Khomeini Condemns Soviets

By The Associated Press
Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini today strongly condemned the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan and pledged "unconditional" support for the Moslem rebels in Iran's eastern neighbor.

In his first comment on the Soviet move into Afghanistan in late December, Khomeini said it is the duty of Moslems everywhere to oppose aggression around the world.

"We strongly condemn the military invasion of Afghanistan," the 79-year-old religious leader said in a message delivered by his son to tens of thousands of Iranians gathered to celebrate the birthday of the Prophet Mohammed.

Seeking Aid For Pakistan

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP)—U.S. National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski, looking for international partners in an American aid program for Pakistan, flew in to Saudi Arabia today for meetings with leaders of this wealthy and staunchly anti-communist kingdom.

The United States has offered Pakistan $400 million in military and economic assistance over two years because of the Soviet intervention in neighboring Afghanistan. In the Pakistani capital of Islamabad over the weekend, Brzezinski told officers this was "only the beginning of the United States response to the threat."

He did not indicate how much more the Pakistanis might get, but added, "We hope that other countries also will indicate what they wish to contribute."

More Oil Price Hikes

TOKYO (AP)—Indonesia, Nigeria and Algeria raised the price of their crude oil today. They were the eighth, ninth and 10th members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to raise prices in a week.

Indonesia raised its price $2, from $27.50 to $29.50 a barrel, Japanese clients reported. Nigeria and Algeria announced over the weekend they would increase prices from $30 to $34 per barrel, effective today.

The prices now range from a low of $26 charged by Saudi Arabia, which started the ball rolling Jan. 28, to the $34 charged by Nigeria and Algeria.

Dropping Charges Too Little

DALLAS (AP)—It's not enough that a 25-year-old nurse has dropped rape charges against boxed Ed "Too Tall" Jones, she also must stop saying the rape took place, says an attorney for the former defensive end for the Dallas Cowboys.

"Nobody wants to harm this woman," said Dallas lawyer Fred Time.

"But she keeps saying, 'I dropped charges, but he still raped me.'"

"The only way we would not do anything is if she comes out and says she was not raped. At this point, we will leave it up to her."

However, Time refused to confirm reports that a libel suit is being considered against the woman.

French Embassy Attacked

PARIS (AP)—The French embassy in the Libyan capital of Tripoli was attacked and burned by a mob of demonstrators today, the Foreign Ministry announced. All embassy personnel escaped unharmed, a ministry spokesman said.

It was the second attack on a Western embassy in Tripoli in about two months. On Dec. 2, about 2,000 Libyans chanting support for Iran stormed and ransacked the American Embassy.

Sources here said Ambassador Claude Malo was the last person to leave the embassy building and reached his residence safely. Communications with the embassy were cut, they said.

Teachers Picket In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Union teachers formally struck the debt-ridden Chicago school system today to protest staff cuts, walking picket lines at some schools and forcing students to stay home for a sixth school day.

County Approves Tax Office Plan

Participation by four of six taxing entities in contracts for appraisal service and collection of taxes with the new county-wide appraisal board and the county tax office has been assured, and the other two agencies are scheduled to take action tonight.

Scurry County Commissioners Court this morning voted unanimously in favor of a resolution to contract with the appraisal district for its services. The tax collections will continue from the county tax office. In fact, all other taxing entities have indicated that they will contract with the county tax office for their collections, and those who have approved participation in the appraisal district also adopted resolutions for collections as well.

Billy Huddleston, president of the Scurry County Taxpayers Association, told county commissioners this morning that the association was opposed to creation of the appraisal district until it becomes mandatory in 1982. He said some entities would be getting "a free ride at the expense of others" if cost of operating the district is allocated in a manner other than on the basis of the levy.

The entities involved in Scurry County are proposing a funding plan worked out last week for the first year of operation.

The Snyder School Board and the Ira School Board approved the plan last week. Scurry County Junior College District trustees have not taken formal action, but an informal poll indicated approval. The college district is not a voting member of the appraisal district, but has been contracting with the county for its tax assessing and collecting.

The Snyder City Council and Hermeligh School Board are scheduled to consider the proposal in sessions tonight.

AREA RECOGNITION—These Snyder High School Distributive Education Students received area recognition Saturday at San Angelo. From left, Carrie Ninsworth, Destry Greenway and Tammy Justice all won first place awards; Jo Beth Stephens received fourth place recognition, and Terry Thames received a second place trophy. The first place winners advance to state competition next month in Houston. Angelo State University hosted the area conference attended by 500 students. (SDN Staff Photos)

Stacy Dam Dispute In Austin Judge's Hands

Whether the Colorado River Municipal Water District has a valid permit to impound a lake on the Colorado River near Stacy is now in the hands of 53rd District Judge Herman Jones in Austin.

Oral arguments by attorneys closed at 3:20 p.m. Friday, and Judge Jones wryly observed that "I'll try not to keep you waiting as long as in your previous hearing." Action on CRMWD's application shattered all records for a water permit — 31 days of testimony. Actually, it has been on file since October 1977.

Whatever the judge's decision, it likely will be appealed. LCRA attorney Fred Werkenhain hinted as much when he referred to the "long and bitter struggle" between upstream and downstream, and which may continue long into the future.

LCRA challenged the permit on the grounds that not enough unappropriated water is available, that the permit is not in the public interest, that its language is too vague, that invoking the Wagstaff Act (which gives municipalities priority over superior rights in times of emergency) was improper, and that it was illegally wrong for Dorsey B. Hardeman, one of the members, to sit in the hearing because he once had represented San Angelo on another Stacy proposal by the U.S. Corps of Engineers. Lake-Side-Garwood Irrigation and Lake Travis Improvement Association joined in the protest of the permit.

