

Congress gives bill go-ahead

The House and Senate have passed the fiscal 1985 Defense Authorization Bill that would give military members a four percent pay raise and revamp the educational benefits program.

The bill would also allow active duty military members' dependents to receive dental care at military clinics in the continental United States once signed by the president, according to Washington officials. Treatment will be on a space-available basis and begins July 1.

Specifically the bill would:

- Give a four percent across-the-board raise in basic pay and separate rations to members above E-1 with more than four months time in service. The raise would be effective January 1.

- Provide an optional educational benefit program for persons enlisting between July 1, 1985 and June 30, 1988. Under the three-year test program, members who contribute $100 per month for 12 months would receive $10,800 in educational benefits after serving in the military for three years.

Benefits differ for reserve members and are not transferable to family members.

Active duty members eligible for the Vietnam-era GI Bill would not have to contribute to the test program, but would receive $10,800 in educational benefits, providing they remain in the service until July 1, 1988.

These people would also receive half of the educational entitlements earned under the Vietnam-era GI Bill. Academy and Reserve Officer Training Corps scholarship graduates would not be eligible.

The transition would become effective Jan. 1, 1990. In the interim, members eligible for the Vietnam-era GI Bill could continue to use those benefits until they expire Dec. 31, 1989.

The Defense Authorization Bill would also:

- Increase the Basic Allowance for Quarters by approximately five percent and set the Variable Housing Allowance at 20 percent of the national median total housing costs for each grade.

- End the practice of allowing time spent in the delayed enlistment program to count toward pay for time in service. This would affect only persons enlisting after Jan. 1, 1985.

- Extend the selective reenlistment and enlistment bonus programs until Sept. 30, 1987. Also, the SRB ceiling would be increased from $20,000 to $30,000 with the stipulation that no more than 10 percent of the bonuses paid during any fiscal year could exceed $20,000.

- Replace current proficiency pay with special duty assignment pay of up to $275 per month to enlist members required to perform unusually demanding or responsible duties such as recruiters and military training instructors. This authority cannot be implemented until the necessary funding has been approved.

- Eliminate social security offsets against survivor benefit plan annuities when the benefits are based on the annuitant's own earnings. This provision would become effective Sept. 30, 1985.

- Relax eligibility for medical, commissary and exchange privileges for former spouses who were married at least 20 years to a member who performed at least 20 years of credible service.—Washington D.C. (AFNS)

Helping hands make the difference

Combined Federal Campaign Chairman Col. Bob Hullender pledges his support for CFC to kick off the campaign here. The Reese-Lubbock CFC goal this year is $158,000. For a single contribution, an individual expects to help those devastated by natural disasters and others less fortunate through charitable organizations. This year, as in the past, an individual may specify which agency is to get the contribution; however, individuals may also choose an agency not listed in the CFC handouts. Picking an agency not listed requires the contributor to supply the agency address. CFC funds help those in need locally, nationwide, and even world-wide. Contributing is voluntary and those that give may wear the CFC pins on their uniforms. Pins should be worn on the left pocket flap nearest the buttons, or in that area for pocketless blouses.

The appearance of advertisements, including inserts, in this publication does not constitute an endorsement by the Department of the Air Force of products or services advertised.

CARE Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Bob Hullender, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885- (Ext.) 3273.

The word of a change to duty schedules got around before the article in the Sept. 28 Roundup was published and one caller had plenty to say about the change.

The caller politely pointed out several reasons for keeping the status quo, but this situation illustrates that nothing pleases everyone entirely.

When the Reese summer hours, 7:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., were changed back to winter hours, 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., there were numerous complaints and concerned calls. So, the senior staff decided to survey the people for their thoughts on the duty hours' change. Eighty-five to 95 percent reported that they much preferred maintaining the 7:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. schedule year-round. Therefore, the schedule will go into effect Tuesday.

The change to the local work reporting schedule accommodates the majority of interests; however, it should be noted that supervisors still have the authority to adjust the duty hours on a case-by-case basis, when a genuine need exists.

Entertainment at the Enlisted Open Mess received a compliment from an anonymous caller. The caller thanked the staff and guest disc jockey Al for the "great job" they did providing entertainment for the entire mixed crowd audience. The caller indicated that he and his guest were very pleased, and had a great time.

Although the club's entertainment program is somewhat limited, the staff works hard to get suitable entertainment for the entire membership spectrum. And when they succeed, it's nice to get that "pat on the back."

The enlisted club night management caused some controversy when, acting in good faith, they refused to let a member and his wife dine there because the member's card had an outdated sticker attached.

