Function Stops Okla. Transportation Added Bus Service Between Here, Sheppard Field and Wichita Falls

Burkburnett was left high and dry Tuesday when the Railroad Commission filed charges against the Oklahoma Transportation Co. for operating buses between Burkburnett, Sheppard Field and Wichita Falls with the proper permits.

Oklahoma Transportation Co. inaugurated an additional bus service between here and Sheppard Field last week in order to take care of the workers here who are employed at the field.

Edward Elliott, law enforcement agent for the state railroad commission, and six assistants in Wichita County for the purpose of checking such operation of the Wichita Transit Co. and the Oklahoma Transportation Company, they

Chilean Missionary Will Speak Sunday At Baptist Church

He will bring a message on the conditions in South America in general and in Chile in particular, and a challenge in regard to the opportunities for service there. You are invited to hear him at 8:00 p. m., Sunday, July 6.

Patrols Assigned To Field Road

With three new deputies on the job, Sheriff Pat Allen Tuesday established a regular patrol on the Burkburnett Highway near Sheppard Field.

Three teams of two men each were announced by the sheriff in the new set-up for criminal investigations and traffic control, as follows: Deputies C. R. Pogue and Jim Bradley, Clayton Moore and Roy Blanset, and George Garrett and J. J. McCarter.

Moore and Blanset had the assignment Tuesday. During rush periods, Sheriff Allen said, two squad cars will be on the job there.

The second injury sustained in an automobile collision on the road to Sheppard Field since work began there was recorded Tuesday when Lawrence Grider, 21, of 1007 Third, Wichita Falls, required 10 stitches to close a head gash. The automobile he was driving was in collision with one driven by Joe Burton Young, 19, Sheppard Field worker.

Young's car bumped into the rear of Grider's automobile about a mile south of the airport, Sgt. Morgan C. Myers, of the state highway patrol said. Grider was given emergency treatment at the Wichita General hospital.

R. H. Seabolt, Sheppard Field truck driver, suffered a gash on the head and minor body injuries Monday when he drove his truck into a ditch to avoid a collision with another automobile. He was released from Wichita General hospital after being given emergency treatment.

Rites Held For Former Burk Woman

Final tribute was paid to Mrs. Mary A. Cawthorn, 36, of Albany at services at the First Baptist Church Sunday at 2:00 p. m. with Rev. Jack Manning officiating.

Mrs. Cawthorn died at her home in Albany Friday after a long illness. She had moved there from Burkburnett only a month ago.

Survivors include her husband, Bruce Cawthorn, one son, Charles of Albany; her mother, Mrs. Malissa Moore, Albany; four brothers, Dee Moore of Oklahoma City, H. J. of Albany, Peues of Overton, and Sidney of Wichita Falls; four sisters, Mrs. Minnie Peppy of Electra, Mrs. Lela Gilbreath of Odessa, Mrs. Beulah Delaney of Wintersburg, Ariz., and Mrs. Bernice Green of Albany.

Frank Clement Thanks Friends For Flowers

Frank Clement, who is in the Wichita General hospital, suffering from a broken shoulder received in an automobile accident last week, wishes to take this opportunity to thank his many friends for the beautiful flowers that he has received since being confined to the hospital. "The room looks more like a florist shop than a hospital room," the nurses told Mr. Clement.

The Bell Still Speaks

Burk Loses Ten Scholastics

Wichita County gained few scholastics during the year, the 1941 enumeration completed Saturday revealed.

The census gave a count of 16,351, compared with 16,238 in 1940, according to J. B. Golden, county school superintendent. The 1940 adjusted total resulted in a final count of 16,127, after 161 duplications, over age and other scholastics had been taken off the list by the state department of education.

The census report by districts, included the following:

Rural schools	1,199
Iowa Park (enlarged)	930
Fairview	239
Burkburnett	1,054
Valley View	533
Electra	1,704
Wichita Falls	10,692
Wichita Falls, Electra, Valley View, Fairview and Iowa Park registered gains over the 1940 adjusted enumeration, but the margin may be reduced when adjustments are made. Iowa Park, showing 930 against 660 for the adjusted enumeration of last year, jumped ahead as the result of a recent consolidation of six districts. Burkburnett showed a loss of 10 enumerations. The rural schools total, accordingly, showed a substantial drop.

