It wasn't a Broadway opening, but last week's base talent show put local stars on stage, and catapulted five aspiring entertainers to the command level contest.

Three of the five composed a vocal group called L.E.C., which placed first in the contest. Sgt. Legene Brooks, AIC Eric Snell and AIC Calvin McCoy are the members of the group.

Capturing second place in the annual event by singing "Out Here On My Own," was SrA Stephanie Dean.

Besides winning first place with the group L.E.C., Sergeant Brooks also won third place in the drama category.

Self-accompanied male vocalist 1st Lt. Gary Dyson placed fourth.

The winners, along with AIC Ed Frazier, male vocalist, and AIC Quenton Smith, MC category, will now go to Keesler AFB to compete in the ATC Talent Contest March 7 through 14.

The World-wide contest will also be held at Keesler starting March 24 through 30.

For a look at L.E.C. in action, see page six.

Enlisted dining-in features CMSAF

Enlisted members at Reese still have a little over a week to get out their best uniforms and get them ready for the Enlisted Dining-In, slated for March 17 at the Windmill Enlisted Club.

CMSAF James A. McCoy will be the guest speaker and guest of honor for the event, which will find the enlisted force decked out in winter mess dress or formal blues. Dress requirements also stipulate that all ribbons will be worn, but the name tag will be left off.

Tickets are available through unit orderly rooms and cost $7.25 each. Although the dining-in is an event open strictly to active-duty military members, spouses and guests are invited to attend the social hour afterward. The lounge will open to guests at 8:30 p.m., and the social hour will begin at 9.

Dress for guests will be long dresses for women and suits for men. Music will be provided for dancing, and Chief McCoy will be on hand to get acquainted with those who attend.

The chief, in his capacity as top-ranking noncommissioned officer in the Air Force, is adviser to the secretary and the chief of staff of the Air force on matters concerning welfare, effective utilization and progress of enlisted members.

A native of Creston, Iowa, Chief McCoy entered the service

Civilians gain coverage

Washington (AFNS) — Eligible Federal employees may choose a variety of new coverage plans during the Federal Employees Group Life Insurance enrollment period March 1-31.

Younger employees must sign up for basic insurance during the enrollment period to benefit from increased coverage that takes effect Oct. 1 at no extra premium cost. Basic life insurance coverage will double for employees under 36 at no extra cost. Beginning at age 36, the additional coverage will decrease 10 percent each year until the basic benefit is reached at age 45.

The cost of basic insurance will be reduced from 25.5 cents to 24 cents per thousand effective April 1. The basic benefit equals the sum of the employees annual salary rounded off to the next $1,000 plus $2,000.

Employees will have the right to buy additional life insurance up to five times annual salary. Before now, only $10,000 of optional insurance was available. Another option provides family life insurance of $5,000 for a spouse and $2,500 for each dependent child under age 22.

During the enrollment period, Central Civilian Personnel Offices will provide all employees the opportunity to select the coverage they want.

DCM returns to Reese

by Col. John D. Herbert deputy commander for maintenance

In 1971, Nancy and I reported to Reese for our first assignment here. For six and one-half years we enjoyed close friendships with Reese and Lubbock people, and our many duties in the operations and maintenance career fields proved to be both gratifying and rewarding.

Three months ago we decided to return to Reese when we accepted the deputy commander for maintenance position here. Except for a record-tying low temperature of six degrees above zero on move-in day, we have again been warmly accepted into the Reese family. We are especially grateful to my maintenance associates for their rapid acceptance of us.

Without question, this assignment will be the most challenging and demanding of our Air Force career. The task of efficiently managing over a thousand workers and maintaining millions of dollars of equipment has never been easy. Recently this task has been compounded by a continuing shortage of critical parts and the loss of several aircraft to wing problems.

As formidable as these problems seem, my short observation of the Reese maintenance operation has convinced me that Reese possesses the ability to meet the demanding challenges of the future, and to meet them with sustained excellence. I will make every effort to help Reese achieve these objectives.

To our old friends still at Reese, Nancy and I say "Hello again". To all others we are looking forward to meeting you.

Col. John D. Herbert

Severe weather season approaches

by SrA David Haines
unit public affairs
representative

Since winter made an early arrival on the South Plains this year (remember those 21 inches of snow back in November?), it's quite possible that Mother Nature will compensate by bringing us an early spring. And spring in these parts means the return of severe thunderstorms with high winds, hail and the ever-present threat of tornadoes.

Most destructive

Tornadoes are the most destructive of all atmospheric phenomena. The winds inside the whirling vortex have never been measured—no instrument for doing so has ever survived—but the best estimates are around 300 miles per hour. In addition, the center of the funnel is a partial vacuum, and the sudden pressure drop can cause structures to literally explode.

A tornado's width can vary from a few hundred feet to better than a mile. Two examples of the giant type are the 1970 Lubbock tornado and the 1979 Wichita Falls twister, both of which killed more than 20 persons. The average forward speed of a tornado is 30-40 mph, but they have been observed standing dead still or racing along at 70 mph.

Twisters are capricious in their travels; they often swing wildly from side to side and may intermittently leave the ground. Thus, one house may be left untouched while both its next-door neighbors are totally destroyed.

This danger to people and property means increased work for the Reese weather station, which provides operational support for the entire base. The most important part of this support is a 24-hour radar watch of all storm activity within 120 miles of Reese AFB, plus an intensified weather watch as severe weather approaches the area.

Warnings

"Should a funnel cloud be detected, either visually or on radar, within 15 miles of the base, we will issue a tornado warning," said detachment commander, Capt. John Sanders. "And if one of our observers spots one within six miles, we will ask the command post to sound the base siren."

