WHAT PRICE YARDAGE?

Those Burk Burnett women who sew, ask why it is almost impossible to purchase inexpensive cotton and rayon yard goods. The price of printed material for dresses has raised many a female eyebrow for these women recall the same type of material but of far better quality, selling for less money. The OPA has an involved explanation but when followed through shows how a ceiling here and none there makes for a problem to be met by the local seamstress as well as the manufacturer of dresses purchased in stores. There are ceilings on spinners and weavers of the raw materials. When the cloth comes from them to the dyers, bleachers and printers, this finisher is permitted to charge on a sliding scale, that is, the more he does the more he can charge. Where before the war, the printer would maybe put the print on only one dress material, now he puts it on two or three. More money. You can see what happens to cheap goods such as flannelette. Since colored goods brings more than white, they consequently dye more materials. There is your white goods problem, ladies. Although the made-up dress has a price ceiling, don't forget that the manufacturer is getting less cheap goods from the finisher and so he makes up the clothes of more expensive fabrics. In the old days the profit was greater on an expensive dress, but then fewer of these were sold. Now with the customer having more to spend the expensive dress finds a ready market. In spite of the manufacturer not being allowed to sell higher priced lines than 1941 and 1942, he gets fewer of the cheaper ones from the finisher so the stores get fewer of the cheaper ones. You could go into it further but it still doesn't put cheaper dress or yard goods back on the rack and shelf. The War Production Board promises the public a break by fall, but it takes more than a promise to convince our women.

SHAME ON US

In examining a cross-section of population, in a survey of public opinion, facts develop that should make us talk to ourselves. Of 90 million adults in this country, 27 million don't know the Japanese have taken the Philippines, 54 million have never heard of the Atlantic Charter and that same number doesn't know what causes inflation. 33 million don't know what a tariff is, only one out of three Americans can name both senators from their states and only 37 per cent of the people realize that we have received reverse lend-lease from Great Britain. Some farmers thought a subsidy was a cover crop. Should we blame ourselves for this ignorance in a democracy where radio, movie, press and schoolhouse make facts available. Or should we blame the democracy itself for not putting the facts before the public in a more understandable and interesting form.

Burk Burnett History

As revealed by the files of the Star 17 years ago.

Mrs. W. R. Hill chaperoned a party of young girls on an all-day outing Thursday at Medicine Park.

City Manager W. A. Roberts issued a statement this week urging citizens to clean up around their premises, all tin cans, papers, etc.

FOR SALE—Nice fat fryers, 25c each. 1 1-2 miles southeast of town.

Mrs. G. O. Lewallen and little son Otis, Jr., of Pocahontas, Ark., are here visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lewallen.

V. C. Skipwith and family are visiting about two weeks in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Hattie Buchanan sends greetings to her local friends from Oakdale, California, where she is enjoying a delightful season visiting her son and family in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Wid Philips and daughter Mrs. Pat Crawford and son Wid Philips Crawford, spent the week with relatives and friends in Ft. Worth and Dallas.

Mrs. Fanny Huffman suffered a severe injury Wednesday night when she fell from the running board of a Ford car driven by her daughter Mrs. Paul Ferguson. She is reported to have a fractured hip.

At 12:30 Wednesday night a fire of unknown origin destroyed a 3 room house on West 2nd occupied by Ed Steele.

A recent test of the Burk City Water was made by the Texas State Health Board and was reported excellent.

Our town was never lacking in amusement.

For instance, a handcuff artist put on an exhibition on the courthouse lawn. He called for volunteers in the crowd to step forward and fasten him tightly with chains, locking them with padlocks. After twisting and writhing, he succeeded in three or four minutes—in freeing himself. Then he passed the hat for telling of his trip to the Holy Land, illustrating the lecture with lantern slides.

The carnival of course a sense of dazzlement. Even after a boy's supply of nickles run out and there was no more riding on the merry-go-round or the ferris wheel, there was the free show in front of the Museum of World Curiosities, the Oriental dancer who was a princess; and the mind-reader, who was also a princess; and the snake charmer, who eddly enough was a princess too. These only appeared on the platform however, the only one who performed, free, was the fire-eater, though the wild man, captured in the jungles of Africa would shake his chain and growl.

One of the most thrilling events was the balloon, ascension, the aerialist—in bright costume, sitting on a trapeze under the balloon, which rapidly rose hundreds of feet in the air. Then he pulled the rip cord and the balloon began to deflate. The daredevil plunged toward earth until his parachute unfolded, then he floated down.

