

Measles precautions begun at college

Classmates notified of potential risk, 150 inoculated

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor
The Snyder-Scurry Health Unit had given out approximately 150 immunization shots as of 10 a.m. Wednesday in response to the discovery Tuesday that a Western Texas College student had likely contracted red measles.

College officials learned of the suspected case Tuesday and began a process notifying individuals identified as coming in contact with the 21-year-old male student, a native of Borger.

This included the approximately 150 students living in the WTC dorm, where the student was a resident, and individuals identified as being in classes this spring with him.

These classmates, estimated at 100, were notified by WTC Tuesday by telephone. College officials note he was a fulltime student and all of his classes met during the day.

Health officials stress that unless persons came in direct contact with the student, they likely face no danger of infection.

In addition, individuals over the age of 32 are not considered at risk since they have likely already encountered the disease within their lifetime and now have a natural immunity.

Individuals under the age of 32 who received a measles vaccination prior to 1968 are listed as a group who have a high risk of contracting the disease if they come in contact with it. College students generally fall within this category.

To qualify further, for this vaccination to be effective, this group should have received this immunization after the age of 15 months.

Other steps taken by WTC officials to curb any outbreak include an effort to inoculate all members of WTC teams which might be traveling within the next few days.

Topping this list was the college Lady Dusters basketball team, set to leave this weekend for the NJCAA National Tournament in Tyler.

As another precaution, the schedule for a "senior day" for Snyder High School seniors was altered. Instead of having the seniors come to the campus Wednesday, WTC instructors were to visit with them at SHS.

Of the cases reported statewide, health officials say, most patients are toddlers and infants less than 15 months old and young adults, often high school and college students.

There have been two large-scale outbreaks of measles in Texas to date, at Houston, where it is suspected the cycle began in November, and at Texas Tech.

The WTC student suspected of having measles may be linked to the Lubbock outbreak, college officials note. The 21-year-old was tested here Tuesday but, as of Wednesday morning, official test results to confirm the diagnosis had not been returned.

Ask Us

Q. — Why is someone other than a Snyder resident being allowed to run in the Miss Snyder Pageant?

A. — Chamber officials respond that the Miss Snyder Scholarship Pageant is a preliminary contest for the Miss Texas and ultimately Miss America Pageant. The same rules apply at all levels and, as such, entrants cannot be prohibited based solely on residence as long as they are a U.S. citizen. To attract entrants, 475 letters were initially mailed out to local high school and college-age girls. The initial response was so small, that the event was advertised as well in the area. Of the 12 entrants now expected, six are basically from Snyder. They noted also that the scholarship to be awarded locally will be to attend Western Texas College and cannot be used elsewhere.

In Brief

Nuke mishap

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A small amount of radioactive material was released from the McGuire nuclear power plant, but officials said today there was no danger to the public.

An alert, the second-least serious emergency classification, was declared at 11:45 p.m. Tuesday at the plant by officials of Duke Power Co., which owns the plant. The utility notified state and local authorities of the alert at 12:01 a.m. today.

Utility officials said the release of radioactive material is "within the conservative operating specifications" of the plant.

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission describes an alert as an event that could potentially affect the safety of the plant.

House passes workers' comp

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill overhauling the state's workers' compensation system now goes to the Senate where it may be overhauled itself.

House Speaker Gib Lewis said a special legislative session may be needed to iron out differences between the bill approved in the House and expected Senate changes to the measure.

The House approved the 200-page workers' compensation bill after nearly seven hours of debate, 117-27, Tuesday. Final passage on a non-record vote came today.

"I think there is a good possibility we could go into a special session. That is one of the issues that could take us into a special session," Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said.

"If the Senate weakens the bill ... I don't think we will accept a weak bill," he said.

The bill's author, Rep. Richard Smith, R-Bryan, said he doesn't have a Senate sponsor for the bill yet. He said he expects the Senate to produce a substitute version of the bill.

Smith was pleased with House approval of his bill.

"I'm delighted with the way the bill went," he said. "We didn't have any crippling amendments. The amendments that went on in regard to rates I think were productive and helpful."

During debate, the House approved decreasing workers' compensation premiums by 15 percent over three years, but a provision tacked onto the rollback will guarantee the decrease will never take effect, opponents said.

The rate reduction would be contingent on the State Board of Insurance finding such a decrease would be fair and reasonable. Some legislators argued the Insurance Board regularly sides with the insurance industry and would be incapable of making such a determination.

17th District art show again due local event

Snyder High School will again be the site for one of eight regional shows used to select the first round of winning entries in the eighth art contest for 17th Congressional District students sponsored by U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm.

Heading up the contest again in Snyder is SHS art instructor Ned Moore. The local event, scheduled April 11, is open to high school students from Fisher, Mitchell and Scurry Counties.

On the same day, other regional shows will be held in Abilene, Big Spring, Gainesville, Graham, Post, Stephenville and Weatherford.

Winners from the entire 35 counties which comprise the 17th District will be announced at an awards brunch in Abilene on April 22.

To enter the local show, entries should be brought to the high school art department on the Monday or Tuesday prior to the April 11 show. Judging will begin at 1 p.m. on the 11th.

Artwork must be no larger than 30 by 30 inches unframed and two-dimensional. Landscapes shall portray Texas scenes. Eligible categories are paintings, prints, drawings and collages.

For more information, students should contact Moore at 573-6301.

THE GHOST — Kendra Christopher as "Elvira," the ghost, will perform in "Blithe Spirit" Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the Western Texas College Fine Arts Theatre. Tickets for the Thursday and Friday show are priced at $5. (SDN Staff Photo)

'Spirit' to open Thursday

"Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward will open a three-night run Thursday at Western Texas College. Curtain time nightly will be 7:30 p.m.

Tickets for the Thursday and Friday night performances will be $5 for adults.

The Saturday performance will offer a special treat to theatergoers. In keeping with the British theme of the play, high tea will be served at intermission.

Included on the menu will be hot tea, cucumber and chicken salad finger sandwiches, crumpets, shortbread, fruit bar cake, a fruit plate and chilled cranberry cocktail. For the Saturday night show, the price will be $8.

SHS graduate among pageant title seekers

(Editor's Note: The SDN continues its profiles of the 12 candidates who will vie for the title of Miss Snyder at the Miss Snyder Scholarship Pageant.)

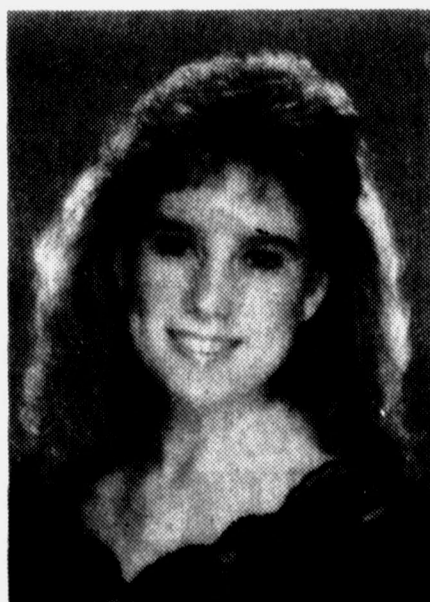

Deanne Hood, a 1987 graduate of Snyder High School now attending Angelo State University (ASU), will seek the title of Miss Snyder this coming March 18.

