Reese airman gets guilty verdict

by Sgt. Rich Tillman public affairs specialist

Dishonorable Discharge face AB Mel Simpson after a found him guilty of theft.

The former noncommissioned officer received the sentence for stealing money peers in the barracks. Now, after his conviction and sentencing at Reese, Airman Simpson is at Kirkland AFB, N.M., awaiting the convening said, which forced him to steal authority's action.

The current legal action in New Mexico is designed as the first review of Reese and 33 months confinement court proceedings. The convening authority will determid-November court-martial mine which rehabilitation facility the airman will serve time at; Fort Lewis, Wash., or Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The convening authority and other personal items from also has the power to overturn the Reese decision, or lessen the airman's sentence.

It was an uncontrollable drug habit, Airman Simpson money and "pawnable" items.

Attorneys asked how he felt as the victims entered the courtroom and testified. "It was very hard to face them and not still be able to say, 'I'm sorry that I did these things. I was addicted to a drug I couldn't control, and you just happened to be one of the victims'," Airman Simpson said. "I was owning up to the mistakes."

When counsel approached him for his final thoughts on the ordeal, he said, "When all this is over, given another chance. (I will) never take that step again, (taking) any type of drugs whatsoever. What is boils down to, is my problem is licked.

"For not dealing with the problem, not reaching out and getting some advice, I took it upon myself to seek out my own answer, which was wrong-it was drugs-and it only helped me take the problem and put it on hold, which eventually wiped me out.

"I lost my car, my wife, my son, our house, all of my musical instruments, furniture, clothes, everything. To this day, this uniform and maybe a few other fatigue uniforms are the only clothes I have: It's been a nightmare." said Airman Simpson.

Airman Simpson's case is not unique. Airmen throughout Air Training Command and the Air Force are finding legal authorities cracking down on substance abuses. His case does, however, prove that anyone willing to abuse a substance had better be ready to accept the consequences.

It's an individual choice

The sign says it all-"DWI kills". That is the point Reese security police want motorists to get this holiday season and why they have the crashed Oldsmobile at the main gate. Air Training Command officials say that if the trend of the past two winter holiday season holds, everyone will return to work in 1985. ATC recorded its last holiday winter fatality Jan. 2, 1982. Of the eight traffic accidents to claim ATC personnel this year, seven involved alcohol and persons not wearing their seat belts.

CARE Line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Bob Hullender, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885- (Ext.) 3273.

The "CARE Line" is now the Energy Conservation Hotline, that is in addition to its continued use as my open line of communication and as the inspector general's hotline.

Personnel calling the Energy Conservation Hotline can use the line to report misuses and abuses of energy, or ask questions about Energy Conservation that would be beneficial to the entire Reese community.

Energy Conservation Manager Sam Lanham will investigate reports of misuse and abuse, as well as answering hotline questions. You may call him at Ext. 3310, or call in tips and questions on Ext. 3273.

I encourage everyone who can to be at the Christmas tree lighting this afternoon at 4:30. The ceremony will be at the tree next to the T-33 training jet on display at the main gate.

At 4:45, the winners of the 1984 Reese Christmas Card Lane greetings will be announced. Santa Claus will be there, too.

Weighted Airman Promotion System testing versus exercises—the conflict is not new, but I hope I can clear the matter up for everyone involved.

To say that one, WAPS testing or exercise, holds priority over the other takes the problem out of context. Both areas are extremely important. Circumstances and individual responsibility must be weighed carefully in each case where the question to WAPS test, or participate in an exercise exist.

Air Force Regulation 35-8, paragraph 4-2, sets a firm base from which to work. It does not solve all extenuating cases. It behooves everyone involved—examinee, supervisor and mobility team chief—to take a more active role in planning ahead to avoid such conflicts.

The testing regulation says:

- •Local or command exercises do not interrupt testing sessions.
- •Do not excuse examinees being tested to participate in exercises.
- •Do not schedule testing to conflict with known exercises.
- •Any interruption in testing constitutes a possible compromise of the test and requires an investigation for compromise.

•Once testing has begun, excuse examinees only in an emergency, such as a fire.

