First Automobile In Nation To Do So

Carters Invent Steam-Powered Car Which Meets '76 Emission Standards

The father and son engineering team of Jay W. Carter and Jay W. Carter, Jr. has developed the first automobile in the United States to meet the original 1976 emission control standards. The research and development company known as Jay Carter Enterprises, Inc., is located in Burk Burnett and has been working on a steam-powered automobile, along with several other projects for nearly six years.

Jay Carter, Jr., stated, "We recently completed tests on our steam-powered Volkswagen at the Environmental Protection Agency Lab in Ann Arbor, Michigan, where our car became the first to meet the very strict original 1976 emission levels without any add-on emission control devices."

Noting that the federal government and many automobile manufacturers have spent millions in the attempt to create an automobile which would meet the standards, Carter, Jr. said, "Our success is a tribute to the American way, the free enterprise system. The little guy still has a chance to succeed."

The engine or expander is a four cylinder radial, single acting uniflow without cross-heads, and is designed to operate on 2,000 psi steam at 1000 degrees Fahrenheit. Power modulation is accomplished by varying the boiler pressure and by the use of the standard four-speed gearbox of the 1964 Volkswagen. The expander puts out over 90 HP from 35 cubic inches at 2000 psi steam pressure and 5000 rpm.

A blow-down feature is provided to shorten warm-up which takes place in 20 seconds. Drive-away time is 30 seconds from the key on a cold start.

Carter said, "The steam system is completely automatic and operates the same as the present automobile. There are redundant features built into the control system which prevents damage occurring to any of the parts."

The complete steam system fits into the Volkswagen engine compartment with the exception of a small ram air condenser located up front. The total system weighs 120 pounds more than the original internal combustion engine, but includes the condenser weight which is made out of lead and brass.

"Our automotive power plant is a completely closed system which means we never lose or have to add water. We use the same water over and over again. We can burn almost any liquid fuel; which supplies the heat to boil the water and produce the steam," said Carter Jr.

He continued, "The steam-powered Volkswagen is our first automobile installation, although many of the components are fourth and fifth generation. Although there are still many areas for improvements, many of which will require starting anew with a second generation automobile rigid emission control tests set for 1976. The engine is located in the rear section of the vehicle and is the first prototype developed by Carter. They plan to build a second prototype soon that will be for a front-engine, midsize automobile. See related story.

Notice

The City of Burk Burnett is requesting the help of all citizens to take part in keeping property clean of rubbish, and grass and weeds cut short.

According to City Manager Gary Bean, if each citizen will do his part on his own property, rental property, or vacant lots, it will save the city many hours of labor which could be put to use elsewhere. He said, "The City takes this opportunity to thank you in advance for your cooperation in this serious matter."

Chamber To Hold Roundtable Discussion

The Burk Burnett Chamber of Commerce will hold its monthly noon luncheon Monday, June 3, in the Civic Center.

According to Chamber Manager Jim Lemley, the program will consist of an open floor discussion to voice and hear ideas from members which might improve Chamber of Commerce functions.

Lemley said that he felt a roundtable discussion should occur at least once a year to have a general orientation of the Chamber, discuss ideas, and find ways to encourage people to use the Chamber.

Also to be discussed will be the upcoming annual golf tournament and the July 4 celebration for the City of Burk Burnett.

Pee Wee All-Stars To Play

Burk Burnett's Pee Wee League will have its All-Star game Friday, May 31, at 6 p.m. at Hayes Field.

Twelve all-stars from the Mathis and United teams (6 each) will play twelve from the Corner Drug and Owens & Brumley teams (6 each).

The public is invited to attend and more information can be obtained from Lee Kahler, 569-2655.

Red Cross Donations Total Over $1,000

A total of $1,033.52 was collected in the recent Red Cross Drive, according to Bill Vincent, chairman in Burk Burnett.

The drive, which lasted through May 15, consisted of chairmen and volunteers who travelled the Burk Burnett area, collecting donations.

Carl Dixon Becomes Special Education Director

The Burk Burnett School Board met in a special session Monday night at 7 p.m. and named Carl Dixon as director of "Plan A", a new special education program which will go into effect next year.

According to Superintendent James Pearson, Plan A will provide individualized educational programs designed specifically to meet the unique needs of each child. Resource teachers will work with students who are weak in a certain area of learning and help build up that area through this special program.

Dixon will head a diagnostician, a counselor, eight teacher aides, and 16 resource teachers throughout the Burk Burnett School System in the special education program. More than 400 students have qualified to participate in the special service as a result of a screening process.

The program, which is sponsored by the state, will include teaching the handicapped, and offering aid to students to help them overcome learning disabilities.

Trustee Ira Schroeder made the motion that Carl Dixon, principal of Burk Burnett Junior High School, become director of the special education program and receive a salary raise to go along with the extra two weeks to one month work involved in the program. It was seconded and approved.

