Italy bans exports of arms to Libya

ROME (AP) — Italy banned arms exports to Libya on Friday, becoming the first U.S. ally to heed President Reagan's call for economic sanctions against Col. Moammar Khadafy's regime

That action was followed later Friday by Canada, which announced it would bar government aid to companies seeking new business with Libya and banned the sale of oil drilling equipment to that North African country. It also urged Canadians not to take the jobs of American workers ordered by the Reagan admainistration to leave Libya.

The Italian Foreign Ministry said the decision on arms exports was made after a Cabinet meeting was held Thursday to examine Italian-Libyan relations in view of "serious suspicions regarding Libya's tolerance and support" for terrorists believed to have carried out the attacks last month at Rome and Vienna

Judge: Texaco needs only $1 billion bond during appeal

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Texaco Inc. will have to post only about $1 billion, not $12 billion, in security while it appeals a huge damage award won by Pennzoil Co. in a Texas court, a federal judge ruled

U.S. District Judge Charles Brieant also issued an injunction barring Pennzoil from seizing assets of Texaco, the nation's third-largest oil

Under Texas law, where Pennzoil won its $11.1 billion damage case in November, Texaco would have been required to post a $12 billion bond to appeal the verdict, an amount that Texaco had said could drive it into bankruptcy.

Brieant said Pennzoil should not have been awarded any more than $800 million in damages, plus interest and costs, in the Texas suit.

Although the issue of damages is being fought out in Texas courts, industry analysts said the New York ruling is good news for Texaco and puts pressure on Pennzoil to settle out of court.

The case arose out of Texaco's acquisition of Getty Oil Co., which pre-viously had agreed to a merger deal with Houston-based Pennzoii.

Pennzoil issued a statement at its Houston headquarters saying it would immediately file an expedited appeal with the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New York.

At Texaco headquarters in White Plains, Chairman John K. McKinley issued a statement saying the company was pleased with the ruling be-cause "Texaco will be able to exercise its right of appeal without excessive disruption of its affairs or crippling financial consequences."

Brieant gave Texaco 20 days to come up with a bond or some other type of security to protect Pennzoil's interest from the damage award and said he would consider $1 billion a satisfactory amount.

He received a bachelor's degree from Columbia University in 1947. He attended Princeton University's Institute for Advanced Study from 1950 to 1951, when he was the youngest member of a class that included J. Robert Oppenheimer, Arnold Toynbee and T.S. Eliot.

He worked as an editorial writer for the Washington Post in 1951 and 1952, a New York Times staff writer from 1953 to 1957 and was Washington correspondent for Harper's Magazine from 1962 to 1965.

AUSTIN - An Austin judge Friday postponed until Jan. 21 a decision on the All American Pipeline, giving the Texas Railroad Commission time to convince him that he shouldn't delay the project.

District Judge Joe Dibrell granted the postponement only after a commission lawyer agreed to put off a hearing on the matter scheduled to begin Tuesday. The judge ordered commission attorney James Meyers to file a brief with his office next week explaining what rules the commission will use in deciding whether to grant All American a permit to operate the proposed heavy crude pipeline.

"I am seeking information which I see is totally lacking at this point to convince this court that I should not" grant the delay, Dibrell said. "I felt frankly that the applicant as well as contestants do not know what standards as well as issues they have to meet."

All American Pipeline Co., a subsidiary of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., is planning a pipeline to carry heavy crude oil from California to Texas Gulf Coast refineries. The proposed route would cross the environmentally sensitive Edwards Aquifer, which supplies drinking water to nearly 1 million Central Texans.

Citizens to Protect the Edwards Aquifer — joined by individual Hays County landowners, Travis County and the Edwards Aquifer Underwater Water District - sued to delay All American's permit process before the Railroad Commission.

to do its job under the Act. The agency has "abdicated its responsibility to assure the protection of water quality in Texas," said Sierra Club lobbyist Ken Kramer. "Our lawsuit is directed against EPA becasue that agency has failed to excercise its duties.

The groups announced plans to file the lawsuit in August, when they made public a list of Texas rivers, streams, bayous and other waterways the Department of Water Resources classifies as non-swimmable.

EPA spokesman Roger Meacham said the state's water quality standards "are consistent with the Clean Water Act and its requirements." 'We are in constant contact with the Texas Water Commission," he added, "and we work on a continuing basis to protect and maintain water quality in Texas." Meacham conceded that "there may be some problems in certain segments of (Texas) waterways," but said the agency is "working to find those problems and correct them as soon as possible." He would not speculate on the outcome of the lawsuit.

Kramer said increased enforcement of the state's standards "will help address some of the pollution problems in Texas," but said that activity is not enough

Despite optimism about the direction the recently realigned water commission is taking, he said the club decided to go ahead with the lawsuit because:

. The state's water quality problems are extensive, and they are likely to increase — especially in areas of high population growth.

The radical Libvan leader said he would protect Americans who remained in Libya as "guests" and told a news conference Thursday night he would grant "political asylum" to those who wanted it.

Khadafy has said repeatedly over his years of excoriating Washington that his argument is with the government, not with the American people.

Western diplomats say American workers are treated "like foreign dignitaries," traveling easily in and out of the country without visas or stamps in their passports. Passports of Americans living here go unstamped to avoid problems with the U.S. government. U.S. passports were declared invalid for travel to Libva after Reagan issued his first executive order for Americans to leave in 1981.

No threat of specific penalties was included in that order and many Americans ignored it.

The U.S. Embassy in Tripoli was sacked and burned to the ground in 1979. U.S. interests in Libya now are handled by the Belgian Embassy.

Although anti-American slogans and epithets are standard at public gatherings and rallies, most Libvans encountered by American reporters are more curious than hostile.

ARMS-

A top foreign policy adviser to Craxi, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Italy's arms ban was taken "in the same direction" as Reagan's invitation.

Foreign Ministry officials said the last arms contract with the former Italian colony was signed in 1981. The government said its action on arms sales would apply to contracts already in force.

Italy sold $750-million in arms to Libya between 1978 and 1983, according to Jane's Information Services, a subsidiary of the London-based Jane's Publishing Co. Ltd. that publishes military yearbooks.

In recent years Italian exports have included 280 planes, 31 helicopters. 200 armored cars and numerous missiles, Rome's La Repubblica newspaper reported Friday. Government officials said further actions could be taken as part of an overall review of Italian-Libyan relations.

On Thursday, Foreign Minister Giulio Andreotti and Defense Minister Giovanni Spadolini said Italy would not export "particularly dangerous arms" to Libya during the current, heightened tension between Libya and the United States.

But Craxi said in a note issued later that the government's decision applied to "whatever" kind of arms. One of his aides said the Defense Ministry was deciding whether any spare parts would be exempt from the halt on arms shipments.

Earlier, the government said any response to Reagan's invitation should be in conjunction with the Western European allies.

Panel agrees college grads lack verbal skills

By JIM WARREN

Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Panelists agreed Friday that college diplomas are worth less now than 20 years ago, but disagreed on whether to blame increased enrollment or easier class-

Robert Hardesty, chairman of a Texas College and University System Coordinating Board committee studying a possible sophomore basic skills test, said too many college graduates lack basic verbal schools. The committee invited representatives from the private sector to talk about college graduates and their basic skills.

We're talking about people who've gone through four years and can't write an essay," Hardesty said. "They're not dumb, they just haven't been taught. They've been taking four years worth of multiple choice (tests).

The committee is considering an "exit test," often called a "rising-ju-nior test," that all college students must pass at the end of their sophomore year to remain eligible for a

The test would resemble the Pre-Professional Skills Test, a standardized examination education majors must pass before taking junior- and senior-level education classes.

Beth Pyndus, a management development specialist with USAA, an insurance and financial planning company, said college-educated employees lack the skills to write grammatically correct sentences and organize thoughts on paper. The company, she said, must train employees in basic skills, resulting in a loss in productivity.

"It's appalling that private industry is having to devote time to teach basic skills the universities didn't teach," she said. "The emphasis needs to return to that liberal arts background we came from.

Hardesty agreed the liberal arts have taken a back seat to specialized college training, such as engineering and business. "We've done a good job of teaching them their majors,' he said, "but it seems we've done a bad job of teaching a broad-based education that they'll need."

William Flick, a vice president with Lookheed Corp. in Austin, said some computer and research whizes cannot write reports explaining new breakthroughs. Often reports must be re-written "at least 10 times" before becoming intelligible

High schools, not universities, are at fault for not teaching basic reading, writing and math skills, Simpson said. He said he was concerned that a sophomore test could force qualified students out of school, but Hardesty maintained the exam would not be used to "weed out" students.

Some panelists said grade inflation professors giving higher grades to keep students from failing - could give students the impression they are doing well, when they really lack basic skills. Then when those students take the sophomore test, they find themselves suddenly out of more than $12 billion is just so absurd, so impractical and so expensive that it hardly bears discussion,' Brieant said in his opinion.

Texaco had argued that the cloud cast by the case over control of its assets during a prolonged appeal had made it difficult to borrow money because of fears in financial markets of impending insolvency

"It's a major breakthrough for Texaco," said Thomas Petrie, an oil industry analyst in Denver for the investment firm First Boston Corp. Ronald Chapman, oil analyst for Northern Trust Co. in Chicago, said the ruling put pressure on Pennzoil to negotiate a settlement. "I think they should have settled last week," he said, adding: "I believe Pennzoil's management should pursue a settlement over the next few weeks. Their bargaining position is clearly weakening.

Brieant, who had heard arguments in the case on Thursday, rejected Pennzoil's contention that he had no jurisdiction in the case.

"This court finds there is no legal bar, and no genuine issue of disputed relevant fact that prevents granting this injunction," he said. "There is absolutely no reason in the world why it should not be granted."

After a 41/2-month trial, a Houston jury ruled Nov. 19 that Texaco wrongfully interfered in a merger agreement between Pennzoil and Getty when it acquired Getty two years ago. The jury awarded Pennzoil $7.53 billion in actual damages and an additional $3 billion in punitive damages.

Palestinian guerrillas scattered throughout Arab world

By JOHN RICE

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) - Palestinian guerrillas, including those Yasser Arafat. blamed for a series of recent terrorist attacks, have been scattered across the Arab world from Libya to South Yemen since they were driven out of Lebanon during the 1982 Israeli invasion.

The battles of the 1982 Lebanon war have given way to political struggle, isolated attacks within Israeli-occupied territory and terror operations such as last October's hijacking of the cruise ship Achille Lauro and the Dec. 27 attacks at the Rome and Vienna airports.

