Burkburnett Becoming Watermelon Center

THEY GROW BIG IN BURKBURNETT

Shown above is an 88 pound watermelon grown by A. G. Bingham on his farm just across the river in Oklahoma. The melon will be exhibited at the Wichita County Fair in Iowa Park in September by Mr. Bingham. Kneeling by the melon: Victor Van Loh, A. G. Bingham, Charles Crow, and wielding the knife, Tom Hamilton.

Farmers in the Burkburnett area are experiencing their biggest year producing watermelons for sale. Prior to 1942, very few people in this vicinity thought that watermelons could be successfully grown here. Most farmers planted a small patch for their own consumption, but little care was exercised in the selection of seed, and very little attention was given the growing plants. Consequently, the ripened product was seldom anything to be proud of.

There are many cash crops that can be grown successfully here. Farmers are slowly realizing that cotton and wheat are not the only products from which they may depend for profit. There are two kinds of melons that do exceptionally well here: Porter's Giant and the Black Diamond.

Wilbert Prechel in the Clara community, T. B. Crosby, 9 miles from Burk across the river in Okla. W. D. Owens, 6 miles S-E of Burkburnett. Many others had patches of various size in a 10 mile radius of this city. A. G. Bingham planted four acres this year and expects to harvest about 100,000 pounds of melons. He raises Porter's Giant melons, which have averaged about 50 pounds per melon this year, many of them weighing 70 pounds or better.

Those who register early will be given preference of subjects offered, and as classes are filled, late comers will have to take whatever subjects and classes that are left open.

Baby Basket Mystery Solved

Burn Alexander caused a lot of speculation some weeks ago when he was seen driving down the street with a baby basket in the back seat of his car. The mystery was completely cleared Sunday, August 13, when a daughter was born to Capt. and Mrs. S. F. Fenner, at the Burkburnett Clinic. The little lady is named Sheryl Frances. Mother and baby are doing fine at the home of Mrs. Fenner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Alexander. Capt. Fenner was here recently visiting from Salina, Kansas, where he is stationed at present.

GOOD PLANS . . . BUT

Various tax plans have been proposed in an effort to establish a Federal taxing system which would insure adequate governmental revenue and at the same time encourage the productivity of industries and individuals.

All of these plans have a common characteristic. They have been evolved by the best brains in the country and are constructive efforts to bring the monstrous problem of Federal taxation under control before it destroys the very freedom for which American men are fighting in every corner of the world. But—and there is a very large but—no plan will work unless the politicians and the people sincerely wish it to work. The old battle of class taxation, with group pitted against group, each seeking to unload taxes onto the other fellow, if continued, will block any sane tax plan.

CALL A HALT

The urgent appeal to save waste paper comes often to this editor's desk, almost daily. You too hear it on the air and across the back fence and are co-operating. Still too much paper crowds our elbow, issued from so many departments of government that we can't bother to read it or recognize all the departments that produce the bulletins. We haven't the time. It isn't just the government that issues so much waste paper, but many kinds of organizations putting out advertising matter that is unnecessary at the present time. Too much in regard to private policies, plans, arguments, that it generally isn't digested but shoved into the waste basket. As it is here on our desk, so you will find it where editors are even busier. Why should mail be heavier in wartime than in peace, with a paper shortage on hand.

MIDWEST DRY WEATHER

Drouths of the Midwest have given the idea that food requirements for next winter will be something else to worry about. True that through lack of rain many crops have dried and agriculture has suffered a relapse in many sections. Yet, the dryness hasn't damaged the crops enough but that the United States has one of the largest wheat harvests in all history. The total is estimated at 1,128,000,000 bushels. Corn is way above average while other foods show up well since the truck-gardens have amply taken care of the tomatoes, lettuce, cabbage, peas and such. Fruits have been abundant though potatoes are less than last year. The Victory Gardens didn't produce as much, but many of these families have shelves well stocked from last year's produce. Besides, the commercial canners will fill up this lack. On the whole, congratulations are in order for agriculturists.

IT ISN'T OVER

There has been unlimited supposition of the ending of the war in Germany. Recently the odds are in favor of it being over in October. It begins to point to an early victory that has been suggested for some time. Such a prediction is logical enough since the power of Hitler seems to be daily decreasing in the theatres of war in the east, west and south. Not daunted by such happy tidings, our home front will continue to work the weapons which our fighters need to bring about this defeat to our enemy. With the end of war with Germany the picture of fighting on the Japanese front appears less awesome. Misery will come with the increased pressure we bring upon Germany, as she will want to wreck the world with her own failure to survive. Her death throes may stun us with their barbarianism. We are not, however, going to permit a false idea of peace to give us an inflated view of our own power and lull us to sleep when we should rather keep to our toes. There is much to be retaken, to be won from our enemy Japan. Peace is still a long way off when you count it in the cost of lives.

