'SHOW THE COLORS'

June 14 is Flag Day. It marks the anniversary of the day in 1777 when the United States flag was adopted. This year it deserves more than the usual routine gestures of observance out of respect for a symbol of freedom that has been spat upon, burned and dragged in the dirt during the past year with alarming impunity by malcontents and bums of all stripes who respect neither the flag nor the United States.

It is a sad commentary on our times that laws have had to be passed protecting the flag from desecration. Until comparatively recently, mutilating the flag, in the minds of most of us, was tantamount to treason. But somehow the fog of permissiveness that has settled miasma-like over the land has obscured our vision of the flag and the deathless ideals that support the Stars and Stripes.

The easiest way to gain perspective on the meaning of the flag is to visualize for a moment the void that would surround us if there simply were no flag—no focal point on which to center the sense of purpose and principles of a nation. In common with the U.S. Constitution, The Declaration of Independence and other physical manifestations of freedom under representative government, the flag makes known to all mankind the reason for our existence. Flag Day is a good opportunity to "show the colors."

Those High-Priced Tomatoes

Food store customers have grudgingly seen the price of tomatoes reach for the stratosphere and have assumed it was just one more vicious symptom of inflation. But judging by reports, there is more behind the price of tomatoes than natural inflationary forces. Until recently, the domestic tomato market was augmented by imports from Mexico.

There are an estimated 23,000 acres of land planted to tomatoes in the Sinaloa-Sonora sections of Mexico. The economy of this region of our neighbor to the South is heavily dependent on the U.S. market—a market that has now been seriously curbed by a U.S. government embargo on Mexican tomatoes. The embargo is working a hardship on both U.S. consumers and Mexican agricultural interests. While in Mexico tons of carefully cultivated, vine-ripened fruit are being used for cattle feed, U.S. housewives commonly pay 34 cents a pound for winter tomatoes. In the words of Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, "... there is on longer any reason, economic or otherwise, for keeping this embargo in force ... the price of tomatoes to the American housewife is moving higher and the consumption of tomatoes is being depressed ... I want to say that we have nothing to gain and a great deal to lose by imposing trade restrictions on a friendly neighbor."

This is the story behind the high price of tomatoes in the local supermarket.

"Those who are demanding freedom from responsibility have yet to discover there is only freedom for the responsible."

Match that, anybody.

We give you an honest increase in car at an honest decrease in price. Take the '69 Impala above. We improved the ride. Made it quieter inside. Added an anti-theft locking device. Put steel guard rails in the doors. Still, this Impala with a 300-hp V8, Turbo Hydra-matic, advanced-design power disc brakes, head restraints, whitewalls and wheel covers is priced $101* less than in 1968. The 300-hp V8 is priced $40 less than last year's 275-hp. Turbo Hydra-matic costs less. Power disc brakes about half as much. Whitewalls a little less. Wheel covers about the same. And head restraints are now standard. Upping value and dropping price. That's the way Chevrolet operates.

NUTRITION A LA CARTE

- Older people who have become less active need the same foods as other people but smaller portions. They'll get less calories that way. Studies show the meals of older people usually are low in some of the nutrients furnished by milk, citrus fruits, and other fruits and vegetables. If you have oldsters at home, see that they get these foods.
- The best diet for arthritis is simply a good, balanced diet of a wide variety of foods from the four food groups — the meat group, the milk group, fruits and vegetables, and enriched or whole grain breads and cereals. No food causes or cures arthritis. But good general nutrition and sufficient rest will help you to manage your arthritis more successfully.
- Regularly I suggest that people would feel better if they stopped skipping breakfast. To save arguments in the family, have your breakfast "skippers" try eating breakfast for two or three weeks and let them appraise for themselves whether they do or do not feel better in the morning and accomplish more at school or at work.
- As most everyone knows, milk is the best source of calcium in our food supply. It is, in fact, almost impossible for you to get the amounts of calcium that are recommended unless milk in some form is used daily and cheese and other milk-containing foods are eaten frequently.
- How do we get energy from the sun? Plants make carbohydrates by photosynthesis. Part of this process involves interaction between sunlight and the green plant pigment, chlorophyll. Energy from sunlight is trapped by chlorophyll and this energy sets in motion a series of intricate chemical reactions that result in the production of carbohydrates.
- Is fat essential in your diet? The answer is "yes." Some fat is necessary for good nutrition. Some fats provide vitamins A, D, E, and K, and some are important as sources of essential fatty acids. Fat is a concentrated source of calories. The fats you use up for energy will save other nutrients for body building and repair.
- The hamburger is said to have been popular in Germany before immigrants brought the idea to the United States. But Americans were the first to put it in a bun. This happened in 1904 at the St. Louis World's Fair, where the ice cream cone also was invented, and iced tea served.
- Your best sources of protein include eggs, meat, milk, cheese, poultry, fish — plants and their seeds such as beans, peas, nuts and cereal grains. Mix them all together in varied meals and you'll get many other nutrients, too, such as carbohydrates, fats, vitamins and minerals and you'll be well on your way toward good nutrition.