The Palestine Liberation Organization's bureaucracy and fighting force, once concentrated in Lebanon, was dispersed by the 1982 war and by the 1963 civil war within the PLO that divided the organization into forces loyal to and opposed to Groups not a part of the PLO, such as the one led by Abu Nidal, whose real name is Sabry al-Banna, have ranged from Libya to Iran. There have been allegations that Col. Moammar Khadafy of Libya has provided training facilities in Libya and support for the Abu Nidal faction that is thought to have been responsible for the airport terror strikes in Rome and Vienna.

Arafat moved the PLO headquarters to Tunis in 1982, and Tunisia remains the formal base for the PLO bureaucracy that employs several hundred people. Tunis also is the administrative headquarters for Fatah, the Arafat-led guerrilla group.

Following a February 1985 alliance between Arafat and King Hussein of Jordan, the PLO shifted hundreds of people and several administrative, economic and social service offices to the Jordanian capital, which now probably has the largest concentra-tion of PLO bureaucrats.

PLO sources in Amman said the 100 to 200 fighters left in Tunis moved to Iraq after Israel's Oct. 1 air raid on PLO headquarters.

Force 17, a Fatah bodyguard unit accused by Israel of terrorist attacks such as the September 1985 slaying of three Israelis in Cyprus, apparently remains based in Tunis.

Tunis and South Yemen are reported to be the bases for the pro-Arafat wing of the tiny Palestine Liberation Front which carried out the Achille Lauro hijacking and is known as Abul Abbas.

Jordan, which expelled the PLO after a war in 1970, today is host to more than a half-dozen PLO offices. The PLO's formal legislative body, the Palestine National Council, also is in Amman but neither Jordanian nor PLO officials would say how many people work in the offices.

There are about 1,500 to 2,000 Palestinian fighters in Jordan, according to Amman-based diplomats, but they are kept under tight control of the Jordanian military.

A similar situation holds in Syria, where there are about 10,000 Palestine Liberation Army troops opposed to Arafat.

such activities across its borders. About 8,000 fighters left Beirut with Arafat in 1982 and were scattered throughout much of the Arab world. In 1983, Arafat returned to Lebanon, this time to the northern port of Tripoli. After a Syrianbacked rebellion inside Fatah, Arafat and about 4,000 fighters were forced out of Tripoli and again scattered to various Arab countries.

According to various diplomatic and PLO sources, nearly 1,000 pro-Arafat fighters are based in Algeria, 1,000 in Sudan, 1,000 in North Yemen and as many as 1,000 in Iraq.

Buildups have occurred recently in Iraq, according to PLO officials, and in Sudan, according to Western by George Habash.

tions or defending refugee camps Intelligence officials in Lebanon say there are about 5,000 to 6,000 Palestinian commandos in the country, most of them based in the Syriancontrolled Bekaa Valley and mem-

Khadafy makes career of attacks on U.S. policy

By SAMUEL KOO Associated Press Writer

Moammar Khadafy, a desert herdsman's son who seized power while still in his 20s, has made an international political career of impulsiveness and insult, with the United States as favorite

Khadafy

The Libyan leader declared that the United States was planning a military attack on his country after the Dec. 27 terrorist attacks on the Rome and Vienna airports, and he threatened to send suicide squads into America's streets. He ridiculed President Reagan as an "Israeli dog." Reagan, in turn, called the 43-year-old Khadafy a "barbarian" and "flaky" Tuesday in announcing sanc-tions against Libya, which include a total ban on direct U.S. trade.

Threats and counterthreats have flown since the United States accused Libya of aiding the terrorists who made coordinated attacks on passengers at the two airports.

The official Libyan news agency called the raids "heroic" operations by Palestinians. Nineteen people were killed, including five Americans, two Israelis and four of the

Col. Khadafy, an iron-fisted Mos-lem fundamentalist, seized power in a bloodless 1969 coup while King Idris was out of the country. He has used anti-American tirades to drum up support from hardline Arab countries for his campaign against Israel and to rally the 3.5 million people of his desert nation, which is a major world oil supplier

He also has cited the alleged threat of U.S. and Israeli aggression as justification for cracking down on Libyan political foes at home and abroad, and for building a supply of Soviet weapons that is among the Mediterranean's most powerful military arsenals.

Western military analysts say Khadafy's war machine includes 535 fighter aircraft, six submarines and 25 high-speed attack boats.

His vision is to unite the Arab world and focus all its resources on destroying Israel. Khadafy sees what he calls the anti-U.S. "revolution" as enhancement of "my role as a revolutionary" and vindication of his ideology Khadafy, who attended the Sandhurst military academy in Britain. has no title other than Leader of the Revolution.

Ever since he came to power, Khadafy saw himself as inheriting the mantle of Arab leadership from his political mentor, the late Egyptian President Gamel Abdel Nasser. He has constantly sought to unite the Arab world against Israel.

But his repeated efforts to merge Libya with other countries like Egypt, Tunisia, Chad, Niger, Mali, Sudan, Algeria, Syria and Tunisia faltered just as Nasser's United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria did.

When diplomacy failed, Khadafy sent troops - to southern neighbor Chad, where he has been backing rebel forces led by ex-President Goukouni Oueddi in a battle for control of one of Africa's poorest nations but believed to be rich in uranium and other minerals.

Another setback for Khadafy has been his attempts to gain the leadership of the Organization of African Unity. Time and again, the organization has rejected his bid for the pulpit as Africa's spokesman. Although claiming he is nonaligned, Khadafy maintains close relations with the Soviet Union, Libya's principal arms supplier.

In his "Green Book," Khadafy's philosophy, he rejects both capitalism and communism and professes a "third international theory" as a model. It calls for Islamic fundamentalism, as did Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini in Iran, and abolition of the profit motive.

He warned dissident exiles, in June 1980, to return home or be liquidated. Soon afterward, Libyan assassins began striking in Europe, including Madrid, Paris, Rome and Diplomats have said Khadafy survived at least five coup attempts by the military and one by civilians. They say the attempts on his life prompted him to instigate a reign of

The diplomats and analysts who follow Libyan affairs add that he appears to enjoy popular support, bolstered by revenues that still keep the country relatively well off despite the world glut that has depressed oil

He is credited with substantially raising the quality of education, health care and housing and thus at-tracting support from the poor.

Vietnam appears ready to resolve MIA issue

By DENIS D. GRAY

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — Vietnam appears ready to resolve the issue of American servicemen still listed as missing in the war that ended in 1975, but Hanoi's hopes of diplomatic ties with its former enemy are getting little encouragement from Washington.

Both governments publicly insist the MIAs are a humanitarian issue which is not linked to normalizing relations or other bilateral problems.

Vietnamese officials say progress on the problem will lead to greater trust and better feelings that will develop into diplomatic relations, but the Reagan administration says that will not happen until Vietnamese troops withdraw from Cambodia, which they invaded in December

Washington says Vietnam has used the MIA problem as a bargaining chip in the past.

The Vietnamese refrain to visitors from the United States has become: The door is open but the Americans don't want to come in."

Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach told visiting American teachers last weekend: "As for the matter of normalization, we think it is a very good thing, but there is a difficulty from the American side."

Most Western diplomats here and Indochina analysts in Bangkok say Vietnam is eager for normal relations, hoping for sorely needed Western economic assistance and trade to lessen dependence on the Soviet Union.

Vietnam lost its once-considerable number of benefactors and sympathizers when it invaded Cambodia, ousted Pol Pot's government and installed the government of Heng Samrin. It now has few friends outside the Soviet bloc.

The government says it will withdraw its estimated 150,000 troops from the neighboring country by

The wooing of Washington was intensified in 1985. American journalists arrived in unprecedented numbers and were allowed greater access to the country than at any time since the end of the war in 1975.

The first American tourist group spent two weeks in the country at year's end. The tour organizer said he was confident American tourists, most expected to be war veterans, would be allowed to visit regularly

Vietnam pledged in 1985 to resolve the MIA issue within two years and expressed hope this week that the job would be done before the end of

Since mid-1985, it has handed over what it said were the remains of 33 U.S servicemen — 24 have to date been positively identified — and in December allowed the first joint U.S.-Vietnamese excavation of a wartime air crash site.

The U.S. government lists about 2,400 servicemen missing in Indochina, most of them in Vietnam and the others in Laos and Cambodia.

The highest-ranking American delegation to visit Vietnam since the war was told Tuesday that 50 reports on MIAs would be given to the Americans at the next MIA technical meeting in February, and more excavations would be discussed.

Beach police will bridle wild Spring Break parties

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — In Daytona Beach, a popular party ity officials have sobering plans for zone about 280 miles north, at least City officials have sobering plans for this year's Spring Break, the colle-giate mecca that drew 350,000 young people to last year's beer-soaked beach bacchanal of vandalism, drunkenness, wet T-shirt contests -

Civic leaders didn't object to the $120 million the students pumped into the local economy in the six weeks of Spring Break last year, but they're alarmed about the destruction and deaths that came with it.

"The thing is becoming somewhat of a monster," said Police Chief Ron

The Fort Lauderdale task force of merchants and government officials plans to erect a 4-foot-wall between the beach and the 11/2-mile strip of beachfront bars, to protect pedestrians who jam the sidewalks waiting to crowd into bars.

The city commissioners also banned open containers of alcohol on the streets and the beach, following the June law raising Florida's drinking age from 19 to 21.

Instead of the barroom contests where students pour it down and take it off, the task force proposes a beach Olympics, with volleyball, swimming and running contests, said Tommy Merce, Chamber of Commerce tourism director.

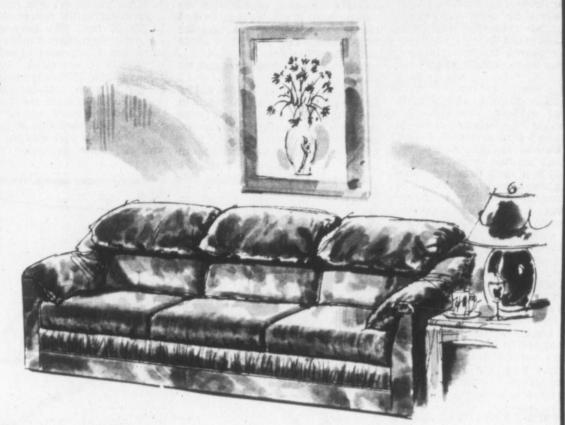

The idea for the Olympics surfaced after the disc jockey of the Button bar was jailed and the bar was fined $25,000 and ordered to close for 60 days for promoting sexually explicit acts on the bar's stage.

"If they want to have a city-organized, so-called 'wholesome' contest, that would be great," said former killed three people and injured 100. Button DJ John Torregrossa.