Examinees should make their supervisor and the test examiner aware of examinee mobility status—how vulnerable to exercises the examinee is. Examinees should ask, is the test date near the end of the cycle and is Reese due for an exercise? Coordinate with the mobility team chief. In short, plan ahead.

It is tough to help examinees during a recall, perhaps too late. Mobility team chief, who on your team is scheduled for promotion testing during vulnerable exercise periods? Can you afford a shortfall or can you replace that examinee?

The Reese test examiner can reschedule testing appointments with reasonable notice, but during the middle of the night does not constitute reasonable notice.

I recently received two calls on the Child Care Center. The center's cook was praised for cooking well-balanced meals, but only receiving the pay of a food service worker, and the second call from a concerned parent.

The first caller indicated the cook was doing her job well above standard, and he felt that if this was the way members of the Morale, Welfare and Recreation Division were being treated, we will certainly have a hard time keeping quality people in MWR.

For the praise, thank you; she does an excellent job cooking for the center.

As for pay and position, job descriptions and pay grades are updated periodically, and if needed, upgraded. But I stress that all nonappropriated fund positions, like the other tasks at the center, are funded solely by income generated by our program. If attendence is down, then so is income and sometimes proposed pay upgrades must be postponed.

The second caller felt that his child caught a cold when exposed to cold weather during a recent fire drill. Apparently the child care staff could not find the boy's coat and took him outside anyway. As a parent I can sympathize, and that won't happen again.

The staff has been told to wrap children in blankets when they cannot find the children's coats, and then take them outside. Please remember one thing, though. The Child Care Center is required by Air Force regulation to have such drills to prepare for the worst, and in a real situation precious seconds may make all the difference.

Working in a freezing environment prompted another caller to be heard. However, before I could get this answer processed through channels, I found that his problem is already being solved.

Base civil engineers are going to install a supplemental heater in Building 250 to increase the heat available to that building's workers. CE specialists have since adjusted the water temperature, checked the duct system, adjusted air flow and relocated a thermostate to help heat things up.

I was glad to see that this call had such a speedy, satisfactory solution, but remember, when heating problems arise the best course of action is to call the appropriate civil engineering section. After all, they are a "can do, will do" team.

There is no easy formula

by Chaplain (Capt.) Larry Walling

base catholic chaplain

The question I would like to ask is ... "What are the components of significant family relationships?"

There is no easy formula for achieving wholesome family relationships. What is significant to one family system may not be to another. Individuals come to the family unit bringing resources and needs, and thus they create a uniqueness in interaction.

We must look at developing worthwhile relationships within the contents of each family. It is unwise to look at the family next door and evaluate what's happening in your own family by comparing the two. Our Christian philosophy and value system give us a basis on which we can build our own relationships.

Wholesome relationships meet individual needs as well as the needs of others. We strive to love ourselves so that we can love another. Such relationships involve shared commitment. This is something to be strongly emphasized. Shared commitment is the continued willingness of each partner to invest a part of his or her life (talents, resources, interests) regardless of the nature of the situation.

A worthwhile relationship involves giving and receiving, many people have difficulty receiving. Being able to give and receive implies a flexibility in relationships.

Openness and willingness to share oneself is another important component of a wholesome relationship. There needs to be a willingness to risk sharing knowledge about oneself so that the relationship can grow.

A future orientation is also important in developing relationships. The spiritual family has a unique future orientation. Though we can't know exactly what the future will be, we have the Father's promise of life everlasting. The relationship of our Creator to each of us give us hope for developing more worthwhile relationships among one another.

Think about this...

by MSgt. David Lemme 12th FTW Safety Office Randolph AFB, Texas

"This is a hell of a way to die," Lt. Gen. George S. Patton said, as they lifted him into the ambulance.

Tough words, from a tough man. A man feared by the whole Nazi army. A man who had known the dangers of war. A man who had seen war's bloody violence. And a man who appreciated life.

General Patton was fatally injured in an "ordinary" traffic collision between a truck and the car in which he was riding. The accident occurred while he was on a hunting trip.

It was a peacetime motor vehicle accident; the kind that can happen to anyone.