The caller suggested doing away with the stickers altogether. The sticker, however, allows those checking club cards to readily identify those who are paid up on their club charges and those who are not. To prevent such situations from happening again, the club staff has been instructed to check the computer roster when a member's status is in doubt.

A mother obviously concerned for her newborn's welfare called wanting to know why contractors were unable to respond to the repair of her Reese Village housing unit air conditioner until five days later.

We cannot force the contractor to respond in less time than the contract calls for. For an air conditioner repair response time is five days.

In this particular case, All-Pro advised the caller it would be Monday before they could get to her air conditioner. However, the repair technician was available and responded the day after the initial call to All-Pro. The technician determined the problem, and the company went down to buy a replacement part. Because the technician had to wait for delivery of the replacement part, he was forced to wait until the following Monday, as originally planned, to make the repair. All-Pro did its best to meet or exceed the response time outlined in the contract.

Healthy communication essential

by Chaplain (Capt.) Rick Oberheide
Reese Chaplain

Healthy patterns of communication are essential to marriage and family life. We need to occasionally stop and consider our own style of communicating.

Consider the following three examples of communication:

- The explosion: "You self-centered, egotistical jerk. All you care about is your career, the golf course, and the racquetball court." Response: "That's a bunch of garbage. Just three weeks ago I took you to dinner. why don't you clean this pigsty up and shut your trap."

- The silent treatment takes several forms: Grin and bear it, though dying inside...just go through the motions; or the cold, icy silent treatment—cut the other person off emotionally and physically.

- Dialogue—sharing feelings: "We need to talk. I'm feeling lonely and left out of things. I need your help and support."

Obviously, only one of the choices has any hope of bringing the couple closer together. The first two examples are guaranteed to cause further distance and resentment. There are several factors which combine to make the third an example of healthy communication.

First, it is an "I" message ("I feel lonely..."); the opposite is a "you" message which attacks, or blames, one's spouse, ("You stupid jerk..."). The "I" message does not condemn or threaten. Instead, it opens channels for understanding, support, give and take, and adjustments in the relationship. Individual feelings are shared, rather than attacking the other's character.

Such healthy communication seems so simple, and is. But it is not easy. Why? Because it is terribly difficult to be vulnerable. We make ourselves vulnerable when we share deep feelings or concerns to another through "I" messages. There are no guarantees that one's spouse will value such important places within us. So there is the risk of rejection, insensitive response, lack of concern and being patronized.

Thus, the temptation to bury our hurts and hopes deep within. Such buried feelings are the source of angry outbursts, alienation and lack of affection. In burying our true thoughts and feelings, we never risk...never share...and never grow.

It takes two to make a marriage. It takes two to communicate: One talks, shares—the other listens, cares. The risk of rejection or insensitivity may be great but so is the gain.

Patriot says 'thanks, I needed that'

By Nancy Ragan
Kelly AFB, Texas

Call me a blind patriot, a sentimentalist, whatever, but ...

I still get chills when I hear the Star Spangled Banner, even with the saturation and hoopla of the 1984 Olympics. I got tears in my eyes watching the recent ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknowns. I am filled with awe and pride each time I see a lift-off and landing of a space shuttle. I get those same feelings when I hear my country praised.

Recently, while reading a letter to the president of the United States written by Sally E. Greene of Barnstable, Mass., those feelings welled up again.

While Mrs. Greene and her husband, John, were vacationing on the Caribbean island of Tobago, they took a one-day side trip to Grenada. According to Mrs. Greene, that trip was the highlight of their vacation. She said, "We felt more proud of being Americans than ever before in our lives."

"Once the Grenadians knew we were Americans, they welcomed us with open arms. They simply could not thank us enough for our troops having 'rescued' them last October," she said.

She added that she and her husband were truly filled with pride when they read the pro-American graffiti on the walls around Grenada. She also spoke about the terror experienced by the Grenadians of being virtual captives in their own homes in the days just prior to the arrival of the Americans.

Mrs. Greene also expressed the strong feeling that "our American people need to know without a doubt that this was indeed a rescue mission...not an 'invasion' as some have suggested."

Well, Mrs. Greene, I am proud to be an American and my heart swells with pride when I read good things about my country, so I say to you: "Thanks, I needed that."

To give or not — it's still undecided

courtesy judge advocates office

Federal employees, including military members, should be aware that a provision of the United States code may make it a crime for them to contribute to the 1984 Reagan-Bush campaign committee.