CRMWD attorneys and officials feel that the crux is whether there is unappropriated water sufficient for the estimated 113,000 acre foot yield of Stacy. "The prime issue is whether there is unappropriated water," said O.H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager. "In our view, and the TWC concurred, there is sufficient water, and that the permit language protects the downstream rights." Frank Booth, attorney for CRMWD, felt the case was one of substantial evidence, which he said showed West Texas will desperately need the water of Stacy within another decade. He cited testimony of Robert S. Gooch, CRMWD's expert hydrologist, that even with Stacy in place and all the rights and needs of the lower basin projected for the next 50 years, there still will be 267,000 acre feet of water available for downstream uses. To the claim that Stacy would dry up

ESTHER BOREN
Mrs. Boren Dies Sunday

Mrs. Esther Boren, 79, who lived at 2701 32nd St., died at 10:30 a.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First United Methodist Church. The Rev. David Robertson will officiate. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Boren was an active civic worker in Snyder for a number of years and was prominent in activities of the Scurry County Historical Commission. She was one of the commission's charter members and served as head of the committee in charge of marking places of historical interest in the county. She came to be recognized as one of the most successful in this field in the entire state.

She is survived by her husband, Wayne Boren, a son, John J. Boren of Chevy Chase, Md., and two grandchildren.

More Bodies From Prison Rioting Found

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Fires still burned in the New Mexico State Prison today as hundreds of prisoners huddled in tents outside the compound and stories unfolded of hellish murder, torture and mutilations that left at least 35 inmates dead and scores wounded.

Officials said they expected to find more bodies—perhaps as many as nipe—when they were able to get inside the prison gymnasium which was still burning.

"I would say we are anticipating as many as 42 total," said Sgt. George Ulibarri of the New Mexico State Police. "I would expect there are a number of bodies in the gymnasium."

The 36 hours of carnage at the prison, recaptured by National Guard and state police Sunday afternoon, was the most serious since the 1971 Attica riot in New York state left 43 persons dead.

State officials said it may cost as much as $50 million to replace the state's only maximum-security prison which was built to house 850 and was holding 1,136 when the riot erupted early Saturday. In the meantime, Gov. Bruce King appealed today to neighboring states to take some of the prisoners, who spent the night in tents guarded by 250 National Guardsmen and about 30 policemen.

While some predicted the death toll would soar as the remaining fires were put out, particularly in the gymnasium, officials were appalled at what they saw when they entered the compound.

A headless corpse was propped up in a courtyard. One prisoner had his eyes gouged out. Another apparently had his arm hurled from atop a building. A blowtorch was turned on the face of another.

The rioters, who ransacked prison offices and found confidential records, turned on informers with savage revenge, officials said. Many were attacked with meat cleavers and burned.

"There was blood all over, against the wall, smeared around," said Lt. Richard Montoya, who headed the Special Weapons And Tactics team that led the move to regain control of the prison.

A torch of some kind apparently had been applied to the face of one victim, he said, and another's eyes had been gouged out.

"From what we understand there was no racial tension involved," said state police Maj. Charlie Anaya. "It was getting all the snitchers."

Late Sunday, 32 prisoner deaths had been confirmed, said Anaya.

One guard and nine inmates were listed in critical condition from the violence that ended Sunday in surrender, with no shot fired by police of the 100 guardsmen. Seven guards and 55 inmates were admitted to hospitals and 14 inmates were treated for drug overdose from medical supplies passed around freely on the takeover's first day.

Officials feared the death toll would soar when the contents of the prison's charred gymnasium were known.

B.J. BARTELS
B. J. Bartels In Race For Commissioner

Bernhard J. Bartels announced today that he is a candidate for county commissioner of Precinct No. 3 in the Republican Primary set for May 3.

Bartels, the county chairman of the Republican Party, said he had decided to make the race at the urging of friends and supporters and "because I believe the people of Scurry County deserve a choice at such an important position." He said he was resigning as county party chairman and that his platform was to strive for a conservative, efficient county government.

Bartels has a bachelor of science degree in engineering from the University of Texas and has had six years experience as an engineer. He has farmed in the Knapp Community six years and east of Snyder for the last 27 years. He was named top conservation farmer in 1977 by the Upper Colorado River Soil and Water Conservation District.

A member of First United Methodist Church, which he has served as finance chairman and chairman of the administrative board, he has been active in Boy Scout work 20 years and helped organize the Snyder Child Day Care Center, serving on its original board as treasurer. He has served as county Republican chairman several years and he and his wife, Lois, reside at 2306 32nd St.

Q—I notice that Scurry County had its biggest cotton crop in history and was wondering if the state also set a record.

A—The State Agriculture Department reported recently that Texas farmers produced 5.7 million bales of upland cotton in 1979, the largest crop in 30 years.

2-Party Race Develops Here

Political activity picked up this morning in Scurry County as the deadline for candidates to file for places on primary election, ballots approached, and a two-party race was assured for one county office.

Bernhard J. Bartels, County Republican Chairman, announced that he was resigning that position to become a candidate for county commissioner in Precinct No. 3. The primary elections will be held on May 3.

A contest also was assured in the race for county attorney when George Killam, the incumbent, announced that he would seek re-election. Gary Terrell had announced for that post earlier. Both are seeking the Democratic Party nomination.

A third candidate for county commissioner in Precinct 3 loomed as John Thomas filed the required notice with the county clerk designating a campaign treasurer. He listed himself as treasurer for a race for the commissioner's post.

Other contested races, all in the Democratic primary, include Wayland G. Holt, incumbent, and James Clark for district judge; Keith Collier, incumbent, and Bobby Goodwin for sheriff; and Bill Love, incumbent, and Lloyd Merritt for constable in Precinct No. 1.

There was still no word on a candidate for district attorney. Pete Greene, the incumbent, was busy with a grand jury session this morning.

The deadline for candidates to file for the primary elections is 6 p.m. today.

WASHINGTON (NEA) Overlooked in the haste to designate the winners and losers of Iowa's recent precinct caucuses is an important message from the citizens of that state about the health of the body politic.

The record-breaking turnout for those elections suggests that fears of voter alienation, frustration, malaise and assorted other ailments may be like the premature reports of Mark Twain's death, greatly exaggerated.

The Iowa experience is somewhat atypical because of the state's status as host for the first round of the presidential selection process. As a result, the candidates lavished on the contest inordinate amounts of everything from their personal time to their contributors' money.

But the unprecedented levels of enthusiastic participation by both Republicans and Democrats clearly indicates that voters can and will become deeply involved in the political process if there is an appealing, well-publicized contest on the ballot.