On one such occasion, a group of negroes was busy picking cotton when a parachute jumper fluttered to a landing in their midst. They fled in terror—all except Uncle Remus, who was a preacher and he courageously remained—also he had rheumatism and couldn't run. The old darkey gazed at the acrobat in his bright tights and then said, "Good nawnin' Lord Jesus, and how is yore Pappy gittin' along?"

The hopes of the overwhelming majority of the people of Texas that loan sharks can be driven out of the State were given impetus when a jury recently returned a verdict, the effect of which was to uphold the new anti-usury injunction law and to find a flock of these saboteurs of the war effort guilty thereunder.

With Ernie Pyle at the Front Nazi Snipers Caused Real Trouble to Yank Invaders Snipers Remain in Hiding; Surrender When Ammunition Gone

By Ernie Pyle

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.—Sniping, as far as I know, is recognized as a legitimate means of warfare. And yet there is something sneaking about it that outrages the American sense of fairness. I had never sensed this before we landed in France and began pushing the Germans back. We have had snipers before—in Bizerte and Cassino and lots of other places. But always on a small scale. Here in Normandy the Germans have gone in for sniping in a wholesale manner. There are snipers everywhere. There are snipers in trees, in buildings, in piles of wreckage, in the grass. But mainly they are in the high, bushy hedgerows that form the fences of all the Norman fields and line every roadside and lane.

It is perfect sniping country. A man can hide himself in the thick fence-row shrubbery with several days' rations, and it's like hunting a needle in a haystack to find him. Every mile we advance there are dozens of snipers left behind us. They pick off our soldiers one by one as they walk down the roads or across the fields.

It isn't safe to move into a new bivouac area until the snipers have been cleaned out. The first bivouac I moved into had shots ringing through it for a full day before all the hidden gunmen were rounded up. It gives you the same spooky feeling that you get on moving into a place you suspect of being sown with mines.

In past campaigns our soldiers would talk about the occasional snipers with contempt and disgust. But here sniping has become more important, and taking precautions against it is something we have had to learn and learn fast. One officer friend of mine said: "Individual soldiers have become sniper-conscious as whole units." Snipers kill as many Americans as they can, and then when their food and ammunition run out they surrender. To an American that isn't quite ethical. The average American soldier has little feeling against the average German soldier who has fought an open fight and lost. But his feelings about the sneaking snipers can't very well be put into print. He is learning how to kill the snipers before the time comes for them to surrender.

As a matter of fact this part of France is very difficult for anything but fighting between small groups. It is a country of little fields, every one bordered by a thick hedge and a high fence of trees. There is hardly any place where you can see beyond the field ahead of you. Most of the time a soldier doesn't see more than a hundred yards in any direction. In other places the ground is flooded and swampy with a growth of high, jungle-like grass. In this kind of stuff it is almost man-to-man warfare. One officer who has served a long time in the Pacific says this fighting is the nearest thing to Guadalcanal that he has seen since.

We went to the far end of the square, where three local French policemen were standing in front of the mayor's office. They couldn't speak any English, but they said there was one woman in town who did, and a little boy was sent running for her. Gradually a crowd of eager and curious people crushed in upon us, until there must have been 200 of them, from babies to old women. Finally the woman arrived—a little dark woman with graying hair and spectacles, and a big smile. Her English was quite good, and we asked her if there were any Germans in the town. She turned and asked the policeman.

Instantly everybody in the crowd started talking at once. The sound was like that of a machine that increases in speed until its noise drowns out all else. Finally the policeman had to hush the crowd so the woman could answer us. She said there were Germans all around, in the woods, but none whatever left in the town. Just then a German stuck his head out of a nearby second-story window. Somebody saw him, and an American soldier was dispatched to get him. Barneville is a fortunate place, because not a shell was fired into it by either side. The lieutenant with us told the woman we were glad nobody had been hurt. When she translated this for the crowd, there was much nodding in approval of our good wishes.

Thousands of little personal stories will dribble out of D-day on the Normandy beachhead. A few that I pick up from time to time I will pass along to you. The freakiest story I've heard is of an officer who was shot through the face. He had his mouth wide-open at the time, yelling at somebody. The bullet went in on cheek and right through his mouth without touching a thing, not even his teeth, and out the other cheek.

A veteran of the last war pretty well summed up the two wars the other day when he said: "This is just like the last war, only the holes are bigger." The main roads are macadam and the side roads gravel, winding, narrow, and difficult for traffic.