We are having a taste right now of what lies ahead after the peace when nations are international problems and call for international understanding. We must look to the system of organization that will give all countries a voice, and we must then listen to what that voice has to say. This is just a reminder of what comes with victory, when the war is over and we return to our lives of pleasant dreams.

Burkburnett . . . History

As revealed by the files of the Star 17 years ago.

President Glenn Kincaid presided over the Rotary Club and Paul Browning had charge of the program. He opened the program with a talk on the "Relationship between Employer and Employee," which was very interesting.

Miss Lillian Garrett was the honoree of a delightful dinner party given Sunday by her mother in their home in Stringtown. The occasion marked the young girl's fourteenth birthday.

W. A. Roberts and family are enjoying a vacation trip into Missouri, making the journey overland.

W. S. Duvall and Co. reported that they have ginned nine bales of cotton up to Thursday evening. Middling grade ranged at twenty and a half cents.

Mrs. J. M. Pogue, who has been a patient in a local hospital in Wichita Falls, has returned to her home in this city.

A fire, caused by the heat from the operating light on the films being run, broke out in the operating booth of the Liberty Theatre and destroyed some machines and did damage to the roof. The loss is estimated at $2,000.

Isn't it odd how history has a way of reversing the verdict that many people pass upon their contemporaries? The mists of abuse and harsh, angry words clear away leaving the figure of a man as majestic as a mountain—after he has died.

In 1896, the "gold bugs" said that free silver, which William Jennings Bryan advocated, would make money more plentiful, which would make it easier for debtors to pay their debts and that would be "wrong" because a creditor couldn't buy as much with a dollar if dollars were abundant as he could if they were scarce; therefore, free silver was "dishonest." They overlooked the fact that the great increase in the world's commerce without a corresponding increase in the medium of exchange had already had the effect of making money scarcer, thereby making it harder on debtors and favoring creditors—but that, of course, was not "dishonest."

And they didn't like Bryan because he was backed by the Populists, "a dangerous element. Actually, the Populists were mostly farmers for economic justice in the face of high transportation rates they had to pay and the low prices they received for their products.

Manufacturers posted notices on the bulletin boards that their factories would close if Bryan were elected. Ministers preached sermons urging the election of McKinley on the ground that free silver was "immoral." And that most righteous man, Mark Hanna of slush fund fame, sent forth stump speakers who pointed out that Judas had betrayed the Master for 30 pieces of silver—therefore, silver was accursed. Under the same reasoning, the human race should have quit using lumber because the Savior was nailed to the cross made of wood.

Well, they beat Billy Bryan. And then some prospectors found gold in the Klondike and thereby made the world's money supply more abundant—thus accomplishing, in a different way, what Bryan wanted to do.

And later, Republicans president issued money made out of paper and nobody said it was dishonest, and nobody turned down a chance to acquire some of it, either. I heard Bryan declare, with a smile, in a speech in 1914: "They said I wanted to put a government imprint on a piece of silver and make it worth $1. They said if you threw one of Bryan's dollars into a furnace, you'd have only 54 cents worth of silver. Well, if you'd throw one of their paper dollars into a furnace, you wouldn't have anything."

Bryan never became president but he lived to see many of the principles he advocated become the law of the land; votes for women, the income tax and direct election of United States Senators.

When the reactionaries in the party tried to nominate Champ Clark in 1912, Bryan threw his weight behind Woodrow Wilson, who proved to be one of our greatest presidents.

Those Pharisees who desecrated their pulpits with harangues against Bryan beheld him inspire millions with his magnificent lecture, "The Prince of Peace." He spent his last years in championing the Bible, the divine destiny of man and the immortality of the soul. No one now spoke unkindly of William Jennings Bryan, the Great Commoner.

Ernie Pyle at the Front

NORMANDY.—The great attack, when we broke out from the Normandy beachhead, began in the bright light of day, not at the zero hour of a bleak and mysterious dawn as attacks are supposed to start in books.

The attack had been delayed from day to day because of changing weather, and on the final day we hadn't known till after breakfast whether it was on or off again.

The word came that it was a full-scale attack. Various battalion staffs of the front line were called in from their posts for a final review of the battle plan.

Each one was given a mimeographed sketch of the front line area, showing exactly where and when each type of attack was to be made.

They were to bomb only on the far side of the road. Our kickoff infantry had been pulled back a few hundred yards this side of the road.