The contrast between previous campaigns and this year's experience in Iowa is especially striking. Some examples:

Political organization. In 1976, only one candidate, Jimmy Carter, then a little-noticed contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, worked to establish a grass-roots political organization reaching into virtually all of the state's 99 counties, many of them rural and isolated.

This year, three candidates - President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, both Democrats, and Republican George Bush - committed the substantial amounts of money, time and personnel necessary to attain that goal.

Financing. Candidate expenditures in 1976 totaled approximately $200,000, divided about equally between Republican and Democratic candidates. As recently as 1968, all of the candidates probably spent a combined total of less than $50,000.

When the final figures are available, the total this year is expected to be about $3 million, with at least two candidates - Democrat Kennedy and Republican John B. Connally - probably approaching the federally imposed ceiling of $465,000 to $490,000 per contestant.

Not far behind them, with Iowa budgets of approximately $400,000, are Democrat Carter and Republicans George Bush, Ronald W. Reagan and Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr.

Advertising. Connally reportedly spent more than $25,000 this year to purchase advertising in weekly and small daily newspapers alone. That was more than any candidate allocated to his total Iowa advertising budget in 1976.

All forms of advertising this year consumed almost $750,000 of the various candidates' budgets, with at least two-thirds of that amount devoted to radio and television commercials.

News coverage. Although Iowa has been holding precinct caucuses for decades, virtually no news accounts of the results were disseminated out of the state prior to 1976.

This year, more than 300 journalists were accredited to cover the debate among the Republican contenders. More than 1,000 requests for press credentials were received from those planning to cover the Democratic debate before it was canceled because of Carter's withdrawal.

Voter participation: The previous high-water mark for turnout were 100,000 Republicans in 1952 and 75,000 Democrats in 1958. Four years ago, about 24,500 Republicans and 38,500 Democrats participated in the caucuses.

This year, approximately 100,000 Democrats and 110,000 to 120,000 Republicans set new records for both parties. There were minor traffic jams in some communities on the night of the caucuses.

Those voters fulfilled Baker's request to turn the Iowa precinct caucuses into the 1980 "functional equivalent" of New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary.

Those participants also irrevocably altered the future of this year's presidential race - and offered renewed hope for the vitality of the American political system.

February 5, 1980

This coming year should be an exciting one. You may find yourself much more active than usual doing things you may have never tried before. All of which may prove extremely fruitful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Unusual influences that could contribute to you materially or add to your resources in some manner are stirring today. Look for some unique opportunities.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Friends and contacts are willing to put themselves out for you today. You won't have to ask them to go to bat for you. It will be their idea.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Gaining the approval or cooperation you are seeking stands a better chance of being realized today if you're not too obvious about your motives.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You could meet somebody through another today who might become more than an acquaintance. You could find that you share an unusual interest.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you think something different will work in order to gain your ends, give it a shot. Bold, unorthodox methods can pay off handsomely today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A new insight into a better way of getting along with someone important to you will come to you today. Be sure to follow through on your fresh approach.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Give your attention to those who mean the most to you today. They'll respond in kind, making for a most happy time for all.

LIBRA (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An opportunity may present itself today to clear the air with someone you feel you've been close to than you'd like. It will be a good meeting.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This could prove to be a very interesting day where your social life is concerned. It could even lead to advancing your romantic interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Someone whose company you enjoy may pop in on you unexpectedly at some today. The reason for the visit might be unusual, but happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You could find yourself in very entertaining company today, particularly if you're attending a social function. It should prove exciting.

politics still risky

The Iowa precinct caucus results prove again how risky political predictions can be.

Only weeks ago, every poll and prognosticator had Sen. Kennedy and Gov. Reagan as shoo-in winners in the nation's first presidential preference test. That both in so short a time should come in second indicates how volatile the U.S. electorate has become.

President Carter's crushing victory and George Bush's stunning upset serve special notice, therefore, of why we should avoid attaching finality to the Iowa caucuses. Too much can happen on the long primary trail between now and the summer conventions.

Even so, Iowa is not without enormous significance. The caucus message from the heartland of America to Iran, the Soviet Union and to the world is that President Carter has broad, public support in grappling with current international problems.

The first winnowing our candidates carries its own message, confirming front-runners and consigning others to the lagging pack. Of the two early and now chastened leaders, Sen. Kennedy can be said to have lost much more than Gov. Reagan because a two-to-one defeat against an incumbent president of his own party is not an easy thing to overcome. Under the circumstances, supporters and contributors are going to be especially wary.

Gov. Reagan's surprise setback will undoubtedly spur him to the sort of campaigning that enabled him four years ago to overcome several initial primary defeats and pull even with President Ford. He enjoys some advantage over Mr. Bush in the early, important New Hampshire primary, where he has reason to hope he can build his base from the 1976 campaign into a solid victory next month.

George Bush's emergence as a serious challenger to Mr. Reagan simplifies the crowded GOP field, lending as it does less credibility to the presidential bids of Rep. Phil Crane, Rep. John Anderson and Sen. Robert Dole, who received only 14 percentage support altogether. John Connally was a big loser in Iowa because he trailed in fourth place with less than 10 percent despite spending the most money and campaigning as hard as anyone. By gaining 14 percent and third place, Sen. Howard Baker's candidacy survived Iowa, and he remains at least a contender for the upcoming New England tests. Although it appears Iowa may have narrowed the crowded GOP field to Bush vs. Reagan, it would be premature to rule out Howard Baker or even John Connally.

Sen. Kennedy's fall from grace, his first political defeat, was so complete that it suggests more than a rallying around the president during a time of troubles. In his first campaign outside the narrow confines of his native Massachusetts, the senator showed himself to be far less adroit than his illustrious brothers. Therefore, this rupturing of the Kennedy mystique may not be the least of Iowa's consequences.

By devoting a solid month of his time to organizing and campaigning in Iowa, George Bush followed the strategy that lifted Jimmy Carter's candidacy from oblivion four years ago. But in defeating a front-runner of Ronald Reagan's stature and star-power, he achieved even more than Mr. Carter, whose rivals in 1976 were lackluster and not-so-famous. Mr. Bush did this by offering Iowans an attractive alternative to Mr. Reagan - wide experience and knowledge in foreign affairs and a candidate in the prime of life. Although Mr. Reagan is still regarded as the man to beat, suddenly he appears more vulnerable than seemed possible only last week. And he must now wonder why he permitted his Eastern managers to squeeze his loyal California hands out of his campaign organization.