The 20-year-old will use as her talent competition a jazz-style dance, a skill she has been in training for the past 10 years. Her hobbies include jazz and ballet dancing, talents she uses on the ASU Angelettes drill team.

At Angelo State, she is an elementary education major, where she is also listed on the honor roll and attends as a Carr Scholarship recipient.

She is the daughter of Duane and Mary Hood of Snyder.

While attending high school, she was a member of the student council and a winner at the

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If the man on TV says it's not sold in any store—there must be a reason."

Lawmakers in Austin have been wrestling with the problems of spiraling workmen's compensation costs. Cited as the major issue facing the Texas legislature, special interest groups are trying to prevent progress on needed reforms.

The workmen's compensation system in Texas was designed to be only a safety net for an injured worker. It was begun to help the worker until he could get back on the job.

Abuses of the system over the years have resulted in premiums to employers that are no longer affordable and it is driving many firms right out of business—resulting in losses of jobs.

There's enough blame for everyone to share, but we have long contended that solving a dispute in the courthouse is the poorest and most expensive way.

Certain lawyers in this state have become wealthy at the expense of injured workers and the workmen's comp system.

The solution to all high-cost liability insurance would be to put a cap on fees that can be earned by an attorney. We suggest that attorneys be required to present to the court for approval time and reasonable expenses incurred in representing a client.

A $9 million judgment with a third going to the attorney is excessive. There would be no way that the attorney could spend sufficient time to "earn" $3 million on just one case. There's no other way to describe such a fee other than excessive.

Most of us couldn't work around the clock from cradle to grave and earn the other $6 million, but reins on the lawyer would result in a lot fewer suits in the courthouse and more realistic accident board settlements.

It's simple, but the special interest groups apparently won't let the obvious happen.

Times change. In the old days, the poor had horses and the rich had automobiles. Now the poor folks have cars and the rich have horses.

Market for crawfish said expanding

HOUSTON (AP) — For the past two years, Hobart Bauer has been paddling his johnboat over a modified rice field near Winnie, gathering farm-raised crawfish that he sells from his house or the back of a pickup truck.

But now Bauer is one of a handful of Texas crawfish producers aiming for a marketing coup that would replace the tons of imported Louisiana shellfish with a Texas-grown product touted as fresher, cleaner and better tasting.

"We want to make a whole new industry out of this. The potential is there and there's enough money to be made for everybody," Bauer said Tuesday, while boiling huge pots of crawfish outside a Houston grocery store. "This may be the start of something big here."

Bauer and others Tuesday were celebrating a direct sales agreement between Texas crawfish farmers and Fiesta Mart Inc., which operates eight high-volume supermarkets in Houston.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, whose department helped negotiate the agreement to deliver 200,000 pounds of live crawfish this year, described the deal as the first step in a marketing effort that could contribute more than $100 million to the state economy.

The Fiesta agreement was said to be the first of its kind between Texas growers and a major grocery outlet, and Hightower and others pledged to seek similar agreements around the state.

"You know, we really ought to be meeting over at the San Jacinto Monument on Texas Independence Day, because this is a new day of independence for the people of Texas," Hightower told a news conference at the store's seafood counter Tuesday.

"At long last we have a pure Texas crawfish that is going to save us Texans from the shame and humiliation that we have experienced over the last many, many generations of having to eat those smelly, mud-coated, itty-bitty, slow-witted crawfish from Louisiana," he said.

The quality of the Texas crawfish will be the main selling point as crawfish farmers pursue more contracts with other grocery chains. After harvesting from controlled ponds, the farm-raised crawfish are left unfed in fresh-water holding tanks for at least a day, cleansing them of mud and intestinal impurities.

"And therein lies the superiority of the Texas crawfish over their Louisiana cousins," Hightower said. "Ours are smart enough to bathe themselves."

Because of their proximity to grocers and a reliable supply of crawfish, Texas growers said they also are able to guarantee fresher deliveries with a longer store life.

"The beauty of this from Fiesta's perspective is that working with farmers, we then can go to one source and enter into one contract," said Steve Hill, the company's chief financial officer.

"The distinction is that you have a uniform quality, a pure meat and a larger crawfish," Hill said.

Increasing demand and additional contracts could result in significant profits for Texas farmers, and keep the income within state lines, Hightower said.

Snyder students get HSU awards at Abilene meet

ABILENE—Several students from Snyder High School won awards this past weekend at Hardin-Simmons University's annual West Texas Speech Tournament.

In poetry interpretation, Emily King won first place.

In prose reading, Corey McDaniel placed second and Cinimin Carney received third place honors.

In extemporaneous persuasive speaking, Jay Burns took first place honors.

Volunteers sought for Noah Project

The Noah Project is seeking volunteers to perform such duties as manning the 24-hour crisis hotline, office work, and direct client activity.

The Noah Project is a family violence and trauma center providing services to battered wives, abused children, elderly who are abused or neglected, or any victim of family violence. Located in Snyder, the center provides services to victims in Scurry, Nolan, Mitchell, Fisher, and Kent counties.

Service activities for victims include the 24-hour hotline, safe place to live for up to six weeks, provision of immediate needs, counseling, legal advocacy, and community resource referral.

Those who are interested in learning more about becoming a Noah project volunteer may call 573-1822 for information.

Your Birthday

March 9, 1989

Don't despair if your financial affairs appear to improve rather slowly in the year ahead. You are now in an upward trend that will gain momentum and begin to accelerate quicker than you think.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're presently in a cycle where good things could happen for you through people you know socially. You might see some concrete evidence of this today. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In situations today involving old friends, let your compassionate instinct override your self-serving impulses. What you give or do now will have a direct bearing on future happenings.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Someone you like, but had a recent difference with, is very eager to start mending fences. However, it will be up to you to make the initial moves. Do so today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A career development that didn't work out too well for you recently can be rectified and put back on track today. Do not resurrect the reasons for its failure or attempt to blame another.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to subdue your personal feelings in order to placate your mate today. If peace exists between you, both will have a much more rewarding day.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If a co-worker does something worthy of praise today, be certain you acknowledge it. Pats on the back from you are important and it will help the association.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you may have dealings with someone about whom you had a preconceived, negative opinion. As you get to know this person better, you'll be glad you didn't write this person off without a trial.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Under convivial conditions today, you may find yourself in the company of one who can help your career. Use it as an opening to make your ambitions known to this person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today you might receive some news that could initially disappoint you. However, after you've thought it through, you'll realize it is bright, not bleak.