It is a felony for "an officer or employee of the United States or any department or agency thereof, or a person receiving any salary or compensation for service from the money derived from the U.S. Treasury" to make any contribution to a person who is the "employer or employing authority of the person making the contribution."

A contribution to a committee is considered a contribution to the individual who authorized the committee.

The legal counsel to President Ronald Reagan and the chief of the General Law Division of Office of the Air Force Judge Advocate General have interpreted provisions of the code to prohibit federal employees from contributing to the authorized campaign committee of the president.

The rationale behind this is: the president, by virtue of his position, is the ultimate employing authority for all federal workers. This interpretation would apply to the federal employee only, and does not extend to his or her spouse or other family members not employed by the federal government.

The U.S. code does not affect any individual's decision to contribute to the Presidential Election Campaign Fund by checking the appropriate box on a tax return. Money from that fund is distributed to all qualified presidential candidates, not just the incumbent president.

A contribution to the fund is not considered a contribution to any particular candidate, and the provision of the code does not apply.

Actually, the issue as to whether a federal employee may contribute to President Reagan's campaign committee has not been resolved. There are concerns that this statute prevents federal employees from fully exercising their First Amendment rights. Until the issue is settled; however, federal employees should be aware of the potential restriction of this law.

Workers to come in at 7:30 Tuesday

Reese employees, military and civilian, begin new working hours Tuesday; 7:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. The only exceptions will be those individuals whose supervisors permit them to maintain the 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. routine.

Supervisors retain the authority to make flextime judgement calls for their personnel, because the senior staff realizes that for some, coming in at 7:30 presents a genuine hardship.

The senior staff did not make the decision without asking their units to pick which schedule was better for them. When the final selections were made, 85-95 percent of the workers voiced a desire to go with the 7:30 to 4:15 workday year-round, instead of having summer and winter operating hours.

The 64th Flying Training

Wing regulation governing the change is being revised to reflect the new policy.

Music Review

by Bill Merrill

Consider the "superstar;" in all his or her glory. Using Julio Iglesias and Diana Ross one might see their superstardom as obscuring the reason superstardom developed—musical talent.

Iglesias and Ross have teamed up for one song, "All of You," and each has released a new album.

American fame for Iglesias was carefully engineered. His began a publicity campaign that worked—they convinced music lovers that the singer was made for them. He glitters with the kind of artificial charm that draws people to the fold in swarms on his new album "1100 Bel Air Place."

Besides his duet with Ross, Iglesias sings with Willie Nelson and the Beach Boys. In "The Air That I Breathe," Iglesias uses the Beach Boys as a background choir. They get lost in the echo chamber production favored by Iglesias, he uses it throughout the LP. Everything about "1100 Bel Air Place" has the Iglesias trademark sound.

Diana Ross built her own veneer of superstardom with such actions as incorporating into Diana Ross Enterprises, Inc. The difference between Iglesias and Ross is clearly defined on Ross' new LP "Swept Away." It's a lively record with that genuine Ross appeal.

Among the tunes packaged in "Swept Away" is "Missing You," written and produced by Lionel Richie specifically for Ross. Nearly all the albums' songs are equally well written and performed. Ross definitely has not let her superstardom go to her head.

Involvement

Property owners can assure proper weights

The Air Force Excess Cost Adjudication Function frequently receives rebuttals to excess costs levied on personnel who insist that their personal property shipments couldn't possibly have weighed as much as the weight tickets indicate. They often suspect shipments or articles other than their own are included in the weighing process resulting in an erroneous higher net weight.

Unless the discrepancies in weighing procedures are identified at the time the certified scale weights are obtained, they have little or no recourse to help the shipper. Their determinations can take up to a year or more after the completion of the move due to the time required for the billing process.

What can be done about the situation to assure that proper scale weights are obtained and members are comfortable that they have received a fair deal? One of the most beneficial actions would be to have the members, especially the ones who are concerned about potential overweight, observe the recording of their respective gross and tare weights at origin and destination.

There is an option available for the traffic management officer to appoint property owners as his representative for the purpose of observing the actual weighting of their goods.

For more information about this new program, call Jerry Fisher in the TMO Quality Control Section at Ext. 3942.

Use caution in holiday activities

by SSgt. Wayne Johnson safety technician

Will this three day weekend be a disaster?

"No way," someone says, but thousands of people have died due to unfortunate mishaps over the past few years. Not just from holiday traffic accidents, but for a number of different reasons.