The board discussed specifications for portable classrooms to be purchased soon and set the bid opening date for 7 p.m. Thursday, June 13, at which time the number of buildings to be purchased will be determined.

The portable classrooms will be 24 ft. x 32 ft. for single rooms and 64 ft. x 24 ft. for double rooms. They can be prefabricated or built on the site, but must be moveable (without disassembly) on regular roadways. The buildings must be reinforced and air conditioned.

Buildings will be placed on a north-side location at Hardin; on the parking lot west of the metal building at the junior high; and on the west side, just north of the parking lot near the kitchen at Sheppard-Burk. A site has also been located for a portable building at Southside.

Bidders will set completion dates and the buildings are to be used for the 1974-75 school term. The board granted easement to Texas Electric Service Co. for work at the field house and approved the use of school facilities for 1974-75 classes by Vernon Regional Junior College. Superintendent Pearson said of the VRJC classes in Burk, "I think the program has helped our people and I think it is a success."

In other action, the board unanimously approved Howard Clements, Great American Insurance Co. for Workman's Compensation. Committee chairman C.J. Lippard said that Workman's Compensation pays on accidents, and there is no limit to medical benefits. He suggested that the board take out the insurance with a local company rather than the state because of the possibility of better "off the top" rates. The board accepted the suggestion and bought the insurance through September, 1975.

Trustee Norman Roberts was not present for the meeting.

Service Council To Elect Officers

The Burk Burnett Community service Council will meet Thursday, June 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the Civic Center.

Purpose of the meeting will be to elect officers and to appoint committees and committee chairmen.

DEED PRESENTATION--The Burk Burnett Industrial Foundation purchased 20 acres of land at the corner of Preston and Ciba Road for $20,000.00 last week to be used for industrial development. Pictured are (from left) Clark Gresham, Alvin Hill, Bill Vincent, B.H. Preston, Jim Lemley, and Jack Mathis; as Brack Preston presents the deed for the land to Bill Vincent, vice-chairman of the committee.

Purchase of the land is a result of a fund drive which went into effect one year ago. A major portion of the pledges have been signed and returned, however several remain to be turned in. Within 30 days a meeting will be called for the purpose of re-electing five directors at which time all recent pledges and paid memberships will have voting rights.

CONSTRUCTION UNDERWAY--American Legion Post 264 expansion in Burk Burnett has been underway recently. The old facility will have added to it a 60' x 96' structure which will be a main assembly room and will also house two offices and a stage. The old building (shown at right of expansion) will be remodeled for restrooms and a conference room. The new addition will be blue metal with a white brick front and double, wood-carved doors in front. Completion date has been set for mid-July and cost of the new addition is estimated at $60,000.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

Then all mankind will see me, the Messiah, coming in the clouds with great power and glory. And I will send out the angels to gather together my chosen ones from all over the world — from the farthest bounds of earth and heaven. Now, here is a lesson from a fig tree. When its buds become tender and its leaves begin to sprout, you know that spring has come. And when you see these things happening that I've described, you can be sure that my return is very near.

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas Constitutional Convention delegates, bogged down again in debate, were told that, when they finally agree, they must get out and lead the campaign for a new constitution.

Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards and House Speaker E.L. Henry offered words of advice, comfort, cheer and condolences to their Texas neighbors concerning the business of constitution writing.

Both had leading roles in adoption of a new Louisiana constitution early this year after a convention in 1973.

"You have got to take your document to the people, or it won't get done," Henry told the Texas delegates.

Special interest groups will reach their constituents, warned Edwards; so state officials must try to sell the new document drawn by the convention to average citizens who hold the swing votes.

At the same time, visiting Governor Edwards said it is highly doubtful the Louisiana revision would have been adopted had he not taken an active part in promoting it.

Meanwhile, Texas delegates had a bucketful of problems trying to get together on the judiciary article of their product. Merger of the Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals, right of appeal by the state in criminal cases and status of county judges proved the toughest items to compromise.

Even before agreement could be reached on the judiciary, delegates plunged on into the general provisions article which promised some of the convention's highest-voltage controversies over so-called state right-to-work provisions and other tough ones.

REPEATERS ARRESTED — More than 65 per cent of arrests recorded through criminal fingerprint cards last year had prior records, the Department of Public Safety reported.

Twenty-five per cent of the 273,180 arrests were of 17-19 year olds.

Criminal arrest fingerprint cards increased 21,510 in 1973 over 1972. An average of 1,019 cards a day was submitted by 635 different Texas agencies and 18 out-of-state agencies.

OIL CONSERVED — State agencies and colleges conserved the equivalent of 75,334 barrels of crude oil during March compared to the same month a year ago, the Governor's office calculates.