The surprise and excitement attending the Iowa caucuses must pale as more than 30 other state contests grind down to the conventions amidst a circus-like hoopla that confounds our friends abroad. But we have only to contemplate the convulsions that usually attend the replacing of old leaders by new ones in Communist countries to see that, as Winston Churchill once observed, our system is the worst except all the others.

And we even manage to have some fun at it.

don't misread iowa

Mister President, don't misread Iowa!

There's a euphoria that comes with any political victory; a fellow is likely to start believing his own press agents.

Applause is a narcotic. Men as strong as you have OD'd on it.

The victor gets to thinking that his leadership has been anointed with infallibility. A President of the United States can begin to imagine that he has been elected President of the World.

You were not, sir. Within hours of the Iowa caucuses, the White House sprang a leak.

"The President is considering asking Congress to revive the military draft," we were told.

During your campaign for the Presidency and as recently as last August you were rejecting any idea of resuming registration for military service, let alone the draft.

Don't misread Iowa, Mr. President.

Iowa voted confidence in "Cool Hand Carter"; the hip-shooters also ran. The most hawkish of the candidates, Reagan and Connally were rejected.

It's a temptation for any President to divert attention from home-front problems with overseas preoccupation.

Focusing our attention on Iran and Afghanistan, American are less anxious about the fact that their dollar has cancer.

By reviving the military draft you could sweep unemployed young people from the streets and into uniform.

And the title "Commander in Chief" is enhanced when there are more numbers to command.

But preoccupation with the affairs of other nations at the expense of home-front freedoms is not what Iowa was voting for.

Indeed, no disrespect meant, Mr. President, but I'm not sure Iowa voted for you at all.

Iowa voted against an alternative candidate whose mismanaged personal affairs challenged his credibility to manage public affairs.

And Iowa, despite a locally hurtful grain embargo, endorsed what it thought was your preference - waging peace with economic pressure. Iowa expressed its indelible patriotism, its support of our country's elected leadership. What an awesome obligation that imposes on you.

If you go back on your word with a military draft indicating that you intend to fight tomorrow's wars with the weapons which have lost the last two-you will hear from Iowa again.

jim abrams unwanted fish eggs

TOKYO (AP)-A large marine-products trading company, caught with a cache of unwanted golden eggs, has gone out of business in the seventh-largest bankruptcy in Japanese history. It's an example of what can happen to commodities speculators.

Hokusho Co. declared bankruptcy with liabilities of $210 million after trying to make a killing on herring roe, a traditional New Year delicacy in Japan, by cornering the market and pushing prices to double the level of last year.

Consumers balked, putting their pocketbooks before tradition, and Hokusho, left with 1,200 tons of herring roe in its warehouses, was killed by its golden eggs.

Japanese newspapers, usually sympathetic to failing enterprises, called it "a major achievement for consumer resistance."

The trading firm, originally capitalized $830,000, reportedly bought 1,500 tons of the fish eggs from Canada at an average price of $24 a pound, but managed to sell less than 300 tons when retail prices shot up to $47 a pound before the New Year holidays, double the 1978 price. In 1977 the wholesale price was only $8.

A spokesman for Hokusho claimed they were not hoarding. "We were just trying to support the small fishing industries who were in trouble," he said.

However, Hokusho, which has close financial ties with the huge Mitsubishi Corp., was also trapped with too many eggs in one basket last year when it was speculating in the salmon market.

The trading firm, reportedly trying to take advantage of the spiraling price of salmon following the establishment of 200-mile fishing zones in the Pacific, last spring filled their freezers in anticipation of watching their investment grow in value.

However, as a result of a big summer catch, and a drop in sales because of high prices, the wholesale price sank from $34 a pound to $24 last fall, causing losses that were compounded by the herring roe row.

Small fish wholesalers complain that since the spread of 200-mile fishing zones, the major trading companies have zeroed in on the imported fish market, and now handle almost 50 percent of all fish sold. These trading firms have access to freezer space for 7 million tons of fish, equal to the total annual fish consumption in Japan, and thus have the leeway to manipulate market supplies to jack up prices, they say.

However, with the Japanese - the biggest fish-eaters in the industrialized world - consuming a much more varied diet and with the price of good cut tuna selling for up to $9.55 a pound, the same as steak, speculators are fishing in shallow waters.

VALENTINE QUEEN-Susan Chesser was crowned Valentine Queen at the Beta Sigma Phi's dance held Saturday night at the National Guard Armory. Mrs. Chesser will represent the local chapter in the International Queen Contest. Wife of Clinton Chesser and mother of three children, Mrs. Chesser has served as past president and Miss Congeniality. She presently serves on the social committee. She was chosen for this honor by the chapter's members. (SDN Staff Photo)

Workshop For Storytellers

Talespinning: The art and practice, a workshop on storytelling, will be presented at two locations on March 12-13. All participants and potential storytellers are invited to attend. The presentation will be from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. March 12 in Brady at the F.M. (Buck) Richards Memorial Library. The second presentation will be from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. March 13 at the Abilene Public Library auditorium. Twelve Moons Storytellers from Dallas will discuss telling stories, planning for storytelling, using local resources and related topics. For more information contact Mary Nell Bullard at the Scurry County Library, 573-5572.

Baby Shower Held

Mrs. Tom Chorn was a guest of honor at a baby shower held in the home of Mrs. Donna Allen Friday, Feb. 1.

The serving table was laid with a yellow cloth with silver appointments. A large stork surrounded by disposable diapers wrapped and decorated as ABC blocks centered the gift table.

Miniature pecan pies, almond squares, spiced tea and coffee were served by hostesses Nona Bunch, Donna Allen and Laurie Haines.

Keeley Chorn, 2½ year old daughter of Patty and Tom Chorn, was special guest.

Enjoy Strawberries In Winter

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Once upon a time juicy red strawberries were strictly a summer delight. But today we can indulge in them at the height of the winter doldrums. Fresh strawberries make excellent eating with just a dash of whipped cream or with ice cream or yogurt. But you may find them especially attractive and mouth-watering in a strawberry angel chiffon pie. Prepare this pie for a bridal shower, a birthday treat or any other special occasion.