The three to five minute steady blast is a signal to take shelter immediately—not, Captain Sanders emphasized, "a signal for everyone on base to rush outside hollering, 'Where's the tornado? Where's the tornado?'" as has happened in the past.

Those living off base should monitor the local radio and TV stations whenever severe weather is occurring or forecast. An excellent safety investment would be a National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration weather radio to monitor the Lubbock National Weather Service frequency of 162.4 megahertz. Tornado locations and movements are also broadcast on these radios. Some models have a built-in alarm that sounds when a severe weather watch or warning is issued.

A watch simply means that conditions are ripe for severe weather. A warning means such weather is actually in progress.

Just in case

Base officials recommend that people have an emergency kit stashed somewhere in the house. The kit should contain a battery-operated radio, flashlight, extra batteries for both and some fresh water.

If you sight a tornado, Rule Number One is don't panic. Rule Number Two is seek shelter at once. A car is not adequate shelter—remember, a tornado can toss railroad locomotives around as though they were models. A basement or storm cellar is the best place to be. If your home doesn't have one, get down to the bottom floor in a central hallway or closet.

If time permits, you can open a window or door to lessen the effects of that partial vacuum, but stay away from windows and loose furniture.

Incidentally, a mobile home is a good place to avoid during a tornado, because of its high surface-to-weight ratio. If you live in a trailer park, it should have a storm cellar. If it doesn't, ask the manager why not!

If caught outdoors, remember that tornadoes generally travel southwest to northeast. Move away from the twister at right angles to its path. If all else fails, get into a ditch, ravine or other depression and cover your head.

Weather limits services

by Capt. John Sanders

With the onset of Reese's severe weather season, the Reese weather station will be limiting its services during bad weather to mission-essential support only.

We're required to give top priority to direct mission support, such as disseminating weather data, advisories and warnings to airborne pilots and the Supervisors of Flying and lowest priority to giving weather briefings via phone to people on the ground.

When hazardous weather threatens Reese, we simply don't have the time or the resources to answer casual questions. At such times we must insure aircraft are safely recovered and base agencies are given sufficient warning before the bad weather hits.

For non-operational customers, recorded weather observations and forecasts are available on Ext. 3570, on Lubbock's NOAA Weather Radio frequency of 162.4 MHz, or National Weather Service telephone 762-4647.

THE ROUNDUP is an unofficial newspaper published in the interest of personnel at Reese AFB under contract with Barron Publications, Inc., mailing address: P.O. Box 2415, Lubbock, Texas.

Publisher's Statement

"Everything advertised in this publication must be made available for purchase, use or patronage without regard to the race, creed, color, national origin or sex of the purchaser, user or patron. A continued violation or rejection of this policy of equal opportunity by an advertiser will result in the refusal to print advertising from that source."

News for THE ROUNDUP should be delivered to the Information Division, Bldg. 800, no later than noon Monday prior to the Friday publication date. Classified ads of noncommercial nature may be placed free of charge by Reese personnel if they are in to the Information Division by noon Monday prior to the Friday publication. Other advertising is handled exclusively by Barron Publications, Inc., Phone 763-4551.

Care Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Monte Montgomery, 64th FTW commander. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty number so that a personnel reply may be made, however, neither are mandatory. Callers are urged to use their chain of command to air complaints or comments if possible. If not, call the CARE Line at Ext. 3273.

**CMSAF James A. McCoy will be visiting the base March 17 and 18. He will be the featured speaker at the Wing Enlisted Dining-In at the Enlisted Open Mess the evening of March 17. I highly encourage as many enlisted members as possible to attend this function. Unfortunately, there is a limit on the number of persons the club can seat. So make your reservations now. The chief will be making his way around to many of the shops on base during his visit. This is your opportunity to talk personally to the highest enlisted member in the Air Force to get his views on various subjects. He's also interested in getting your viewpoints on various subjects. Let's really make him feel welcome.

**One of the most asked questions on base right now is when are the new Base Exchange and Commissary going to open. Well, I've got good news and bad news. The BX should open May 15. The bad news is that it looks like August before we get to shop in the new Commissary. Look for photos of construction progress on page 10. Once the new BX opens its doors, we plan to make some moves of other facilities. Plans are to move the library to where the main BX is now, and to move the package store to the building currently occupied by Four Seasons/Toyland.

**Today, at 10 a.m., I'll be cutting the ribbon marking the completion of a self-help project at the Professional Military Education Center. MSgt. Ronnie Craft and his crew have really spruced the place up. If you can't make it to the ceremony, be sure to stop by one day next week and see the improvements. Good job gang!

**Congratulations to Capt. James R. McDonald for his selection as the Instructor Pilot of the Year for Reese. In addition, congratulations to 1st Lts. Francisco Pineiro and Silvanus T. Gilbert III for being named the T-37 and T-38 Instructor Pilots of the Year. These three individuals are the cream of the crop from all of our outstanding IPs. Their recognition is well deserved.

**Supply wins another one! They finished runner-up in the ATC munitions storage awards. Another accomplishment to add to their growing list. Keep up the good work.

**I have a problem with a CARE Line question. The individual asking the question asked for a personal reply, but did not leave his name. He asked that the question not be printed in The ROUNDUP. But since he didn't leave a name, I've decided to print it anyway, but to omit any information which could identify the questioner. When you use the CARE Line and want a personal reply rather than having it printed, don't forget to leave your name and phone number. The only alternative is to print the question and answer. Now for the question. "Why do T-37s fly over the building where I work? It gets kind of unnerving at times. Is this legal?" Yes, it is legal. The T-37's are executing a maneuver required for the safe separation of aircraft on the runway and those making a low approach. They are required to climb 500 feet and displace themselves from the runway so the pilots can see the runway environment. We continually stress safety and the importance of maintaining separation from the ground and other aircraft. Believe me, we try to avoid flying over any flight line building.

