.

McCready got plenty of help as freshman point guard Dana Barros hit for 18 points, center Troy Bowers for 14 and co-captain Dominic Pressley 13.

Willie Glass also had 18 points, Mark Jackson 15 and Shelton Jones and Ron Rowan 10 each for St. John's, which had a 34-33 edge in field goals and a 36-31 advantage in rebounds. The game was tied three times with six lead exchanges in the first half which ended with St. John's ahead 35-34. There were seven ties in the second half, including a 65-65 standoff on Barros' jumper from the corner with 2:55 left in regulation.

Neither team scored after that until Pressley stole the ball after the overtime tipoff and went in for an uncontested layup.

"If we had any doubts entering overtime, we proved right there that we could still score," Williams said.

The Eagles went on to build their biggest lead 75-71, but St. John's refused to concede. Finally, Barros cashed two free throws when fouled on an attempted pass with six seconds left, nailing down the victory.

Lee hands Mojo first 4-5A loss

By BOB BRUNDAGE Sports Writer

It was cold Tuesday night for the District 45A matchup between Odes-sa Permian and Midland Lee at Chaparral Center. Not just outside, but on the court as well.

Neither team will win any awards for their field goal shooting percentage in the game, but the Lee Rebels can notch the important victory as they claimed a 56-44 decision to knockoff unbeaten Permian and close a little ground in the league playoff chase.

The Rebels had the coldest hands on the court, shooting a dismal 34 percent while the Panthers were little better at 37. However, when Lee needed to play defense, a little heat was in reserve.

The teams stayed within four points for three quarters. Going into the final frame, was the closest thing possible to a tie with Permian leading 33-32.

THE PANTHERS pumped the spread to 36-32 before the Rebels showed their first real offensive sign of life, running off 13 straight points for a 45-36 lead. It was 6-foot-6 post Anthony Dickens who led the way.

After Rodney Sims gave the Rebels the lead for good, at 37-36 with a pair of free throws. Dickens put it on points.

In all, the three-year Rebel people.

"Anthony really took over for us in the fourth quarter, rebounding and scoring. Anthony's the only starter we've got back and, in these district games where there's more pressure than any other time, I think his experience really shows through.

DICKENS WAS happy with his 25-15 performance, saying, "I really came out wanting to beat Permian. I knew if we could get on the boards that we could stay in the game because they've got good rebounders. (Permian's) Jimmie Davis is back from last year and he's a good rebounder.

The Rebels also got double-digit shooting from Eddie Riley at 14 and Lee Dixon, who probably scored the coldest 11 points of his life, hitting only 3-of-19 shots from the field.

"Lee is on one night and off another," said Dickens. "He has a nice shot though and that's what I'm out there for, so when he misses I can rebound and put it back up.

"We're just glad to be back in the race because you don't want to get too far behind in this district because everybody has a good team and it makes it hard to catch up," condluded Dickens.

'We played good for three-and-aice, scoring eight of Lee's next 10 half quarters, I felt, playing team 3 ball," said Permian head coach "The last half quar har ter we made some really dumb mistakes and really hurt ourselves. "Dickens did a good job, he killed us. I don't have anybody who can play defense on the post. They did a fense and not have to outscore great job. Either they were executing their offense very well or we had a break down on defense."

ODESSA - Odessa Permian head football coach John Wilkins ended months of speculation about his retirement from coaching Tuesday night when he turned in his resignation to accept the role of Ector County Independent School District Athletic Director.

District 4-5A play at Chaparral Center.

Since the start of the 1985 season. rumors of Wilkins' resignation were repeated from one corner of District 4-5A to the other. Speculation

Wilkins came to Permian as an assistant from Amarillo Palo Duro in 1971. He became head coach in 1973 and, since, posted a 148-16-6 record, including two state championships and two berths in the title game.

"I felt like it was a good opportunity," said Wilkins. "The Odessa school system, we feel, is one of the best and we feel it would be the best

After 21 years in the profession, putting aside his coaching duties is a tough decision.

Kent Porter / Reporter-Telegram

"I don't think there's any doubt about it," said Wilkins. "I've been involved in it for 21 years now and I can't say I won't miss it. It's been very good for us, no question. So, it's with real mixed emotions that I'm leaving.

"First of all, I think I'd be remiss without thanking all of the players that I've had the good fortune and privilege to coach down through the years. What success we've had is certainly due to them. It's not easy to play for Permian and it's not easy to play under my direction.

The coaches I've had the fortune and privilege to coach with are also a part of it. I'll miss the youngsters first and the camaraderie of the coaches. I'd do it all over again in a second.'

Tayrien OHS applicant From Staff Reports The rumors circulating about Jack Tayrien's interest in the vacant Odessa High head football job were confirmed Tuesday night by John Wilkins, ex-Odessa Permian football coach and newly appointed athletic director of the Odessa school system. Tayrien, head football coach at Midland Lee the past two seasons, has submitted an application to succeed Jerry Millsapps, according to Wilkins.

In his two full seasons at Lee, Tayrien coached the Rebels to a 22-5 record, including two Bi-District titles, two Area titles and one Regional title.

Tayrien, who led the Lee Rebels to the state playoffs each of the past two seasons, is a 1957 graduate of Odessa High. He became Lee's head coach on Jan. 10, 1984, after serving four years as secondary and offensive backfield coach under former head coach Spike Dykes. Before that, Tayrien compiled a 72-45-2 record at Lockney, Frenship and Bishop. When he was hired in 1984,

Tayrien was given a two year contract. That contract is now up. Tayrien was in New Orleans

Tuesday and could not be reached for comment.

Bulldogs defeat Odessa, 80-72

By ERIC SCHURER Sports Writer

ODESSA - When the Midland

High Bulldogs gets hot, they get hot - and their opponents pay the price. When MHS isn't hot, it's the Bulldogs who pay the price.

Tuesday night, MHS got hot in spurts, long enough to collect an 80-72 debt from Odessa High. It was the Bulldogs' third District 4-5A game without a loss, leaving them tied with San Angelo at the top 45A standings. MHS is 13-6 this season.

The first four and a half minutes of the game saw Midland High playing about as well as it could play, sprinting to a 19-4 lead, thanks mostly to 10 early points by sharpshooter Anthony Deande. It was to be the night.

After OHS coach Keith Thompson opening quarter, the Bulldogs took a the Bronchos, 0-3, 6-12, pull themselves back into the game.

We totally lost our concentration, I guess we thought we had the game won," said Deande, the game's lead- intermission. ing scorer with 26 points, a seasonhigh for the senior.

THE BRONCHOS pulled within six with their run near the end of the first quarter, but the snoozing Bulldog giants woke up to hit for six straight points to pull ahead, 27-15 at largest lead the 'Dogs would have all let the MHS run away with this one. Each time the Bulldogs stretched the lead, OHS bounced back to close the called a time out with 3:22 left in the gap. In the second quarter, a fast break bucket by Darren Davis pulled brief nap, lapsing long enough to let OHS within two, 39-37. Seconds later Ed Lewis missed a pair of free throws that would've tied the game. Instead, a 9-2 spurt by MHS gave the Bulldogs a 48-37 lead at

> "I don't really know what it is that makes a team play in spurts like that," MHS coach Jack Stephenson said. "OHS played scrappy, they've got a good team and they'll beat some people down the line.'

IF IT wasn't for more steady scorthe end of the quarter. But the pesky Bronchos wouldn't fourth leading scorer with a 23.7 average, and strong free throw shooting in the clutch, OHS might have started a winning streak on Tuesday.

"If Deande had an off night, we might have had a chance," the Bronchos' Thompson said. "Playing catchup always hurts you. It puts the kids under a lot of pressure the whole time. But our kids came out to play, we're not as bad as our record indicates."

Playing a swarming defense and looking for the steal, OHS found itself in early foul trouble. Leading scorer Paul Chavez, 24 points per game in district play going in, sat out most of the game before fouling out. As did post Phillip Gold.

Unlike other survivors, Miami short on defense, 1,000-yard rusher

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

Unlike the three other survivors in the National Football League playoffs, the Miami Dolphins don't have an intimidating defense. And they don't have a 1,000-yard rusher.

What they have is the longest win-ning streak — eight — and the best track record for getting to the Super Bowl

While the Chicago Bears, with the best defense in the league and Walter Payton, the NFL's all-time leading runner, entertain the Los Angeles Rams — No. 5 in defense and featuring Eric Dickerson — in the NFC title game on Sunday, the poor Dolphins must make due with the 18th-rated running game and the 23rd-ranked defense against the New England Patriots. New England has 1,000-yard man Craig James and the league's No. 7 defense.

But the Dolphins aren't exactly quaking in their cleats awaiting the AFC championship showdown. which will be the late game Sunday. Miami has too much going for it to OFTY

The Dolphins have the second-best passing offense, led by All-Pro Dan Marino at quarterback. They have Don Shula, who has coached six Super Bowl teams, five in Miami. And they have an 18-year winning streak against the Patriots in the Orange Bowl.