Everyone in the area had been given the strictest orders to be in foxholes, for high-level bombers can, and do quite excusably, make mistakes.

We were still in country so level and with hedgerows so tall there simply was no high spot—either hill or building—from where you could get a grandstand view of the bombing.

Having been caught too close to these things before, I compromised and picked a farmyard about 800 yards back of the kickoff line.

Our frontlines were marked by long strips of colored cloth laid on the ground, and with colored smoke to guide our airmen during the mass bombing that preceded our breakthrough from the German ring that held us to the Normandy beachhead.

Divide bombers hit it just right. We stood in the barnyard of a French farm and watched them barrel nearly straight down out of the sky. They were bombing about half a mile ahead of where we stood.

The air was full of sharp and distinct sounds of cracking bombs and the heavy rips of the planes' machine guns and the splitting screams of diving wings.

They came in flights of 12, three flights to a group and in groups stretched out across the sky. They came in "families" of about 70 planes each.

Maybe these gigantic waves were two miles apart, maybe they were 10 miles, I don't know. But I do know they came in a constant procession and I thought it would never end.

Their march across the sky was slow and studied. I've never known a storm, or a machine, or any resolve of man that had about it the aura of such a ghastly relentlessness.

I stood with a little group of men, ranging from colonels to privates, back of the stone farmhouse. Slit trenches were all around the edges of the farmyard and a dugout with a tin roof was nearby.

The first huge flight passed directly over our farmyard and others followed. We spread our feet and leaned far back trying to look straight up, until our steel helmets fell off. We'd cup our fingers around our eyes like field glasses for a clearer view.

Good Table Manners as They Were Back in 1834

These excerpts are from the "Manual of Good Manners" published in 1844—quoted by Arthur Train in "Puritan's Progress":

"Never be squinting and scowling and examining the victuals, to see if you can discover a coal or a speck or a hair; if you find one, take it out decently, and not make a great ado about it."

"Eat what you need before you rise from the table; and not be picking and eating afterwards. Never pocket victuals at the table, it denotes a thievish disposition."

"When you have done eating, clean your plate, knife and fork, lay the bones you have picked in a snug heap by the side of your plate, scrape up your crumbs, and cross your knife and fork on your plate."

"Speak not at table. Laugh not at table; it shows unthankfulness."

"The mouth and teeth should be scoured out once each day with cold dust, which is not only good to cleanse the teeth, but is also an excellent preservative to them."

To repair a break in an extension cord, strip the insulation from the wires for a few inches on either side of the break, twist the ends of broken wires together, solder, tape with rubber splicing compound and wind with friction tape. Don't put two splices side by side when repairing broken wires. Offset them a little.

Waffles are grand for dessert when topped with cream cheese mixed with cherry or blueberry jam. Be generous with both the cheese and jam. No need for butter as the cheese is rich enough.

Milk which has changed may be sweetened or rendered fit for use again by stirring in a little soda.

Counsel Had Gone to Great Length to Make It Clear

The scene was in a courtroom. Counsel looked sternly at the man on the stand and demanded:

"Did you, or did you not, on the date in question, or at any time previously or subsequently, say, or even intimate to the defendant or anyone else, whether friend or mere acquaintance, or, in fact, a stranger, that the statement imputed to you, whether just or unjust, and denied by the plaintiff, was a matter of no moment or otherwise? Answer me! Did you or did you not?"

The man in the dock clutched at his throat. "Did I, or did I not, what?" he gasped.

Dickson-Carmichael Rites Read Recently In Colorado

Miss Helen Rhea Dickson, daughter of Mrs. M. E. Myers of Burkburnett, became the bride of S. Sgt. Thomas Carmichael of Lowery Field, Colo., in a simple and impressive double ring ceremony performed August 12 in the Church of Christ in Denver, Colorado. Directing the vows before an improvised altar formed of gold and white gladiolus interlaced with greenery was Rev. Horton, pastor.

The bride was attractive in a winter white, wool jersey street-length dress featuring a sweetheart neckline accented by a bead trim. Her shoulder length veil of bridal illusion fell from a lace cap caught with orange blossoms. For "something old" she wore a turquoise ring belonging to her aunt, Mrs. E. E. Jernigan and for "something borrowed", a gold bracelet belonging to a friend, Mrs. Don McConkin of Denver, Colo. Her flowers were a nosegay of tallis-man roses with gold and white streamers against a lace background.

Miss Violet Ruth Bellew of Tipton, Okla., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Her chosen costume was a beige wool dress with brown accessories and she carried a corsage of compact peach gladiolus.

