

Resist Temptation To Boost Budget, Congress Warned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration, citing the "harsh reality of inflation," warned Congress today to resist the temptation to increase the spending levels proposed in President Carter's 1981 budget.

"A bloated 1981 budget would be a signal to the world that the United States has accepted double-digit inflation and is unwilling to make the sacrifices needed to restore price stability," three top Carter aides told the Senate Budget Committee in a prepared statement.

The joint testimony opened White House efforts to win congressional backing for the budget. It was presented by Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, Budget Director James T. McIntyre Jr. and Charles Schultze, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Carter's $16 billion 1981 budget proposal, unveiled Monday, calls for a sharp increase in defense spending but generally holds social programs to no growth above inflation. It projects a $16 billion deficit for fiscal 1981, which starts next Oct. 1.

"Because the 1981 budget is restrictive, the pressures to expand it will be strong," the officials said. "Unemployment later in 1980 and in 1981 is expected to be higher than it is today. Business will need greater incentives to invest in plant and equipment. Worthwhile social programs will seem to require additional funding. "Many of these needs are legitimate, and under other circumstances they might deserve room in the budget. But the harsh reality of inflation makes it critical for Congress to resist those pressures."

The administration officials said they hoped inflation would slow from more than 13 percent last year to about 10.5 percent in 1980 and 8.5 percent in 1981. They also said the expected recession early this year should be "brief and mild."

The officials added, however, that if the recession is deeper than expected the administration would consider "corrective action in ways and under circumstances that do not aggravate inflation."

Tenneco Earnings Increase

HOUSTON (AP)—With income gains in seven operating divisions, Tenneco Inc. reported a 24 percent increase in 1979 earnings today.

A record net income of $571 million or $5.30 a share compared with $452 million or $4.39 a share in 1978. Operating revenues increased from $8.8 billion to $11.2 billion.

James L. Ketelsen, chairman, said operating income of Tenneco Oil Co. was up 49 per cent and revenues also increased in the construction and farm equipment, chemicals, agriculture-land management, packaging, shipbuilding, and life insurance divisions.

Divers Look For Bodies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—With little hope of finding any more survivors, military divers dropped into the murky water of Tampa Bay this morning to look for 17 Coast Guardsmen missing after a collision between a cutter and an oil tanker.

Officials said the final death toll likely would reach 23 to make it the worst peacetime Coast Guard accident in more than 35 years.

The SDN Column

It would be ironic if John Henry Faulk should be elected to Congress. That's where his mammoth nightmare started.

Faulk is one of the country characters who appear regularly on the Hee Haw television program. But he went many years without confronting a microphone or camera. He was a victim of what came to be known as "McCarthyism" some three decades ago. That was a cancerous philosophy that, for a time, at least, taught Americans that you can't make a blanket indictment against a big group of people without running the risk of persecuting some innocents.

Faulk was caught up in a tide of blacklisting. He had a successful career going as a radio humorist (television was just beginning then) when he became one of a large group of people in the entertainment business to be labeled a communist sympathizer. This came about through the ravings and rantings of Sen. Joseph McCarthy, who finally was discredited, even by some of his previous staunch supporters. All of those on the "blacklist" were ousted from their profession.

The handicap to Faulk and others was long-lasting. He was out of the picture, so to speak, for years until his association with the Hee Haw program provided a mild comeback. His name had appeared on a "blacklist," and despite the fact that he was eventually cleared, the scar remained. Later he won a huge libel verdict in court which is credited with halting "blacklisting."

Today, a person would have to do quite a selling job to convince many Americans that big lists of people in the entertainment world are communist sympathizers. With personalities such as Ronald Reagan, John Wayne, et al, as proof, it simply wouldn't fly.

Now, the word is that John Henry Faulk, who lives in Madisonville down north of Houston, is considering a race for Congress against Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin. It would be quite a feat if he should campaign his way into the seat of his greatest troubles, the national capitol.

Bleak Outlook For Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter today painted the bleakest outlook yet for inflation in the United States, saying high oil prices could make inflation much worse for years to come unless those prices are kept from affecting the economy's underlying price structure.

Carter and his advisers made clear their hope that workers will pay the higher prices generated by more expensive fuel without demanding they be fully offset with higher wages. That would mean workers would accept at least a temporary reduction in their purchasing power.

"The rise in hourly wages and other income has to be reduced in order to bring down the rate at which costs are rising," the president and his aides said in the administration's annual economic report to Congress. Since productivity decreased last year, rising wages result in still higher prices, they said.

Carter also said that while the immediate focus of government policy must be to keep inflation from getting worse than last year's 13.3 percent rate, it also will be essential to make progress in reducing the inflation rate.

Youths Turn In Lost Bank Bag

Bad weather, a bully, and a children's game of kick-the-sack led to the recovery of a lost Snyder Daily News bank bag. Honesty on the part of three youngsters led to its return.

The bank bag was found and returned Tuesday by John Bernal, 9, and his brother, Michael, 5, the children of Mr. and Mrs. John Bernal, and by Joe Louis Berrera, 11, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raul Martinez.

The bank bag, which contained $33 in cash and more than $1,600 in checks, was found in the 2500 block of Ave. U where it had been accidentally dropped by a newspaper employee. The money, earmarked for deposit later in the day, had been dropped when the employee got into her car at noon to leave for lunch.

Because school had been dismissed Tuesday on account of the icy weather, the three children had been playing. They had been playing in some puddles of frozen water underneath a bridge when an older boy, "a bully," they said, came along and ran them off. They were walking down the 2500 block of Ave. U when they spotted the bank bag. It was about 1 p.m.

The children kicked the bag, and noticed there was something in it. Looking, they found the money. With it, they ran to the police station about three blocks away.