To listen to Shula, they also have enough defense and an acceptable running game, spearheaded by Tony Nathan and rookie Ron Davenport.

Shula said his team's defense had improved for five weeks before nearly being run over by Cleveland's Earnest Byner and Kevin Mack last Saturday. The Dolphins escaped with a 24-21 victory after trailing 21-

Added defensive coordinator Chuck Studley: "We certainly hadn't reached the point of perfection yet. But we weren't giving up many points in the last few weeks and I thought things were coming together.

As for the running game, it came alive enough against Cleveland to indicate the Patriots' defense can't concentrate on the air attack. And Nathan was sensational as a receiver with 10 catches for 101 yards against the Browns. Nathan led the team in receptions this past season with 72 for 651 yards, and added 687 yards on the ground

"Tony Nathan is a money player," Shula said. "He has been making big plays for us all his career." "My personal opinion is that he's the most underrated back in the lea-gue," Davenport said of Nathan.

"I've learned so much just watching him in practice.'

Miami hasn't lost at home to New England since 1966, but the Patriots say they aren't thinking about any jinxes.

"We don't care about that. Forget the jinx," said All-Pro linebacker Andre Tippett. "We're coming to play, and that's all that counts."

The Patriots hadn't won a playoff game since 1963 before beating the New York Jets and Los Angeles Raiders, both on the road.

"We are really excited about the way we've come together," said Bri-an Holloway, the Patriots All-Pro tackle. "And we've still got the best football ahead of us, and now is the time to do it.'

Like New England, the Bears are seeking their first trip to the Super Bowl; the Rams lost in 1980 to Pittsbowl; the Rams lost in 1960 to Pitts-burgh in their only trip to the NFL's ultimate game. The Bears' main wor-ries will be stopping Dickerson, who gained a playoff record 248 yards against Dallas last week, and the staunch defense which shut out the Cowbow Cowboys.

The Bears blanked the New York Giants to advance to the conference championship matchup.

TED BATTLES Giants fans impress Texan

Questions people ask and the answers they get.

In a recent column, it was noted how loyal New York Giant fans had to be to follow the team all the way to New Jersey to watch them play. I'm a Texas Tech fan and I'm envious of the devotion Giant fans show to their team. I wonder, is it much further from New York City to the Meadowlands than it is from Midland to Lubbock?

Answer: If you drove the distance from the Midland Reporter-Telegram to Green Tree Country Club on the way from NYC to the Meadowlands, you'd overshoot your target by a couple of miles. It is indeed a strenuous trip.

From irate radiocaster J.J. McClain...All through the two stories you did on the late Bill Veeck. Jr., you mispronunced his name Veeck as in Wreck. He was my grandfather's brother and the name is Veeck as in Screech.

What happened was that when Veeck was in the marines, they kept calling him Veeck as in Wreck. He finally became weary of correcting them and gave in, hence the book Veeck as in Wreck ....

Excuse: It's hard to break an old habit, like calling someone Veeck as in Wreck, when you are writing a story. I'll try to do better next time. Wreck or Screech fans are grateful for the impact he had on the game.

I notice your preposterous as sumption that Rice will be the SWC host team in the Cotton Bowl next year in the likely event that all other members are on probation. Sir, just whom would the Owls play?

Answer: A suitable opponent already is being lined up and an invitation could be extended almost any day. Among the leading candidates-.Columbia, Northwestern, Oregon and Elon.

Several times, I notice the Trivia Teaser in the daily SportScan has an answer....but when I check for the question in the previous day's edition, there is no question. What gives?

"It gave me a lot of pride."

Dickerson and James, recruited from South Texas high schools, shared the tailback position in the I Formation at SMU. They each rushed for more than 1,000 yards their final season in the Mustangs' "Pony Express" attack.

It was the only time this season that a running back logged 100 yards or more against the Raiders. "All of SMU is proud," Collins said. "We saw them develop from excellent high school players into great pros.

As a result, OHS went to its bench and found some scoring punch. Se-nior Tim Deboskie scored 16 to lead the Bronchos, and sophomore Victor Dancer added 12.

ONE THING the Bronchos were able to do on defense was limit MHS' Elvin Mackey's inside game. Mackey scored 19 points in what still must be considered an off-night for the 6-31/2 post. Mackey's points were still enough to boost him into the 45A scoring leadership at 26.3 per game. The Bulldogs "other" scorer, Matt Sears, pumped in 12 points.

"We were working all week to stop Elvin inside," Thompson said. "We manned two of their scorers and zoned the other. It seemed to work fairly well for a while."

But while the three big guns were being held quiet, others were pitching in critical points to keep the Dogs out of reach. When OHS closed the gap to a pair in the second quarter, unheralded Thomas Wilson dropped in a layup on a nice feed from Mackey to end the MHS drought.

IN THE third quarter, a pair of free throws by Damon Thorpe kept the lead safe at seven. Terry St. Peters' bucket did the same a moment

From Staff Reports

Midland Christian ran into some trouble against Grady Tuesday night, losing a pair of games in boys and girls action. The Grady boys won by a 58-43 count while the girls posted a 44-27 victory.

Coy Taylor led the Mustangs with 16 points while Grady was paced by Brian Deatherage's 23-point effort.

Like the boys game, it was quickly decided for the Grady girls, taking a 14-4 first quarter lead and a 30-8 margin at halftime. Grady's Shanna Hale was the game's top scorer with 15 points while Kristy Grady scored 12 for MC.

OVER THE weekend, the MC boys finished third in the Grand Falls royalty tournaemnt while the girls

"We're not a team that depends on one player, or two players or five players," Stephenson said. "Overall, we played much better tonight than we did against Abilene the other night. We're capable of playing the way we did at the start, but we need eight starters playing consistent like that. Usually we have only two or three, and the others aren't there.' But when they all showed up, MHS played like a team that wouldn't -or couldn't - be beat.

THE MHS junior varsity squad ran away with an 89-53 win over the Bronchos. Michael Ball led the way with 16 points, while David Hitchcock (12), Clyde Govan (11) and Kyle Lusby (10) chipped in with double figures.

The MHS sophomore team took a 49-44 beating by OHS. Ted Newman led with 10 points.

Collins has continued the idea even after James and Dickerson left. He alternated Reggie Dupard and Jeff Atkins at the position during the 1985 season.

Collins predicted that DuPard, a 1,000-yard gainer, will be a first-round NFL draft pick.

"We'll be watching him with pride in the future and smiling, too," Collins said.

NBA Dave DeBusschere says he was "shocked, stunned and terribly hurt," by his dismissal as general manager of the New York Knicks and said he had received no explanation for the move. There was not any reason given, nor had there McCready 12-23 5-8 29, Barry 0-3 1-2 1, Bowers 7-10 0-0 14, Pressley been any indication of dissatisfaction prior to Friday of the direction and plan that had been discussed and agreed upon by all levels of manage-ment, both at Madison Square Garden and its parent, Gulf & Western," DeBusschere said. "Had I known that a new direction or approach had been mandated, I would either have agreed with management on the proper way to go or I would have respectfully resigned my position."

DeBusschere painted a picture of decision by corporate committee. He said every decision the Knicks' front office made required approval from executives at Gulf & Western, the conglomerate that owns the Garden and its two teams, the Knicks and National Hockey League New York Rangers.

The Minnesota Twins have completed a trade with the Cleveland Indians involving four pitchers, including veteran Twins starter Ken Se The Twins traded the 31-year-old right-hander Schrom, a starter for most of the last three seasons, and 24-year-old lefty Bryan Oelkers. In return, they acquired righty Roy Smith, 24, and left-hander Ramon Romero.

Schrom was one of the surprises in all of base-ball in 1983, coming out of nowhere after asking for his release from Toronto to post a 15-8 record and 3.71 earned run average. An injury got him off to a rocky start in 1984, when he was 5-11 with a 4.47 ERA.

We have often remarked that speaking just to make yourself heard can be an expensive pastime. This hand is from France's match against Belgium in the 1985 European Championship.

In both rooms the final contract was six spades, and both Wests led the six of hearts. In one room East had been silent throughout the auction, and declarer decided that his best chance lay in finding West with one of the missing major-suit kings. Accordingly, he ran the heart at trick one. East won and returned a heart, and later collected the king of spades for down one.

In the other room the bidding went as shown. Here, the Belgian East elected to double the cue-bid of five hearts. West dutifully led a heart against six spades, but the odds had changed drastically. Declarer knew that it was futile to North-South vulnerable. West take the heart finesse, so he rose with dummy's ace and cashed the three top diamonds for two heart discards.

> He still needed some luck. After ruffing a heart in hand, declarer cashed the ace-king of clubs and led a third round of the suit. When West failed to follow, all was well. Even though West tried to promote a trump trick for partner by ruffing with the nine, declarer could afford to overruff with the ace, return to hand with a heart ruff and trump his remaining club loser. All he had to concede was a trick to the king of trumps.