Best man for the groom was his brother, Ernest Carmichael.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at 1643 York, the future home of the couple. Emphasis was placed on the chosen colors of the bride in the decoration of the rooms. The refreshment board was covered with a hand-embroidered linen cloth and was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. J. M. Matthews of Burkburnett presided at the crystal punch bowl, and Mrs. M. E. Myers, the bride's mother, greeted the guests and secured signatures for the bride's book.

For a wedding trip to Estes Park, Colo., the bride chose a suit of soldier blue wool crepe, with which she wore black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Carmichael, a prominent young business woman was honor graduate of the 1941 class of the Burkburnett High School and is also a graduate of Draughon's Business College. For the past two and one-half years, she has been employed by the American Optical Company in Wichita Falls.

The groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Carmichael of Coalville, Utah, is a graduate of the Coalville High School and attended college at Logan, Utah. Prior to his enlistment in the army, he was employed by the Tungsten Chief Mining Company of Caliente, Calif.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Carmichael and Ernest Carmichael of Coalville, Utah, parents and brother of the groom; Mrs. M. E. Myers of Burkburnett, mother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. M. Lee of Salt Lake City, Utah; Miss Violet Ruth Bellew of Tipton, Okla.; and Mrs. J. M. Mathews of Burkburnett.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Matthews have returned from Denver, Colo., where they attended the wedding of Helen Rhea Dickson to S. Sgt. Thomas Carmichael.

Mrs. G. Wigham of Panhandle, Texas, is here visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Goins this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Morris returned from Kilgore and Dallas Saturday, after they had attended the funeral in Dallas of their son-in-law, W. B. Cox, who was buried in Hillcrest Cemetery, Saturday, August 19. Mr. Cox had been a employee of the Gulf Oil Co. for the past twenty years. He is survived by a wife and two sons, one of which is serving in the Navy at San Diego, Calif.

Donald Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Howard, suffered a broken arm Sunday night when he fell from a horse. The arm was broken in two places. Chester Howard is recovering from injuries to a foot which was crushed when a heavy pipe fell on him a few days ago.

Rebekah News

The Rebekah's and Odd Fellows from various parts of Texas enjoyed meeting together for the Lower Panhandle Association held in the High School Gymnasium at Seymour, August 17, 1944.

Opening with registration from 9 to 10 with four delegates Annie Mae Lawson, Mary Cecil, Ruth Ramsey, and Grace Holcomb, representing Burkburnett Rebekah Lodge No. 67.

During the afternoon session the Rebekah's and Odd Fellows had the pleasure of being introduced to our Grand Lodge Assembly and Association officers. Reports of credentials and other committees. They selected a meeting place for the next meeting, which will be held sometime in August 1945 at Crowell, Texas. After electing our officers for the incoming term, and the Individual Charge contest, we adjourned at 4:30 to be honored with a banquet in the basement of the First Methodist Church at 6 p. m.

The evening session was very pretty as well as enjoyable. Wichita Falls Rebekah Lodge presented the flag drill, after which were Memorial Services by the Seymour Rebekah Lodge. Presentation of individual awards were made to two delegates from Burkburnett Rebekah Lodge: Annie Mae Lawson and Mary Cecil. They competed for the individual awards and were graded 100 per cent. Annie Lawson received her award, but due to the fact that Mary Cecil won on the charge last year, she wasn't eligible.

We are very proud of O. G. Burnett an Odd Fellow of the Burkburnett Lodge No. 747, as he was elected and installed as second vice-president of the association.

The new members as well as some of the old members had the pleasure of meeting and visiting with our Grand Master, B. A. Carter.

The regular meeting of the Burkburnett Rebekah Lodge No. 67 was held in the I. O. O. F. hall August 21. All members are urged to attend the next meeting September 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Sproy Millan of Big Spring, Texas, and their grandson, Charlie Ahern of San Diego, Calif., visited Mr. Millan's sister, Mrs. W. H. Cross last week.

Mrs. Tom Duvall is enjoying a visit in Kerman, California, with her children, and says the cool nights are wonderful.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Using a combination of natural and synthetic rubber in the post-war period may result in automobile tires that will establish new high marks for longevity, according to a B. F. Goodrich chemical technician.

Another reason for tires for essential transportation: At the beginning of last year, 85,168 school buses were in service transporting 4,258,788 children over 1,383,091 miles of one-way route.

WOMEN IN YOUR 40's Do You Hate HOT FLASHES? If you suffer from hot flashes, feel weak, nervous, a bit blue at times—all due to the functional "middle-aged" period peculiar to women—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms.