We must have stood and talked for an hour and a half. It was a kind of holiday for the local people. They were relieved but still not quite sure the Germans wouldn't be back. They were still under a restraint that wouldn't let them open up riotously. But you could sense from little things that they were glad to have us.

A little French shopkeeper came along with a spool of red, white and blue ribbon from his store. He cut off pieces about six inches long for all hands, both American and French. In a few minutes everybody was going around with a French tricolor in his buttonhole. Then a ruddy-faced man of middle age, who looked like a gentleman farmer, drove up in one of those one-horse, high-wheeled work carts that the French use.

He had a German prisoner in uniform standing behind him, and another one, who was sick, lying on a stretcher. The farmer had captured these guys himself, and he looked so pleased with himself that I expected him to take a bow at any moment. French people kept coming up and asking us for instructions. A man who looked as if he might be the town banker asked what he was supposed to do with prisoners.

We told him to bring them to the truck, and asked how many he had. To our astonishment he said he had 70 in the woods a couple of miles away, 120 in a nearby town, and 40 in another town. As far as I could figure it out he had captured them all himself. Another worried-looking Frenchman came up. He was a doctor. He said he had 26 badly wounded Germans down at the railroad station and desperately needed medical supplies. He wanted chloroform and sulfa drugs. We told him we would have some sent.

When we finally started away from the crowd, a little old fellow in faded blue overalls ran up and asked us, in sign language, to come to his cafe for a drink. Since we didn't dare violate the spirit of hands-across-the-sea that was then wafting about the town, we had to sacrifice ourselves and accept.

Pyle Finds a Difference in Stories of Two Wars

The most wrecked town I have seen so far is Saint Sauveur le Vicomte, known simply as "San Sah-Vure." Its buildings are gutted and leaning, its streets choked with rubble, and vehicles drive over the top of it. Bombing and shellfire from both sides did it. The place looks exactly like World War I pictures of such places as Verdun. At the edge of

Ernie Pyle

Washington, D. C.
DISCHARGED VETERANS

President Roosevelt has just received a suggestion from Chicago's Mayor Ed Kelly designed to aid in the rehabilitation of ex-servicemen. Kelly, acting on a proposal from his wife Margaret, head of Chicago's tremendously popular servicemen's aid organization, has urged FDR that men be permitted to wear their uniforms for three to six months after they are discharged, if they want to. Kelly pointed out that 30,000 Chicago boys have been discharged from service and that many return home, after a year or more's absence, feeling thoroughly out of place in the community in civilian clothes.

Many folks don't even know the boys have been off to war serving their country, Kelly has pointed out. Discharge buttons, promised many months ago, are still not issued to men everywhere. Even though disabled, they no longer can enter servicemen's centers for recreation, no longer receive special rates in theaters.

Kelly also wrote the President that, during the last war, men were allowed to keep wearing their uniforms for some time after their discharge. Many walked the streets in uniforms hunting jobs and received preference because they were veterans. Note—Chicago's servicemen's centers have done one of the best jobs in the U. S. A., have served more than 12,000,000 meals free.

CONGRESSIONAL SOLDIERS

It's not nearly so bad as in the last war, but several younger members of congress are having trouble as they seek reelection, because they are in congress and not in the army. In most cases, the "slacker" charges are simply whispered. In one case, political opponents are whispering about a congressman who has received the navy's Silver Star for gallantry in action. He is Lyndon Johnson of Texas, who saw his bunkmate killed beside him in the South Pacific.

Representative Albert Gore of Tennessee, who is 36, is another who has been smeared in a whispering campaign. A father, Gore waived his congressional immunity last winter and was inducted into the army as a private. However, at the request of the President, he returned to congress before he began training.

Others who have felt the lash of criticism because they are serving their country in the office to which they were elected are Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Jamie Whitten of Mississippi, and Lindley Beekworth of Texas, and even Representative Warren G. Magnuson of Washington. The 39-year-old Magnuson, now running for senator, has seen more of the western Pacific theater than most soldiers and sailors in the area, was serving on the aircraft carrier from which General Doolittle's planes took off for the first bombing of Tokyo.

AIR-COOLED CONGRESS

While war workers swelter in movie theaters and while government officials suffer in Washington's flimsy temporary buildings, the high-ceilinged house and senate office buildings enjoy air conditioned comfort—even with congress adjourned.