East's double was particularly bad. The auction virtually demanded a heart lead, so he had nothing to gain but, as results proved, a lot to lose by advertising his holding.

Phyllis Diller honored for bringing cosmetic surgery 'out of the closet'

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Phyllis Diller, who has made no bones about having her face lifted, tummy tucked, nose bobbed, breasts reduced and teeth straightened, says she is being honored by plas-tic surgeons for "taking cosmetic surgery out of the closet."

"I made it respectable, normal and natural," Miss Diller, 68, said in a telephone interview Tuesday. "T've done more for plastic surgery than Carter has for pills." Calling it her "massive reconstruction project," the brash comic said, "I had my teeth straightened and a complete facelift in 1971. In 1975, I had a breast reduction. In 1981, I had mini-lift of the face and a tummy tuck. And then in 1985, I had a forehead lift, cheek implants and a nose job...The most recent thing I had was a...chemical peel." "B.D., that is Before Diller, patients desperate for cosmetic surgery rarely felt they could admit their desires," Dr. Richard C. Webster, the academy's president, said in a prepared speech for Saturday's awards ceremony by the American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery.

"About the only original parts left are her elbows," joked Miss Diller's publicist, Frank Liberman.

PATTERSON, Calif. (AP) - A 14-year-old girl recovering from heart transplant surgery reacted quietly but acceptingly when told the donor was her boyfriend, who had predicted his own death, family members say.

Felipe Garza Jr., whose funer-al was scheduled for today, had told his family he wanted to do-nate his heart to his girlfriend, who was suffering from degenerative heart disease, days before a blood vessel burst in his brain. "He just told my mom out of the blue, 'When I die, I want to give my girlfriend my heart,"" Felipe's half-brother, John Sanchez, said in a telephone interview

But Garza, 15, kept his illness from his family, said Sanchez. "He just kept everything to himself all the time. He just talked to his close, close friends."

Felipe's father, Felipe Garza Sr., said he found out only after the boy's death Saturday that the youth had been having blackouts and headaches. "I'm proud of what he did,"

said Garza.

Donna Ashlock was in fair to good condition Tuesday night in San Francisco's Pacific Presbyterian Medical Center as she recovered from Sunday's transplant, said spokeswoman Nancy

Felipe and Maria Garza

Millhouse. Donna ate her first solid food, French toast, for breakfast, and learned she had received Felipe's heart. "I explained that he had donated his kidneys and eyes ... There was a pause and she said, 'And I have his heart?' I said, 'Yes,'" a hospital statement quoted Donna's father, Raymond Ashlock,

"She then asked who knew, and I told her everybody. The discus-sion didn't go any further. She seemed accepting and fine," Ashlock said.

The girl showed no signs of rejecting her new heart, Ms. Millhouse said.

Felipe had type O blood, which is compatible with all other blood types, Levin said. Chances of rejection were decreased because the two youngsters were close in age and size, he added. Sanchez said family members, who live in Patterson, a farming town about 75 miles southeast of San Francisco, agreed to the transplant in part because of the relationship betweeen Donna and Felipe.

WILKINS

THE CHANGE will be made easier for Wilkins considering Brewer will be in office until the end of the school year.

"The main thing is for me to get my feet on the ground, get a feel of how the total system operates," said Wilkins. "Certainly, Odessa has had an excellent athletic director in Jack Brewer. He did a great job. I'm going to learn from him for awhile, take my time and learn what's going on. Then, I'll see if I can make any improvements."

Wilkins hopes to have some say in his replacement at Permian along with hiring a new football coach at Odessa High, replacing Jerry Mill-sapps who resigned after the '85 season. He also hopes that consideration will be given to those coaches already in the Odessa school system. "There will be a committee cess. Ask the rest of the 45A coa formed. We'll go through the legal procedure we have to go through these days," said Wilkins. "I hope to have some input in the selection, but (Jan., 14) or at least make a recommendation to the school board by then. We'd like to have one hired the "I would certainly hope consider-

IN A quick look back over his 13year reign as the Mojo mentor, Wil-kins came up with one time which he considers the highlight of his career

"If I had to pick just one moment, it would certainly be the state cham-pionship game in 1960 against Port Arthur Jefferson," said Wilkins. "We were decided underdogs, behind 19-7 at the half and came back to win 28-10." 19

That was Wilkins' first state championship year, an unbeaten season with a 13-0-2 record from a team he considers to be overachievers.

"I think they were," said Wilk "I think we had two youngsters that team get college scholarship But, players for Wilkins at Per ian have never been afraid of s es, who have seen Mojo win consecutive district titles.

Big Spring has long been the dor-mat of District 4-5A basketball. But, if Tuesday's game with Abilene Coo-per is any indication, they'll no longer stand for it.

Cooper felt the wrath of the Steers and the result was a 70-66 Big Spring victory, snapping a 31-game losing streak in 4-5A basketball.

The last time the Steers defeated a district team was on Feb., 15, 1983, posting a 61-47 victory over Odessa Permian in the second to last game

Dollar rises

LONDON (AP) - The dollar recovered slightly on currency markets today in light European trading. Gold also gained, possibly spurred in part by uneasiness over the U.S.-Libyan crisis, a London dealer said.

In Tokyo, where trading ends before Europe's business day begins, the dollar rose to a closing 201.65 yen from Tuesday's 201.35. Later, in London, it was quoted at 201.55 yen.

Total employment in December, aided by strong growth in servicerelated jobs such as those in retail trade, reached an all-time high of 108.2 million, the Labor Department said. At the same time, the ranks of the unemployed shrank from 8,161,000 to 8,023,000.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics did say that although two separate job surveys showed substantial job growth in 1985, the gains were less than those recorded in the prior two years, when the economy was in a more robust period of recovery from the 1981-82 recession

In advance of today's report, several private analysts had said that modest growth in the overall economy cast some doubt as to the availability of job opportunities in 1986. The last time seasonally-adjusted civilian unemployment was below 7 percent was during the presidency of Jimmy Carter.

Valero says Coastal suit without merit

SAN ANTONIO (SWN) - valero Energy Corp. said the breach of contract suit filed by the Coastal Corp. against the Company was without merit and that the company had adequate defenses, including defenses under the market demand rules of the Railroad Commission of Texas.

Coastal Corp. alleged in its suit that Valero had refused to buy volumes of gas that it was obligated to take including gas dedicated to Va-lero under a Gas Search Agreement signed by Coastal as part of a settlement plan resolving litigation between Coastal and the customers of its previously owned LoVaca Gathering Company unit. Also named as defendants in the lawsuit; not for the purpose of recovering damages, but for purposes of obtaining a declaratory judgement terminating the Gas Search Program, were the cities of San Antonio and Austin, 207 other current or former Valero Transmission Company customers, and the Texas Commerce Bank of Houston, the settlement trustee for the gas utility customers.

Valero also said that the gas supplies addressed in the Coastal suit were treated the same as other gas producers on the Valero Transmission system since the Company takes its gas supply on a ratable basis from all producers following the Railroad Commission's market demand rule. If such a suit were successful, under Valero Transmission's rate order approved by the Railroad Commission of Texas, the costs would ultimately be borne by Valero Transmission's customers.

Peso gathers strength against dollar BUSINESS BRIEFS

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The Mexican peso currency has gathered fresh strength against the dollar, heading for its highest levels since the middle of last October. At midday Tuesday, private exchange houses in the capital were offering 418 pesos for each dollar sold on the free market and demanding 431 to buy one. Major banks were quoting rates around the 400 level for large transactions in the currency.

Not since Oct. 18 has the free rate stood at 400 pesos to the dollar, according to figures from the Bank of Mexico, the nation's central bank.

On Monday, the peso gained 11 units against the dollar at bank exchange houses and closed at 424 and 428, which were the highest levels since Oct. 25.

The currency's value has made a sharp rebound since early November when it plummeted to record lows of more than 500 to the dollar.

Private analysts have attributed the peso's comeback partly to recent economic measures taken by the government. But some also believe the central bank is trading in the currency markets to prop up the peso.

No long lines were spotted in front of exchange houses. In the past, when the peso's value has tumbled sharply, Mexicans ranging from businessmen to shoe repairmen have lined up to buy the stronger dollar. "To the average person on the street, there is no reason for this to happen. It has to be influence from a strong source," said a currency trader here, who requested anonymity

He and several other analysts, who also spoke on condition of anonymity, said the Bank of Mexico was considered behind the drive.

Governments intervene in the markets, buying and selling currencies, to try to push up or down the value of their own currencies. To support the peso, Mexico would have to sell dollars to increase the supply and therefore lower the dollar's cost.

