With Our Boys in The Service

WOMEN'S NOTE—This column is devoted to news of the women in the service. We would appreciate getting any news regarding them.

Sergeant Carl Campbell, Claiborne, La., spent Sunday night and early Monday morning with one of the largest numbers of cases in recent weeks. Arrested during the night were 17 men and one woman, all charged with being intoxicated.

Officers said that while the total did not set a record, they were nevertheless kept in action throughout most of the night, bringing in inebriates.

In corporation court Monday morning, four of the men forfeited bond and others were fined. Military police also made some arrests during the night, but only one soldier was jailed.

Pleas of guilty were entered Monday by a man in county court in three cases charging liquor law violations, while liquor control board agents filed four new cases. The defendant Monday was fined $100 and costs on each of two complaints, one for possession of whiskey for the purpose, the other for sale of whiskey, and was given a day in jail for the third offense, transportation of liquor.

The four new cases charge sale of liquor, and name three defendants, one of them being accused in two separate complaints.

Thirteen pleas of guilty were entered in liquor law violation cases by defendants in county court here Tuesday. County Judge Guy McNeely assessed penalties as follows: Seven cases 30 days in jail each; one case, 15 days in jail; five cases, a fine of $100 and costs each.

The cases were prosecuted by County Attorney Temple Shell and Woodard L. Bass, his assistant. Forty-six convictions have been obtained in liquor law violation cases since Wichita County went dry.

Penalties Given In 11 Drunkenness Cases

Eleven cases of drunkenness were heard Tuesday in corporation court, Judge J. Milt Erwin assessing seven $3 fines and forfeiting four $5 bonds.

Two $10 bond forfeits were declared on assault complaints and two other dispositions were a $10 fine for speeding, $3 bond forfeit for U-turn and two $1 bond forfeits for illegal parking.

Ginnings Here Nearly Reach The Five Thousand Mark

Ginnings over the past week were slowed down considerably due to the raining weather but the past few days has seen it back in full swing.

Reports from the three gins show that 4,922 bales have been ginned to Thursday noon. The price is ranging between 14 and 16c per pound, with seed bringing $44.00 per ton.

PUT IT OFF! CHRISTMAS PARCELS NOW.

Post Office Department must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The best efforts of the Post Office Department alone cannot be enough, in view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.

Christmas Seals Out Soon

Tuberculosis is one of the worst enemies of the fighting troops according to a report given the County T. B. Board at its noon luncheon Tuesday. One infected soldier can give the disease to others, and the strenuous work of the soldiers makes them an easy prey to the germ.

Plans were pushed forward for the purchase of an X Ray machine badly needed by Wichita County in its T. B. work. Dr. Robbins reported on the work being done and urged the X Ray equipment purchase as essential in treating cases that have been dismissed from the sanitarium and sent home for continued rest.

Bonds, Bangles and Seals will be on sale soon for the general public. A hearty response is expected and the need is great. Mrs. H. R. Hayes and Rev. Boyd I. DeVore are the Burkburnett representatives. Anyone wanting seals, who does not receive sufficient number through the mail, are asked to communicate with them.

SIGNAL TROUBLE

Trick bicycle accidents are beginning to occur. Mrs. Colombo Fanucchi, 43, of Stockton, Calif., extended her arm to give a left turn signal stuck it into the window of a passing automobile, suffered a compound fracture.

Burk Celebrates Quite Armistice

Burkburnett's first wartime observance of the armistice was celebrated very quietly here Wednesday. A number of Legionnaires met at the cemetery and decorated the graves of the veterans and raised the flag at the Legion Plot.

The stores here were closed with the exception of the drug stores, filling stations, restaurants, printing office and postoffice.

A number of Legionnaires attended the program at the Memorial auditorium in Wichita Falls Wednesday night, where they heard Lt. Com. Barry Holton, former Wichitan and now senior member of the naval aviation cadet selection board at Dallas, make the principal address.

Rental Control Blanks Available At Bank Fri., Sat.

Wichita County's rent-control Agency, in charge of J. E. Handy will have blanks for distribution to every landlord in Burkburnett Friday and Saturday at the First National Bank. Each person having rental property is required to file a Registration Statement with the Area Rent Office. This statement gives the Area Rent Office information as to the March 1, 1942 rents. Regulations require that every owner of such property file an inventory of his rent places with the new agency at the earliest date after receiving these blanks Friday and Saturday.

County Votes Cost 56c Each

Votes cast in Wichita County in the general election of Nov. 3 were worth more than 56 cents each to those who provided election supplies and those who conducted the election, according to figures compiled Monday by County Auditor Joe Gowdy.

Compilation of election costs was made by the auditor as the county commissioners court canvassed election returns in order to file an official count with state authorities.

The county auditor found that $1,170.85 was spent on holding the election, while the court found that 2,077 votes was the maximum received by any candidate. That amounted to a cost of 56.3 cents per vote.

Farm Machinery "Freeze" Order

"Freezing" of farm machinery was necessary to allow the government time to establish quotas, B. F. Vance, Chairman, Texas USDA War Board, explained in commenting on the order temporarily "freezing" farm machinery as of November 1.

The "freeze" applies to most farm machinery, but some particular types, such as peanut pickers, may be sold by retail dealers out of stocks on hand, although the dealers will not be able to restock during the duration of the "freeze."

To avert extreme hardships, the order provides an appeals system in which the appropriate facts can be presented to the county farm machinery rationing committee for transmittal to the state USDA war board. Final action on such appeals will be taken by the national USDA war board.

Vance said quotas would be established in a short time and actual rationing of machinery would get underway as soon as possible.

You're likely to get shocked when you step on anybody who is a live wire.

Bob Tevis, generalissimo of the gasoline rationing in Burkburnett, received word Wednesday morning that the gasoline rationing had been delayed until Dec. 1st, and that the registration for gasoline books had been postponed one week from the original date set, which was Nov. 12, 13, and 14. The new date is Nov. 19, 20, and 21. The order was from State Director Mark McGee, of the office of price administrator.

Burk Motorists Turn In Old Tires

Burkburnettans are turning in their "excess" tires, and the total had reached over 200 Wednesday afternoon, according to S. A. King, local agent for the Railway Express Agency, which is the national collection agency for the tires.

The number, Mr. King said, represented actual deliveries at that time to the depot. A number of tubes have also been turned in by motorists who are anxious to avoid delay in securing gasoline ration books. Unless the requirements of turning in extra tires prior to registration Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 19, 20 and 21, they will not receive gasoline purchase coupons until sometime after the rationing goes into effect Dec. 1st.

All motorists who have not yet turned in their extra tires are urged to do so in order that their tire supply will not exceed the allowable of five for each car. It was pointed out that motorists who wait until the last minute to obey the order may find it impossible to be registered until later.