Although the capitol air-conditioning equipment is being geared to use the smallest possible amount of freon gas, the fact remains that it took a special deal with WPB to release the 14,000 pounds needed. Meanwhile, movie theaters serving war workers in the South have been denied freon because of military demands.

Capitol Architect David Lynn says he's the man to blame, not members of congress. He says not a single member has taken the matter up with him. Probably no one is directly to blame, unless it is the WPB officials who played favorites in releasing the freon. No one begrudges the congressmen their air-conditioning, but their buildings, because of thick walls and high ceilings, would be cool even without air-conditioning.

In the army's huge Pentagon building, the freon supply has been cut to the bone. The result, according to workers there, is that the atmosphere is slightly warm. Last year they claimed it was far too chilly, with many colds resulting.

CAPITAL CHAFF

NBC's popular "Labor for Victory" radio program will be suspended for the summer after nearly two years on the air. Reason is the AFL won't cooperate with the CIO in putting it on.

Insiders report that the recent visit of Polish Premier Mikolajczyk to Washington was highly successful. The Polish government is now expected to purge itself of anti-Russian leaders such as Beck and Pilsudski. In return, Russia will sign a treaty of cooperation with Poland similar to that with Czechoslovakia; also will give the Poles more territory around Lwow.

Taxpayers will get some jolty reading in Prof. Harold Groves' "Production Gains and Taxes," published by McGraw-Hill for the committee on economic development.

ATHLETE'S FOOT NEWS

"80.6% of sufferers showed CLINICAL IMPROVEMENT after only 10-day treatment with SORETONE"

Foster D. Snell, Inc., well-known consulting chemists, have just completed a test with a group of men and women suffering from Athlete's Foot. These people were told to use Soretone. At the end of only a ten-day test period, their feet were examined by a physician. We quote from the report: "After the use of Soretone according to the directions on the label for a period of only ten days, 80.6% of the cases showed clinical improvement of an infection which is most stubborn to control."

Improvements were shown in the symptoms of Athlete's Foot—the itching, burning, redness, etc. The report says: "In our opinion Soretone is of very definite benefit in the treatment of this disease, which is commonly known as 'Athlete's Foot.'" So if Athlete's Foot troubles you, don't temporize! Get Soretone! McKesson & Robbins, Inc., Bridgeport, Connecticut.

Sunday morning is "family morning" in Sunday School. By this we are emphasizing that every member of every family be in Sunday School rain or shine. The lesson will be the 39th chapter of Exodus—"When Clothes Made A Man." This lesson deals with the attire of the High Priest, and he and what he wore typifies the person, character and work of Christ.

The morning sermon at eleven will be, "Responsibilities, And to Whom Do They Belong." Evening services begin at 7:45 with the young people meeting in their places for devotional and Bible study. Prayer groups meet at eight o'clock.

Preaching services on the lawn next to the church at 8:30. Old time singing, followed by the sermon by the pastor. Sermon subject, "Babylon The Great Has Fallen." This lesson will be taken from the 18th chapter of Revelation. Who is Babylon, and when shall she fall? Surely these verses have a very vivid meaning, and God wants us to have their meaning, or He would never have placed them in His revealed Word. Come with an open heart and mind and listen to the preaching of God's Word. You have a standing warm-hearted welcome at the Calvary Baptist Church.

 France,

they sure do taste good. You know how it is when you're in fox holes fighting and all you have to eat is cold K rations. I have a lot of souvenirs I've gotten off the Germans but we can't send packages home. If I ever get to come home I am going to bring them with me. I thought the English were funny talking people but you should hear the French. You can find a few Frenchmen who talk English and they can tell you a lot about this town. I know you all wished I could have been home for my birthday. I didn't get my candy but I know that it will catch up with me someday. I don't know if we are going to rest for a while or see more action right away. I hope that they will let us rest for a while anyway. I am sending you a picture of Cherbourg before it was bombed to pieces. If you look at the hill on the left side where the arrow is pointing, there is a fort which the Germans held and our bombers bombed 90 hours before the Germans would come out and give up. It's getting late and I have to go on guard and I sure do need some rest. Good night and may God bless you and keep you. I thank God that He has brought me through safely. God bless you all.

Love,
 Preston.

Work Shoe Commandos Fighting Fatigue and Hard Service on Farm Front and Factory Front

"FIGHTIN'" shoes is right! It's actually amazing the way Wolverines stand up against scuffing, scraping, perspiration, barnyard acids. They'll fight it out with the hardest kind of service and win - give you months and miles of extra wear - cuts your work shoe costs way down... Even more remarkable is the way Wolverines fight foot fatigue with so soft and soles so flexible you couldn't work more comfortably in old house slippers. They never change, either, dry that way after soaking. Come in, let us show you.