When Your Back Hurts And Your Strength and Energy is Below Par It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

Notes of a New Yorker

The New York papers recently offered an article by Gypsy Rose Lee's mother. The story was about Gypsy... New Yorkers are familiar with the silly quarrel between these two... Supposed to have started when Gypsy wrote articles for a magazine about her early career in which her mother was kidded a lot and unfrocked a little... Broadways later heard buzzing about mother and daughter getting to the point of name-calling.

Once Gypsy received a telegram from her Mom, which warned that unless the two could get together about a certain matter she—the mother—would "give" the story to the newspapers.

"Look, Mom, don't be a fool," replied Gypsy, "don't give it to the papers. Sell it to them."

Now is probably the last time to recount this instance of the humorous by-play that went on between FDR and Henry Wallace. When Mae West was suing Frank Wallace for divorce the papers were full of stories headed "Mae West Charges Wallace Unkind to Her."

Ernie Pyle reported the incident of captured Nazi General von Schleiben, who squawked to Yank commanders about American photographers taking his picture without asking permission... And how General Collins reminded von Schleiben that in the United States there is a free press "and we in the army cannot stop our newspapers from printing the news and taking pictures."

This is the newest Russian gag overheard at the Madison Bar: "So Ivan Ivanovitch died gallantly in the midst of battle," sobbed Katerina Mikhailovna Mikhailovitch. "You say he uttered my name with his last breath?"

An ironic fact is that George M. Cohan never could scribble a successful ditty about baseball, the sport he loved so much. Cohan, as all Broadway knew, was a Polo Grounds faithful. Yet the two songs he wrote about baseball were never performed more than a few times.

"Take Me, etc." was not the first baseball song ever written. In 1885 a ballplayer named Kelly was an idol up in Boston. A faithful fan scribbled a ditty tagged "Slide, Kelly, Slide." The three-word phrase became more popular than the song.

A song was responsible for finishing a baseball star's promising career when it looked as though he might develop into another Hubbell or Walter Johnson. His name was Harry Covalleskie, and he was with the Phillies.

One afternoon the following summer Covalleskie was hurling against the Giants when from their dug-out came the strains of "Silver Threads." The Giants kept this up all during that series, and other National League clubs followed with the same ribbing... In six weeks, Covalleskie was a nervous wreck... The following year saw him fade from baseball completely.

Despite the ODT's warnings against unnecessary travel, vacation travel is up 10 per cent. Apparently, there are people who won't do anything to help win the war—even if it means staying home and doing nothing.

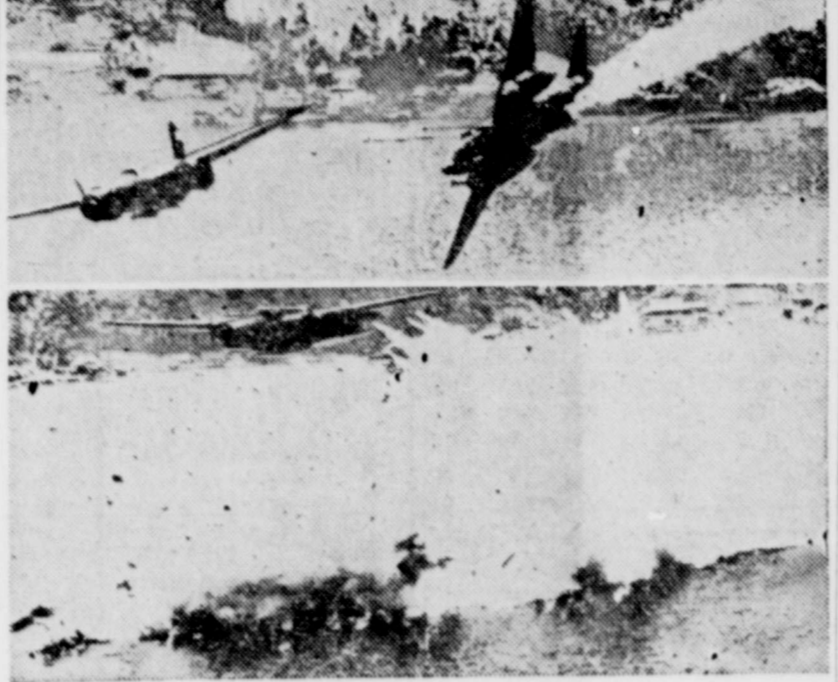

A certain New York State Senator, after a nervous breakdown and a holiday in a sanitarium, was pronounced honky-donky... He returned to the Senate at Albany, where he engaged in a hot debate the first day.

During the debate, one of his opponents, forgetting the man's illness, lost his temper and yelled: "You're crazy." Pulling out his discharge certificate, Our Hero waved it and said: "I can prove I'm sane—now can you?"