Coyote comeback has ranchers snarling at federal control rules

New York Times News Service

MARBLE FALLS, Texas - Long after ranchers thought they had driven off the coyote, the predator is staging a comeback.

Once again the coyote, whose cunning ways and appetite for lambs and baby goats were the stuff of leg-end, is driving many sheep and goat raisers in Central and West Texas to the edge of bankruptcy.

Ranchers are buying guard dogs for their flocks. They are hiring trappers. Federal and state agencies are stepping up predator-control programs, and ranchers say they hope a newly approved poison collar will give them a new weapon against the

"The coyotes have moved in on us," said Jean Ebeling, who, with her husband, Robert, raises Angora goats on their 2,000-acre ranch in the Hill Country 40 miles west of Austin.

The Ebelings say they were driven to desperation four years ago, when they lost 30 of their prize registered goats in bloody nocturnal attacks. So they bought Anatolian shepherd dogs, huge cream-colored creatures, that watch over the flocks possessively. There have been no losses since then.

The renewed control efforts may sharpen antagonisms between ranchers and environmental Ranchers link the new coyote threat to a federal prohibition on a poison known as 1080. The government banned its use in 1972, saying ranchers had used it indiscriminately to bait meat for coyotes, with harmful effects to domestic animals and predators, including eagles.

BUT SOME RANCHERS contend environmentalists do not always understand the economic realities of ranching

Bob Rieck, a 35-year-old rancher who raises sheep, goats and cattle on 11,000 acres in Menard County, said he killed eight coyotes in the last year and that he loses 3 percent of his lambs each year to predators, including eagles.

"Economically, coyotes will wipe you out," he said. "This is why ranchers are very outspoken about killing every coyote they see.

"We have no desire to annihilate every species that might kill a goat or sheep," he went on. "But we want to control coyotes. Ranchers have got a bad name among city folk because of this, but we are more attached to wildlife than the Sierra Club. We see a lot of beauty in animals.

Other range experts say the resurgence of the coyote is rooted in the changing ranching economy, which has left far fewer people on the range than in past years, and in the growing urbanization of Texas, which has seen much ranch land converted into weekend retreats for people from Houston and Dallas. As a result, there are fewer full-time residents working the land. "Many people own land and do not use it for productive agriculture; they have no interest in controlling predators," said Dr. Maurice Shelton, an authority on sheep and goat raising with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center in San Angelo. He says there has been a "dramatic" rise in damage by coyotes over the last 15

THE PROBLEM IS worst on Edwards Plateau, 24 million acres of prime sheep and goat land in Central

"There once were counties on the plateau that were literally coyotefree," said Donald W. Hawthorne, of the San Antonio-based Texas Rodent and Predatory Animal Control Service, a federal-state collaboration. "Now we have coyote losses in every county." Cattle ranchers in the Panhandle also report growing numbers of calves lost to coyotes.

Ranchers reported losing 124,000 sheep and lambs and 82,000 goats to all predators in the 12 months ending Jan. 1, 1984, according to an inventory taken by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

But Shelton believes the true loss is much larger. He said coyotes had deterred ranchers from raising goats, extremely valuable for the mohair they produce, over a vast area of the South Texas Plains. "That is the biggest single cost, and you cannot put a figure on it," he said. Years of eradication efforts had cleared the Edwards Plateau. Ranches at the center, or "inside" as ranchers call it, are still clear. But the predators are slowly shrinking the perimeter, and ranchers on the "outside" edge where sheep and goat country merges into cattle country, like the Ebelings here in Marble Falls, are suffering. As each rancher throws in the towel, giving up predator control, the coyotes move closer to the inside.

THE EBELINGS ARE one of the shrinking number of family ranchers who stay on. They run 600 Angora goats, and sell breeding stock to other ranchers. The coyote has also turned them into dog breeders, raising Anatolian shepherds, originally from Turkey, both for themselves and to sell to fellow ranchers.

The dogs are born in the goat pen, grow up with goats, and so far as anyone can tell think they are goats. Slinky, alert, lioness-like in appearance, the dogs are instinctively domiance, the dogs are instinctively domineering and protective. "They know all the goats," Mrs. Ebeling said. "It only takes a short time, and the goats follow them like the pied piper."

King and Ili, a male and a female, watch over one of the Ebelings' pas-watch over one of the Ebelings pas-tures. They remain alert all night, barking at the slightest intrusion. "You couldn't hire anybody to do what they do," Ebeling said. But dogs are useful only on small, closely supervised ranches like the Ebeling spread, according to Shelton. They are not as effective on the larger ranches of arid West Texas where flocks graze unprotected over thousands of acres.

Under political pressure from the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association in San Angelo and other groups, the federal Environmental Protection Agency last summer approved a new weapon, a special collar containing the banned 1080 poison, sodium monofluoroacetate. The rancher places the collar on a few selected animals, presumably the weaker ones that the coyote is most likely to attack, and the coyote gets a lethal dose when he strikes at the neck. The collars are expected to go into use within about two months.

BUT COLLARS, WHICH sell for $17 apiece are too costly to be put on every animal, and some experts feel they will help only a bit. Because of past indiscriminate use of meat ed States Fish and Wildlife Service baited with 1080, the federal govern- and the state extension service.

fenced-in pastures and requires ranchers to be licensed to use the poison. The Texas Department of Agriculture, which the federal government has designated to license the ranchers, is preparing to train and license ranchers, and the collar is expected to go into use within about two months.

"This is a touchy issue," said Roger Mulder, a spokesman for the department. He said there was some concern that ranchers might remove the chemical from the collars and use it to poison bait. "We have made it clear to the ranchers if there are any problems, if they use it as bait again, we'll yank it real quick," he said. Meanwhile, 115 Texas counties and local livestock associations have asked for help from the Texas Rodent and Predatory Animal Control Service, a collaboration of the Unit-

New Texas topographic map ready

By PEGGY ROBERSON Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Texans can now get a new multi-color topographic map of their state on a single 50-by-52-inch sheet from the U.S. Geological Survey.

Officials of the Texas Water De velopment Board recently received the first copies of the map. Rupert B. Southard, chief of the USGS National Mapping Division, said Texas officials requested the single-sheet map and provided funds for the project.

The map is published at a scale of 1:1,000,000. One inch on the map represents about 16 miles on the ground.

Cities and towns, streams, lakes and reservoirs, highways and rail-roads and other natural and manmade features are shown. The boundaries of national and state parks, national forests and other federal reservations are delineated and highlighted with a tint.

Copies of the map can be pur-chased from the Western Distribution Branch, U.S. Geological Survey, Box 25286, Federal Center, Denver, Colo., 80225, for $4 each. Orders must include checks or money orders payable to the Department of Interior-USGS. Orders less than $10 must include an additional $1 to cover handling.

Copies also are available from a number of places in Texas. Copies can be purchased at the USGS Public Inquiries Office, 1C45 Federal Building, 1100 Commerce St., Dallas. The PIO also has other USGS maps, as well as aerial photographs and satellite images of

Black lawmaker says he won't run again because he's tired of politics

DALLAS (AP) — State Rep. Paul Ragsdale of Dallas, a longtime force in the black community, announced Friday that he won't be a candidate in 1986 because he's tired of politics and needs to do something for "Paul Ragsdale, the person."
Ragsdale, chairman of the Texas

Legislative Black Caucus, said at a news conference that past threats had nothing to do with his decision. At one time, the 40-year-old Democrat was regarded as the front run-ner to succeed Sen. Oscar Mauzy, 59, who is giving up his 23rd District seat after 17 years to run for the Texas Supreme Court.

But in recent weeks, Ragsdale said, he has become increasingly frustrated with public service. "After my 14 years (in the legislature), the time has come to take a break from political life.' He said he will finish his current legislative term, which runs through December, but decided Monday against a bid for another office. Ragsdale discounted reports in Friday's Dallas Times Herald quoting unnamed political sources as saying he was withdrawing because of threats of bodily harm. Ragsdale said such threats were a problem several years ago because of his sometimes unpopular stands

but are not a factor now Democratic sources told the Times Herald that Ragsdale had been hurt in the black community by his refusal to condemn a former East Texas state senator who twice referred to him as a "nigger" at a banquet in Tyler last October. Ragsdale said he was not offended by former Sen. Peyton McKnight's remarks because "that's just the way Peyton talks." After a furor over the incident, Gov. Mark White decided not to ap-point McKnight to the Texas Public Safety Commission as planned. Black activist Dallas Jackson said Ragsdale was wrong to have taken McKnight's remarks lightly even though the two of them are friends. "It looked like Ragsdale was play ing up to the white power struc-" Jackson said. "That's always a mistake for a black politician.'

Ragsdale endorsed neither of his declared opponents - former state Rep. Eddie Bernice Johnson and Ragsdale, a sociologist, lamented the $600 monthly pay of a legislator, saying he needs to advance to himself personally now.

Aides said Ragsdale is considering work as a political consultant. Ragsdale chastized the Dallas black community for failing to work together on critical issues. "There's too much posturing, too much appeal to ego," he said.

Tutu: South Africa ripe for explosion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bishop Desmond Tutu said Friday that South Africa is ripe for explosion unless the white government gives blacks political power, but held out hope that economic pressures may yet bring a peaceful solution.

The Anglican prelate also reiterated speculation — under pressure from a reporter — that there could come a time when the white govern-come a time when the white govern-ment resorted to nuclear weapons to destroy the country.

Asked if he thought whites might ever use nuclear arms within the country, Tutu said, "Yes," and provided the following scenario:

"If those within the government who are the hardliners, the hawks believe they have had it, is just possible, just possible that they will say, "If we can't have it, then no one can

The question on nuclear weapons arose at Tutu's press conference after The Washington Post on Friday published comments the cleric made in a meeting with the newspaper's editors and reporters.

"If, as most of us believe, they (the white minority) do have nuclear ca-pability, I don't put it past them to have their own version of a scorched-earth policy," Tutu told the

At the press conference, Tutu said his remark was only speculative.

Tutu, who is on a three-week tour of the United States, said he was ssimistic but also hopeful" about South Africa's future. His hope stemmed from his Christian belief rather than from the situation is South Africa, which is grim, he said.

gence of the government and the increasing anger and impatience of our people...this is sort of a classical situation for an explosion," the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize winner said.

To stave off disaster, he said, "the kernel issue, which is political power" must be addressed by the white government, which he said has caused the violence in South

"The violence in South Africa starts firmly with the perpetrators of apartheid," Tutu said.

The 54-year-old cleric, who has urged stiff sanctions against South Africa, said he hopes pressure on private business would force change.
"I cannot predict obviously how efficacious all of this going to be except that what I have seen to date indicates to me that the private sector is likely to say to the government, or I hope it will, 'You are a liability that we can no longer afford'."