"It wouldn't be right to just take it," said Berrera. "My mother said when we find something to go report it," explained John Bernal.

"We're not supposed to steal," added Berrera.

All three boys cited parental guidance as a factor in their decision to return what was not theirs. All said they would do it again.

For their honesty the youngsters were given the cash to split, plus the bank bag which they were now free to kick or keep as a souvenir.

Area Begins To Thaw... Unexpected Warm-Up Cancels Ice Warning

An unexpected warm-up during the night, from the low 20s to the low 30s, thawed ice on roads, trees and utility lines today, but forecasts warned that more cold air is on the way.

However, no mention of precipitation was made in the cold forecast this morning.

The thaw came too late for area schools to resume their sessions, since roads and streets were still slippery before dawn when buses would have been required to leave on their runs.

Public schools in Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh were shut down today because of the weather. For Snyder and Hermleigh, it was the second day in a row for classes to be suspended. Teachers had reported for in-service programs Tuesday, but no school personnel were called out today, and Ira, which held classes Tuesday, had no school today.

Meetings scheduled for last night and today were called off due to the weather conditions, and the basketball games between Snyder and Lamesa High School teams scheduled last night in Lamesa were changed to Thursday night.

The National Weather Service had predicted more cold this morning, but a southerly flow of air prompted a cancellation of an ice storm warning for most of North Texas. Travel advisories were out in some areas due to fog and icy patches on roads and especially bridges, but conditions were improving later in the morning.

Forecasts this morning called for clearing skies and warmer temperatures during the day for West Texas, while the remainder of the state was due to have cloudy skies.

In Snyder, the low official temperature during the 24 hour period ending at 7 a.m. today was 20 degrees, and the high for the same period was 32 degrees registered at 7 a.m. today.

The National Weather Service reported that a developing low pressure system in Northern New Mexico during the night greatly reduced the ice hazard in Northwest Texas as it set up a southerly flow of warmer air.

Economic Indicators Unchanged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's index of leading economic indicators was unchanged last month, stopping just short of a level that could mean a recession was under way, it was reported today.

The Commerce Department index, which is designed to foreshadow economic trends, had declined in the two previous months. A three-month decline is considered a signal that a recession is coming. The index of economic indicators declined sharply in both October, down 1 percent, and November, down 1.2 percent.

musical world's loss

Within the past few weeks, America (and the world) has lost two of its greatest musicians - Richard Rodgers and Andre Kostelanetz. There, no doubt, is something in music that soothes man's troubled soul and perhaps adds to his longevity. Both Rodgers and Kostelanetz spent a long, long time on this space way-station and obviously enjoyed to the fullest what they were doing.

Each, in his own special way, brought endless musical enjoyment to millions of people for over half a hundred years, the legacy each left may live as long as mankind exists on this earth.

Richard Rodgers wrote music prolifically, and he wrote it masterfully. He composed more than 1,500 songs, not the least of which was for such popular musicals as "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific."

Some songsmiths will point with obvious pride that they have turned out more music than Rodgers. They brag of quantity. Rodgers' speciality was quality.

With Rodgers, everything else in life was second to his music. He was a totally dedicated individual - a man for all ages.

Kostelanetz's musical message came across in an entirely different way. He wielded a baton and the music he coaxed from his symphony orchestras was so tremendous he made countless new fans for the classics. His goal was to expose more and more people to the concert hall, and he succeeded brilliantly at it.

His consuming love was for the great classics, but he and his orchestra could handle a Richard Rodgers tune with equal ease. In fact, Kostelanetz's musicians could play all kinds of music, pops included.

How successful was Kostelanetz? Few leaders of symphonic orchestras have fared better. All told, his sale of records totaled 52 million, more than any other classical conductor. Last summer a crowd of 250,000 flocked to see him conduct the New York Philharmonic in a special outdoor concert.

Thanks to the marvel of film and the recording of sound, the performances of actors and musicians live on long after them. The succession of film revivals will attest to that. Even the great voice of Enrique Caruso can be heard today, thanks to the fact that the industry even then had the ability to record the sound.

Rodgers and Kostelanetz were giants in an industry that has contributed so much to man's enjoyment and peace of mind. They lived their lives to the fullest to create better and more music for the world to enjoy. That same world sings their praises, literally - a fitting tribute.

black gold better

The spectacular increase in the price of gold has been taking a lot of the headlines away from oil, but the latter over the long run would still appear to be the better investment.

As figured by American Express and reported in a recent Wall Street Journal, $100 worth of crude oil purchased at the beginning of 1970 would have been worth $1,411 at the end of the decade, a better price performance than gold's during the same 10 years.

Maybe so, but it's a lot less convenient to hide in mattresses.

my turn

by jo ann nunley

This story of strangers helping out in the time of need might brighten your outlook on a day probably filled with news of the opposite nature.

A few days before Christmas two young women and a pet dog ran into some hard luck a few miles out of Snyder on the Lubbock Highway. Their car overturned as they were on their way to spend some time off from their jobs in Austin to New Mexico and then to visit family in Dallas.

Mitchell, an employee at Chevron, happened upon the wreck, and it turned out to be the girls' second stroke of good luck. It appeared the women, their Christmas packages they were carrying to family and the pet schnauzer, Marigold, and luggage would be stranded there, so Mitchell loaded them and their belongings in his vehicle and took them to his and his wife's home on W. 30th to stay with them until they could find a source for leaving the town they only intended to briefly pass through.

Actually the women's first stroke of good luck following the wreck was to find that they and the pet dog had made it through the wreck without even a scratch in a vehicle that was totally demolished.

When Mitchell and the two women, Dru Thomas, owner of the car, Ginger Lindsey, driver, and Marigold arrived at the Mitchell home, they found Mrs. Mitchell (Nina) in bed with a throat infection.

