Burkburnett Frozen Food Lockers Open House Saturday

Visitors from Texas and Oklahoma attended the open house Saturday night at the Burk Burnett Frozen Food Locker Plant. Dr. Carl Morrison, of the plant, had invited representatives of southern Oklahoma and Northwest Texas to the house through the columns of the Burk Burnett Star.

Visitors took advantage of the opportunity. The house was held from 7 to 10 p. m.

The 5,000 building was completed in record time, the construction starting early in the year. It has been in operation since the summer.

There has been considerable interest in the lockers since they were first advertised. The lockers are being used by the owners of the lockers and by the general public.

Dr. Morrison, who is in charge of the lockers, said that the lockers are being used by the owners of the lockers and by the general public.

Draft Of 1-B's 3-A's Due Soon

Men Under 46 Who Have Dependents To Be Needed

Boston, Aug. 18.—A spokesman for Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey's national selective service board told the Army and Navy legation of valor reunion Tuesday a general draft of married men under 46 years of age with dependents will come "in the not far distant future."

In an address before the fifty-second annual reunion, Ted Luther, public relations director for the board, said that the Nation's reservoir of 1-A men "was practically exhausted," and that it now would be necessary to obtain soldiers from 1-B and 3-A classes.

"The selective service board is most anxious to avoid breaking up homes and families," he said, "but because of the few men in 1-B classification and the smaller number that can be obtained from among those reaching 20 years of age each month it will be necessary to take those with dependents."

The number of dependents each man had "might influence" the order in which he would be called, Luther added.

Revival Drawing Large Crowds

The meeting at the Church of Christ is continuing with increasing audiences and interest, according to Brother Austin Varner, local minister, and Raymond C. Keely, visiting evangelist.

The meeting, which is being conducted in the open air on the beautiful lawn at the Church of Christ meeting place, is to continue until Sunday evening at which time the final service will be held.

Visitors from many of the surrounding communities are in attendance each night. Bro. Varner reports that there have already been twelve additions to the local congregation and many others are expected before the meeting closes. Bro. Keely spoke at that time the subject, "Why I Am Neither Protestant Nor Catholic," he emphasized the fundamental principles of the New Testament Christianity. The Friday evening sermon will be "The Identity of The Church." The final discourse will be "The Gospel Paul Preached." The Church of Christ invites the people of this community to attend these services. Congregational singing is being conducted by Brother Joe Beaver.

County Budget Plans Cut In Expenditures

Continuation of the 53-cent tax rate per $100 assessed valuation and operating expenses reduced approximately 7 1/2 per cent under figures for 1941 are contained in 1943 budget recommendations for Wichita County.

The proposed budget, prepared by Joe Gowdy, county auditor, under the supervision of County Judge Guy McNeely, was released in mimeograph form Tuesday.

Judge McNeely said the commissioners court sitting as a board of tax equalization Tuesday, week, will discuss the budget figures and set a date for public hearing. The hearing probably will likely be set for Monday, Sept. 21.

Receipts of $530,495 have been estimated from all sources for the coming year for the county, the fiscal year coinciding with the calendar year. This compares with actual receipts of $591,506 for 1941.

DISGRACEFUL CONDUCT

One of the most disgraceful things that can happen to a town that is trying to go forward and keep abreast of things, happened here last Saturday night during a rally for James V. Allred, candidate for United States Senator, when several "die-hard" Republicans and W. Lee O'Daniel supporters heckled the speakers and several volleys of tomatoes were thrown by boys, but did not damage.

We honestly believe that this small-town stuff practiced by a few did more to help Jimmy Allred's cause in Burkburnett than anything else. We heard several O'Daniel supporters say: "If that is the kind of people supporting O'Daniel, we want none of it."

We believe in free speech, free press and the people have the right in this country to vote as they please, and when men like Judge Martin of Wichita Falls, and Bill Darden, who was making his last speech before joining Uncle Sam's fighting forces, talk before a crowd of people they are entitled to the same respect that the Allred supporters would give a speaker for O'Daniel.

Let's hope this kind of "kid-stuff" will not happen again in Burkburnett.

WHY O'DANIEL FIGHTS THE NEWSPAPERS

The following article was taken from the Record-News and is well worth studying:

"Senator O'Daniel's continued attacks on newspapers of Texas are important and significant in one respect: The same tactics have been used for years by every demagog and politician who couldn't defend his record and who wanted the people to overlook what he actually stood for.

"Senator O'Daniel attacks Texas newspapers because he is afraid of them. He is afraid of them not because of the untruths they are printing about him, but because of the TRUTHS they are printing.

"By fighting the newspaper, Senator O'Daniel seeks to cause the people to forget the kind of senator he is, and who he really is helping.

"Senator O'Daniel wants the 'common people' he professes to love to forget that when governor he advocated and fought for a transactions sales tax that would have added 10 to 25 per cent to the price of every pair of overalls, every cotton shirt, every sack of flour, every pair of shoes, every necessity of life purchased by the working people of Texas.

"Senator O'Daniel wants the people to forget, too, that this same tax had been sponsored before by the big real estate dealers, big insurance companies and big non-resident property owners and big oil corporations.

"He wants them to forget that in every campaign, when he needs votes, he professes to be the state's No. 1 admirer of President Roosevelt; but that as soon as he wins the office, he starts out to hamstring the president's program and to aid his enemies.

"Senator O'Daniel wants the people to forget that on the most important defense question before this nation, he stood up with the Republicans and isolationists and Roosevelt-haters and against his own party and his own president, and he voted to disband the army and leave this country helpless before our enemies.

"He wants the people to forget that on another vital matter—the construction of a pipe line from Texas to the eastern seaboard—our junior senator killed this pipeline by his opposition. And because he did, the people and the war industries in the East have insufficient oil, and Texas' oil men and land owners have no markets.

"He wants the people to forget that because this pipe line was not built, scores of sailors burned to death and our oil was poured out by the millions of barrels on the ocean waters as a result of submarine attacks.

"He wants the people to forget that by killing the pipe line he didn't help the common people or our fighting men, but he did protect the investment of the Standard Oil Company in its oil tankers. He wants the people to overlook that this is the same Standard Oil crowd that Jimmy Allred sued for millions of dollars, the same bunch that agreed with Hitler to keep secret a process of making rubber.

"Senator O'Daniel wants the people to forget that somebody is paying approximately $1,500 a day, or $10,000 a week to keep Senator O'Daniel on the radio; and that somebody with big money wants to keep Senator O'Daniel in Washington.

"These are just a few of the more important things that Senator O'Daniel wants the people to forget. There are others that will occur to any reader if he stops and thinks for a minute.

"And since the senator himself has raised the question, we hand it back to him:

"Who bought who in Texas? Who is the Charlie McCarthy of the big corporations in Texas?"

Auto License Tags To Be Small Next Year

Austin, Aug. 17.—Small automobile license tags—one by four inches—will be used in Texas next year.

The highway department announced the tags will be bolted to 1942 standard license plates.

Despite their size, a restriction ordered by the War Production Board because of steel shortages, they will not be cheaper unless the legislature revises automobile registration fees.

Forty tons of steel will be used in their manufacture whereas 800 tons normally are consumed in making the standard license plates.

Former Boy To Enter Naval Aviation Training

Russell Earl Clements, son of C. R. Clements of Burkburnett, Texas, has been selected for training as a Naval Aviation cadet and will be ordered to active duty shortly.

He is a graduate of Burkburnett, Texas, High School, Class of 1940, and is attending Cameron State Agricultural College, at Lawton, Okla. He holds letters in football, for two years in high school, and two years in college, playing end position. He earned his letter as forward for four years in high school basketball.