The most recent anti-apartheid campaign was launched Thursday when the AFL-CIO called on consumers to boycott Shell Oil Co. prod-ucts until the company's multina-tional owners cut business ties to South Africa.

Tutu also rejected the idea that the African National Congress, a banned guerrilla organization now based in Lusaka, Zambia, was controlled by communists.

"I'm not yet convinced that the guys who run the show are communist." he said notice that the he said, noting that 90 percent of the Africans in South Africa are Christian.

Judge refuses to fine seat belt law violators

ROCKFORD, Mich. (AP) — A judge who refuses to fine people who violate Michigan's mandatory seat belt law rejected a prosecutor's request that he disqualify himself from seat belt cases

"I'm fining (violators) for what I think I should fine them, and that's nothing," said Kent County District Judge Steven Servaas, who has called the law an infringement on individual rights.

Kent County Prosecutor David Sawyer, who filed the motion asking the judge to disqualify him-self, argued that Servaas' opposition to the law "indicates a personal bias and prejudice" that makes him incapable of ruling on seat belt cases.

"The judge has a responsibility to uphold the laws of the state of Michigan, and by doing what he's doing he's not upholding the laws," Sawyer contended.

"Frankly, I can't see anything that I've done that is improper," said Servaas, who estimated he has suspended the fines of about 25 to 30 seat belt law violators since Michigan's law took effect. since Michigan's law took effect

"Every court has a traffic schedule," Servaas said. "You break the law, you bring in your ticket and you pay your $10. Only here it's zero - which is what it should Michigan's $10 fine for failing to wear seat belts increased to $25 after the first of the year.

Sawyer said prosecutors would ask a Kent County Circuit Court judge Monday to disqualify Ser-

Black-market traders sell U.S. dollar for 500 Mexican pesos

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The U.S. dollar shot up against the Mexican peso Friday, a day after the central Bank of Mexico reported that consumer prices rose 63.7 percent in Black-market currency traders reappeared at the international airport Friday morning offering to sell dollars for 500 pesos apiece. Bank exchange booths at the airport opened asking 440 pesos per dollar and selling the U.S. bills for 447 apiece.

A few days earlier the dollar had been trading at around the 400-peso

Consumer inflation was nearly double the 35 percent the government had forecast a year ago for 1985. The annual rate was swelled by December's rise of 6.8 percent in the Consumer Price Index, the second biggest one-month increase of the Transportation prices, boosted by recent increases in gasoline prices, led the way with rises of 17.7 percent in December and 76.5 percent for the year. Clothing and shoes rose 4.2 percent in December and 69.9 percent in the year, while food, beverages and tobacco rose 5.3 percent in

Annual consumer inflation was 59.2 percent in 1984, 80.8 percent in 1983 and 98.8 percent in 1982, the year Mexico was unable to make payments on its burgeoning foreign debt and entered its continuing fiscal crisis. The foreign debt now stands at $96.4 billion.

The dollar had risen almost steadily since July, when the government announced new austerity measures aimed at freeing money for debt payments. In early November the peso hit record lows of more than 500 to the dollar and had been recovering ever since.

By early this week private exchange houses in downtown Mexico City were buying dollars for 411 pesos each and selling them for 426 apiece. At midday Friday the same exchange houses were buying dollars for 472 pesos apiece and selling them for 492 pesos each.

Some analysts speculated that the central bank had supported the peso for several weeks and has now stopped. The bank does not announce whether it is actively trading in the currency markets but on this occasion denied involvement.

Governments buy and sell currencies to try to push the value of their own currency up or down. Mexico's central bank, for example, would sell dollars from its own reserves to push the dollar's cost down and the peso's

Fair weather should melt last snow

From Staff and Wire Reports

Fairer temperatures should take care of the last remnants of snow and ice on the ground, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal.

Today will be fair and warm with high temperatures expected in the mid 60s. Winds will be out of the south at five to 10 mph.

Tonight and Sunday will be continued fair with temperatures in the lower 30s predicted for tonight and highs in the mid 60s for Sunday.

The highest temperature ever recorded for Friday's date was 76 degrees in 1935. A low of minus 8 was set for today's date in 1962.

STATE

Texas skies were mostly fair Friday, as a high pressure system cen-tered in Utah dominated the state's weather pattern.

Some mid-level clouds were ob-served over parts of the Red River Valley, while scattered low clouds dotted the extreme southeast. North to northwest winds breezed across most of the state at speeds generally in the 5 to 15 mph range. Temperatures climbed into the 50s and 60s statewide, with late afternoon extremes ranging from 54 at Galveston to 69 at Alice. The National Weather Service said skies would fair to partly cloudy through this afternoon highs in the 60s.

NATION

Strong winds swept the northern and central Pacific coast and the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains in Montana on Friday, while rain drenched the South and snow fell across the Great Lakes into New England.

Dense fog swathed the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys of California.

Gale warnings flew for the Washington, Oregon and northern California coasts, and a high wind warning was in effect for western Washing ton, where winds topping 50 mph were forecast. Coastal flooding was expected because of the strong winds and high tides.

High winds also raked the Montana Rockies, with 58 mph gusts clocked at Livingston and 43 mph at Great Falls.

There also were gale warnings along the Gulf coast from Beaumont and Port Arthur, Texas, to Apalachicola, Fla., as well as the Atlantic coast from Maine to Rhode Island. Showers and thundershowers hit Florida, with more than an inch falling in six hours

Chaps ramble by Murray

By TED BATTLES Sports Editor

BIG SPRING— Unbeaten Midland College raced to its 18th straight victory, 109-75, over Murray State, Okla., at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Friday night in a final tun-eup before resuming Western Junior College Athletic Conference play Monday night.

And if you were an optimist from Tishimingo, Okla., perhaps you could say, "It wasn't a case of our getting beat. We just ran out of time."

Over the final eight minutes Murray outscored MC

For a while this looked like it might turn into a rout. MC jumped in front 19-3 and there were visions of the Chaparrals hitting 100 points...in the first half. But Murray, now 7-7 for the season and faced with another date here tonight against Howard College, rallied to outscore MC 14-12 over the final five minutes of the first half and trailed only 59-30 at intermission.

MC got off to a flying start in the second half when a double technical was assessed and 6-6 Eddie Frazier hit all four and then Mookie Blaylock converted a basket off the possession that started MC on a 15-point run that gave the Chaps a 74-30 lead with 16:15 left in the game. It was 92-49 with eight minutes left when Murray's Aggies began making their bid for respectability. And, really, 109-75 against the No. 3 ranked team in the nation isn't that bad.

'We played together and kept working together as a team," said Coach Jerry Stone. "In a game like that sometimes it's pretty hard to keep you concentration." Actually, the Chaps did begin to commit an unseemly number of turnovers in the final eight minutes which enabled Murray to do some whittling.

"And I was glad we could play a game here since we play Howard here Monday night in a conference game," Stone added. Could any good come out of a game like this? "We got to work on a few things, like running the clock down at the end of the first half," noted assistant coach Reggie Franklin. "Yes, we got a few good things out of it. We got a chance to work on a few things like that." And Frazier hit seven straight free throws before missing. The Dorcester, Mass., sophomore has been erratic on free throws all year. "Did you see the moon tonight. It was the popsition of the moon," Coach Stone tried to explain the phenomenon.

And while Frazier was deadly from the line, winding up with 15 points, it was MC's guards who staged an amazing exhibition of percentage shooting. Blaylock was 12 of 14 from the field to finish with a game high 25. Ricky Grace was five of nine from the field for a 14 point night and Lincoln Minor had five of eight field attempts for 10 points.

A good many came off breaks from swipes, steals and turnovers, but the night's top bombing honors went to Lubbock's Todd Duncan. Of his seven field goals, one was from the left corner...all the others were from way out. Duncan wound up seven of nine from the floor, with his biggest point night of the year, 18.

Lendl tips McEnroe in challenge

ATLANTA (AP) — Top-seeded Ivan Lendl defeated No. 2-seed John McEnroe 7-6, 6-3 Friday night to advance to the final of the $500,000 AT&T Challenge tennis tournament. He will face Jimmy Connors for the title Saturday.

Connors, the fourth seed, beat No. 3 Stefan Edberg of Sweden 6-3, 6-3 earlier Friday at the Omni.

Lendl, who is ranked No. 1 in the world ahead of McEnroe, had 11 aces in the match, including two in the first-set tiebreaker, which he won 7- McEnroe will be coming to Midland for an exhibition with Mats Wilander on Feb. 6.

Lendl had his serve broken only once in the match, in the fourth game of the first set. But the Czech immediately broke back and both players stayed on serve until the lead and served out the match. "I'm very happy with the way I played," said Lendl. "I never expected to play this well in the first tournament of the year.

McEnroe said, "I had a few chances, but he had the shots when he needed them. His serve has improved so much that it's hard to counteract. I'll have to take my game up a little higher, I guess.

Connors and Edberg were paired in the semifinals by a coin toss. They emerged from separate four-man groups which played round-robin matches earler in the week.

Connors, 33, flustered the 19-yearold, hard-serving Edberg with booming returns that broke the Swede's service twice in the first set. "He was serving really well, but all of a sudden I hit some good returns, and one lucky one, and he seemed to get discouraged," said Connors. "I think he also began to take a little off his first serve to get it in.' Connors put 79.2 percent, or 38 of 48, of his first serves into play. Edberg never broke Connor's serve.

'My whole idea was to keep the ball in play. When he serves well, he's very difficult to play," Connors said of Edberg.

The turning point of the second set came in the fourth game when Connors hit two passing shots for winners, and Edberg made a pair of unforced errors.

"I just came into his rhythm, which I cannot do and beat him,'

Rebs ruin Steers run at glory

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Assistant Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers ended a 31-game District 4-5A basketball losing streak last Tuesday in a win against Abilene Cooper, but at Chaparral Center Friday night. the Midland Lee Rebels made sure the Steers' flirtation with 4-5A glory was brief in a 66-39 win.

Midland College's Tony Wright (54) maneveurs

for room under basket for a shot, but gets defensive static from Patrick Greer (44) of Murray

It wasn't that Lee played its best game of the year. In fact, this game can go down in history as one you wanted to miss. Lee hit only 26 of 71 shots from the field while Big Spring had a meager 16 of 61 shooting eye. Banks fold for interest rates like that.

The third quarter is a good example of how things went in this one. Lee hit only five of 23 shots from the field (one of its first 11 attempts) and still increased its lead over the Steers by five. While Lee was searching for the basket, Big Spring was hitting at a three of 14

It wasn't a lack of hustle by either team, but the shooting eye wasn't there. It looked like a pre-season scrimmage.

