Militants Again Demand Shah

Kelly Quits GOP Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Richard Kelly of Florida, implicated in the FBI bribery investigation, resigned today from the House Republican Conference, saying he wanted to save the Republican Party from an action that would not be appropriate.

Kelly's move halted debate by the conference—the organization of all GOP House members—on a motion by Republican leaders to expel Kelly from the conference because of his admitted acceptance of $25,000 from FBI agents posing as Arab representatives.

GOP leaders said Kelly, in a seven-minute address, handled himself with "aplomb" and was "in good spirits."

Kelly, the only Republican among eight members of Congress who were implicated in the FBI undercover operation, said he would not accept any more campaign contributions from the House Republican Congressional Committee.

House leaders had recommended he be deprived of any future campaign funds from that source.

Kelly previously had received $4,000 from the Republican committee and was eligible for an additional $6,000.

House GOP Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona said the Republican debate on Kelly did not deal with the question of his guilt or innocence but only on whether his accepting the $25,000 was a violation of House ethical standards. Kelly has said he accepted the money as part of his own investigation into possible wrongdoing.

Kelly's resignation from the conference, which sets policy for House Republicans, does not affect his committee assignments, his right to vote in the House or his right to campaign for re-election as a Republican.

ENTERTAINERS TO PERFORM—Clifford Franklin, left, and Bruce Kenner, band directors, will present "The Midnight Fire Alarm," a fire bell and siren duet with band accompaniment, at a reunion band concert tonight. The concert, set for 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium will involve both junior-high and high school band members. A reception is planned for former students and directors following the concert in the student center hosted by the booster club. (SDN Staff Photo)

By The Associated Press—There will be no clemency for the U.S. Embassy hostages in Tehran until the deposed shah is returned to Iran, the Moslem militants holding the embassy said today.

The hard-line statement came as the U.N. investigative commission on Iran remained stalled.

A co-chairman of the commission unexpectedly left Switzerland for New York today as agreement on a timetable for release of the Tehran hostages reportedly continued to elude negotiators. Iranian leaders denied there was any link between the commission's work and possible release of the approximately 50 hostages.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr also demanded the return of the shah, but the militants' broadcast statement was the only one directly tying the hostages' freedom to the return of the ousted monarch.

In a Tehran Radio "mobilization week" broadcast monitored in London, the militants said "Today is a day of mobilization of the Iranian nation against all aggressive occupiers, particularly America, which must deliver up fugitive Mohammad Reza and the assets he has stolen."

"It must realize that the longer it delays the more it exposes its anti-human nature to the world."

"In the event of delay, any expectation of clemency for the hostages would be foolish."

In another development, the Moslem militants, holding the Americans captive at the embassy for the 110th day, declared that one of three U.S. diplomats in custody at the Foreign Ministry should be put on trial for alleged connections with an Iranian terrorist group.

The departure of U.N. commission member Mohamed Bedjaoui from Geneva was not explained. A U.N. spokesman in the Swiss city, Anthony Currow, said Bedjaoui's business in New York was "apparently not associated with the commission's mandate" but that it was "most possible" he would meet with U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim in New York.

Bedjaoui, Algeria's U.N. ambassador, is a co-chairman of the five-member commission, established by Waldheim as a "fact-finding mission" to hear Iran's charges of mass murder and corruption against the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and of U.S. interference in Iranian affairs, and American grievances over the hostage taking.

The commission had been scheduled to fly to Tehran Wednesday but Waldheim delayed its departure until the weekend when last-minute, unspecified problems developed.

To Pick Olympic Team

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. Olympics Committee says it still intends to pick a team for the Summer Games - if only to honor the young athletes who have trained so hard for Moscow.

Any possibility of American participation in the Games appeared over Wednesday when President Carter's deadline for Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan passed with no sign that Soviet troops were leaving.

"We will not participate in the Olympics in Moscow," said State Department spokesman Hodding Carter.

The USOC, which is solely responsible for fielding an American team, had said it would stand by Carter's determination of what was best for the United States. But USOC officials said they would make no formal decision until at least April.

New Houston Police Chief

HOUSTON (AP)—Ignoring criticism from minority groups and some city councilman, Mayor Jim McConn appointed B.K. Johnson, a 26-year police veteran, as chief of police.

Johnson has been acting chief since Harry Caldwell abruptly resigned last week, saying he was tired and fatigued after nearly three years as the chief law enforcement officer in the nation's fifth largest city.

Siamese Twins Texas Bound

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—The governor of Puerto Rico has intervened to fly Siamese twin daughters to Texas, where doctors have agreed to perform a $25,000 separation free of charge.

The babies, born to Evelyn Falcon de Morales on Feb. 4, are joined at the chest and abdomen. Quinons de Longo said doctors at the Baylor University Medical Center in Houston had agreed to perform the operation free.

Chicago Firemen Return To Work

CHICAGO (AP)—Striking firefighters have agreed to go back to work today - for at least one day - in return for amnesty and around-the-clock negotiations to complete a written contract within 24 hours.

"I can only say that I think that, finally, cool heads have prevailed," said Circuit Judge John Hechinger, after announcing the agreement Wednesday night to end the week-long strike.

The agreement provides that the union and the city "will enter into around-the-clock continuous negotiations to resolve all the items presently in dispute," Hechinger said.

Chicago Fire Fighters Union members ratified the agreement by a voice vote later Wednesday after union president Frank J. Muscare explained Hechinger's announcement.

"My prediction is that a contract will be done well before 24 hours is up," said Sherman Carmell, lawyer for the Chicago Federation of Labor which is helping settle the dispute. "They are really not that far apart."

Both sides were meeting again in Hechinger's courtroom later today.

Exactly when the firefighters would return had not been determined. A union spokesman said picketing would probably continue through the night or until a time for the return to work had been set. But Fire Commissioner Richard Albrecht said the men would report back at 8 a.m. CST.

Mayor Jane Byrne, who had insisted that contract talks could not resume until firefighters returned to work, said the agreement could be extended beyond 24 hours if all issues were not resolved by then.

"It would be up to the discretionary judgment of the judge," she said.

Q—Is the law still in force that all vehicles are to pull over to the side of the road when an emergency vehicle is approaching? If so, are tickets issued or license numbers taken on vehicles not keeping this law?

A—Yes, the law is still in effect, advised County Attorney George Killam and troopers of the Department of Public Safety who checked the statutes. The law states that vehicles are to yield the right-of-way to emergency vehicles using audible and visible signals or to a police car using its audible signal only. Failure to observe the law is a Class C misdemeanor which carries with it a fine of up to $200. Tickets are given when officers observe a driver impeding the operation of an emergency vehicle.

Dusty, Warm Across Texas

By The Associated Press—Blowing dust kicked up by an intense low pressure system combined with a cold front spread over northern and western sections of Texas today as the state continued to have unseasonably warm weather.