Burk Has Large, Ripe Peaches

Proof that frost or dry weather doesn't always destroy Burkburnett's fruit crop was given Tuesday morning when Mrs. T. W. Collins, South Harwell street, brought with her to town twelve ripe peaches on a stem about two feet long. The peaches were slightly larger than average size. Eight of them grew so close together, they touched.

They were picked from a free-stone peach tree in the Collins' back yard.

Watkins, a native of Denton, has been coach at Nebraska State Teachers college since leaving this county.

Wichita County Works To Save Cotton Crops

Plans for a war of poison against insects threatening to destroy the cotton crop in Wichita county were mapped Monday morning at Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce offices.

The chamber was joined by ginners, cotton compress men, oil mill operators and representative farmers in pledging close cooperation with the Texas A. & M. college in the campaign.

The principal machinery needed in the campaign is a duster machine for the poison. Pledges were accepted Monday for such machines; and other purchases are expected in near future, according to D. W. Wiley Jr., chairman of the chamber of commerce agricultural committee of the Wichita Falls chamber.

Expenditures for food in Wichita county were increased $22,419 during the month of June through the government's food stamp program, it was revealed Tuesday by Latham White, assistant region director of the Surplus Marketing Administration for the 13 southern states.

This sum represented the amount of blue stamps issued by the Wichita county stamp program office during the month. Amount of blue stamps issued per person during June averaged $2.01.

County Draft Board Gets 37 At Burkburnett

WICHITA COUNTY REGISTRATION REACH ONLY 530

Burkburnett's registration for the draft was much smaller than was predicted—only 37 registering, according to D. R. Peevey, local draft board member.

The county's registration showed 530 registered—men who have come of age since last October—had registered with their draft board in Wichita county. Board No. 1 in Wichita Falls had the highest registration for the day in Wichita county with 259 registering, with a large percent of them being workers employed at Sheppard Field.

These new registrants will be sandwiched in between those who enrolled for the national lottery last Oct. 16. A new lottery will be held in the next few days to decide where each of the new enrollees will fit into the scale.

Although it is estimated that not more than half these new registrants will be called within the next year, these 21-year-old youths will probably be called at a faster rate than any other age group because they are less likely to be deferred because of physical disabilities or dependents.

The draft boards stayed open 14 hours to register the young men.

Deferment Ordered For Men Over 28

Washington, July 1—Brig. Gen. Lewis R. Hershey, deputy selective service director, today formally ordered deferment of all men now subject to induction into the army who have reached the age of 28.

General Hershey telegraphed the order to selective service directors telling them to advise local draft boards immediately and saying that he acted at the request of congressional leaders.

An estimated 8,000,000 between the ages of 28 and 36 are affected. They are part of the group of 16,500,000 between the ages of 21 and 36 who were signed up last Oct. 16.

Rites In Gainesville For B. R. Griffin

Funeral rites were held in Gainesville for B. R. Griffin of this city at 10:30 Tuesday morning. Griffin died Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

W. B. and Jess Griffin of this city, brothers of the deceased, attended the services.

Surviving him are his widow and five children; three brothers, Brian, W. B. and Jess Griffin; three sisters, Mrs. J. A. Skile, Mrs. C. L. Graham of Snyder, and Mrs. Bob Fleeting of Oklahoma City; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Griffin of Snyder.

1941 Farm Income Far Ahead of 1940

During the first five months of 1941 farmers received $3,544,000, 000 in total cash income, including government benefit payments. This figure was $307,000, 000 more than in the corresponding period last year.

Income from farm marketings was placed at $3,240,000,000, or $388,000,000 more than a year ago. Government payments totaled $304,000,000 compared with $9,123,000,000 last year for the period last year.

The department predicted that the farm cash income for the full year would amount to about $10,700,000,000 compared with $9,123,000,000 last year if the present favorable production, price and market prospects continue. Such an income would be the largest since 1929.

The sharpest income gains were reported for cotton and cottonseed and livestock and livestock products.

Final Returns Show O'Daniel Winner Instead of Johnson

(SPECIAL TO THE STAR)

Dallas, July 1—Governor O'Daniel wound up his third and by far most harrowing political campaign late Tuesday by finishing his neck-and-neck race for the United States Senate against Congressman Lyndon Johnson with a plurality of 1,095 votes.