Mrs. Mitchell, unable to be the gracious hostess she normally is due to her illness, told the women to make themselves at home and to use her kitchen to prepare their dinner.

They tried for hours to find a way out of their predicament. Having the pet along seemed to prohibit their leaving the easy way. The pet couldn't go with them on the bus, nor could he stay with them in the motel. The only way out was to fly from Lubbock where the airlines will crate and fly dogs, they discovered. Ginger wasn't about to go off without Marigold, so the Mitchells loaded their belongings in the car and took them to the air terminal at Lubbock to travel to Dallas where Dru was to break the news of the wreck to her father, who had bought the car for her.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell received "thank you" notes and tokens gifts from the women stating they would be forever grateful for Mitchell's hospitality to them, two strangers and a dog.

"It was real nice to have the girls spend some time with us; they were real sweet and we enjoyed them, and Marigold," said Mrs. Mitchell.

workfare works

Politicians are forever talking about getting people off welfare - while voting for more.

The Wall Street Journal has been seeking exceptions; found a dandy in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee has a "Work Assistance Program" which has saved that city $25 million in welfare costs.

You've heard of "Sheltered Workshops"? Those are places of business - mostly operated by private charitable agencies - to employ the handicapped. Some 200,000 handicapped people across the United States are employed in these "Sheltered Workshops."

The handicapped are allowed therein to work for less than the minimum wage.

What Milwaukee has done is to sift the county's welfare rolls and designate many individuals as "handicapped" who have no physical infirmity - yet they are "vocationally handicapped" because they lack job training or are "handicapped" because they had too many birthdays or they are "mentally in need of rehabilitation."

That means that just about everybody on welfare - with the exception of those caring for dependent children - can be taken off welfare and placed in productive jobs.

Thus Milwaukee County in less than three years has trimmed its welfare rolls from 6,500 to fewer than 1,000.

So far Milwaukee is the only city which funnels able-bodied people into these jobs intended for the handicapped, but municipal officials from all over the country are visiting Milwaukee to observe.

All the county officials have done is to broaden the definition of "handicapped." Also they turned over to the local Jewish Vocational Service the responsibility for screening, counseling and training the welfare recipients.

The JVS also operates the "Sheltered Workshops." If you are deemed employable and don't show up for work, no more welfare. County executive William F. O'Donnell says, "Around here if you don't work, you don't eat!"

Of course, the project has critics. Some of them insist that the bona fide handicapped workers in these workshops should not have to work alongside winos, drug addicts and street toughs - and there have been some unhappy incidents.

But workshop administrators insist that problems are minimal; that after all these people intermingle on buses, on sidewalks, everywhere else - why not their places of employment?

Nonetheless, JVS is making a concerted effort to segregate the potential "people problem."

Let me add that JVS has been in hot water with the Department of Labor for hiring out some of its workers to other businesses, but that problem appears to be ironed out.

And JVS argues that if it can divert these people into regular employment instead - why not? Then rather than tax receivers they become taxpayers.

magazine health

NEW YORK (AP)-It was once popular to say that magazines had a life-death cycle. They were born to serve a new or developing need, it was said. They blossomed with it, and then they faded away together.

Fortune magazine, celebrating its 50th birthday, researched the notion and found that when exposed to the facts the notion also faded. Forty magazines have observed or will observe their 50th anniversaries.

The first Fortune weighed more than two pounds, and measured about 14 by 11 inches. It was sumptuous; its cover was stiff as cardboard; its pages felt like parchment and looked like ivory.

It wasn't for a mass audience, but seemingly for those fortunate few who by the good God's guidance had come to run industry, the tycoons, the founders, whose names might identify their companies.

The magazine was not for a subway or even a commuter train, but for the parlor car en route to the Hamptons or Palm Beach. At home it wasn't to be tossed with the daily newspapers, but placed neatly on a coffee table and then bound in volumes for the library.

It wasn't for consumers, who barely were a force, but for producers, who were a power. The nearest thing to a consumer article in the first Fortune was "A Budget for a $25,000 income in Chicago" that included $3,300 for servants and $2,500 in savings - and $830 for taxes.

Its advertisements honored smokestack America. Herculean figures, and fire, steel and towering skyscrapers depicted industrial might. And ads for sports cruisers, Pierce Arrows, and the White Star Line suggested the comfort that came to those who ran the show.

It's a different show now. Regulation, taxation, and economic democratization "Socialism!" cried the old guard that grew from the Neal Deal. Depression was followed by wars, mass prosperity, the consumer movement, inflation, and now by who knows what.

Magazines that survived these decades have done so by changing while miraculously remaining the same.

Fortune especially has had to accommodate to a swifter pace that means smaller articles. While corporate biographies remain, there is as much news of government, and in fact Washington seems to dominate business news generally. Fortune readership is more widespread, as is economic well-being. But some of the elegance, some would say extravagance, as in paper stock - has given way to inflation and cost-cutting.

thoughts

Beelzebub, prince of the devils in the New Testament, was a deity worshipped by the Philistines in the Old Testament.

and the scribes said, He hath Beelzebub, and by the prince of the devils casteth he out devils. - Mark 3:22 on Chappaquiddick Island, it surely is the bizarre 1960 debate over the tidal current on the night of the accident.

Two influential publications, the Reader's Digest and The Washington Star, inexplicably decided late last year to launch major investigations into one of the most obscure and inconsequential elements of the Chappaquiddick controversy.

Both publications committed considerable resources to detailed probes of the direction and velocity of the tide in Katama Bay, which separates Chappaquiddick Island from the larger island of Martha's Vineyard, in the hours immediately following the infamous accident.