The central bank does not announce whether it is actively trading in the markets, said a spokesman who demanded anonymity

But, he said, "the Bank of Mexico has not intervened in the market." He noted the nation's supply of international reserves has fallen in the past year and said, "We have to guard the international reserves.

Those reserves stood at $8.1 billion at the end of 1984 but had slipped to $5.6 billion by Aug. 31, the most recent figure available.

One currency trader suggested the central bank wanted to drive the peso on the free market down to about the level of the government-regulated rate and then merge the two.

The free rate is used for tourist, border and most private transactions.

The government-set rate, used for 80 percent of commercial transactions, was 377-378 on Tuesday.

Hanson Trust proceeding with SCM takeover

NEW YORK (AP) - Hanson Trust PLC is proceeding with its hostile takeover bid for SCM Corp. following a federal appeals court panel's ruling against an SCM defense measure.

SCM said Tuesday it would appeal the ruling that SCM's "lock-up" option to allow friendly companies to buy its key assets was not exercised with 'due care.'

The ruling was the second key court decision against lock up options, and some analysts predicted the possible decline of the maneuver as an antitakeover tool.

Negotiators ask for extensions to avoid strike

DENVER (AP) - Negotiators for 46,500 refinery and pipeline workers asked the nation's oil companies for contract extensions to avoid a strike and possibly make progress in their slow-moving talks.

Joe Misbrener, president of the Denver-based Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, sought the extensions Tuesday night "to allow the collective bargaining process to continue," said OCAW spokesman Jerry Archuleta. The contracts were to expire at 12:01 a.m. today. Oil workers in the East would be affected first if the oil companies rejected the extension proposal and a new, two-year agreement were not reached.

Justice okays making of software standards

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Justice Department says it has no antitrust objections to cooperative efforts by computer software makers to develop voluntary standards to prevent unauthorized copying of software.

The Association of Data Processing Services Organizations Inc. says unauthorized copying of software cost the software industry $1.3 billion in lost revenues from 1981 through 1984 and an estimated $800 million in 1985.

The association had asked the Justice Department for a "business review" letter stating its enforcement intentions if its members cooperated on the used by more than 7,400 travel anti-copying standards.

Continental began its winter sale Freddie Mac to go up against Fannie Mae

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. says it will start buying second-mortgage home loans for packaging and resale, In 1985, Continental filed antitrust tapping a potentially lucrative $2 trillion market.

Better known as Freddie Mac, the company will be competing with another government-chartered concern in the second-mortgage market, the Fedunfair competitive advantage over eral National Mortgage Association, or Fannie Mae.

Competition between the two big companies could drive down interest computer system service to have rates on second mortgages about one-third of a percentage point, Freddie Mac officials said Tuesday.

Houston-based Continental said it told United of its new fares Dec. 31, but that the fares were not entered into the computer system. The airline accused United of selling its own fares this week on routes competitive with Continental's new fares.

The Fed regulation would place restrictions on the use of low-quality bonds, known as "junk bonds," in corporate takeover manuevers.

The proposed regulation would subject the low-grade bonds to the 50 percent margin requirement now in effect for buyers of common stock.

That would mean corporate bidders who set up so-called shell corpo-rations - firms with no tangible assets - would have to put up collateral worth half the value of the bonds they floated to finance pur-chase of the target company's stock.

The administration thinks this requirement would cripple the take-over market, reduce shareholder prices and cause a greater regula-tory burden for the government. The comments have been made by the Justice Department on behalf of the Treasury, Labor and Commerce departments, along with the Office of Management and Budget and the Council on Economic Advisers.

In a related matter, the Securities and Exchange Commission will rule Thursday on another merger and takeover policy, one successfully used last year to fend off T. Boone Pickens Jr. In that tactic, Unocal made a tender offer to purchase shares from its shareholders but excluded Pickens' investor group.

The commission will vote on a staff proposal that bidders be required to make a tender offer avail-able to all shareholders of a class of securities.

Amoco application rejected

OKLAHOMA CITY - The Oklahoma Corporation Commission has dismissed an application by Amoco Production Co. which had asked the Court. Commission to clarify its priority rules for the taking of Oklahomaproduced natural gas.

Amoco asked the Commission to include a statement that the priority rules do not relieve first purchasers of obligations of "take-or-pay" gas purchase contracts. The Commission did not address that issue when the priority rules were established in October 1983. In its dismissal order (issued Dec. 6, 1985), the Commission said it lacks jurisdiction to rule in private contractual matters, such as gas purchase contracts. The order also noted that the application is inappropriate for consid-pounds when the expansion is completed in the fourth quarter of 1986. "Demand for Ryton has been increasing steadily. And we anticipate it will continue to grow," said Ray D. Ramsay, manager of Phillips engi-

Exxon begins $24 million tertiary recovery project

MIDLAND (SWN) - Exxon Company, U.S.A. has initiated a $24 million carbon dioxide tertiary oil recovery project at its Cordona Lake Unit near Crane, Texas, Dan Mendell, III, manager of the Southwest/Rocky Mountain Production Division, said. Exxon is 100 percent working interest owner of the property

Five injection wells and six producing wells have been drilled and completed as part of the project. This raises the number of producing wells at the unit to 33, while injection wells now total 32. Seventeen million barrels of oil have been recovered from the unit using primary and secondary production methods. Carbon dioxide injection began at a rate of four million cubic feet per day, and the CO2 is injected alternately with water in a method known as the water-alternating gas process. Crude production at startup was 1,150 barrels per day.

Source of the carbon dioxide is the Sheep Mountain project near Walsenburg, Colorado. Exxon is an equal partner with Arco Oil and Gas in the Sheep Mountain project. The carbon dioxide is being transported through 400 miles of pipeline, including Arco's Sheep Mountain pipeline and a pipeline recently completed by Northern Natural Resources.

NEW YORK - Would you rather be paid one cent on your first day of work and have the amount double each day for 30 days, or take to 1,568.00 by noontime $35,000 in one lump as payment for a month's work?

This question is sometimes asked by those seeklead over losers in the ing to show the power of time and compounding in building a nest egg, a procedure that is almost a York Stock Exchange-listed issues. lost art these days, when some folks seek to make their bundle overnight.

If you grabbed the $35,000 right away you would, index of all its listed of course, soon regret it, because the financial common stocks rose 32 Horatio Alger who accepted the humbling oneto 123.46. At the Amex, cent offer would have more than $5 million by the end of the month.

The moral, which will be pointed out again and again by those promoting Individual Retirement Accounts, is that young people can become millionaires if they are willing to be patient and relentlessly consistent.

Again this year, April 15 is the deadline for es-tablishing an IRA for the previous year. That is, individuals have until then to put aside up to $2,000 in retirement savings, and have the amount de-1567.55+1.84 713.06+6.29 ducted from taxable income.

Since taxes are deferred — until at least age 59% Since taxes are deterred — until at least age  $59\frac{1}{2}$ — interest on the \$2,000 adds to the sum  $r_{0}$ ularly  $r_{0}$ ularly compounded, helping to make it grow in the man-ner — but obviously not the swiftness — of that fabulous penny investment.

In 10 years, for example, a $2,000 annual investment at 7 percent would be worth more than $30,000, and the benefits of tax-free compounding would have only begun. Thereafer, the growth be comes increasingly swift.

The value of time and compounding in accumulating a financial estate is one of the oldest of investment fundamentals, but for years you didn't hear much about it from the investment community.

There were good reasons for this. Since many in the investment community make their money on commissions, they couldn't afford small, inactive accounts. Required to make their living in the present rather than future, they couldn't exhibit the same patience as the small investor.

More highly praised and publicized by Wall Streeters and others was the active account, in which the investor traded in and out of stocks,

The following lists of New York and American stock exchange listings are not term, tax-deferred Individual Retirement Account, reported in the Report- which is pouring billions of dollars into stock, muer-Telegram's regular tual fund and savings portfolios.

Retirement programs are by nature long-term and more stable than trading portfolios, but in (This list is compiled volume they still allow brokers and other's depenby Rauscher Pierce Se- dent on commissions to make a living from them. Therefore, the promotions.

The concept, however, is as old as that original LS PC penny investment, and was stressed for years by 17 17 17 17 conservative investment advisers. It was described et ies this way almost 15 years ago in a book by John

"By following sound, proven professional investment methods, he can increase that return to as much as 15 percent a year. At that rate, he can double his money every five years if he compounds his profit.'

As Wright described it, a person who invests only 5 percent of salary every month can be a millionaire in retirement if the program is begun early enough. Average annual savings of $1,000 at 15 percent a year, with dividends and capital gains reinvested, becomes more than $1 million in a working lifetime.

The secret? No secret, said Wright. It requires no magic or daring risks.

If there is a secret, he said, it "is the tremendous money-making ability of established American business and the fantastic power of compound earnings."

She holds her own in wrestling match

ELMIRA HEIGHTS, N.Y. (AP) - When the Thomas A. Edison High School team fought Campbell High School recently, Chris Cassada proved she can wrestle with the best of them.