Temperatures, however, were not expected to be quite as warm as the record-breaking readings recorded at many locations around the state Wednesday.

Forecasts called for continued warm temperatures, windy conditions in northern and western sections of the state and for partly cloudy skies in southern sections.

Highs were to range from the low 60s in the Panhandle to the 80s in South Texas.

Several reporting stations set records Wednesday for the warmest temperature ever recorded on Feb. 20. It was 99 at Laredo, the nation's hot spot, but the National Weather Service did not indicate that it was a high for that date in the border city.

Record highs for Feb. 21 were set at Fort Worth and San Antonio with 86, Waco at 89 and Del Rio tied the record with a 91-degree reading.

music on the program, including skits and novelty numbers.

Former directors will be invited to direct the 1979-80 SHS band, and all, along with former band students, will be introduced.

The public is invited to attend the concert, and tickets will be available at the door of the auditorium tonight. The tickets are priced at $1 each for adults and 50 cents each for students.

Concert bands of both the senior and junior high schools will participate in the program.

Following the concert, there will be a reception for former band students and former directors in the SHS Student Center, sponsored by the Band Boosters Club.

Bentsen Urges More Imports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says the United States runs the risk of becoming a second-class economic power unless strong measures are taken to improve export trade.

"I've become convinced that the United States must either organize to meet the terms of trade worldwide or accept the economic consequences of the failure to do so," the Texas Democrat said Wednesday.

"I think those consequences mean chronic, massive trade imbalance; constant pressure on the dollar; higher domestic inflation; and eventually I think it means the status of a second-class world economic power," he said.

Chamber Making Committee Survey

Members of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce are being urged to respond to a committee preference survey as soon as possible.

Bill Warner, chamber manager, said that questionnaires had been mailed out several days ago asking members to designate their preference in committee assignments.

The chamber has a number of active committees and all members are encouraged to participate in committee work. Warner said the survey was undertaken to determine interest of the members so that they can be assigned to the committees they prefer.

The chamber manager says he hopes to have a report on the survey ready to present to chamber directors at their meeting Tuesday.

'Copter Crash Fatal To Five

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An Exxon helicopter plunged off a gas production platform in the Gulf of Mexico today and crashed onto the deck of a supply boat, killing five persons and leaving one missing, the Coast Guard reported.

One other person aboard the helicopter was injured and was flown to a hospital on shore, said Lt. Joe Gibson, a spokesman for the Coast Guard. All seven persons aboard the boat escaped injury, he said.

Exxon officials said a fire erupted shortly after the crash, but it was quickly extinguished.

The 166-foot Gate Tide, a crew boat of the type used to ferry men and supplies to and from offshore oil facilities, was slightly damaged, the Coast Guard said.

Stores In Afghanistan Close Today In Protest

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)—Nearly all shops and stores in Afghanistan's capital closed today in the most spectacular protest so far against Soviet military occupation.

Exactly two months after Russian troops first crossed the Afghan border in an attempt to put down a Moslem rebellion against Kabul's communist regime, a rebel leaflet urged shopkeepers to show their "unanimous condemnation" of the intervention of paralyzing the commercial life of this city of 1 million.

All but a handful of shopkeepers obeyed the call despite frantic efforts by the Soviet-sponsored regime of President Babrak Karmal to force them to stay open.

Thursday, the eve of the Moslem Sabbath, is normally the capital's busiest shopping day. In street after street of downtown Kabul, most shop fronts were boarded up or closed by iron shutters.

Despite a steady drizzle, thousands of civilians stood in the streets to observe the success of the protest with evident glee.

"We have won a great victory today," one shopkeeper told a group of Western reporters. "We have shown the Russians what the Afghan people think of them."

The Kremlin rejected the Common Market's proposal to get Soviet troops out of Afghanistan, suggesting it was inspired by the White House. Meanwhile, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance failed to get West German support for a boycott of the Moscow Olympics and headed into talks with the French today.

"The illogicality of such a proposal is obvious," the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said Wednesday, adding that the Common Market meeting in Rome, was for an international guarantee of Afghanistan's neutrality in exchange for removal of Russian troops from the Central Asian nation.

Vance said during his own visit to Rome on Wednesday he was "in general agreement" with the idea, even as he was trying to get a tougher response from America's European allies to the Afghan crisis.

The secretary met earlier Wednesday with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt in Bonn. Vance called the talks "extremely useful," but he later acknowledged the West German government was not backing President Carter's call for a boycott of the Summer Olympics in Moscow.

WINDY

WEATHER

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Wednesday, 73 degrees; low 48 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. today 53 degrees; precipitation none; total precipitation for 1980 to date, 1.03.

West Texas - Windy today and Friday with blowing dust. South Plains - Partly cloudy with diminishing winds tonight. Widely scattered showers extreme southwest late today and tonight. Highs low 60s Panhandle to upper 70s extreme south. Lows mid 30s Panhandle and mountains to upper 40s south.

The SDN Column

A note to you newcomers out there: Don't let the weather of the past couple of days discourage you. West Texas air is never purer and West Texas skies are never bluer than the morning after a good sandstorm.

Oldtimers will tell you that you are not really seeing any sandstorms these days. They can't compare with those that happened back when. But these little West Texas breezes will serve the purpose nicely.

Perhaps someone had a better weather forecast than we did, but we received some information on "earth-sheltered home designs" through the mail Wednesday just about the time the western skies were beginning to turn red from the day's blow.

It might be considered timely in some places, but the way the real estate moves around here this time of year, some people might be inclined to question whether an earth-sheltered home would be practical.

And we suspect that Californians around the mudslide areas would trust the stability of the earth even less than most others would.

Even more timely was the meeting of the South Plains Soil Conservation Association here Tuesday, which happened to fall on the date of this year's first sandstorm. Moreover, prominent on the program was a segment on wind erosion by Bill Fryeaf, research director of the Big Spring Station of the Science and Education Administration. Incidentally, he said, we could expect around 36 "blowing days" this year—that is, of course, if Ralph Nader doesn't step in and have them banned.

Also received recently were some food recipes that are poles apart. One group concentrates on servings for one or two people, which have become more popular these days due to the smaller families. Gone are the days when most homes required meals for half a dozen or more persons. So, the recipes for dishes that provide one or two servings per cooking have become more popular.

On the other extreme, we came across a recipe for stuffed camel, alleged to be the largest single dish in the world. To prepare it you need 200 hard-boiled eggs, 100 gutted trout, 50 cooked chickens, a roasted sheep and a camel. Stuff the eggs into the fish. Stuff the fish into the chickens. Stuff the chickens into the sheep carcass. Stuff the sheep into the camel. Roast over a spit until done. It's supposed to serve 300.

phantom recession

Remember the recession of 1979? If you are scratching your head, relax. There was no recession in 1979, even though high-ranking members of the Carter administration constantly suggested throughout the year that an economic downturn was just around the corner.