Institutional Advertising Campaign On Alcoholic Beverages To Appear In Star

Beginning with this issue of The Star we will carry a series of ads from the National Editorial Association which is a campaign conference of alcoholic beverage industries.

The ads are entitled, "The Old Judge Says," and will appear each week on page two of the Star. The ads deal with the Old Judge as he makes his daily rounds over the town, and the old question of prohibition comes up—and whether prohibition really prohibits.

The ads are interesting as well as educational.

The postponement of the registration and rationing in the West and Midwest became necessary because of the failure of the distribution of the coupon books and forms over the country.

The registration in Burkburnett will take place Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Town Hall, and will be under the supervision of Ralph Davis, superintendent of public schools.

Registration will take place at the Town Hall and volunteers are needed for the first two days. If you want to help get in touch with Mr. Davis, the school faculty will handle the registration on Saturday.

Application blanks went out to filling station owners, and tire store owners this week for distribution to the motorists and it is absolutely necessary that you get your blank and have it properly filled out with your name, address, year, model, make, and body type of your car, as well as the serial numbers of your five tires, before presenting it to the registration board. Fill out on a typewriter if possible. If not, be sure and print your name. It is also compulsory that you bring your certificate of title and 1942 license receipt. If you do not have a certificate of title, bring your receipt showing that you have applied for same.

Oil requirements of the American Expeditionary Force in North Africa will be "enormous," Ickes said in his capacity as petroleum co-ordinator for war, and the country's ability to keep supplies flowing to that war front and to Great Britain is "largely our consumption here."

"There may be privation and wars are not won without privation dependent upon cutting down suffering this winter, but wars and suffering," Ickes said, "Everyone of us in the Eastern states should realize that waste of oil is a disloyal act, the waste of priceless munitions needed on the field of battle."

Burk Burnett . . . History

As revealed by the files of The Star 10 and 20 years ago.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Since the second day of August there has been a friendly negotiation between the First Baptist church and the Immanuel Baptist church of Burk Burnett, concerning the consolidation of the two churches into one great body.

Dr. Adams stated last night that he did not believe he would need any more ice than the Burk Burnett Ice Co. plant will make next season. But the York Engineering Co. would soon begin installing additional machinery for their plant in order to meet competition of the Wichita Falls Ice companies.

Mrs. Jess Griffin entertained a number of little folks Monday afternoon in honor of her little daughter, Margaret Ruth's third birthday. Games, story telling and merry tunes filled the hours and in the end a dainty birthday treat of refreshments were served.

Tuesday's Rotary luncheon was very interesting and a large number of guests were present. A letter from Chelsey R. Perry, Secretary of Rotary International brought the news that Burk Burnett had formally been elected to Rotary International which completes the "Chain of Events" toward securing a charter, which will be sent out immediately.

A. A. Kuehn and associates have moved a rig on the W. J. Sides farm and will spud in this week. Their location is two locations east of the Wichita-Burk well on the Sides farm.

10 YEARS AGO

The annual Armistice Day celebration, under the sponsorship of the American Legion Post of Burk Burnett will have as its two most important features the football game under the Wester-Field lights with Burk All-Stars team fighting the Fort Sill Army team, and the ball to be held at the Legion Hall tonight.

A barbecue was given at the Buster Morgan's ranch with about 75 or 100 people attending last Saturday prior to the rodeo. Pickles, buns, three barbecued pigs and all that goes with a good feed were prepared for the guests. A dance was also held Saturday with a number of guests attending.

The Western Commission House was burglarized Tuesday night with about $8 or $10 being taken from the cash register. The burglary was discovered by the owner of the store, Mr. Chrestman and reported to the Chief of Police, Bill Garland, about daylight that morning.

A shower for Mrs. A. C. Harris was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bob Browning with Mrs. M. E. Whitesides, W. W. Estes, Pat Ceawford and Leo Foster as hostesses.

The home was decorated with flowers. Marjetta Owens presented a piano solo, "Whispering Water" and Mrs. J. J. Jordan gave a vocal solo assisted by Mrs. Estes.

HARDIN GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

We had two new pupils week before last and forgot to mention them in our news last week. They are Jack Richards and Shirley Ann Garrett. We are glad to add them to our roll.

Every child has had the experience of now reading in a book. They are very pleased with themselves. Some have completed one pre-primer and started on another. Reading to all of them is an exciting experience.

We are sorry to report that Lueldia Carver left us Friday to move to Henrietta. We shall miss her very much.

Pauline Evans L 1-2 Friday afternoon Dorothy Pharis went with her family to visit her grandparents. Wanda O'Connor was absent last Thursday. Jay Felty, Walter Schroeder and Billy Bean took in the circus at Wichita Falls.

The boys and girls of L 1-1 are doing their bit by buying defense stamps every week.

A. L. Billingslea, L 1-1 We have enjoyed having two visitors in our room this week—they are two gold fish. We have made up a story about them, and learned a song about two fish. We like to watch them swim and play.

All of us are reading in our first book now. We surely do like to read in them—they have so many pretty pictures.

About fifty-six percent of the boys and girls in our room are buying defense stamps—we want to help win this war.

Wilma Douglas L 1-3 We are going to order some number books as soon as all of the class bring money for them.

We have been working on our addition, and are learning to subtract. We have enjoyed our new library book "Bambi" this week. Our teacher has read us several other stories that will be represented in our assembly program.

Our room bought $5.80 worth of defense stamps last week.

James Tyna from Austin is a new pupil in our class. We are glad to have him with us.

Lassetter L 2-1 Twenty-one pupils in our room have bought defense stamps. Anita Wolf has purchased the largest amount. We made a little booth in our room this week and decorated it in patriotic colors. When we sell defense stamps, a pupil presides in the booth.

In art we have been making posters, drawings, and a frieze for American Education Week. We are glad to welcome two new pupils in our room, Betjean Harrison from Kernes, Texas and Tommy Watson from Oklahoma.

Vann L2-2 Friday afternoon we took a train but everyone enjoyed the ride very much. Mrs. Willingham, Mrs. Kelley, and Mrs. May rode on the train with us. Each child handed his own ticket to the conductor. The conductors were very nice to us. When we arrived at the station in Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Fewin Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Lungberg, Mrs. McHenry, and Mrs. Oxley met us and brought us home in cars. On the way home we stopped at the Carnation Milk Plant and had refreshments.

James Hicks, Betty Jo Smith, James Kelley, Thomas May, James Kasper, Earl Pharis, and Audre Hubbard bought defense stamps with a total of $7.55.