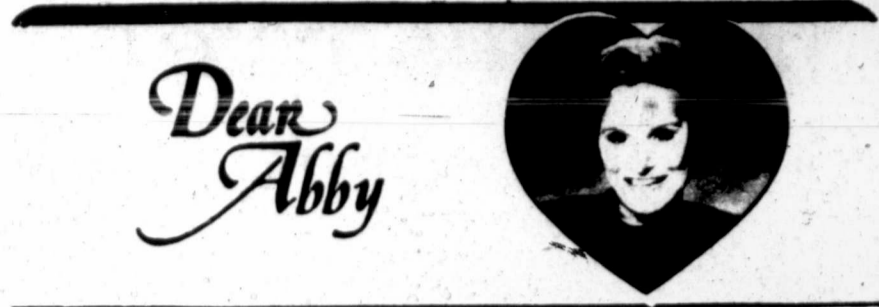

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You could be rather fortunate today in matters that have a direct effect upon your material well being. This may be because Lady Luck could be greasing the skids for you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In situations where firmness is required today, be staunch, but do not be overbearing. Be sure to cloak the mail fist in a velvet glove.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You might be called upon today to do a favor for a friend that may cost you a bit out of pocket. Consider the expense and investment in the good will it will generate.

Battered Man's Tragic Story Is Glimpse of Hidden Problem

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am getting tired of reading all the letters about "battered women." Yes, I know it must be a terrible experience for a woman, but nobody ever mentions the battered men. It's even worse for them because they are so embarrassed and ashamed, they never tell anybody.

I know. I was raised never to hit a woman — even in self-defense. Many times my ex-wife would throw things at me, and come at me with her fingernails, drawing blood from the scratches she would inflict on my face and neck. She even broke my arm and ribs when she threw a heavy chair at me. I always made up some kind of lie when I had to go to the emergency room of the hospital after she beat me up.

I stayed in this terrible marriage as long as I could for the sake of our child. When I finally couldn't take it any longer, I divorced her. She fought the divorce, but I was firm and made the break.

She retaliated by filing charges against me, stating that I had sexually abused our child! I had to endure some humiliating questioning, and it cost me nearly $10,000 in legal fees to prove my innocence. It's a long and very ugly story, but my ex-wife was finally found to be clinically psychotic and paranoid with multiple personality disorders. Meanwhile, the accusations were devastating.

I'll be surprised if you print this because you usually favor women. But every word I have written is true.

NO NAME OR LOCATION, PLEASE

DEAR IN DANGER: When you are at your friend's home, keep your distance from her husband. If he makes a move toward you, tell him to please cut it out because he makes you feel uncomfortable. If he persists, tell him that you would hate to stop visiting their home because you value his wife's friendship, and if she asks you why, you would be forced to tell her the truth. That should cool him down.

DEAR ABBY: I recently married a young woman who has a 2-year-old son from a man she never lived with, but had a brief encounter with. The man pays child support, but he makes no effort to see his son or have any kind of relationship with him. My wife sends this man gifts for his birthday and Christmas, and says they are not from her — they are from her son. She says she wants her son to know his father.

I say, she should wait until her son is old enough to decide whether he wants a relationship with his father, then he can send him gifts if he wants. What do you say?

SOMEWHERE IN THE USA

DEAR SOMEWHERE: Perhaps the boy's father is paying child support because the court demanded that he do so, but he has no real interest in "knowing" his son. Time will tell. Meanwhile, if your wife wants to keep the lines of communication open between her son and his father, two gifts a year as small reminders that the relationship exists can do no harm. And it may do some good. Don't discourage it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a big problem that is getting worse with time. I have a friend I've known for four years. Within the last year, her husband has been making advances toward me. This is not just my imagination. I know when a man is coming on to me. (I am not married.)

If I stay away, my friend is going to ask me why I don't come over anymore. What should I do?

FRIENDSHIP IN DANGER

DEAR NO NAME: Surprise! Your case is not unusual, and from the mail I receive, I can attest to that. Thanks for writing.

Variations on a theme

By James Jacoby

We have recently been examining cases in which it is right to avoid taking a finesse or to postpone it until the appropriate time. Today's deal has a slightly different theme, that of counting tricks needed to make your contract and then taking the best play to make the required number of tricks. When South opened two no-trump, North knew he was going to play a slam, but he bid three clubs (the Stayman convention) to see if South had a four-card spade suit. After South's three hearts, North simply bid six no-trump. His 13 high-card points opposite 20 or 21 in South's hand would certainly provide a good play for 12 tricks. Unfortunately North failed to consider that South might mangle the play of the hand.

Declarer won the ace of diamonds, quickly played four rounds of spades, discarding a diamond, and then played ace of hearts and a heart to the jack. West won the queen of hearts; East, who was left with the 10-9 of hearts, later took the setting trick. Declarer's line of play would be correct only if the contract had been seven no-trump. Since he needed only 12 tricks, it was right to first play the king and ace of hearts and then lead up to the jack. In this deal, the queen would drop, and the jack would become declarer's 12th trick. This play sacrifices the chance to make all the tricks when hearts are 3-3 and East holds the queen, but it increases the chances of making 12 tricks because it guards against West holding specifically Q-x.

Three honored for their efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Actor Ben Vereen, columnist Ann Landers and country singer Tammy Wynette were honored for their efforts to educate the public about mental illness and addiction. "I'm not proud of the fact that I once had a drug problem, but I am proud I did something about it," Ms. Wynette, who overcame dependency on prescription drugs, said Tuesday at an awards reception on Capitol Hill.

DENNIS THE MENACE

Beats Bobcats 13-2 and 5-2...

Snyder sweeps San Angelo

There will be some raised eyebrows around the area when the word gets out - Snyder High School has the makings of a pretty fine baseball team this season. The Tigers swept a double-header from Class 5A squad San Angelo Central here Tuesday, beating the Bobcats 13-2 in a 10-run rule shortened first game, then outlasted them 5-2 in the nightcap.

WTC golfers 8th at Boerne

BOERNE - Western Texas College turned in a 643 to take eighth place in the St. Mary's Invitational Golf Tournament, held here Monday and Tuesday.

Southwest Texas won the 36-hole event with a 613. Abilene Christian shot 617, followed by UT-San Antonio and Oklahoma City at 618.

Western Texas and Odessa were the only two junior colleges entered in the competition, held at Tapatio Springs. The Wranglers shot 628 for sixth place.

Weather conditions never got above 36 degrees. Western Texas coach Dave Foster said the weather made for some high scores, but he was not happy with the Westerners total.

"We didn't play well Monday for sure. When we made the turn to the backside we just couldn't hang on at all," said Foster. "The weather was a factor but it was a factor for everybody. It wasn't bad enough to shoot 330 though. We came back and played better the second day (313) but we still made a lot of mental mistakes. This is a course where you just have to play the course. You can't look ahead."

Individually for Western Texas, Darrell Cofer shot a 158 which included a 75 on Tuesday. Jeff Beal shot 159, Mark Burgen 162 and Lance Jones and David Turrentine, 166.