Leaders express support of AFAF

Gen. Lew Allen, Air Force chief of staff, and Verne Orr, secretary of the Air Force, sent the following message concerning the Air Force Assistance Fund to all Air Force installations:

"The 1981 Air Force Assistance Fund campaign will run from March 2 to April 3, 1981. This year's campaign theme, 'Commitment to Caring,' well represents the way Air Force personnel feel about each other—whether on active duty or retired. Contributions benefit the Air Force Aid Society, the Air Force Village and the Air Force Enlisted Men's Widows and Dependents Home Foundation. Contributors may designate donations as they choose and may use payroll allotments as a convenient way to give.

"With everyone's support, we hope to increase individual participation in this year's campaign. There is no better way to help ourselves and each other than by being a part of the campaign."

Since compiling contributions is only done at the end of each week of the campaign, no results are available at this point. Watch next week's Roundup for a squadron-by-squadron tally of the campaign kickoff week.

in January 1951, after attending St. Benedict's College in Atchison and St. Ambrose College in Davenport, Iowa. He received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Centenary College of Louisiana in 1966.

During his career he has filled numerous positions and held many job titles, ranging from radar operator and instructor to technical instructor at Lackland AFB, Texas. But it is in the field of professional military education that Chief McCoy dwelled. Beginning as assistant commandant of cadets, Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps at the University of Notre Dame, Ind.,

he eventually filled posts in the Strategic Air Command Noncommissioned Officer Preparatory School, the Second Air Force Noncommissioned Officer Academy, SAC Headquarters (where he served as PME Monitor for the deputy chief of staff for personnel) and also served as chairman of two worldwide senior enlisted advisers conferences for the Air Force Association.

During this time, the chief helped prepare numerous courses of study and PME Programs, and was recognized for his efforts in 1974, when he was chosen one of the 12 Air Force Outstanding Airmen.

He assumed his present position Aug. 1, 1979.

March lion roars into South Plains

by SrA David Haines
public affairs representative

March heralds the arrival of spring on the South Plains and with it comes Texas' famous blowing dust in earnest.

Last year, winds exceeded 35 knots more than 20 times in March, with a near-hurricane-force peak of 63 knots recorded on the 31st — at which time the dust reduced visibility to 100 meters.

The average high temperature for the month is 64 degrees Fahrenheit, with a mean low of 37. The changeable nature of March's weather can be seen in the extreme temperature readings of 94 and 10. Reese receives an average of .64 inch of precipitation — including 1.3 inches of snow — spread out over three days. The last part of the month ushers in our "official" thunderstorm season, although of course thunderstorms can occur at any time of the year.

Travel pay

It has become apparent that many organizations aren't preparing TDY orders properly. Some of the common errors cited are omission of the acronyms MSN or ADM in block nine; omission of required statements for orders published after travel completion, VOCO's, Verbal Orders of the Commander in block 16; omission of Mode of Transportation in block 12. If privately owned conveyance is used, there are specific requirements that must be followed. Omission of the type of per diem authorized in block 13. In rectifying the above errors the Travel Pay Section can estimate the cost of travel much easier and the number of rejected orders by admin would diminish greatly.

Picnics require vet ok

by Capt. James B. Laird
chief, veterinary public health

As warm weather begins, more of us will be spending more of our leisure hours outside. This includes organizational and section picnics, "going away" barbecues and potluck dinners.

This is an excellent way to enjoy good company and recreational activities, provided no one gets sick. Foodborne illness is the most prevalent communicable disease in the United States. It can range from minor bouts of nausea to severe vomiting and diarrhea and ultimately to death.

In accordance with AFR 163-8 it is recommended that the individuals in charge of organizing such functions contact Veterinary Services prior to the event for guidance in the proper preparation and handling of foods.

Anyone sponsoring events at which food will be sold should submit a request for approval to the Veterinary Services at least 10 days in advance. The request should include the menu to be served.

Reese leads AFRAP

Reese once again has been nominated by Air Training Command for Base of the Quarter by supporting the Air Force Recruiter Assistance program with 197 referrals during the first quarter of FY 81.

AFRAP, designed to help all military services which are suffering military shortages, has become an extremely important program for maintaining military readiness. The program was initiated in 1976 by ATC to help assist the recruiters mission. By involving all Air Force bases, accumulating referrals for potential and qualified contacts, has helped prove the program's success.

The need for AFRAP is continually on the rise. The all volunteer force has made it difficult for recruiters to reach young people who meet the mental, moral, and physical criteria set down by the Air Force and inform them of the many benefits the Air Force can offer.

Lead referral cards are readily available to each service member through each unit. The cards are designed to provide recruiters with information needed in order to contact prospective enlistees. The cards must contain name, date of birth, full address and sex of prospective enlistee.

Besides lead referral cards, Air Force members can help the AFRAP program by volunteering for the Recruiter Helper Program, helping with base sponsored tours, unit awareness activities and unit career days.

For more information on how to help promote a higher success rate for AFRAP contact AFRAP Monitor CMSgt. Boyd J. Engleman at Ext. 3445.

GROWING WITH THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

Munitions Supply nets ATC honor

Reese is a training base and, as such, doesn't often conjure visions of weaponry or munitions. Well, Reese not only has a munitions supply account, but it has one of the best in the command. 64th Supply Squadron's Munitions Supply Account was recently selected as runner-up in Air Training Command competition for 1980. The award was based on "unprecedented superior support to the flying training mission of the 64th Flying Training Wing," according to the chief of supply, Maj. Carl D. Alberchinski.

with many laudatory comments. These comments included, "being maintained in a highly outstanding manner," "was highly secure," and "personnel were enthusiastically performing their duties despite the adverse weather conditions."