Roberts L 3-1 We are learning to write paragraphs. This week we chose for our subject something about a circus. The following paragraph was chosen as the best.

A CHILD SEEING HIS FIRST CIRCUS

The child was happy to see his first circus. When the clowns went by he laughed and shouted. The clowns did many tricks while they were coming along. They rode funny little donkeys. Then came the elephants holding each others tails. The band played and this made the little boy happy.

By Donnie Earl Green Since taking our train ride to Wichita Falls, we had the pleasure of seeing two very unusual toy trains. James Hicks brought his electric train to our room for us to see. He explained the operation of both of them. They are electric streamlined. The passenger train consists of one flat car, two freight cars, one milk car, one oil car and a caboose. The most interesting feature was that there is a little record in the train that plays in which the conductor calls out New York, Philadelphia and all points West. He also says "All aboard." We all enjoyed this very much.

We have a new pupil in our room. He is Harrison Fisher. He came to Burk Burnett from Florida.

Barbara Ann Brooks was absent all the week as she and her family made a trip to Dallas.

Majors L 3-2 We received a new pupil this week. Alvin Mills came to our school from Electra, Texas.

We were sorry Carroll Koonce moved away. We have enjoyed having him in our class.

Pupils making the spelling hon- or roll for this week are as follows: Edwin Draper, Charles McAfee, Helen Nelson, and Peggy Rinefeldt.

Jackson L4-1 Jimmie Harris, who has been in our room ever since he started to school has moved to Seymour. He was greatly liked by the entire room, and everyone will miss him very much.

Several boys and girls in our room attended the Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey Circus last Thursday night. They enjoyed it immensely, judging from the accounts given Friday at school. Those from our room who went to the circus were: F. T. Felty, Clyde Hollingsworth, Grace Lee Welborn, Patricia Morgan, Trent Turgin, and Marvin Kimbrough.

Adams L 5-2 The fifth grade class has begun a study of the Latin American countries. This is proving to be a very interesting and timely subject. Many original angles of study have been presented by members of the class.

One member of this section received a broken arm while playing cowboy during the week-end. We miss you Donnie and hope that you will be able to return soon.

Coates L 6-1 The Low 6-1 students have memorized their parts for their assembly program which will be given Nov. 25th. The program theme is "Good Book Week" and consists of several poems, a dialogue and a play.

This week's total stamp purchase was $15.85 with 21 of 38 students participating in the buying of these stamps. The students won the "Victory Flag" which is given to the room having the largest per cent of students buying stamps each week. This is the first week the flag has been awarded. The students hope to keep it in their room. Their total stamp purchases amount to $79.15.

The class was happy to receive a second letter from Paul Watson who was a former classmate and who now lives in Orange, Texas. The room mothers for Low 6-1 are Mrs. B. I. DeVore, Mrs. C. V. Howard, Mrs. W. D. Casey and Mrs. W. H. Daulton.

Goodwin L 7-1 The percentage of pupils buying defense stamps is increasing. Of the thirty pupils enrolled last week, fifteen are buying stamps. By the end of this week the class expects to be one hundred per cent.

Bilijo Harrison comes from Kernes, Texas.

There will be no school Wednesday, November 11.

McGinnis L7-1 We are sorry to report that Richard Hall and Clifford Hauger were absent from school last week due to illness. Our new pupils for the week was Granville West.

Stevenson H 7-1 Quite a number of school children attended the circus in Wichita Falls Thursday night.

Garland West entered school Monday. He attended school last year here. This makes a total of twenty-seven pupils enrolled in H 7-1 section.

Gibson L8-1 We have had two new pupils this week. They are Juanita Haley, and John Fisher. We also had two pupils to withdraw; they are Lucille Koonce and Ted Harris. We gave Ted a farewell party since he had always been one of our classmates.

More than fifty percent of our class purchased defense stamps at school and two pupils bought who had not bought stamps before this.

We hope this will raise the percentage of pupils buying stamps in our room. We hope to get the banner the next six weeks.

Dunn L 8-2 We regret the loss of Vesta Lea Green. She moved to Mineral Wells. Our section honored her with a party at her home Friday evening.

L 8-2 welcomed Tommy Gwinn as a new member who entered Wednesday. He moved here from Colorado.

Richard Wallace who has been absent for quite a while is back in school.

Bobby Jo Cuiper is his normal self again as his cast was taken off his arm one day last week.

L 8-2 bought $2.50 worth of War Saving Stamps the past week.

Members and friends are watching with interest the resident building moved from the La Salle lease to the church grounds for a parsonage. Moving facilities and the weather delayed the moving. Now that the building is on the ground, the work of remodeling and making it ready for occupancy should soon be accomplished. The trustees who have the responsibility of buying, moving and remodeling the building are A. R. Allen, Sid Gamblin, Otto Meyer and Rev. Mathews.

"Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did."

"Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dry. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally...whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. Heavy Guns, Planes Dominate Action as British Strike at Rommel Positions; $10 1/2 Billion Farm Income for 1943; George Baruch to Study War Manpower

NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the newspaper's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

THE PACIFIC: Exchange

Navy Secretary Frank Knox at a press conference that Japan had retired from the scene around Guadalcanal and the "first round of the battle" was over. The first round of the battle was over, the navy said.

Before the Japs left the area their wounds" and return to action. U. S. forces had two aircraft carriers, two cruisers and three destroyers.

More enemy airplanes were destroyed in what the navy deems as the greatest battle yet in the Solomons area.

The most important result of the sea and air fighting was the bringing of at least temporary relief to the hard-pressed marine units holding their positions.

AIR WARFARE: Air Umbrella

Heavy warfare continued on the main line between the Mediterranean sea and the Qattara desert in Egypt as Britain's eighth strategic sledgehammer blows.

Heavy tank battles of previous weeks in the desert were missed in the initial onslaught of the British drive.

Reports to British newspapers that Allied forces had several thousand Axis in a narrow pocket west of the Mediterranean.

It was the avowed intention of the British command to destroy the German army, some sources believe.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

FUTURE: The Office of Price Administration has reiterated its approval of a proposal that retail punch holes in the tops of packed coffee cans be discontinued.

DEATH: Twenty-six German soldiers, alleged to be engaged in Nazi and Fascist activities, have been deported from the United States.

FARM INCOME: Increase to Continue

Estimating the net farm income for 1942 at $9,800,000,000, including government payments, the department of agriculture forecast that next year's net income will total approximately $10,500,000,000.

The 1942 figure is about $1,000,000,000 above the previous record of 1919, the department said. Total agricultural production this year is nearly 12 per cent greater than the record set in 1941, and 40 per cent greater than in 1918.