"... a hell of a way to die."

Those are the words to remember. They are words that speak of the bitter tragedy and the utter irony of accidents. Maybe they should be put on highway billboards or pasted on dashboards near the speedometer.

With the holiday season here, you can expect all kinds of drivers to be on the road. Knowledge, altertness, foresight, good judgment, and skill will bring you safely through the days ahead.

General Patton lost his last battle—the one for his life. The hard-fighting general faced an enemy that mankind has yet to conquer.

Exercise, diet and efficient time management are mandatory for physical and mental fitness; these along with spiritual fitness will lead to a maximally fulfilling life.

Exercise consisting of aerobic activity such as running, swimming or bicycling which cause the heart and breathing to speed up for 20 minutes, three times per week is the minimum. Resistance (hydraulic) weight exercising such as barbells, Nautilus and Universal machines may be done on the alternate

Diets should avoid fat, cholesterol and salt by favoring unfried chicken and fish and avoiding fried, fatty and dairy foods. Starches are a good source of calories for those who need them. Sugar at only 16 calories per spoon may be used instead of artificial sweeteners if there is concern over side effects; caffeinated beverages in moderate-tolight quantities have yet to be proven a major

Efficient time management increases productivity and free time; courses are available through several sources. Regular sleep patterns especially a consistent alarm time will allow a reduction in overall sleep time required. Rotating study subjects every 15 minutes or so and an hourly break will reduce study time. Prioritizing, ordering and calling ahead will reduce errand time.

Music review

Capaldi's "One Man Mission" review

by Bill Merrill

Jim Capaldi, former drummer for the band Traffic, has had a tough time since the band split up. Two other members of that band, Steve Heart," a modest but multi-Winwood and Dave Mason. went on to become famous. Winwood with "When You See A Chance," and Mason with many hits, including "We Just Disagree". For Capaldi, though, fame has been elusive.

What this has meant for Jim is a flexible approach to music-making, absorbing the spirited flavor of the culture from his new "home," Brazil, and changing his style several times. Last year, he reunited with Winwood on "Fierce faceted comeback LP. This year, he's back with his eleventh solo album, "One Man Mission."

The latest version of Jim Capaldi is a determined, twofisted rocker. On "One Man Mission," he has eliminated some of the frills from "Fierce Heart" in favor of a guitar and rhythm-oriented sound.

Capaldi has a gruff voice like Capaldi's own drumming fits that belonging to Joe Cocker or Robin Trower vocalist Jimmy Dewar. One song, "Tales of Power," could easily be placed in context alongside other mid-70s British barroom rock-blues classics.

From a support standpoint, Capaldi has chosen some equally unknown but competent musicians. The only recognizable name is Carlos Santana, who plays guitar on one track. Guitarist Pete Bonas squeezes emotion out of his instrument, and in comfortably with the rest of the band. Pete Harris provides a little atmosphere with his work on the fairlight synthesizer.

Although "One Man Mission" is mostly a straightforward rock record, Jim occasionally tries for a more relaxed pop mood ("I'll Keep Holding On" and "Nobody Loves You"). This is fortunate, since the rock songs can be sublime ("Tonight"), but also primitive and plodding ("Ancient Highway"). As a whole, "One Man Mission" has balance, reflecting the maturity of a performer who's been around awhile.

AU Review notes low intensity conflicts

The hows, whys and wherefores of fighting a nuclear war often receive big play in the media. But very little attention has been paid to the fighting of what some combat analysts call "low-intensity" conflicts.

The January-February edition of Air University Review will address the concepts, principles and policy guidelines of such

According to the author of the article, Professor Sam C. Sarkesian, a noted scholar and expert in military affairs, lowintensity conflicts are something our nation must contend with now and in the foreseeable future.

Another article in the same edition discusses the American Catholic bishops' letter on nuclear war. The author, Capt. Bruce Johnston, examines possible difficulties posed by the bishops' stand on the morality of nuclear deterrence. -(ATCNS)

The Air Force established an installation scheme which programmed the replacement of these aging "birds" with new "wind birds"; birds which are modern and supportable. They provide the same service and information as the old "birds," but are more reliable.