It appears that Carter's economic predictions were about as good as his analysis of Soviet intentions. Carter, like the two presidents before him, proclaimed inflation his number one enemy. Unfortunately, his planners misjudged the economy.

What Carter is now proposing to Congress might actually stimulate inflation. The president's brain-trust predicted that by now the nation would be experiencing a recession and that inflation would be tapering off. Yet the economy remains in a muddled condition - not advancing or declining - and inflation continues at double-digit levels.

Thinking unemployment would be high by now, because of the expected recession, the administration has proposed several major bills to deal with unemployment, which is a more political than actual problem. The administration proposal to spend billions more on training unemployed youths, and other such legislation, is likely to do nothing but feed the inflationary cycle.

What has thrown the economists off-track is consumer spending; it hasn't gone down. In uncertain times, the public has traditionally cut back on spending and increased saving. What the administration economists fail to see is that there is no historical precedent for the inflation mentality Americans have developed over the last decade.

After 10 years of constant inflation, the American people are reacting differently than past generations. This makes government planning always a risky enterprise, accurately impossible.

The often wrong experts are now saying the recession is going to strike in mid-1980. No one is certain whether they are talking about a new recession or just last year's downturn coming a bit late.

Likely, the predicted economic decline will, much to the surprise of the experts, not arrive. More likely, this nation is going to stumble along with a stagnant economy until something is done to attack the basic reasons for our economic rot.

England managed to maintain its economic illness for two decades before making the tough decision to deal directly with the cause of its problem. The United States, as the British are doing now, will have to move back toward the free market and trim the size and the power of government.

Once we get back to a comparatively market-oriented economy, the economists can start making their predictions with a greater chance of success.

key to efficiency

Because of the continuing campaign among various United States armed services to promote morale, encourage re-enlistments and attract recruits through higher pay, added fringe benefits, and less strenuous duty, it is worth recalling what a famous U.S. general once said.

In his 1933 annual report, U.S. Army Chief of Staff Douglas MacArthur gave his prescription for an efficient army.

"The unailing formula for production of morale is patriotism, self-respect, discipline and self-confidence within a military unit, joined with fair treatment and merited appreciation from without.

"It cannot be produced by pampering or coddling an army, and is not necessarily destroyed by hardship, danger or even calamity.

"Though it can survive and develop in adversity that comes as an inescapable incident of service, it will quickly wither and die if soldiers come to believe themselves the victims of ignorance, personal ambition, or ineptitude on the part of their military leaders.

Morale and patriotism are not really so very different in the military, as compared to civilian life. It is not fringe benefits which build them, but credibility and a sound purpose. Given those anchors, the man in uniform or on the assembly line will respond.

Without them, he will drift.

my turn

by john long

Who was it that described money as being filthy lucre? I rather like the feel of the stuff. It feels prosperous to me.

There is nothing I like better than having the tarnish of silver coins rub off on my fingers. The blue-green crud that settles on pennies absolutely turns me on when I can scrape it from underneath my fingernails. Pennies, I have found, have a kind of earthy smell to them, and I like that, too.

Coin collecting has its rewards, and they are not all monetary, either. One of the most pleasurable aspects of coin collecting is getting to touch your coins. I have found. If some of the intrinsic worth of a coin rubs off on you, then so much the better. It sure beats walking around with hands blackened from newspaper crud. I also enjoy sorting through coins, separating the wheat from the chaff. Every day I drop by the bank, purchase $5 worth of pennies, take them home, and sort through them.

Five dollars in pennies constitutes 10 rolls. That's 500 pennies I sort through daily, and 2,500 I go through each week. At that rate, I sort through 10,000 pennies monthly and 120,000 pennies each year, providing I keep that pace up.

From time to time, however, banks will observe a weekday holiday, and sometimes I just don't get around to the banks. I'd say a figure of 100,000 pennies is what I will sort through in an average year.

Of course, when you sort through that many pennies in a small town in one year you sometimes sort through pennies that have already been sorted through. That is to be expected to happen occasionally, but when it happens to me two or three times in a row I'll lay off the pennies for a while. To give the pennies a break, I'll sort through nickels. A little variety does a person good, I think.

I have never found anything of great value in my sortings, but I have enjoyed it nonetheless.

meanwhile, burn coal

The man, the Bible says, is supposed to be the head of the family.

But that presupposes that he will be a good and capable and worthy leader.

There are families you know in which it is not only appropriate but necessary for the woman to assume the leadership role.

And sometimes our elected leaders need other leadership.

There are times like these when our President and our Congress and our bureaucracy cry out for somebody to wade out into the intersections of indecision and direct traffic.

Ohio's Gov. Rhodes is doing just that.

"Proceed," he says, "with development of as much energy as possible as soon as possible but MEANWHILE BURN COAL!"

With the Clean Air Act of 1970 industries and utilities in the United States were ordered by their government to convert from coal to oil. This they did at a cost of $25 billion.

Now we're short on oil and the government demands that industries and utilities must convert to burning coal - "But clean."

It can be done. It can be done within five years. But clean burners of coal will require another investment of $32 billion.

President Carter is scared to death of some of his own bureaucrats.

In his effort to shush the Naderites by including a hundred plus of them within his Administration he has lost control of his own Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

They are now so entrenched that getting from government any sensible modification of antipollution requirements is out of the question.

Gov. Rhodes says our only option is to convert to burning coal - of which we have more than enough for the next 2,000 years - and to burn it so clean the regulators and the mandators and the sue-ers can't obstruct.

President Carter has talked of spending $12 billion for that purpose over the next 10 years; we don't have 10 years! With an investment of $32 billion it can be done in five years.

After which the taxpayers will get that much money back EVERY YEAR!

The energy derived from one ton of coal equals the energy derived from four-and-a-third barrels of oil.

There are 138 major utility boilers in the United States which could be converted to coal at an average cost of $162 million per plant. Also 2,000 industrial units and 940 commercial units at lesser cost.

After which - hear this - we would no longer be dependent on foreign oil.

And because coal costs only one-fourth as much as oil we would be saving $35.5 billion in fuel bills every year!

Again - long-range development of solar energy and synthetic fuels is appropriate.

While that research continues, coal is our country's ace in the hole.

MANCHESTER, N.H. (NEA)—For the once mightily Kennedy political dynasty, it has come to this: an empty coffee can with a handwritten note taped to the side that says, "Your donation will help Ted Kennedy win the primary."

The can, holding only a few dollar bills, sits forlornly on a scuffed bridge table in the barren basement hall of St. Catherine's Church here. Around the edge of the room are seated 200, perhaps 250, people.

The room could hold five times that number, but the turnout is barely respectable because the scheduled speaker is not Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., but his wife, Joan.