STILL, LEE coach Paul Stueckler kept his humor and wasn't disappointed with the outcome.

"We didn't play real pretty, but we won. I guess you can say that we are now tied for a playoff spot - and that's important," said Stueckler.

When it was pointed out to Stueckler that Lee hit only five of 23 shots in the third period and still increased its lead, he deadpanned, "Good defense, huh."

He added, "There really isn't much you can do about a team when it doesn't hit well. The best thing is just not to talk too much about it and practice hard. Shooting the basketball is some mysterious thing. Some nights you have it and some you don't. I did think we dominated the backboards and that was the big difference. At least, we worked hard in that area.

WITH MIDLAND High all alone in first place with a perfect 40 league start, Lee shares second with a 3-1

Lee Dixon led the Rebel scoring attack with 21 points, but hit only nine of 25 from the field. Still, he was all over the court and a dominate presence in the scheme of things. Anthony Dickens had 17 points, scoring seven in the first period and eight in the fourth. Eddie Riley was the only other double digit performer with 12

State, who commits a foul while knocking the ball

Another big reason Big Spring wasn't in this game was the fact that the Rebels held sophomore sensation Brian Mayfield to a district low outing of 16 points. Eleven of those points came in the second period when both teams scored 15 points. When Mayfield doesn't score, the Steers are in trouble and Lee did a good job on him with Dickens in the middle.

LEE WENT almost three minutes without scoring while Big Spring held a 2-0 lead on Charles Young's basket. But that was the only lead of the night as Greg Johnson hit two free throws and was followed by buckets by Dixon, Dickens and Mike Courtney for a 10-2 spurt. It was downhill from there. Big Spring is now 1-3 in loop play. Sidney Parker was the only other Steer to hit in double figures with 10

The Rebels have now won three games in a row since losing to San Angelo on the opening night of 45A play and now hit the road to face Abilene High Tuesday. Big Spring will square off against Odessa High.

In junior varsity action, Lee had little trouble as Bill Jordan's troops romped to a 67-34 win over the Steers with Bruce Marczynski and David Weis each hitting 12 points for the Rebels. John Olsen had 12 for Big Spring.

Miami head coach Don Shula, right, confers with his son and quarterback coach David, on the Dolphins' game plan against New England Sunday.

Dolphins' running game taken too lightly, Bennett MIAMI (AP) - Like Miami's defense, which has turned in some clutch performances, fullback Woody Bennett says the Dolphins' lightly regarded rushing attack is best when the club really needs it.

Hampton added.

"People knock the running game, but they don't look at the overall picture of how our game plan is based," the seventh-year National Football League veteran said Friday.

'We're a passing football team. When you've got a quarterback like Dan Marino, how are you going to just hand the ball off and run?," he added. "We don't go into a game hoping to establish the run. We run when we need it."

That, Bennett said, may be why a lot of people are underestimating the effect the Miami rushing attack could have on Sunday's AFC championship game against the New England Patriots.

The Dolphin offense ranked second in the NFL in passing during the regular season, but were No. 18 rushing with 1,729 yards - 30 less than league rushing champion Marcus Allen gained for the Los Angeles

STATISTICS, HOWEVER, can be deceptive. The Dolphins' third-down conversion success rate of 45.6 percent was best in the NFL and the running game was partly responsible. Tony Nathan led Miami with 667 yards rushing and rookies Ron Davenport and Lorenzo Hampton contributed 370 and 369 yards, respectively, in reserve roles. Bennett, a starter, gained 256 yards on only 54 "You're looking at yards gained, but you have to look at carries as well plus yards per carry," said Bennett, who led the Dolphins with 606 yards rushing in 1984.

"We don't have a back here who's going to carry the ball 20 times a game," he added. "But when we need the running game in short yardage situations or running out the clock at the end of a game, we've come through."

Nathan, a running back who caught a team-high 72 passes, and Bennett both averaged 4.7 yards per carry. Davenport averaged 3.8 and scored 11 of his club-leading 13 touchdowns on the ground.

As a runner, Bennett would like to carry the ball more and produce better statistics. As a Dolphin, he likes Marino's productivity and the success the team has had because of its explosive passing attack.

NCAA braces for tougher standards

By DOUG TUCKER AP Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS - As many as 2,000 high school seniors may be ineligible to play major college sports next fall under the NCAA's plan to toughen academic standards for athletes.

Known as Proposition 48, the proposal will be debated Monday at the annual NCAA convention in New Orleans, probably for the last time before it takes effect on Aug. 1.

A study by the National Collegiate Athletic Association indicates that approximately half of next year's freshmen athletes — as many as 2,000 students — may be academically ineligible under the plan.

The figure is based on test scores of 1977 and 1982 freshmen classes. However, NCAA officials stress that since 1982, students have consistently scored higher on college entrance exams.

The study is expected to be released at the convention.

There is no question that some of the most highly skilled athletes will not be competing as freshmen," said Wilford S. Bailey of Auburn, secretary-treasurer of the NCAA.

It is staggering. It will be a shock wave the first couple of years or so, but I really do believe (athletes) will do what it takes," said Prentice Gautt, associate commissioner of the Big Eight.

A freshman who is ineligible under the new guidelines still can receive an athletic scholarship at a Division I school, but cannot play or practice for one year or until a satisfactory academic record is established "It does not close the door to educational opportunity," Bailey said. "But it means no participation and no practice as freshmen in Division I until they've demonstrated their ability to handle college work."

As passed by the NCAA three years ago, Proposition 48 would require a grade-point average of at least 2.0 of a possible 4.0 in math, English and science, scores of 700 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, or 15 on the American College Testing exam. But last fall, the NCAA Council and the Presidents Commission modified the plan with a more flexible three-year, phase-in period.

For example, students entering college this fall could still play sports with a 1.8 grade-point average as long as they scored at least 740 on the SAT or 17 on the ACT. In turn, if a student had a higher grade-point average, say 2.2, scores of only 660 on the SAT and 13 on the ACT would be

For the 1987-88 school year, the index would be reduced to where a 720 grade point; and a 2.1 grade point could offset a 680 SAT or 14 ACT.

Then, in August 1988, the original language of the proposal would take

The average score for blacks taking the SAT in 1983-84 was 715. The average score for whites was 932. A perfect score is 1,600.

Most opposition to Proposition 48 centers on the test score requirement, with some officials maintaining that the standardized tests did not reflect the cultural and education background of most blacks, especially those who are poor. Black educators have said that while they are not opposed to higher academic standards for athletes, the proposal should ensure that blacks would not suffer disproportionate consequences.

At the convention, a group of predominantly black colleges is expected to offer a countermeasure to eliminate the standardized test scores as a requirement. "It's a misuse and abuse of testing," said Joseph Johnson, presi-

"All those major institutions who are pushing this legislation, if they had been honest, if they had used integrity and done what they should have done with these kids all along, we would not have this problem," he said. "Now, these institutions are saying the way to solve the problem is to wipe these kids out altogether.

"What is needed is remedial placement for kids who do not score well on the ACT and the SAT. That's what we've got at Grambling. And if we can do it, I don't see why these great institutions that build enormous stadiums and field houses on the back of black athletes couldn't do it," he

The the modified, phase-in version ball Association and American Football Coaches Association and seems almost certain to be adopted by the convention's 1,800 delegates. However, some delegates said they may lobby in favor of having the proposal's original language take effect immediately. "I am intrigued by those who say that requiring a minimum 700 SAT score to be eligible for intercollegiate athletics as freshman is unreasonable, unfair and discriminatory" said Tolm Butters, athletic director at Duke. "Such reasoning is beyond my comprehension."

"Virginia Tech supports Proposition 48 as it is, and we will support it with amendments because it still is a step in the right direction," said Virginia Tech representative James Robertson. "We favor anything that strengthens academic standards." Since the new standards would apply to athletes in all sports, and

Vols revoke scholarships

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - The University of Tennessee has recommended it revoke the scholarships of two former football players who were arrested this week on drug charges, officials said Friday.

Athletic Director Doug Dickey said Tony Robinson and Kenneth "B.B." Cooper had an option to regain their grants if they are cleared of charges they sold an ounce of cocaine to undercover police.

"We feel it is important to take steps to assure current athletes and their families, and prospective ath-letes and their families, that we will honor the scholarships only of those students who will abide by the customary disciplinary rules," Dickey

"University President Ed Boling, Coach Johnny Majors and I agreed that the scholarships should be withheld until the cases are resolved."

UTEP's Haskins mellowing? Don't count on it

By DORALISA PILARTE

EL PASO (AP) - Even after 25 years of practices, the Bear still snarls over missed shots and careless dribbles. But there are those who insist that Don Haskins has mellowed after a quarter-century as basketball coach at Texas-El Paso, and that underneath his gruff exterior beats the heart of a teddy bear.

"You can say that's really a front, the hollering and screaming," said senior forward Kevin Hamilton. "One side is doing his job the best he knows how to. The other side is the nicest person."

"He has always been fairly intense with his job, even when he was coaching little high schools," said Mary Haskins, the coach's wife. "But he's extremely caring about people. He just doesn't show that he's soft-hearted."

HASKINS, 55, reached the pinnacle of college basketball in 1966, when lightly regarded Texas Western upset top-ranked Kentucky 72-65 in the NCAA Championship game. That team won by playing a tight, intimi-dating defense orchestrated from the bench by the massive, glowering Bear.

Carlton "Stretch" Elliott, an insurance executive and longtime friend of the coach, has seen the other Haskins — the one who dipped into his own pocket to help a family stranded far from home, or to buy basketballs for underprivileged kids.

"He's tough as hell on the court but he's got a heart of gold," Elliott said.

ALTHOUGH HE can still wilt a player with a stare or a few yelled words, Haskins admits he isn't the firebreather of 20 years ago.

"I don't know how it happened, but somewhere along the road, I got old," he laughed.

"Practice sessions are less strenuous than they used to be," Elliott agreed. "I've even seen him crack a joke "We communicate better because of that," Hamilton

Although he's never managed to attain the heights of 1966, Haskins has continued to produce excellent teams at Texas-El Paso. He took a 441-202 record into this season and had his current team ranked 15th after a 13game winning streak that included a 78-64 romp over nationally ranked Georgetown.

IT IS A typical Haskins team, mixing a tight defense with a balanced offense.

"If your defense is not good, you won't be there when it comes to playoff time," he said. "It's not just basketball, it's any sport that I know of.

"We're just going to find out about this team in the next couple of weeks," he added, referring to a Western Athletic Conference road trip to Air Force, Wyoming, Hawaii and San Diego State.