Next time she wants to prove she can win. Chris, a 5-foot-6 sophomore, won a place on the school's team for what once was thought of as purely a boys' sport after New York state ruled girls may compete with boys.

UNEMPLOYMEN

Over the last year, according to this business survey, some 3 million jobs were added to non-farm payrolls. In that same time, some 640,000 jobs were created in retail trade, with the strongest growth coming in the grocery store and restaurant industries.

In testimony prepared for delivery to the congressional Joint Economic Committee, the commissioner of labor statistics, Janet L. Norwood, said that despite the improvement from November to December, "the number of jobless remains a very high 8 million.

Mrs. Norwood noted that, while manufacturing employment was still below the level of a year ago, factory jobs grew during the last quarter of 1985. In that quarter, the number of manufacturing jobs increased by 174,000, the business payroll showed.

The size of the nation's labor force, which includes those looking for work as well as those on the job, expanded by 1.8 million over the last year, the department said, adding that adult women accounted for 80 percent of the labor force growth. Within the various worker groups, unemployment rates held relatively steady, although the rate for teenagers rose from 18.4 percent to 18.8 percent. But the rate for blacks fell significantly, from 15.6 percent to 14.9 percent.

Here are the various unemployment rates:

-Adult men, 5.9 percent, down from 6.0 percent.

-Adult women, 6.2, down from 6.4

Whites, 5.9, unchanged.

Hispanics, 10.4, down from 10.6. Black teenagers, 41.6, up from 40.8.

Several private economists said beforehand that, in the absence of rapid economic growth, the best the nation can hope for is that the U.S. labor market will accommodate the entrance of new job-seekers.

Nariman Behravesh, a senior vice president with Wharton Econometrics, said he thought the unemployment rate would remain relatively static so long as the economy keeps growing at an annual rate in the range of 2 percent to 3 percent. "We're looking at an average rate of 7.2 percent in the first two quarters" of this year, he said.

Michael Evans, president of Evans Economics, Inc., said a healthy increase in manufacturing employment augurs well for the labor force.

'We had a number of bad months, but that's behind us now," he said in a telephone interview. "We're looking at (economic) growth in excess of 4 percent. Unemployment could come down to 6.5 percent by the end of the year."

Thomas Thomson, a senior vice president with Crocker National Bank in San Francisco, said, "We're a long way from" getting the unemployment rate down to a level of between 6 percent and 6.5 percent, which a lot of economists would consider full employment.

MENLO PARK, N.J. (AP) - Sea-Land Corp.'s chairman said a takeover offer by Dallas financier Harold Simmons is unfair to shareholders and would subject some of them to "significant abuse."

Chairman Joseph F. Abely Jr. rejected Simmons' offer in a harshly worded letter released Tuesday. Simmons owns 34.8 percent of the shipping and container concern's estimated 26 million outstanding shares and has offered to buy the rest for $25 apiece

Great Western pays $29.4 million debt to federal government

DALLAS (AP) - Great Western Sugar Co. has settled the last of a $96 million debt to the federal government with a payment of $29.4 million in four checks handed over to the U.S. Attorney's office in Dallas, officials sav.

Great Western, which filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of federal bankruptcy laws last March, is a subsidiary of the Dallas-based Hunt International Resources Corp., owned by the trusts of brothers Nelson Bunker Hunt and W. Herbert Hunt.

U.S. Attorney Marvin Collins of Dallas said his office entered the Great Western case in an effort to collect money due the Commodity Credit Corp., a division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture that provides crop price-support loans.

With the recovery of the $29 million ... this discharges in full the indebtedness of Great Western Sugar under these price-support loans.' Collins said after Great Western delivered the checks Tuesday.

Collins said the cash payment was the largest collected in the history of the U.S. Attorney's office in Dallas and is believed to be the second-larg-est single collection by any U.S. Attorney's office in the nation. Before the settlement agreement that led to the payment, the U.S. At-torney's office had obtained $7 million from a Great Western subsidiary and recovered about 270 million pounds of sugar worth $60 million. Collins said.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Charles Ory said the money was paid from an escrow account containing proceeds from the liquidation of Great Western's assets.

The payment is among the last steps in the liquidation of Denver-based Great Western, once one of the largest sugar refiners in the country with operations in Louisi-ana, Colorado and Ohio.

CARBOHYDRATES HEALTH FOOD OF THE 80'S Starchy foods used to be a no-no. But now they're a yes! yes! It's OK to eat starch! So OK in fact, that the American Heart Association, and other authorities, suggest that 55% of our daily calories should come from carbohydrates. Bread, and other carbohydrate foods, have gotten bad press in the past. But times are a-changing. In this decade, when increasing numbers of Americans are concerned about fitness and good health, carbohydrates are finally getting their just due - the recognition they deserve as an essential part of our daily meals and snacks.

A NEW IMAGE

FOOD

Nutritionists, scientists, athletes and credible health experts are spreading the word about the value of carbohydrates, especially the complex type. And for good reason! Besides providing slowrelease energy from starch, carbohydrate foods, such as bread, pasta, cereals, fruits and vegetables, and many rolls, buns and crackers, are low in fat. And health authorities agree that we should cut down on fat at the same time that we up our intake of carbohydrates.

STARCHY FOODS ARE NOT FATTENING

Ounce for ounce, carbohydrates have the same number of calories as protein (4 per gram), and less than half the calories of fat (9 per gram). It's not the carbohydrates that are fattening, but their fatty friends frequently found in spreads, toppings, dressings and the like. Many carbohydrate foods do provide essential nutrients needed for good health, such as the B vitamins, Vitamins A and C, iron and other minerals, and protein.

UPDATING THE DIET PLATE

That old familiar menu item of a hamburger patty, cottage cheese and fruit actually isn't very thinning. Its calorie count can come in at a whopping 550 or more! On the other hand, a club sandwich-three slices of bread, turkey, lettuce, veggies and easy on the mayo - can be as low as 420, and the sandwich provides a wider array of nutrients, including important complex carbohydrates.

TURKEY VEGETABLE CLUB SANDWICH

Layered with turkey, cranberry sauce and a sprightly, orange-flavored vegetable medley, this smashing club-style sandwich is surprisingly low in calories. Try it for a family supper, or a special weekend lunch.

> medium stalk celery, trimmed medium carrot, pared

RECOGNIZE THE DIFFERENCE

All carbohydrates are not created equal. There are two types: simple and complex. Simple carbohydrates are the sugars found in nature, like glucose, fructose and sucrose. They are composed of small sugar molecules. Complex carbohydrates are, technically, large starch molecules made up of chains of short sugar molecules or chains. An excellent source of complex carbohydrates is grain, in other words, all types of wheat food products and other grains. Other sources are certain fruits, vegetables, beans and peas.

Complex carbohydrate foods, such as wheat foods, provide slow-release energy and dietary fiber. Thus, they take longer to digest than the simple carbohydrates and they stay with you longer. They're filling, what grandma used to call "stick-to-yourribs" foods.

FRIENDLY FIBER

Many complex carbohydrate foods, such as wheat-based bread, pasta, crackers, cereals and sweet goods, also provide dietary fiber, recently recognized as important in our diets. Fiber, a non-digestible carbohydrate from plants, supplies "roughage" or bulk to help keep the digestive system running smoothly. Foods high in fiber also are filling and satisfying. Some studies indicate that high fiber diets may reduce the risk of colon cancer and cardiovascular disease.

FOOD FOR THE 80'S

The bottom line is that the diet of the 80's is low in fat and high in carbohydrates and contains foods that give you the nutrients you need for good health. To help accomplish this, have as a part of your diet a variety of wheat foods, such as bread, rolls, buns, pasta, cereals and crackers along with other grains, fruits and vegetables. They provide complex carbohydrates and many nutrients.

To help you plan nutritious meals, here are delicious recipes offering a variety of healthful wheat-based foods.

FRUITED NOODLE PUDDING

Served warm or chilled, this Viennese-style noodle pudding, laced with dried fruit and delicately flavored with almond, makes a deliciously healthful brunch entree or dessert. Its low fat score belies its rich flavor.

SAVORY WHEAT-CRUSTED CHEESE PIE

An entree, rather than a dessert, this unusual pie-like-a-cheesecake is filled with a savory but low-fat three-cheese mixture. The crust and topping adds wonderful crunch and flavor -- it's made from wheat flakes. Serve small slices as elegant appetizers, or team entree-sized wedges with an assortment of steamed fresh vegetables for a very special dinner.