The department stated "October estimates indicated, for the first time, that the corn crop this year may exceed the record set in 1920; and it is being grown on 12 per cent less acreage. Abundant feed supplies and good prices are expected to stimulate increased livestock production again next year.

The department reported that military and lend-lease food purchases next year are expected to be 50 per cent greater than in 1942 and will take one-fifth of current farm production. Civilian demands will continue to advance slowly and prices for farm products in 1943 under ceiling limitations will be about 6 per cent above the average estimated for all of 1942.

LABOR SUPPLY: Untapped Source

Even as he disclosed tentative plans for the nation-wide registration of women for work in war industries, President Roosevelt stated that the administration has reached no decision on means of solving the critical man-power problem. He warned against premature conclusions that plans for nation service or "labor draft" legislation have been abandoned.

The President pointed out that legislation will be necessary before the registration of women could be ordered. He emphasized that plans call only for the registration of women (between 18 and 65), and that there are no plans for a labor draft of women.

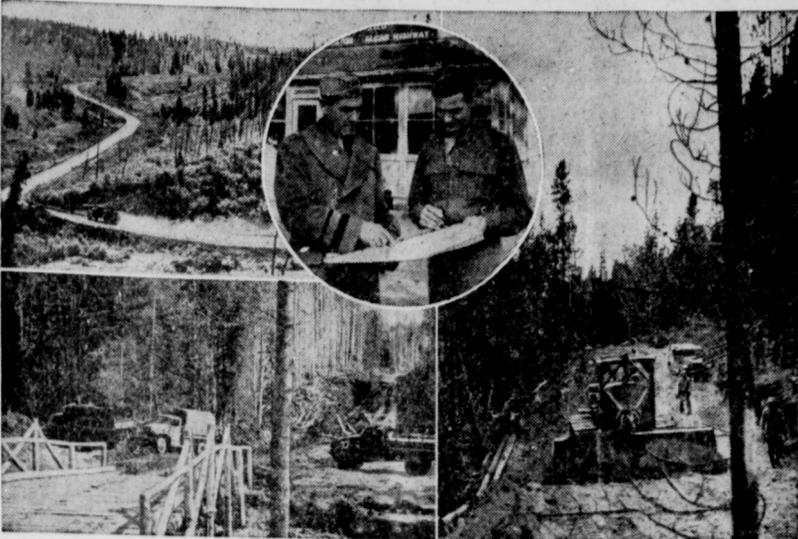

He stated that his recent meeting with the AFL-CIO labor war cabinet followed this general line:

With approximately 6,000,000 men now in uniform, there are not very many remaining to fill future needs of war industries, which are expected to require from four to five million additional workers. Although the labor supply problem looks satisfactory for the immediate present, wisdom dictates that it be studied from the long-range viewpoint. The registration of women is concerned with these future war needs, it was pointed out.

Baruch Study?

Meanwhile, the board of directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce proposed that the Baruch committee, which studied the rubber problem, now turn to a study of the man-power shortage. The board's statement said that "of the many serious problems now confronting this nation and its people, the problem of the proper use of man-power is undoubtedly paramount."

Trucks Now Rolling Over Alaskan Highway

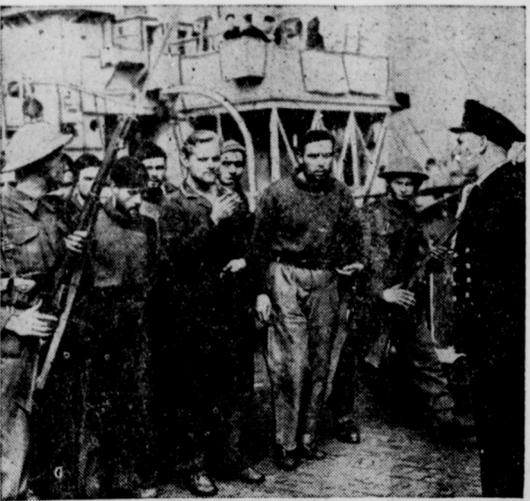

U. S. troops and supplies are now rolling into Alaska over the Alaska Highway (Alcan), which was finished months ahead of schedule. The 1,600-mile road ends at Fairbanks. Captured in Battle With British Corvette

In a midnight Atlantic ocean battle the corvette Dianthus rammed and sank a U-boat which had been imperiling United Nations supply lines. After the U-boat was blown to the surface with depth charges the Dianthus rammed it four times. A number of German prisoners were picked up by the Dianthus, which rejoined her convoy in time to rescue survivors from a torpedoed merchant ship. Here are some of the U-boat prisoners disembarking from HMS Dianthus at a British port.

The court of Neptuneus Rex, Ruler of the Raging Main, convenes on the deck of a U. S. aircraft carrier as the ship nears the equator. While the court prepared to convert "pollywogs" (men who have never crossed the line) into shellbacks, other members of the crew keep a sharp lookout for the enemy.

NOTES OF A NEW YORKER IN WASHINGTON

Memos on the Congressional Limited:

The FBI personnel is now 13,000, of which 4,600 are agents (G-Men) in the field. . . . In 1932 the FBI had only 300 of them. . . . The Bureau now has sixty million sets of fingerprints—and every morning 125,000 new sets arrive. . . . This is due to the many defense workers, army, navy, marines, air force, et al. . . . An agent can find a set of prints within two minutes. . . . The exact amount of U. S. currency confiscated in the arrest of the eight saboteurs was $174,588.62. . . . In Director Hoover's reception room the No. 1 attraction used to be the kidnap letters of the Weyerhaeuser snatch, the Dillinger mob's weapons and so forth. . . . It has been replaced by the "saboteur exhibit"—detonator caps, fuses for the high explosives, the Nazi navy cap with swastika insignia, and "the best bomb mechanism we've ever seen!" . . . Haupt, one of those electrocuted, was "the brainiest" . . . He was 22.

Dorothy Lamour phoned the Navy Dept' and asked the operator to connect her with a Lieutenant. . . . "Who's calling?" was the query. "Dorothy Lamour," lamoured Dorothy.

"Ha, ha!" said the operator. "And I'm Queen of the May!" "Really!" replied the star. "Did you happen to see me in 'Beyond the Blue Horizon'?" . . . The operator said she had—so what? Whereupon Lamour, for the special delight of a Navy phone girl, sang the entire chorus of the film's theme.

Another woman will eventually be arrested by the government, when it is through dealing with more important rabble-rousers. She is being watched, of course, but "she can always be taken," it was explained, after a reporter wondered why she was allowed to get away with her campaign of hate and incitement against the President. . . . During recent Federal hearings for others, Federal men trapped her attempting to "persuade a Federal juror" . . . They are holding that charge for the time they need it. . . . When she goes to the clink—so will her daughter.