Next action for WTC will be the Texas State Junior Championships, April 3-4 in Dallas.

St. Mary's Invitational Tapatio Springs, Boerne
Team Totals: 1. Southwest Texas 613, 2. Abilene Christian 617, 3. UT-San Antonio 618, 4. Oklahoma City 618, 5. Texas Lutheran 619, 6. Odessa 628, 7. Pan American 633, 8. Western Texas 643, 9. Howard Payne 645, 10. Eastern New Mexico 647, 11. St. Edwards 653, 12. Trinity University 653, 13. St. Mary's 687, 14. Prairie View A&M 688, 15. Creighton University 734.
Medalist: Kim Gundry, SWTS, 71-72-143; Rob Fogg, Okla. City, 74-74-148.
Western Texas: Darrell Cofer 83-75-158; Jeff Beal 82-77-159; Mark Burgen 82-80-162; Lance Jones 86-80-166; David Turrentine 83-83-166.

"I was really surprised. I would have taken a split with Central. They've beaten us the last four times," said SHS coach Albert Lewis. "And ol' Brownwood, they've beaten us the last two times we've played and maybe we can do something about that. We're going after them."

Snyder meets up with Lamesa first, 1 p.m. Saturday in Lamesa, then treks to Brownwood for a 5:30 p.m. ballgame next Tuesday. Beginning Thursday, March 16, the Tigers will host the Snyder Tournament.

Here Tuesday, Lee Fletcher pitched five innings of seven-hit ball as the Tigers drubbed the 'Cats by 11 runs. Central was never able to put together more than one hit in an inning until the fifth, when the squad got both of its runs.

Snyder, meanwhile, got off to a quick start in the first inning as Jason West walked and Tommy Lane singled him home. Later in the inning, Simon Gutierrez slapped a single to score both Randy Morris, who also walked aboard, and Lane.

The Tigers added six more runs in the third stanza, initiated when Bert Otton slapped a two-run single. A Bobcat error allowed another score, and Morris tripled to bring in three more.

A four-run fourth inning wrapped up the Tiger scoring. It was punctuated by Tracy Odom's two-run double down the third base line.

Fletcher, 2-1 now, did not issue a single walk in the contest. He struck out one and used a solid Tiger defense behind him.

Snyder put together a nine-hit attack and benefitted from eight walks. Garcia was two-for-three; Lane two-for-two.

Central got a 2-1 lead on the Tigers in the second game, but couldn't hold it. The Bobcats greeted new pitcher Otto with six hits over a two-inning span to get the early lead. Kevin Dollins came in to relieve the senior in the third inning and allowed just one hit the rest of the way.

Snyder went in front 3-2 in the third on a walk from Israel Hinojos and back-to-back singles by Toby Goodwin and Morris.

Two runs in the fifth finished out the scoring. Goodwin, Morris, Lane, Otto and Willie Garcia all belted singles in the inning.

Dollins walked three and struck out six.

Snyder slapped eight hits, paced by Morris' three-for-three effort. Goodwin was two-for-two.

"Our pitching cut down on the walks this time and that's been a No. 1 priority," said Lewis. "We didn't get many hits from their pitchers but we got timely hits."

Production grabs team bowling title

Production Pump Systems accepted first-place dividends from the annual Snyder Men's City Bowling Tournament. Awards were handed out Tuesday night at the bowling alley.

Production rolled a 3,225 to defeat Joe Fowler & Associates for first place. Fowler & Associates rolled a 3,024.

On the Production team were Bobby Kirkpatrick, Joe Roemisch, Tommy Early, R.V. Corbell and Bobby and Billy Kirkpatrick.

Bill Stephens and Ronney Autrey nipped at 1,300 to win doubles. They bowled a 1,298.

The Women's City Tournament opens this Friday. The first weekend of action runs through Sunday. The second weekend of the women's tournament is set for March 17-19.

Lynn Smith won the singles portion of the men's competition with a 672 and Larry Bufkin grabbed all-events honors with a 1,879 total.

Bufkin and Larry Giddens were also second in the doubles competition with a 1,256.

Jim West rolled the top handicap game, a 264, while Glenn Coy's 678 was the best handicap series.

High scratch game of the tournament was a 240, rolled by Mark Lyle. Smith had the best scratch series, a 635, and Early's 1,692 earned him recognition as the top scratch bowler for all-events.

Tucker retires

HOUTSON (AP) - Linda Tucker, the first and only Rice University women's basketball head coach, has retired to pursue other interests, school officials announced.

Tucker, 41, compiled a 134-164 record in 11 seasons at Rice.

P-V coach survives investigation

PRAIRIE VIEW, Texas (AP) - Prairie View football coach Haney Catchings has survived a month-long investigation of charges he impeded his players' academic progress and conducted unsafe and excessively long workouts.

Now he must face more charges from his striking players that he broke NCAA rules.

President Percy Pierre announced Tuesday that Catchings was guilty of nothing more serious than failure to communicate effectively with his players.

"It meant kind of a sigh of relief," Catchings said Tuesday after hearing results of the investigation. "I still do not think the team as a whole feels exactly the same way of those who have spoken." Striking players vowed to continue their boycott and said they would bring charges of NCAA infractions against Catchings.

"That's not true," Catchings said. "I think the way things are now, they will do anything they can to take a shot at me."

Richard Haynes, a player spokesman since the strike started Feb. 5, said some players performed while scholastically ineligible with Catchings' knowledge.

Haynes said, however, the players weren't saying any more "until we have documentation." Scottie Fizer, a junior defensive tackle from Shreveport, La., said he told the university's investigating committee about NCAA violations.

"I'm not allowed to say what it was because the NCAA is involved," Fizer said. The players claimed that Catchings conducted six-hour workouts, discontinued a study hall and withheld textbooks as punishment.

They said he forced them to perform unsafe drills, such as two players running head on into one another from 30 yards apart.

Pierre said there was evidence that players' grades had dropped since the fall of 1988, Catchings' first full season at the school.

The president said problems in issuing textbooks was a university-wide problem that is being corrected.

Thinclads set to compete

Snyder High School varsity track teams are looking for clear weather this weekend.

The teams were unable to compete last weekend because of adverse weather.

Snyder boys will enter the West Texas Relays in Odessa beginning Friday. The meet continues through Saturday.

Coach Patty Grimmer's Lady Tigers, who will be opening their track season, will attend the Denver City Relays in Denver City on Saturday.

Girls host golf tourney, boys trek to San Angelo

Snyder's Lady Tigers will host the Snyder Invitation Golf Tournament here Friday at Snyder Country Club.

A number of teams will enter the competition, including Class 5A schools Lubbock Coronado and Monterey, Plainview and Amarillo. Snyder will enter three teams.

The tournament, 18 holes, is set for a 9 a.m. start.

