WASTE PAPER TO BE PICKED UP IN BURKBURNETT FRIDAY MORNING, SEPT. 1

Little Interest Shown Here In Run-Off Election Last Saturday

To Make Ups At A.M.

Burkburnett has finally decided to take some action on the paper gathering. Other papers have been gathering for some time but due to little or no interest here previous efforts have been a complete flop. A place to store the paper and a car load was gathered up one of the handicaps during the time. Disappointment was the part of the boys in the town as they were paid for the paper. Another thing that was a water on the gathering was the paper. Both of these things have been overcome. The building has been secured and the paper is being gathered up in car load lots to buyers, a fair price for the paper is assured. The boys gathered enough paper to fill about a month. The residence part of town, are asked to place the paper in the front curb. Please place in one bundle, papers in a bundle and newspapers in another bundle. The boys bring the least on the market, but every bit is needed, regardless of the amount. This will aid the boys by saving the time required to gather the paper.

Dudley Produce Gets New Checker Board Coat Paint

Dudley Feed and Produce building is now sporting a new coat of checker-board paint. The job was completed last week. Red and white squares with blue identifies the place as dealers handling Purina feeds. Leo Dudley, owner of the business, liked the paint job so well that he engaged the painter to add several names on the Service Men's Honor Roll on Main St. Names are added as they come in, so if you know of a boy from Burkburnett whose name does not appear on the roll, call the Star office.

Do You Know This Man?

If you have been to the Calvary Baptist Church revival, you do; for he is the director of singing during this revival. He is Bro. L. E. Miller, of Arlington, Texas. The Calvary Baptist Church wasn't sure of securing his services last week, hence there was nothing said about him in last week's advertising of the revival. But we are introducing him to all of you now who have not been to the revival, and warning you that you are missing a great blessing if you don't come out and hear him and see him leading the choir and congregation in great gospel singing. Bro. Miller is a combination Preacher-Singer. He is pastor of the Fundamental Baptist Church at Arlington. Before going to Arlington, he has labored successfully on other fields as pastor, singer and educational director. He at one time was associated with Bro. C. E. Matthews of Ft. Worth as educational director of Travis Avenue Baptist Church.

Each morning at ten o'clock, Bro. Miller is meeting with the Boosters at the Church, teaching them choruses which will be sung at the night service in a special booster choir. Any child of the community is invited to be in this choir. The revival continues with great interest in the message of Bro. Deamore and the singing of Bro. Miller. Plan now not to miss another service. Ray C. Morrow, Pastor.

Grade School Teacher Resigns

Miss Katherine Lassetter, local grade school teacher, has resigned. She has taught in the Hardin Grade School for the past nineteen years. She has now accepted the position of teacher in the Wichita Falls elementary schools.

Unusual Blue Monday

Maybe it was blue Monday but not at the USO Hall on August 28. Mrs. Berry and her group of girls did a nice job of entertaining a group of soldiers that night. Dancing, ping-pong and other games were played after which pie, cake, and good hot coffee was served on the rather chilly evening.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Clark and Miss Frances Clark visited relatives and friends in Abilene last week.

Short Ticket Drew Few Voters To Polls

Very few voters turned out to the polls last Saturday to decide the out-come of the run-off from the primary election. Temple Shell made a successful race for Judge of the 78th District Court against Guy McNeely. The place sought by both men will be vacated by Irvin J. Vogel, who did not run for reelection. In the local constable's race, John Smith nosed out C. B. Beldon. In the state contests, Martin over Sellers for Attorney-General; and Simpson over Critz for Supreme Court.

New Navy Blinkers

The Navy requires the shutters used to blink its light signals to last a long time—at least a couple of million operations—and at the same time shutters have to be light in weight. Engineers had difficulty meeting these requirements, until Westinghouse designed one that works like a Venetian blind.

Miss Vera Mae Johnson spent her vacation in Abilene, visiting in the home of Mrs. Trechie Grace and Doris.

Students Urged To Register Aug. 31 Thru Sept. 2nd

The Burkburnett Schools will open September 4th. High School students are requested to register August 31st and the 1st and 2nd of September, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Those students not registering these days will be required to register Monday, September 4th. Grade School students will enroll only 1 day, September 4th. Eighth grade students are to report to the High School in rooms 2 and 4.