> The original Air Force scheme tasked an engineering and installation team from Kelly AFB, Texas, to install these new "birds". However, Sergeant Winslow suggested the Engineering and Installation Center at Tinker AFB, Okla., authorize a self help installation of the "wind birds" rather than dispatching an EI team to do the job.

> SSgt. Debra Damien, coordinated the suggestion. It was approved and Sergeant Winslow and Airman Ricketts completed the scheme. The result - a savings of TDY expenditures for the EI team, rapid installation of the new "wind birds" at RSUs 1 and 2: but the best of all, no interruption to the wind speed and direction indicator service provided to the RSUs.

Sergeant Winslow supervises as Airman Ricketts calibrates the "wind birds" with the wind indicating instruments.

Like family, like government shopping around can save money by Verne Stull procurement assistant

Sid's son Sydney spent the night with a friend. The friend had a guitar, and six years of guitar lessons behind him. The friend showed Sydney how to play the guitar.

Next week Sydney went downtown. Sydney entered the music store and the clerk there showed him several guitars. Sydney found one he obviously liked and the clerk asked, "May I order for you?" Sydney gave his ok. His parents would see his need.

Ten days later, the clerk from the store calls Sydney's home and tells the boy's mother "Sydney's order is in." At the same time, the clerk tells her the amount now due. Shocked, Sydney's mother mutters a "thank you."

Later Sydney's dad comes home and his mother repeats the stores message to him. Uh oh!

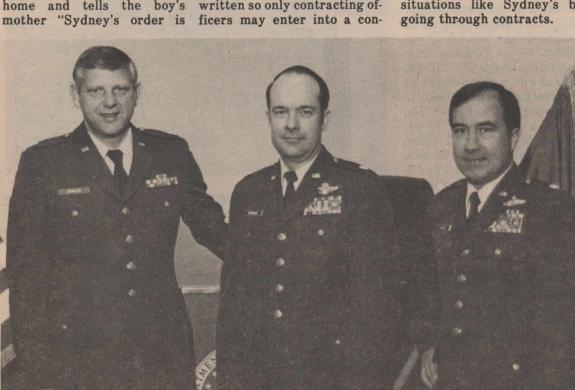

Sydney's parents may have seen the boy's need for the guitar, but his father may have been able to get a better price for the instrument by shopping around, or at least negotiating with the clerk.

The federal acquisition regulation requires contracting officers' experience, and the leaders and regulation writers know that. The federal acquisition regulation is written so only contracting officers may enter into a con-in." At the same time, the tract, or buy supplies or serclerk tells her the amount vices for the government.

For everyone else, such purchases and requests for services are not authorized; therefore, they require ratification by the deputy commander for resources, before payment for merchandise and services can be made. That means if a person is not the contracting officer, yet goes ahead with a purchase, that person may be liable for the supplies or services "they" bought.

How badly would Sydney have needed that guitar if he were going to pay for it instead of mom and dad? Airmen of all ranks can avoid situations like Sydney's by going through contracts.

The lonely pints club

USAF Hospital Reese keeps four pints of blood in stock; two A positive and two O positive. That four pint supply represents half of all the blood the United Blood Services collected here Dec. 7. The Reese goal was 40 pints, but only eight were collected. It is the first time Reese personnel have missed their goal by such a large margin, said a UBS spokesman. The UBS will be back, but not be back at Reese until 1985, when several other blood drives are already in the scheduling phase.

Three recognized as best

SMSgt. James T. Grimmett, MSgt. Thomas Cooper and TSgt. Jerry W. Williams rank among this base's finest noncommissioned officers, a fact that was brought to light during the Nov. 30 Enlisted Awards Banquet.

Before there was any talk of Airman, NCO and Senior NCO of the Year, the Reese community recognized these three NCOs for exceeding the standards of their duties and going that extra step.

An Air Force veteran of 23 years, Sergeant Grimmett is the wing First Sergeant of the Year. With almost five years experience in his job, the former telephone plant maintenance superintendent came to Reese as the Squadron Section for Resource Management, 64th Supply Squadron first sergeant from a similar assignment with the 2137th Communications Squadron, Spangdhlem AB, West Germany.