When ordered to active duty, he will report to the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School, University of Georgia, Athens, Ga., for three months of physical conditioning, instruction in naval essentials, military drill and ground subjects. After completing this course, he will be sent to one of the Navy's numerous reserve bases for primary flight training.

Ford Albritton Happily Surprised

Ford Albritton, candidate for County Clerk, was in the city Monday and called on the Star force. Funeral For Burned Victim To Be Held Randlett, Friday

M. H. Burton, 45, employed by the Jeffers Casing Pullers Co., was fatally burned last Monday night while taking a bath in gasoline.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 from the Randlett Baptist church, with S. B. Hughes (pastor, conducting the services. Interment in the Randlett cemetery.

He is survived by his wife and four children, mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Burton, and three brothers and one sister.

Mr. Burton had just returned from work and was using gasoline to remove the oil and grease from his body when the fumes from the gasoline was ignited from the stove.

The volunteer fire department answered the alarm and the rescue squad of the company rendered first-aid until the arrival of a doctor.

The men taking part in the first-aid work were Buck Buckner, Norman Brittain, Lynn Kincaid and Harry Elliott.

Young Registrants To Be Classified

Austin, Aug. 12.—Immediate classification of selective service registrants who have reached their 20th birthday was ordered today.

Adjutant General J. Watt Page, state selective service director, said the classification would affect men who registered last June 30, provided they have become 20.

The June 30 registration was for those between the ages of 18 and 20, inclusive, and in Texas affected approximately 132,000 men.

General Page added no national lottery was or will be held for the 18-20 year age groups and order numbers have been assigned on the basis of birth dates. (Alphabetically as to registrants born on the same date.)

Registrants who have not reached their 20th birthday will not be mailed questionnaires until they become 20. Then they will be classified in accordance with current regulations and policies for filling calls.

Bill For Immediate Allotment Pay Passed

Washington, Aug. 17.—The senate today approved on a voice vote a bill permitting living allowances due the dependents of service men to be paid as soon as the necessary bookkeeping can be completed. It wipes out a provision in the original allotment bill which barred any payments until after Nov. 1. The measure now goes to the White House.

Whether the bill actually will speed the payment of sums accumulated since the law went into effect June 1 was a matter of conjecture. War department officials told the senate military committee that it was impossible to make all the necessary computations and write the checks before Nov. 1.

Numerous lawmakers have declared their mail is heavy with requests for relief of hardship cases.

Most of the serious slips occur after the cup has been to the lip.

Quarterback Club To Reorganize Monday Evening

Members of the Burkburnett Booster club and all friends of the school are invited to attend a meeting at the Town Hall Monday afternoon at 1:30 when new officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

The Booster club was organized last year by J. K. Mathews and has proven a success in every sense of the word. The club gave a free barbecue last year and it was attended by approximately five hundred fans and the football players. The club also furnished transportation for the boys and purchased uniforms for the Juniors. Helped pay for the accident insurance policy. Served the boys with two steak dinners and was instrumental in seeing that every football player attended all the state play-off games. They also sponsored the school carnival with the help of the Band Mothers club, and sponsored the Boom-Town Bowl game. And all this was accomplished with only one drive for financial help.

At the meeting Monday afternoon plans will be made for the free barbecue to be held at the City Light Plant Friday night and all Booster club members, friends of the school and all boys interested in playing football are invited to be present.

Attend this meeting Monday afternoon and let's put the Booster club over for another year.

Nurse's Aide Class To Open Aug. 24

Mrs. Henry B. Claggett, wife of Sheppard Field's commanding officer, is the first volunteer to register for the third class of volunteer nurses' aides in Wichita county, sponsored by the Wichita county Red Cross chapter, Mrs. L. R. Stringer, chairman of the nurses' aide committee, announced Saturday.

Mrs. Claggett was active in Red Cross work in other cities before coming to Wichita County, and on arriving here immediately signified her intention of volunteering for defense work.

The nurses' aide class will begin Aug. 24 and tentative plans call for a daytime class. Registrants will be interviewed by Mrs. F. M. Rugley, who is instructor of the class, and a member of the nurses' aide committee, Aug. 20 and 21.

The objective of the Nurses' Aide Corps is to provide auxiliary care for the sick in order to relieve nurses from their more technical duties. The national Office of Civilian Defense has asked for 100,000 trained nurses' aides to relieve the shortage of nurses in civilian hospitals. Mrs. Stringer pointed out. Approximately 32,000 volunteers have been trained to date.

The nurses' aide course consists of 34 hours of lectures and 45 hours of practical hospital training. Volunteers must be between the ages of 18 and 50 year, hold American citizenship, be willing to take hospital training and discipline, have an aptitude for nursing, be on call in case of emergency, and give a minimum of 150 hours of service yearly.

Burk Man and Soldier Suffer Head Gashes

A 30-year-old Burkburnett man received hospital treatment early Monday morning for minor head gashes and later was placed in city jail for investigation.

The man was found unconscious in a parked automobile in the 700 block on Adams about 3:15 o'clock. A soldier lay on the ground near the car, a gash over one eye. He also received treatment.

Election Of Davis Pleasing to Patrons And Children

Ralph Davis, who was recently elected principal of the High School has been elected Superintendent of the Burkburnett schools to succeed C. J. Duncan, who resigned to accept a position with the Hardin Junior college in Wichita Falls.

Mr. Davis came to Burkburnett in May, 1939, as principal of the Hardin Grade school; and has made an enviable record as an administrator of education. He was connected with the Clara school district for six years three years of which he served as superintendent. He holds a B. A. degree from Austin college in 1932, and received his M. A. degree in 1938. He majored in social science and also held a state administrators certificate.

Duncan To Hardin

Duncan will begin his teaching duties at Hardin at the beginning of the 1942-43 term, Dr. James B. Boren, college president, announced. He will replace H. A. Dennis, who resigned recently to assume a position in Central Missouri State Teachers College.

Duncan has been active in school and civic affairs of this vicinity many years. He has a bachelor of science degree with a major in mathematics and a major in physics and has a masters degree with the same majors.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan and their two children will establish residence in Wichita Falls immediately.

Young Boy Hero Of Recent Fire

Mike Hrazdil Jr., 8-year-old son of Mike Hrazdil, proved to be cool-headed and capable in an emergency, and was credited by members of the volunteer fire department of saving his home and contents from fire last week.

Several ladies from Burkburnett were out at the Hrazdil home preparing some peaches for canning when the juice from the peaches boiled over into the stove and caught fire. Young Mike, who was in the kitchen at the time, grabbed a pair of pliers and opened the pipe to the stove and succeeded in draining out the kerosene, while the stove was still ablaze. He moved the stove to the center of the room and had the fire under control when the fire department arrived.

Sabotage vs. Democracy

This is a just country that protects by fair trial but the recent case of the Nazi saboteurs before the supreme court appealing for the protection of the civil courts strikes us somewhat un-American by the fact that we wish we didn't have to waste time by even questioning them the fact of a fair trial. And then to think that they strongly contended they were "not saboteurs at all—just refugees fleeing the oppressions of Nazism." Only here in America could they have the nerve or even the privilege of brazenly trying to excuse themselves. "They just wanted to bury the explosives they brought with them—" and to think we have had to consider them a fair trial! One commentator put it very aptly when he recently said, "You can get a fair trial here no matter how big a heel you are." But this is America and protection is guaranteed by the Constitution and Bill of Rights but the press and public opinion also have guaranteed rights and the saboteurs might well wish for the "firing squad" as the wrath of patriotic democratic citizens.