Windows At Famous Take On Fall Appearance

Fall is reflected in the windows at the Famous department store. Something new in window decoration is offered by having each window done in a different color. On the ladies' side of the store fall coats are shown; short coats, long coats, dark coats and light coats. D. C. Dodson, owner of the store, says he has been fortunate in securing fall goods. The quantity is much larger than was first expected.

Lions Club

The regular meeting of the Lions was held at the Town Hall with a very good attendance. Bill Bean and Mike Begun had charge of the program. Mike introduced Mrs. B. L. Turner, who in turn introduced her Rainbow Girls. Misses Alice Millikin, Mary Frances Gamblin, and Christine Suttles sang several numbers after which Misses Jean Boyd, Dorothy Preston, Bobbie Jean England, and Mary Ellen Fields performed a "Mock" operation on Roy Magers. Misses Gwendolyn Turner, and Iva Jo Frields acted as the wife and daughter. After removing one leg, an old inner tube, gall stones, water from the brain, a deck of cards and an insurance policy Roy had to "eat", the patient was able to leave the hospital under his own power. Concluding the program little Misses Barbara and June Vaughn gave a Hawaiian song and dance. The program was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Harry Mayes and F. M. Couch, Jr., were introduced as new members. Jim Boyd and Luther Caffee have the program for next week.

She had visited in Burkburnett a number of times and had made several friends here.

Stores To Close Mon. Sept. 4th

Practically every business concern in Burkburnett will be closed Monday, September 4th to observe Labor Day. It has been customary in the past to observe this holiday here and shoppers are advised to keep this in mind when buying their supplies for the week-end.

U. S. O. Has New Captains

The USO is proud to announce that they have several new volunteer Captains in the USO Hall. The new chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rinefeldt, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Berry, Mrs. Hugh Preston, Mrs. Wiley Browning, Mrs. J. L. Caffee, Mrs. Travis Frields, Mrs. Jim Pogue, and Mrs. Ray Hill. "Mothers," some of these Captains will be in the Hall every night that your daughter is there.

Rotary Club

Captain M. C. Tucker, who is head of our local organization of The State Guard, brought an unusual and very interesting program to the Rotary Club, assembled in Town Hall, Tuesday noon. Interesting facts pertaining to operation of The State Guard were given by Captain Tucker. The Guard was established to take the place of The National Guard all of which is now in the regular army. Burkburnett's Guard was organized in 1940 and fourteen of the men now active in the work are charter members. Their work and operations are wholly within the State, and they are called upon when local enforcement officers are unable to cope with the trouble at hand. While our local men have never been called upon for their assistance, in this respect, they do stand ready for any emergency. Assisting Capt. Tucker in the program were Lt. Adge Johnson, Sgt. J. E. Cypert, Sgt. J. D. Grizzle, Sgt. Ivan Frields, and Sgt. Burl Mathews, all of the local company. Sgt. Burl Mathews played the comedy roll in a short sketch, with Tucker and Grizzle, which was very funny and brought lots of laughs. Burl played the part of a "Dumb Soldier" who had been in the army only a few days and had just learned enough to do everything wrong, and be mixed up all of the time. One visitor was introduced, Truett Walton, of Abilene, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Boyd and family visited relatives and friends in Sulphur, Okla., for a few days this week.

Applications To Be Accepted From 8 A. M. to 7 P. M.

Registration for gasoline "A" books will be held Saturday, Sept. 9 at the Town Hall, one day only. Those who will be out of town on that day may mail their applications to R. C. Tevis, Burkburnett. Applications received after September 9 will be delayed, possibly ten days or two weeks. Therefore, it is very necessary that everyone who can possibly do so, register at Town Hall on the day set aside for that purpose.

Ralph Davis, school Supt., his faculty members and office help will be ready to take applications at 8 A. M. and continue until 7 P. M. With such a large force working, no one should have to wait more than a minute or two at the most.

Application forms may be secured at the Chamber of Commerce office or any service station. The forms are easy to fill out and each applicant should have the form already filled out when they present it at Town Hall.

All application blanks must be signed by the owner of the car. The title stub of the present "A" book must accompany the application; or the 1944 license receipt must be presented with the request, in event the title stub has been lost. This time it is not necessary to have tire inspection certificates.

Any adult member of the family may present the application signed by the owner of the car.

Each application will be given a Ration slip, which must be kept for presentation at future registrations for gasoline rations, according to R. C. Tevis, local member of the Wichita County Rationing Board.