Lackland AFB, Texas won the ATC award and will represent the command at Air Force.

- Inventory accuracy was 100 percent for two months of the grading period, and monthly reconciliation of munitions items (required for 33 percent of inventory) stayed at 100 percent throughout the year.

The support was provided during a period of significantly increased training requirements, even without increases in manpower or equipment. Some achievements of the unit included:

- Programs were initiated to enhance the capability of the wing to provide rapid response to local as well as world-wide contingencies, in conjunction with increased attention to wartime operations.

- A 99.91 percent effectiveness rate on the timeliness of the Air Force Ammunition Transaction Report submitted to the Air Force Logistics Command.

In addition to supporting the mission of the 64th Flying Training Wing, the Munitions Supply Account has five host/tenant agreements for the support of training and exercises of the 413th Civil Affairs Company, 829th Station Hospital, Air Force ROTC Det. 320, U.S. Army Third ROTC Region and the 26th Air Defense Squadron.

- No discrepancies in any inspections, including the Management Effectiveness Inspection,

Personal Affairs sponsors briefing

Reese's Personal Affairs Unit at the Consolidated Base Personnel Office and the Family Services Center are once again planning a Personal Affairs orientation for spouses.

Family Services at Ext. 3306 prior to March 16. Reservations for the orientation itself are not required.

This spring's orientation will be held in two identical sessions on March 24 at the Simulator Building, building 930, room 102. The morning session will start with registration and coffee at 8:45 a.m. and will run until noon. The evening session will start with registration and coffee at 6:45 p.m. and will run until 10.

Featured at this orientation is "everything that a dependent spouse should know" about Air Force life. Speakers from different base agencies will cover such topics as: casualty notification and assistance, the Air Force Aid Society, disaster preparedness, Family Services, CHAMPUS and medical benefits, legal services, and a host of other topics.

Free nursery care will be available for those with children; however, 2nd Lt. Weldon B. Shofner, project officer, asks that reservations be made through

Although this orientation is geared to the newly married personnel, the changing ways of the Air Force make this orientation of benefit to any spouse who attends.

CHAMPUS makes changes

by Robert A. Gregorio
health benefits advisor

Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services is getting better. There have been CHAMPUS improvements worth sharing.

CHAMPUS changed its method of reimbursement in July. In determining the amount of CHAMPUS reimbursement, the actual charge or the prevailing rate is used. OCHAMPUS is dropping the customary charge in the adjudication process. This change means that approximately $14 million more will be paid in benefits. Approximately 60 percent of all claims will be paid at the actual billed rate compared to 40 percent previously.

Another improvement concerns new standards for fiscal intermediaries (contractors). New standards require the fiscal intermediaries to process 75 percent of all claims received within 21 working days. Financial incentives or penalties are used for those above or below standards performance, as appropriate.

CHAMPUS has agreed to permit use of the new American Medical Association (AMA) claim form for professional services. This action provides for some degree of standardization within the civilian environment. The HCFA-1500/CHAMPUS-501

Form is expected to be available for use in 1981.

Next, the decision has been made to require CHAMPUS Fiscal Intermediaries to provide toll-free "800" numbers for use by both beneficiaries and providers in all contract jurisdictions. Very shortly these lines will be available in the New England and Florida areas and phased-in in all other areas over the next few months. The system will provide direct toll-free services to fiscal intermediaries daily during normal working hours.

Finally, another CHAMPUS related improvement is in the supplemental health insurance area. Some Service organizations providing supplemental health insurance are improving their coverage. They are going to pay what CHAMPUS does not pay after the deductible is satisfied. They are going to use the actual billed charge in their computation, not the CHAMPUS allowable charge. Also, the pre-existing condition requirement is being lowered to six months.

New CHAMPUS legislation is being developed to further improve benefits. CHAMPUS is slowly improving.

Specifically, the legislation provides:

a. Elimination of $50/100 deductible requirement for dependents of active duty, retirees and others.

b. Elimination of CHAMPUS copayment for dependents of active duty.

c. A $1000 family financial liability limit for covered services received during each calendar year.

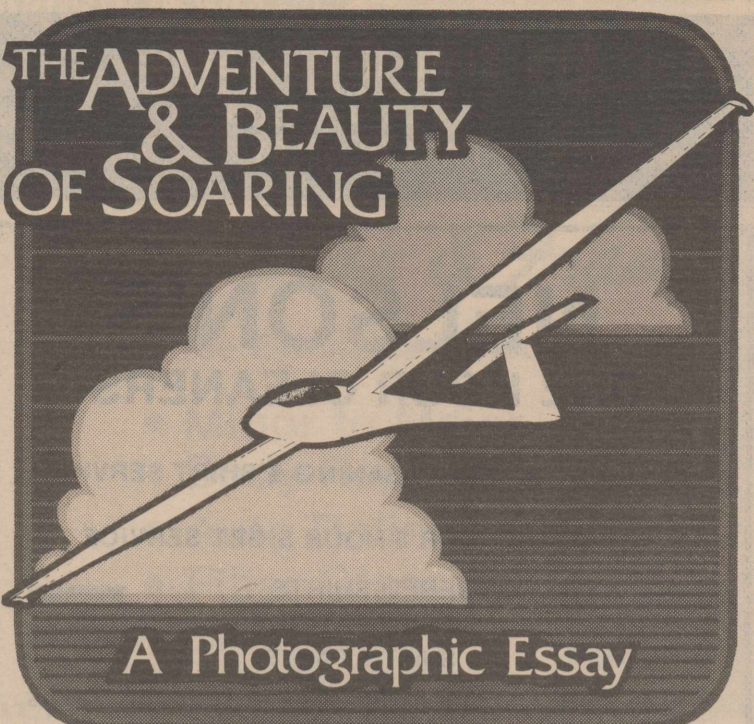

d. Eye examinations, refractions, and prescriptions for corrective lenses but not the corrective lenses or eyeglass frames themselves for dependents of active duty only.

e. Flexibility in provider reimbursement e.g., fee schedule, negotiated fees.

f. CHAMPUS eligibility for beneficiaries who attain Medicare entitlement.