Snyder boys will be competing in the San Angelo Invitational beginning Thursday. The Tigers will compete at Bentwood on Thursday and at San Angelo Country Club on Friday for the 36-hole event.

Bass Club sets meeting

Snyder Bass Club will hold its monthly meeting 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Snyder National Bank.

Anyone interested in bass fishing is encouraged to attend. Prizes from the month-long tournament will be presented. Door prizes will also be given away. Snyder EMS will present a short program on basic first aid relative to the needs of fishermen.

The club also notes that the March Tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday at Lake J.B. Thomas. Headquarters will be at the public boat ramp on the south side of the lake. Entry fees are $10 for one day or $15 both days. Hours will begin at 6:30 a.m. both days, ending at 5 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday.

Lubbock in general agrees with 'all's well' comment

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — When President Bush assured reporters questioning the direction of his administration that the folks in Lubbock were behind him, it was a safe bet they were.

This windswept plains city in Bush's adopted home state has a population of 186,400 and more than 150 churches, many of them large and conservative. Residents of Lubbock County gave the GOP presidential ticket 69 percent of the vote in November.

Here, the agriculture-based economy rises or falls on the strength of the annual cotton crop. Two consecutive strong harvests gave this city the lowest unemployment rate in the state of Texas at 5.2 percent.

Lubbock is also the home of one of Bush's dearest friends, independent oil investor Robert W. Blake, who regularly talks to and visits Bush. The two have been friends since the early 1950s, when Bush was in the oil business in Midland, 120 miles south of here.

Bush mentioned his most recent phone conversation with Blake Tuesday after reporters questioned him about charges of disarray in his administration.

"I talked to a fellow from Lubbock, Texas, the other day which was the best phone call I've made," Bush said. "And he said, 'All the people in Lubbock think things are going just great.'"

And they are, according to the majority of residents questioned by a reporter outside the downtown post office.

"He's a Texan and he understands us," said one man.

Some blamed Congress for Bush's woes involving Defense Secretary designee John Tower.

"They're (Congress) giving him a hard time about Tower, but I say stick with it," said retiree William Berns. "He knows what he's doing."

Other Lubbockites, however, aren't following Bush's first weeks in office that closely.

"I really haven't been paying that much attention," said Shirley Hubbard, a convenience store clerk.

City resident Matt Malouf, in a letter to the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal last week, defended Bush and blasted the Senate for its handling of Tower's confirmation. "I would rather be ruled by the first 100 names in the Lubbock phone book than these clowns who now reign in the Senate."

Whether or not Lubbock assumes the "anytown" status formerly held by Peoria, Ill., Mayor B.C. "Peck" McMinn says his town is as typical as any other.

"The people of the Lubbock area is pretty representative of how the run-of-the-mill people feel across the country," he said. "Not the political hype of anything, but the rock-solid thinkers are pretty representative of how the situation is going."

Motorists begin traveling again

VALLEY VIEW, Texas (AP) — Icy slush on Interstate 35 continued to cause traffic slowdowns near the Texas-Oklahoma border early today, but hundreds of stranded motorists who nearly doubled the size of this North Texas town already have moved out.

"Traffic has dropped to about 30 mph and the slush is starting to get a crunchy," said Valley View Firefighter Tom Moon. "It's going to freeze, but don't think anybody is going to get stranded. There's enough traffic to keep it broken up at this point."

"It's kind of a let down after Monday night. It added a lot of excitement to a small town," said Melodie Blevins, who helped house and feed 125 storm-weary travelers at the First Baptist Church of Valley View, where her husband, Jeff, is the pastor.

"Most of these people pass by here all the time and now Valley View will hold some special memories for them," Blevins said. "I don't think they'll forget us."

Between 450 and 500 stranded motorists poured into Valley View, with a population of about 575 and located about 60 miles north of Dallas, in under 12 hours' time when nearly a foot of ice piled onto the highway. They packed local homes, all four local churches and the high school gymnasium, before spilling out into the town square and nearly every side street to huddle in their parked rigs and travel trailers.

"That's a heavily traveled thoroughfare," John Buchanan, a Department of Public Safety communications operator in Sherman told the Dallas Morning News. "With all the heavy truck traffic and cars going up into Oklahoma and Kansas, it was just a matter of everything being bottlenecked there when the storm hit."

"It was taking people 4 1/2 hours to travel from Gainesville to our exit," Blevins said. "That's usually a 10-minute trip."

"I-35 was so slippery, there were trucks that were blocked and they just pulled over and stopped," said Valley View Mayor Preston Murray.

Battered woman is buried

MISHAWAKA, Ind. (AP) — A woman authorities say was fatally beaten by her ex-husband while he was on prison furlough was being buried today, but friends who shared her outrage on behalf of battered women vow her cause will live on.

"We want to make sure that next week, when this week's papers are thrown out in the trash, that this is not forgotten," says Michalyn Chilcote, director of the Elkhart County Women's Shelter, where 29-year-old Lisa Bianco worked.

Funeral services were scheduled for today at St. Anthony Catholic Church in South Bend.

Ms. Bianco's 38-year-old ex-husband, Alan L. Matheny, was charged with murder and burglary Tuesday, three days after she was bludgeoned to death outside her home in this town near the Michigan state line.

Hours before her death, Matheny was released from a state prison on an eight-hour furlough. He had been serving an eight-year term at the Correctional Industrial Complex for beating Ms. Bianco and criminally confining their two children in 1987.

Matheny is being held without bond after an automatic plea of innocent was entered in Superior Court.

He appeared in court Tuesday with swelling and bruises around his eyes, the result of an assault at the St. Joseph County jail, said sheriff's Cpl. Charles Feirrell. The assault occurred in a cell where Matheny was being held with three other prisoners and is being investigated, Feirrell said. After the beating, Matheny was placed in isolation, he said.

Ms. Bianco, who started again using her maiden name after the divorce, had been putting her life back together, say co-workers and acquaintances.

She had taken a job at the women's shelter and joined a commission on the status of women, but co-workers said she always feared her ex-husband would return to kill her.

On Saturday, while neighbors watched, Ms. Bianco was struck on the head at least 20 times with an unloaded shotgun used as a club, authorities said. She died at the scene before help arrived, said Coroner Dr. Louis Grwinski.