Overall state agency energy consumption declined 12 per cent for the month, according to a special energy report. Electricity use dropped seven percent, natural gas 12.2 per cent, and gasoline 11.9 per cent, while "other" fuel use increased 3.9 per cent. The increase was due largely to conversion from gasoline-powered machinery and vehicles to diesel-powered units.

COURTS SPEAK — Cities cannot tax rolling stock of railroads, the Texas Supreme Court held.

At the same time, the High Court concluded that a doctor could not be held negligent for failure to order x-rays to detect a small chicken bone in a baby boy's lung.

A Jefferson County man, sentenced to 75 years for heroin sale, won a new trial because his lawyer was not allowed to impeach a state witness by bringing up a prior conviction.

The Supreme Court declined to hear arguments by attorneys for Elmer Wayne Henley Jr., accused of Houston sex slayings, on immediate transfer of the trial site from San Antonio.

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the conviction of Johnny Eduardo Swift, a black, for the killing of Hearn bank President H.C. Kelly, finding no racial discrimination in the grand jury commission.

A Dallas ex-policeman was turned down by the Court of Criminal Appeals in a bid for a new trial as an accomplice to murder, though the woman charged with the murder was acquitted.

AG OPINIONS — Persons over 65 are entitled to benefits of non-resident tax exemption where political subdivisions have approved, though they fail to so claim during rendition period, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: The property tax for higher education does not expire in 1987 but extends for an indefinite period.

Names of persons whose sentences for possession of marijuana have been commuted by the governor should be made public.

The Department of Public Welfare is not precluded from negotiating a premium for its medical assistance program which can be expected to result in a reduction of the Medicaid reserve.

Animal Health Commission records concerning an examination of cattle for brucellosis are subject to inspection by the owner, but it is not mandatory that the commission authenticate the records to make them admissible in a trial growing out of herd purchase.

The Board of Pardons and Paroles can provide counsel for indigent prisoners whose parole is to be revoked.

Legislative pay is not dependent on attendance, but mileage compensation is dependent on actual travel.

Cities can regulate private sewage facilities.

Commissioners courts may issue revenue bonds under the Clean Air Act.

Lobbyists may file activities reports for their bosses.

Legionnaires Place 200 Flags On Graves

Burkburnett's American Legion Post 264 observed Memorial Day Monday by having a flag-raising ceremony at the local cemetery. Mrs. Anna Freeman, Gold Star Mother, placed a wreath and the Post Chaplain, H.K. Stewart, offered a prayer.

After the ceremony, several Legionnaires and Auxiliary ladies placed over 200 flags on veterans' graves.

Legionnaires who participated include Joe Alvey, Paul Kimball, Randy Story, Jack Alexander, Jess Carlile, Pete Putman, Charlie Pulliam, Jr., H.K. Stewart, Joe Janek, and Bobby Cozby.

The power to use energy efficiently this summer is in your hands.

When it comes to home air conditioning, one of the best things to do for efficiency and economy is to set your thermostat at 78-80 degrees.

For each degree above 75 degrees, the energy used for cooling is reduced by approximately 5%.

If you are going to be away from home for several hours or longer, either raise your air conditioning thermostat several degrees to a warmer setting or turn it off.

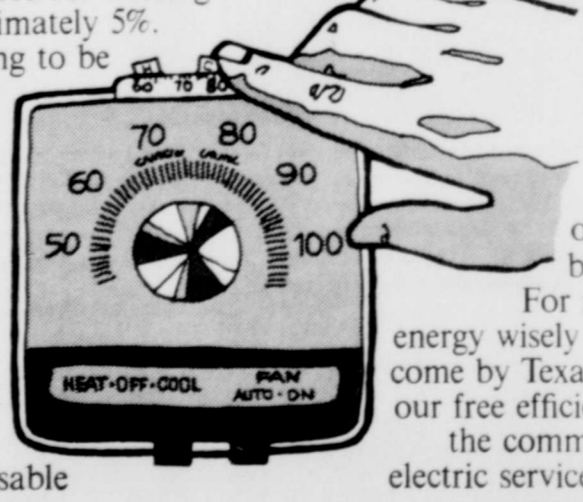

Here are some other things you can do:

Replace disposable filters or clean permanent type filters as required. Clogged filters make the air conditioning unit work harder and use more electricity.

Keep doors, windows and fireplace dampers closed to keep cooled air in and hot air out.

Keep direct sunlight out as much as possible. Use awnings over windows, or close draperies and blinds, or pull shades.

For more ideas on using energy wisely around your home, come by Texas Electric or request our free efficiency tips booklet on the comment portion of your electric service bill.

TAPESTRIES

Lord, our lives are tapestries
All open to behold.
Some are rich and beautiful,
Others old and cold.
Some are soft and mellow
With temperance and cheer,
Others are quite angry
With turbulence and fear.