HAY FEVER

Yearly millions of Americans are affected by hay fever which besets them during August and September, as handkerchiefs are busily carried to nose, the face becomes contorted into ker-choo-ooos and the pollens descend upon the victims so afflicted to these allergies. Ragweed is the biggest offender to sufferers though there are other dust-like pollens that cause hay fever. The afflicted eyes and swollen lining of the nose makes miserable too many people who can't escape the pollens. It is not easy to destroy pollens, for some have been found preserved in coal 250 million years old. Clouds of pollen have been reported 250 miles at sea and at 9,000 feet altitude. You see how practically impossible it is to avoid. However, scientific means have given some relief to sufferers and we hope that research and laboratory will further investigate and eventually conquer.

START THINKING

Hot under the collar, brows gathering moisture by the minute as we pray for relief from summer heat, it is still reasonable to think of Christmas shopping and mailing of packages for the soldiers overseas. Postoffice officials have been planning for some time, and now voice suggestions to the public on regulations that cover the parcels going to army camps and overseas stations. The Christmas mailing date for both army and navy overseas, is from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. Let us begin early, say today, to save cardboard boxes and stout string as these will be scarce by the time we need them. The same pointers of wrapping securely, addressing carefully is necessary since so many packages last year never reached service men through carelessness in mailing. Shop early. Mark parcels "Christmas Gift" to be given special attention, packages to weigh not over 5 pounds, measuring not more than 15 inches long and 36 inches length and girth combined.

LABOR DAY

Normally Labor Day is a holiday for Americans to celebrate the rights and meaning of labor. This year factories, warehouses, warfs, offices, will continue their work and put in time to being of special service. War changes holidays but the meaning of them is not lost. One of the principle interests of founding Labor Day was to protect the workman against unemployment. That is one of the main topics today as war drives to a close. Labor in the olden times suffered under the lash and the whip. Labor today has become so powerful that it often tends to overcome itself and ruin that for which it has struggled so many years to attain. Without labor there is no wealth. Without money for its hire, labor is lost. The time was that he who worked by the sweat of his brow was looked down upon socially, was tolerated only for what he produced. Industry through labor was not a true gentleman's line of endeavor. How far we have progressed is shown by how enlightened we are to the true meaning of Labor. Nothing is accomplished without expending of effort. Effort is work. Whether a man carries a dinner pail or leans back handsomely and lives off his stocks and bonds with practically no effort, the distinction is not too great. All men must labor, whether mentally or physically or both, if they wish for some useful and desired end. To produce in some occupation is man's lot in life. Great values are credited

Burk Burnett History

As revealed by the files of the Star 17 years ago.

Burk Burnett Public Schools will be open for enrollment on September 14. An effort is being made to secure some instructors of note for the school, which will be held in the high school building.

The Lions met in their regular session Tuesday evening and the time was used in welcoming back those members who had been away during the summer. Principal speakers were: Judd Exley, who gave an account of his travels through the states of Pennsylvania and New York and even into Canada; other speakers were Prof. C. J. Duncan, and C. R. Roberts, superintendent of the Fairview School.

Mrs. W. L. Walker and son, Billie, Jr., are visiting her sister Mrs. Hershey in Frederick, Oklahoma, this week.

W. R. Hill, of the Farmer's State Bank, spent Sunday in Monday, Texas.

The many friends of Joe Majors are pleased to see him able to be out again and in his store after an illness of several weeks, following an operation for appendicitis.

Butler Westerfield was in the city Thursday. He will enter the State University in Austin, and finish his course for his M. A. degree in that school.

to honest toil, the achievement of a happy life with the knowledge that one's work is well done. There is this challenge for labor in every generation.

THE BELL RINGS

The classrooms of our nation's schools buzz with activity as the young people dust off their desks and shake out their notebooks to take again in hand pens and pencils to write another page in the history of American education. September and with it the opening of schoolhouses, the attaining of citizenship through a public system of enlightenment. There follows the equipping of children with principles for self-government that only could be learned in attendance of a free school program. The task that lies before the instructors is a tremendous one, but since standards of education have advanced through the past years, the teachers as well as the student are ready to take advantage of this opportunity to cast out bigotry, ignorance, selfishness. The attitude of both should be to insure the future by stressing unity and peace. We'll have history books drilled in the forming of the states, the Boston Tea Party, Dred Scott Decision, the Revolutionary War, carpet baggers, assassination of Lincoln and so on through the background that brings us to the present. Do the history books point, as well, to the lessons to be learned for a tomorrow of problems in tactics, politics, organization, cultural and physical differences of the international members of our family, of peacemaking and government, in understanding among neighbors through hard lessons taught through actual experiences in other history books. This is a task for education in the schoolhouse of today in America.