Set aside 2/3 cup wheat flake mixture. Turn remaining wheat flake mixture into a 9-inch pie plate and press firmly onto bottom and sides of pan to form an even crust. Set aside

Combine remaining ingredients, except red onion, in food processor or blender fitted with a metal blade. Process until smooth. Pour into prepared crust. Sprinkle with reserved 2/3 cup wheat flake mixture. Bake in preheated 325° F. oven until knife inserted off center comes out clean, about 55 to 60 minutes. Cool 10 minutes. Cut in wedges to serve. Garnish with red onion slices. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Weight Watchers whittle waists

By LINDA ANDERSON Lifestyle Writer

As schedules get back to normal after the busy holiday season, many people realize the festive celebrations have left more than memories - they have also left some undesired aftereffects around their waists and in their thighs.

Mignon Armstrong, center coordinator of Weight Watchers in Midland, said January is "a very peak season" for her organization, as many people find it an appropriate time to seek personal improvements; but more and more people are discovering "watching weight isn't seasonal, it's daily. It's the little things that make the difference."

Losing weight takes commitment, she said, "the commitment to change in little ways. Everything is conquered one day at a time, one step at a time.'

Ms. Armstrong speaks from her own experience. She lost 30 pounds and has kept it off for more than 13 years. "Calm is the key," she said. You have to be calm to have that control.

Streamline, a Weight Watchers publication, listed several tips for watching weight while socializing, including

 Don't go to a party hungry. Have 1/2-cup low-fat yogurt or a fruit snack before leaving home.

and decide what to eat before load- dissolved in 1/2-cup water

Concentrate on fruit, shrimp and a small piece of hard cheese. • When finished eating, hold a coffee cup cup in both hands to prevent picking up the fork. • Before and after meals drink calorie-free soda, dressed up with a slice of lime.

• At home, experiment with herbs and spices as seasonings for vegetables.

• Wrap and freeze baked goods in single-serving portions so they can be defrosted in only the amounts needed.

· Bake and cook in the company of others so they can do the tasting. • Get through festive gatherings one at a time. If you binge, consider it a small error and get back to your diet. "We work on not inducing guilt," said Ms. Armstrong. "It doesn't work. That's why so many people stay overweight.

Self-esteem is very important in weight loss, she said. "People come here to lose weight and they leave here liking themselves.' The following recipes have been suggested by Weight Watchers:

"For Indian tribes of the area now known as Texas, pumpkin was a staple - even used as a flour. How Texan it is that pumpkin is now served in the finest gourmet restaurants! The dynamism and diversity of Texas is energized by Texan hospitality to change: new ideas, new people, new businesses, new arts and artists and new presentations of old foods.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my mid-50s. I recently became engaged to a fine gentleman I'll call Clyde. He has been an eligible widower for many years. Our wedding plans are made, but something hap-

Van Buren pened a few days ago that makes me wonder if I should go through with this marriage My daughter, "Lydia," 32 and mar-ried, took me aside and told me that she and Clyde had a "little affair" before he met me. (She and Clyde's daughter were college friends.) Lydia said it was nothing serious so I shouldn't even mention it to Clyde. She was so casual about it, I was stunned.

Now I don't know whether to go through with the wedding, discuss it with Clyde, or what.

I love this man and want to marry him, but I don't know if I can keep quiet about this even though it happened before we met. What do you advise? - HEAVYHEARTED

Since all this occurred before he met you, there is no betrayal in-

I fail to see why Lydia felt compelled to disclose this episode now. It served no good purpose.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "South Carolina Pastor," who "believes in a lot of home visitations" and gets annoyed when people don't turn off their TV sets during his unannounced visits, showed how insensitive some ministers can be.

It reminded me of when I was a victim of the same kind of thoughtlessness. I was hospitalized in only fair condition with a doctor-ordered 'No Visitors" sign on my closed door, when in strolled my minister as if the sign didn't exist.

Being in severe discomfort after a grueling morning in X-ray, all I wanted was rest and relief from pain. The minister proceeded to chat for 15 minutes, totally ignoring my obvious suffering. I finally got up the courage to tell him how sick I felt and asked him to please leave, whereupon he went into a long prayer! I could not believe the insensitivity of this man.

What gives men of the cloth the right to ignore the rules of common courtesy by dropping by unan-nounced and holding people captive in their homes or hospital rooms? — FORMER CHURCHGOER IN FLORIDA

DEAR FORMER CHURCHGO-ER: No one has that right. It's presumptuous enough to drop in unannounced at someone's home, but it's inexcusable to ignore a "No Visitors" sign on a closed door of a hospital room

Washington potato one of best

By TOM HOGE

AP Wine and Food Writer

Some potato fanciers consider the russet potato that is grown in Washington state the best choice for baking and french fries.

The high quality of these spuds is due in part to Washington's rich volcanic soil. It's also because these russets contain less water than some other varieties.

Potatoes with lower solid content tend to break down the body of the frying oil more quickly because of the quantity of moisture. This often produces french fries with soggy interiors. French fries made with potatoes of high solid content stay crisp longer and have a fluffier interior.

These russets are also good bakers, since there is less moisture to be removed.

Robust Stilton cheese goes well with wine

By TOM HOGE

AP Wine and Food Writer

More and more Americans are adopting a delightful English custom - serving port wine and cheese at the end of dinner. A favorite cheese at such a time is the pungent Stilton, one of Britain's finest.

Robust cheeses such as Stilton have long been a favorite accompaniment to the full-bodied port.

In recent years, British wine buffs have been staging cheese and wine tastings for friends and neighbors.

Port should be served at room temperature, says wine producer David Sandeman. I have had it served chilled, which somewhat dulled the taste of the wine.

"Always serve port in glasses large enough for swirling," adds Sandeman. "Tiny glasses don't allow you to properly savor the aroma to its fullest.

Bunton awards lawyers' fees in FDIC case

LOCAL

By ED TODD Staff Writer

U.S. District Court Judge Lucius D. Bunton has awarded attorneys for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) in the Eagle Properties Ltd. case 38½ percent of the $746,020.17 in fees and expenses which they had sought in the prosecution of the lawsuit.

Several Dallas attorneys, including four principal lawyers, had represented the FDIC in the case, which took more than 4,000 attorneys' hours and 1,000 paralegals' work hours to prepare and try in the week-long trial before the judge in March 1985 in Midland.

"The case was moved expeditiously to trial on the merits," Bunton said in his order.

The judge awarded the attorneys and paralegals $251,890 in fees and $35,000 expenses for a total judgment of $286,890. In addition, the judge awarded $25,000 for appeal of the case and $15,000 if the case goes to the U.S. Supreme Court. Expenses including $12,000 for 60,000 photostatic copies, $1,600 for long-distance telephone calls, $1,400 for delivery charges and $20,000 for travel

FDIC lawyers sought $633,768.50 in attorneys' fees and $112,251.67 in expenses for a total billing of $746,020.17. In addition, the FDIC lawyers requested $100,000 in appeals expenses - $75,000 for the basic appeal and $25,000 should be case be appealed before the U.S. Supreme Court.

The fees will be charged against the seven partners in Eagle Properties Ltd., the defendant in the civil case. The judge ruled that Eagle Properties owes the FDIC, as liquidator of and receiver for the defunct First National Bank of Midland, $25 million in principal plus $7 million in interest on an FNB note on financing sale of the 24-story FNB Building to Eagle in late 1982. The bank, once Texas' largest independent bank and Midland's leading corporate citizen which had grown to $1.8 billion in assets, failed on Oct. 14, 1983, due to soured energy loans and a decline in the economy.

Eagle partners had agreed to buy the building and other FNB properties for $75 million, including $50 million in two loans from Inter-First Bank of Dallas and Texas Commerce Bank of Houston.

Judge Lucius Bunton awarded the attorneys and paralegals $251,890 in fees and $35,000 expenses for a total judgment of $286,890....$25,000 for appeal of the case and $15,000 if the case goes to the U.S. Supreme Court.

nio attorney Seagal Wheatley. In his affidavit on attorneys' fees, FDIC lead attorney John Gilliam said the hours spent by FDIC attorneys and paralegals "were necessarily spent" in the prosecution of the lawsuit, that the case was complex and dealt with a "multitude of issues" and the seven individual defendants. and that 60 depositions were taken

New York and Tennessee "The trial itself necessitated much time and effort," Gilliam said. "There was no duplication of effort in plaintiff's (FDIC's) preparation for and trial of this case other than the minimal duplication of effort which is inherent in any large and complex litigation .... " Gilliam submitted to the court documentation on 5,816.4 hours spent on the case by FDIC lawyers and paralegals since the case was filed on Feb. 22, 1984, in federal court in Midland. Suggested attorneys' fees ranged from a high of $180 an hour for a law professor and $175 an hour for Gilliam, who has practiced law for 24 years, to a low of $65 an hour for a far less experienced detail how it has affected minority attorney. Paralegals' fees ranged students, a local school superintenfrom $40 to $60 per hour.

Though Gilliam's fees ranged from $160 to $175, Bunton ruled that "a reasonable hourly rate in the Midland and Odessa legal community" for work similar to Gilliam's would be $125 an hour. The judge placed Leclair's fee at $100 an hour, Al-Neligan's at $80

Bunton effectively pared down those suggested fees. Based on the same hours - 5,816.4 - reported by FDIC's Gilliam, the court-ordered hourly fees would be $43.30.