Kennedy responded in kind, spending at least $10,000 for legal fees and expenses incurred by a pair of $80-an-hour admiralty lawyers and enlisting the services of a professor of ocean engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Depending upon which of the three accounts (Kennedy's, the Digest's or the Star's) is to be believed, Katama Bay was either open to the sea at its south end or closed at the time of the accident, the tide in the bay was flowing from either the north or the south and the current was either weak and slack or so swift it almost swept Kennedy out to sea.

But all of that conflicting information concerns a single event that is only marginally relevant to the accident itself - the senator's middle-of-the-night swim from Chappaquiddick to Edgartown on Martha's Vineyard, where his hotel room was located.

Moreover, Kennedy's successful navigation of the 500-foot channel in Edgartown harbor never has been disputed. Indeed, it's one of the few universally accepted elements of his otherwise dubious account of the events of the night of July 18-19, 1969.

At issue only is the senator's claim that he was "absolutely exhausted" by the swim because of a strong tidal flow from the south and "A current pulling me out toward the sea."

But even if it could be proven that he over-dramatized, exaggerated or lied about the tide, far more fundamental questions would remain unresolved. Among them:

-What were Kennedy's motives, intentions and proposed destination when he drove from a party with a young woman?

-Why did he wait 10 hours before reporting the accident to local law enforcement authorities?

-Was Kennedy-inspired political influence responsible for the failure of those authorities to ever conduct an open hearing on a full investigation into the accident?

If the news media have failed to advance the state of the art while conducting a tempest in a teapot, Kennedy and his aides once again have displayed the contempt for the public's intelligence that has become the hallmark of the senator's facile post-accident explanations.

For more than 10 1/2 years, neither Kennedy nor anyone representing him ever scheduled a press conference specifically to discuss the incident. But Stephen E. Smith, the senator's brother-in-law and campaign manager, finally did so on the day the story in the Digest's February issue was to be released.

"We were not given an opportunity to review these allegations in advance of publication," an indignant Smith complained. "Basic standards of fairness require a chance to respond to allegations before they are published."

But the Digest claimed that it "repeatedly asked Senator Kennedy for an interview so that he could respond to the deeply troubling question" while the story was being prepared. "He would not agree to meet with us," the magazine said.

When Kennedy's press secretary was questioned about those conflicting claims, he admitted that the magazine's request indeed had been received - but was rejected because it came "at a point where the senator was extraordinarily busy."

That episode typifies the most damning evidence against Kennedy with regard to Chappaquiddick. For more than a decade, he has played fast and loose with the facts, offering only lame excuses when pressed for specific explanations.

Luck lands highest score

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Here is another Bridge World hand culled from a match involving British ladies. Three notrump is a very poor contract but British ladies like to bid and it was most unfortunate that the ace, king and queen of spades only stopped the suit twice. South won the first spade (she had to) and led the 10 of clubs to East's jack. Back came a spade and now South decided to take her four diamonds and settle for down three.

That looked like a pretty good result when at the other table, East proceeded to double three notrump after the same bidding sequence. West opened the same jack of spades and South decided to try to get out for down two by leading a heart to dummy's jack. Much to her surprise that jack held. So she continued with dummy's king and once more East decided to hang on to her ace. So South led a diamond to her king and played a third heart. Now East not only had to take her ace, but saw it capture her partner's queen.

Woman Joins Bias Lawsuit Against Bank

Dallas (AP)—A former bank vice president who contends she was unjustly fired after a dispute with her superior has joined a five-year-old sex and race discrimination lawsuit against Republic National Bank of Dallas. Joan Kelley, 41, asked U.S. District Judge Patrick Higginbotham to reinstate her until he rules on the discrimination case. She is the highest-ranking employee or ex-employee involved in the suit.

The Judge said last November that he hopes to issue a ruling in the case sometime in March.

Despite Objections Of Carter...

Congress Ready To Grant Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, despite the objections of the Carter administration, appears set to grant a tax cut aimed at encouraging Americans to save.

The Senate has voted to let an individual avoid federal income taxes on the first $201-$400 for a couple of interest or dividends earned each year. In the House, most members have signed on to co-sponsor one or more of 51 different bills with a similar purpose.

The issue could be decided later this week when a Senate-House conference committee resumes work on a compromise "windfall" tax on the oil industry.

Congressional aides say there is a good chance the House conferees will accept a version of the Senate-passed tax exemption for interest and dividends. The Senate action came in the form of an amendment attached to its version of the "windfall" tax bill.

President Carter and his advisers oppose such an exemption for two reasons. They fear any kind of tax cut in the current economic environment would worsen inflation. And they contend the Senate provision would not encourage persons to save who aren't now doing so. Instead, they said, it would provide a bonanza for the 37 million households already saving.

Backers of the proposal hope it will encourage more savings. Americans, squeezed by rising prices, are saving less. In 1979, savings totaled 4.5 percent of income, the lowest figure since 1949, according to the Commerce Department.

The monthly rate for November was only 3.3 percent, the lowest for any month since the department began keeping monthly figures in 1959. No figure has been released yet for December, but it is expected to drop below the November percentage because spending increases.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

She's fighting 200

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm a 27-year-old female and am badly overweight. I've tried everything. My doctor has me on water pills called Dyazide. It takes water out from under my skin but I need some advice on how to control my appetite or on how to lose excess fat.

On my last visit to the doctor, which was a couple of months ago, I weighed 205. Since taking these water pills, I have lost down to 198 but I think I've gained some of it back. Please help me if you can.

DEAR READER — Of course, I do not know why your doctor is giving you Dyazide. All it will do is wash out sodium and water. There are some patients who accumulate water because of heart failure, liver disease or in women as a premenstrual accumulation of water. In those instances, such diuretics (water pills) are useful. They are also useful in helping control high blood pressure in some patients. Considering your weight, perhaps you do have high blood pressure, but your doctor would know the answer to that.