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Yanks Set Pace in Paris Drive; New Pacific Blows Loom as U. S. Bombers Strike at Philippines

EUROPE: Fronts Afire

The whole French battlefront quivered to the clap and clatter of gunfire as U. S. and British forces pressed their twin offensives against the German lines, with American troops reported approximately 50 miles from Paris.

As the Allied drive on Paris rolled on through good tank country, U. S. forces in Brittany threw in all the weight of their superior gun and tank fire to reduce the coastal ports of Brest, Lorient and St. Nazaire, which would open up important supply lines from the Atlantic ocean.

Tough German paratroopers, who faced the American onslaught at St. Lo, developed a deep respect for U. S. fighting qualities.

According to one of their reports, which fell into American hands, they declared: "Enemy artillery is distinguished by the accuracy of its fire and maneuverability. Employment in depth, changes of positions, self-propelled guns—during infantry attacks close to the front lines—is the doctrine followed. A great number of observation planes makes it possible... to fire effectively even on small targets."

Speaking of U. S. fire and phosphorus bombs and high explosive ammunition, the report revealed: "They cause stomach trouble and headaches..."

lurching on the threshold of their "holy soil." Nazi armies fought bitterly to hold off the Red forces advancing on that Baltic province of Germany.

Further to the south, the Nazis countered Russian advances upon the former Polish capital of Warsaw with equal stubbornness, with the Reds seeking to relieve the stalemate by switching their attack from the front of the city to the northeast in an encirclement attempt.

On the southern end of the long eastern battlefront, the Russians pushed within 75 miles of the German industrial province of Silesia, while other Red forces moved within 27 miles of the Czechoslovak border in the towering Carpathian mountains, where the rugged terrain was suitable to Nazi defense.

As U. S. and British troops poised for their assault on the enemy's "Gothic Line" in the hills north of the Arno river in Italy, Polish and Italian units harassed the Germans on the eastern or Adriatic end of the battlefront.

With the Allies girding for an all-out drive on the latest enemy mountain fortifications, their problems of supply over earthy, choky roads in the rugged country were relieved by the restoration of the seaports of Livorno, Civitavecchia and Piombino.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for August 27

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

ISRAEL'S FIRST KING

LESSON TEXT—1 Samuel 9:15-21; 10:25-27; 11:12-15. GOLDEN TEXT—Honor all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honor the king.—1 Peter 2:17.

"Well begun is half done," says the old proverb, reminding us of the importance of a good beginning. While it does not guarantee success (see next week's lesson), it is eminently desirable, and truly helpful.

Israel had foolishly tired of being a God-ruled nation and had begun to demand a king. Samuel was directed of God to the man of His choice, Saul, in a very remarkable way. He entered upon his service as king as an obedient and earnest ruler. (Would God that he had continued in that way!)

I. Wanted by the People (9:15, 16).

A ruler forced upon a nation is sure of opposition, but here the people were clamoring for a king to rule over them. The way was wide open to the interest and the affection of their hearts. Saul was just the type to please them. Physically he was head and shoulders above the people—a desired thing in a ruler (see 10:23). He was mentally fitted (10:25)—humble (9:21), spiritually right (10:6-9), tolerant and kindly (11:13), and a good military leader (ch. 11).

II. Chosen by God (9:17).

All these qualities commended Saul to God as well as to the people. In fact, he was God's choice. A man could not enter upon high office with any more auspicious token for good. Observe that what looked like a purely chance visit to Samuel, when Saul was on business for his father, was the occasion for the making known of God's choice. Out of a simple experience in daily life came an event which changed his entire destiny.

III. Anointed by the Prophet (9:18-20).

The man of God's choice had met God's man, Samuel, who proceeded to instruct him, and to privately anoint him as king. It was a tender scene. The aged prophet, rejected by the people as God's ruler over them, quietly and sweetly obeyed God's command to anoint the young man to be king.

IV. Humble in Attitude (9:21).

That pride, which was ultimately to be Saul's downfall, was beautifully absent at the beginning of his reign. Although of good family, and well-equipped, he saw himself as poor and insignificant, not ready for such an honor.

V. Guided by Principle (10:25).

Saul did not enter upon his office, new as it was to both him and to Israel, without a Constitution, that is, without principles of action. Samuel, the Lord's prophet, wrote down "the manner of the kingdom" in a book. How interesting, and how important.

VI. Forgiving in Spirit (10:26-27; 11:12, 13).

Some "worthless fellows" despised Saul and would not recognize him as king. The urge of the flesh was to destroy them, and especially did that seem proper because of their worthless nature. But Saul, in true kingly spirit, said that there was to be no revenge, just rejoicing.