STRAWBERRY angel chiffon pie is a mouthwatering treat.

STRAWBERRY ANGEL CHIFFON PIE

- 1 pint fresh California strawberries
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/2 cup heavy cream
- 2 egg whites
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 9-inch baked pie shell
- Whipped cream for garnish

Puree in electric blender with 1/4 cup of sugar. Or force through food mill and add sugar. Strain thoroughly to remove seeds.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Stir in boiling water until dissolved. Add with lemon juice to strawberry puree. Mix well. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from spoon.

Whip cream. Fold into strawberry mixture.

Beat egg whites with salt until soft peaks form. Gradually add remaining sugar, beating constantly until whites are glossy and stiff. Fold into strawberry mixture.

Spoon into baked pie shell. If mixture isn't stiff enough to mound, chill 10 to 15 minutes before spooning into shell.

Chill 4 hours or overnight. Garnish with reserved strawberries and additional whipped cream as desired.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 9-inch pie.

Loretta Lynn "Rags To Riches" Story

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer COAL MINER'S DAUGHTER boasts two powerful performances: Sissy Spacek as the rags-to-riches country singer Loretta Lynn, and Tommy Lee Jones as her headstrong but persevering husband. Spacek is totally convincing as the 14-year-old bride and mother, interpreting the Lynn songs herself - no lip sync here. Jones brings a vigorous presence to the screen, demonstrating once more that he is capable of important stardom. Director Michael Apted captures the look and sound of hill-country life and the country music scene, but the script falters in the final third. The perils of superstardom have been portrayed from "A Star Is Born" to "The Rose", the Lynn malaise in mid-career adds nothing new, and the cure lacks conviction. Rated PG, but the film contains little to prevent family patronage.

In 1733, trustees of what now is the state of Georgia prohibited rum in the area.

Suspected Spys Would Be Subject To Break Ins

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter is ready to propose that U.S. intelligence agents, with the permission of a secret court, be allowed to burglarize the homes and offices and open the mail of Americans suspected of spying. Though Carter's proposal won't be unveiled before Friday, debate already has begun over whether such intrusions should be regulated strictly or loosely. The first question is whether break-ins and mail-openings should be permitted against any American believed to be acting for a foreign power or whether those tactics should be employed only when there is specific evidence of an American's criminal conduct. If the standard requires evidence of a crime; the next question concerns how much evidence. Civil libertarians are prepared to argue for the most restrictive standard, allowing break-ins and mail-openings only when the secret court finds hard evidence a crime has been or will be committed. But conservatives in Congress seem likely to resist subjecting these tactics to court scrutiny, even in secret. The controversy is developing as Carter polishes details of his proposed comprehensive charter governing intelligence gathering by the CIA, FBI and other agencies.

Carter, in his State of the Union message, said increased U.S. Soviet tensions require loosening some of the restrictions placed on these agencies after past abuses came to light in the 1970s. Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, D-Ky., chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee's charter subcommittee, said last week the charter would legalize some spying on Ameriicans whenever the president ruled an investigation was "essential to the national security." But Carter's proposal will require court warrants for mail-openings or break-ins, known as "black bag jobs," said Huddleston, a participant in months of charter negotiations with the administration. The warrant responsibility would rest with the seven-member court created two years ago to review government requests for permission to use wiretaps or other electronic surveillance in foreign intelligence cases. Those requests, the court's hearings and even its written decisions are all classified secret.

Senator Rebuffs Tactics Of FBI

WASHINGTON (AP)—One U.S. senator angrily rebuffed undercover FBI agents willing to pay bribes as part of a political corruption investigation that has implicated eight other members of Congress, a source close to the case said. This source said the senator, Larry Pressler, R-S.D., was the only member of Congress caught up in the probe who refused to go along with the dishonest dealings discussed by undercover investigators. Two sources said Pressler was not a subject of the FBI investigation and thus was not among the 20 public officials and 10 businessmen and lawyers visited by the FBI Saturday and Sunday. The FBI completed notifying the 30 subjects of the investigation of their rights on Sunday, one source said.

For 14 months, FBI men had posed as representatives of a wealthy Arab sheik—seeking investments, a casino gambling license in Atlantic City, N.J., and legislation to allow him to stay in this country if he were forced from his homeland.

During this time, they paid almost $500,000 in cash to public officials for favors or the promise of them, a source familiar with the investigation said. But this source added that fewer than 10 of the 20 public officials took money. "Some arranged meetings or did other favors," this source said.

A source close to the investigation said Pressler stormed out of his meeting with the undercover men when it was suggested money was available to win the sheik permanent residence here. "That man didn't violate any law," this source said. "He told them, 'I don't want anything to do with it. I don't want to touch it,'" the source reported.

"He saw very clearly what it was: What he did makes the other cases stronger, because the others could have walked out too. In addition to state and local officials in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, one source said those who became subjects of the probe were: U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams, Jr., D-N.J., and U.S. Reps. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., Frank Thompson, Jr., D-N.J., Michael O. Myers,

D-Pa., Raymond F. Lederer, D-Pa., John W. Jenrette, D-S.C., John P. Murtha, D-Pa., and Richard Kelly, R-Fla. "My feelings are, having read the newspapers, that I would be very wise to engage counsel, which I've done," Williams said Sunday. By Sunday, most of the eight members of Congress had issued denials of any wrongdoing. No charges have been filed, nor arrests made. Sources said federal officials were planning to present their evidence to one or more grand juries, perhaps as early as this week. Meanwhile, House Ethics Committee Chairman Charles E. Bennett,

D-Fla., said his panel would expand an investigation already underway to include the FBI allegations. The sources said FBI director William Webster and top Justice Department lawyers, closely policed the probe to ensure the FBI was never the first to suggest bribes to public figures.

Gold Boom Not Raising Miners' Pay

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The soaring price of gold is making South Africa richer than ever, but the bonanza isn't raising the pay yet of the black miners who dig most of it. South Africa is the world's biggest gold producer, and the price rise has boosted the country's official reserves from $2.5 billion to $7 billion in the last year.