Neither Dyazide nor any of the other diuretics will cause you to lose body fat. The obesity problem is one of excess body fat, not excess water.

You didn't say how tall you were but I assume you must be a great deal overweight unless you're extremely tall. Individuals who are grossly overweight usually need medical supervision during the period of weight loss.

Such supervision is not of much use, however, unless it includes a reasonable dietary program. Therefore, I'm going to send you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. You will lose weight on this diet if you follow it strictly and stick to it.

Now since you are a rather large woman, this diet of approximately 1300 calories may cause you to lose weight too rapidly. I'm not really interested in seeing you or anyone else lose weight at the rate of more than two pounds a week.

The more rapid your weight loss is, the shorter length of time you should stay on a diet. You can use this diet that I'm sending you as a guide and if you're losing too rapidly, you can add a small number of foods to it.

Also, don't neglect to walk every day. Start a walking program and increase your walking as much as you can. The more you're able to walk on a regular basis, the more calories you will use and the more effective your dietary program will be. It will also help to protect you from losing your muscle tissues while you're losing weight.

I presume that the doctor you have seen has checked you to be sure that you don't have any glandular disorders, which can sometimes be the cause of very marked obesity.

Dear Abby

He Won't Join Dads Anonymous

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to FREEDOM FOR ALL, the female who thinks an unmarried woman has the right to pick a man off the street to father her child just because she has always wanted to be a mother. What about the rights of the child, and the responsibility of fatherhood? Having a baby is not like buying a doll for personal enjoyment, nor is fathering a child limited to a moment of sex. The father has certain responsibilities for every child he fathers, and a child has every right to expect that those responsibilities will be fulfilled. Has Womens' Lib gone so far that females want to breed with studs like barnyard animals? Where do women get the concept to think that mothering a child is more important than fathering one? Neither is a one time act, but a lifelong commitment.

FATHERED IN COLUMBIA, S.C.

DEAR FATHERED: Bravo! You took the words right out of my typewriter. But read on for a letter from an experienced voice who disagrees with both of us:

DEAR ABBY: I do not go along with your reply to FREEDOM FOR ALL—the unmarried woman who desperately wanted a child—no matter from whom. (You told her to "wrap" the idea.)

May I give you my side of the story, from my own experience? Several years ago, I met, through my business connections, a young married woman who was childless. Her husband was and still is confined to a mental institution, unable to father any children. While still in the childbearing age, this lady desperately wanted a child, knowing that she could never have one from her husband.

We like each other rather well, but were never "in love." Both of us being mature, we discussed her situation quite frankly, and to make a long story short, today she has a beautiful 5-year-old daughter, and you cannot imagine a happier woman!

While my oldest daughter is 35, I now have a 5-year-old daughter of whom I am very proud. For your information, Abby, I am a widower, 63 years old.

For obvious reasons, please withhold my name.

ALWAYS HELPFUL

DEAR HELPFUL: If the woman is happy, and you are apparently unconcerned about the moral and possible legal aspects of such a bizarre arrangement, you have no problem. It seems to me that either adoption or artificial insemination might have fewer complications.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two pretty and popular daughters. One is 16 and the other is 17.

The older girl is stringing three boys along at once. She wears a "promise ring" from one, and ID bracelet from another and a necklace from a third. None of these boys know about the others, and when one calls here and she is out with another, I have to lie to keep from hurting the father's feelings.

The younger one is going with two boys. Each thinks he is the only one. One is so jealous he has threatened to do bodily harm to any of her boy who comes near "his" girl. She is getting tired of them both, but doesn't want to hurt either one, so I have to lie to them when they call.

I have always taught the girls to be kind and avoid hurting feelings, so I suppose it's my fault that they're involved with so many boys.

How does a mother get uninvolved? If I were to tell these boys the truth, they'd be terribly hurt.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: It's commendable to teach your daughters to be kind, but you should also teach them to be honest. Stringing boys along is dishonest. Start telling it like it is, Mom, and encourage your daughters to do the same.

LAFF-A-DAY

I'm not quite certain what your problem is yet—but it can't be assumed that you're some kind of weirdo.

GUEST ARTISTS—Lora Deahl, left, and Barbara Barber will present a piano-violin recital at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College. Both are members of the faculty at Texas Tech University and also perform many times each year as soloists and with ensembles. The recital is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Co-Leader Plugs For Beeferendum

"Cattle producers can do something to help themselves and assure a better future for their industry," says O.J. Barron, Spur rancher and co-chairman of the Texas Beeferendum. "They can vote on a self-help program of beef research, information and market development."

To vote, Feb. 19-22, cattlemen must register at their ASCS office, before Feb. 6. They may register and vote absentee, however, by requesting both forms from the ASCS office. Any person who owned cattle during 1979 is entitled to vote.

"Beeferendum is a national movement by cattlemen, seeking to help themselves," says Barron. "It's a cattlemen's program all the way - initiated by cattlemen, to be financed by cattlemen and run by cattlemen - all aimed at helping cattlemen."

"If approved by a majority of those voting, 20¢ out of each $100 value added to an animal will be deducted at sale time," explains Barron, "but those not wishing to participate may request a refund and get it immediately."

The funds raised, estimated at $40 million per year, says Barron, will be used to fight anti-beef propaganda ... promote the nutritional value of beef ... combat beef substitutes ... counter extremes in the cattle cycle ... expand foreign markets ... and increase demand for beef.

"We are disappointed," he said, "that some self-serving leaders are opposing the self-help program by cattlemen. They either are misinformed about the program or are intentionally and maliciously attempting to mislead cattlemen."

"Contrary to their misleading claims," he continued, "this program will be run by cattlemen and cattlemen only."