This is one way they are getting around Union Czar Petrillo. . . . A recording is made of voice only in the U. S.—no music escort. . . . That "master" is sent out of the country—where a band playing in American style provides the orchestral background. . . . Both are then re-recorded to make a complete record of vocal and orchestra. . . . A copy is sent here, manufactured and sold in the U. S. . . . The big idea is to avoid the A. F. of M. recent ruling that "no musician can make recordings in the U. S. A." It's the brain child of a member of Local 802!!!

Among the famous ships that the 500 Reserve Cadets (at the Coast Guard Academy) train on is the old schooner Atlantic. . . . It was commissioned in 1903 after the Vanderbilts built it to compete in the Transatlantic sailing races sponsored by Kaiser Wilhelm. . . . The Atlantic was the winner, and Wilhelm, said the stories at the time, gave the Vanderbilt tribe "the most expensive gold cup in the world." When World War I began that gold cup was turned over to our Government, which found that it was $22 worth of powder!

Washington Rogues' Gallery:

The Washington reporters put the spotlight on the Gimme Bloc in Congress last week. It wasn't very pretty to look at either. In fact, the sight of it gave you the same kind of queasy feeling in the middle that comes when you're good and scared. . . . And the way the Gimme Bloc was behaving, there was good reason to be scared.

The matter the Honorables were chewing up was Senator Lee's (Okla.) amendment to the 18-19-year-old draft bill. . . . Sen. Lee wanted to dry up the areas around the Army camps. There being Army camps practically everywhere, you wouldn't guess the measure was a prohibition wrinkle unless you looked at it. . . . Sen. Lee is a smart cookie about his brothers in the two Houses. He is wise that lots of the Representatives from the corn bread and by-cracky belts haven't got the "moxie" to nix a blue nose measure. . . . To show that much fight would cost the office holder his job. His job to him is one grade higher than the fate of his country.

The members of Congress frankly admitted to reporters that they hoped the measure wouldn't lead to a roll call. That would mean that their ballot would be public, with no chance to weasel. . . . They admitted that the Drys back home were laying on the pressure, and it wouldn't be good politics to go agin it. How do you like that? The United States is engaged in a war for survival. And these birds make no secret of the fact that getting elected is a matter much more important to them.

A Gentle Way to Treat Constipation! Get up and cheer, constipation sufferers! If you are one of the millions of people with normal intestines who suffer due to lack of "bulk" in the diet—here's news of a gentler, pleasanter way to win welcome relief! You see, many medicinal laxatives prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body. But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, acts quite differently. It works principally on the contents of your colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. Eat it often and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped, by this simple treatment, see your doctor.

Our Sunday School climbed up some Sunday. We almost went over the three hundred mark. Were you in your place?

The Lord was with us in our services. There were six additions during the day.

Following the evening services the baptismal services was administered to one of our soldier boys. The pastor appreciates, as do all the members of the church, the presence of our soldier boys. There are several in every service. We give them special welcome and trust their tribe shall increase in our services each Lord's day.

The pastor is becoming acquainted better with his own people as the Sundays come and go. We give special invitation to every member to find his place in the church family and be used of the Lord for the promotion of the Kingdom, then we give double special invitation to all others who are not affiliated with some other church in town and urge them to make their church home—worship with us and let the Lord use each one of them.

In other words of the writer of long ago we say, "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."—THRICE WELCOME AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 15.

The Golden Text is: "The earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God" (Romans 8:19). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God... The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, we are the children of God" (Romans 8:14, 16).

The Lesson-Sermon includes the following passage: "Science and Health with the Scriptures," by Mary Eddy: "The evidence of immortality will become manifest as material bodies are given up and the immortal of being are admitted" (428).

There are extensive deposits in East Texas of precious amounts of the Burnet-Llano area.

Dairies - War Time Casualties

Dairying is the number one wartime farming casualty, the Texas USDA War Board reported on the basis of a recently-concluded survey of commercial dairies in Texas.

Reports from the 254 county USDA war boards indicate that approximately 2,000 commercial dairies went out of business in 1942, while only 1,300 new dairies were started. There are approximately 29,000 commercial dairies in the state.

Labor shortages, especially of the skilled labor needed in dairy farming, and transportation problems were the principal reasons given for dairy closings. Relatively high prices for beef and the high costs of feeds also contributed to the cut in the number of dairies operating.

As a direct result of the decrease in dairying, nearly 9,000 head of milk cows were sold for slaughter.

With the demand for milk products greater than ever before, it is highly important that every possible means be taken to keep dairy farms operating. B. F.
Vance, State board chairman, said he pointed out that the War Manpower Commission program designed to stabilize labor on dairy livestock and poultry farms will help solve the big problem of labor for milk production. Other steps intended to keep milk production up are being considered, he indicated.

Nature's Sugar Factory at Work

Sugar of some kind is found in the sap of every living plant. Nature stores more sugar in the sugar beet and the sugar cane than in other plants, and for that reason they have become the chief sources of the world's sugar supply.

Sugar is formed in plants through a process of photosynthesis, which is illustrated in the case of the sugar beet in the accompanying picture. In this process, carbon dioxide from the air and water from the soil are combined within the plant through the agency of green pigment known as chlorophyll in the presence of light. For that reason sugar is often called "crystallized sunshine and water." The sugar which is manufactured within the green parts of the sugar beet is used principally for growth during the early part of the beet's life, but later in the season most of the sugar is carried to the root, where it is stored.

To the scientist sugar is "sucrose," and in its pure form even chemists cannot tell whether it came from the sugar beet or the sugar cane. Sugar from beets is identical with sugar from cane in appearance, sweetness, quality, and food value, and they may be used interchangeably for all purposes.

In 1942, according to estimates of the Office of Price Administration, which directs the sugar-rationing program, beet sugar will be the most important single source of our national sugar supply. With in a few weeks farmers of nineteen states will begin the harvest of more than one million acres of sugar beets. The crop is expected to produce approximately two million tons of sugar, enough to give a weekly ration of eight ounces for one year to every person in the United States. It is expected to be the largest crop in history.

Graduates Offered Commissions By Navy Department

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 7.—The Navy is offering Texans who already have graduated from colleges, or who are pursuing courses leading to a degree, their first opportunity to become officers. Lieutenant H. P. McBride, in charge of the Dallas branch office of Naval Officer Procurement, said today.

Thirty days of indoctrinal training are necessary after enlistment. Applicants then are appointed Reserve Midshipmen and sent to school for three months additional duty, leading to their commissioning as ensigns in the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Two classifications are open,
Lieutenant McBride pointed out.
In class V-7 (S) requirements have been relaxed to some extent.
For general service under the V-7 program, applicants must meet physical requirements heretofore outlined, but a special service classification has been set up under which applicants may be a minimum of five feet, four inches; have 12-20 vision correct-able to 20-20; have minimum weight of 124 pounds in proportion to height and with deficient color perception permissible.