People's attitudes have a lot to do with their surroundings. One estimate ventures to say that over 75 percent of the people injured or killed in mishaps had the "it will never happen to me," attitude.

If people work at it, that aging phrase might turn to truth for most people.

This weekend there is time to catch up on household chores. Preventive maintenance is so important. Throw away that old extension cord that's been used for a hundred years with frayed wires and "shocking" ends. Spend a little to save a lot.

Preventive maintenance is a major key to a safe operating vehicle. Before starting out on a weekend jaunt, take time to insure the wheels will stay where they are supposed to. Make sure the steering responds adequately.

"I don't know how. I'm not mechanically minded and it's too expensive to take my car to the shop." How much is a life worth, what about the children's lives, or the husband's or wife's? Think about it, and don't believe this could happen only during an out of town trip.

Brakes that are in bad need of repair can easily fail at a stop sign or unposted intersection just when you desperately need them. How about dirty windshields; "I just didn't see the motorcycle," a phrase heard so often. A little soapy water could have saved several lives.

Columbus made it to the new world safely. Will you make it through the weekend safely?

News briefs

AFSA to meet

The Air Force Sergeants Association will meet Tuesday at the Enlisted Open Mess. Free hamburgers and fries will be available to members. New members may sign up that day.

Any enlisted Air Force person is eligible for membership. For more information contact AFSA President Msgt. Loyd Sheppard at Ext. 3147.

MIP logo sought

Reese artists can enter the Model Installation Program logo contest today through October 12. The contest will aid the Air Force in the search for a standardized logo.

Entries can be a phrase or a phrase and graphic illustration depicting the theme of the Model Installation Program. The winning Air Force logo will be used for posters and other items associated with the program.

The contest is open to all employees and families at Reese. Entries must be submitted to Capt. Steve Giuliano in the resource commander's office, Building 800, by Oct. 12. Further information may be obtained by calling Captain Giuliano at Ext. 3626

Commissary council plans to meet

The Reese Commissary Advisory Council meets Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. in the Family Services lounge area. Anyone interested in expressing their interest of concerns should plan to attend.

Chapel sponsors food basket program

The chapel will sponsor a holiday pantry food roundup to provide food baskets to less fortunate Air Force families during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Those wishing to give food or money to the program can do so through their respective units, or come directly to the chapel.

Any food that will remain fresh and good until it is ready to be eaten may be donated.

Billeting initiates advance reservations

Billeting offices Air Force-wide are accepting advance reservations from TDY and PCSing personnel.

These persons are responsible for requesting billeting reservations. Persons should contact the billeting office at the TDY or PCS base as soon as possible to request the reservation.

Commissary to close

The commissary will close Tuesday in observance of Columbus Day.

"Off Duty" sweepstakes set

Thousands of dollars in brand name prizes will be given out to commissary patrons who participate in "Off Duty" magazine's Shopper Stopper Sweepstakes. To enter, the contestant takes the entry blank to any commissary and writes in the prices of several listed products. The blank is then mailed to "Off Duty." Winners are selected by random drawing.

Entries must be postmarked no later than Dec. 15.

To obtain an entry blank, watch for the October and November issues of "Off Duty" or write "Off Duty," 3303 Harbor Blvd., Suite C-2, Dept. BP, Costa Mesa, CA 92626.

No purchase necessary.

Tennis sign ups due

The deadline for signing up for the Junior Officers' Council Oct. 13-14 tennis tournament is Wednesday.

The weekend tournament is open to all Reese employees, military and civilian, and their dependents. There will not be a special division for younger dependents, however, youthful tennis buffs may compete against the adults.

Although the tournament is single elimination, JOC officials say there will be a consolation round for the less versed players.

For tournament reservations, or additional information, contact 1st Lt. Charley Adams at Ext. 3595 or 1st Lt. Dave Bellamy at Ext. 3759. There is a $7.50 entry fee.

Liberty benefit nears

Running enthusiasts get a chance to run for the restoration of the Statue of Liberty Oct. 13 at 9 a.m. at the Reese picnic grounds.

The "Run for Liberty" is a nationwide event being held in 123 cities throughout the U.S. Reese is the only known military installation to be officially participating, according to Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division

Chief Jack Hood.

Among the 123 cities hosting the run is Lubbock, Austin, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio, Texas. The entry fee is $8 before Saturday, and $10 afterward. All proceeds will be sent to the restoration project.

To find out more on the run and how to enter contact the gym at Ext. 3207.