COURTESY

We have learned to get along with a lot less of some things during the war, but a shortage of courtesy hurts us a lot more than not having sugar enough in our coffee or enough gasoline in our car.

In fact courtesy will compensate to a large extent for the things we have to get along without and for the inconvenience of travel and service that war makes inevitable. "Don't you know there's a war on?" long ago ceased to be funny or acceptable as an excuse.

Courtesy costs less and does more to keep life's pathway smooth than anything we can think of. We all need to use it more.

And what is courtesy? At its best it is a dignified, natural expression of good-will toward our fellow man under all circumstances.

Courtesy doesn't mean you should let the other fellow run over you. And it isn't a mere parroting over the polite phrases. Real courtesy is best expressed in the WAY you speak and act as well as in the things you actually say or do.

Christian Science Services

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, August 27.

The Golden Text is: "Though Israel be not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord, and my God shall be my strength" (Isaiah 49:5.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth" (John 1:14.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus was the son of a virgin. He was appointed to speak God's word and to appear to mortals in such a form of humanity as they could understand as well as perceive" (page 332.)

Ship's Mast On Land

To test electrical equipment used on ship masts, Westinghouse engineers have built a "land mast" which tosses itself around as in the stormiest sea. Driven by a 35 horsepower variable speed motor, it swings from one 45-degree angle to another, reaching speeds of 35 miles an hour.

Tiny But Fast

Gyroscopes, those fascinating and all-important contrivances which keep guns steady, help steer torpedoes, and whatnot, need electric motors to keep them spinning, and Westinghouse engineers have had to meet extremely exacting demands in designing them. One motor must bring its gyro-flywheel to a full speed of 12,000 revolutions per minute in two-tenths of a second. Another has a flywheel balanced so perfectly that "short weight" as much as 1-10,000 of an ounce affects its operation.

Ernie Pyle at the Front

Medics Carry On Under Heavy Nazi Shelling While Hundreds Are Hit, Ernie Has Charmed Life and Escapes

THE WESTERN FRONT.—The afternoon was tense, full of caution and dire little might-have-beens.

While wandering up a dirt lane where the infantrymen were squatting alongside in a ditch, waiting their turn to advance. They always squat like that when they're close to the front.

German shells started around us. I jumped into a couple of soldiers between a hedge and a ditch. Shells were clipping right over our heads and crashing into the next pasture.

Then suddenly one exploded, not with a crash, but with a ring as though you'd struck a high-toned bell. The debris of burned wadding and dirt showered down over us. My right ear and my right ear had struck behind us. We had been saved when the hedge was the next day before my ears returned to normal.

Later a soldier crouched in line, a couple of feet from me and asked, "Was a war correspondent?" I said, "I want to be your hand." And he pointed the way and we went. In a few minutes our litter bearers came past, carrying a captain. He was the surgeon of our adjoining battalion, and he had been looking in the orchard for a likely place to move his first-aid station. A shell hit right beside him.

That's the way war is on an afternoon that is tense and full of might-have-beens for some of us, and awful realities for others.

It just depends on what your number is. I don't believe in that number business at all, but in war you sort of let your belief hover around it, for it's about all you have left.

One afternoon I went with our battalion medics to pick up wounded men who had been carried back to some shattered houses just behind our lines, and to gather some others right off the battlefield.

The battalion surgeon was Capt. Lucien Strawn, from Morgantown, W. Va. He drives his jeep himself and goes right into the lines with his aidmen.

We drove forward about a mile in our two jeeps, so loaded with litter bearers they were even riding on the hood. Finally we had to stop and wait until a bulldozer filled a new shell crater in the middle of the road. We had gone only about a hundred yards beyond the crater when we ran into some infantry.

"Be careful where you're going. The Germans are only 200 yards up the road." Captain Strawn said he couldn't get to the wounded men that way so he turned around to try another way. A side road led off at an angle from a shattered village we had just passed through. He decided to try to get up that road.