This legislation is a part of the Department of Defense Legislative Program for the 97th Congress.

Suggestion results in

by Harold M. Corbin
Suggestion Program manager

The results of the Fiscal Year 1980 Suggestion Program have been released. A total of 91,352 suggestions were accepted for evaluation, of these 16,996 were adopted. Owners of these suggestion ideas were paid over one and one-half million dollars in awards.

Air Training Command placed second in the total savings area, however, ATC personnel almost doubled the command goal of 10 million with total savings of $18.5 million. Awards paid totaled over $150,000.

Most noteworthy of all the suggestion figures released is the productivity rate of $18 saved for each $1 spent in manpower and awards. At a time when productivity in the U.S. is at an all time low, dollar return for dollar invested is very critical.

The Department of Defense is charged with providing the best possible military force at the lowest possible cost. The Suggestion Program is one of many programs designed to help reduce these costs.

Donald L. Younkens, maintenance foreman at McGuire AFB, N.J., won the Suggester of the Year Award. He received almost $9,000 in awards for suggestions he has submitted.

Air Staff has set a goal of $80,000,000 for the FY81 program. The Suggestion Program will need the support of each Air Force member, military and civilian, to meet this challenge. Your good ideas are in high demand. Suggest today.

Carpooling saves money

by SSgt. Steven D. Holmes public affairs division

Still not convinced to form or join a carpool or vanpool?

Capt. Robert Blankenship, Reese Ridesharing Coordinator, maintains the money savings in themselves should convince most, but offers other incentives to those who still hesitate.

For instance, carpoolers can still take advantage of a limited number of remaining parking spaces, located close to major buildings on base and reserved for those who share a ride.

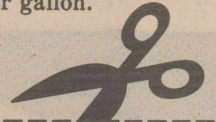

It is also possible that insurance rates could go down for those who drive in a carpool. Captain Blankenship recommends checking with your agent to find out if you could qualify.

The captain also provided the Roundup with charts showing the average cost per mile to operate various size vehicles. The figures included cost depreciation, maintenance, accessories, parts and tires; gas and oil, insurance and taxes. Costs range from 11 cents for a subcompact, to 17 cents for a standard sized car.

These figures were compiled, by the way, before the recent decontrol of oil prices.

If you want more information, contact Captain Blankenship at Ext. 3617.

Convinced? Okay, complete the form below, cut it out and send it to 3500 RMS/CC, Stop 17 and they'll help you find some riders or drivers... unless you can afford to burn money at the rate of $1.25 per gallon.

Dining hall offers HEART

Food Service is cooperating with the HEART Program at Reese to provide the airmen the chance to modify their diet for a healthier well being.

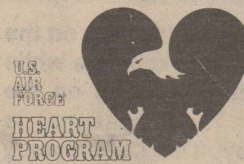

Based on current information provided by the committee on Nutrition and Human Needs and our local HEART Program experts; the airmen subsisting in the wing dining hall will be afforded the opportunity and guidance to select a nutritious, balanced diet.

These changes are not legislated or government initiated, but an effort at Reese to educate the patrons of the dining hall. Food Service will simply provide the opportunity to take the responsibility for your health and reduce the future risk of illness.

Food Service is interested to HEART prepared entrees. HEART and Food Service will publish articles at a later date on the preferred eating habits of Reese airmen and how it is affecting their physical health.

see just how many airmen will change their diet. HEART program monitors will be surveying the airmen who have selected

The wing dining hall will be serving one meat, one vegetable and one starch according to the HEART recommended preparations. These items will be identified on the price menu board at the beginning of the serving line. They will also have a HEART flag in the entrees on the serving line.

Safety Wise

We have, for the most part, been forced inside for the winter. The sun's warming rays draw us to the outside and we become ambitious with our chores. There's the fence to mend, the house to paint, the playhouse to build and various other projects to tend to.

Along with the onslaught of these activities comes an increase of injuries that could and should be prevented. Why is there an increase in the injury rate? Simple. Individuals overextend their physical ability and talents. They use the wrong tool for the job. The right tool is not used properly, and the list goes on.

What can you do to protect yourself and those around you? Again, the answer is simple but it does take attention on your part and maybe a little extra time.

- Know your limits as well as those of the equipment you're using.
- Ensure the equipment is serviceable.
- Use the right tools for the task.
- Protect the work area to prevent unaware intruders from creating or receiving an accident (especially children).
- Use protective equipment (i.e. goggles).
- Read and abide by the manufacturers instructions and warnings.

Some NCOs gain Quarters allowance

Public Law 96-579 holds good news for those enlisted people in grades E-7 through E-9 without dependents.

The Military Pay and Allowance Benefits Act of 1980 permits service members in those grades to elect to receive the single rate basic allowance for quarters rather than accept government quarters, effective immediately. Those electing to receive BAQ must vacate government quarters upon exercising the option.