This was shown by the final compilation of the votes made by the Texas Election Bureau at 4:30 p. m. The report showed the following totals: O'Daniel, 175,368; Johnson, 174,273; Attorney General Mann, 140,853; Congressman Martin Dies, 80,601.

These totals accounted for a total vote in Saturday's special election of 571,095.

R. L. Johnson, bureau manager, announced that the final figures were based on complete returns from all of the 254 counties in the state, including 177 which were received by mail and checked against earlier reports which had been received by telegraph and telephone.

Bureau manager Johnson, at 4 p. m. Monday, with completed reports still to be received from 46 counties, estimated that the total vote would run to 570,000 votes.

By curious coincidence, the total vote exceeded this estimate by 1,095 votes, which is exactly the plurality with which O'Daniel finished the race.

O'Daniel Carries Prec. 2

The unofficial returns from the five boxes comprising Precinct No. 2 gave O'Daniel a lead of 90 votes over Johnson who ran second. Mann was third with Dies bringing up the rear with only 33 votes.

Following is how they voted for the leaders:

	Dies	Johnson	Mann	O'Daniel
Cashion School	1	7	5	14

Celebrating Our Independence

This year the Fourth of July should mean a lot more to most of us than just an opportunity to go swimming, to go on picnics or to shoot off fire-crackers.

Faced with increasing threats to our independence, in recent months we have probably heard more and thought more about the virtues of life in America than at any time since 1917. We, who for years have taken our independence for granted have suddenly become vitally aware of it as a way of life which is worth any sacrifice to protect.

The Fourth of July has been the most important holiday in this country for 165 years—when our countrymen declared us to be free of all ties to England and stated our beliefs as follows:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

All of the complicated systems of government we have devised since that time has been tested, law by law, in the light of its adherence to the platform as set forth in our Declaration of Independence. All of our relations with foreign governments have been studied from that same viewpoint, and anything which has threatened the continuation of our independence has been repulsed.

In our hectic discussions about politics and social programs, we often lose sight of the crystal-clear aims of our form of government as set forth in the Declaration of Independence and in our Constitution.

All of us have been taught about these documents in school, but few of us have read them since. On this Fourth of July would be a good time for everyone of us to get out our history book, or even the World's Almanac, and read once again these famous documents. When we celebrate the signing of the Declaration of Independence this year, let's be sure we know exactly what it is we are celebrating.

Railroad Mediation

Most of us have been worried about the interference with defense production caused by strikes. No figures are available to show just how many ships, tanks, planes and guns might have been built if it hadn't been for strikes, but we know the number is considerable.

But one thing we haven't had to worry about is the efficient movement of raw materials and of finished products to their proper destination in this country. The railroads have done a notable job in handling a rapid increase in hauling goods without any disruptions.

Furthermore, we have felt secure in the belief that there would be no interruption in railroad service due to labor difficulties. We know that railroads have an employee-employer mediation plan by which any difficulties which have arisen have been settled without disruption of service.

But there is trouble brewing in the railroad industry right now. Because of increased handling of freight the railroad employees envision big profits for the railroads and are impatient to "get theirs." In fact, they have asked for wage increases which, it is estimated, would cost the railroads 900 million additional dollars a year, which, the railroads say, is $700,000,000 more than their total net income last year.

In spite of the increased railroad activity, railroad statisticians figure that if they complied with union requests they would be worse off than at any time during the depression. And their present wage charts show that the railroad employees are now earning more than they ever did in the railroads' most prosperous years.

It is hoped that both sides will put their cards on the table and settle the problem in a fair and business-like manner. The railroad unions, made up of a fine group of Americans, should use their present differences as an opportunity to show other branches of industry how labor and management can sit down at a table together and come to an agreement—without strikes, without picketing and without slowing up one iota the part which they are playing in the defense of their jobs, their homes and their country.

Burkburnett History

As revealed by the files of The Star, 10 Years Ago.

Grain receipts have slowed a little the past few days, but up to the present there has been 4213 bushels of oats and 70,005 bushels of wheat marketed in Burkburnett. Yesterday oats were quoted at 18c and wheat at 32c.

There were 10 new cars and 11 new trucks sold in Burkburnett during the month of June, according to announcement of Herman Brown, secretary of the chamber of commerce. This is an increase over the number sold in May.

Ted Cropper, E. H. Hennis, Chas. Grace and T. Guy Willis made a trip to Craterville Park Tuesday and report that everything is in fine shape for the big rodeo to be held there Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Most of these men, as well as several other Burkburnettites, will appear on the program.