But the complications of our governmental structure are somewhat confusing—President Roosevelt's war powers were challenged since he had suspended the civil rights of such saboteurs and on the other hand we have a Constitution that declares, "the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it." The enemies they must be denied liberties of loyal citizens—so why waste even time again with saboteurs when a trial by military commission is fair to their lot.

Evidently we have had the work of sabotage in our nation for a number of years and any leniency toward such acts cannot be justifiable, but our principles are founded upon justice and humility for all humanity and perhaps one human being deserves the fairness of any other. However, we are contending with absolute evil forces and ruthlessness and our democracy cannot be too well protected—perhaps this should have been thought of long ago—nevertheless we now recognize sabotage and its eradication is immediately necessary. The "plea of saboteurs"—of any barbarous undermining and their denial of civil tribunal is just—to protect the constitution that protects all civil liberties.

Wartime Criticism

"What is fair criticism in wartime? Are we drifting into an attitude foreign to democracy or are we completely fair in exercising privileges of freedom? Perhaps it is true that we are cynical and too personally concerned to fairly accept situations present today. "Freedom of opinion implies of course, freedom to criticize," and this is both the essence of democracy and also the root of unfairness. The line of division is up to the wise vision and understanding of educated peoples of democracies. Whether they accept the challenge and use their criticism wisely is yet to be determined.

Thomas Jefferson stated that: "The liberty of speaking and writing guards our other liberties," and this concisely is the strength of any democracy, but on the other hand unless our speaking and writing is justifiable our liberties are in danger of eventually being destroyed. Perhaps we should be a little more careful of our "witty" criticisms for fear we lose our concept of a true democracy. Perhaps we should not "air" too freely our views especially in such critical times. Perhaps we should quote and learn the words of John Milton, "Give me liberty to know, to utter, and to argue freely according to conscience, above all liberties." Democracy demands and needs protection, for today and every day its meaning and very essence is being challenged.

The Power In Yourself

There is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better or worse as his portion; that though the wide universe is full of good, no kernel or nourishing corn can come to him but through his toil bestowed on that plot of ground which is given him to till. The power which resides in him is new in nature, and none but he knows what that is which he can do, nor does he know until he has tried.

To let a man know that you believe in him is often to awaken in his conscience a decent instinct, even though he may have slipped so far down the social ladder as to regard truth and honor as mere figures of speech.

A Florida newspaperman ran a contest offering a prize for the best answer to "Why is a woman like a newspaper?" The prize answer is: "Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's."

The best way to be satisfied with your lot is to build a home on it.

Burk Burnett . . . History

As revealed by the files of The Star 10 and 20 years ago.

The Burk Burnett Star is sponsoring a contest in which a new car is to be given away. It is reported as going fine and all of the workers are trying very hard to outsell the others.

Announcement has just been made that the local schools will open on that date. Notice has been sent to all teachers to report for duty on Saturday, Sept. 10th, at which time plans for enrollment will be completed.

The first bale of cotton grown in this vicinity this season was ginned last Friday by the Farmers Co-Operative Gin. It was grown by R. E. Riddle, who resided on the Hardin place at the edge of town just north of the Wichita pavement. The bale weighed 409 pounds. Mr. Riddle has not sold the cotton yet. He was given a cash premium of $12.50 by the Chamber of Commerce. The first farmer from Oklahoma ginning a bale here will receive a like amount from the Chamber of Commerce. The Oklahoma bale would have been in before now had it not been for the rain interfering with gathering it.

The Cemetery Association reports that much good work has been accomplished toward cleaning the cemetery during the past two days. Today is the last day for this purpose and they urgently request that everybody show up at the cemetery this afternoon at 5 o'clock with a rake or hoe and assist in completing this work.

Mrs. Alibert Coles of this city gave her mother Mrs. John Simmonds of Olney a surprise birthday party Sunday August 7th.

She had written her mother to come after her and she would return and spend the day with her, and upon her arrival at her daughter's home she was met at the gate by all the children and was ushered into the house where a delightful dinner was served. She was later presented with some lovely presents and had her picture taken.

20 Years Ago

Reid and Castley of Wichita Falls were awarded the contract Thursday for building the Burk Burnett High School. The structure is to cost $101,850. Hoffman & Co., also of Wichita Falls got the plumbing contract for $5,512, while the heating contract went to Kermison Brothers of Dallas for $10,000. The plans for the new building were drawn by Volecker & Dixon of Wichita Falls and Page Bros. of Austin.

Charlie Beldon and Miss Ruth Barrows both of this city were united in marriage by the Rev. Dr. Powers at the Baptist parsonage in Wichita Falls Saturday evening at 9 o'clock. The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. Burrows, parents of the bride and quite a number of young friends. They left on a short wedding trip to Fort Worth, Dallas, and McKinney, after which they will make their home here.

I Give You Texas

By Boyce House

A great pile of newspapers stacked up while my campaign was going on. After that was over, I delved into the stack and the last one of all had been mailed to me by my aunt in Memphis, Tennessee—and when I ripped the wrapper off, there was the news that Judge A. B. Pittman had died.

Now perhaps none of the readers of this column ever heard of Judge Pittman but, because he was my friend, I hope you won't mind my writing something by way of tribute; and because he was unique, I hope further that you will find these words of interest.

Judge Pittman was, perhaps more than anyone else, responsible for my becoming a newspaperman and so, if there were no other reason than this, I would always cherish his memory.

But this is to be about the Judge himself.

Judge Pittman presided over what would be, in Texas, the civil district court.

He was not a handsome man, except in the way that Abraham Lincoln was handsome—rough-hewn features that readily lighted with a smile, and kindly, gray eyes.

The Judge was a man of wide reading and of wider study of men. His sympathies were with the poor, the under-privileged, the voiceless.

He was unorthodox in his conduct of the court. You might go in and there would be a witness on the stand, and questions and answers would be in progress and there would be a jury in the box—but no one on the bench. A lawyer would arise—Judge Pittman always insisted that a lawyer must rise when he addressed the court—and say, "Your honor, I object."

A man standing over by the window, gazing out on the street, would say, "Objection overruled," and the trial would go on.

Judge Pittman insisted on punctuality on the part of attorneys, jurors and witnesses. He imposed a fine of $1 for each minute that anyone was late.

One day, the Judge entered the

Vitamin Rich Tomato Juice is High Hearted Start on Day

Dorothy Greig

First thing in the morning, a glassful of vitamin rich tomato juice for breakfast.

WHAT a cheery stirrer-up of morning energies tomato juice is! The gay red color of it, for one thing. The zestful tang of its fresh tomato flavor, for another. And most of all for its rich vitamin content. For tomato juice boasts generous amounts of vitamins A and B and really stars with vitamin C. So don't be stingy with the morning tomato juice. Keep cans in the refrigerator overnight to chill it well. Then pour a tall glassful for every member of the family thereby insuring the day's quota of precious vitamin C for each and every one. Down through the day, too, tomato juice is a cool refresher and reviver. For a between-meal snack try it this way:
Tomato Juice-Buttermilk Cocktail
1 pint buttermilk
1 can (14 oz.) tomato juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
Four the tomato juice into the buttermilk; then add salt and celery salt and chill thoroughly. Sprinkle each serving with celery salt. Makes approximately 1 quart.
And for late afternoon, or for dinner, it's delicious fixed like this:
Spiced Tomato-Ade
2 cups tomato juice
1 lemon, sliced
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 whole cloves
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Combine tomato juice, sliced lemon, sugar, salt, ground cinnamon and cloves and heat slowly to boiling. Let stand ten minutes, then strain and chill. Add the lemon juice just before serving. Makes 26 ounces.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Mind" is subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 23. The Golden Text is "God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." (II Timothy 1:7) Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out" (Romans 11:33). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The basis of all health, sinlessness, and immortality is the great fact that God is the only Mind; and this Mind must be not merely believed, but it must be understood" (page 339).