VII. Established in Office (11:14, 15).

While there is the secret whisper of God in the heart, and the personal anointing by the Lord's servant, there should be the public recognition which establishes the Lord's servant in the eyes of all people. Saul had this at Gilgal. It placed him among the kings of the earth, and prepared the way for his dealing with other nations as well as with his own people. Applying that truth to those who serve Christ, we say that there is upon the church the obligation to recognize God's call and anointing by giving that official recognition which sets the testimony and service of the individual free to exercise itself among men in general.

Dodge Has Built Many Army Trucks

Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation is more than 1,000 Army trucks ahead of its production schedules, it was revealed today by F. J. Lamborn, vice president and general manager of the Division.

Since 1939 Dodge has been a consistent producer of Army trucks and to date has built more than 340,000 for the U. S. Armed Forces and the Allied Nations. This figure includes the Dodge 4-wheel drive weapon-carriers, ambulances, command cars, reconnaissance cars, and the heavier 6-wheel drive cargo and troop transports.

Reports from the front tell of many of these fighting trucks being used on D Day on the Normandy coast and now in the advance toward Paris.

The life insurance companies have purchased war bonds in the five War Loan Drives equivalent to $140 for each policyholder, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

Mrs. Artie Whitesides has returned from a week's visit with friends and relatives in Borger, Amarillo, Lubbock and Slaton. She visited Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bush while in Borger, who subscribed to The Star for a year and asked Mrs. Whitesides to see that they were put on the mailing list.

Texans On Fighting Front To Be Heard On Radio Program

For the first time since the invasion, Texans on the home-front next Monday will hear the voices of their husbands, sons and friends fighting on the battle fronts of France, when the United War Chest of Texas presents its statewide network radio program, "The Texan's share in the War."

Plans for the unique program were announced today by Wayland D. Aowner, UWCT general manager, whose staff arranged the broadcast with cooperation of the British Broadcasting Company and the three Texas radio networks.

The thirty-minute program will consist entirely of short-wave interviews with Texas service men abroad, Towner said. From Normandy and other battle fronts, Texas fighting men will talk by short-wave with the folks back home in a series of informal "chats," the war chest official explained. In addition, Larry Allen, famed Associated Press war correspondent, will tell briefly of his 13 months in a Nazi prisoner of war camp.

The broadcast, one of the most unusual staged during the war will be introduced by Judge Ben H. Powell, state war chest president. Music for the production which will originate in the studios of the University of Texas Radio House, will be by the 8th Service Command military band. The program will be carried by all three Texas radio networks and by independent stations from 9:30 to 10 p. m., Monday, August 28.

Texas Limestone Looms As Profitable Quarrying Industry

A small but profitable industry—quarrying of limestone for building rock—looms as a source of post-war wealth for Brazoria County thanks to investigations by the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology.

Under the direction of H. B. Stenzel, geologist, University staff member have completed a study of the limestone in the Damon Mound Salt Dome—rare deposit in the Coastal Plain of Texas—and have reported that quarrying can be resumed if water is diverted from the excavation and the country's clay roads topped to permit all weather transportation.

Since most limestone used in the coastal regions for fills across swampy lands or protection against erosion in breakwaters must be shipped in from the north or west, this native rock is a critical need for the Brazoria region, the report of the Bureau pointed out.

"Since this deposit is unique however, there is a possibility that the radius of consumption could be extended farther than usual and still remain on a profit basis," it was explained.

Copies of the circular describing the Damon Mound limestone may be obtained from the University Bureau of Economic Geology.

Make Sure Your Insurance Company Has Texas License

Commissioner C. P. Lockhart, chairman of the Board of Insurance Commissioners, today issued a warning that the people of Texas should be sure they know what they are buying before they pay money to out of state insurance companies not licensed in Texas on insurance policies that have been advertised by radio or by direct mail.

"Complaints reaching the Board of Insurance Commissioners from dissatisfied policy holders indicate that a number of companies whose home offices are outside of the State of Texas are using the mails and radio advertising to sell policies in the State of Texas even though such companies have not obtained a certificate of authority to do business in this State," Lockhart said.

"Such companies cannot be regulated by the laws of this State and are outside the jurisdiction of both the Texas Insurance Department and the Texas Courts, with the result that Texans must go to the home state of the company to bring suit against it when disputes arise," he explained. "The policies issued by many of such companies are policies that would not be approved for the use of companies licensed to operate in this State, because they are couched in misleading terms and seem to provide more benefits than can be collected."