Four to run in ATC event

Kevin Collins and David Hamer will represent Reese in the Oct. 23-24 Air Training Command 10,000-meter run at Randolph AFB, Texas. The runners finished first and second, respectively, in last week's Reese 10,000-meter run.

Gym officials say there will not be a representative in the 40 and Older Division, because there were no qualifiers.

Any of the base runners representing Reese at ATC could win a shot at the Air Force's Cross Country Championship set for the end of this month.

The Air Force running Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio, championship will be held at Oct. 28-31.

Varsity roundballers set

Orlando Carr will coach the Reese varsity basketball team, announced Athletic Director Don Schilling.

Carr's basketball experience as a coach and a player span 18 years. During his basketball tenure, Carr's teams have the Alaskan Air Command Tournament, 1967-68; been the All Japan Team, 1973-74; won Air Training Command East and West Division titles, 1974-76; won the Air Force championship, after taking the Pacific Air Command title, 1981-83; and many more.

Anyone interested in applying for a position on Carr's 1984-85 varsity basketball team should contact the gym at Ext. 3207.

Varsity basketball practice is expected to begin in early October. The date for cutting back the team roster to 13 remains to be set.

Supply wins I-M lead

The Supply flag football squad battled against the odds last week to earn the lead in the third week of the Reese intramural flag football season.

The Supply hopes for unseating Comm dimmed with their midweek loss to Air Base Group, but quickly rekindled when the dust settled following their clash with FMS Sept. 27.

Supply narrowly lost to ABG, 13-12, Sept. 26, in what ABG Quarterback Pat Barnes called a "hard fought game. It was too bad either side had to lose."

The Supply squad bounced back shutting down the field maintenance offensive line in their second game of the week. Their 7-0 shut out over FMS kicked the team into first place in the I-M league.

Sept. 25th

FMS knocked the hospital

team back for a convincing 26-6 win in the season's third week opener. Later, the organizational maintenance team picked up the win as the 54th had to forfeit, 7-0.

Sept. 26th

ABG skipped by number one ranked Supply, 13-12, as they work to keep ABG's championship hopes alive. At 6:45 p.m. the 54th defeated the Sturon team 20-6.

Sept. 27th

The hospital snapped to against OMS winning 13-6. Afterward, Supply shut out field maintenance, 7-0.

Next week

Tuesday at 5 p.m., Sturon will meet OMS and ABG takes on the civil engineers. Both games will be played at the field near the Youth Center.

Wednesday, the FMS squad will take the 54th at the main field, while the SPS takes on Supply at the soccer field; both at 5 p.m. At 6, Comm meets Hospital at the main field and OMS goes against the 35th at the soccer field.

Thursday at the soccer field, Hospital challenges CE at 5 and at 6, ABG meets the 54th.

Flag football standings

I-M football as of Oct. 1
Supply	3-2	ABG	2-1
Comm	3-1	Sturon	2-1
OMS	2-4	CES	2-0
FMS	2-3	Hospital	1-2
54th	2-2	35th	0-1
		SPS	0-1

Reese sports 8th in ATC

Reese is eighth in the 1984 race for the Air Training Commanders Trophy. Randolph AFB, Texas, with their 1,840 commander's trophy points, leads the 13 base competition.

The ATC sports and recreation points are awarded for units finishing in the top three positions in command events. The commander's trophy goes to the ATC base with the most points at the end of the year.

Randolph has earned their lead with first-place victories in men's and women's volleyball, the 10,000-meter run and chess. The base finished second in golf, the Designer Craftsman Contest, the talent contest, soccer, tennis and the men's slow-pitch softball. Randolph grabbed third in the slow-pitch softball tournament for over 35-year-olds.

Besides the points awarded to the winners, commander's points are also awarded to bases for fielding a team.

Throughout ATC the bases line-up with Lackland AFB, Texas, in second with 1,815

Meet the Midas Foreign Legion:

Specialists in foreign car exhaust, strut and brake work.

THEY SPEAK TOYOTA AND DATSUN AND VW AND VOLVO AND FIAT AND... LOTS, LOTS MORE

At Midas, we speak your car's language. Fluently. Our Foreign Legionnaires understand your foreign car.

That's because Midas has the right parts, and the right tools and the knowledge that comes from 25 years experience to take care of your foreign car's needs quickly and professionally.

And we back our foreign car work with the same kind of guarantees we've been offering for years to owners of American-made cars. For example, our muffler guarantee says (in plain English): Midas will replace your Midas foreign car muffler free (no charge for the muffler or installation) for as long as you own your car.

So, come to Midas with your foreign car. Both of you will feel at home.