SPECIAL "55"

Midvale, Utah—The numeral "55" has special significance to Miss Honore Stag, well known Midvalian. This number just seems to have an affinity for the lady. Miss Stag resides at 55 Smelter street, her telephone number is "Midvale 55" and the family plot in the Midvale cemetery is No. 55. But to make the story complete, Miss Stag paid her annual dog license tax last week, and lo, and behold, the city collector handed her a dog tag, marked No. 55, for her pooch.

Community Freezer Locker Plants

Supervisor, Specialists' Work Extension Service, Texas A. and M.

Community freezer locker plants will ultimately mean as much to the housewife as the tin can, in food preparation and consumption. Freezer lockers are making it possible to have practically a fresh fruit, vegetable or meat at any time of the year. For example, the strawberry season is relatively short, but now we can eat strawberries that are almost like fresh at Christmas time, yet they were ripe in May. Broiler chickens or even ideal fryers were ready to be killed in June, yet only those that could be used immediately dared be killed because only proper refrigeration will keep them longer than a week or two. Now, just what is this freezer locker plant? In short, it is a safety deposit box very much like a safety deposit box in a bank. The major difference is that it is very much bigger—about six cubic feet, which will hold from 200 to 250 pounds of frozen meat or large quantities of fruits and vegetables. The other difference is that this box is kept in a refrigerated room that is held at about zero degrees Fahrenheit. The idea first originated in the Pacific Northwest. I have been advised that freezing storage started in the state of Washington as early as 1903. Not until recent years has the idea really become popular. Now it has spread into every state in the union, with Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois and Wisconsin probably having the most plants today. Texas has approximately 160 plants operating or under construction that will be operating before January 1, 1943. Present plants are located in the smaller cities and towns, quite uniformly distributed over the state. The question is often asked, "Just who uses such plant service?" Both farm people and town people can affect a saving in food costs if the town people can raise their own fruits, vegetables and some of their meats. Take for example: a person bought a good beef that had been developed a few months or until it developed a nice thickness of fat. If this calf weighed 300 pounds dressed, much of the beef would have to be preserved in some way or sold as only a small portion could be used fresh. In a general rule, in the past it was canned. Canned meat is good, yet it is not as good as the fresh product. Freezing meat as it is done in freezer locker plants produces a product that is almost equal to fresh. This is also true of fruits and vegetables. To better understand how a plant operates, let us follow a beef through a freezer locker plant. Let us assume a person has a good fat beef ready to kill. He may kill it himself or, as a general rule, the plant has arrangements where the beef can be killed at a nominal cost. In some instances, the beef is killed for the hide. It is then taken to the plant to be held in a room to ripen. This room is maintained at a temperature of 34 to 38 degrees Fahrenheit. By holding a beef from four to nine days, it goes through a ripening process that really makes a more tender and tasteful piece of meat. After it has properly aged and it is moved to the processing room where experienced butchers cut it into steaks, roasts boiling pieces, and grind that part that should be so used. After it is cut each piece is wrapped in packages of sizes suitable to that particular family's needs. Special moisture-proof paper is used so that loss of moisture is reduced to a minimum. This is one factor that helps keep a more fresh meat quality should it be stored as long as six to eight months or even longer. So that a patron may take from his box the kind of piece desired, the name of the cut is stamped on the wrapper—the patron's locker box number and the date it was cut. When the meat is wrapped it is put in a freezer room operated at about 10 degrees below zero. The reason for such a low temperature is that the food is frozen so rapidly that the ice particles formed are very small and do not cause the cell walls to be broken. Should they break, loss of juices is very much greater and the natural flavors lost. After the meat is frozen solid, it is transferred to the locker box. These boxes are kept in a room held at a uniform temperature of around zero. Experiments indicate that zero is the most ideal temperature for all kinds of foods to be held. The question often asked is: "how long can we keep meat in our box?" That really depends on how good a quality food you start with, and several other things. But let's assume one had the best quality meat, fruit or vegetables, and the product was prepared properly for the freezer and that the best paper or container was used and, of course, the plant was operated properly. Then beef might be kept 9 months or even a little longer, pork possibly six months, lamb 9 months and poultry about the same as beef or lamb. Fruit and vegetables have been held as long as 12 months.

Save On Your Food
Buy a whole side of beef—it's the cheapest way. And protect it in our cold storage lockers. Our "custom butchers" serve you.
BURK FROZEN FOOD LOCKER
To make a freezer locker plant a profitable enterprise it must be used to its maximum or in other words, every box must be rented. To be a profitable investment for a patron it also must be used. The box should be filled with food bought when it is cheap and then used when it is expensive.

Funeral services for Mr. W. W. Arrington, 45 years old, Burk Burnett resident who died Thursday night, Aug. 13, in the Air Corps Hospital, Randolph Field, Texas, were held Sunday afternoon in the Owens & Brumley chapel with Rev. Boyd I. DeVore, pastor of the First Methodist church officiating.

Mr. Arrington was born in Waxahachie, Texas in 1896 and lived there until 1922, when he moved to Burk Burnett. He has resided here ever since that time. Engaged in the oil business he was an employee of the Bell Oil and Gas Co., of this city.

Taken ill, he was moved to the Wichita Falls General hospital on July 6, and on July 31, showing some signs of improvement he was taken by his son to Randolph Field, Texas, on Monday, Aug. 3rd, while at the quarters of his son, Tech. Sgt. Durwood Arrington, his condition seemed to take a turn for the worse and he was ordered to be confined to the Station Hospital in Randolph Field. He was comforted in his last days by Chaplains Goodley and Ryan of Randolph Field.

Pallbearers were B. F. Gilchrist, Ace Aulds, Dale Cropper, Cecil Todd, Leo Dudley and Carlton Royce. The interment was in the Burk Burnett Cemetery under the direction of Owens & Brumley Funeral Home.

He is survived by a widow and four children, Durwood of Randolph Field, Juanita, Bobby and Billy of Burk Burnett, his father, W. L. Arrington of this city, three sisters and one brother.

Sheppard Field To Aid Scrap Drive

Army trucks and Sheppard Field soldiers Wednesday had been made available for the collection of scrap metal in the vicinity of Burk Burnett.

The huge army post, it was announced will be the center of a special service area for the collection of the vital scrap in a sector bounded on the north by Red River, east by Ringgold, west by Electra and south by Henrietta.

Men and trucks will be dispatched in that area to collect scrap metal whenever piles have been assembled weighing five tons or more, and bring it to the military reservation.

The plan has been authorized by the war department and is nation-wide in scope.

A salvage office has been established at the field with an officer in charge who can be reached through the Sheppard Field telephone exchange by asking for station 635.

The United States Army is aiding an all-out effort for scrap metal collection by establishment of the special service areas and facilities have already been set up throughout the country as at Sheppard Field.

The scrap collected by the army will be turned over to the War Production Board for distribution.

Wichita's Quota For Navy Is 68 Men

In the U. S. Navy's campaign to enlist at least 6,000 men during the months of August and September, in which campaign Wichita county has been assigned a quota of 68 men, 24 men have been enlisted from this county, Lieut. L. H. Ridout Jr., officer in charge of the North Texas recruiting district, announced today.