Bunton used "The Lodestar" formula in determining "reasonable" attorneys' fees. He cited a previous case on attorneys' fees.

"It does not follow that the amount of time actually expended is the amount of time reasonably expended. In the private sector, 'billing judgment' is an important component in fee setting. Perkins had warned co-workers Tuesday he was going to do the show in the nude, but no one believed him. Kathy Redwine, who does the news, "saw me ... and nearly had a heart attack," he said.

"All he had on was a towel," she said. "I had to stand at the door about five minutes in awe."

The real pay-off may have come in the telephone calls. "One lady called to say thanks. It was the first time in years she had wakened up with a nude man."

Couple waives right to jury trial in murder-for-hire case

From Staff Reports

ODESSA - The murder-for-hire trial of a former Odessa couple, both serving prison terms for murder, got under way in 161st District Court Tuesday without a jury.

Judge Tryon Lewis dismissed the jury panel called to the case after learning from the attorney representing Leonard and Andrea Garcia, Craig Washington of Houston, that they had decided to waive their right to a jury trial on two charges each of solicitation of capital murder and let the judge hear the case. Ector County District Attorney Eric Augesen, after the trial was recessed shortly after 5 p.m. Tuesday. said he agreed to the trial being heard by Lewis instead of a jury because of the nature of the cases.

Augesen explained that evidence and testimony against the Garcias involved "extraneous offenses" that might influence jurors to render a verdict not based solely on evidence or testimony specifically germane to the murder-for-hire charges against Brandy Williams.

the 42-year-old Garcia and his 43year-old wife.

The Garcias were convicted of the fatal shooting of 36-year-old William T. "Teddy" Dowd at an Odessa motel in 1982. Garcia was sentenced to 99 years in prison and his wife drew a 40 year prison sentence. Shortly after their conviction in 1983, an Ector County grand jury indicted the Garcias on two counts each of hiring Charlie Garrett to kill two witnesses to the killing of Dowd, Dowd's widow, Tommacene, and her sister,

Military action against Libya supported by respondents

By RAMONA NYE Staff Writer

Tuesday night President Reagan announced economic sanctions against Libya in an effort to retaliate gainst that country for harboring terrorists involved in recent airport attacks.

The attacks in Rome and Vienna airports left 15 travelers, including five Americans, dead. The attacks are believed to have been carried out by a group led by Abu Nidal, who is supposed to have headquar-ters in Libya and Syria.

Clements, White at it again as Clements renews bid for governor

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Mark White and the man he beat in 1982, Republican Bill Clements, are at it again as Clements bids for the GOP's 1986 gubernatorial nomination heats up.

On Tuesday, Clements said White's re-election could bring on a state income tax. White said Clements doesn't know what he's talking about.

"Today, Mr. White is as insistent as ever that he would never allow a state personal income tax. He is adamant about it...Trouble is, no one believes Mark White," Clements said.

"If Mark White is re-elected, Texas will have a state personal income tax. Believe it. It is as sure as the sun rises in the east."

Responding, White was caustic.

"That man talks like a tree fell on him," White said. "I think you will find we will not have to raise taxes."

Clements said White's broken promises on taxes, college tuition increases and other issues have strained the Democrat's credibility and made integrity a key question for voters.

"I think the campaign in a large measure will be a test of this governor's credibility. This is the man who promised that he was going to lower utility bills, that he was not going to raise taxes. I could just go on and on. Mark White suffers from a litany of broken promises," Clements said.

White said Clements made statements in the past he has since gone back on.

"The last thing I remember him saying was he was never going to run for public office again," White said. Clements is one of three Republicans seeking the party's gubernatorial nomination. He said he is pleased with early polls showing him ahead of fellow GOP contenders Kent Hance and Tom Loeffler. He insisted that White's big-money fund-raising events in other states says a lot about the incumbent. White has held such affairs in New York City, Los Angeles and Chicago.

"I think that tells a story that the money's not available here in Texas. I think that he's making a bad mistake...It has a nuiance of interfering in Texas state affairs," Clements said.

"He has national aspirations and he has a political agenda of his own, and he feels there is a political benefit from a national standpoint in doing this. I think he'll pay a price for it in Texas.'

Clements said "I never have" relied on contributions from outside Texas, adding, "I don't plan to."

Predicting he will win the Republican primary without a runoff, Clements said voters in November will compare his four years in office with White's first term. 'A lot of times, we don't know how well off we are until we have a reference point ... They have a direct

Odessa's Parks Good Samaritan Retirement Village dedicated

From Staff Reports

ODESSA - The storm system that brought blustery weather into the Midland-Odessa area Tuesday turned the scheduled groundbreaking ceremony for the Parks Good Samaritan Retirement Village into a dedication that moved indoors to Mission Country Club.

Heirs of Roy Parks Jr., an area rancher who died in 1950, formally presented the 16 acres of land they have donated to the project from the Parks Estate. On hand for the ceremony were Martha Ann Parks Bowling of Kansas City, who made the actual presentation, Harriet Parks Faudree and Ellen Parks Bell, both of Midland. Charolette Parks Kimberlin of Colorado Springs, Colo., was unable to attend the ceremony.

Greater Odessa Chamber of Commerce president John Landgraf thanked the many who worked over the years to make the $5 million project possible, including former chamber president Roy Elsner and Frances Gunkle Boyles and Narita Holmes. Special thanks, Landgraf said, must go to the Parks family, whose gift of land that had been in the family since about 1916 truly made the project a reality.

Landgraf noted that the City of Odessa speeded up the permitting process so construction can begin almost immediately. The retirement village, he said, will bring about 35 new jobs to the area that will have an annual payroll of about $360,000.

Lacy Standifer, a retired minister who has been involved in the project since a retirement village was first talked about in 1978, related how the project was pre-sented to the Odessa Chamber of Commerce and languished on a backburner until recently.

Elsner, who was chamber president when the idea was first presented to the chamber and filling out the unexpired term of a resigned president when the project was resurrected about a year and a half ago, praised the efforts of Standifer, who worked "tirelessly" for the project. But, he had a selfish motive, Elsner noted, "Lacy wants to live there."

Martha Parks Bowling noted the land was being donated in the memory of Roy Parks and that the family was pleased the retirement village would bear his name

Mel Risting, development direc-tor for the Evangelical Lutheran Good Samaritan Society of Sioux Falls, S.D., said that in 17 years with the society he had not seen "anymore support anywhere than was received in Odessa." He was particularly impressed by the 'can do spirit" demonstrated by those involved in making the project a reality.

Initially, the Parks Good Sam Retirement Village first phase will have a 60-bed nursing home facility, 14 apartments and 20 cottages

LIVINGSTON (AP) - Now that a judge has refused to dismiss the case, jury selection has gotten under way in the trial of a former school principal accused of using a gun to eliminate one corner of a love triangle.

Defense attorney Dick DeGuerin argued Tuesday that the murder charge against Hurley Fontenot, former principal of Hull-Daisetta Woodson Junior High School, should be dismissed because "crucial evidence" in the case is missing

But State District Judge John Martin denied the motion and ordered attorneys to begin selecting a jury. Fontenot, 48, is accused of fatally shooting coach 38-

Libya: Sanctions aimed

at overthrowing Khadaty

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libya's state radio said today that President Reagan's economic sanctions against Libya were aimed at overthrowing the regime of Col. Moammar Khadafy.

In a broadcast monitored in Cairo, Egypt, the radio described Reagan's sanctions as "a series of fallacies...which show that he and his intelligence services are involved in lowly conspiracies against the Jamahiriya (Libya)."

In a news conference Tuesday night, Reagan announced he was ordering all American citizens and companies to stop doing business with Libya because he had "irrefutable proof" that Khadafy was involved in last month's terrorist attacks at airports in Rome and Vienna

The radio said the U.S. action was "a design openly aimed at over-throwing the Jamahiriya's revolutionary regime." The broadcast described Reagan as "a dog barking in the Israeli kennel" because of U.S. support for "the Zionist entity in occupied Palestine.'

Moslem nations back Libya

FEZ, Morocco (AP) - The Moslem world has thrown the collective support of its 45 member nations behind Libya, declaring itself united against what it says are saber-rattling threats from the United States and Israel

The declaration of support Tuesday by the Islamic Conference Organization for the radical government of Col. Moammar Khadafy follows approval over the weekend of a similar resolution by the Arab League. Libyan Foreign Minister Ali Abdessalem Treiki expressed satisfaction with the declaration but asked for a boycott of American goods across the Islamic world.

He also said Libya wanted "action from the Islamic organization," including "military means." He did not elaborate.

But U.S. government sources peaking on condition of anonymity Tuesday said Italy and West Germany, Libya's two largest trading part-ners, had both indicated they would not go along, thus blunting the sanctions' impact.