Full time juniors and seniors in recognized schools whose curriculum is directed toward a degree in the following subjects may qualify: engineering, bachelor of science arts, education, philosophy, business administration, commercial science, journalism or laws.

Undergraduates accepted must be unmarried. Men who have completed their scholastic training, however, and are married are eligible for appointment.

Applicants may apply immediately to their nearest Navy recruiting station or the Dallas Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 1530 Allen building. If the applicant is under 21, consent of his parents or guardians must be obtained in writing.

HOW TO CARE FOR YOUR COMBINE AND AVOID HARVESTING TROUBLES

Author explains to Wah Moy, Agricultural student from Canton, China, that it is important to keep the canvases tight when machine is being used. They should be loosened when the machine is not in use.

Keep elevator chains at proper tension, eliminating all slack. Loose chains can ruin sprockets. At end of season coat chains with a good quality rustproof oil so that they will not rust during the winter.

The straw-beater is another high-speed moving part that requires frequent lubrication. Follow the recommendations of the manufacturer and use a good quality lubricant.

Lubricate head end of sickle and pitman rod four times daily when machine is being used. These parts operate at high speed and need a good quality lubricant that will stick to the moving parts.

and it should be thoroughly studied by the farmer until he knows the proper working relationships of the various parts and units. Once these are learned, crop losses and troubles can be reduced to a minimum. We recommend the excellent Extension Circular No. 741, "Know Your Combine," prepared by Carlton L. Zink and an associate of the Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service, Lincoln, Nebraska.

A few of the important things to remember which will prevent trouble and enable the farmer to get maximum life from his combine are:

1. Maintain the proper speed of the main units.
2. Be sure that the reel is properly adjusted. It is reported that improper reel adjustment is one of the most common causes of service complaints.
3. Stop the machine and oil it completely four times a day.
4. Watch the amount and character of the tailings. They indicate the quality of work the combine is doing.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER
Japan now controls about 80% of the rubber plantations of the world.
Regardless of whether synthetic rubber is made from petroleum, grain, shrubs or chemicals it will be some time before car owners will be able to purchase synthetic rubber tires. War purposes have first call.
A tombstone marks the spot near Sussex, England, where a fire that had burned its owner 12 years was ceremoniously buried.
300 rubber parts, not including tires and tubes, are used in the modern automobile. Without rubber the car would truly be a "junk" wagon.
There is talk these days of replacing 25,000,000 tires a year! Quite a jump from the 3,600,000 replaced—retrograded mark of 1937.
Automobiles were on over 98% of all U.S. farms in 1940; 15.5% of the farms had motor trucks and 23.1% motor tractors.

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY SO FAR: Jeff Curtis and his wife, Lee, are already on their way to Tierra Libre when he receives a note from Zora Mitchell warning them not to come. When they arrive in Tierra Libre they find both Zora and her husband dead. It is Mitchell's job as chief engineer for a fruit company that Jeff has been called to fill. Later Jeff's friend Bill Henderson is also killed, and Jeff suspects his employer, Senor Montaya, of murdering him and the Mitchells because they had found a clue to the strange things going on at the plantation. Other sinister figures are the company chemist, Dr. Toenjes, and the flyers, Ryden and Lannestock. A U. S. Army plane is forced down, but Senor Montaya does not appear alarmed by the presence of the army men. Jeff and Lee discover that their housemaid is spying on them. Now Jeff is talking to a man named Collins.

NOW CONTINUE WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

The man's eyes veiled suddenly. Curt flared.
"Well, make up your mind whether to trust me or not. I can't manage a tete-a-tete very often. You're from the Canal Zone. And you drink about as much as I do. Your general appearance needs to be explained." Curt dared a little guesswork. "You came in through Solemiera dad on the destroyer that called there a week ago Monday?"
A rigidity in the other convinced Curt he was right. He went on.
"You've built yourself into a tramp by sleeping in old clothes and not shaving for ten days. Your skin isn't used to a beard, it itches. You keep scratching your face. But you couldn't resist the comforts of a clean body. You got those bleary eyes from going without sleep, and that hungry look from doing without food. For about two days, huh? Three days? The whole thing's a build-up. Why?"
Collins gave in.
"I needed a good background. McInnis says I can trust you. I think so, too, first judgment. It's a long story, and I can't even give it to you. All of it, anyway. I'm asking you, as a fellow American," he emphasized the words, "to give me a job. I want to get established here."

Steps mounted hurriedly to the door in the outer room. The door snapped open. Curt picked up the application blank Collins had been working on, and was studying it as Emilio entered, black-browed.
"Everything is ready," the native announced hardily.
Curt looked up. "Okay. We'll have to hold it a few minutes. All right, Collins," he snapped at the ragged man, "it so happens I do need men. I'll give you a try-out, but you better be as good as you say you are. You can go up to camp with me now."

He looked the man over with distaste. "First, go to the next room and take off those rags. Get under the shower and I'll find you some clean clothes. There's a razor in the bathroom. Get those whiskers off. And hustle it up."
Scarcely a word passed on the chugging trip to the levee camp. Esteban, the Carib launch boy, sat at his controls and stared straight ahead. Emilio sulked.
As for Collins, after a few minutes of that stare he simply turned his back on Emilio and gazed at the river's edge slipping by. Collins was a far stretch from the tramp of an hour ago. In spare shirt and breeches Curt kept on hand in his Tempujo quarters. Collins showed up a tall, rangy, athletic person.

Curt had plenty to occupy his mind. His guess, confirmed by the other's silence, that Collins had come to Soledad on the destroyer, was proof enough that something was brewing. But what?
The man had said he came "to see Mitchell," but Mitch had been dead for days before Collins had—presumably—left the Canal Zone. Did he come to investigate Mitch's death? If so, then he had plenty more to investigate.
True, violent deaths of three Americans would assume an importance that Mitchell's alone didn't have, but these other deaths hadn't occurred until Collins was already on his way. So that couldn't be the answer. Besides, he wouldn't have been a disguise for this.

Now, it was to the United States' interest, Curt reasoned, so far as it could be seen that peace was preserved throughout these countries. Did it mean that Montaya, innocent as he appeared to be of such aspirations, actually had political yearnings?
But here again were objections. Dr. Arca, the "provisional" Presidente of Tierra Libre, was a good executive, the people not abused, their economy prospering reasonably well. You can't have a revolution among satisfied people.
Monahan's shift was coming off duty as the launch made the levee camp's landing. Curt took Collins ashore—under Emilio's watchful eye—and while the camp cook was replenishing the lunch basket, he turned the man over to Monahan.
"Put him on a drag this afternoon, Slats. You can tell one way or another about him by the time I get back this evening. Luck, Collins."