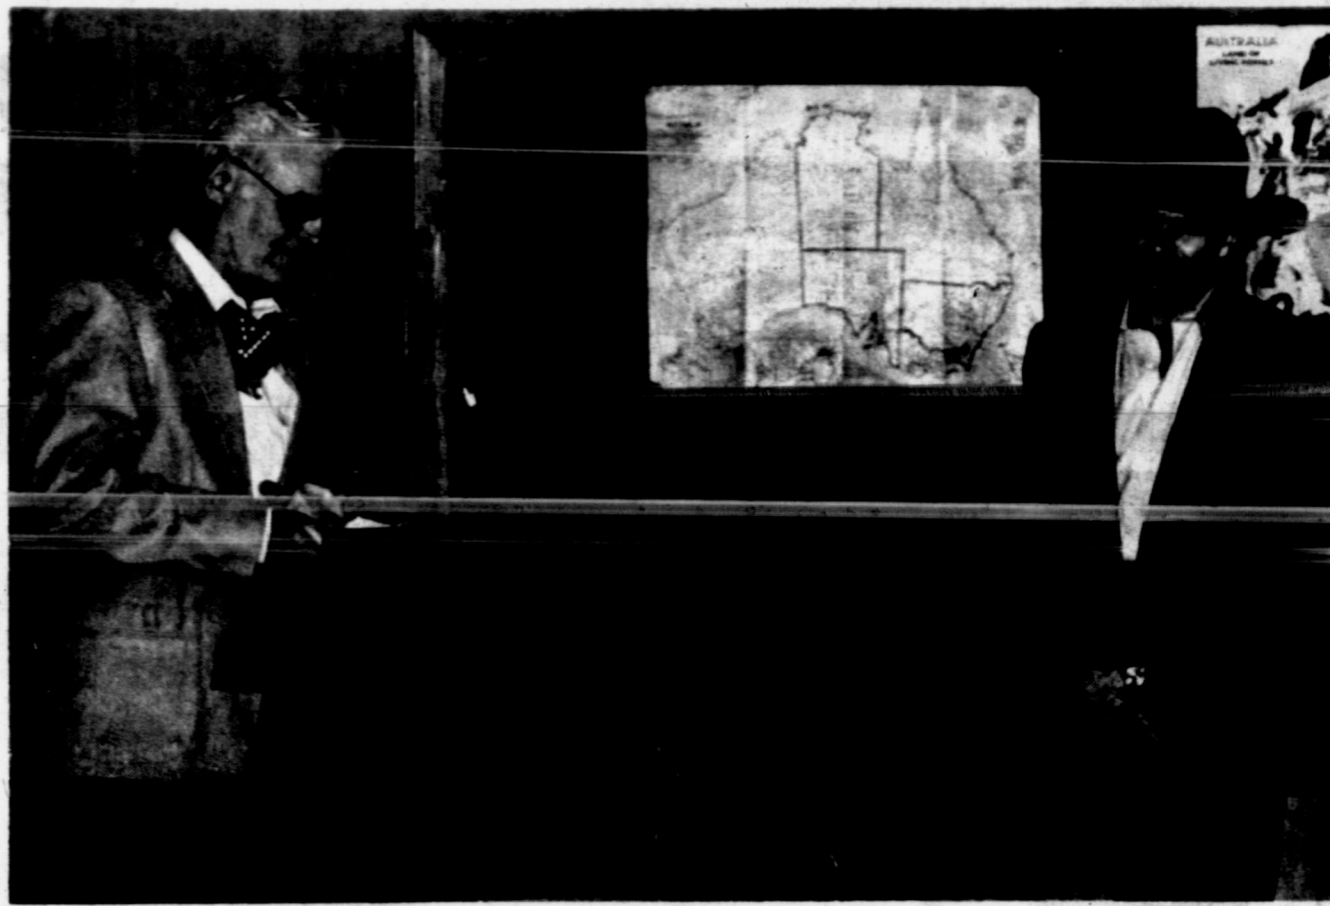

Matheny was arrested a short time later in nearby South Bend.

"It seemed like it didn't faze him in the least," said Sgt. Norval Williams, who arrested Matheny. "He had, you might say, completed a mission he set out to achieve."

Because of the slaying, Gov. Evan Bayh suspended the prison-release program until the end of the month pending a review. Two state Department of Correction employees also were suspended for granting the furlough and failing to notify Ms. Bianco.

Bonnie Bailey, president of the Mishawaka Commission on the Status of Women, to which Ms. Bianco was appointed late last year, described the victim as a "very quiet person, low-keyed, soft-spoken." She said Ms. Bianco did not talk about her battered past, "but typically that is a secret of the victim."

Ms. Bianco started as a counselor at the shelter in August and rose quickly into a $14,000-a-year job as program director, said Ms. Chilcote.

Texas' largest McDonald's opens in Houston's Galleria

HOUSTON (AP) — Another McDonald's is opening for business today but this one has the bragging rights of being the biggest in Texas where customers can munch on a Big Mac and fries.

What also sets this 10,000-square-foot, two-story restaurant apart from others is that patrons can monitor the New York Stock Exchange on an electronic ticker at the restaurant, receive telephone calls at their tables or fax their order to pick-up through a double drive-thru.

"We're anticipating to do big business at this restaurant and we have every reason to believe it'll be the most successful ever opened," said Brenda Duncan, senior marketing manager for McDonald's Corp., which owns and operates the new 156-seat restaurant in the Galleria business center.

The hamburger palace is the first fast-food restaurant in the predominantly business area and was opened with the businessman's needs in mind, Ms. Duncan said.

"We're always looking into innovative ways to fill the needs of our customers and this is just one of those ways at the Galleria," she said.

A McDonald's on New York's Wall Street has a ticker tape and a Los Angeles restaurant has telephones at tables, but the new Galleria restaurant is the only one to incorporate all the amenities, including the facsimile machine.

"This is the only McDonald's in the country that has the entire package," Ms. Duncan added. "The Galleria is a very special area and we have wanted to be in the area for a long time and when we finally found a site to accommodate the restaurant where we wanted to build, we did."

What patrons will find at the new restaurant is an upscale interior of teal blue, mauve, gray, silver and black with marble accents instead of the bright red and yellow found at the other 134 McDonald's restaurants in Houston.

Bill looks at workers' comp

Moves to reinstate jury trials of disputed claims, without regard of previous administrative rulings, and repeated attempts to beef up job-related worker safety provisions failed.

Smith presented the bill as a balance between competing and powerful lobbies for insurance, business, doctors, lawyers and labor.

"The fact of the matter is you can not preserve the interests of five groups simultaneously. There has to be give and take," he said.

The bill would expand the oversight and regulatory powers of the state's administrative agency for workers' compensation, raise some benefits for injured workers and lessen court involvement in the adjudication of disputed claims.

Labor groups and attorneys who represent workers in injury lawsuits, however, claim the bill weakens the rights of injured workers to get just compensation for job-related injuries. They are expected to launch a tough campaign in the Senate to change the bill.

With Lewis behind the bill, and dozens of co-sponsors, most amendments opposed by Smith fell by the wayside.

The major battles during House debate were on adding worker-safety provisions and reinstating a procedure by which a disputed claim goes to state district court without regard to previous administrative rulings.

The play is under the direction of Jim Rambo, WTC theatre director.

Measles case prompts action

Borger late Tuesday night, officials note.

Wednesday morning, college officials had posted announcements on campus advising all students and staff of the potential for measles. Announcements were made also in classes Wednesday.

All persons who believe they might be at risk are being directed to the Snyder-Scurry Health Unit at 911 26th St. for immunization shots.