'All four can beat us, even Division II or Division III schools. Anyone can beat you, any team that has two or three players. Being ranked, naturally, anyone plays harder against a ranked team.

'Any time you have a good season, there's a lot of luck involved. But you make a lot of your luck.'

Texas-El Paso basketball coach Don Haskins barks out orders in a recent game. The Miners, ranked 15th in the nation, are going for their fourth straight Western Athletic Conference title.

Gelbaugh steps into large boots

HONOLULU (AP) - Maryland quarterback Stan Gelbaugh will be following in the footsteps of his former roommate when he leads the East in Saturday's 40th annual Hula Bowl college all-star football game. Gelbaugh roomed with Frank Reich, who set a record at last year's game by passing for 194 yards in a single quarter. Reich went on to pass for 230 yards and two touchdowns in the East's 34-14 victory over the West before becoming a backup quarterback this past season for the Buffalo Bills of the National Football

Like Reich, Gelbaugh planned to take advantage of bowl rules that allow no blitzing and only limited coverages in the secondary. "I always thought Frank was a great quarterback," Gelbaugh said. "But this game was made for his forte - sitting in the pocket. With the defenses they allow, he was able to sit back there and pick things apart.

As Maryland's quarterback, Gelbaugh not only had to work in the shadow of Reich, but also Reich's predecessor, Boomer Esaison, now the starting quarterback for the Cincinnati Bengals.

"For a while there everybody was comparing me with them," Gelbaugh said. "But, after you leave, people seem to only remember your good games. And, that's what they were comparing me against.

Gelbaugh threw for 2,475 yards during the season to lead the Terrapins to a 9-3 season. After getting off to a 2-2 start, Maryland won seven of its last eight games, including a 35-18 victory over Syracuse in the Cherry Bowl.

Gelbaugh will be sharing quartback duties in the Hula Bowl with Jim Everett of Purdue. Quarterbacks Doug Gaynor of Long Beach State and Mike Norseth of Kansas will lead the West.

The West is under the direction of Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. Johnny Majors of Tennessee is coaching the East.

Nolan hired for 'long haul,' AD Broyles kansas Athletic Director Frank Broyles says that basketball coach Nolan Richardson was hired for the long haul, not for the first half of the

"I think our basketball future looks brighter than it ever has," Broyles said Thursday. "I really believe that in three years, they'll be talking about Arkansas in the same breath as North Carolina and Georgetown.

Broyles was asked about Richardson after the Razorbacks lost their first three Southwest Conference games for the first time since 1970. He said he was optimistic "Because Sutton, who had a 260-75 record during 11 years at Arkansas, resigned in the spring to become the head coach at Kentucky. Broyles hired Richardson, who had a fiveyear record of 119-37 at Tulsa.

"Nolan inherited a situation that is bleaker than we thought," Broyles said. "It's not his fault. The talent is not as good as we thought. We've had two or three years of recruiting failures and we're paying for it

BROYLES SAID he asked Richardson to keep all of the players because that's what Sutton's staff had Broyles said he has not received any phone calls or letters from people upset about the Razorbacks' 0-3 start. "I haven't heard anything but support," he said. "When the going is tough is when the Razorback fans get behind the program the most.

TOKYO (AP) - The East meets the West Sunday when 68 American college football stars play in the Japan Bowl in Yokohama. Game time is 9:30 p.m. EST Saturday night in the United States.

Louisiana State Coach Bill Arnsparger, one of three East coach es, predicted there would be a lot of passing in the game because running the ball "requires a lot more coordination," which is difficult to establish in a team with little practice together.

Quarterback Long was a close runner-up in the Heisman voting and completed 29 of 37 passes in lowa's 45-28 loss to UCLA in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Lee is expected to become the first Asian-American named in the first round of the National Football League college draft.

"Second-generation Asians tend to think of football as not for them," said Lee, a naturalized citizen whose family moved to the United States from Seoul, South Korea, when he was 12 years old.

Unlike baseball, American football is not widely played in Japan, although dozens of colleges and companies have teams. Twice a year, American college players are invited to play here. In addition to the Japan Bowl, two teams play a regular season game at the Mirage Bowl in November.

The players "want to make it an exciting game for the fans and do well on their own," said Arnsparger.

McCallum must wait to begin NFL career

CINCINNATI (AP) — Like quarter-concentrating on specializing as a ack Roger Staubach before him, supply officer. Because of his fiveback Roger Staubach before him. Navy running back Napoleon McCallum, who is coveted by some National Football League teams, wants to play pro football after his Navy tour

McCallum, who wanted to be a Navy flier in the days when he played football at Milford High School near Cincinnati, has a fiveyear Navy commitment awaiting him when he finishes his study at the U.S. Naval Academy. If it were not for that commitment, some NFL team officials say McCallum would be a likely first-round choice in the NFL's April 29 draft, because of his versatility and talent as a college running back.

McCallum says he is concerned about keeping his talent sharp, to remain attractive to pro teams after his Navy career.

"I worry about losing it," he said.
"But I think it will come back to me once I get into the game. I don't think I'll lose that much."

THE 6-FOOT-2, 212-pound running back plays this Saturday before pro scouts in the Hula Bowl in Honolulu. He also will play Jan. 18 in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala.

McCallum has shelved his old plans to be a Navy aviator and now is year Navy service commitment, he will not be eligible for the NFL draft

"He'd go in the first round," said Pete Brown, player personnel director of the Cincinnati Bengals. "He's a good football player, and he's a superb person. He's a big man they have to fight down. He's a joy to watch because he gives such an immense effort.'

Gil Brandt, director of player personnel for the Dallas Cowboys, agreed that McCallum would be a likely first-round draft selection.

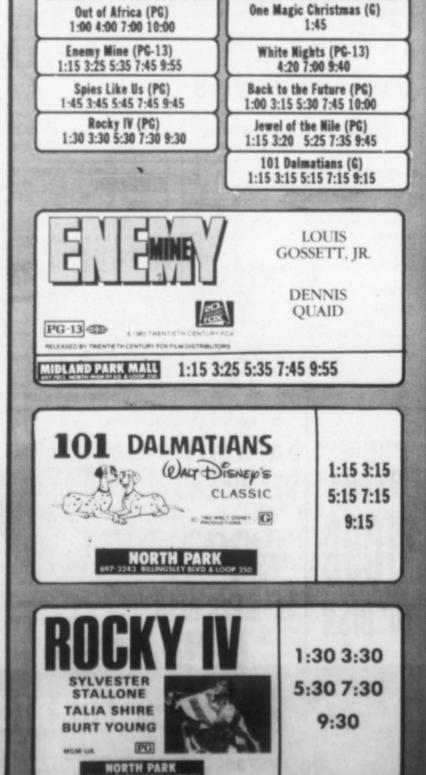

"He's just a very, very good football player. He does so many things. He can catch the ball. He runs back kickoffs and punts," Brandt said. "He doesn't look like he's doing anything, then, all of the sudden, he's got 140 yards." McCallum twice led the nation in all-purpose yards and rushed for more than 4,000 yards in his college

STAUBACK, ANOTHER Naval Academy graduate from the Cincinnati area, was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys, completed his Navy tour of duty, then starred as a Cowboys quarterback and recently was voted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

America may chortle over Comedy Channel

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Television Writer

NEW YORK - Feeling a bit blue? Is life getting you down? Is TV keeping you down? Looking for a little levity to complement Cable News Network?

Take my channel...please! Henny Youngman's famous line could be the promotional come-on for the latest in cable television's single-minded networks, the Comedy Channel. First came all-day movies, then 24-hour networks for weather, sports, news and music videos.

Now, if Tom Kay, creator of the Comedy Channel, has his way, cable audiences always can have the last laugh.

Think of it this way: You'll never have to feel alone anymore. Anytime, any day, you can be in your living room yukking it up with strangers. Only in America could you find a 24-hour comedy channel with a 'round-the-clock laugh track.

"What the world definitely needs is more laughter," said Kay. "Laughter is one of life's great pleasures, and it's a lot healthier than Valium.'

The channel's slogan is "Turn On the Comedy," and its logo is a heart "because everybody likes to laugh," said Kay, 31, who 10 years ago was a solar energy consultant. Now he finds himself working to get his 24-hour smile button off the ground.

'By the end of the year I expect to be on the cover of Time magazine," he said.

For the past three years, he's been lining up programs, staff, backers, and cable systems. Kay said Ben Schulman, former banker and real estate executive and Kay's landlord at the Schulman Video Center in Los Angeles, is the Comedy Television Company's chief financial supporter. Kay said he needs at least $20 million for the channel's first two Charles Manatt, former chairman of the Democratic Party, is a partner in the law firm representing the venture. The company is negotiating for satellite space and expects to announce a start-up date at the National Cable Television Association show in March.

Kay expects to be in 5 million to 10 million homes at the beginning and 13 million by the end of the

"We're riding on the coattails of "The Cosby Show' and 'Ghost-busters,"' Kay said. "We did market research studies and found that what makes a channel work is strong identification, like Playboy, Disney, news, MTV, weather and sports. Comedy has strong grabbing power."

Tom Trbovich, longtime director for films, sitcoms and the "We Are the World" music video, is in charge of the channel's production look.

"It won't look like anything else," said Kay. "We'll have one funny bit after another, everything and anything that's funny.

There will be comedy hosts, like the veejays on MTV, and continuing oddball characters, including a pair of pet monkeys named Bozo and Suzie.

With an eight-hour programing bloc, shown three times a day, the Comedy Channel will look like the old "Laugh-In," with short, fast-moving routines. "Snippets is the key word," Kay said.

Material will include stand-up comic routines, live acts from comedy clubs and night clubs, international comedy programs, old comedies from TV and radio, man-in-the-street humor, happyhour jokes, hidden cameras and bloopers.

'We're-even asking commercial makers to give us their funniest stuff," said Kay. "And once an hour, we'll have comic music videos on the order of a dancing french fry.

Even if you don't think dancing french fries are funny, Kay wants your home comedy films and videos. "We'll pay about $10 a joke and $300 to $1,000 for a stand-up routine," he said. "This is a dream-come-true for every frustrated comedian in the country.

The channel will broadcast only PG-type programming — remember, this is advertiser-supported - but amateur comedians are encouraged to offer adult humor, too. The Comedy Channel would then package the best material and sell it on video cassettes, Kay

New Episcopal leader focuses on hope, healing

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A new presiding bishop, taking the helm of a distinctively comprehensive U.S. denomination, the Episcopal Church, says it must work to bolster moral fiber and to strengthen the wider causes of peace and justice in the world. The task, says the Rt. Rev. Edmond Lee Browning, is to bring nurture, healing and hope to a "troubled, dangerous and broken world."