The Commissioner suggested that any person considering buying an insurance policy solicited through the mails or by radio should, for his own protection, find out whether or not the company holds a certificate of authority to do business in the State of Texas. The Board of Insurance Commissioners, State Office Building, Austin 14, Texas, will gladly answer inquiries in this respect in regard to any company.

Randlett Farmer Dies In Wichita Falls Hospital

John M. Crow, 66, Randlett, Okla., farmer, died in a Wichita Falls hospital Friday morning about 8:15 o'clock.

Crow was injured in a threshing accident about two weeks ago. Last week he underwent an appendectomy.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Baptist Church at Randlett Saturday at 3 p. m. with interment at the Randlett cemetery under the direction of Owens and Brumley Funeral Home.

Crow had resided in the Randlett community 25 years. He is survived by his wife; his mother, Mrs. Minnie Jones, Burkburnett; seven daughters, five sisters and four brothers.

A Burkburnett reader says he doesn't think the linotype machine made such a mistake when it spelled out "marred bliss."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS... Judge, would you mind tellin' Charlie here what you told me the other night walkin' home from lodge. I can't word it just the way you did. Sure thing, Tim. Here's what I told him, Charlie. There's no such thing as votin' a nation, a state, a county, or even a community dev. We had proof enough of that during our 13 years of prohibition. What you really vote for is whether liquor is going to be sold legally or illegally - whether the community is going to get needed taxes for schools, hospitals, and the like, or whether this money is going to go to gangsters and bootleggers. That's the answer, boys... simple as A-B-C.

ROTARY CLUB

The Rotary Club met at the Town Hall with a 100 per cent attendance. A very fine program, one in which every American citizen should be and is interested, was presented by Bob Tevis through Lt. Joe Sutton who lives in Burkburnett and who heads the Convalescent Rehabilitation Program at Sheppard Field. This program is a part of the Medical Program of our Army, whose work as you know is to preserve the fighting strength of the enemy.

Interesting facts and figures given by Lt. Sutton prove that this branch of the service is certainly doing a wonderful job in bringing sick and disabled boys back to normal life and activity whether they remain in the army or return to civilian life. In World War One, 12 out of every 1,000 men in our armed forces died from disease. In this war this figure has reduced to 5/10 of one man out of every 1,000.

Likewise the saving of wounded men on the battle fronts is resulting proportionately. Lt. Sutton credits a greater part of this to the capably handling by the Medical Department, and the advancement of the Sulfa Drugs, Penicillin, Plastic Surgery and Blood Plasma.

Capt. Floyd Jackson, formerly of Burkburnett, was guest of Carl Morrison. Visiting Rotarians from Wichita Falls were: Andy Andrews, Arch Freeman, O. A. Haynes, Earl Denny, Lloyd Taylor, C. J. Tucker and J. M. Isabell.

Pvt. Theodore A. Kramer is now in the Pacific, and would like to hear from his friends. Get his address here at the Star Office.

Nathan Abbott, S-2c, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Abbott, has returned to San Diego, Calif., after enjoying several days here with his parents and friends. Nathan recently spent some time in the hospital at San Diego, but will be able for duty upon his return to California.

Roy L. Simpson, S1/C. C. G. writes his mother, Mrs. R. A. Simpson, that he is getting along just fine, with one exception—he has lost ten pounds due to the heat. We don't know just where Roy is, but perhaps he may have a chance to cool off before long.

Pfc. John W. Gist writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Gist that he was on the ill-fated 44th General Hospital ship that piled up on a coral reef on its way to establish a hospital in New Guinea. He also sent a report of the incident as written by one of the officers on the ship. Although seven ships piled up on the reef, there was not a casualty on any of them.

Thanks to Dow Estes for bringing us a copy of "The Skyracker," a Navy Air Corps paper in which appeared an article about Lieut. Randall D. Watkins, former coach at Thrift, Lieut. Watkins is head instructor of sports at the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School at Athens, Ga. The article states: "Lieut. Watkins is a 1929 graduate of the North Texas State Teachers College, where he helped win the TIAA Conference championship for three years and has been coaching the game ever since. At Fairview High in Thrift, Texas, he developed teams that won five championships. One of his teams hung up a record of 22 straight victories."

M-Sgt. Grady Ragsdale of Camp Maxey, was here a short while Wednesday for a visit with his father, R. S. Ragsdale. Grady was on his way to California for treatment for injuries received in the Engineer Corps recently, when a heavy timber injured his back.

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Shores have received a letter from their son, Sgt. Palmer Shores, stating he is now in England. He is doing fine, although he longs for news from home. His father is sending him the Star beginning this week.

S/Sgt. J. T. Robison and his wife are spending his two week furlough with his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Robison.