Members assigned to high cost housing areas, such as Lubbock, are entitled to the variable housing allowance in addition to their BAQ. The entitlement to BAQ and VHA was effective Oct. 1, 1980, therefore, any members in affected pay grades who live off base at their own expense will be entitled to retroactive pay to that date, or the date they left government quarters.

Forms for those wishing to take advantage of the BAQ are available at the Central Dorm Management Office, building 124. For further information concerning the change, contact Capt. Keith A. Howell, Ext. 3800/3809.

Street Talk

To tell the truth, when we went out to do Street Talk interviews about the Air Force Assistance Fund, I thought we'd get a lot of grumbles about persistent representatives and the shortage of ready cash. But it didn't turn out that way.

In fact, the street people were practically unanimous in their agreement that their money was well spent. We got explanations involving the wisdom of contributing to an organization that offers loans to Air Force people in time of need. We got sage advice about investing for the future and providing for loved ones for when we're not around.

We were told how easy it is to give to the drive by filling out a payroll allotment form, and that we could designate which agency received our money.

That's how the street people answered the question, "Do you feel that AFAF fulfills a worthwhile function?" And when you put it in the first person, giving to AFAF is nothing to grumble about.

You know? There are some shrewd investors wearing those blue suits.

Red Cross cites base volunteers

American Red Cross volunteers and representatives from the hospital's clinics here attended this year's first orientation meeting for AMRC recently at the hospital library.

Walter Ahrens, director of the Lubbock chapter of the AMRC, spoke to the group about the history and mission of the AMRC.

Hospital representatives spoke of the need for more volunteers to work in individual clinics.

On Feb. 24 volunteers were recognized for their voluntary service during a pinning ceremony. The following people were recognized: special pin for five years service went to George Ann Fulton; four year tab, Pam Drake; two year tab, Kathy Youngers; one year tab, Pam Drake.

A basic volunteer pin was given to eight women recognizing them for beginning the volunteer program. They are Janet Hughs, Susan Wilson, Helena Scott, Lynn Curry, Lee Lape, Dennis Renfro, Susand Robb and Cheryl Zeitz.

The hospital has approximately 20 volunteers but needs many more. For those interested in volunteering for work in the hospital and gaining valuable experience contact AMRC Chairman Lynn Wright at 885-2248 or AMRC Liaison Officer Maj. Marie Andino at Ext. 3515.

Volunteers do not need prior hospital experience.

Scouts observe founding

March 8-14 is Girl Scout Week, marking the founding of Girl Scouting on March 12, 1912.

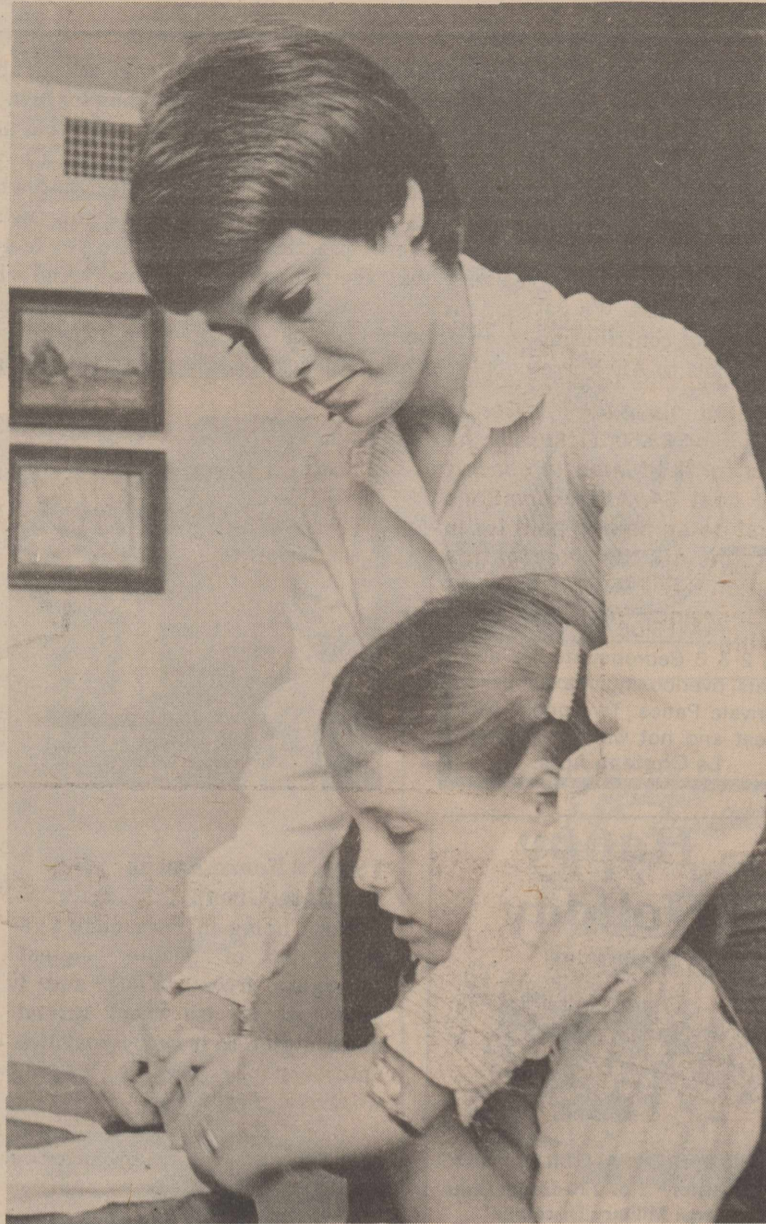

Reese sponsors three Brownie troops, two Girl Scout and one cadet troop.

"Each of the 341 Girl Scout Councils in the United States will observe the week in accordance with the national theme, Girl Scouting — 1980s Style," said Mrs. Nolen Swain, President of the Board of Directors, Caprock Girl Scout Council.