Hatefulness and hasty words
Do make the picture sad.
But prayer before the storm
Can change the scene to glad.

New Plant Varieties Aid Consumer Prices

Consumer food budgets would be even higher without the benefit of new crop varieties developed by plant breeders, says a University of Minnesota scientist.

Herbert W. Johnson, head of the University's agronomy and plant genetics department, backs up his statement with some convincing facts: Extra yields from two new wheat and soybean varieties planted in his state alone last year meant about 276 million more loaves of bread for consumers and some 294,000 extra tons of high quality protein for producing poultry, pork and beef.

This was due to about 6.4 million extra bushels Minnesota farmers harvested from Era wheat and about 14 million extra bushels from Corsoy soybeans, he explains. The new wheat variety has been grown since 1970 and the new soybeans since 1967. Both were developed cooperatively by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and state experiment stations. Era was developed in Minnesota, and Corsoy in Iowa, but both are now grown in other states as well.

In addition, Johnson says two more new soybean varieties released this year will result in higher yields for areas with shorter growing seasons.

He points out that public plant breeding programs and other agricultural research probably benefit consumers more than they do farmers. "A plentiful supply of food at reasonable prices is important to everyone," he notes. "and this is what plant breeding is about."

Know Safety Rules Before Plunging In

With spring fever just around the corner, the Texas Safety Association urges that eager swimmers review basic safety rules before taking the first plunge of the season.

No matter how elated the adventurous swimmer is at the prospect of mixing sunshine and water after a long winter, it is still foolish to swing from trees into water, dive from cliffs or jagged rocks or swim in swift-moving waters or near waterfalls.

Swim only in protected areas, obey safety rules enforced by lifeguards, and stay out of the water altogether during thunderstorms or when tired.

installation, we feel pretty good about our basic concepts and approaches to the problems." The recent EPA test indicates that besides getting extremely low emissions, the fuel economy was 24.7 miles per gallon (mpg) at 30 miles per hour (mph); 20.9 mpg at 50 mph; 14.9 mpg over a cold start 1975 federal driving cycle; and 17.3 mpg over the federal highway driving cycle.

Carter said that while these fuel economy numbers are not extremely good, they do indicate the potential for very good fuel economy—equal to or better than 1974 automobile fuel economies, based on the tested base line data and the known relative easy areas for improvements.

"Based on the results of our first steam car, we feel our second car will have emissions 1/3 of the original 1976 emission levels, over 25 mpg at 55 mph, over 20 mpg over the federal driving cycle, and a drive-away time from a cold start of 15 seconds or less," he predicted.

Aiding in the development of the steam-powered vehicle were Lloyd Dilbeck of Burkburnett and Hugh Kuykendall of Wichita Falls who are machinists, and Ronnie Gordon of Burkburnett who is a draftsman.

Jay Carter Jr. said that he plans to start all over and build a second prototype soon which will be an improvement over the first. It will be for a front-engine midsize automobile which will include accessories and everything. The next step will be finding financing to proceed with this next prototype, which will be truly competitive with the internal combustion engine in all aspects, according to Carter, Jr.

Carter's steam-powered car has been driven to speeds over 80 miles per hour and has the potential for extremely long life. The boiler is essentially no different from the large power plant boilers which can run 10 years at a time without ever stopping.

Jay Carter Jr. stated, "We have taken a fresh and new approach to many of the problems associated with a steam-powered vehicle. As a result of our recent tests, the steam engine can no longer be ignored as a possible practical alternative to the dirty internal combustion engine. The steam engine may be given a second chance to supply the power needs of the world as it did in the early years of our industrial revolution."

Tastier Tomatoes Ahead For Shoppers

Tastier tomatoes are in the offing for consumers as the result of a new variety developed by agricultural scientists in Florida.

The new tomato can be harvested when it's fully ripe. Most present varieties are usually picked when pink-ripe to prevent spoilage before reaching consumers.

Called the Florida MH-1, the new variety is reported to hold up well in harvesting, packing, and shipping.

Market tests on the new red type showed strong customer preference for it over pink-ripe varieties.

WIDOW MAKER

Port Alberni, B.C.—(HK)—While familiar cries of "timber" still ring clearly through the dense British Columbia rain forest, many traditional logging terms have gone the way of the "donkey" or stea a locomotive.

For example, visitors to a local exhibit, sponsored by MacMillan Bloedel, Canada's largest forest products company, recently learned the "donkey doctor," or locomotive mechanic has long retired along with the "whistle punk" whose signal whistle warned loggers of a train's approach. While hotcakes taste as good as ever, they're no longer called "belly pads," and a "pearl diver," or dishwasher, probably loads the camp's automatic dishwasher these days.