But when we got there the road had a house blown across it, and it was blocked. We went forward a little on foot and found two deep bomb craters, also impassable.

one I had just left had been hit while I was on the way. A solid armor-piercing shell had gone right through a window and a man I knew had his leg cut off. That evening the other officers took the big steel slug over to the hospital so he would have a souvenir.

When I got to another battalion command post, later in the day, they were just ready to move. A sergeant had been forward about half a mile in a jeep and picked out a farmhouse. He said it was the cleanest, nicest one he had been in for a long time.

So we piled into several jeeps and drove up there. It had been only about 20 minutes since the sergeant had left. But when we got to the new house, it wasn't there.

A shell had hit it in the last 20 minutes and set it afire, and it had burned to the ground. So we drove up the road a little farther and picked out another one. We had been there about half an hour when a shell struck in an orchard 50 yards in front of us.

In a few minutes our litter bearers came past, carrying a captain. He was the surgeon of our adjoining battalion, and he had been looking in the orchard for a likely place to move his first-aid station. A shell hit right beside him.

Boys Couldn't Stump Naturalist With Humbug

The boys thought it would be great sport if they could fool a certain well-known naturalist. So they killed a centipede, then carefully glued on to it a beetle's head, the wings of a butterfly and the legs of a grasshopper. They took it to the great man. "We found it out in the field," the leader of the group explained. "Can you tell us what it is?" The naturalist studied it for a time, then he asked: "Did this creature hum when caught?" "Oh, yes, sir, it did hum," came the answer. "Well, in that case," said the naturalist, "it undoubtedly is a humbug!"

AROUND THE HOUSE

Knitted woollens and wool dresses and skirts washed by hand are less likely to shrink or become matted than if cleaned in a washing machine.

When clothes must be ironed soon after dampening, always use hot water as it penetrates the material more quickly.

If ice cubes are held under warm water for a few seconds, they will have no sharp edges to jab or cut the precious rubber icebag.

A bit of wax rubbed on the bottoms of rockers will prevent them marking even the glossiest of floors.

Smile Awhile

Neck and Neck Aunt Martha—Have you kept up with your studies? Jasper—Yes, but I haven't passed them.

Another Thought Mrs. Smith—Your husband was certainly brave to crawl under the bed to fight that burglar. Mrs. Jones—Yes, but when he crawled under the bed he thought the burglar was down in the kitchen!

We'll Bite, What? Jasper—I certainly like good food, and always look forward to the next meal. Joan—Why don't you think of higher things once in a while? Jasper—What's higher than food these days?

"Dirt-cheap" is no longer a legitimate term, for dirt is no longer cheap, it's precious.

Not His Choice Housewife—And are you really content to spend your life walking about the country, begging? Hobo—No, lady, not at all. Many's the time I wished I had a car.

Claim for Dead Arab $200; For His Mule It's $250

While no country is required by international law to pay claims to foreign civilians for death or damage resulting from combatant or noncombatant action of its armed forces, the U. S. government does compensate for accidents not occurring during battle and has paid over $2,100,000 to some 16,000 claimants, says Collier's. As these payments are based on local values, the accidental death of a North African Arab, for example, costs us only $200, while that of his mule costs $250.

Seized the Chance When the name of the plaintiff was called out in court, much to everyone's amazement, he stood up in the jury-box. "What are you doing there?" snapped the clerk. "I was called to serve on the jury," was the meek reply. "But you must have known you couldn't sit on a jury and try your own case?" "I suppose not," admitted the plaintiff ruefully. "I did think it was a bit of luck."

Bit Exaggerated Customer—These sleeves are miles too long. Tailor—Well, how much shall I take off? Customer—Oh, I guess about a quarter of an inch.

The Life Jasper—I wish I lived in Greenland. Joan—What for? Jasper—With a night six months long, it must be wonderful to have a date with a beautiful blonde.

Said the Boss—She's a good secretary, alright, but she's clock-eyed.

Fisherman's Prayer Oh, give me grace to catch a fish So large that even I In talking about it afterwards May never need to lie.

Black Ice Simply Dusty: Antarctic Ocean Crowded

Mr. Mackintosh, who spent five years in Discovery II, investigating the distribution and breeding of mammals and the formation and wanderings of icebergs in the Antarctic seas, has some interesting things to say about his observations. Glaciers flow from the land into the sea, where a portion breaks off, thus forming the giant icebergs that start their travels in the open waters. Sometimes these bergs appear to be black, due to the fact that, while still land-locked, dust has settled on their surface, to be superimposed with a thin layer of transparent ice. It is curious that though the Antarctic continent supports very little animal life, the Antarctic seas are more crowded with it than the tropical seas. Practically 90 per cent of the world's supply of whale-oil comes from whales harpooned in the Antarctic ocean. Apart from whales, however, the inhabitants are mainly minute forms of marine life.