She further noted that Caprock Council would utilize the theme at the annual Reunion Luncheon, scheduled March 6 at the service center in Lubbock; the Girl Scout Fair to be held at Fair Park Coliseum on March 7; and in all troop activities the following week. Adults and girls from the eighteen county area will take part in the events.

The Reunion Luncheon will feature a program on Girl Scouting presented by Mrs. Craig McDonald, Ralls; and Mrs. Keith Strain, Mrs. John Mallory, and Mrs. James Burkeholder all of Lubbock. Mrs. W.C. Warren, also of Lubbock, will serve as hostess for the event. Reservations may be made through the service center, 2567-74th Street.

Scheduled 1-4:30 p.m., March 7, at the Fair Park Coliseum in Lubbock, the Girl Scout "Fair" will bring Girl Scout troops in the council, including those from Reese, together to share songs, folk games, folk arts, and contemporary program for the public. There is no charge for admission.

Changes improve education

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Changes to the Air Force education program should make it easier to get in-service education.

Active-duty airmen grades E-5 and above with less than 14 years' service are now entitled to receive 90-percent tuition assistance. All other airmen will continue receiving 75-percent tuition assistance.

Airmen participating in the Serviceman's Education Testing

Program may be eligible for the Loan Forgiveness program, the non-contributory Veterans Education Assistance Program, and/or the Educational Assistance Program. To be eligible for these programs, airmen must have a high school diploma, score 50 or higher on the Armed Forces Qualification Examination, enter the service after Nov. 30, 1980, but before Oct. 1, 1981, and opt for training in one of seven critical skills.

The Loan Forgiveness Program is limited to airmen who signed either a guaranteed student loan or National Direct Student Loan after Oct. 1, 1975.

Non-contributory VEAP provides that VEAP contributions be paid by the Defense Department.

The Educational Assistance Program includes a $1,200-tuition-assistance account,

Mike Nichols and Shawn Hart (top) get in some fencing practice at the base gym. The two men were part of the Reese fencing team that captured the Air Training Command tournament title last week. Hart won the individual title by going unbeaten in seven bouts. The Reese team included (inset from left) Nichols, Robert Fiano and Hart. (U.S. Air Force photos)

Volleyball starts Monday

Intramural volleyball action is slated to start here Monday with 11 squadron teams eyeing the league crown.

In addition to the 11 intramural squads, Reese's varsity women's team will participate in loop action. Although the varsity team will be included in the regular schedule, the team is not eligible for the championship.

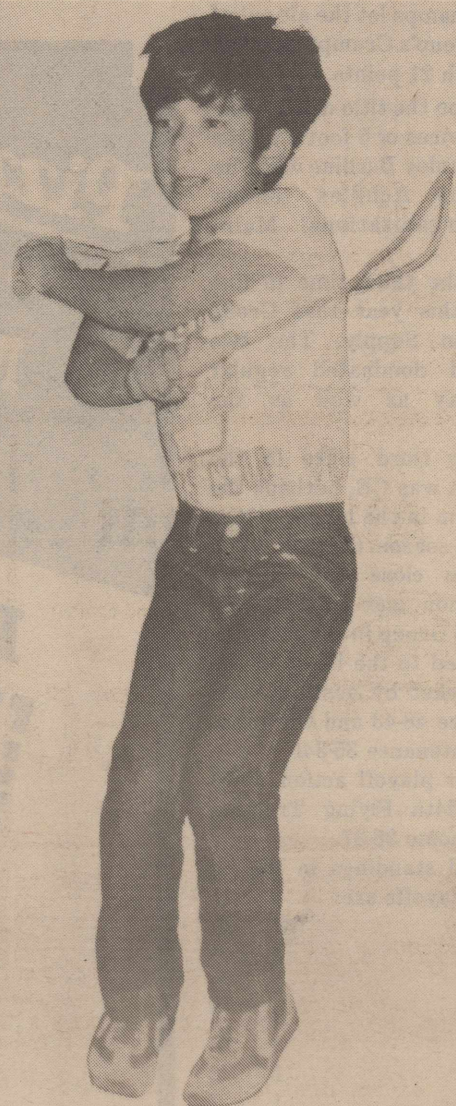

Competing for the 1981 title will be Field Maintenance Squadron, Organizational Maintenance Squadron, Supply Squadron, the 54th Flying Training Squadron, the 35th FTS, Student Squadron, the 1958th Communications Squadron, Civil Engineers, USAF Hospital, Air Base Group and Resource Management Squadron.

Intramural play begins at 6 p.m. each Monday through Thursday with matches scheduled to start every 45 minutes. There will be four matches each night.

The 54th FTS is the defending champ. The team upset the favored Sturon squad in last year's playoffs.

Fancy jumper

Arthur Angulango, one of 64 Reese Elementary School children participating in last weekend's "jump-a-thon" for the American Heart Association, gets a little fancy with his jumping. Each of the children jumped rope for three hours. The children got sponsors to pledge money to the Heart Fund for each hour that the students jumped. School officials have yet to total this year's pledges. Last year, the jump-a-thon netted $750. (U.S. Air Force photo)

Group ends IM season; beats Supply for crown

The end!

Air Base Group laid the intramural basketball season to rest here last week by winning the "if necessary" championship game against Supply and claiming the intramural crown.

The 52-48 championship win completed a grueling 26-game schedule for Group. A schedule that the intramural kingpins battled through for 22 wins.

For runner-up Supply, the season lasted one game too long.