The Wing Unit Career Advisor of the Year, Sergeant Cooper, also works as the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron's safety NCO. Sergeant Cooper has held his position in FMS for three years, but before UCA and safety duty, he worked in the squadron as a jet engine technician.

Sergeant Williams, an Air Force member of almost 15 years, was honored at the banquet as the Field Training Detachment 429 Instructor of the Year. The former night shift supervisor for 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron's India Flight first began instructing with the Reese training detachment two years ago.

Thanksgiving with mom and dad

CCAF grad applications due

The Community College of the Air Force has set Feb. 15 as the cutoff date for applications for graduation in April. College officials say students should not request waivers due to the time needed to process graduation packages.

The graduation filing deadline comes at the same time the Extension Course Institute at Gunter AFB, Ala., has introduced a new course titled "The History of U.S. Air Power." The course consists of five volumes covering significant events from the 1903 Wright Flyer to Vietnam and the strategic CCAF will give their students two semester hours of management for completion of the course.

ECI and CCAF officials agree, anyone wanting to know more about the history course, or file for an April graduation, should contact the Education Center in Building 920, or call Ext. 3634.

Winterization project underway now

The winterization of hous- the housing furnaces. ing units in Reese Village has begun, according to civil engineers.

The exterior doors and frames will be painted and thresholds replaced on Village homes at a rate of three per day. Winterization around doors, windows, switches, receptacles and pipes. Flue dampers will be installed to provide combustion air for

Before any of the winterization work can be completed, CE officials said, there must be an individual at home who is 16 or older.

Residents will get at least two days advanced notification before work is to start at of homes will include sealing their home. However, for more information on the winterization, contact Contract Management's Larry Ballard at Ext. 3922.

Making a food withdrawal

Members of the 1958th Communications Squadron help unload the nearly 15,000 pounds of food at the Food Bank warehouse in Lubbock Dec. 3. The volunteers made their withdrawal in three days and "did a very neat job," said Lubbock Food Bank Representative Caroline Lanier. Ms. Lanier explained that the food is rarely given to families, instead it is given to church groups and other civic organizations for distribu-

GEICO has nearly 1,500,000 satisfied policyholders. And we've specialized in providing high-quality, low-cost insurance for hundreds of thousands of NCOs since 1936.

GEICO REWARDS GOOD DRIVERS WITH GOOD RATES.

We've got a simple philosophy for saving you money. We insure good drivers, so we can lower your premium. And we reduce our sales costs to lower your premium even more.

GEICO also gives you 12-month protection against rate increases. And you may spread as many as nine easy payments over the year.

WE REWARD YOU WITH BETTER SERVICE, TOO.

GEICO offers 24-hour service, through your local Rep and a 24-hour number. You can call us anytime. for any reason. So if you're working odd hours or a TDY assignment comes up, there's never any hassle.

There's no hassle if you have an accident, either. Because GEICO has thousands of claim representatives around the country.

And if you go to Germany, GEICO can still insure you.

WHEN CAN YOU START SAVING MONEY ON CAR INSURANCE?

To find out, visit your new GEICO Rep or one of his associates today. Their office is at the convenient address below. Or, just give them a call. Start getting the special treatment you deserve.

And be sure to ask about our 3year renewal guarantee program.

> IT'S EASY TO DO BUSINESS WITH GEICO.

If you don't meet all of GEICO's "good driver" requirements, you may still get the same quality insurance and service from a GEICO affiliate at somewhat higher rates. GEICO is not affiliated with the U.S. Government

News briefs

Caprock Cafe to reduce hours

The Caprock Cafe will conduct a 60-day test beginning Monday, closing the facility at 6:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

This reflects the results of a recent survey conducted on facility usage during the hours of 3-7 p.m. The survey indicated the last half hour of the period had the lowest utilization rate. For more information, contact MSgt. Clyde New at Ext. 3495.

Village lighting guidelines

Outside light displays in Reese Village may be turned on today at 7 p.m.