She is late and the audience is cheerless if not morose. A feeble effort to provide impromptu entertainment yields an amateur hour of dancing, piano playing and singing of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

The unshakable Kennedy supporters remain firmly committed. "It doesn't mean a damned thing," retorts one woman when asked about President Carter's drubbing of her candidate, by a margin of almost 2 to 1, in Iowa's Democratic precinct caucuses.

When she arrives, Mrs. Kennedy offers a brief but inspiring speech. "We don't have to accept the way things are," she says, speaking quietly but emotionally and convincingly about "the beautiful human qualities that Ted would bring to the presidency" and "the way he has of reaching out to people and helping them."

There's even a line that attempts to turn the family's difficult and well publicized domestic problems into a political asset: "Ted will be able to give our country confidence - the same way he has given me confidence, hope and understanding, particularly in the last few years."

Those in the audience are appropriately responsive, but they are somber as they line up to shake her hand. For many, the only greeting to the candidate's wife is a terse "good-luck" offered in a grim tone of voice appropriate to occasions when a relative lies critically ill in a hospital.

The message conveyed by the evening's events is painfully obvious...Gone, temporarily at least, are the halcyon days of the fabled family whose wealth, power and popularity once were legendary all across the land.

As recently as mid-January, Kennedy toured the country in a chartered passenger jet, specially outfitted to provide amenities usually reserved for presidential candidates already endorsed by a major political party.

Dozens of political aides preceded, accompanied and followed the candidate at every stop. Senior members of the campaign staff were receiving salaries of up to $50,000 per year.

All of that is gone now. The campaign is financially destitute, the plane has been returned to United Airlines, the entire staff has been working for weeks without receiving any salaries and the senator flies as a coach passenger on whatever regularly scheduled flight is available.

Kennedy avoided a humiliating defeat in Maine's precinct caucuses and could repeat that performance in New Hampshire's upcoming primary. But the Carter organization has pressed Kennedy hard in both states of his native region.

As a result, the price of a Kennedy reprieve in New England will be high, depriving him of the resources necessary to mount a major challenge to the president in the dozens of primary contests that lie beyond New Hampshire.

A dramatic reversal is, of course, possible. A volatile electorate that rewarded Carter with a 30 percentage point increase in the popularity polls during a brief two-month period could again turn fickle and punish the president as harshly and rapidly.

There is growing criticism from respected foreign-policy analysts about Carter's handling of the U.S. response to events in Iran and Afghanistan - the two developments that led to his political resurrection.

Thus, there remains the slim chance that Kennedy's political fortunes might take a turn for the better. But, as his wife told the faithful assembled in the dreary church basement, "It's going to be a hard campaign."

To The Daily News:

Upon reading the Question and Answer Box February 15 in the SDN, the Scurry County Taxpayers Association thought it should clarify its position on the issues mentioned.

In 1978, voters voted yes for a Constitutional Amendment granting exemptions for homesteads, intangibles, certain personal property, disabled taxpayers, taxpayers over 65 and agricultural land. Bill 1060 implemented this amendment.

Bill 1060 provided for reimbursement from the state to the school districts in 1979 for money lost in granting homestead and agricultural exemptions. Snyder School District voted not to grant the agriculture exemption, but reversed the vote after it was brought to their attention by the Scurry County Taxpayers Association that the school would be eligible for reimbursement for monies lost because of agriculture and homestead exemptions. This was a savings for the taxpayer.

Bill 621 creating a central Appraisal District is a different matter. This law was passed to create uniformity of taxation statewide.

It also sets forth a schedule of implementation giving a step by step procedure for changing from the present system of taxing, to the final change over of the new system in 1982.

The Scurry County Taxpayers Association thought that implementing the schedule provided in the law would be more desirable, and avoid problems of temporary financial arrangements of funding this office. Other problems also might arise.

Since the County has a duly elected tax-assessor-collector, and up-to-date records we could see no rush for pushing ahead of the implementation schedule.

The primary purpose of the Scurry County Taxpayers Association is to help inform the taxpayers of the taxation process and work in their best interests.

Local Chairmen Plan Cookie Sale

The 1980 Cookie Sale Kick-off luncheons were held recently in Abilene at the Girl Scout Service Center and in Big Spring at Furrs, Service Unit Cookie Chairmen from the 16 counties of the West Texas Girl Scout Council attended the pre-sale training in order to help Troop Cookie Chairmen prepare each Girl Scout troop to sell effectively.

Mrs. Jayree Shaw, council cookie coordinator, announced Feb. 29-March 16, as the time of this year's sale.

Bill Ayers, Fort Worth representative of Famous Foods of Virginia, said that all Girl Scout cookies are made with 100 percent pure vegetable shortening and all are absolutely free from artificial preservatives.

Seven varieties being sold are Thin Mints, Peanut Butter Patties, Sandwich Cookies, Shortbread, Peanut Butter Sandwich, Sesame Wheat Crackers, and the Granola Cookie. All seven sell for $1.50 a box; all seven can be kept in the freezer for year around enjoyment.

The Cookie Sale gives Girl Scouts an opportunity to earn money for troop activities. There are individual girl awards including a cookie patch, Brownie-Dad overnight, camperships, and cookie currency credit for Council events and Wider Opportunities. The Council Cookie Pusher award is given for selling the most cookies by a Brownie, a junior, a Cadette and a Senior Girl Scout.

The sale is held annually to build and maintain Council properties and to provide year round troop use of Camp Boothe Oaks at Sweetwater, for program activities, and national and international opportunities for girls and adults.

Miss Donadei Shows Slides Of Homeland

Virginia Grove was hostess and program leader to 16 members of Art Guild Study Club Feb. 19 at 6:30 p.m. at Martha Ann Women's Club.

Miss Grove introduced the Snyder High School's foreign exchange student, Silvia Donadei, from Bern, Switzerland. She showed slides depicting the buildings and scenery of her homeland. According to a club spokesman, members were especially impressed with the beauty of the snow-capped mountains where skiing is a year round sport.

Miss Donadei told the group that 75 percent of the population of Switzerland live in apartments or some type of rented property due to the high cost of owning a home. She said that mass transportation is widely used because of the cost of gasoline.

Mrs. Hugh Lowry, club president presided over the business session.

BRIDGE

Card lay dictates attack

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

The Professor looked at the deuce of trumps lead with evident distaste. Then he played dummy's seven and his own ace.

Next he cashed the ace of hearts at trick two and led a club to dummy at trick three. Next came the key play of the hand. He discarded his last club on the king of hearts and ruffed a club with a high trump.

He entered dummy with the nine of trumps and ruffed another club.

Dummy's clubs were now good so the Professor cashed one more trump to pull West's last tooth and led a diamond to dummy's king-queen. East took his ace, but the Professor still had one trump left to ruff a heart, whereupon dummy was good.

"You sure guarded against that 4-1 club break," said the student, "but wouldn't you have gone down if clubs had been 3-2 and trumps 4-1?"