Fire Hazards Increase During Winter Months

These are things that tragedy is made of during the winter months. More than 6,000 persons died in fire in 1978, according to the National Safety Council.

Fire prevention officials say there is a definite increase in the number of fires in the winter. People spend more time indoors and turn to makeshift sources of heat to keep warm.

According to statistics collected by the U.S. Fire Administration, more than 10 percent of all residential fires are associated with heating devices.

The National Bureau of Standards says that many people also underestimate the time it takes a fire to spread. According to the bureau, you may have only two minutes from the time a fire begins until the room is engulfed by what's known as the "flashover."

the house immediately. Don't wait to call the fire department. Use a neighbor's telephone.

Here are some things you can do to avoid trouble:

PORTABLE ELECTRIC HEATERS

Look for a model with a broad, solid base and an automatic cut-off switch that will turn the heater off if it tips over accidentally. Check to see if the heater has been tested by one of the major laboratories and make sure the test applies to the entire unit — not just to the cord.

Find out if your heater needs a separate electric circuit. Don't try to take shortcuts and assume you will be safe. Have an electrician install proper wiring before you use the heater and always follow the manufacturer's instructions.

Keep heaters away from curtains, furniture and walkways and do not use them to dry clothing. As a general rule, if a wall or nearby object feels hot to the touch, it is too close to the heater. Warn children not to poke fingers or toys through protective guards and keep a close eye on toddlers whenever they are in the same room with heaters. Avoid using electric space heaters in bathrooms. Never touch one with wet hands.

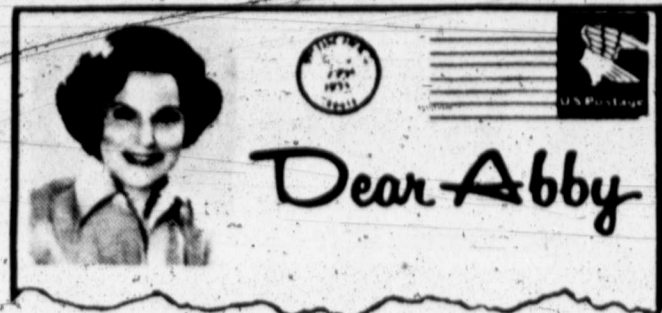

KITCHEN STOVES

Never use a gas range or oven to heat your kitchen. It could produce potentially dangerous levels of carbon monoxide.

Do not leave oven doors on any kind of stove open. Children can burn themselves on heating elements.

NON-ELECTRIC SPACE HEATERS

Make sure there is proper ventilation. Many fuels, including kerosene, propane and coal, produce deadly fumes. You also need to get fresh air to prevent suffocation that can be caused by a heater consuming oxygen as fuel burns.

Dear Abby

Sunday Sex Sin-Drome?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman (22) and Mike is wonderful, healthy, robust, masculine man of 25. We've been married a little over a year, and I have a problem I can't ask anyone else about. It has to do with sex. Mike has a big appetite for sex, but I am not complaining. It's his timing that bothers me. He always wants to make love on Sunday morning before mass. Abby, I know that love within marriage is not a sin, but for some silly reason I just hate to go to mass right after having had sex. Lately I have been putting my husband off. But I feel guilty about that.

Do you think I should postpone the lovemaking until after mass? Or keep telling myself I have no reason to feel guilty about it, and just try to get over that feeling. What's wrong with me?

MAGGIE IN MANHATTAN

DEAR MAGGIE: Your problem is rooted in the notion that sex is sinful. You grew up believing it, and even though you're married and there is nothing to feel guilty about, you're still programmed to equate sex with sin. Talk to a priest, or a psychiatrist. (Try the priest first. It's cheaper.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been considering donating my organs for possible transplant at the time of my death. However, I have heard that the family of the deceased is charged for transportation to the special hospital where the organs are removed, and also for the surgery to remove the organs. Is this true?

If it is, I would rather not donate my organs since I do not wish to add to the expense of my funeral. Thank you.

CONSIDERATE

DEAR CONSIDERATE: There is no charge for transportation to hospitals for the removal of organs. Time is so important in the removal of organs that a donor almost always has to be in the hospital at the time of death. (Carcasses must be removed within four hours after death; kidneys within 20 minutes.)

There is no cost to the donor or the donor's family for the removal of organs. However, when one donates his entire body to a medical school, in some states the medical school bears the cost of transportation. In other states, the estate of the donor must pay for it. Check with your local medical school.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a reader complaining about a woman who chewed ice continuously. You commented in a funny vein.

She might just be ill-mannered; on the other hand, she could very well be suffering from an iron deficiency. "Pagophagia" is a medical term for eating ice; it is a form of "pica," which is a craving for unusual substances. It's a well known symptom of iron deficiency.

The woman needs to be examined and a diagnosis made. She might overcome her ice chewing habit by taking iron supplements.

PHOENIX M.D.

DEAR M.D.: Thanks for the hard, cold facts. I learned something today.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VICTOR IN SACRAMENTO: Do not teach your mynah bird to "talk dirty," or you will be contributing to the delinquency of a mynah!

Are there questions you can't ask your parents? Get Abby's new booklet: WHAT TEENAGERS OUGHT TO KNOW. Drugs, sex and alcohol are plainly discussed. Send $2 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90C12.

Mixed Drink Tax Rebates Announced

Scurry County received $2,457.45 and the City of Snyder received $2,189.79 in rebates on mixed drink taxes for the last quarter of 1979. Bob Bullock, state comptroller, has announced.

Texas counties and cities receive a 15 percent rebate of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalizes the sale of mixed drinks. The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and the city-county share is rebated quarterly by the comptroller's office.

Rebates for other counties and cities for the last quarter of 1979 included: Howard County $4,244.34 and Big Spring $3,754.52; Nolan County $2,223.55 and Sweetwater $1,113.96; Mitchell County, $269.58 and Colorado City $213.71; Fisher County $118.80 and Rotan $118.80; Dawson County $214.86.

Tesoro Betting On Gulfstream

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Tesoro Petroleum Corp., a San Antonio-based company, is betting $105 million on the Gulfstream, a corporate jet capable of flying non-stop from Atlanta to Paris.