Gold closed Tuesday at $670.50 in London and $675 in Zurich, and then climbed sharply in later New York trading, hitting $700 at the end of business.

through a Beef Board of 60 cattlemen nominated by existing cattlemen's organizations." The Secretary of Agriculture will have only an oversight role, he added, to assure that producer funds are used to improve beef markets in accordance with the law. Refunds will be made promptly - within 60 days after a valid request is made, Barron said, no extra records will be required, no fines will be levied unless there is fraud or other violation of the law.

"Cattlemen need this program," concludes Barron. "Our current efforts, through the National Live Stock & Meat Board, are not adequate to fight the anti-beef propaganda - that beef causes cancer or heart disease. These false claims, by activists and government, are eroding our markets. If cattlemen don't respond, if we cattlemen aren't willing to help ourselves, nobody else is going to."

Gold Above $700 Again

LONDON (AP)—The price of gold climbed back above $700 an ounce in Europe today, then slid below that level in morning trading. The dollar declined against most of the world's major currencies.

Gold closed in Hong Kong at $717.74, up $74.22 from Tuesday's close.

Bullion then opened in both London and Zurich at $717, but by mid-morning had fallen back to $693 in London and $697 in the Swiss center.

After reaching an all-time high of $875 in New York Jan. 21, the bullion price first fell sharply and then fluctuated erratically as bouts of profit-taking hit the market. But it has been making a net comeback this week.

Gold closed Tuesday at $670.50 in London and $675 in Zurich, and then climbed sharply in later New York trading, hitting $700 at the end of business.

North Buried By Snow

By The Associated Press
Bitter cold gripped the Northwest and northern Plains today as a storm that soaked California and whipped winds up to 70 mph dumped heavy snow in the Rockies and spread into the Great Plains.

The heaviest snow fell in the intermountain region, and Salt Lake City had a record snowfall for January with nearly 11 inches in a 24-hour period. Durango, Colo., received 19 inches of snow by Tuesday afternoon.

A jetliner was stuck in snow at the airport in Salt Lake City and a baby was born to a woman stranded at a Highway Patrol station.

In California, mudslides forced the evacuation of 85 homes in San Bernadino. In San Diego Bay, 15 small boats were sunk or damaged.

In Oregon and Washington, the demand for electricity in sub-zero temperatures overloaded power lines and caused several power failures.

Four deaths were attributed to the weather. A teen-age girl and two motorists were swept away as 7 inches of rain swelled southern California streams. In Portland, Ore., a 72-year-old man was found dead after he wandered away from a nursing home in 4-below-zero weather.

Rain across Texas turned to freezing rain in the Southern Plains.

There were sub-zero readings in South Dakota and Wyoming, and light snow spread into the middle Mississippi Valley.

Temperatures around the nation early this morning ranged from -27 in Warroad, Minn., to 67 in Key West, Fla.

Here are some early morning temperatures and conditions around the nation:

Eastern U.S.: Atlanta 32, clear; Boston 20, cloudy; Cincinnati 15, cloudy; Cleveland 4, clear; Detroit 9, clear; Miami 60, clear; New York 24, windy; Pittsburgh 10, cloudy; Washington 23, clear.

Central U.S.: Denver 6, sleet; Des Moines 11, snow; Fort Worth 35, foggy; Indianapolis 15, cloudy; Kansas City 17, snow; Minneapolis St. Paul 1, cloudy.

Course In Farm Records Rescheduled

A new course in Farm and Ranch Records has been scheduled by the Adult Vocational Education Division of Western Texas College.

This course had originally been set for Feb. 11-14 for the first week and Feb. 18-21 of the second week.

Due to the stock show for Scurry county being scheduled the week of February 13-16, the Adult Vocational Education Division will re-schedule this course to begin on Feb. 18 and end on Feb. 28. Classes will be Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of the two weeks.

Fee for this course will be $25 per student. The class will meet in Building 7D, Room 110 on the campus at Western Texas College. Times will be 6:30 to 9:30 each night, giving each student 24 hours of class time.

Kent Mills, assistant professor of farm and ranch management will be the instructor.

The following topics will be discussed: Types and uses of records, setting up a record system (inventory, expenses, depreciation schedule, payroll, accounts payable-receivable, income, enterprise accounts, feed records, field records) Keeping records, single-entry, double-entry, analyzing records, summary of records, analysis of year's records, comparison of previous year's records, efficiency and profit maximization, farm budgeting and planning, use of previous records, projecting costs, projecting income, income tax, rules and regulations, records and forms, and getting help and advice.

In 1976-77 the sale of BBC television programs overseas amounted to 8,000 hours of programming in 82 countries.

Deducting Union Dues From State Paychecks Upsets Gov. Clements

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Bill Clements, upset by an attorney general's opinion that says union dues can be deducted from state paychecks, has told his staff to go to work on legislation to put a stop to this nonsense.

Clements said Tuesday that allowing a dues checkoff is "a classic example of the camel getting his nose under the tent."

Attorney General Mark White has said State Comptroller Bob Bullock can allow the union dues checkoff. Bullock said he would recognize any union formed by employees in his department.

Texas union leaders said they were encouraged by the opinion.

Clements, speaking to the Republican Forum of Austin luncheon, made it clear he does not think a state employee union is needed.

"I am opposed to such a ruling," he said of the attorney general's opinion. "I am for our right to work laws totally."

The governor said, "The people of Texas don't want this. I know they don't want it and I don't want it."

His comments were in response to an audience question. Another local resident asked what the governor's office can do about the court-ordered busing plan scheduled to go into effect in August.

"I'm sorry to report that in this particular case I know of nothing I can do," he said.

Clements said his staff has scanned the law but was unable to find any power under which the governor can do anything about the plan.

"I am absolutely against busing," he said.

Clements also was asked about his state employee reduction plan. The governor said it is not an "across-the-board" 5 percent cut in employees.