Curt left his musette bag in camp, went briefly into the few questions accumulated since he was here two days ago, then took off upriver again.
There were three of them this time—Curt, Emilio, and the Carib launch boy.

They reached without incident a spot above the C. A. T. holdings, past the point where the Rio Negro levee made an elbow to join the first arm of the Quebrado range. Here Curt had the Indian pull the launch in to the south shore. Then he put on his carefully prepared act. He appeared to deliberate.
"Very well, Emilio," he said at last, "here's our program. I want you to pace off the shore line and plant these flags every forty steps. Be sure they can be easily seen from across the river. This won't be hard to do, with the river now at a low mark, though you may have to use your machete on small brush. When you reach that bend up ahead, wait for us there."
"Meanwhile, Esteban will set me down at that hill opposite. I'll climb to the highest point, get some pictures for further study, and come down the other side. The launch will pick me up, then we'll cross and get you. Is that clear?"
Emilio fumbled with the flags. "Could not Esteban plant the flags? Then I could stay with you—"
"We need him on the launch. Neither of us could handle it in these rough waters." For some distance they'd been fighting the increased current of the lower rapids.
"But Senor Montaya gave me strict orders—"
"Of course, of course," Curt interrupted impatiently. "He told me, too. That's for where there could be danger of attack such as came to Mr. Mitchell. There can be no danger here. Come, we'll have to get going if we're to get back to camp by dark."

He hustled Emilio, still protesting and blackly reluctant, off along the shore line, jumped back into the launch, and was set down on the other shore. As the launch boy headed upstream for the rendezvous, Curt took one look behind him. He could see Emilio was watching him.

Curt was now in somewhat familiar territory. On this bank rose a considerable hill thickly covered with a jungle of trees, lianas, undergrowth. Because of the hill, Finca Urana, the Associated's farm, didn't touch the river at this spot. Curt plunged into a path used by the women of the farm laborers when they came to the river to wash clothes. He picked up a mule trail at the edge of the banana plantation, broke into a trot.
Banana farms are laid out evenly, the "bits" planted twenty feet or so apart. The plants grow rapidly, shooting up suckers, of which the strongest are allowed to remain, and each single plant eventually becomes a ring of plants, like a bed of gigantic canas. Their long broad leaves meet twenty to thirty feet overhead, allowing only scattered rays of sunshine to reach the earth.
A banana plantation is a lovely, peaceful spot—if one has the time to enjoy it. Through these sunbeams brilliant birds and butterflies dart; there are rustlings underfoot of field rats or iguanas—or snakes; and all is hushed as a green-windowed cathedral.
It was along such a lane, hot, the air still, that Curt trotted. If all went well he could get to the farmhouse of Urana and back to the river in thirty to forty minutes. He would have to explain this lapse of time, but he'd worry about that later.
Out of breath and sweating heavily, he reached the farmhouse. His khaki shirt was dark with perspiration.
There was only a native timekeeper in the farm office, which was the ground floor of the two-story house, while another mozo was raking the corral. He looked up, amazed, at the stranger who appeared out of nowhere, but Curt gave him no chance to put his curiosity into words. He took the initiative.

"Dónde esta hoy el Senor McInnis?"
"Cree que fue al Tigre, Senor."
Curt went to the old wall phone and turned the handle sharply. The bell in the box tinkled. The thick soft voice of the exchange operator answered.
"Ring Finca Tigre." He waited. "Senor McInnis there? How long would it take to bring him to the phone? Oh?" He thought a moment. "All right, thanks, won't wait." He hung up.
His eye fell on a typewriter. Seizing a piece of paper, he rolled it into the machine and began to punch out a note:
"Jerry. You've heard of Zora Mitchell and Bill Henderson without a doubt. Convinced of danger here, but don't know what it is. Old Man Moore has confidential file on everyone of consequence in Tierra Libre. Hates to give out but I must know all I can about Montaya. Make him spill to you, and meet me at River-bend about nine Saturday night. Hiring Collins, no chance to talk to him yet. C."
He cast about for an envelope, found one, sealed and addressed his message.
The native timekeeper had been staring at him throughout all this, half in amazement, half in resentment. Curt asked his name.
"Rafael Diaz, Senor."
"Bueno, Rafael," said Curt. "Tell me one about this. See that Senor McInnis gets this as soon as possible. Phone him to come here. Put it in his hands yourself. Understand?"
As Curt made off at a trot across the clearing, to disappear under the banana plants, the timekeeper, note in one hand, money in the other, shrugged his shoulders, muttering, "Locos— todos locos, Americanos. Siempre tienen prisa . . ." (These crazy Americans, always in a hurry.)
On his way back to the river Curt thought of his sweat-soaked shirt. He ripped it off as he trotted and let the breeze he created nearly dry it by the time he reached the hill, when he put it on again. It would still show wet but that could be accounted for by his exertions along the river.
He saw a brilliant orchid in bloom, an epiphyte fastened to a slender dead tree limb within reach. It was one of the "butterfly" orchids Lee wanted, and had two three-foot candelabra branches covered with dozens of small bright yellow blooms, like butterflies alighted.
Here was his excuse for lost time! Curt put on the rest of his act with deliberation. He studied the opposite shore, the rising hills behind, put away his field glasses, took his pictures, then fought his way through the undergrowth down the hill to meet the launch.

He could see Emilio was watching him.

"It was some time you were gone from view," said Emilio, when at last picked up. The man was jittery. "I worried. You had difficulty?"
"Some," admitted Curt. "But this is what lost me many minutes. My wife wants an orchid collection. She had one when we lived here before."
Curt exhibited the plant with such real pride that it appeared to satisfy Emilio, and the man fell into narrow-eyed sullenness.
"Well, I'm through here," said Curt, tapping the camera. "Let's go."
They picked up the flags Emilio had planted—in his pictures they would mark 100-foot intervals, though this was no more essential to Curt than the pictures. But the ruse had worked. During this process Curt also hunted a couple more orchids to bolster his excuse for the delay across the river.
Then they proceeded to eat lunch in the boat, in the lengthening afternoon shade of a stand of mangroves. Roots of these trees, sprouting from branches in midair, had taken hold in the river bottom, making a natural awning against the sun.
Perched on a branch not far from the launch, a noisy kiskadee japed incessantly. Esteban, the Carib, called it a "heet-gee-gee." At first it was merely annoying, but before the meal was finished the bird had become a definite nuisance.
Curt pulled his pistol, took aim, fired. His brows shot up in astonishment!
There had been no kick when he squeezed the trigger, and the bullet, expelled without force, made a curious arc and plopped harmlessly into the water.
He tried another shot, but with the same result. Then he removed the clip and examined the remaining bullets. They seemed to be all right. The brass shell case from the first shot had ejected over the side, but the second had fallen into the boat.
Curt picked it up and examined it. Undoubtedly, it was from the same lot as the rest of the clip. Suddenly he noted that Emilio's sullenness had disappeared, that the native was eyeing the proceedings with a dead-pan countenance and completely indifferent eyes.
The bird meanwhile had merely hopped a couple of steps at each shot and was still jabbering its raucous notes. Curt snapped home the clip, tried a third shot. Another dull thud. So he shrugged, reholstered the automatic, and said, "Huh. Bad lot of ammunition." Nothing more.