Browning, 56, a genial, unpretentious Texan of easy humor and keen convictions, is being formally in-stalled today at the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C., as 24th pri-

The church must reach out in behalf of the well being of all kinds of people," he said. "It is to enable them to be what God intended them to

That duty, he emphasized, demands both "pastorally sensitive" nurturing of individuals in their varied situations and needs, as well as a "prophetic ministry" of word and ac-tions against social ills at home and

In U.S. society, he said, the general level of morality has plunged sharply and the church must move vigorously to counter the trend.

"It's very serious," he said in an interview after his election last fall at the denomination's triennial convention in California. "We've been in a moral decline for a number of "More than at any time in our history, there's been a tremendous erosion of a sense of values.' He said that along with widespread pornography, television violence and sex, "Rambo"-type movies exalting brute power and weakened marriages has come a self-centered modern focus on "me."

"It's all pervasive," he said. "The sense of obligation to community, to family and to society is lacking. It's a narrow mindset. The church needs to address the condition. We have a lot of work to do in this area. Browning, a soft-spoken, 5-foot-8inch-tall man with pale blond hair, is to head the denomination for 12

He takes the reins from the Rt. Rev. John M. Allin, a courtly Mississippian who steered a moderate, conciliatory course.

He allayed much of the ferment in the late 1970s that resulted from the denomination's revamping its historic, widely influential Book of Common Prayer and admitting women to the priesthood.

While Browning frequently has been termed a "liberal," he discredits labels, seeing himself as pastorally attentive to the diverse elements in the church. He plans "listening" for much of his first year.

"My whole approach is open dia-logue with everyone," he said.

However, Browning has made clear he intends to exercise his heftier "pulpit" in battling racism, the arms race, unemployment and poverty — to be "a voice for the

"He was called into the British Army in World War II and took along a Bible to study it as a 'work of philosophy," said a spokesman for the Derek Prince Conference. "One night, while alone in his barracks, he was confronted with the reality of Jesus Christ and his life's direction was totally changed.

Since then, he has studied, analyzed, meditated upon and taught the "Word of God." Today, his ra-dio program is heard daily on more than 60 stations in the United States as well as in China, India, Australia, New Zealand, East Africa, the Eastern Caribbean and Central and South America.

He has written more than 20 books, including "The Last Word on the Middle East," which examines current events in the light of Bible prophecy; and "Chords from David's Harp," which in-volves meditations on the Psalms.

"His hundreds of teaching messages on cassette are reaching into every continent," the spokesman said. "Through his personal ministry in churches and conferences, thousands have been touched by the Lord.'

Prince's first wife Lydia, whose story is told in "Appointment in Jerusalem," died in 1975. He married his second wife Ruth three years later. They now conduct their worldwide ministry from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Jerusalem, Israel.

Texas Baptists make plans for 'spiritual awakening'

FORT WORTH - Plans are underway here for 23,000 Texas Baptists from churches throughout the state to gather Jan. 20-22 and set the stage for "spiritual awakening and a goal of 100,000 baptisms" in 1986.

The annual Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference will serve as a launching pad for good News America Simultaneous Revival in churches in 1986, the year Texas Baptists celebrate their first century of organized mission work in the state.

At the annual Evangelism Conference last January, a record-breaking crowd of 21,000 people packed Dallas' Reunion arena. Carlos McLeod. director of evangelism for the 2.3 million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas, expects to break the record again.

'With a goal to baptize 100,000 people in 1986 and our Mission Texas emphasis to begin 2,000 new churches in the state by 1990, we anticipate our greatest Evangelism Conference in history," McLeod said.

Texas Baptists have a theme of "18 percent equal 100,000" for their baptism goal.

"Each church is encouraged to set a baptism goal equivalent to 18 percent of its average Sunday School attendance," McLeod said.

Among the speakers for the conference is the Rev. Daniel Vestal, pastor of First Baptist church,

Key speakers include comedian Jerry Clower, Yazoo City, Miss.; Charles Stanley of Atlanta, Ga., president of the Southern Baptist Con-

RELIGION IN BRIEF

FBC celebrates 100th anniversary Sunday

The First Baptist Church of Midland's 100th anniversary is being celebrated Sunday. The event is being observed as part of a year-long Centennial celebration divided into four segments, each reflecting 25 years. The Rev. L.L. Morriss, pastor of First Baptist 1954-1975, will be preaching the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday. At 3 p.m., a Dedication Service will be held setting the "Stone of Remembrance" and time capsule into place in the new monument built on church grounds. The actual birthday was Friday.

Throughout the year, each quarter century has received special emphasis, with related events for the particular one being celebrated. Members of the congregation have been encouraged to dress in the custom of the era. Pictures, news stories and memorabilia have been displayed. A commemorative book has been written by Lu Calhoun for the last de cade, 1975-1985, and a special audio cassette tape has been produced by Doris Bruce with longtime members and former pastors being interviewed and narrated by Lloyd Hawkins and edited by Larry Hawkins of KRIG Radio, Odessa. A logo-medallion depicting the church's tower with the message "Century for Christ" was designed by Darrell Dunton to commemorate the Centennial along with the inscription from Joshua 24:24, "The

The Business and Audit Committee, composed primarily of certified public accountants, is responsible for reviewing the audits of all institutions and agencies.

The State Missions commission works through multiple programs of promotion and direct support to facilitate and supplement the work of the churches in pursuing the overall denominational objectives. The commission also provides liaison for program promotion with Woman's Missionary Union of Texas, Texas Baptist Men and the Minnesota-Wisconsin Southern Baptist Convention.

Primary goals of the BGCT are to bring about spiritual awakening and to begin 2,000 new churches in the state by 1990.

"Texas, which has long been a great mission sending base, has also become a mission field," said BGCT executive director William M. Pinson Jr. "More than half the people of Texas are not affiliated with any

Kelview offers films

Leighton Ford's six-part film series "Good News is For Sharing" is being presented by Kelview Heights Baptist Church, 402 W. Scharbauer Drive. One 25-minute film is being shown weekly at 5:45 p.m. on Sundays. The second in the series is being shown Sunday.

"In this practical approach, Leighton Ford explains a natural approach to evangelism that works for ordinary people," says a church spokesman.

Topics include making disciples, facing fears, tapping the Gospel's power, discovering your church's role, how to naturally talk about your faith and how to answer specific questions non-Christians ask.

Besides working with the Billy Graham team, Ford is chairman of the Lausanne Committee for World

Evangelization and a frequent radio speaker on "The Hour of Decision." The public is invited to attend the series. A nursery will be provided.

Christian school set

The Midland Association of Churches' School of Christian Living is set for Jan. 26-29. Special speaker will be the Rev. John Claypool.

Evening sessions, which run Jan. 26-28, will begin at 7 p.m. and day sessions, which run Jan. 27-29, at 9 a.m. Evening topics in order of presentation are "The Power of Para-"Making Our Sorrows Sing" and "Life Isn't Fair: Thank God. Yes. We're the Unitarian Universalists. We've been around for a long time, and we've attracted some of the most significant and independent thinkers in history: Thomas Jefferson, Charles Darwin, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Susan B. Gene Barry suffers heart attack

NEW YORK (AP) — Gene Barry was in stable condition Friday following a minor heart attack the morning after the veteran actor returned to his starring role in the Broadway production of "La Cage aux folles," a press agent said.

Barry suffered the heart attack at 7 a.m. Wednesday, and is in Roosevelt Hospital's intensive care unit, said Gary Lawrence, a spokesman for the

The 63-year-old actor's outlook for recovery and eventual return to work was excellent, Lawrence said.

Barry appeared on television in the long-running "Bat Masterson" western, "Burke's Law" and "Name of BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Opera star Placido Domingo told reporters Friday he may not return to the stage until March because of surgery he underwent to correct a double hernia.

Domingo, sitting in a wheelchair in his pajamas, told a news conference at the Dexeus Clinic that he felt "tired but optimistic" following the operation two days ago.

He said he intended to leave the hospital Monday or Tuesday.

The performer said he was "deeply sorry" that he had to postpone performances in Hamburg, West Germany; London and Miami to benefit Mexican earthquake victims, and said he would reschedule them as soon as possible.

He said he may be able to complete some work next month on the film version of the opera "Otello."

NEW YORK (AP) - President Reagan and first lady Nancy Reagan topped Good Housekeeping magazine's list of America's most beautiful couples.

The magazine's February issue also named Sharon and Sen. John Rockefeller of West Virginia; Peggy Johnson and her fiance, Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca; actress Debra Winger and Nebraska Gov. Bob Kerrey; and model Julianne Phillips and her husband, rock star Bruce Springsteen.

The list of 28 couples also included actor Bill Cosby and his wife, Camille; newscaster Maria Shriver and her fiance, actor Arnold Schwarzenegger; actress Marlo Thomas and her husband, talk show host Phil Donahue; Chris Evert and her husband and fellow tennis player, John Lloyd, and millionaires Ann and Gordon Getty.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) - Actress Jane Wyman, who underwent abdominal surgery last week, may be released from the hospital this weekend, her spokesman said.

Miss Wyman, the former wife of President Reagan, now stars as the devious Angela Channing on CBS-TV's "Falcon Crest." She entered St. John's Hospital on New Year's Day with flu-like symptoms.

She underwent abdominal surgery for removal of an adhesion on her intestine on Jan. 2 and celebrated her 72nd birthday in the hospital two days later, said her spokesman, Robert Crutchfield of Lorimar Productions, which produces "Falcon Crest." "She's making excellent progress," Crutchfield said Thursday. "There are no complications."

weeks before returning to the show, he said.

Miss Wyman, who was in good condition, will recuperate at her Santa Monica home for three to five

LACROSSE, Wis. (AP) - Gov. Anthony S. Earl's refusal to sing "On Wisconsin" on David Letterman's talk show led a group calling itself "Badger Underground" to take action on the state's highways, the organization

The group claimed responsibility for covering up the governor's name on "Welcome to Wisconsin" signs with stickers bearing Letterman's

Letterman invited Earl to sing on his late-night NBC-TV show last year, but the governor turned him down.

The governor is being a little bit of a stuffed shirt about this," an anonymous caller claiming to be a member of the Badger Underground told the La Crosse Tribune on Thursday.

In Madison, press secretary Ronald McCrea, said the governor does not intend to sing on the show because David Letterman is a comedian, and he makes jokes about Wisconsin. In New York, NBC said Letterman was in rehearsal and not immediately available for comment. The caller said Badger Underground has 25 members and organized itself about three weeks ago. He said the group spent the weekend traveling throughout the state altering 15 signs.