BAROMETER for the FUTURE

Webster says that a barometer is an instrument measuring the weight or pressure of the atmosphere, foretelling and measuring changes of weather and altitude.

If God were to place a barometer on our lives, would we be cold, lukewarm, or on fire for the Lord. The past we can not change... the future is up to us.

"... what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all His ways, and to love Him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul." ATTEND CHURCH REGULARLY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

SHOUGH FAMILY LEAVES FOR ALASKA VIA ALCAN HIGHWAY

Judge and Mrs. F. E. Cruce spent a most enjoyable weekend at their cabin on Possum Kingdom Lake. They report that there is plenty of water in the lake now and they caught a 15 pound catfish, 30 pound buffalo fish, and 15 other catfish that averaged over 3 pounds each. They were met at the lake by Mr. Cruce's aunt, Mrs. Bessie Cruce, of Brownfield, Tex.

It's not unusual for residents of Texas to head north just before the blistering summer sets in.

But most of them plan to return in a few weeks.

And few of them plan to go as far north as the Bill Shough family plans.

Anchorage, Alaska is their destination, and if all works out well, the move may be permanent for the family which has made a host of friends in the short time they have resided in Burkburnett.

The Shoughs have made four visits to the 50th State, met many members of the Anchorage Baptist congregation, and were surprised to receive a call to serve the parish.

"It took quite a bit of soul-searching, meditation and prayer to make the decision to move," Shough told members of the Burk Rotary Club when he was called upon to make an impromptu report on his move.

The area will not be totally new, he said, as his four visits there have given him some idea what to expect.

Temperatures at Anchorage range from 38 below zero in midwinter, to a mild 82 degrees above zero in the summer.

His church has 820 enrolled in Sunday School, and despite the extreme weather, good attendance is reported each week.

They'll expect to pay about $1.16 for a half gallon of milk. Gasoline prices are also high, but with the exception of home and apartment rentals, other prices compare favorably with the continental United States.

School buses are equipped with 2-way radios, emergency rations and sleeping bags — just in case. The city is modern, but when one journeys a few miles into the country — that is what he finds, wide open country.

The family will travel by Alcan Highway, with Bill driving a truck, towing one car, and his wife following in another car.

With them will be three of their four children — the eldest will be with the wheat harvest.

They will leave Burkburnett on June 2, and expect to arrive at their new home about July 1.

In Anchorage, Shough will be director of music and be in charge of teacher training.

"Our short stay in Burkburnett has been wonderful," Shough said. "We feel people of Burk are as fine as those anywhere, and the members of the First Baptist Church have been wonderful to me and my family."

"However, this new position offers a challenge that I could not refuse. In fact, so many things happened to make the call possible, that I sincerely feel it was the will of God which made this call possible," he concluded.

Policyholder Questions Answered by The Institute of Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. For years I was covered by a group life insurance policy at the company where I worked. Although it probably wasn't enough, I didn't have a policy I bought on my own. Now that I'm in business for myself, I am looking into such insurance. Maybe it sounds naive, but I find that some policies pay dividends and others don't. Can you tell me more about this?

A. We'll certainly try. The policies that pay annual dividends to policyholders are called "participating" insurance. About two-thirds of all life insurance policies are this type. Dividends are usually paid annually after the first year or two the policy has been in force. Dividend size is determined by the company's actual experience in such areas as death rates of policyholders, investment return and operating expenses.

The premiums for participating insurance are designed to be somewhat larger than needed at the outset in order to provide for unforeseen expenses. With a "non-participating" policy, premiums are fixed as closely as possible to the anticipated cost of insurance, and there are no dividends paid.

Mutual insurance companies usually sell only participating policies, but stock insurance companies (which are owned by their stockholders) may sell both the participating and non-participating types.

There is, of course, no way of forecasting at the time you buy the policy whether a participating or non-participating type will be lower in cost in the long run.

Q. We think our family circumstances are average in most respects. But if we really are average, how much life insurance would we have?

A. In 1968 the average insured family's protection was an estimated $23,200 — $1,700 more than at the end of 1967. The average for all families in the United States was an estimated $18,600; but this figure takes into account those who have no life insurance coverage.

OUR HEALTH
By J. M. Ambersón, M.D.