Shell Shocked GIs Wring Ernie's Heart

Block cases came staggering back toward us. They were dazed but were completely the kind that stab into your corner until we came back, and then they could ride. When they turned away from the jeep, they turned slowly and unsteadily, a step at a time, like men who were awfully drunk. Their mouths hung open and their eyes stared, and they still held onto each other. They were still like idiots. They had found more war than the human spirit can endure.

Breathing at Seashore Increases Lung Capacity

Breathing is deeper and slower at the seashore than in the city because dust-free air permits relaxation of the respiratory mechanism that constantly filters and propels such particles back and out through the nose.

One study of city children showed that the average vital capacity of their lungs had increased from 82 to 113 cubic inches during a two months' vacation at the seaside.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Allies Jolt Nazi Grip in France; Reds Carry War to German Soil; Summer Drouth Hits Ohio Valley

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

With landings in southern France and sweeping advances in the north, the Allies are forming a huge pincer to squeeze German forces in that country, as arrows in picture show.

FRANCE: Form Pincer With Allied forces everywhere on the move, the Nazi hold on France loosened, and German troops fell back to escape the death traps that lightning U. S. armored thrusts were forging.

In the north, U. S. columns that drove on Paris threw out a long arm around the left flank of the German army that wiggled out of the Falaise-Argentan pocket in Normandy, threatening the retreating enemy with still another entrapment.

While these U. S. columns under leadership of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton pressed the Germans around Paris, British and Canadian forces hammered at the enemy in the region extending to the English channel to the north, pushing him back on a continuous front.

Swift Allied advances in the north were matched by equally successful gains in the new invasion area of southern France, where liberation troops spearheaded by Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's American Seventh Army thrust far inland before encountering stiffening enemy opposition in the mountainous country.

As the regular army formations drove inland, they joined hands with scores of paratroopers, who had been dropped far back of the beachhead areas to sever enemy communication lines and hamper his forward movements to the fighting zones.

As was the case in Normandy, many Czechs, Poles and Russians were included in the German units which manned the coastal defenses, and as the fighting raged further inland from Toulon to Nice, the Allies bucked up against a better caliber of enemy troops.

Encouraged by the Allied successes the French underground intensified their sabotage of Nazi communications and installations.

EASTERN FRONT: Enter Prussia In the face of heavy Nazi resistance and repeated counterattacks supported by rocket fire, Russian troops over 35-year-old Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky crossed the East Prussian border to carry a war to German soil for the first time in 30 years.

As the Germans savagely countered the Russian invasion of East Prussia with continuing counterattacks, the Nazis were reportedly throwing fresh reserves into the battle from Himmler's home guard.

On other sectors of the 1,000-mile front, German resistance was equally bitter, with the Nazis yielding ground grudgingly in the Baltic states and employing tank and infantry forces to slow the Red drive on Warsaw.

To the south, the enemy also brought his mechanized units into counterattack to impede the Russian advance on the central German border, 75 miles away from the front.

CIVILIAN GOODS: Reconversion Step Although the War Production board has allowed the use of surplus labor and factory facilities in the manufacture of civilian goods, no appreciable increase in the output of such material can be looked forward to until Germany is defeated, when it should jump 39 per cent to prewar levels.

WPB's order permitting limited manufacture of civilian goods constituted the fourth and final step in its program for gradual reconversion, previous provisions allowing use of aluminum and magnesium; construction of postwar working models of products, and immediate ordering of machine tools.

Under the WPB's latest ruling, manufacturers able to employ surplus labor will receive priority assistance for producing such items as electric ranges, heating stoves, pails and buckets, electric flat irons, farm machinery except tractors, and water storage tanks for agricultural use.

PACIFIC: Step Up Bombing With U. S. bombers operating west of New Guinea and pounding the enemy's shipping plying beyond the Philippines and Celebes islands, the position of 150,000 Japanese troops trapped within American lines in the South Pacific continued to deteriorate.