"Many counties are reaching their quotas, but the report from this county is far from encouraging," said Lieut. Ridout. He was confident, however, that the various civic groups and committees aiding in this tremendous drive for recruits would redouble their efforts to aid in procuring men for naval service.

He was also confident that the quota of 6,000 men from the North Texas district would be reached and expressed his thanks to all persons and organizations actively engaged in this campaign.

Members of the local voluntary navy committee aiding in the campaign are Geo. Byerly, Fred Brookman, W. W. Chambers and Roy Magers.

PREPARING MEAT FOR LOCKER

Frozen meat or frozen meat thawed is cooked exactly as fresh meat. Frozen meat requires a longer cooking time than thawed meat—time for thawing as well as cooking in the center of the meat may remain uncooked, cold or raw.

Experiment work shows very little difference in meat thawed at room temperatures, at refrigerator temperature, and at oven temperature. So any of these thawing methods may be used.

Time for thawing varies with the kind of meat—roast beef or steak thaw in two hours at room temperature, or in one-half day at refrigerator temperature; pork loin roast takes from two to two and a half hours room temperature; pork sausage two and a half to three hours.

Free Training For Men and Women For War Industry Jobs

Free training is now available for both men and women wishing to prepare for war industry jobs at good wages, according to Donald W. Hawkins, manager of the Wichita Falls office of the United States Employment Service. He urged that all interested people wanting to enter War Industry training schools contact him as soon as possible, since there are many openings in the schools which must be filled at once.

The training courses offered in these schools which are operated jointly by the state and federal governments in cooperation with the public schools are designed to prepare workers for jobs in aircraft, shipbuilding, munitions, and other essential war industries in which there is an extremely heavy demand for workers of certain types. Thousands of graduates from these free schools already have found good-paying jobs in these industries through the United States Employment Service. It is almost impossible to obtain such jobs without training.

Machine Shop, Aircraft Engine Mechanic, Aircraft Sheet Metal (including Riveting), Drafting and Inspection are the courses offered. The training is open to men between the ages of 18 and 65 years, and to women between the ages of 18 and 45. There is an increasingly good market with war plants for women workers, many thousands of whom will be hired in Texas plants during the next few months.

Mr. Hawkins stressed the fact that the training is entirely free; that the only cost to a trainee is—he must support himself while in school. Even his can be avoided in the case of many younger trainees, who may be assigned to National Youth Administration war work centers where they will be boarded and paid a small wage while training.

The training period runs from three to ten weeks, according to the subject and the rapidly with which each trainee can learn. The schools are operated on a 24-

Cold Storage Locker Is Bank For Food

The Cold Storage locker plant is a bank for food—just as a person places his money in the bank for safe-keeping, so a customer expects and is entitled to get the same protection for his food.

The Burk Burnett Frozen Food Locker is unquestionably one of the most modern cold storage plants of its kind, and its organization in an effort for efficiency and realizing its responsibility to the patrons, has employed a manager who is responsible for his service rendered.

Like a bank building, a locker plant must be constructed to protect valuables deposited in it. Thus the Burk Burnett Frozen Food Lockers is completely equipped for the processing and handling of meats, fruits, and vegetables; it is equipped with an efficient sharp freezer which freezes produce at the proper temperature; good refrigerating equipment that will carry the loads imposed upon it; and it has sufficient insulation in the cold rooms to simplify temperature control and reduce power bills; in addition to sturdy, easily cleaned lockers in which to store the food. The manager of the plant is a food banker, and with the physical plant, he is ready to serve the people of the vicinity assuring them the same safe protection for their foods as their money in the bank.

JUNK needed for War

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools...

It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined.

But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased, the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin.

America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help? First—collect all your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased, the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced.

JUNK MAKES FIGHTING WEAPONS

- One old radiator will provide scrap steel needed for seventeen .30 calibre rifles.
- One old lawn mower will help make six 3-inch shells.
- One useless old tire will provide as much rubber as is used in 12 gas masks.
- One old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades.

MATERIALS NEEDED

Scrap iron and steel.
Other metals of all kinds.
Rags, Manila rope, burlap bags.
Waste Cooking Fats—Strain into a large tin can and when you get a pound or more, sell to your meat dealer.

NEEDED ONLY IN CERTAIN LOCALITIES: Waste paper and tin cans, as announced locally. NOT NEEDED at this time: Razor blades—glass.

U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for August

D. C., August 7.—While maintaining a total level of twelve billion dollars as the Treasury Department today fixed the quota for the sale of War Bonds at $119,000,000, the accompanying map by states, the quota from a billion dollars in August, the Treasury has given certain factors which may be expected in sales over the 12-month period, the seasonal character of farm income, $17,000,000.

These factors have been taken into account in determining each state's share for the national quota for August and will be given consideration in fixing quotas for subsequent months.

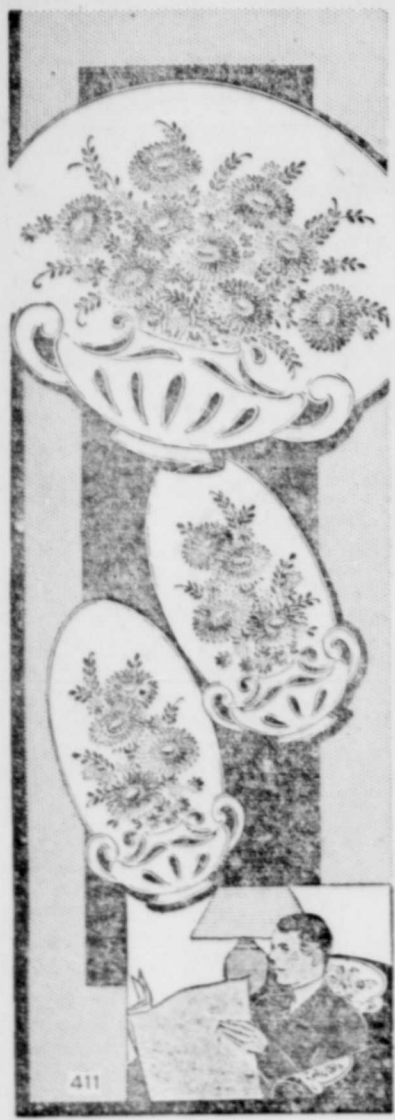

In addition to the state quotas as set out in the map there is a federal payroll allotment quota of $8,750,000 and territorial quotas as follows: Alaska, $750,000; Canal Zone, $213,000; Hawaii, $4,500,000; Puerto Rico, $440,000, and the Virgin Islands, $17,000.

A hearty breakfast is in order so that the system can get started on its day's routine in the proper form. No matter whether it's for the head of the family going off to the defense plant, daughter on her way to the nurses' aid class, mother or the youngsters, no one should skip blithely over this meal of the day.

For years doctors and dieticians have looked askance at those who passed up a real up-and-at-them breakfast because it doesn't give the body a chance to start functioning early in the day. If you're fat, you need fruit-egg-toast-and-beverage breakfasts to start your metabolism working at top speed to start tearing down of excess tissues. If you're thin, then you need just as much of a breakfast with a few more trimmings, to start building yourself. If you're normal, you still need the hearty breakfast so you can maintain your health and give your body its daily nutritional requirements. And one of the best recommendations for a real breakfast is the good way it starts you on your day's work. None of that drowsy, it's-hard-to-wake-up-in-the-morning feeling. No, Ma'am!