Serve the Festive Bird—Plump With Stuffing (See Recipes Below.)

Day of Praise

Now that the frost-nipped days have come and we've gathered the harvest, Thanksgiving time is here again. It really is a Thanksgiving, for a year of plenty if not of peace, and it's to be celebrated with a dinner symbolic of the plenty of harvest. Your family will feel a deep and heartfelt satisfaction if you place yellow-gold and deep crimson autumn leaves over the mantel, or provides a blazing fire and have bowls of lush colored grapes, crisp shelled nuts, blushing pears and apples within comfortable reach.

The Bird Itself

Select tender chicken for roasting. Pick dry. Singe and take out pin feathers with tweezers. Cut around neck and make split almost to tip of breastbone. Insert hand and take out entrails carefully from back and sides. Pull out. Be sure lungs are removed. Push back skin of neck, and cut off neck close to body. Remove windpipe. Separate gizzard, heart and liver and cut away gall bladder which is attached to liver, being careful not to break it. Cut through gizzard and clean. Remove oil sack from tail.

Wash outside with cold water. Wipe inside with damp cloth. Sprinkle inside with salt and then stuff loosely. Insert toothpicks or metal pins across opening and lace them with cord. Fold skin of neck over back and fasten with toothpick. Fold wings across back. Tie ends of legs together with a cord, then bring cord around tail and forward to tip of wings to tie. Rub skin with fat (unsalted) and place on roaster rack. Roast uncovered in a moderately slow oven (325-350 degrees) 30 minutes to the pound for a chicken under 3½ pounds, 22-25 minutes for a chicken over 4 pounds.

Stuffing (Makes 3½ cups)

½ cup rice
3 cups boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup fat
½ cup diced celery
½ cup chopped onion
5½ cups oven-popped rice cereal
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup stock
Wash rice thoroughly in a sieve. Drain well. Add rice to boiling water slowly as water continues to bubble. Boil rapidly about 20 minutes until rice is tender, then drain in sieve.
Brown celery and onion in fat.

Lynn Says:

Speaking of Stuffings: The old-fashioned bread dressing is easily adapted to many variations. Here is the basic idea: To 1½ pounds of dried bread cut in one-inch cubes add ½ to 1 cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon white pepper, ¼ cup minced onion, cooked but not browned, and 2 tablespoons of poultry dressing. Toss lightly and stuff fowl.
If you like crisp celery tasty dressing, add 2 cups finely chopped celery to the bread dressing.
On the other hand, if you like the crispness of chestnuts, add 1 pound of chestnuts, chopped and cooked.
Giblets go well with bread dressing, cook and chop and toss into bread dressing. Mushrooms are distinctive, if simply chopped and sautéed in butter and added to bread stuffing.
Oysters make a tempting dressing. Use 1 pint, chopped and heated until edges curl in 3 tablespoons butter.

*Yams With Oranges. (Serves 6)

2 to 3 pounds yams
2 oranges, peeled
½ cup brown sugar
½ cups pineapple juice
Peel raw potatoes and slice into buttered casserole. Lay sliced oranges between yam slices, sprinkle brown sugar over all, then add pineapple juice. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for 1 hour or until tender.

A hot muffin with the tang of fall—these spicy apple muffins are guaranteed to whet the most listless—if there be such on Thanksgiving day—appetite.

*Apple Muffins. (Makes 20)

2½ cups sifted flour
3½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
4 tablespoons shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 cup evaporated milk (undiluted)
1 cup finely chopped, raw apples
Sift dry ingredients. Cream shortening and sugar, stir in egg and add flour alternately with milk. Fold in apples and fill greased muffin tins almost full. Sprinkle tops of muffins with additional sugar (about 2 tablespoons in all) mixed with a dash of cinnamon and nutmeg. Bake in a moderately hot (425-degree) oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Busy homemakers like to use prepared, packaged or canned mince-meat for pies, but there are still many of you, who I am sure will like putting up some right in your own kitchen. Here's how:

*Grandmother's Mince-meat Pie.

2 pounds beef neck
1 pound suet
4 pounds tart apples
4 cups sugar
2 pounds currants
3 pounds seedless raisins
½ pound citron, cut
Juice and grated rind of 2 oranges
Juice and rind of 3 lemons
1 pint cider
1 tablespoon salt
1½ teaspoons nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon mace
Cook beef slowly in hot water for 3 hours. Cool and force through food chopper with suet and apples, using coarse grinder. Add remaining ingredients, blending thoroughly. Cook slowly one hour, then seal in sterilized jars. This makes 6 quarts.
Line pie tin with pastry, then pour in mince-meat. Top with criss-cross or lattice crust and bake in a hot oven 35 minutes.

Cotton Growers To Vote On Quota

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The nation's cotton growers will decide on Dec. 12 whether they want marketing quotas in effect next year.

Fixing the date for the referendum, Agriculture Secretary Wickard today urged retention of the quotas because, he said, in wartime they hold marketing of cotton in line with demand and prevent over-expansion of acreage.

"The nation's supplies of man power, machinery, chemicals and transportation and storage facilities are expected to be considerably tighter next year, and we must use these things to produce and market only crops that are urgently needed in the war effort," Wickard declared.

The agriculture department said the nation has nearly two years' supply of cotton on hand. Though the percentage of shorter staples and lower grades was higher than usual.

Farmers have been asked whether practicable to switch production to the longer staple varieties, needed in the manufacture of military essentials, and to increase production of peanuts and soy-beans—needed for vegetable oil, a war material.

Save 10% ... to Save 100%

All over the nation, patriotic Americans are spending less and saving more—putting at least 10% of their incomes into War Bonds and Stamps. So our boys can have the planes and tanks and guns they need to fight and attack and WIN for us!

hadn't tried to enslave America, too—and won't ever try it again!

And it's going to take 10% in War Bonds to do it!