As U. S. bombers continued to range to the west of New Guinea, other U. S. aircraft hammered at Japanese bastions in the Bonin Islands, guarding the southern approaches to the Japanese homeland, 600 miles away.

While U. S. bombers continued their softening up campaign of the enemy's strategic island defense system, American ground forces dug into newly won positions in the Marianas, Adm. Chester Nimitz declared that it might not be necessary to invade Japan to win a lasting peace.

DROUTH: Crops Periled With only half a month of the June-August summer season remaining, the Ohio valley anxiously hoped that showers east of the Mississippi would develop into substantial rainfalls and break a two and a half month drouth, during which Tennessee had only about 45 per cent normal precipitation, Illinois 50 per cent, Indiana 52 per cent, Kentucky 44 per cent and Ohio 61 per cent.

Besides inflicting damage ranging from 10 to 70 per cent on corn crops in some areas, and threatening soybeans and gardens, the heat and drouth seared pasturage, compelling farmers to dip into dwindling feed supplies, and inducing many to hold back on purchases of stockers for future fattening.

Although the Ohio valley remained hardest hit by the drouth continued dry weather threatened crops and pasturage in a wide region, including the North Atlantic coast area, the Northwest and Texas and Oklahoma.

Nightlife Murders Baseball Says Babe Ruth

By the Home-Run King Himself Propped up on a cot in a hospital for several weeks recently, following an operation for the removal of a cartilage from my right knee, I spent a lot of time considering the future of baseball.

Let's start with that nocturnal nuisance, night baseball. It's murdering the sport with the help of the cradle-robbing magnates, who are killing the source and substance of the game by neglect of the kids, without whom it cannot exist.

Night baseball is strictly a business proposition—an offshoot of war conditions. One or two games a week to give the defense workers a break is O.K. But now both major leagues are planning four and five a week. That will spell the end of the sport.

The magnates won't give up the regular week-end game of Saturday and Sunday daylight games. That will mean a layoff Monday and four night contests.

To the players, this will be a drastic and unhealthy way of life. Eye trouble will develop. Right now night games are compelling some players who never had to use glasses to wear 'em. Babe Dahlgren is an example.

Irregular meals and sleep is another disadvantage. An athlete can't get along without regular sleep and that will be impossible under a day and night schedule of games.

Danger of Catching Colds In Night Games Imagine what will happen to the veterans, pitchers in particular. A pitcher perspires profusely during a game. In the daytime, usually with the sun shining, there is less danger of catching cold.

I know what I am talking about. I caught one of the worst colds of my career in a night game, merely acting as a coach when I was with Brooklyn. What it is doing to those two-inning pitchers can well be imagined.

As for the fans, it's a mistake to think the men of the family are going to attend four night games regularly each week. Mothers, wives and girl friends will soon stop that!

Much publicity already has been given to the fact that night baseball will take the game away from youngsters. Kids are the backbone of the game. Smart baseball officials have done everything possible in the past to promote the interest of these future audiences by admitting them free to week-day, daylight games.

Boys, as prospective big leaguers, are not getting a square shake from organized baseball. The major clubs show no interest in a boy until he's 16 and can get working papers. Then, if he's got the stuff, they send him out to a Class D league where they squeeze what they can out of him as a hired hand.

Softball and Baseball Just Don't Mix There seems to be a growing apathy toward baseball. The village, town and former hot neighborhood teams and rivalries are fading. This cannot be attributed to the war, because the boys who made up those teams were usually under draft age.

I hate softball, though I approve any game that gets kids out in the sun, but softball has ruined many a potential big leaguer. You cannot play softball and excel at baseball. Progress is also pushing baseball aside. Bit, by bit, we see the growth of cities and towns wipe out sandlots and semi-pro ballparks. Even in small villages you will discover cornfields that once were baseball diamonds. No efforts are made to save the diamonds.

Where are the kids going to turn to for aid? The kids themselves tossed the answer to me at one of my recent Saturday morning radio broadcasts on the A. G. Spalding program. Devise a plan whereby the big leagues would sponsor baseball schools throughout the country, using retired star players as instructors.

Boys start playing the game at 16, get little or bad schooling in the habits in batting, throwing, sliding and fielding unless they are natural-born players like the Otts, Cobbs, Collins, Speakers, etc. With professional coaching, the kids would be fit for league play anytime they were needed.