Hardest thing about breakfasts is that it's easy to get into a rut by serving the same foods morning after morning. This is rather strange, considering how much time and effort is spent on getting variety into the other two-squares a day. Well, why not variety in breakfast? You can have this variety in fruit. Yes, I know you like juice pretty well, but you'll get out of the morning doldrums quickly enough if you punctuate the breakfast with favorite fruits-in-season, other fruit juices and some of those canned fruits you put up during the summer months. Toast? If you insist on toast, try using whole wheat, rye, raisin, cracked wheat, etc. Naturally, the bread should be enriched so you'll get the most out of toast. And then there are all sorts of hot breads that will send the family cheering off to work—blueberry muffins, pecan rolls, muffins, and flapjacks!

Eggs in all manner of ways are a good standby. Poached, fried, coddled, baked, scrambled, a la golden-rod, or combined with ham, sizzlin'!

Lynn Says: Tips for Breakfast Fruits: You're going to be a little short on sugar so do the most with what you have. A little salt in cooked fruit or sprinkled on such things as melons brings out true fruit flavor, requires less sugar. Lemon or lime juice with melon enhances the natural sweetness. Try it. Orange juice, chilled before the fruit is squeezed, is an excellent pep-you-up. Let the sugar stand on grapefruit a while (while the coffee percolates) and the sugar will melt and go further. Try eating fruit or juice first, but saving half to finish off your breakfast—it will leave a fresh taste in your mouth.

Fruit stewed should have sugar added after it is stewed, with a pinch of salt. You won't need as much sweetening, this way. Cook dried fruits with a slice of lemon or orange. These citrus fruits have an affinity with dried apricots, peaches, prunes and apples.

Breakfast Time (continued) sausage or crisp brown bacon—there you have a week's ideas. The Cereals. At least one serving of cereals is the nutrition requirement for the day. This is most easily served at breakfast, with cream and sugar and perhaps a few slices of fresh fruit or berries. Ready-prepared cereals are delightful, especially in the warmer weather—they're crisp, light, and nutritious. Recently some of the prepared cereals have been scientifically restored so they have all the whole-grain richness and nutritive value in them.

Light as down flapjacks are a welcome sight at breakfast! Try these: •Feather Fluff Griddle Cakes. (Makes about 18 cakes) 2 eggs, well beaten 2 cups rich sour milk or buttermilk 1 1/2 cups white flour 1/2 cup prepared pancake flour 1 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon baking powder Have all ingredients at room temperature. Sift dry ingredients thoroughly. Add milk to eggs. Gradually stir in dry ingredients. Stir just enough to make a smooth batter. Cook on ungreased griddle. Try out one cake and if batter is too thick, add a little more milk. Fried eggs are good to serve with these griddle cakes. Fry them thus: Slip eggs into a scant 1/2 inch layer of moderately hot fat. Cook at moderate heat, dipping fat over eggs to cook to desired doneness. Turn, if desired. Serve at once on warmed platter. Sunday Breakfast. Place sausage links in a frying pan, add a small amount of water. Do not prick the skins. Cover and let steam 5 minutes, then drain. Cook over slow heat, add 3 tablespoons of peach juice to 8 sausages and let brown. Serve with poached eggs on top of toasted English muffins. Re: currant jelly or golden peach jam makes a delectable dish. If you've never tried old-fashioned scrapple, you have a real treat a-comin' to you: Pork Sausage Scrapple. (Serves 6 to 8) 2 cups cornmeal 4 cups boiling, salted water 1 pound sausage, in bulk Cook cornmeal in rapidly boiling salted water, and add sausage to mixture. Blend thoroughly. Rinse a loaf pan with cold water and pack in hot scrapple. Let stand in ice-box overnight, covered with waxed paper. Dip in beaten egg and fry until golden brown. Serve with spiced applesauce, cranberry sauce or maple syrup. A variation of the ham 'n' eggs theme is this: Frivolettes With Ham. (Serves 6) 6 hard-cooked eggs, remove yolks 4 tablespoons grated cheese 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce Salt and pepper Melted butter Mash yolks and mix with cheese, butter, seasonings. Refill whites. Press together. Pour a rich cream sauce over them and sprinkle buttered crumbs over them. Brown a few minutes in a hot oven. Serve on browned circles of ham. HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Knitted garments should be flat to dry, shaped to fit and drawn before the garment is washed. Put a small piece of yarn or thread so it can be pulled through the eye of a needle with less difficulty. Don't twist, bend or call cord attached to electric iron. It is not a two bundles of wires. A few drops of ammonia water will clean dishes and roasting pans. Wash beans before cooking. Then they can be cooked in the water in which they were soaked, with a small amount of salt. Peroxide will remove stains from linen. Keep a blotting pad to protect dressing table top when perfume is spilled.

All wild meat should be cleaned of blood. As meat is cooked with the meat improves.

JACOB'S VISION OF GOD

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 28:10-22. GOLDEN TEXT—I am with thee, and will keep thee in all places whithersoever thou goest.—Genesis 28:15.

Deception, trickery, falsehood, jealousy were all present in the family of Isaac at the time of our lesson. A hopeless situation, one would say; and so it was, apart from one thing—the grace of God. We speak that phrase so easily, but in reality it has an infinite depth of meaning.

Jacob shared the deception planned by his mother, and thereby he received the blessing of Esau. Not willing to wait God's time for the carrying out of His purpose, they sinned to gain an advantage. Then to escape the wrath of Esau, he had to flee. The journey was ostensibly to find a wife, but in fact a flight from an enraged brother. Could such a journey bring a man to a place of blessing? It did, as there was—

I. A Revelation of God's Grace (vv. 10-15).

The fugitive was overtaken by darkness on the second night of his journey, and made his bed in the open. Then came the magnificent vision of the ladder to heaven.

Heaven and earth are not separated. There is a way to reach the throne of God, and there is a way for God to reach and bless His people. The vision of the ladder thus reassured Jacob. We need only remember the God-Man Christ Jesus, who came from glory and has returned there to now appear as our Advocate, to be assured of this fact.

God renewed to Jacob the covenant with Abraham and with Isaac. He does not forget. Men make treaties only to break them. God says, "I will not leave thee, until I have done that which I have spoken to thee of" (v. 15).

In His matchless grace God relieved Jacob's fear by assuring him of His protection; his loneliness by His divine presence; and his uncertainty regarding the future by the promise of blessing.

II. A Realization of God's Greatness (vv. 16-19).

Full of holy fear and of awe, Jacob realized the presence of the infinite God. It is a proper and a wholesome reaction when a man, realizing himself to be in God's presence, is overcome by the awe-inspiring experience.

Possibly the reason for our lack of reverence for holy things, for the Lord's day—yes, for God Himself, is because He has become a little God, weak and uninspiring in our thinking. Theologians, preachers, and teachers have dared to speak swelling words of disrespect concerning His miraculous power, have denied the deity of His Son, have questioned the authority of His Word. Having seen the wind of unbelief, they have reaped from the people the whirlwind of irreverence, a belittling of God, and a rejection of His authority (Hos. 8:7).

Jacob was reminded of God's immediate presence—"the Lord is in this place." The place of his vision of heavenly things had special meaning to Jacob.

But the underlying truth is that God is everywhere. He is not only in the church, or in the place of vision or of soul-struggle; He is also in the place of trial, of suffering, of sorrow, of loneliness—yes, even of sin. The thing that Jacob "found out that night was not that God visits man, but that God is with man wherever he is. We expect to meet Him in the sanctuary; but He is near us in the market place. . . . Not alone in the sanctuary, but where the multitude gather in defiance of His law, He is there" (G. Campbell Morgan).

III. A Recognition of God's Goodness (vv. 20-22).

The God who would supply his every need, who would watch over him and keep him, was recognized by Jacob as being worthy of his devotion, and he made a vow that He should be his God (v. 21).