Light displays may be turned on from 7-11 p.m. nightly until Jan. 3. At no time will outside light displays be left on during the day.

All outside light displays must be taken down by 6 p.m. Jan. 4.

If the lighting displays will be physically attached to the facility, written permission must be obtained from the Customer Service Office in 64th Civil Engineering Squadron Building 553, prior to installing the UL approved lights. Families with questions about any wing lighting policy may contact Reese Energy Conservation Manager Sam Lanaham at Ext. 3310 for more infor-

Dec. 4, the 35th picked up a forfeit win over the Comm team, 1-0. Supply #1, led by George Jackson with 22 points, downed Sturon #2, 51-30. ABG kept their season record in tact as they defeated Hospital 67-48. George Vasiloff led ABG scoring with Sturon #3, 45-38, with the shooting skill of Dave Bellamy's 12 points.

Supply #2 lost to the Hospital Dec. 5, 51-45. The Hospital's Erwin Bowser and Vinnie Robertson each racked up 13 points to help Hospital to the victory. Supply #1 came back and knocked off SPS, 85-32, in the evening's second game. Johnny Barnes rallied the Supply #1 with 16 points.

Keith Sainten, with 12 points, led OMS to victory over the 35th, 42-33. Dave Bernacki managed 15 points to help the 54th beat CES #1, 66-46.

In the last night of 1984 basketball, Bob Allen put in 18 points to lead ABG to the win over Sturon #1, 53-31, and retaining their division lead. Sturon #3 narrowly defeated Sturon #2, 34-30, with the help of Steven McDonald's 12 points. CES #2 dumped

Training camp applications taken

The Air Force powerlifting training camp will be conducted at Scott AFB, Ill, Feb. 3-22. The Air Force team will be chosen from those participating at the camp to compete in the interservice championships at Norfolk NAS, Va., Feb.

The Air Force wrestling training camp will be conducted at Mather AFB, Calif., Feb. 24 through March 16. Like the powerlifting team, the Air Force wrestling team will be picked at the training camp. The wrestlers will compete in the interservice championships at Pensacola, Fla., March 17-23.

Interested personnel including coaches for these two sports should complete a request for specialized training application, Air Force Form 303, and forward it to Headquarters Air Force Manpower and Personnel Center/MPCSOS through their major command.

Reese personnel interested in applying for either camp can contact the gym for more information; however, powerlifting applications are due by Jan. 4 and wrestling camp applications must be in by Jan. 18.

Christmas Classic ends this weekend

The Reese-hosted 10th annual Christmas Classic will end Saturday evening as the champions of the President's and Commander's Divisions are announced.

The high school basketball tournament will finish today's play at 10 p.m. and begin final-day action Saturday at 10 a.m.

Entry to the tournament is free to military members in uniform, $2 for adults and $1 for students. Refreshments are available at the gym snack bar, next to the main office.

Varsity basketball play

The Reese men's varsity basketball team takes on the Intramural All-Stars at 6 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday at the gym. Everyone is invited to watch as the varsity collides with the best Reese I-M players.

Racquetball invitational set

The third annual High Plains Racquetball Invitational tournament will be played at the gym Feb. 15-17. The deadline for entering is Feb. 11. Cost is $16 per event. For details contact Don Schilling at the gym, Ext. 3207.

Lunch-time bowling special

The Windmill Bowling Center offers Reese bowlers three strings for $1 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Falcons seek independence

The Air Force Academy Falcons square off against the Virginia Tech Gobblers Saturday in the Independence Bowl at 7:05 p.m. CST. The post-season game will be played in Independence Stadium in Shreveport, La.

Tips for winterizing

With winter fast approaching, now is a good time to survey homes for ways to obtain energy savings on home heating bills.

• Check for air leaks: Windows and doors are the obvious place to begin, but obscure places such as wall outlets, switch plates, and attic doors can also admit unwanted cold air.

•Check heating equipment: Arrange for a maintenance check of home heating equipment by a heating and cooling contractor and repair service. In the case of a gas-burning furnace, the service person will check the equipment and light the pilot •Change filters: Once a furnace is operating, change the filter once a month to ensure the most efficient operation.