Fortunately, several older, colorful logging terms still remain, such as the "school marm," or double tree grown together at the butt and the "widow maker," a dangerously overhanging dead branch.

State finalists will be selected from entries submitted to National Chicken Cooking Contest Headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Fresh Spuds Losing Out

Use of fresh Irish potatoes is on the decline as consumers opt for the variety that's already processed. In fact, the USDA reports that more than half the nation's potato crop is now used for processing. Frozen French fries take the biggest bite out of the crop, accounting for 26 percent of the total. Next in popularity are potato chips, dehydrated potatoes, and canned potatoes. This change in eating patterns is having a big effect on potato growers, says Extension Specialist W. W. Reid of North Carolina State University. It does provide a more stable market since most processing spuds are raised under contract at a specified price. But it also means that growers have to choose plant varieties with more care since the potatoes they raise must be the type that will not discolor during processing.

Area 4-H Leaders To Be Honored

Two area 4-H leaders are among 25 in Texas who will be honored at State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 5.

They are Mrs. J.G. Bentley of Route 1, Burkburnett, and Morris Guelker of Route 1, Roby.

They will be recognized at a special luncheon as the top adult leaders in District 3 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H. Each will receive a special plaque provided by the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation.

Mrs. Bentley, a secretary as well as a part-time student, has been an organizational leader of the Burkburnett 4-H Club for 17 years. Under her leadership and guidance, numerous 4-H members have won awards at the county, district and state level. Members from her club have attended the National 4-H Congress in Chicago and the National Citizenship Shortcourse in Washington, D.C.

A number of 4-H youth from the Burkburnett club have won the Wichita County Gold Star Award, among them five of Mrs. Bentley's six children.

Guelker is a Fisher County farmer who has been a beef project leader for the county's Junior Leaders 4-H Club for 10 years. Through his efforts and support, numerous members of this club have won awards and exhibited champion livestock.

Gary Batte To Be Transferred

Gary A. Batte, who has been District Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Wichita County since July, 1970, is being transferred to Stephenville, Texas, where he will assume the post of Area Conservationist. He will supervise SCS's operations in a ten county area in west central Texas.

As District Conservationist headquartered in Iowa Park, he has directed assistance to land users, units of government, and others through the Wichita Soil and Water Conservation District.

He and his wife, Sue, and children will move to Stephenville on May 31.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT

Onion prices dipped to lowest levels of the year during the past two weeks, one authority reports.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, estimated this year's onion crop 18 per cent greater than last year's, with prices three to four times lower.

Cabbage, carrots, broccoli, soft-shell squash, cooking greens, radishes and green onions are other "economically priced vegetables worth considering this week," the specialist said.

"Cantaloupe and strawberry supplies are increasing with prices more attractive, and this is the last 'peak' month for pineapple. Watermelons are more plentiful, but prices remain relatively high.

"Apples, bananas, oranges, avocados and honeydew melons show moderate prices," Mrs. Clyatt noted.

At poultry sections, she termed fryer chickens a bargain. "Egg prices are down, making them one of the lowest priced, high-protein foods on the market. Grade A, large and medium-sizes are "snip and tuck" for best values.

"Retail beef prices are unchanged for the past two weeks with features in most markets on various cuts of mature and baby beef-in general, best values include chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks and roasts, and beef liver.

Pork values appear on shoulder roasts and steaks, smoked hams and picnics, end-cut loin roasts and chops.

Consumer Watchwords: Fresh cabbage, in larger-than-usual supply, is a low-cost vegetable choice that serves either hot or cold.

Feed Dealer To Receive 4-H Award

Paul Berend of Wichita Falls, co-owner of Berend Brothers Feed Stores in Archer and Wichita counties, is being recognized for his longtime support of the 4-H program in Texas.

Berend will be awarded a special plaque from the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation during the opening assembly of the 1974 State 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University June 4.

He is one of 10 individuals, businesses and organizations to be cited for distinguished service to 4-H by the 4-H Foundation and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H.

Berend has been a strong supporter of 4-H for the past 25 years. He and his brother, Lawrence, started a junior dairy show in Windthorst in the 1950's which today is recognized as the largest junior dairy show in Texas.

In developing the 4-H dairy program in Archer County, Berend provided free Holstein heifers for interested 4-H members, with the provision that the youth donate back the first heifer calf to continue the program.

Berend also provides prize money for local 4-H and FFA livestock shows in Archer and Wichita Counties and purchases numerous animals at the premium sales.

The 4-H supporter is presently serving his second year as president of the Wichita County 4-H Livestock Association.

Cotton Costs Going Up, Up

AUSTIN--The total cost of producing cotton in 1974 could be at least 35 percent higher than 1973 averages, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has reported.