Sanitarian Louie Vaughan said Wednesday, "We've had more phone calls than we've given out shots."

The unit has ordered more vaccine and, as of Wednesday morning, was expecting to have the ability to give out up to 1,200 shots.

The symptoms of red measles are fever, runny nose, cough, watery eyes and a rash which first appears on the head and face, eventually spreading over the body.

State health officials stress that red measles, rubella, should not be confused with rubella, German measles, which can cause birth defects in the babies of infected mothers.

Before the development of effective vaccines, red measles was considered a common childhood disease. Since 1981, state law has required that all children entering public or private schools must show proof of immunization for measles.

As a result, in 1983, for example, Texas reported only 37 cases.

'Home sweet home' is an illusion for lots of women

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Home, Sweet Home" is a cruel illusion for millions of women not just in the United States but also in countries around the globe, according to an analysis of violence against women worldwide.

"If a person is murdered because of his or her politics, the world justifiably responds with outrage. But if a person is beaten or allowed to die because she is female, the world dismisses it as 'cultural tradition,'" says the report from the Worldwatch Institute in Washington.

Africa and the Indian subcontinent are identified as particular problem areas by the report, which was written by Lori Heise, a senior researcher with the institute. But no society or socioeconomic group has been spared the problem, she says.

Before the sun goes down today — International Women's Day — thousands of women worldwide will have been beaten in their homes by their partners and thousands more will have been raped, assaulted and sexually harassed, according to Heise's figures.

International Women's Day is a congressionally sanctioned event dating back to 1910 that features speechmaking often focused on the strides women have made toward equality. But, as Heise sees it, just being a woman, particularly in a Third World country, can pose extraordinary risks.

In the United States, says Surgeon General C. Everett Koop, as many as 15 million women have been beaten, raped or suffered other forms of physical and sexual assault, and the number rises by 1 million a year.

As Hedy Nuriel, first vice chairman of the National Coalition of Domestic Violence, put it: "For many of us, it's safer to be out on the streets than to be in our own homes."

Heise says that, internationally, women tend to be targets because of their sex and the violence occurs "without social remorse or protest."

"Societies tacitly condone this violence through their silence or, worse yet, legitimize it through laws, customs, and court opinions that blatantly discriminate against women," she says.

The problem, she adds, is worthy of international attention but is seldom raised at that level. It was not until 1980 that the international women's community recognized wife abuse as a priority.

In India, she writes, countless women have died as a byproduct of the system in which a bride's parents provide gifts to the groom as part of a marriage settlement.

Murder, suicide or severe abuse is sometimes the price young brides pay if promised money or goods do not materialize, she says.

For a woman in Bangladesh, said Ishrat Shamin of the University of Dhaka, the choice is often between a violent home and none at all.

In that country, "separated, deserted or divorced women are socially unacceptable," she observes, "and remarriage is almost impossible."

A side effect of the preference for male offspring in Bangladesh can be shown in comparative statistics on health care. Heise writes that in Matlab, Bangladesh, boys outnumber girls among hospitalized children by 50 to 1.

Storage shed is burglarized

Police are investigating a burglary that was reported Tuesday at Landes Storage off the old Lubbock Hwy. in northern Snyder.

Katrina Burney reported at 3:32 p.m. Tuesday that someone had broken into her storage room and had stolen a saddle and a television set.

Carolyn Sutton of 201 N. Ave. T told police at 7:09 p.m. Tuesday that her grandson's bicycle, a silver BMX 20-inch with a green seat and pedals, had been stolen.

Dalvin Alexander of 3409 Apple St. reported at 8:32 p.m. Tuesday that the windshield of his pickup truck had been broken while it was parked outside the old Travis gymnasium, south of the Senior Citizens Center on Ave. M in central Snyder.

Grass fire burns at Lake Thomas

Firemen worked for about three hours Tuesday afternoon to contain a grass fire on the northwest side of Lake J.B. Thomas, just over the county line in Borden County.

A department spokesman said the fire burned the eaves on a cabin, whose owner was not known, but did no major structural damage.

The Snyder firefighters were assisted by Fluvanna volunteers during the call, which lasted from 2:25 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Two county roadgraders were summoned but were sent back before they arrived because the fire was being brought under control.

Democrats want vote on Tower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell today urged Republicans to permit a vote swiftly on the embattled nomination of John Tower to be defense secretary, but GOP Leader Bob Dole declared: "We don't want to prolong the debate — we want to win."

Mitchell, D-Maine, repeated his claim that the nomination will be defeated, and Dole did not directly dispute him. "We're not certain," he said. "It's going to be a very close vote."

The Associated Press survey indicates 47 Democrats and Republican Larry Pressler of South Dakota as either firmly opposed to the nomination or leaning in that direction, and 40 Republicans and two Democrats either firmly in favor or leaning that way.

Dole, R-Kan., said he had talked by telephone earlier today with President Bush, who continues to support Tower. He said he would continue the effort to "attract enough Republicans and Democrats to support the nomination"

Dole and Mitchell thus set the stage for a fifth day of debate on the nomination, which has produced frayed tempers and unusual personal outbursts on both sides of the struggle.

"I know this debate has been longer than most but this is unprecedented. We don't want to prolong the debate — we want to win," Dole told reporters.

Mitchell was asked if he is disturbed that the Senate may be damaged by the debate's increasingly bitter and personal tone.

"Yes I am," he replied. "I think the way to end it is to vote. Letters are coming in saying, 'Enough is enough — this has gone on too long.'"

"I believe enough time has been devoted to this matter," Mitchell said.

Republicans now hope to convert other undecided Democrats, concentrating their efforts on a handful of lawmakers. These include Sens. Joseph Lieberman, D-Conn.; Charles Robb, D-Va.; Bennett Johnston, D-La.; and Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

Dole left open the possibility of asking the Senate to permit Tower to answer the allegations against him from the floor of the chamber.

But Democrats said that would set "an awful precedent" for future confirmation battles and Dole appeared to concede he would make that move only as a last resort.

Mitchell called it a "desperation tactic."

"I do believe enough is enough," he said. "Why will the proponents of the nomination not permit a vote?"

An Associated Press survey shows 47 Democrats and Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., leaning against or solidly opposed to confirming Tower, and 40 Republicans and two Democrats either leaning for or supporting confirmation.

Democrats control the Senate by a 55-45 margin.

Obituaries

Virginia Whitson

MINERAL WELLS—Virginia Whitson, 77, a former Snyder resident, died Friday in Palo Pinto Hospital in Mineral Wells.

Funeral arrangements are being made by White's Mineral Wells Funeral Home in Mineral Wells.

A native of Oklahoma, Mrs. Whitson moved to Snyder in 1964 and taught at Stanfield Elementary and Northeast Elementary School. She was retired by the time the Senior Citizens Center was opened at Western Texas College in 1974 and she became one of the center's most active members. She was serving as coordinator of volunteer services and pianist for the Sunshine Choir and the Kitchen band in 1984 when she decided to retire a second time and move to the Crazy Water retirement hotel in Mineral Wells.