"Each agency must be considered on a case-by-case situation," he said, adding some agencies might cut more or less than 5 percent, and some agencies might have an increase.

Cocaine Found In Bag Returned To Airline

LUBBOCK (AP)—A Texas Tech professor noted when he boarded a plane in Dallas last week for his final leg on a return from a business trip to Florida, that his garment bag felt heavier than before.

He put it in the small passenger closet, as he had three times previously in the day, then "was disgusted" when he unzipped the bag in Lubbock and discovered the clothes weren't even similar to his, he said.

But almost 100 packets of cocaine, worth $200,000 on the street, were discovered in the bag after the professor, who asked to remain anonymous, left it with airline officials in Lubbock.

The Drug Administration says the professor's inadvertent switch of bags has led to a break in what may be a major southern U.S. drug trafficking ring, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal said Tuesday in a copyright story.

The frantic owner called the professor the next day and arranged with airline officials to have the bag returned to Nashville, Tenn.

"He just said he had some important papers and stuff in there and would lose his job if he didn't get it back. I wanted my bag back, too," said the professor, unaware at the time of the cocaine that was in the bag.

A small quantity of cocaine was left in the suit bag for its return trip to Tennessee, and a fake substance was left in place of the other packets, officials said.

A DEA agent was on the plane with the bag and arrested the two men who claimed the bag at the airport over the weekend.

The professor said he changed planes four times last Wednesday on his return to Lubbock, but was unsure when the switch occurred.

Drug Enforcement Administration officials in Nashville confirmed the accidental bag exchange netted two suspected cocaine traffickers in the city, but declined further comment because the investigation is continuing.

Sources told the Avalanche-Journal other arrests in the Nashville area are likely.

Pro Basketball Wrapup

Walton Back On Court Once More

By The Associated Press
Bill Walton, appearing in his first regular-season game in almost two years, played 15 minutes Tuesday night. That was five minutes less than the Cleveland Cavaliers and Los Angeles Lakers played. AFTER the end of regulation time, "I was really happy out there. I feel great," said Walton, who scored eight points, grabbed four rebounds and blocked one shot as the San Diego Clippers broke a six-game National Basketball Association losing streak by defeating the Phoenix Suns 133-121. "This was a real special night for me, and the nicest thing is I know tomorrow is going to be better." The Cavaliers and Lakers must have thought tomorrow would never come. "You want to take a week's vacation after one like that," Lakers' Coach Paul Westhead sighed after Cleveland's Mike Mitchell sank two free throws with two seconds remaining in the fourth overtime to give the Cavaliers a 154-153 victory. Elsewhere, the Atlanta Hawks downed the Washington Bullets 98-82, the Boston Celtics turned back the Chicago Bulls 103-99, the Kansas City Kings trimmed the Denver Nuggets 121-111, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Portland Trail Blazers 103-96, the Indiana Pacers trounced the Houston Rockets 133-112 and the Golden State Warriors whipped the Detroit Pistons 111-100. Walton, a 6-foot-11 center whose last regular-season appearance was on Feb. 28, 1978, as a member of the Portland Trail Blazers before he was sidelined with a broken foot, entered the game with 1:44 left in the first period to a standing ovation from a San Diego crowd of 11,428. His layup with 2:15 left in the third period snapped an 87-87 tie and gave the Clippers a lead they never relinquished. Cavaliers 154, Lakers 153. Los Angeles' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 15 of his 42 points in the first three overtimes but was fouled out with 18 seconds remaining in the final extra period and the Lakers leading 151-150. Bill Wiloughby made two free throws to put the Cavaliers up 152-151 and LA's Norm Nixon was credited with a basket on a goal-tending call against Wiloughby with five seconds left. But Mitchell then drove the lane and was fouled by Jim Chones, setting the stage for his winning free throws.

Mitchell scored 34 points, Dave Robisch added 32 and Randy Smith 30 for the Cavaliers.

Three Rivers, the defending national champion, is No. 3 with 141 votes.

Midland College, beaten only twice this season and both times at the hands of Western Texas, dropped from fifth to sixth, replaced by Casper, Wyo. The only other Texas team in the poll, Tyler Junior College, dropped from ninth to No. 11 though improving its record from 17-2 to 20-2.

Westark, Ark., 15-0, is the only other unbeaten team in the poll. Westark picked up five votes to jump from No. 18 to the No. 14 spot this week.

Cage Tilts Postponed; Rescheduled Thursday

LAMESA—icy roads and the possible threat of worse weather to come led Snyder and Lamesa High School officials to postpone Tuesday's basketball games here.

The contests have been rescheduled for Thursday evening, beginning at 4:30 with a boys JV game and followed by boys and girls varsity games at 6:15 and 8 respectively, all at Lamesa Junior High School Gym.

Should the highways be impassable again Thursday, officials are expected to opt for Saturday. Making up the contests this week is a near necessity, as the UIL permits no more than two games a week for any varsity team, and both Snyder and Lamesa have full schedules for the rest of the season.

Snyder's girls defeated Lamesa 72-38 earlier in the year and will be highly favored again Thursday. The Felines went 3-1 in round-one, tying with San Angelo Lake View and Sweetwater for the title. Thursday's action here against the Tors, 0-4, will tip off round-two play for the girls.

In boys play, still in round-one, both Snyder and Lamesa are tied with 2-0 conference records. Snyder will host Brownfield on Friday, while Lamesa has Sweetwater left to play. Brownfield is currently 2-1 in loop wars while Lake View is 0-3 and Sweetwater is 0-2.

Though the Tigers cannot afford to discount Brownfield, Thursday's game here is expected to all but crown a first-round champion in District 3-AAA.