White also said that the average cost of producing one pound of lint cotton may reach 37 cents, up from the 28 cent average of 1964-72.

White said that costs of motor supplies and fertilizer could soar to more than 40 percent over 1973 averages.

Costs of other production items—interest, taxes and wage rates—increased nine percent from 1972 to 1973. The USDA Economic Research Service reported that farmers will pay almost 16 percent more for these items this year.

Nationally, cotton prices are high and could get higher because of increased production costs and tight supplies. Flooding in the Delta reduced the 1973 cotton crop. And when the export demand increased, it was apparent that cotton demand would outstrip production.

From primarily work clothes, denim has come into its own as the "darling" of male and female fashions. Practically every U.S. consumer—regardless of age, income bracket, life-style or occupation—has worn blue denim at one time or another.

However, denim's popularity isn't limited to the U.S. It has branched out around the world in the so-called "American Look". Denim has expanded fashion-wise - far from its humble origins. Fashions now include tuxedo's, men's suits, wedding gowns, dresses, skirts, shoes, hats, jackets, outer-shirts, unstructured suits for men and denim-lined mink coats.

Popularity stems from sturdiness, adaptability and wearing comfort. Currently produced at a rate of 400 million yards a year, U.S. denim producers could sell 100 million yards more if they had the capacity, manpower and time to produce it.

Watch for corduroy jeans to give denim some relief in the youth clothes market. Until recently, denim was the only fabric providing a worn-out look after a few washings. Now, specially-processed corduroy also achieves that look. This new process causes a worn look at seams and points of wear—rather than fading uniformly.

Although the major change takes place after the first washing, color stabilizes after the fifth washing.

Available for Summer '74 retailing, manufacturers may sell jeans pre-washed or with hang tags explaining changes that will result from washing.

When shopping, dress shoppers should leave "bias" at home. Keep an open mind, plan, compare and don't decide a fashion is right or wrong without trying it on. Since styles, colors and materials are unlimited, learn what's available before shopping—by scanning newspaper advertisements and reading fashion reports. Then analyze needs and plan a purchase carefully.

When considering a dress, decide whether it will serve your purpose. Will it go with the existing wardrobe—and provide good service and pleasure? Also plan the entire costume—dress, hat, shoes and accessories - before buying. Coordinate colors, textures and styles.

In addition, decide on a price range to prevent overspending. Advance planning saves time, energy and money. During shopping, remember that cost doesn't always indicate quality. Compare price and quality - good buys come in all price ranges.

Thoroughly judge workmanship of the garment. Notice cut, stitching, trimming, and finishing. At the same time, consider time and money for upkeep. Read care instructions—they may be vital to garment life and maintenance.

Fabric labels disclose fiber content but don't indicate service and durability. Special finishes may affect wearing quality, appearance, care and use of the dress.

Turning to fit, shoppers should remember each dress is different. Ready-to-wear dress sizes are based on body classifications, although sizes may vary with style and manufacturer. Try on the dress. See how it fits and looks when walking, sitting and reaching. Consider alterations carefully and get an estimate. It may pay to try another size or style.

All cattle under two years of age should be vaccinated for blackleg every year. Blackleg is a disease which is usually fatal to young cattle. The death or lameness of the best young calf in a herd often signals an outbreak of the disease. The most common sign that an animal has the disease is a swelling of the heavy muscles in the hip and shoulder.

Blackleg has been around for a long time and seems to show up wherever cattle are raised. It is caused by bacteria which are usually ingested with feed. The infection ends up in the heavy muscles of the animal, where it causes great damage and forms large quantities of gas in the tissues. When pressure is applied to the affected area, the gas in the tissues makes a crackling sound, like paper being crumpled.

An animal which has died from blackleg has a characteristic posture. Because of the terrific swelling soon after death, the animal has its legs extended and stiff like a sawhorse.

Once animals are stricken with the disease, they usually die in 12 to 48 hours. The disease can be prevented by vaccination with a bacterin made from the organism which causes the disease. Since animals under two years of age are the ones usually affected, they are the ones which should be vaccinated. Although annual vaccination means that some animals be vaccinated more than once, this will not hurt the animals and will keep resistance at a high level.

If there is an outbreak of blackleg on your farm, the best thing to do is to vaccinate all the young animals and hope you are getting ahead of the infection. You may continue to lose animals for about two weeks. After that much time has passed since vaccination, the animals are generally safe. However, an annual vaccination program for all cattle under two years of age will eliminate chances of an outbreak.

Exciting things happened during Roundup time in Texas at least as far as some 1,800 4-H boys and girls are concerned. 4-H Roundup marks the occasion when district 4-H contest winners gather on the Texas A&M University campus to compete for top honors in some 30 different events. These range from livestock judging and public speaking to demonstrations on foods and nutrition and safety. Those who compete have been named winners in their respective counties and districts. Texas 4-H Roundup, one of the oldest annual statewide 4-H events in the nation, is slated for June 4-5.