Question: Are Bunions Anything to Worry About?
Answer: Unfortunately, many people regard bunions as "cosmetic" defects, yet the swollen, malformed foot and toe joints can be a serious and highly painful handicap. Bunions can sometimes require treatment such as surgical correction. If you have a bunion or one just beginning to form, there are two things you should do. First take pressure off the joint with cushioned pads especially made for this discomfort and secondly, make an appointment immediately with a Dr. Ambersón foot specialist or podiatrist. Because bunions are initially caused by ill-fitting shoes, throw the old ones out and buy ones that fit properly. In the long run it will be less expensive and much more comfortable.

What can be done for itching? First of all what should not be done is scratching—because that never solves anything and often aggravates a condition. For discomfort due to dry skin, many dermatologists suggest the use of a therapeutic bath oil like Alpha Kerl to restore to the skin surface many of the lost natural oils. A capful of Alpha Kerl added to the bath water coats the skin with a thin protective film that "locks in" the skin's own moisture. Popular home remedies for itching include alcohol on an insect bite, hot water, or ice packs. Actually, these do not relieve itching but substitute another skin sensation, so the itching seems to become secondary. Chronic or prolonged itching, skin irritations, should be brought to a physician's attention.

Question: What is Pruritus and What Causes It?
Answer: Pruritus is the medical word for itching and it can have many causes—some real, some imaginary. A little soap inadvertently left on the skin or moisture between toes can bring itching sensations. Along with minor reasons like these, itching can also be symptomatic of very serious illnesses like jaundice, leukemia, uremia, Hodgkin's Disease or sensitivity to certain drugs. Insect bites, fungus infections and allergic reactions to clothing can result in itching. Itching can be an occupational hazard with professions like grocers and bakers where a mite is the culprit. Constant itching is more common in older people because their skin no longer secretes large amounts of lubricating oils and the resultant dry skin is often flaky and uncomfortable as well as itchy. Seasonal itching is not uncommon. "Winter-Itch" is due in large measure to the overheated rooms that dry out the skin. Summer itch is due to a similar condition in reverse; cool air-conditioned rooms that lack moisture and are as drying as overheated ones.

Virgil Mills Delivers First Load Of Wheat To Burk's Elevator

The first load of wheat has been delivered to the Bunge Elevator in Burkburnett. It was grown by Virgil Mills, who earned a premium of $50 for the first load. Mills received a $25 check from the Burkburnett Chamber of Commerce, and another $25 check from the Bunge Elevator. It brought Mills the going price of $1.20 per bushel. Mills estimated that his stand would average 25 bushels to the acre. The first load tested 14 per cent moisture. Mills was beaten out by only three minutes for the honors of delivering the first load of the Texas new crop of wheat. Another load had been delivered to an elevator at Iowa Park just three minutes before. Meanwhile, custom combines were at work in area fields as the golden harvest continued. Cutting was reported in full force in the Devol area, and in Baylor County in Texas. Agricultural men in the area predict one of the best crops in years, and with the present weather continuing to be favorable for harvest crews, little time in harvesting is expected.

FIRST TEXAS WHEAT delivered to Bunge Elevator in Burkburnett was brought in by Virgil Mills of Burkburnett. Here Mills, in the white shirt, receives a $25 bonus check from Wanda Young, local manager for Bunge. Also in the picture are Don Hicks, the custom cutter, and Jim Holder, right area supervisor for the elevator.

OKLAHOMA'S FIRST LOAD of wheat delivered to Bunge Elevator here was brought in by R. O. Brown. Here he receives a $25 bonus check from Gad Garland, of the Burk Chamber of Commerce agricultural committee, and another check for the same amount from Wanda Young, local manager for Bunge. Brown delivered the first load last year also.

Getting the right BRAKES

ON THE 12th CENTURY B.C. THE EGYPTIAN KING RAMSES III HUNTED GAZELLES MOUNTED ON A LIGHT CHARIOT USING A LEVER WHICH JAMMED A "SHOE" AGAINST THE WHEEL RIM WHENEVER HE WANTED TO STOP!

ONE OF THE EARLIEST BICYCLES HAD A FRONT WHEEL THAT WAS 50 INCHES AND A REAR WHEEL OF 18 INCHES! THE RESULT OF THIS DISPROPORTION WAS THAT SUDDEN BRAKING USUALLY TIPPED THE RIDER ON HIS HEAD!

TODAY, MANY EXPERTS FEEL THAT ATWOOD, WITH ITS SURGE HYDRAULIC BRAKING SYSTEM, HAS COME UP WITH THE SAFEST BRAKING SYSTEM IN THE TRAILER INDUSTRY. SIMPLE HOOK-UP AND RELIABILITY ARE ALSO KEY ADVANTAGES.