In carrying out your Fourth of July plans, it is well to heed the following pertinent suggestions from the National Safety Council: Don't take chances; Don't fool with firearms; Don't celebrate with fireworks; Don't run unnecessary risks in swimming; Don't fail to drive slowly and carefully; Don't fail to look both ways in crossing streets. Just remember that motor vehicle accidents, drownings, and fireworks casualties are always three major causes of accidents over the 4th, and that your chances of getting hurt on America's Independence day are greater than on any other day of the year.

Washington, D. C. NWNS)—As the air clears over the amazing decision of Germany to wage war against Russia, future action of the United States seems to center around two clear-cut policies:

(1) Since the aid which we can give is still unlimited, we will concentrate it in the hands of the British rather than attempt to spread it out to Russia or any other enemy of Hitler;

(2) We will keep a clear division in thought between Russia as the center of communism and Russia as an enemy of Germany. We will permit no slackening of our anticommunist activities—but at the same time will cooperate with Russia in our mutual problem of anti-Hitlerism.

Fully aware of the difficulties of working with Russia, the majority of officials here, nevertheless, feel that it is a major victory to have Russia in on the side of Great Britain. For, ever since the Germans and the Russians reached an agreement two years ago, there have been many who feared that Russia would enter the war on the side of Germany.

Even if Hitler should be able to defeat Stalin, and thus get access to large supplies of oil, wheat and munitions, most analysts here point out that getting these supplies by a difficult and costly war will obviously make Hitler much worse off than if Russia had become an ally and furnished supplies merely for the asking.

Experts on the fighting machines of various nations disagree widely as to the strength of Russian resistance, but it is believed that Hitler may have bitten off more than he can chew in attempting to take on Russia and Great Britain at the same time and on such widely scattered fronts.

Great interest is being shown here in the effect which the Russian development will have on the labor troubles caused by communists in this country. It was common knowledge that communists had orders to slow up our defense production and the big strike at North American Aviation was blamed entirely on the activities of communists. Will they continue to attempt to slow up our defense production under the present changed and badly muddled conditions?

There is little reason to believe that this phase of communism will be continued—and if the communists are ordered to cooperate with our defense production that again will be in the nature of another victory for anti-Hitler forces.

Germany, it is known, already has begun to spread propaganda in this country aimed at breaking up the all-out defense attitude of our people, by pointing out that we now are aiding communism if we fight Germany.

Isolationists in congress also are using this argument as a reason why we should keep out of war. This attitude was clearly expressed by Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York, Republican member of the house committee on foreign affairs who said:

"I do not believe that American mothers want to send their sons to Soviet Russia to fight and die for communism or any foreign dictatorship. I am sure the non-interventionists in America will shed no tears in having the communists in this country lined up with the war-makers."

The majority of congressmen, however, seem to agree that the Russian participation in the war offers an opportunity for Britain to intensify her attacks on Germany and that while Germany is engaged on the Russian front we should rush all possible planes and other available equipment to England to increase her strength immediately.

The Russian development, what it will mean, and what we should do about it has overshadowed all other subjects here, including the attitude of Germany toward the Robin Moor sinking. The feeling on that incident is that we are virtually at war with Germany anyway but whether and when it becomes a fighting war may hinge on Germany's attitude toward such incidents as this. There are still some who think that in spite of President Roosevelt's "ready to fight" front, he will avoid a fighting war until public opinion demands it. Such incidents as the Robin Moor sinking, however, which is considered an invasion of our rights to the freedom of the seas, is known to be the type of thing which arouses public opinion over night.

A large number of senators have just returned from attending the burial services for Sen. Byron Patton Harrison, held in Gulfport, Miss. One of the most esteemed members of the senate, Pat Harrison's death was considered a great blow to this country. He had been a member of congress for 30 years. As chairman of the senate's powerful finance committee, his assistance will be greatly missed in planning the greatest financing job which congress ever has faced.

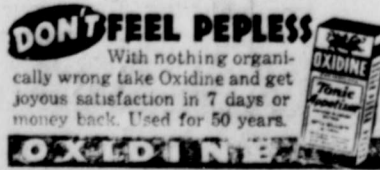

Congressmen also are mourning the death of the members of the crew of the submarine O-9, who were given up for lost when it was found that the submarine lay on the ocean bed 440 feet under water. As soon as possible an investigation will be made to determine the cause of the sinking.