A regular review of an individual's insurance program is a wise move. Personal insurance, such as life, health and accident, as well as property insurance should be reviewed annually or each time family obligations change or property changes occur. Houses, for instance, have increased 30 per cent in average value in Texas during the past five years, yet less than a quarter of the residents have increased their insurance coverage. Also, with changes in financial positions, certain types of insurance may no longer be needed.

Texas livestock and poultry producers who are not engaged in "custom" or "commercial" operations can now get 50 per cent cost-sharing assistance in installing waste management systems. Funds of up to $18 million are now available through the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP). The facilities must be substantially completed by December 31 of this year to qualify for the assistance program.

Will The Real George Please Stand Up?

Every statue tells a story about the sculptor and his subject, but these two photographic images of the Father of his Country reveal that there are, indeed, two sides to every story.

This masterpiece by Jean Antoine Houdon is the only statue George Washington ever posed for, and is America's most valuable marble sculpture. It remains the most nearly perfect likeness of Washington that exists, seeming to capture every aspect of the man and his career.

To represent the Revolutionary War hero, government leader and gentleman, the artist developed his setting to symbolic perfection: Washington is seen with the sword at left, cane in his right hand; beside him stands the ancient Roman fasces, a symbol of authority. The dress is authentic Continental Army, but only the left hand is gloved.

Even the expression of Washington's face notes a duality. Viewed from the left side, it is much more stern, denoting his military career. From the right, there is a glimpse of the social personality.

The life-size statue stands in the rotunda of Virginia's State Capitol Building, one of ten highlights on the self-guided "Richmond Tour," a unique experience for visitors to the Old Dominion's historic capital city. Legend has it that the First President, demanding an exact resemblance for posterity, called attention to the button missing from his coat.

Information on the Richmond Tour can be obtained by writing the Metropolitan Richmond Chamber of Commerce, 201 E Franklin Street, Richmond, Virginia 23219.

Wheat Issues Need Input Of Farmers

AUSTIN--Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has urged Texas wheat farmers to make their feelings known to the USDA on its proposed determinations for the 1975 wheat program.

The USDA has called for written comments on a series of issues which concern wheat producers before issuing regulations for the 1975 season.

Under consideration is the loan level for the 1975 crop of wheat, including commodity eligibility and storage requirements.

Also being considered by the USDA is whether there should be a set aside requirement for wheat for the 1975 crop, and, if so, the extent of such a requirement, White said.

The possibility of a provision for additional diversion for the 1975 crop and the extent of and payment rate for such a diversion are being looked into as well.

Included in the investigation are other related provisions necessary to carry out the loan and purchase program and the set-aside program.

Additional details concerning the provisions will be published later this month in the Federal Register. Prior to making the determinations, consideration will be given to any written comments received by the Director, Grain Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250, by June 15.

Women's Intuition, Curiosity Valuable

That Sixth Sense—intuition—which everyone ought to know women have in abundance, is being recognized as a valuable asset in the investigative field.

Pinkerton's, Inc., an investigative firm, is recruiting women in its 105 offices across the United States. The applicants being sought will be investigators, store detectives, uniformed guards, airport security personnel, and campus patrol guards.

One basic qualification required for entering the security field, according to Pinkerton's, seems to be "curiosity."

Jobs Are Available In U.S. Air Force

The U.S. Air Force has openings for 77,882 men and women for the new fiscal year beginning July 1, according to officials at Headquarters U.S. Air Force Recruiting Service.

Most openings - 64,155 - are for young men with no previous experience. There are approximately 190 different job skills available.

There is a significant increase this year in jobs for enlisted women. The Fiscal Year 1975 goal is 10,000, a 25 per cent increase over last year, and half of the new enlistees will be recruited for technical jobs such as jet engine mechanics, electricians, missile mechanics, and heating systems specialists.

Air Force recruiters will be looking for 1,328 officer candidates with college degrees. There are openings for 956 men: 681 for navigator jobs, two as helicopter pilots, and the rest for scientific, technical engineering, and weather officer positions. There are also openings for 372 women to enter Officer Training School for Air Force commissions.

Initial indications are the Air Force will admit 1,500 personnel with prior military service if they meet the requirements of age and possess a skill that is in demand.

There are openings for 899 general duty nurses, an increase of about 200. The increase in opportunities for Air Force Nurse duty stems from a relatively new program of using them as Nurse Practitioners, a role of assuming more responsibilities to help ease the workload of physicians.

Not included in the total of 77,882 Air Force jobs in Fiscal Year 1975 are openings for 544 physicians and 87 other medical professionals.