"Not at all," replied the Professor. "When ruffed the first low club I would have known that clubs were breaking 3-2. Then I would not have had to ruff a second club and could have handled a 4-1 trump break."

This is the sort of hand that is really instructive. Of course, the Professor had overbid his hand a trifle, but after you have played as well as the Professor has for as long as the Professor has you tend to overbid a trifle. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Beds Secretary, Now She's Boss

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him Leo) was having an affair with his secretary, and I found out about it. He broke it off, and we are now getting counseling. Leo says he wants to make our marriage work, and I believe him.

I was (and still am) devastated by this affair, and want to do everything I can to restore our once-wonderful marriage since we have a beautiful family.

I told Leo that I cannot feel comfortable as long as that woman is his secretary. He said to get rid of her, but she threatened to sue the company if her job is changed in any way. (Can she do this?)

Abby, I simply cannot tolerate this woman in my husband's office. Is there any way he can get rid of her without causing a nasty law suit? She was working elsewhere in the company when the affair began, and she asked Leo to hire her as his secretary.

Please advise.

NO CITY AND NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: There is nothing to prevent a person from suing. Win or lose, the suit alone in this case could initiate some embarrassing publicity. Consult a lawyer, and let him guide you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is crazy about my feet! He gets turned on just playing with my toes.

I do have pretty feet, but I never thought my feet would be sexually stimulating. My husband is a kind, gentle and loving man, but this thing he has about my feet puzzles me.

I wonder how many other men are turned on by women's feet? Is it normal?

PRETTY FEET

DEAR PRETTY FEET: It's normal for a person with a foot fetish, and your husband has one. According to Freud, the foot is a primitive sex symbol.

There are more foot freaks around than you suspect. Ask any podiatrist.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 19-year-old girl who wears contact lenses. I recently spent the weekend at a girlfriend's house, and her little sister was fascinated as she watched me put in my contact lenses. She had never seen anything like that before, so I very carefully explained that contact lenses were "little eyeglasses" made especially for me, and she should never put anything into her eye that was not made especially for that purpose!

I made sure she understood me because I once heard of a child who had often watched her mother put in her contact lenses. The child found a small piece of broken glass and, wanting to imitate her mother, stuck the broken glass into her eye and subsequently lost the sight in that eye.

I hope you find this worth passing on, Abby.

LAURIE

DEAR LAURIE: I do. Thanks for writing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FACTS, PLEASE": A 32-year-old male cigarette smoker, healthy enough to qualify for standard life insurance, has an average of 40 years to live. His non-smoking counterpart has 47.

And Californians Expect More Rain...

Crops Rotting; Muck Fills Homes

By Charlotte Porter, Associated Press Writer
As millions of dollars' worth of crops rotted in sodden fields, Southern Californians shoveled muck out of their homes and eyed the skies for signs of yet another rain-storm. The unrelenting rains have pushed Idaho and Utah reservoirs to the limit and forced schools in Arizona to close.

At least 30 persons have died in California, Utah, Arizona and Mexico since the storms began last week, and loss estimates now exceed $355 million.

A sixth Pacific weather front in eight days slammed into waterlogged Southern California on Wednesday, ending a few hours of sunshine with an expected 1½ inches of rain before the forecast arrival of a seventh storm tonight - and perhaps more later.

The Mission Valley area of San Diego - which includes the city's major hotels, largest shopping center and offices of two daily newspapers - was put on alert for possible evacuation early today after the San Diego River rose seven feet in four hours to six feet over normal levels.

The water receded slightly and officials said they were waiting to see if there was any further rise before taking action.

In Northern California's Lassen National Park, rangers pushed through four feet of new snow in search of four missing campers. Meanwhile, one man was presumed drowned Wednesday when floodwaters swept him off his horse as he tried to rescue cattle near Patterson, Calif., and the body of a surfer was recovered near Santa Cruz.

The storms have pelted Southern California with more than a foot of water since Feb. 13, causing flash floods that have destroyed 110 homes and damaged another 1,350. More than 5,000 people were urged to leave their homes as mountain slopes turned into avalanches of mud.

Damage in six counties - Los Angeles, Orange, Ventura, Riverside, San Diego and San Bernardino - hit $267 million and Lt. Gov. Mike Curb urged President Carter to declare them a major disaster area.

Meanwhile, in normally arid Arizona, officials tallied $90 million in damages in counties hit by a record eight days of flooding. Gov. Bruce Babbitt asked businesses to begin staggered working hours as only two of the 10 bridges over the Salt River which divides Phoenix, escaped the rampaging waters.

Another storm was expected to hit Arizona today and a still-stronger storm was forecast for Saturday.

Pounding surf battered homes along the California coast as a fifth storm in a week moved into the northern part of the state, packing 50 mph winds. Some 40 residents of Novato, north of San Francisco, were forced to leave their homes late Wednesday as farmers in the southern part of the state reckoned crop losses at $26 million.

Jourdanton Troopers Moved

JOURDANTON, Texas (AP)—Two controversial state troopers here have been granted routine transfers nearly five months after they were the center of a dispute in which Atascosa County officials evicted the Department of Public Safety from its county-owned office.

The transfers were requested by patrolmen Albert Rodriguez and Earl Conaway long before the controversy erupted, Capt. Randall Gilmore, DPS district commander, said Wednesday.

Conaway was transferred Feb. 1 to San Antonio and Rodriguez has been tentatively approved for transfer April 1 to Austin, Gilmore said.

Conaway, who is black and Rodriguez, a Mexican-American, were instrumental last year in a crackdown on drunken driving. Gilmore credited the troopers with a major role in cutting the county's traffic death rate in half.

But the drunken driving crackdown also led to the arrests of sons of two prominent local politicians.

One of those politicians was the county commissioner who sponsored the order demanding that the DPS transfer the two troopers by Oct. 1 or leave the county-owned command post.

Atascosa County Judge O.G. Gates said the order was prompted by numerous complaints of harassment by Conaway and Rodriguez. Gates denied that the drunken driving arrests or racism had anything to do with the eviction order.

The DPS refused to yield. The entire six-man DPS contingent vacated the building Oct. 1 and suspended routine patrols in the county. The six troopers began working from their homes.

Gilmore said the regular patrols on county highways were resumed in late October after an internal affairs investigation found no evidence of any wrongdoing by the two troopers.

Some troopers still work out of their homes in Pleasanton, while others now use free office space in the Jourdanton City Hall, said Gilmore.

Gilmore said cooperation between the DPS and county officials has been good since the controversy died down. He added, "Everybody's getting along well."

Asked if the DPS would seek to move back in the county office, Gilmore replied, "We haven't even approached it from that angle. There hasn't been any talk about that."

Gates was unavailable for comment Wednesday, but had told the San Antonio Express earlier in the day: "Right at the present, things are working fine. We will have to see. Other than that, we don't have anything to say." He then hung up.