UNRUFFLED

A placid old lady who took life philosophically sat knitting in the drawing room. To her came rushing her fifteen-year-old granddaughter:

"Oh, granny, granny," cried the girl, "father's just fallen off the roof!"

"I know, my child," replied the old lady, without even raising her eyes, "I saw him pass the window."

Applying For A Job By Mail

If you are going to apply for a job by mail, here's an idea you may be able to use. It shows how you may attract attention to yourself and make your job-application letter stand out from the others. I found this in a book entitled "The Strategy of Job Finding."

1. A very large red envelope containing a letter, stated in part, "Just as this letter stands out in your mail, so will my services stand out as profitable investment for your firm."

2. One youth secured an interview by the simple expedient of writing on the application blank after the question on height (in his case 5 feet and 7 inches), "Great oaks from little acorns grow," which was a gentle way of reminding the personnel manager that physical size is not a criterion of ability.

3. Another illustration is that of a woman applying to an advertising agency for a job. On the reverse side of a tape measure she typed a brief personal profile and the reasons why she wanted the job. It was attractively packaged. Her prospective employer naturally was sufficiently interested in the appearance of the box to open it. It is true he may have been somewhat disappointed when he realized it was a job application. As he pulled the tape measure out of its container, the side bearing the measurement was blocked out and he was referred to the other side. As he turned the tape over, the woman's personal profile was disclosed and her reason for wanting a job. The application ended by saying, "I, too am a small package with the same potentialities, however, as this tape measure." She was given an interview.

4. One employment manager describes what another applicant mailed. A package arrived in which there was a test tube full of red ink, with the man's name, address and a few pertinent facts about him neatly written on a card attached, and the legend at the bottom—"If you hire me, you won't need this red ink." The young man did not get an interview. Another used this same device and said, "What you need is 'red blood' in your organization." This stunt also failed because of its presumptuous tone.

Good taste is essential. Employers in banks, public utilities and other conservative companies might consider such stunt approaches as those presented in the preceding paragraphs to be in doubtful taste; they have been mentioned not as models but only as examples.

Red Cross Makes Binders For Britain

Material for 500 scultetus, or many-tailed binders for the use of the British army has been received by the Wichita county Red Cross production corps. It was announced Saturday, and work on them began this week. Scultetus binders are used for holding dressing in place and a special request was received from Great Britain for 100,000 to be made in this country. It is estimated that it will take about an hour to make each binder, as they must be cut out, assembled, and sewed together. A call was issued for many new volunteers, to assist not only in the making of the binders, but also in the making of surgical dressings for the United States Army and knitted and sewed garments for war relief. The Red Cross production room is open from 9 until 4 o'clock, Mondays through Fridays, and is located in the Masonic building, 718 1/2 Tenth St., in Wichita Falls. Miss Grace Hayes of Corpus Christi is visiting in the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jingle Hayes.

"God" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 6. The Golden Text is: "I am the Lord thy God, the Holy One of Israel, thy Savior" (Isaiah 43:3). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name? for thou art holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy judgments are made manifest" (Revelation 15:4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done" (page 202).

Rubber Production Doubled By 1942

It was reported in New York during the week, that the government had made plans for a 30,000 ton annual output of synthetic rubber. This would double the present production capacity. It was estimated that by the end of 1942, plants would reach the 30,000 ton goal, and that the annual output would steadily increase from that time. Jesse Jones of Texas, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, has announced four major rubber companies would construct plants, each capable of housing equipment for 10,000 tons annually, starting at 2,500 tons a year.

Auto Output May Be Again Lowered

Washington, June 28—A greater cut in automobile production than the 20 per cent already demanded by the Office of Production Management was in prospect today, along with the possibility that congress may enact legislation imposing a 15 per cent excise tax on new motor vehicles.

The purpose of the increased tax, according to members of the house ways and means committee, would be two-fold—to bring more money into the treasury and to discourage the buying of pleasure cars.

The 15 per cent tax was said to have been recommended by the treasury, which originally had proposed doubling the present 3 1/2 per cent levy on sales of cars. At 7 per cent, it had been estimated the tax would produce $79,000,000 a year in revenue.