Promote H. L. RICE to the Office of Assessor and Collector July 22

(Seven Years as Deputy) Consider these points:
 The ambition of H. L. Rice to be your Assessor and Collector has been common knowledge among many of his friends for years including the present collector. Your collector promised to withdraw in 1940 and give Mr. Rice an opportunity as a candidate. H. L. Rice stated in his announcement in January that it was not his desire to wreck a good organization; notwithstanding this statement your collector in order to hide behind the skirts of his deputies is stating that all deputies will lose their jobs if he is defeated. H. L. Rice is not a fanatic about short terms, however since we live under a democracy, and since rotation in office is a fundamental principle of democracy, we should preserve it, even as our boys are giving their lives for such principles. Ten years' time and $50,000.00 should satisfy anyone. No one else for several decades has served longer.

C. M. (Judge) McFarland
 State Representative District 111, Place 1
For Re-election

MY FRIENDS:
 As your state representative I have given you the most thoughtful and most constructive service of which I am capable.

I am willing for you to judge me on my record. If there are mistakes in it, they have been of the head and not of the heart. You will find, if you study that record, that I have consistently supported the constructive measures, the forward-looking measures, the measures that served the general needs and interests. I submit my candidacy on that record as written, and not on the merits or demerits of any other person. So much for the past.

Looking forward, I believe the most important task the 49th Legislature must face is to enact such laws as are necessary to maintain a wholesome way of life for our boys when they return from a devastating global war. These returning soldiers must have all the help possible to establish themselves in our post-war economy. There is a duty that rests upon the legislators in this respect. That duty must be wisely and soundly fulfilled.

That task alone will require a high degree of wisdom and statesmanlike planning. It will demand serious, constructive and patriotic thought and action.

In choosing a representative, the only real question is, "Who can serve best?" Who, by reason of qualifications, experience, influence, and proven ability can best serve our citizenship.

If, in your judgment, I am that man, I ask your vote and influence, and I here renew the only pledge that I or any other man can honestly make, that I shall continue to serve you faithfully, courageously and sincerely to the best of my ability.

I make this special plea in closing, that you go to the polls and vote. Our boys are fighting and dying on foreign shores to uphold, among other things, the right freely to choose our public servants. It is your duty to exercise that right. It is a duty that every patriotic citizen should meet.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, I've had a lot of calls for that book you took out last week... 'Tell the Boys Back Home'. How did you like it?"

"Fine, Sarah, fine... it's just the kind of book I like to get hold of... I enjoyed every word of it. Wish I could have been along with the author myself... actually living with the men right on the fighting fronts. He got mighty close to them and they certainly opened up their minds and their hearts to him."

"There were lots of new things in the book I hadn't seen in any other reports from front-line writers. But there was one question the men asked the author that I have seen time and time again in these stories. That was 'Are you going to put prohibition over on us soldiers again... and without getting our vote?'"

"I noticed that, too, Judge, and I think the least we can do for those fighting men who are doing so much for us is to respect their wishes on that subject."

Elect P. W. Tucker to the office of Assessor-Collector

I want to thank the voters of Wichita County for the splendid support you gave me two years ago in the race for the office of Assessor-Collector. I have never held a public office but have handled real estate in Wichita County for twenty years and I do have the ambition and ability to serve in the capacity of Assessor and Collector.

Jim has had the office long enough say many of the Wichita County Voters, should you feel that way too, there will be a change in this office in 1944.

The present incumbent is asking for a continuation in the office on the basis of service rendered. The man whom he succeeded gave excellent service and the man who succeeds him will also give good service and with a chance always to improve in some departments. No one individual has a monopoly on service in this free country of ours.

The present Assessor and Collector is serving his tenth year in office and has drawn from the tax payers in Wichita County the sum of approximately $50,000. This is an office of public trust and is not intended for any one man to perpetuate himself as a public officer.

I earnestly solicit your support in the coming election July 22nd.

P. W. TUCKER.
(Pol. Adv.)

This is a reproduction of an advertisement which Jim ran in one of the Wichita County papers when he was seeking election to the office of which he was honored. You will notice in the advertisement in parenthesis, where he criticized his opponent at that time for having had ten years in this office and having collected $50,000.00 from the tax papers of Wichita County. Today he is at the same crossroad.