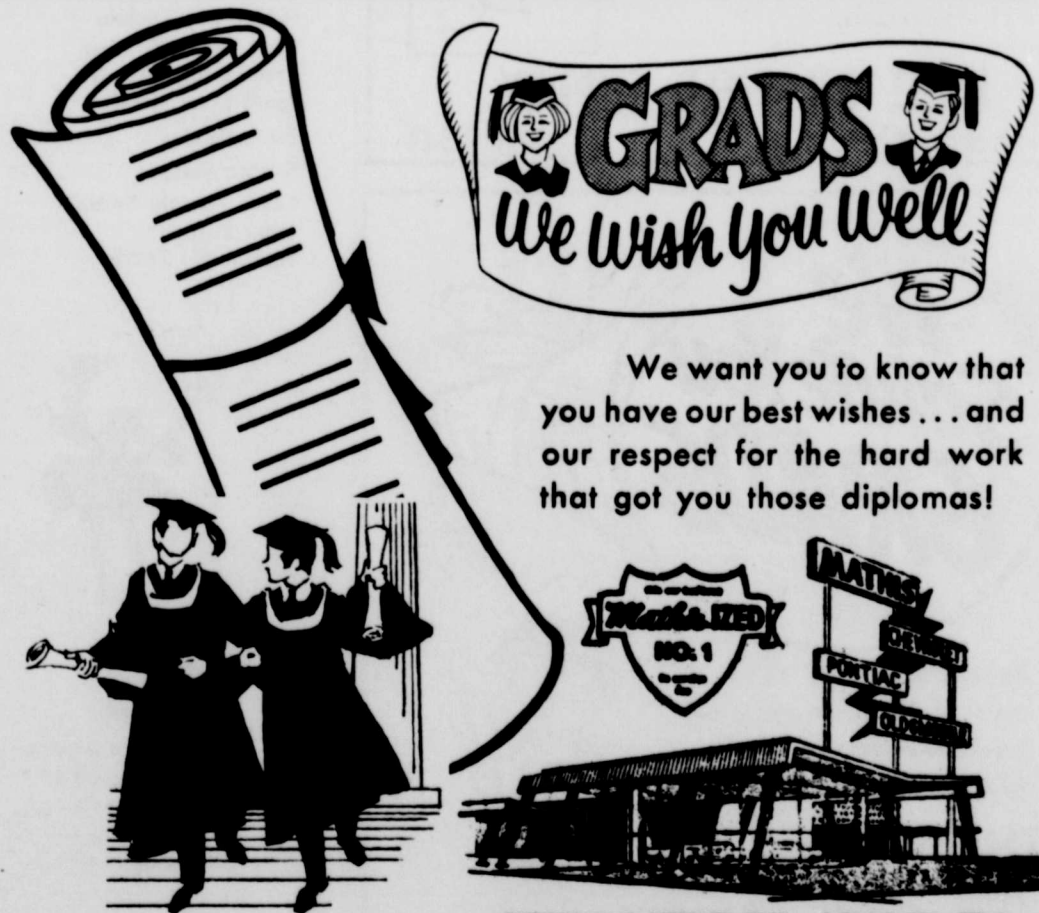

Details on each job opening and requirements to qualify are available from any local Air Force recruiter-salesman listed in the white pages under U.S. Government.

Carol Spencer To Attend Science Symposium

Carol Spencer of 5401 Dewey, a student at Burk Burnett High School, has been selected to attend the 14th Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for High Schools at the University of Texas at Austin June 3-6.

Irene Chittum, science teacher at the high school, will accompany her to the symposium.

Texas Electric Service Company, a member of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation which is joining with the university in putting on the symposium, will sponsor them.

Some 500 outstanding science students and their teachers from throughout the state are selected by their schools to attend the four-day meeting. Scientists and engineers for industry and education will discuss nuclear physics, nuclear engineering and related topics.

Two afternoons will be spent touring the science laboratories at the university, including those where experiments sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation are being carried on in thermonuclear (fusion) research.

"We are pleased to provide the opportunity for these participants to attend the symposium," B.J. Vincent, manager of TESCO, said. "It should be a most interesting educational experience and a chance to learn more about the latest achievements in nuclear science."

Included in the list of speakers during the symposium are Dr. Warren Witzig, professor of nuclear engineering at Pennsylvania State University; J.M. Smith, consultant in the radiological engineering division of General Electric Co.; and Dr. Richard Balzhier, director for the advanced systems research division of the They're quite a group, these young men and women. They're a big, big part of our home town. Once they were the little boys you saw playing football on a vacant lot, and the little girls having play tea parties for their dolls.

Today, they are mature young people on Graduation Day and ready and confident...

eager to take up new challenges, strive for new goals.

We're exceptionally proud of you, Seniors, and we wish each of you a full measure of success and happiness in every endeavor.