The grace and goodness of God are intended to bring men to faith in Him and devotion to His service. Yet men can go on year after year, the beneficiaries of all His bounty, and never so much as say "Thank you," let alone recognize Him as Lord.

Jacob made a very practical and workable decision to demonstrate the reality of his vow. He promised that one tenth of all God gave him should be given back.

We agree with Dr. W. H. Griffith Thomas that "if only some of those who are inclined to criticize Jacob would do what he promised and give a tenth of their income to God, a different state of affairs would obtain in connection with God's work at home and abroad."

Trickery and deception were changed to truthfulness and devotion when Jacob met God face to face. The same blessed transformation awaits those who meet our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ in faith. Have you met Him?

CHAPTER I W.N.U. SERVICE

Arriving at Cabeza de Negro was like coming home. Neither Curt nor Lee had ever visited the one-time small fishing port in the old days, but that was the way it hit them now as it rose up out of the sea. Once it had been only a collection of manaca shacks on stilts, cut off from inland by fever-ridden marshes. An unhealthy spot for white men. Today all that was changed—or fast changing.

They were up at dawn for the early dooking and to watch the long, low blur on the horizon which slowly became the Tierra Libre coastline. Lee caught her breath as that blur took shape. Her memories of it were precious.

True, she'd been happy since, and now she had the boys. But no happiness, not even the children, could ever erase from her mind those first years here with Curt. Hard working days for him, in a job for which he was born, romance and beauty in the tropic setting for her.

Unconsciously she snuggled closer under Curt's arm as they stood at the rail staring landward. Unconsciously, too, Curt was scowling, but Lee did not see this.

Meanwhile, Buddy and Chuck were clamoring and tugging unnoticed at the ends of their split leash—they couldn't be allowed free run of the deck.

"Anudder dog wace, Daddy," begged Chuck in the fuzzy tones of a four-year old.

He didn't yet have Buddy's clarity of speech, for Buddy was all of six and quite a man.

Curt obligingly called, "One, two, three, go," and the children scampered down the deck on all fours, barking and pulling their leashes taut.

This play brought Curt and Lee to the vessel's stern where their eyes caught the flat black smudge in the distance. A lean, low gray vessel was cutting in toward the coast farther to the north.

"Headed for Soledad," Curt muttered, and the frown returned to his forehead.

Lee clutched his arm.

"It's a destroyer! One of ours, Jeff! Must be. And it's racing! Do you suppose . . . there wasn't any word on the bulletin board . . ."

Curt patted her hand and smiled down at her.

"Don't be getting any ideas," he said, and was immediately conscious he'd taken a second or so too long in replying. "There's no revolution here. Uncle Sam's just paying a courtesy call. We're doing more of that than we used to throughout the Caribbean."

"But it's speeding! See how the smoke lays flat from the funnels!"

"That's caused by the wind from around Punta Cauca, honey. Our smoke would look the same if we were in that position."

Once more, as he stood against the rail with Lee, Curt went over in his mind the string of events leading up to his presence here on the Pisces—as he'd done so many times these past several nights, lying awake in the dark.

He started with the proposition itself.

He and Lee had been dawdling over a late breakfast, while the children played on the lawn within range of the open windows. He had the morning paper folded to handy size and propped against the coffee urn, and was sunk in a roving reporter's column purporting to give the progress of bomb-proofing the Panama Canal.

It took Lee several efforts to break through to him. It was the final "Jeff Curtis!" that did it, and he looked up to discover she'd been running over the morning mail.

There was a storm signal in her eyes and she was tapping the knuckles of one hand with a long, flat envelope.

"Who do I know in Cristobal?" he said easily. "Why, no one, I guess. There's old Jim Bragg over on the Pacific side. Letter? Gimme."

"Some day, my fine lad," she began promisingly, "when you bury yourself in the paper—oh, what's the use?"

She gave up and handed him the letter. He ripped it open, slid out the several sheets of enclosure.

"Only mailed from Cristobal." "Compania Agricola Tropical, San Alejo, Tierra Libre. Port, Cabeza de Negro. Cable, CAT." Huh. Who do you suppose they are? Cabeza's that little fishing village down the coast from Soledad, but I never heard of San Alejo." He glanced at the end of the letter. "Signed, 'Apolonio Montaya, President and General Manager.' Never heard of him."

He ran his eye down the first page and looked up to exclaim: "Why, honey, it's a new banana outfit! Opening up twenty thousand hectares between the rivers Masica and Negro. But that stuff's all swampland! You remember, Lee, that big stretch of swamp across the Negro, dotted with a few spots of jungle?"

"And the mosquitoes!"

Curt grinned and skimmed over the rest of the letter hurriedly. Lee saw his growing excitement as he straightened in his chair.

"Lee! They're offering me the job of Chief Engineer!" He took a deep breath and went on more slowly, soberly. "But they say the offer's contingent upon residence with family for term of contract. Three years. Of course, if I had the job I'd like to have you and the kids with me, but—"

Lee rose and went around to him, pushing back the table to sit on his knees and look him gravely, misgivingly, in the eyes. Here was a situation to be handled, one to be nipped in bud. It took her a moment to find the right words.

"You'd like that job, wouldn't you, darling?"

It was more statement than question.

He lowered his eyes. "Well, I'd— I'd—yes, sure I would! That'd be a real job! Just think, Lee. Drainage, levees, floodgates, railroad, power plants—all kinds of projects! And honey," his eyes flamed, "a chance to work on that overhead irrigation system I missed out on when we came north."

He broke off again and his eyes went blank to hide, or try to hide, how much this could mean to him.

"Well," he went on carefully, "it'd be something more than this kinder-about them. They're rivals, Lee."

"I have a feeling, I can't explain, but—" She bit her lip. "No, that's a woman's trick, that's not fair." Finally, with reluctance, she said, "Well, at least it wouldn't do any harm to find out more about these people."

"Sweetheart!" Curt shouted, and jumped for her.

Her next words were muffled against his shoulder: "Well, I hope I'm not a sugar-and-water wife." He didn't see the tears in her eyes.

And that was the first step that led to their being here on the Pisces. The second?

Curt had put in a short-wave phone call for Jerry McInnis, his closest friend during the years he'd worked in the tropics. McInnis was now Chief Engineer for the Associated Fruit Growers at Puerto Soledad. The call came through later that morning. Greetings were quickly over. Then:

"Jerry, what do you know about the Compania Agricola Tropical? Claim to have that swamp between the Negro and the Masica—"

"Yeah, I know, only it won't be a swamp much longer. They're doing a swell job of reclamation, Curt. Well, I don't know much about them. Guy called Montaya heads the outfit. There's a whisper around here he was hooked up with Cedillo in Mexico and got out by the skin of his teeth when that revolt failed. But that's only gossip, take it for what it's worth. Seems to have plenty dough behind him, but I don't know where it comes from. Old Man Moore probably has the low-down, but you know how tight-lipped he is."

Moore was General Manager in Tierra Libre for Associated Fruit Growers.

"Who's in with this Montaya?"

"Don't rightly know, Curt. Montaya seems the only top man so far's I can see. There's a couple of Swedes I don't know anything about—except they hold their liquor and don't talk. Youngish guys. And a Dutchman—Hollander. I mean—a chemical man. Panama disease has shown up over on our side and if they're going to raise bananas they'll have to find some means of combating—"

"Yes, sure. But how come Associated didn't have that piece tied up? Never heard of anyone getting ahead of Old Man Moore before."

"Well, we've already got plenty of good land, all we can handle now or in the reasonable future. And this piece'll cost real money to develop. Why all these questions, Curt?"