Figures provided by the International Monetary Fund indicate that in 1984 Libya's exports totaled $2.5 billion to Italy and $2 billion to West Germany, compared to $9 million to the United States.

Marcos 'witch-hunting'

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Opposition candidate Corazon Aquino accused President Ferdinand E. Marcos Wednesday of "witch-hunting" for communists and said he might again impose martial law to cancel the Feb. 7 presidential election.

Mrs. Aquino told reporters in Ilagan on her campaign tour of the mountain regions in the northern Philippines that Marcos "is just witch-hunting. He's just guessing.

Let Marcos keep telling his lies. I am against communism but I respect people's beliefs as long as they renounce violence."

Marcos has claimed that Mrs. Aquino is surrounded by communist advisers, and in response to her challenge to "put up or shut up," he list-ed three men Wednesday.

He named Mrs. Aquino's brotherin-law, Agapito (Butz) Aquino, former Sen. Lorenzo Tanada, and the purported chairman of the Communist Party, Jose Maria Sison, who has been in prison for more than eight years.

Jews demand reparations

BONN, West Germany (AP) - A powerful labor federation and the main opposition party urged Chan-cellor Helmut Kohl to mediate the case of thousands of Jews who are demanding reparations from a giant industrial company for forced labor they performed during the Nazi era.

The requests Tuesday heightening a growing debate in West Germany over the "slave-labor" issue that lingers from Adolf Hitler's regime, which allowed several factories to employ hundreds of thousands of Jews, Poles and other non-Aryans for unpaid, forced labor.

Government officials said the chancellor would have no immediate comment on the request.

The reparations are being sought for up to 2,000 surviving Jews forced to work for companies controlled by the giant Flick industrial holding company before and during World War II.

Pastor of largest Baptist church seeking successor

DALLAS (AP) - The 76-year-old pastor of the largest Southern Baptist church says he hopes to find a young successor sometime this year who could be groomed to take over the post. The Rev. W.A. Criswell, who has pastored the 26,000-member First Baptist Church of Dallas for 41 yearssaid, "I am in my 77th year. It just stands to reason I cannot be here forever.

"My prayer is we will find a younger man to come here to our church and work with me ...," he said Tuesday

Criswell said that after a search committee locates the right pastor, "I could hope to work with him two years

He speculated that he probably would become senior pastor once his successor is found, and the two of them would both deliver sermons during a period of transition, which could last two years.

"It would be wonderful if we could find someone before the end of this year," Criswell said.

Speculation about Criswell's plans arose after his annual state of the church address on Sunday when he spoke of biblical leaders whose work was carried on without interruption by young successors.

But so far, he has no one in mind to lead the congregation, which is not only the largest but is considered the wealthiest with a $12 million budget.

Criswell said he considers the physical growth of First Baptist into a massive complex that covers five blocks in the heart of downtown to be one of his congregation's greatest achievements.

The pastor confirmed that his annual salary is around $90,000 and that the church provides him with a wardrobe and a new car every year.

In 1984, on his 40th anniversary with the church, his grateful congregation gave him a black Mercedes. His parsonage in a fashionable historic district is a mansion filled with antiques he and his wife have collected in their travels.

Criswell said he doesn't even think about his wealth. "I just give my whole life to the church."

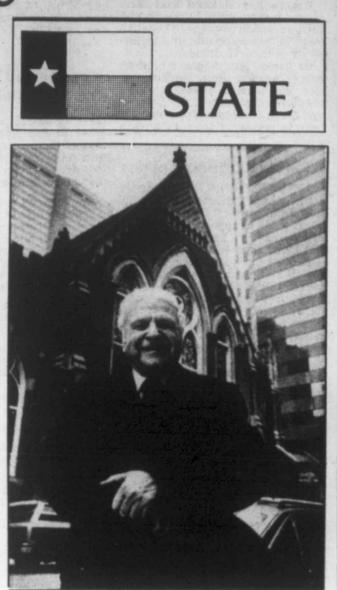

In addition to his salary, he has earned money through real estate investments with partner Jack Pogue, who describes him as an astute businessman.

Besides leading First Baptist Criswell twice served as president of the Southern Baptist Convention, in 1969 and 1970.

Despite his power as a top fundamentalist leader, Criswell said he has only on rare occasions spoken out on political issues. He chuckled to recall that one of those times "created quite a repercussion.

Criswell delivered a sermon questioning the possible Democratic nomination of John F. Kennedy for president.

"He was a liberal, and he's up there in the Northeast, and we never had had a Catholic president before,' Criswell said. "I just delivered one address questioning his nomination.

The Rev. W.A. Criswell, 76, confirmed that he is seeking a young successor to take his place as pastor of the 26,000-member First Baptist Church of Dallas.

That sermon was reproduced and mailed to 200,000 people by Dallas billionaire H.L. Hunt, who supported Lyndon Johnson for the nomination, Criswell said.

Lawmaker: Higher taxes needed to attain educational excellence

By GARY RASP

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Austin Rep. Wilhelmina Delco Tuesday said state legislators will have to raise taxes if higher education is to remain a top priority in Texas' future.

Ms. Delco, who chairs the House Higher Education Committee, joined Gov. Mark White, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Higher Education Commissioner Dr. Kenneth Ashworth on a panel dicussion of The Future of Higher Education in Texas.

Hobby says funds should be cut to districts where students fail AUSTIN (AP) - Lawmakers high school graduation test, re-

"The Future of Higher Education in Texas" was one of several panel discussions scheduled at the Texas United Faculty Symposium's Higher Education 2000 seminar.

Ms. Delco was the only member of the panel to acknowledge a need for increased taxes as a means of attaining excellence in Texas' colleges and universities.

"I don't think we can take any more out of higher education," she said. "I think we've to to find some way to put more in."

White, who is expected to formally announce his re-election campaign later this month, said he is confident lawmakers can meet that challenge without increasing or "dramatically" altering the current tax structure.

Hobby said a 1984 increase in the state sales tax is evidence of changes in the tax system. The additional sales tax financed massive public education reforms and a variety of highway improvements.

'I have no doubt that as the economy continues to change the complexion of the tax structure will change with it," Hobby said.

The lieutenant governor raised a few eyebrows when he suggested that school districts reimburse colleges for providing remedial courses to students who graduate from high school without basic reading and mathematic skills.

Hobby also said he favors the concept of penalizing local districts whose students have an unusually high failure rate on high school exit tests. That penalty, he said, should be a cut in state funds.

the high school graduation exam, says Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

The no-pass, no-pay penalty could spark improvements in some districts within "24 hours," according to the lieutenant governor.

"Why should the taxpayers continue to put state aid into a school district that doesn't educate its kids?" he said.

Hobby mentioned his idea at a symposium sponsored by the Texas United Faculty organization, a group of higher education professionals. He prefaced his comments by acknowledging that the proposal might sound like a "wild idea.

But he later said he is serious about asking legislators to consider the plan.

"If 10 percent of the candidates for graduation from high school in the 'XY' school district fail to pass the objective test required by the state for graduation, why shouldn't that school district's aid be diminished by 20 percent?" said Hobby.

The 1984 public school reform package includes a mandatory

White lamented the need for remedial courses at the college level, calling them "a drag on the true mission of higher education." He lauded recent reforms in Texas public schools, and predicted that eventually those improvements will eliminate the need for remedial courses.

"Our system isn't all that it should be or could be," the governor said. "And it isn't all that it will be when we finish our current work." That work, White said, should fo'accountability," Hobby said.

"If we're going to have an accountable system, let's use it," he said. "Fiscal incentives are the best device I know.

"I think they'd shape up in about 24 hours...by spending the money that's there more wisely," he said. "If they can't, somebody else can.

Officials for the Texas Association of School Boards and Texas Association of School Administrators expressed skepticism about the Hobby proposal. Betsey Bishop, TASB's manager of governmental relations, called the idea "different."

"We would like to see a firm plan before we have any definite comment," she said.

Johnny Veselka, executive director of the administrators' association, said "it appears premature to discuss penalizing districts" because of poor student performance on the new graduation test.

"We would hope to get resources to help those kids achieve," he said of students who fail the test.

JONESTOWN (AP) - The former Jonestown police chief and his sonin-law have been arrested and charged with stealing a table saw from a house under construction, authorities say.

Jonestown police arrested former chief Glenn Baker, 52, and Dean Kitchen, 28, at their homes Sunday night and charged them with burglary, city Mayor Deane Armstrong said Tuesday.

Baker and Kitchen were released Sunday night from Travis County Jail after posting $1,000 bail each. The burglary was witnessed by a po-lice officer on patrol, and authorities recovered the table saw, Ms. Armstrong said.

Baker was hired July 3 as police chief for his administrative skills, Ms. Armstrong said, "but we found that he preferred to patrol the streets instead of administer the office."