Supply was in the driver's seat heading into the championship round. After sending Group to the loser's bracket with a third round 54-52 victory, Supply needed to win just one more game to claim the title. Group had to face a tough Civil Engineering squad and then win two straight from Supply.

CE scares Group

CE came within a basket of advancing to the finals against Supply, but: Group advanced with a skin tight 50-49 win.

The first game in the championship round couldn't have been played any closer if the two teams had been following a Hollywood script.

Tied at half, 24-24, the teams matched baskets in the second half to end regulation play knotted at 43-all. In the overtime, Group got baskets from Chedrick Henderson, Orville Crumpton and Julio Guerra to outscore Supply for a 49-47 win. Henderson led Reese with 14 points while Christobal Stephenson topped Supply with 16.

Group opens fast

Group opened the final shoot-out by racing to a 28-15 lead. The Group cagers maintained that lead through most of the second half. Supply chopped away in the final two minutes as the intramural champs let the air out of the ball. Group's Crumpton led all scorers with 21 points.

Group won the title despite losing the services of 6 foot 7 power forward Stanley Burdine when he injured his Achilles tendon against Organizational Maintenance.

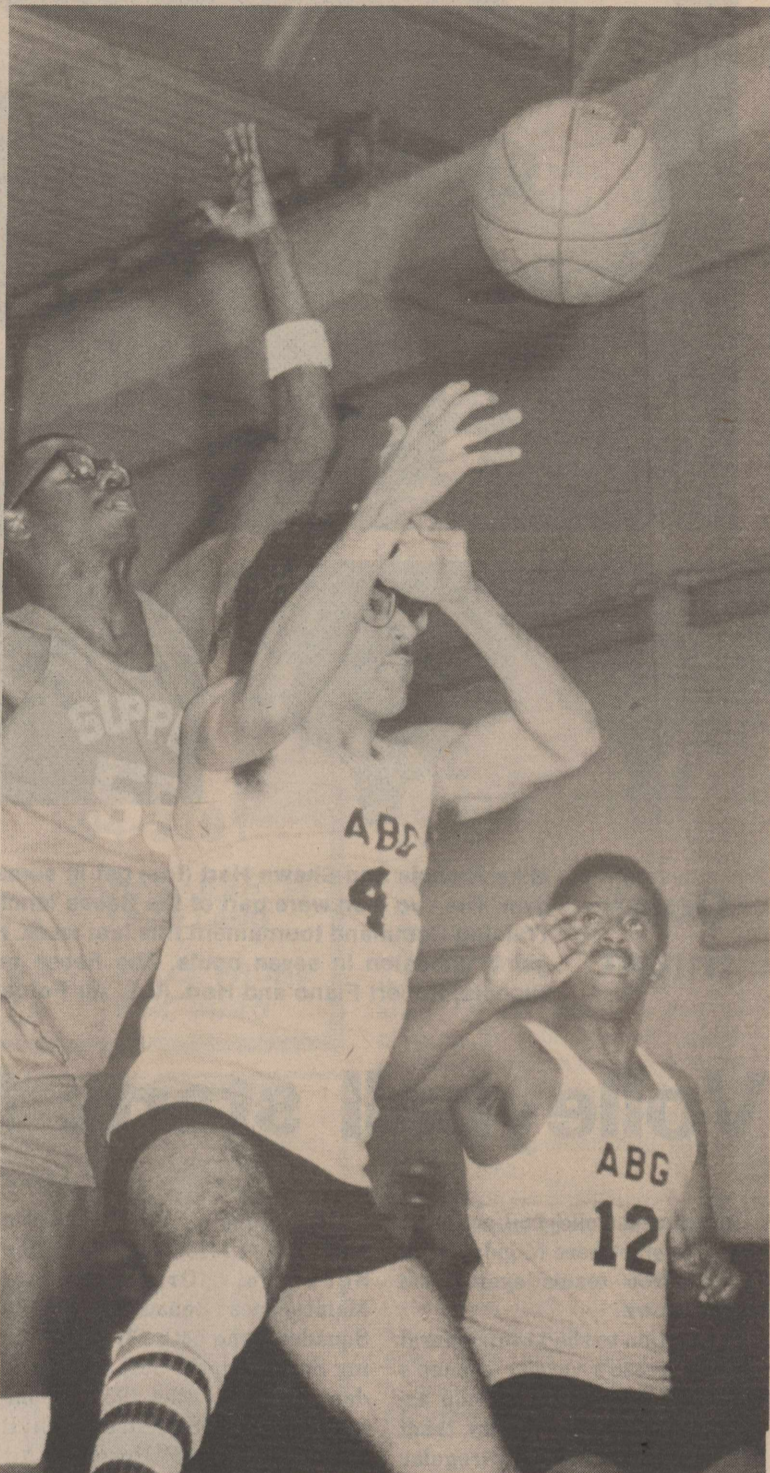

It was the third time in five meetings this year that Group had beaten Supply. The two teams had dominated regular season play as well as the playoffs.

Grabbing third place in the tournament was CE, perhaps the hottest team in the league at the close of the season. CE won seven straight to close out regular season action and lost to only Supply and Group in the playoffs. CE advanced to the finals of the loser's bracket by ousting Field Maintenance 48-43 and Organizational Maintenance 35-34.

In earlier playoff action, FMS sent the 54th Flying Training Squadron home 38-37.

The final standings in the intramural playoffs are:

Team	W	L
Group	4	1
Supply	3	2
CE	3	2
FMS	2	2
OMS	1	2
54th	1	2
Sturon-1	0	2
35th	0	2

Look out!

Supply Squadron's Bo Williams goes over the top of Group's Hugo Arvizu for a rebound during championship action here last week. Watching is Group guard Chedrick Henderson. Group won the game and the title 52-48.