Gilmore said a shortage of new recruits could force him to leave the positions vacant indefinitely.

Ford's Son Involved In Paternity Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Steve Ford, son of the former president, may have fathered a child out of wedlock, a spokesman for Gerald Ford says.

Asked about reports of Steve Ford's involvement in an Orange County Superior Court suit to establish paternity of child whose mother was identified as Joy Maliken, Ford spokesman Bob Barrett said Wednesday: "President and Mrs. Ford are aware of it."

Barrett, contacted by telephone at Ford's office in Rancho Mirage, Calif., declined to elaborate on details of the suit but read this statement by the former president: "It is very possible that our son Steve Ford is the father of Lawrence, born Dec. 16, 1979. If fatherhood is determined by tests and proper authorities, Steve is fully and willingly prepared to assume his parental responsibilities."

"Betty and I as grandparents would of course be happy to have him as one of our family."

Steve Ford was unavailable for comment.

Ms. Maliken's attorney, Pamela Ashman of Beverly Hills, declined comment.

Court records in Orange County paternity cases are sealed.

Ford, 23, studied agriculture at Utah State University and at California Polytechnic University in Pomona. In 1978 he signed a one-year contract with the Los Angeles Rough Riders, a now-defunct rodeo team.

Ford has recently been pursuing an acting career. In July he was in Durango, Mexico, filming "Cattle Annie and Little Britches" with Burt Lancaster.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Gout diet not enough

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB—I have gout but I'm not taking any medication for it. I was controlling it, I thought, by dieting. Several years ago a doctor gave me a diet. Through the years I've lost it. Could you send me a copy of a gout diet if you have one?

I have some painful joints—my left knee and hip and my right shoulder and sometimes my fingers. Should I be taking medication and if so what would you suggest?

DEAR READER—The classic gout diet eliminated organ meats which included kidneys, liver and sweetbreads, the so-called high purine foods. This included anchovies, beans, bouillon cubes, broth, cauliflower, eggplant, lentils, mushrooms, oatmeal, sardines and spinach. All rich and fat foods were to be eliminated. Beer, ale and wine were to be avoided but hard liquor was not thought to be a problem.

This diet was devised in the days before gout was completely understood. We now know that gout is caused by the formation of excessive amounts of uric acid. This excess is formed by your own cells rather than coming from what you eat.

The trick to controlling gout then is to prevent your body from forming too much uric acid. There are new medicines that help in this regard. To give you a better understanding of gout, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-3, Gout, Uric Acid. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Gout has a tendency to occur in people who are active and prominent. That may be because the tendency of the cells to produce excessive amounts of uric acid is inherited. In any case, gout occurred so frequently in royal families of Europe in the past that it was often called "the disease of kings and the king of diseases."

If your uric acid level is significantly high, you should be taking medicine. Most individuals who have gout need to have medicines for life to control the problem.

It is important to follow a diet but not necessarily the classic gout diet. The main objectives of the gout diet today are to eliminate fats, particularly the saturated fats, cholesterol and to limit the calories sufficiently to avoid obesity.

You may recognize this as the same diet we recommend for people to help prevent fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries. The truth is that heart attacks and strokes occur frequently in people who have gout and that's why this type of diet is recommended today, along with the proper medicines to control the gout itself.

Even the strictest limitation on purines, and hence uric acid, in the diet will not significantly lower your uric acid level. A classic experiment to prove this was the milk diet. Milk contains no purines or uric acid or cellular materials such as you find in meat. While consuming only milk, calves continue to produce uric acid.

Remember you can only lower the uric acid level a little with the old gout diet plan. Thus, if you need to lower your uric acid, it is important to take medicines continuously to avoid the complications of gout rather than rely on diet alone to do the job for you.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

February 22, 1980

Changes in your environment are very likely this coming year. Your new surroundings could offer opportunities that were previously unavailable. Make the most of them.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're a shade too optimistic today and could put your stamp of approval on the wrong people. Listen to the advice of those who care about you. How to get along with other signs is one of the things you'll enjoy in your Astro-Graph Letter, which joins with your birthday. Mail $ for each Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There's a good chance today you could place a much higher value on something you're doing than it's really worth. Appraise your endeavors realistically.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're a softie today, so you'll have to be extra careful not to let freeloaders take advantage of your generosity. Give only to the deserving.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Opinions in your household could become diametrically opposed today, with you caught right in the middle. If anything is to be settled, someone must yield.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Faulty judgments on your part are extremely likely because you have a tendency today to trust your instincts and ignore the black-and-white facts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you've got it, spend it. If, however, you're spending what you are counting on getting, that's another story—one that would have an unhappy ending.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be disappointed today if you misinterpret a pat on the back, or encouragement someone is offering you, as a promise. See things for what they are.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In your haste to get things done, you could place your faith in the wrong things—or individuals today. What you hope to accomplish may not come off.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Take care that you don't unintentionally abuse another person's generosity today. Pass up anything that even hints at taking something out of somebody else's pocket.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Concerned associates could be trying to tell you something today for your own good. Listen to their opinions. Mull over what they say.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) To save yourself aggravation, double-check to see that any work being performed for you is being done as you specified, and that it will be finished on schedule.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In situations where you share a joint interest, prudent management is a must today. Don't take any gambles. Hold off on new investments for the time being.

Little Discord Noted In Republican Debate

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—In a debate with little discord, George Bush, Ronald Reagan and five rivals for the Republican presidential nomination joined in criticism of President Carter's foreign and defense policies, and in a call for federal thrift to combat inflation.

The one real debater in the seven-way forum Wednesday night was Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, who said he kept hearing old platitudes instead of new ideas from the other candidates.

Indeed, there was more argument offstage than on, and the subject was not campaign issues but the question of which candidates will take part in another debate Saturday night.

Bush and Reagan, rated the leaders in public opinion polls in advance of New Hampshire's presidential primary election next Tuesday, are due to meet one-on-one in that debate, sponsored by the Nashua Telegraph.

Their rivals say it isn't fair for the former California governor and the former United Nations ambassador to have the state to themselves, three days before the election.

Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas and Sen. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee both have lodged protests with the Federal Election Commission over the issue.

Former Texas Gov. John B. Connally said the exclusion of other candidates from the Bush-Reagan meeting was arbitrary, unwise, and "out of bounds."

"Look," said Bush, "on that debate I was challenged by the Reagan forces. I don't see what's wrong with me doing a one-on-one."

And later, in Birmingham, Ala., Reagan said he was invited by the Telegraph, adding, "They can invite anyone they want. They can invite Jimmy Carter. I'd be delighted."

Bush said the Republican Party was the real winner in Wednesday night's debate.

Rep. Philip M. Crane of Illinois agreed: "The Democratic Party lost because they chickened out in presenting their case to the American voter."