The first production model of the Gulfstream III is to roll out of the Gulfstream American Corp.'s plant across from the Savannah airport in April.

Gulfstream has a 2 1/2-year backlog of orders for the plane. New orders for a Gulfstream III later will cost at least $9.7 million "in today's dollars," said Allen E. Paulson, Gulfstream president.

But the plant is to build only about $200 million worth of the aircraft this year — about half of capacity.

Tesoro was fully aware of that last week when it announced plans to acquire Gulfstream American. The $105 million purchase is the oil and gas company's first non-oil acquisition.

Tesoro, with sales of $2.4 billion last year, has operations including an Alaskan refinery and extensive marketing operations in California.

Tesoro believes that the acquisition of Gulfstream will enhance its corporate development by strengthening our balance sheet and providing future earnings for energy expenditures, said Michael McDonald, Tesoro's senior vice president for finance.

"Although a portion of Gulfstream's anticipated revenues will be reinvested for maintaining that company's top-ranking executive aircraft business, Tesoro believes Gulfstream will generate substantial additional profits that would be available for Tesoro's further development as an energy company," he said.

The acquisition is subject to ratification by Tesoro's board and stockholders. It is to be completed "as soon as practicable" after the Federal Aviation Administration certifies the Gulfstream III, Paulson said.

Production of the Gulfstream II ended in December after 256 of the turbofan jet powered aircraft were sold.

The first Gulfstream III has been sold to National Distillers & Chemical Corp. of New York. Eighteen more are to be built at Savannah this year, said E. Brown Pinkston, director of Gulfstream's domestic sales. Two prototype models of the plane began test flights in December.

Powered by two Rolls-Royce Spey jet engines, the Gulfstream III has a range of 3,710 nautical miles. Special winglets fitted at the wingtips reduce wind drag, and give the aircraft a 37 percent range increase over the Gulfstream I and II, Pinkston said.

In addition to the Gulfstream III, the firm is to test fly the Peregrine 600 military jet trainer this summer. The company is "actively competing" for a potential $1 billion contract from the Air Force for 600 jet trainers, which will be built in Savannah if Gulfstream gets the contract, company officials said.

Despite Heroes' Efforts...

Gunman Shoots 5 In Bar

EL PASO (AP)—Three "heroes" did their best against a gunman who sprayed a bar with rifle fire, but could not prevent him from killing five patrons and wounding three others in this city's worst mass killing in history, police said.

Police Lt. Ed Agan said the suspect, identified as Barry Chvarak, 21, of El Paso, was subdued and held for police by two bar patrons, and a third customer died when he stepped in the path of a bullet apparently intended for a woman.

Chvarak was jailed under a $1 million bond $200,000 on each of five counts of murder — set by Peace Justice Fred Chavez.

One of those killed was identified as Randy Wayne Steele, 20, of El Paso.

"There are three heroes in this," Agan said. "Steele, I understand, when the shooting started pushed a young woman out of the way and stepped in front of her and took a bullet that I guess would have gotten her."

"Another man, a patron named John M. Harris, he jumped the suspect after the shooting had started... and was able to take the rifle away after another patron, Roger Dean Miller, came to his aid. He (Miller) clobbered this guy with a pool cue."

Agan identified the other victims as Kathleen Lynn

Austin, 32, Marianne Lawka, 33, and Jana L. Carpenter, 29, all of El Paso, and Frederick Bergford, 28, a soldier at Fort Bliss.

Police have been unable to determine a motive. In fact, Agan said, "There doesn't seem to be one. The guy was with his brother — there was no fight."

"He was upset, for what reason I don't know. He went outside to his vehicle, got a 22-caliber rifle, walked back into the bar and cut loose. I don't even believe he even knew the people he was shooting at."

Two 19-year-old men were treated for minor gunshot wounds, and a 20-year-old woman was hospitalized in stable condition with two gunshot wounds in her chest.

Agan said when police arrived, "The guy was already subdued and offered no resistance."

About 2 percent of all farms account for 40 percent of all farm production and 18 percent of total net farm income, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Painful heels hard to treat

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB — I've had pain in my heel about four months. When it started the pain was so bad I could hardly walk. It is greatly improved now but it's not completely well.

I went to a doctor who specializes in the treatment of bone disorders. He looked at my heel and said it was an inflammation of the tendon that stretches from the toe to the heel. He gave me a shot of cortisone in the heel and told me to return in two weeks if it was not well. If anything, it was worse, so he gave me another shot and again told me to come back in two weeks. It didn't improve any.

I cancelled the third visit after hearing it was not good to take too much cortisone. The pain is on the bottom of the heel and spreads to the outer rim in a burning sensation. The most tender spot is in the center just where the arch meets the heel. I know this isn't much help but I hope you can enlighten me as to what I have. Thank you.

DEAR READER — There's no way to be certain exactly what you have without examining your foot and perhaps even looking at an X-ray. The disorder you complain of, pain in the heel, is similar to what many people call a heel spur.

That may be misleading because the little bony spur that develops on the bottom of the heel bone may or may not be associated with actual pain in that area. Some people do have the kind of pain you describe and don't have a bony spur at all. Other people have a bony spur and don't have any pain.

Your description suggests that your doctor was absolutely correct that it's related to soreness and irritation in the area where the tendons and other tissues attach to the bottom of the heelbone. These spread across the arch of the foot. The irritation is often caused by a strain on the arch — the constant pulling at the point of attachment.

It's no surprise then that one of the best forms of treatment is to get the weight off the foot so the pulling doesn't occur. From the foot's point of view, the best idea would be to stay off the foot entirely but, of course, that imposes other problems associated with inactivity.

A good foot doctor will sometimes strap the heel to rotate the foot a little and cause you to walk on the outside of the arch. By walking on the outside of the foot, you don't put all that strain across the center arch of the foot and you decrease the pulling effect. A similar approach is to put a little pad underneath the inside of the foot to change the weight bearing effect on the foot itself.

I am sending two issues of The Health Letter that may be of help to you: Number 11-8, Your Feet And How To Care For Them and Number 11-10, Common Foot Problems What To Do For Them. Other readers who want either one of these issues can send 75 cents for EACH issue with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10109.