In similar circumstances last year, Lamesa nipped a No. 3 state-ranked Tiger team 51-50 in Lamesa. Snyder returned the favor on its home court, and later won a district playoff held in Big Spring.

Like last season, Snyder goes into the game with an impressive 19-4 record and is again state-ranked, this time No. 2 in class AAA. Lamesa, unranked, carries a healthy 15-6 record.

Sideline Glances On Thin Ice...

Dusters To The Rescue!

By BILL McCLELLAN

EVER WONDER by what means Western Texas College's Dusters got their current 20-7 record this season? I think they've been setting folks up, frankly. The Good Samaritan with a streak of devil thrown in. For instance, Coach Joe Cushing's gals slid over to Levelland Monday night and pounded the stuffing out of South Plains. Put on a man-to-man, or woman-to-woman maybe, defense, and out-pointed the Texanettes 45-14 in the first half. Won the game 88-51.

Nothing kindly about that at all. BUT SOMETHING occurred on the way back that even a Texanette fan would admit deserves applause. Seems the girls were homebound, dodging patches of ice in the wee hours of the morning, when they came upon a truck that had apparently jack-knifed just outside of Post.

Occupants inside the vehicle - which was off the road and in a ditch - signaled to the Duster bus for help. After some maneuvering, Cushing managed to stop about a half-mile down the road, turn around and offer assistance.

THE TRUCK, carting two Pennsylvanians, was practically totaled it is said, yet the driver was suffering only from a few cuts and bruises. His partner had been sacked out in a sleeper behind the cabin and was unhurt.

After treating the afore-mentioned minor abrasions and making their unexpected guests comfortable - Cushing lauded the special care provided for by freshman Jennifer Gregg - the truckers were brought to Snyder where they went about searching for a wrecker...and no doubt, a hot cup of coffee. The Dusters, after doing all they could to help, finally got into the dorm somewhere around 3 a.m.

NOW I ask, who could expect that these seemingly sweet and innocent ladies - these protectors of fellow man who ventured into below freezing weather, down in an icy ditch early in the morning to offer help to those who might have been seriously hurt - who could expect they would turn into swish-slammng fast break artists the minute a ball is placed into their hands on a warm wooden floor? See what I mean?

Anyway, neither man was injured enough to need medical care, but fellow truckers may wonder about their mental health when they tell the story about a busload of young women and a kindly gent who came to their aid during a cold and rather eventful night in West Texas.

YOUR GOOD deed now done Dusters, feel free to go out and stomp Ranger here Friday night.

Burglary, Drug Overdose Logged

A burglary, an overdose of drugs, and four minor traffic accidents have been reported to police officers.

Reporting the burglary was Ronnie Gemes, 706 30th St. He told Lt. Clay Scogin and patrolman Don Cheek someone took four guns from his residence, plus some cash. Total loss was pegged at $590. That report was received about 12:15 p.m.

Police are also investigating an incident early this morning in which an 18-year-old man was picked up by Palmer EMS and taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where he was treated for an overdose. Reports show the man is alleged to have taken phenobarbital. Police were notified of the case about 12:50 a.m.

The first mishap reported yesterday was at 10:45 a.m. in the 2500 block of El Paso. Reports show a road sign had been struck by a vehicle which left the scene of the accident.

About 11 a.m., a two-vehicle collision was reported in the 1900 block of 37th St. Involved in it were a 1974 Ford driven by Ricky Eades and a parked 1972 Chevrolet, owned by Jose Madera. It was worked by Don Cheek.

A 1978 Cadillac driven by Mary Bloomer Dulaney and a 1977 Oldsmobile driven by Linda Monk West collided about 3:15 p.m. in the parking lot of Everybody's Thriftway.

Grocery. That accident was worked by Joe Bob Martinez.

The final accident reported was at Cogdell Memorial Hospital where a parked 1973 Oldsmobile owned by Auris Whiteside was struck by a vehicle which left the scene. The accident was reported at 4:40 p.m., but is said to have occurred between the 24th and 29th of this month. It was worked by Buddy Kinney.

Felony Charges Of DWI Filed

Felony drunken driving charges have been filed against two men.

Charged are Ralph Lane Johnston, 2201 41st St., and Junior Mata Herrera, Lubbock.

Johnston has been released after posting bond, but Herrera remains in the county jail for probation revocation proceedings.

Both men had been arrested by city police.

Sentence Levied

One man was sentenced Tuesday afternoon in county court.

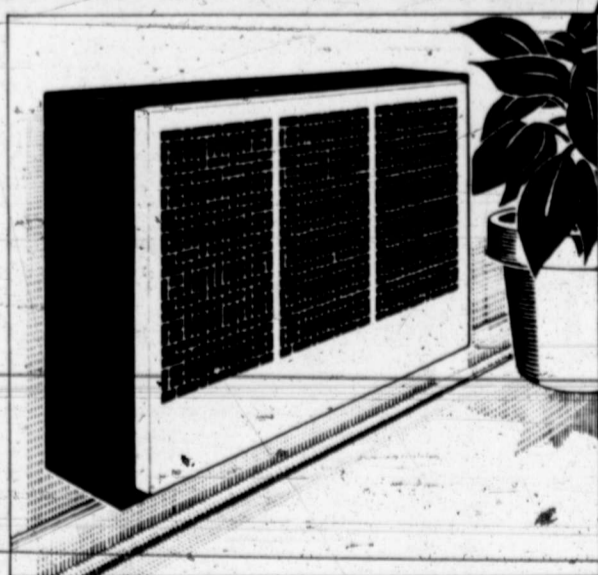

Steven Bryan Johnson, 3707 Galveston, received a $200 fine and a 30-day jail sentence that was probated six months following his guilty plea to a charge of drunken driving.

As a part of the sentence, he was also ordered to attend a drug abuse program, at Western Texas College, court reports show.