But Bush acknowledged that the debate didn't "break any particularly new ground."

Nor did it do much to spell out differences between the candidates, save those Anderson voiced.

Defending his proposal for a 50-cent gasoline tax to cut consumption and provide funds to ease Social Security taxes, the Illinois congressman said, "We've got a real problem on our hands. We need some new ideas, and all I keep hearing are the old platitudes."

The forum, sponsored by the League of Women Voters, lined up the candidates on the stage of a Manchester high school auditorium. It was broadcast on radio, televised on a delayed basis.

The 80-minute debate was, in large measure, a replay of the one that matched six Republican candidates Jan. 5 in Des Moines, Iowa. The major difference was in the roster, since Reagan missed the first debate on grounds it would be divisive. He changed his mind after losing the Jan. 21 Iowa GOP caucuses to Bush.

Sharp Tongue Of Lady Alice Stilled

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter says Alice Roosevelt Longworth kept generations of Washington politicians "wondering which was worse - to be skewered by her wit or to be ignored by her."

Mrs. Longworth, who died Wednesday, would have liked the description. She acknowledged a few years ago that "I must admit a sense of mischief does get hold of me from time to time."

During many of her 96 years, "Princess Alice" titillated and sometimes shocked the nation's capital, its presidents and statesmen.

She was the daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, cousin of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and widow of a powerful Speaker of the House of Representative.

She knew every president since Benjamin Harrison, inaugurated in 1889, and she was eulogized by Jimmy Carter, who arrived here 88 years later.

"As the teenage daughter of a president, she burst upon the scene with the dawning of the new century and throughout her long, full life she seemed to personify the freshness and irreverence of modern times," the president said.

"She had style, she had grace and she had a sense of humor that kept generations of political newcomers to Washington wondering which was worse - to be skewered by her wit or to be ignored by her," said Carter.

Mrs. Longworth's reign was characterized by her sharp tongue and wry observations.

"I'm probably bad about people who have noble, fine and marvelous thoughts," she once said. "That so depressing. I never could stand the little pious family things that my sanctimonious cousins used to do."

And, perhaps her most widely quoted remark: "If you haven't got anything nice to say about anybody, come, sit next to me."

Over the years, she sat next to almost every major American political figure, starting in 1901, when President William McKinley was assassinated and her father became president. She was 17 years old. Five years later she was married to Nicholas Longworth, a Cincinnati congressman who became Speaker of the House.

Longworth died in 1936 and his widow never remarried, living in a musty, vine-covered mansion filled with frayed rugs and upholstery and even some tattered animal skins taken by her father.

She was a lifelong Republican who said what she thought about prominent members of both parties.

Of New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP's 1948 standard-bearer, she asked, "How do you vote for a man who looks like a bridegroom on a wedding cake?" FDR and wife Eleanor were at best "those other Roosevelts."

Commenting on Watergate and her friendship with President Richard Nixon, she recalled the Harding administration's Teapot Dome scandal: "All things pass. A lot of it is dislike on one side or the other. Intemperance of feeling. I should say. It's fascinating to watch, however. Very interesting. I've seen a good many things over 70, 80, 90 years. Oh dear, I've seen a lot."

Some controversies plainly bored her, including the issue of whether to return the Panama Canal Zone to Panama. Her father once said he "took the Panama Canal Zone." His daughter said in 1973 that "It's there and I don't give a damn..."

MGF Acquires Denver Firm

DENVER (AP)—A $54.5 million deal involving the acquisition of Energy Mineral Corp. of Denver by MGF of Midland, Texas, has been reached in principle, the companies say.

A spokesman said Wednesday that the proposed merger is subject to the signing of an agreement and to approval by directors and stockholders of both companies.

Energy Minerals reported net income of $1.9 million on $6.6 million in sales for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1979.

MGF is an oil and gas exploration firm on and a contract drilling company that has 670 employees.

Last June, MGF acquired Beaver Mesa Exploration Co. of Denver for about $14.87 million in cash, the spokesman said.

Congress Moves To Earmark 'Windfall' For Tax Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new tax break of up to $400 year for savers is a step closer to reality today, and across-the-board tax cuts for individuals and corporations could be just around the corner.

Despite opposition from the Carter administration, a Senate-House conference committee working on a "windfall" tax on the oil industry agreed Wednesday.

On a two-year trial, starting in 1981, for a provision that would exempt from income taxes up to $201 of interest or dividends earned each year from savings accounts, stocks, savings bonds and other investments. A couple filing a joint return could avoid taxes on $400 of such earnings.

That 60 percent of the revenues from the "windfall" tax should be set aside for income-tax cuts. The tax is estimated to produce $227.3 billion in the 1980s; that would mean $136 billion for tax cuts.

The timing and shape of any tax cut would have to be decided in subsequent legislation. But the agreement opens the door for a tax reduction of around $16 billion as early as Oct. 1.

That same agreement would earmark an additional 25 percent, or about $50 billion for helping lower-income Americans pay their energy bills. The other $34 billion would finance improvements in the nation's transportation system and encourage home and business energy conservation and development of non-oil fuels.

The conferees' agreement would accommodate major parts of Carter's 10-year energy program. But their insistence on earmarking the lion's share of the money for tax reductions likely will mean other energy projects may have to be financed out of income taxes, rather than from the new "windfall" tax.

With the support of the Carter administration, the conferees voted to extend through 1992 the current four-cent-a-gallon tax exemption allowed gasoline. That and other parts of a gasoline-incentive package would cost the treasury about $2 billion in lost taxes in the 1980s.

Still to be considered by the conferees are several Senate-passed tax credits designed to help businesses make better use of energy. An effort on the House floor to force House conferees to accept the Senate's $25.6 billion package of energy credits for individuals and businesses failed Wednesday on a 207-195 vote.

The conferees had agreed earlier to delete most of the Senate-approved credits for home energy conservation. The effort on the House floor, led by Rep. Norman D'Amours, D-N.H., grew in part from the conferees' rejection of a credit of up to $300 for the purchase of wood-burning stoves.

Sen. William Roth, R-Del., claimed victory for his tax-cut efforts after Wednesday's vote to earmark 60 percent of the "windfall" tax for across-the-board reductions. In fact, he added, "I expect the tax cut to be expanded by congressional action this year."

The tax cut language was approved after the panel refused to earmark the money for reducing the federal deficit—the course favored by the Carter administration. The conferees had agreed informally two weeks ago that 50 percent to 55 percent of the money should go for tax cuts; Wednesday's vote made that agreement formal and raised it to 60 percent.

Home Loan Pace Dips In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—Home loans in Texas dropped 21 percent last year as savings associations lent $1.6 billion less than in 1978, a Texas Savings and Loan League report shows.

League officials say they have little hope of improvement soon because consumers are seeking fewer mortgage loans and savings are shifting into high-interest accounts.