Through her association with WTC, she became one of the best known fans of the college's basketball teams and her favorite seat in the coliseum was given her special name plate. The Westerner Classic and the Lady Duster Classic played in 1984 were dedicated to her.

Mrs. Whitson established the Virginia Whitson Memorial Foundation at WTC to provide scholarships for men or women in the college basketball programs.

A dinner honoring Mrs. Whitson was held on Nov. 26, 1984, in the Senior Center shortly before she moved to Mineral Wells.

Mrs. Whitson is survived by one brother, F. L. Ledbetter of Ardmore, Okla., and a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ledbetter of Roanoke, Tex.

The family has indicated that memorial gifts can be made to the Whitson scholarship fund at WTC.

DR. GOTT

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there any medical support for the theory of combining foods?

DEAR READER: I am not sure exactly what you mean by the "theory of combining foods." Nutritionists have known for years that a balanced diet contains a variety of elements — protein, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals and fiber — which should be eaten together. As a general rule, people who follow nutritional diets consume a wide sampling of edibles. In my experience, people are more likely to develop deficiencies when they omit — by choice or necessity — certain elements, such as protein, rather than combining or not combining foods.

I should add that patients should be cautious about combining medicines with food. Some drugs, such as the antibiotic tetracycline, are inactivated by food in the stomach; other drugs are best taken with meals. Check with your doctor or pharmacist about specific medications.

For more information, I'm sending you a copy of my Health Report "Calorie-Wise Cooking." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've had blurred vision for about five years. It's getting worse. My ophthalmologist tells me I have hardening of the arteries behind my eyes. What can I do?

DEAR READER: Hardening of the arteries really means that you are experiencing an age-related, progressive narrowing of your arteries that is caused by arteriosclerotic plaque, a buildup of sludgy material within the arterial lining. This condition can affect all the arteries in the body, leading to heart attack, stroke, leg cramps and kidney disease, to mention a few complications.

When arteriosclerosis affects the retinal arteries, the tissues are deprived of adequate oxygen and nutrition. This results in retinal degeneration, an unfortunate consequence of growing older. Retinal degeneration can cause blurring of vision, an inability to distinguish detail or — in some cases — sudden loss of vision in all or part of one eye.

In general, this ailment is untreatable because it is due to the gradual wearing-out of tissue. Measures to retard the acceleration of arteriosclerosis, such as controlling hypertension and lowering blood cholesterol, may help, but there is no specific treatment. Sometimes special eyeglasses and the use of extra-bright lighting will assist patients in compensating for their visual loss.

Because your ophthalmologist appears to believe that your visual problems are due to arteriosclerosis, I suggest that you obtain a second opinion, in hopes that he may be incorrect and other, treatable factors may be affecting your vision.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My nails look like a washboard with ridges top and bottom, side to side. What could cause this?

DEAR READER: Transverse nail ridging of the type you describe can be the consequence of congenital disease, nutritional deficiency, endocrine (glandular) disorders or certain diseases characterized by repeated, cyclic fever. See your doctor for an examination and diagnosis.

Lawyer defends CBS position

PHOENIX (AP) — An Arizona company was inviting criticism when it sent a sample of its windshield-cleaning product to "60 Minutes" commentator Andy Rooney, a lawyer for CBS has argued.

Attorney Douglas Jacobs on Monday asked U.S. District Judge Robert Broomfield to dismiss a $16 million suit filed against the network and its news magazine show by Unelko, a Scottsdale-based company. He said the suit attacks freedom of expression.

INS detention policy said questioned

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — As he concluded a trip to South Texas, the House immigration subcommittee chairman said detaining rejected political asylum applicants is not a complete solution to immigration problems.

U.S. Rep. Bruce Morrison, D-Conn., also said Tuesday that Congress should consider allowing more Central Americans to stay in the United States.

But an immigration official said halting deportations would attract more illegal immigrants to the country.

"Detention in and of itself is not a solution to a problem, and if we end up with large numbers of people in detention for long periods of time, that is not a successful policy," Morrison said as he was winding up a 22-hour fact-finding trip to South Texas.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service on Feb. 21 began immediate detention of political asylum applicants in a new one-day adjudication procedure aimed at discouraging those not qualified for asylum from coming here.

The agency also stopped releasing those apprehended by the Border Patrol on their own recognizance.

Since the new policy took effect, the number of people in INS custody in Texas' southernmost county has swollen from about 450 on Feb. 20 to Tuesday's total of more than 2,600.

The Central American immigration crisis will be discussed at a hearing the subcommittee will hold Thursday in Washington, Morrison said.

U.S. Rep. Solomon Ortiz, D-Corpus Christi, hosted Morrison

in his district, where they met with local officials, immigration attorneys and visited a church-sponsored refugee shelter as well as INS facilities.

Ortiz said he was impressed with the new INS policy.

Asylum is granted to those able to persuade the INS that they are fleeing persecution, but INS officials maintain that most are here for economic reasons and do not qualify for political refugee status.

Local teachers attend convention

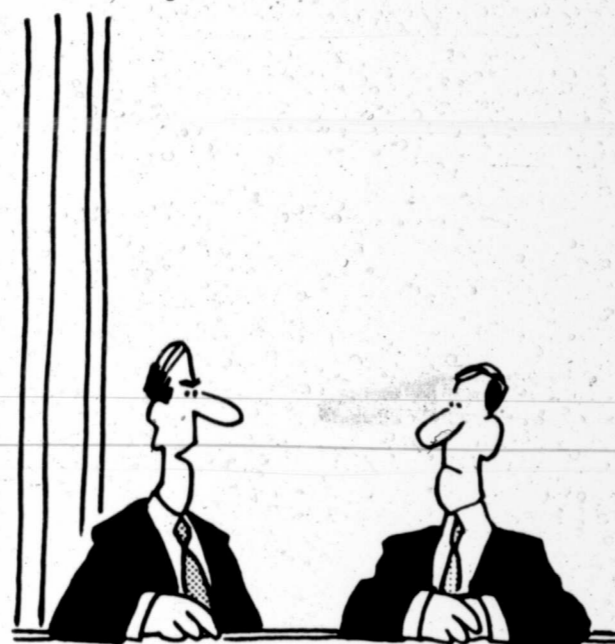

Five Snyder teachers were among the 800 participants in the Annual State Convention of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association held last month in Austin. Those attending from Snyder included Francene Allen, Troy and Mary Lou Scott, Gaylene Dobbs and Wanda Hudgins.

Teachers attended a full day of mini-conference programs on a variety of professional topics, including the Texas teacher appraisal system, student performance accountability, mentoring and interning, cooperative learning, the select committee on education and tax equity, and the 71st Legislature.

San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros, who delivered the keynote address, praised the capability and dedication of teachers throughout the state.

TCTA is a professional teachers' organization which represents more than 25,000 public school teachers across the state.