People often don't realize how important it is to take good care of their feet. A good shoe is a prerequisite to good foot health. With good foot care that is described in the two issues that I'm sending you, you can avoid many common foot ailments. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Suspect Fur Buyers Of Promoting Catnapping

BEATRICE, NEB. (AP) —The fur's beginning to fly in Beatrice as cat owners increasingly believe their missing tabbies are ending up warming the heads and hands of some chic Canadians. A Beatrice man spoke fondly during a recent interview of a black cat he owned for more than a year. He figured that with shots and various trips to the veterinarian, he had invested $100 in the cat. But not long ago, it disappeared. "It wasn't the kind of cat to wander away," said the man, who asked that his name not be used. He believes he found his pet at least its hide stretched and drying on the board of a local fur buyer. And he thinks someone stole the animal for the price of its fur. A Beatrice hide house buys dead cats for $1 to $1.50 each, then processes the fur and sells it for up to $3 to a firm in Canada. Willard Biting, owner of Biting Fur Co., said he purchases only wild cats from trappers and hunters. He says he bought about 300 last year, half the number of the year before. The whole idea of buying cats for fur, legal in Nebraska, upsets the man who lost his black cat. And he's not alone. A woman who fears one of her cats was stolen for its fur said, "I think people — animal lovers — should get together and get Gov. Charles Thone to pass a law that they can't kill cats." No state license is needed for dealing in cat furs. In fact, fur buyers can deal in any kind of animal, including dogs.

The Snyder (Tex.) Daily News, Mon., Feb. 4, 1980

dinance governs cats. "I don't know how cats have gotten along so long," Kändt said. Biting, who believes trappers don't intentionally catch cats, said wild cats run into traps set up for other animals. Some trappers will throw away the cats, some sell them and others use them as bait to catch other animals, Biting said. "Really, there are hundreeds to thousands of these cats — they get a lot of quail and pheasants," Biting said. Bernie Vicars, owner of Vicars Fur Co., said he doesn't purchase cats. Neither does his brother, Dennis, who works for the Indian Creek Fur Co. Sir Walter Raleigh's second expedition of colonists arrived in Virginia in 1587.

Gervin Voted MVP As...

East Stars Shine Brighter

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) —George Gervin had a good time, on and off the court.

When the 6-foot-7 guard of the San Antonio Spurs came to Washington for the 30th annual National Basketball Association All-Star Game, he compared it with being on vacation.

And he didn't change his mind after scoring 34 points to lead the East to a 144-136 overtime victory over the West Sunday, a performance which earned him Most Valuable Player honors.

"It was a very competitive game and there was a lot of pride out there," Gervin said. "But I still had a good time."

The two squads put on an entertaining show for the sellout crowd of 19,035 in Capital Centre and a national television audience, with the usual All-Star Game moves, passes and dunks ... and a general lack of defense.

"It was my kind of game," said Gervin, who is going for his third consecutive NBA scoring title as the chief gunner of the Spurs. "What did we score — 144 points? It sounds like the Spurs ... no defense, all offense."

"This game just goes to prove a point about giving 100 percent," said

East Coach Billy Cunningham, who noted that both teams bounced back from big deficits.

The West moved in front 39-28 at the start of the second period after Dennis Johnson of the Seattle SuperSonics scored eight points during a 14-0 streak.

But the East forged a 64-64 tie at halftime on the strength of a 15-6 spurt. Dan Roundfield of the Atlanta Hawks scored five points during the outburst, with Gervin and Elvin Hayes of the Washington Bullets adding four apiece.

The East, allowed much more freedom on offense by Cunningham after intermission, outscored the West 44-27 in the third quarter and Gervin poured in 11 points during a 27-7 streak which made it 96-79.

Another basket by Westphal, who scored 21 points, tied the regulation game at 128-128 with 17 seconds left and it went into overtime after the East's Larry Bird missed a jumper at the buzzer.

Dallas Gets Try; Decisions Made AT NBA Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will pro basketball return to Dallas next fall following a seven-year hiatus?

The Dallas group seeking a National Basketball Association expansion franchise has been given 30 days to decide whether it's willing to meet new terms set forth by the league's Board of Governors Saturday at its annual midwinter meeting in conjunction with the NBA All-Star Game.

Foremost among the changes is the requirement that the 24 partners in the group headed by Norm Sonju come up with half the $12 million entry fee as a down payment, instead of just $3.5 million. The Governors also made the remainder of the payment schedule more stringent and decided to let each existing team protect eight players from the expansion draft, instead of seven.

If these terms are acceptable, the Dallas group will get the NBA's 23rd franchise and pro basketball will return to a city it left in 1973, when the Dallas Chaparrals of the old American Basketball Association moved to San Antonio.

In another major development, the NBA Governors voted to accept a new three-year working agreement with the Players Association, which had been competing this season without a contract. The pact, approved by the Association's executive committee, was scheduled to be voted on today by the 22 player representatives.

Under the agreement, the players would receive an increase in the minimum salary from the present level of $30,000 to an unannounced figure, as well as raises in per diem expenses and playoff money. And in 1981-82, the final year of the contract, the league agreed to raise the roster limit from 11 players to 12.

'Jacks Remain Tops In LSC

By The Associated Press. For the first time in eight years, the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks are in first place in the Lone Star Conference basketball race.

Picked no better than seventh in a pre-season poll, SFA benefited from a split between Howard Payne and Abilene Christian last week that left it with a 7-1 record, while Abilene Christian fell to 6-2 and Howard Payne to 5-2.

Harry Miller's Lumberjacks defeated Texas A&I twice, by 86-71 in Nacogdoches and then by 60-58 in Kingsville Saturday.

Howard Payne and Abilene Christian each won on the road in their head-up matches.

That was unexpected. Howard Payne nipped Abilene Christian 56-54 in Abilene on Monday on Marshall Davis' 12-foot jumper with 8 seconds left, and then got ready to host ACU in Brownwood, where the Yellow Jackets had won 35 straight conference games.

But Abilene Christian hit three free throws in the final 42 seconds for a 67-65 victory.

Southwest Texas State, the preseason favorite to defend its conference cage title, continued to struggle.

The Bobcats lost to Sam Houston State, 65-57, at Huntsville and to Texas A&I, 77-67.