"Under your hat, Jerry, they've offered me the job of Chief Engineer. Wanted to know more about them. Think they're reliable?"

"Well, yes, Curt, they are, so far's I know. But I'd hate to have you make a decision on my say-so."

A wary, reluctant note had crept into McInnis's voice.

"Who's been handling the job?"

"Chigger Mitchell."

"What! Old Mitch? He's a good man. What happened they need another?"

"Well, you know how Mitch was kind of tough on labor. A driver and all that. And he could sure find a guy's weak spot and dig under the skin. He didn't get the name 'Chigger' for nothing. Well, he must've made an enemy over there who wanted a souvenir. Anyway, his ears were missing when they found him—just a few days ago, it was—and they had to use a basket for the rest of him. These machetes are bad stuff, as you know well enough."

Early in the morning Curt wired his acceptance to the C. A. T. people's New Orleans office. Back came, overnight, a contract for signature. And things moved fast.

The freighter Pisces, one of a small fleet of Norwegian vessels chartered to the C. A. T. outfit, would be held over a day in New Orleans awaiting them. Loaded with rails, cement, lumber, machinery, it was bound for Cabeza de Negro, the new C. A. T. port at the mouth of the Rio Negro.

Curt had less than twenty-four hours to wind up all his affairs in the States, store the car, arrange for care and lease of the house through an agent, for forwarding of their mail. . . .

Their mail! The first batch, re-addressed and sent by air to New Orleans, caught up with Curt just before they sailed. Busy with details of baggage and boarding ship, he hastily stuffed the handful of letters into his pocket.

It was hours before he thought of it and hauled it forth for inspection. The ship had reached the mouth of the Mississippi; they'd dropped the pilot and were headed out into the Gulf. One letter was a small plain envelope, postmarked Puerto Soledad, Tierra Libre.

Inside was a brief note. "Mr. Curtis. Don't bring your family to San Alejo, don't come yourself. Don't come! Zora Mitchell."

Two Brilliant Coaches To Direct Oil Bowl Game

Under the direction of two of the most brilliant coaches in the Southwest conference and with a stellar cast of players from North and West Texas, the Oil Bowl will open the grid season for North Texas fans at the Coyote stadium in Wichita Falls, Sept. 1st at 8 p. m.

The Annual football drama, sponsored by the Masked Temple of the Shrine, will be coached this year by Leo Dutch Meyer, Texas Christian University, and Frank Kimbrough of the Baylor University Bears. These two coaches and their assistants, Ted Jefferies of Wichita Falls and Eck Curtis, Breckenridge, have selected 44 of the outstanding football players of the region.

The 44 players include 34 all-district, five all-state and one who made all state in 1940, but fell just short of votes for the 1941 first team. No more brilliant aggregation of high school players could be selected from the region.

The area which has always produced exceptionally fine football and football players is sending an unusually good group of young men to the classic this year. The Oil Bowl has been the standout of Texas high school football each year. Participating have been men who have later won all-conference and all American honors.

Teams in the past have included Jack Crain, Tolly McKown, Walemon Price, Ted Weems, Jim Sterling, Murray Evans, Preston Johnson, Joe Parker, Red Mailey, Ben Collins, Max Minor, Jack Sasche, Babe Green and many other stars of the gridiron.

The teams this year are no exception to the groups who have brought the area some of the best football ever played in this section. Fast, colorful and powerful, the squad will offer the best in the sport. It will be the end of the high school career for the members of the team.

Meyer and Jefferies will direct the North Team and Kimbrough and Curtis will direct the West Team.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

CLOUD PHOTOGRAPHY

Clouds make grand pictorial subjects by themselves, and the finest kind of background for outdoor scenes.

FROM time immemorial great billowing masses of cloud have fascinated men. Undoubtedly primeval man looked up at the sky and wondered where the thunderbolts came from. The Greeks believed that Zeus, hiding behind the rain clouds, amused himself by hurling at the earth the thunderbolts that Vulcan fashioned for him. Today the scientists have told us where the clouds come from, and what makes lightning flash, but we still like to see clouds in the sky and many of us like to picture them with our cameras.

Doing this, as in the above picture, will be a simple matter if you have a filter to aid in your job. A filter—be it yellow, orange, or red—will hold back certain light rays from the sky proper and thus increase the contrast between the clouds and the sky.

A deep yellow filter was used in making this week's illustration, and a considerable degree of contrast was obtained. But if a red filter had been used, even more striking contrast between the clouds and the sky would have resulted.

That's all there is to the technical side of picturing clouds, or getting clouds in the background of your pictures, but pictorially picturing clouds isn't all a matter of filters and proper exposure. Actually, to be successful, cloudscapes have to be treated much like any landscape picture—and that means you must include some familiar subject in the foreground to be used as a basis of comparison for the distances involved. That familiar subject can be a man, a tree, a house, an animal, or part of the landscape. In our picture this week, it's the graceful gulls.

Don't keep your eyes to the ground at all times. Look at the sky occasionally. Look for interesting clouds, and you'll find your pictures ready-made.

Cotton Faces Leaf Worm Infestation

Cotton farmers of Wichita, Clay and Young counties are faced with a severe infestation of leaf worm and must take preventive measures immediately to avert crop losses, County Agent G. R. McNeil reported.

On the basis of reports received from representative farming sections, McNeil declared that the leaf worm has made its appearance earlier than usual and poisoning is necessary to control the infestation.

"The worm will strip the foliage from cotton plants and will also devour the shuck around the small bolls," he stated. "Cotton isn't made to date and if the foliage is stripped by the worms a decreased yield will be the result."

"It is important that farmers check their cotton at once to determine if the worm is in evidence," McNeil emphasized.

Adequate supplies of poison are available from Burk Burnett gins here. They also have the guns used for spraying.

Calcium arsenate may be used either as a dust or spray. If used as a dust, five to seven pounds of the poison, depending on the size of the cotton plant, should be dusted per acre. If used as a spray, three pounds of the poison should be put in 50 gallons of water per acre.

Paris green mix may also be used as a dust or spray. It is applied similarly to calcium arsenate.

Arsenate of lead is used as a spray, mixing three pounds of the poison to 50 gallons of water per acre.

The spraying method may be used any time of the day, but those who dust the plants should apply the poison in the early morning when moisture will cause the dust to adhere to the plant.

Depending on the poison used, the cost will be about 30 to 40 cents an acre, McNeil said.

We don't know how fast our automobile will run. And we don't know how far we could lean out of a tenth story window without falling into the street.

CLEAN RAGS WANTED—STAR

Cotton Loan Basis 16.02 Cents Pound

Washington, Aug. 18—The agriculture department today announced the Commodity Credit Corporation's 1942 cotton loan program calling for an average 7/8-inch middling, a 2-cent a pound increase over last year's rate.

The new rate was based on 85 per cent of the Aug. 1 parity price of 18.85 cents.

The department said premiums and discounts for grade and staple in the 1942 program would be calculated in relation to the loan rate on 15-16-inch middling, which was fixed at two-tenths of a cent a pound above the basic rate for 7/8-inch cotton. As in previous programs, the loan rate will be based on the net weight of the cotton.

The department said the loan rates would vary from a high of 17.46 cents a pound in the mill areas of the Carolinas to 16.25 cents in Arizona and California. Location differentials will be based on freight rates to the mill area of the Carolinas, except in eastern Mississippi, eastern Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama, where a zone system will be in effect.

Adkins, Plaintiff, vs. Martha Adkins, Defendant.

Plaintiff sues for divorce and for such other relief as he may show himself entitled. The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at Wichita Falls, Texas this 16th day of July A. D. 1942.