NEW YORK (AP) - Don Johnson's reputation as a once hard-living actor on the Hollywood fast track is only part of the "Miami Vice" star's story, says Jamie Masada, a Los Angeles comedy club manager who was once Johnson's roommate.

"Don was the kindest and most generous person I knew," Masada said in Good Housekeeping magazine's February issue. "He would give money to people he felt needed it, but would get someone else to deliver it so the person would never know who the money came from.

"He'd sometimes bring flowers to some of the women on the set - not because he was romantically interested in them but just as a nice gesture," he said. "Women would actually cry at the end of a picture because they wouldn't be working with Don Johnson anymore."

AUSTIN (AP) - This week's Grammy award nominations are focusing the spotlight on Austin musicians, including an impromptu group of local guitarists.

The little known-group Big Guitars From Texas will go head to head with another Austin musician, Stevie Ray Vaughan, and his Double Trouble group. They will be competing in the Best Rock Instrumental Performance category Feb. 25 in Los Angeles.

Vaughan and Double Trouble are making their fifth appearance at the ceremonies. The blues-rock group won for the first time in 1984. For the musicians involved in the garage-band instrumental Big Guitars project, it's their first nomination.

Willie Nelson, another Grammy perennial, was nominated for two awards.

For "Forgiving You Was Easy," Nelson was nominated for Best Country Vocal Solo Performance. He also shares a nomination for Best Country Vocal Duo or Group Performance for the song, "Highwayman," with Waylon Jennings, Kris Kristofferson and Johnny Cash. The Big Guitars From Texas album, "Trash, Twang and Thunder" - from which the song "Guitar Army" was nominated for the award - represents a David among the Goliaths of the major record labels.

The album, which featured four lead guitarists from four Austin bands in a one-shot collaboration, is a home-grown project.

CNG: IS IT AMERICA'S ENERGY FUTURE?

* Compressed Natural Gas

pa th ai sp

- Is the use as a transportation fuel a possible "energy savior," as natural gas industry spokesman have proclaimed.?
- Will CNG become the long term answer for U.S. energy and economic problems, including foreign imports and the national deficit?
- Is it the revolutionary product that can revitalize America's domestic oil and gas industry?
- Can it free America totally from foreign imports?
- Can CNG become a viable alternative for gasoline? If so, in what time frame?
- How safe is it?
- How can oil and gas producers and entrepreneurs benefit from CNG?
- What is involved and what is the cost of marketing CNG?

These and many more questions concerning this new concept in natural gas marketing will be answered at this seminar. CONCERNED MEMBERS OF THE MIDLAND OIL AND GAS COMMUNITY ARE URGED TO ATTEND THIS FREE SEMINAR.

Shiite Moselm women march to the Egyptian embassy in West Beirut Friday during an anti-Egyptian demonstration. The protestors claim Egyptian authorities killed policeman Sullei Khater, who allegedly shot and killed seven Israeli tourists last October at a Sinai border post. But Egyptian authorities say Khater committed suicide.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The biggest attractions at the National Museum of Anthropology and History these days are not on display: the 173 pre-Columbian artifacts stolen Christmas

Clues remain scarce, but theories accusing everyone from "a psychotic millionaire cultist" to the KGB and CIA abound

The loss has outraged Mexicans and disappointed tourists.

"What a drag," sighed visitor Philip Parker of Los Angeles, trying to peer over a six-foot-high barrier of yellow paper stretched over the glass doors of the Maya Room. A guard inside the room scratched a hole in the paper and peered back. "The guide books say this is the world's best museum. How could they let this happen," asked Parker, Museum workers are bringing obects out of basement storage to fill the empty cases in the Maya, Oaxaca and Mexica rooms.

Seventy-three of the missing artifacts were golden objects from the Mixtec Indian culture of southern Mexico. Almost all the treasures displayed from the sacred reservoir at the Mayan city of Chichen-Itza in the Yucatan Peninsula were stolen. Also missing were pieces from the Palenque ruins in southern Mexico dating back to 500 and 800 A.D.

A locksmith is busy changing the locks on all 12 exhibition rooms that lead onto a central patio. And 21 years after the museum opened, an alarm system is being installed, starting with the three rooms already ues remain scarce in Mexican museum heist

The loss was discovered at 8 a.m. during the guards' shift change. The eight guards on duty during the robbery were questioned for five days but cleared of suspicion, investigators said. The eight denied they had been drinking but admitted they slept instead of making rounds that night, and all have been fired. Federal investigators are not forthcoming with their findings. The attorney general's office said this week it had five useful clues but would not describe them.

About 280 people have called a spe cial hotline in the attorney general's office, but none provided valuable leads, the government newspaper El Nacional reported Friday. Every caller, officials said, inquired about a reward worth about $110,000 offered by the Friends of the Museum.

Museum officials worldwide have said the artifacts are too well-known to be sold to another museum or on the open market. One newspaper speculated "a psychotic millionaire cultist" contracted for the theft and will gaze on the booty in solitude.

Other theories propose a burglar alarm manufacturer trying to drum up business; a fired employee; angry Mayans; the central bank looking for gold reserves; and left- or right-wing political dissidents trying to embarrass the government.

But most theories implicate foreigners, ranging from the KGB in a complicated plot to discredit the United States to the CIA in a plot to discredit the Mexican government.

White: Farmers need to be treated better

Mark White on Friday blasted the Reagan farm policy and said "America and its government ought to treat its farmers as well as we treat foreign governments."

Spreaking to more than 100 delegates to the 82nd annual convention of the Texas Farmer's Union, White accused the administration of what he called neglect of the productive sectors of the U.S.

The governor blamed federal policies for declining competitiveness of many U.S. producers, including farmers, in the world market. He specifically criticized the recently passed 1985 Farm Bill as unorganized.

"Our farmers are the finest producers of food and fiber in the world," White told reporters. "The problem is we don't have an administration that allows them to produce and compete."

In linking the farm crisis to other problems, such as the slump in the oil and gas industry, White said the Reagan adminstration and Congress give favorable treatment to foreigners rather than Americans.

"Give the American farmer the same break," White said. "Free fair trade. Let's look out for American first.'

White's criticism of federal farm policy echoes that of Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower and a number of the state's agricultural leaders.

Hightower earlier this week termed the farm bill "a piece of Thursday, Texas Farmers Union officals and state legisla-tors from the Rio Grande Valley blasted the farm bill as "disastrous for the family farmer."

"My concerns have not chan-ged," said Joe Rankin, president of the Farmers' Union. "They've just been increased by the farm bill. There's just less income in it for the farmer.

"Owner-operators are not going to be able to survive the crisis we're in right now. The farm bill can be the most devastating thing ever to agriculture," Rankin said.

However, U.S. Rep. Kiki de la Garza, D-Mission, defended the legislation as the "art of the

Austin council gives approval to smoking ban

AUSTIN (AP) - The Austin City Council has given its second approval to a proposed ordinance to limit smoking in public places and private

The unanimous vote Thursday was the next-to-last step toward enact-ment of an ordinance making it illegal to smoke in any portion of a public place that is not designated as a smoking site.

The version of the ordinance approved was a revision to reduce possible financial burdens on protesting business owners who fear they might have to remodel their buildings to separate smokers from nonsmokers.

But representatives of retail, bar, restaurant and bowling alley owners said they want the ordinance revised further to allow proprietors more freedom in deciding smoking policies at their establishments.

Mayor Frank Cooksey told businesses owners they should discuss proposed changes in the law with Assistant City Attorney Jonathan Davis before the council's final vote, scheduled for next Thursday.

Jerry Keys - an attorney for the Austin Retailers Association, the Capital City Bowling Council and other business groups — said the proposal places too much responsibility on a business owner to police the anti-smoking law.

Fire in halfway house displaces 28 teen-agers

AUSTIN (AP) - A fire that swept a halfway house operated by the Texas Youth Commission displaced 28 teen-age boys Friday, authorities

The fire, which heavily damaged the house, was reported about 5 a.m. as most of the youths were asleep.

No one was seriously injured, but the home supervisor was treated for smoke inhalation and a fireman was taken to a hospital after a piece of glass pierced his boot and cut his foot.

The boys didn't have time to dress before escaping from the one-story house, and they stood outdoors in 36 degree temperatures in pajamas and underwear as the house burned.

Officials said they weren't certain where they would place the boys, since they can't stay at the fire-damaged house. John Arredondo, director of community services for the youth commission, said they might be taken to the Corsicana State

The teen-agers, aged 15 to 17, are boys who were committed by the juvenile courts for non-violent crimes, Arredondo said.

Poll: Patients wait too long

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans generally believe doctors are up-to-date on medical advances, but they keep patients waiting too long for scheduled appointments, according to a new

The poll, conducted for the Texas Medical Association, showed that 58 percent of respondents said doctors kept them waiting too long for appointments.

The survey also found that doctors were rated as having "high" or "very high" ethical standards by 58 percent of respondents, and nine of 10 said it was important to have a personal physician.

According to an article in the January issue of the TMA journal Texas Medicine, the survey also found that a majority of Texans believed the professional liability situation had reached "crisis proportions" and that the tort system needs some type of reform.

The findings came from a tele-phone survey of 700 adults conducted by V. Lance Tarrance and Associates of Houston for the TMA.

tions on ship emissions now being considered in Texas could drive shipping business from Texas ports to those in other Gulf Coast states, a Houston Chamber of Commerce official said Friday.

Testifying before a clean air study committee, Stephen C. Oaks said the Houston port operations affect about 160,000 jobs and add $3 billion annually to the state's economy.

Restrictions could hurt ports

AUSTIN (AP) - Tougher restric-

"Stricter vessel emission regulations in Texas may affect the ability of the Port of Houston to compete effectively with other Gulf Coast ports, resulting in a loss of jobs and revenue to those ports," Oaks said.

Since oil refineries are operating at less than optimum capacity now, he added, tougher restrictions also could lead to refinery closings. Oaks also argued that ship pollution standards should be a federal, not a state, issue because of the impact on interstate commerce.

Officer hit from overpass

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A 25-yearold San Antonio police officer was hospitalized in guarded condition Friday after he was knocked off an overpass by a vehicle involved in an Pete Elizalde fell 30 feet to the ground below the overpass on U.S. 90 south of town, police spokeswoman Delte Dascomb said.

The officer sustained a concussion, a broken pelvis and leg and possible internal injuries in the 6:30 a.m. mishap, she said.

"He was working an accident" on the overpass, said Ms. Dascomb. 'Flares were out and he was standing on the edge of the highway.