•Provide proper attic ventilation: Proper attic ventilation allows for moisture control in the attic where it is important to keep insulation dry. Blocking or closing off turbine ventilators with plastic bags or other devices is not a good practice since it hinders attic ventilation and moisture control.

•Lower thermostate settings: Thermostat settings should be lowered to at least 68F during the day and further lowered at night before going to bed for substantially lower heating bills.

Fireplaces

•Clean fireplaces and chimneys: If a fireplace gets fairly frequent use, the chimney will have to be cleaned from time to time because of the formation of creosote, a black tarry liquid that results from the condensation of wood gases not burned in the combustion process.

•Lower the thermostat setting to between 50F and 55F when the fireplace is in use. Heated air from the rest of the house will be lost, but the furnace won't use nearly as much

•Close all doors and warm air supply ducts entering the room with the fireplace about one half to one inch. Air for combustion will be drawn in through the partially opened window, not from the rest of the house.

•Consider installing a glass screen over an open masonry fireplace. Louvers at the bottom restrict the amount of air a fire consumes and can be closed when the fire burns down. This cuts substantially the loss of warmed air up the flue.

•If the fireplace damper opening can be adjusted from outside the fireplace, try closing the damper part way. This reduces the draft and the amount of warmed air drawn in from other parts of the house.

•Close the damper when the fire is out. If the damper is left open, the furnace may consume 10-30 percent more fuel than normal. - (Courtesy of Texas A&M University)

Sainten leads scoring

Reese nails Cannon in two-game series

Reese's men's varsity basketball squad lowered the boom on the visiting varsity from Cannon AFB, N.M., Saturday and Reese defeated Cannon in game one of the two-game series, 72-62. Reese's Keith Sainten and Tim Clark went to the hoop for 19 points each to help Reese win the first game.

Sunday, Reese finished the two-day event in the win column putting Cannon away 85-79. Sainten led Reese's offensive attack again, this time with 21 points.

Other major contributors to the Reese victory were George Jackson with 18 points, Clark with 10 points and Erwin Bowser with 10 points.

The Reese squad travels to Carswell AFB, Texas, today to play in a 16-team tournament. Game one of the weekend tournament is against host Carswell.

The Reese team carries a 2-4 record against Air Force teams going into the roundball event.

Saturday is the first time ever Air Force Academy Falcons will meet the Virginia Tech Gobblers. The two teams collide in the Independence Bowl in Independence Stadium, Shreveport, La., at 7:05 p.m. CST.

The Falcons bring a 7-4 season record to the postseason bowl game, while the Gobblers will be there with an 8-3 record.

Both teams know success, especially during the past three years. In 1983 the Air Force went 10-2 and in 1982.

8-5. The Gobblers were 9-2 last year and 7-4 in 1982.

Among the teams' opponents headed for bowl games are:

Falcon foes number one ranked Brigham Young University which meets Michigan in the Holiday Bowl; Notre Dame set to meet Southwest Conference SMU in the Aloha Bowl; and Army takes on Michigan State in the Cherry Bowl.

Gobbler opponents Bluebonnet Bowl-bound West Virginia and Peach Bowlbound Virginia.

The Falcon ground attack force rushed for 326.5 yards per game this season, good enough to rank number two nationally.

Virginia Tech has the honor of having the nation's number two ranked rushing defense, 71.5 yards per game, and they are the third ranked team in total defense per game.

Individually, Falcon Fullback Pat Evans leads his team rushing with 1,015 yards and an average of 6.4 yards per carry. Running Back Jody Simmons has 649 yards for an while Quarterback Bart Weiss chipped in 540 yards for a 4.3 average.

Air Force Quarterback Weiss completed 41 of 87 passes this season for 668 yards and three touchdowns. The Gobbler gridiron commander hit 86 of 164 attempts for 983 yards and five TDs.

Tackle Chris Funk, a 6-foot-4, 235-pound senior, leads the Falcons defensively with 69 tackles this season. Funk was also named to the 1984 All-Western Athletic Conference first team. - Air average 5.8 yards per carry, Force Academy, Colo. (AFNS)