"The consumer is hollering calf rope," said Pat Malone, administrative vice president of the league.

Kaplan, Smith & Associates Inc. of Pasadena, Calif., did the report for the league.

The report shows deposits grew 10.3 percent during the year—from $22.8 billion to $25.2 billion—but not as fast as the 13.2 percent inflation rate.

Savings shifted dramatically from low-interest passbook accounts and long-term certificates of deposit to high-interest, short-term jumbo CDs and money market certificates.

Malone said lenders are squeezed between what the money market dictates they pay to attract savers and what homebuyers are willing to pay for loans.

Kaplan, Smith & Associates surveyed lenders with 44 percent of Texas savings and loans surveyed, while jumbo CDs and money market certificates rose $773.9 million.

"If you pay 13 percent for money and lend at 12 percent, you are not getting anywhere," Malone said.

"Consumers are resisting 13 percent mortgages where they didn't resist 12½ or 12 percent," added Durward Curles, the league's executive director.

Plainsmen Riding High...

Westerners Host FPC

Western Coach Nolan Richardson sends his No. 1 ranked troops searching for a 28th straight win here tonight against a Frank Phillips team which he feels is much better than its 8-7 conference record.

"I kept telling people," he said earlier in the week, "we caught Frank Phillips when they were as down as you can get. They had just upset Amarillo and we were really up for them. They weren't prepared for us. This time, I think they'll be ready."

As if to prove it really is better than its record, Frank Phillips shocked the conference early this week by upsetting the nation's No. 8 team, Midland, 65-63.

The Plainsmen, led by Curtis Adams' 15-point average, are in the thick of a four-team race for the fourth and fifth place berths in the Region V Tournament. Frank Phillips and Howard College are both 8-7, followed by Amarillo and NMMI at 7-8 each. Western Texas, Midland and Odessa have already sacked up spots in the annual tourney.

"We'd like to have as many fans as possible come out and help us Thursday (tonight)," urged Richardson. "Fans mean so much to this team, and to the Dusters (WTC women's team), too. We may be the only number one nationally ranked team in Texas. We're starting to get a lot of attention around the state. I don't want somebody coming into the coliseum saying, 'I wish we had a team like this in our town. We'd support them'. I want Snyder fans to support us. This is their team, just like the high school or anything else. We want Snyder to support all of its teams."

But Richardson acknowledged fan support is picking up.

"You know Dwight (Williams, a former WTC player) was here the other night when we played Amarillo. He said, 'Coach, I remember when we played here in front of 60 or so people. I wondered if it was ever going to turn around. This is great.'"

Scurry County Coliseum had over 2,000 fans for the Amarillo game. Tickets for tonight's games, a double-header beginning at 6, are $2 adults and $1 students.

Beth Heiden Takes Her 1st Olympic Medal

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—Young Beth Heiden finally has her Olympic medal—just in time—and the fired-up, undefeated United States hockey team is in position to claim one of its own as the 1980 Winter Games head into the home stretch.

Heiden, overshadowed until now by her superstar brother, Eric, finished third in the 3,000-meter speed skating, her final Olympic race, Wednesday and then emotionally revealed ever so briefly just how much the Olympics have affected her.

"It got in the way of our family," said Beth, tears welling in her eyes. "That's what really got me mad."

Eric Heiden, who already has captured three golds, went after No. 4 today in the 1,500-meter race. Still ahead for him is the 10,000 Saturday. For Beth, however, the 3,000 was her last chance at a medal after finishing seventh, seventh and fifth in her earlier events. And she made it count.

Norway's Bjoerg Eva Jensen won the 3,000, timed in an Olympic record 4 minutes, 32.12 seconds. East Germany's Sabine Becker took the silver medal in 4:32.79, with Heiden getting the bronze in 4:33.77.

Soviets were forced to come from behind from the second time in the hockey tournament and scored four goals in the final period, two each by Boris Mikhailov and Aleksandr Golikov, to beat Canada.

Trailing 3-1 with 13 seconds left in the second period, they rallied. Aleksei Kasatonov's goal made it 3-2 before the end of that period and then Mikhailov and Golikov scored 12 seconds apart early in the third for a 4-3 Russian lead. Dan D'Alvise tied it for Canada but then Mikhailov and Golikov scored again to give the Soviets their victory.

Rejuvenated Dusters Try Frank Phillips Tonight

Western Texas College's Dusters look for their eighth conference victory here tonight, taking on Frank Phillips at 6 in the Scurry County Coliseum.

But Cushing feels fans won't be seeing the Duster team of late. The women, which seemed in a late-season slump just a short week ago, are anything but docile now.

"We're ready to play. The last two days the girls have had a totally different attitude in workouts.

You can see it. We've got our second wind now and we're heading into the Region Tournament," beamed a confident coach Cushing yesterday, afternoon.

Cushing's Dusters knocked off Amarillo in Amarillo earlier in the week - a feat not easily accomplished - and the doldrums that had so tightly held the team have vanished.

"A big win like that will do a lot for you... (This week) we've been running harder and with more enthusiasm," he added. "We feel good."

The Dusters can set a record for most victories in a single season tonight, with a win over Frank Phillips' Prairie Dogs. WTC is tied with the 23-win record going into the game.

Frank Phillips' women are 4-18 on the season and 2-8 in WJAC play. The contest is an important one for the Prairie Dogs, who still have a chance to gain entry to the March 5-8 Region V Tournament.

Howard College, Odessa, Western Texas and Amarillo have clinched four of the five available spots, while FPC, South Plains and Clarendon are all fighting for the remaining berth. South Plains and Clarendon are 2-7 and 1-9 respectively.

Heading up the Borger-based 'Dogs are Linda

McKeynolds and Monica Gage, who usually account for half of Frank Phillips' 60.6 average scoring per game. Frank Phillips has been giving up an average of 67.6 points, and fell to Western Texas 75-48 in an earlier meeting Jan. 21.

"It would really be nice if we had a big crowd to help cheer us on," said Cushing. "These girls are beginning to get rolling again, and we plan to keep going right into the regional tournament. It would be nice to have those fans out there really yelling for us."

"Also, we'll have several possible recruits (for next year's team) in the audience, and it would be great if we can show them that Snyder backs its teams."

The girls game will be the first of a double header. WTC's Westerners take on Frank Phillips' men at 8 o'clock. Tickets are $2 adults and $1 students.

Teams already qualifying for the tournament from the Western Athletic Conference are Western Texas, Midland and Odessa. McLennan community College of Waco, and Cooke County College of Gainesville have qualified from the Northern Conference, among others.

Aggies Round Up Top Blue Chip Crop

The Associated Press Opposing football coaches thought Texas A&M had bagged its limit bluechip recruits last week on Southwest Conference signing day, but when the Aggies weighed in with their national letter-intent signers, the ring resembled a record book.