John D. Biggers, OPM production director, said manufacturers of automobiles would meet July 2 to discuss possible production cuts and the dislocation of the industry which might result from it. The OPM's order for a 20 per cent reduction in 1941 models would mean 1,065,000 fewer cars on the highways next year.

Dr. Kiel Returns From OCD Council

Dr. O. B. Kiel of Wichita Falls, who returned last week from the first meeting of the medical advisory committee of the Office of Civilian Defense at Washington, brought back a message to Texans from Mayor LaGuardia of New York City, OCD director.

"You may tell the good people of Texas," Mayor LaGuardia said, "that I greatly appreciate the many offers of cooperation that I have received from Texas. That is one state we have nothing to worry about."

"It is important, of course, that the Gulf of Mexico cities and oil cities near the coast speed up the necessary training so that they may be prepared to help their homes and neighbors, should anything happen."

Dr. Kiel expects to be called back to Washington in about 10 days for another conference with his group, which is working on a uniform plan for the care of civilians and the injured in case of an invasion.

English cities were unprepared for the bombings that came, Dr. Kiel said, despite plans that had been made. The same mistake, he related, might easily be made by the cities of the United States unless a definite program is instituted. The medical advisory committee is concerning itself with all phases of assistance to civilians in case of an emergency: first aid training, extension of voluntary nurses aid program, transportation of civilian casualties, and preservation of such community health factors as good drinking water.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

Writing a "column" is no picnic. If you print jokes, folks say you are silly; if you don't they say you are too serious. If you stay in the office, you ought to be out rustling news; if you get out, you are not attending to business in the office. If you wear old clothes, you are broke; if you wear new clothes, they are not paid for. What in thunder is a poor columnist to do, anyhow? Like as not, someone will say I swiped this from some paper. I did.

The recent reunion of Texas veterans of the Spanish War brings to mind a speech made at such a gathering by eloquent Ralph Yarbrough of Austin:

I am proud to be privileged to meet here today with Americans who marched under Fitzhugh Lee and Fighting Joe Wheeler in Cuba; who conquered Porto Rico under General Nelson Miles; who captured Manila with General Merritt; who charged with Colonel Leonard Wood and Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and their Rough Riders at San Juan Hill; who sailed with Dewey at Manila, and with Schley and Sampson at Santiago; and with Captain Philip on the Battleship Texas when he humely said, "Don't cheer, boys; the poor devils are dying." You served with Lieutenant Rowan, who carried the message to Garcia; and you heard the explosion of torpedoes when Hobson sank the Merrimac. Truly, you remembered the Maine!

No mere Summer patriots or sunshine soldiers could have endured the hardships. You fought with black powder, impure food, antiquated guns and poor equipment. The heaviest death rate an American army has ever had in any war was your sacrifice.

You marched through the streets of cholera-ridden Philippine towns and struggled through yellow fever-infested Cuban swamps more deadly than bullets from Spanish guns, but the abolition of yellow fever and the control of cholera are part of your contribution to American civilization.

You took the oppressor's hand from the "Children of the Sea" and gave them the beneficent protection of the only great nation in the world that lives under a written constitution. When you placed the flag on an island's fortress, you nailed the Bill of Rights in that island's court-house.

By the Oregon's 17,000-mile voyage from San Francisco to Key West through the storm-tossed Strait of Magellan, you dramatized a dream of made the Panama Canal a reality.

Your devotion and bravery gave to this nation Porto Rico, Guam, the Philippines, Hawaii and many smaller islands in many seas. The property value of these islands has been placed at eight billion dollars. But the worth of the property that you won is incalculable in today's world. You gave the American Navy resting places in the two great oceans. Your islands are America's life belt. They protect the Panama Canal; they guard the crossroads of the Pacific. Without these fruits of your victories, Japan would be at our door-step. With your victories, we have Japan on a leash.

You had the vision to secure islands suitable for air bases before the airplane was invented. Had these islands remained Spanish property, they would today be under control of the Axis Powers and would be a Damoclean sword over our national destiny.

You volunteered not only for the struggle but for all time. You never retreated in battle; you will naturally oppose any retreat by the American flag today. Where your valor planted the flag, it must remain. There shall be no Munich of the Monroe doctrine. International free-booters who attempt to plow the Spanish Main with ships of terror and hate will find the spirit of Dewey and Schley and Sampson on guard.

Texas farmers and ranchers receive $18,000,000 a year from the Texas petroleum industry in lease and royalty payments.