I played during the last war and can vouch for the fact that few of the players who saw active service ever reached top form again. Some of the aces like Capt. Hank Greenberg and Bill Dickey, who are along in years, may never return to the game. Chaps like Joe DiMaggio, Bob Feller, Ted Williams and Terry Moore, depending on the type and length of their service, may take as long as three years or more to hit their former stride again, if they ever hit it again.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for September 3 SAUL REJECTED

LESSON TEXT—1 Samuel 15:10-23. GOLDEN TEXT—Because thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, he hath also rejected thee from being king.—1 Samuel 15:23.

Moral failure is a direct result of disobedience to God's law. He established the moral order in the universe. His is the only right way, and the man who does not walk in God's way is wrong no matter how successful he may seem to be at the moment.

After a brief period of success, Saul sinned by intruding into the priests office at Gilgal (1 Sam. 13:10-14). This was soon followed by his disobedience in the battle with Amalek (1 Sam. 15:1-9). This brought final judgment from the Lord, and Saul stood revealed as a Self-Will'd Backslider (vv. 10, 11).

"Turned back from following" God means just one thing, that is, turned back to self-will. These two principles, which are mutually exclusive, rule all actions of man—it is either God's will, or self-will.

Saul, who had every opportunity to make good as Israel's first king, lost out completely, and so turned away from God that God had to turn away from him, which is the thought expressed by "repenteth" (v. 11).

II. A Lying Hypocrite (vv. 12, 13). Knowing that he had done just the opposite, Saul puts on his best "Sunday-go-to-church" manner and professed to be very pious, and completely obedient (v. 13). One marvels at his temerity, but not so much so when one thinks of those in the church who put on the same kind of a "front" to cover a worldly, self-centered life.

Nothing hurts the cause of Christ more than the nervy hypocrites who deny by their lives before the community the thing for which the church stands. By the way, are you a hypocrite, you who read these lines? If so, flee to God in repentance. You are in bad company.

III. A Proved Deceiver (vv. 14, 15). The difficulty with falsehood is that ultimately the truth comes to light. With Saul it came quickly, for the sheep which he said were dead were alive enough to bleat at just the right time. The deceit of Saul thus was proved in the very instant of his false declaration of innocence.

"Be sure your sin will find you out" (Num. 32:23) is not just a religious theory, it is God's word. "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy" (Prov. 28:13).

IV. A Proud Disobeyer (vv. 16-19). Now Saul had to stand before Samuel and hear the words of God's condemnation. He had to face his own life and see there the ground of the judgment of the Lord, which had brought him exaltation to the highest place in Israel.

To be small in one's own eyes is to be great in the eyes of the Lord. He is looking for the acceptable sacrifice of a humble heart (Ps. 51:17; Isa. 57:15).

The tumult and the shouting dies; The captains and the kings depart; Still stands Thine ancient sacrifice, An humble and a contrite heart; Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget!" —KIPLING

V. An Argumentative Evader (vv. 20, 21). Once set in the way of disobedience, there seems to be no limit to the bold stubbornness of man. Instead of breaking down in contrition and confession, Saul tried to face the matter down by further argument and tricky evasion.

"I have obeyed," said he, "but the people." Who was king? Did the people obey Saul, or Saul the people? There is nothing honest about laying your sins over on another. How often people do it!

Notice also that Saul became very religious again. If anything had been done that seemed wrong, it was with a good purpose; they were going to "sacrifice to Jehovah."

"The sacrifices and ceremonies of religion are to aid and promote obedience, not to be a substitute. Disobedience can never be made a virtue, even though attended by a thousand sacrifices" (Stanley).

VI. A Rebellious Reject (vv. 22, 23). "To obey is better than sacrifice." Oh, that we might learn well that lesson which God through Samuel tried to teach to Saul. We need to recognize that giving to the church, or working for the church, is not enough if there is not obedience to God; and with us that obedience must be the recognition of Christ as Saviour and Lord.

Lip service, half obedience, a willingness to make sacrifices were not acceptable in the case of Saul. Be sure they are infinitely less acceptable to God in this day when we have His Son who wants to be our Saviour and to give us the enabling grace to obey His will.

At present the rate of transmission is six minutes for one page or picture. It is possible to speed up photo-telegraphy as much as 15,000 times, the inventor states.

...at the boys, calling
...every lad by name. And
...sents quipped back, their
...showing plainly the friend-
...confidence that exists
...the wounded veterans and the officers and men of the hospital staff.

We talked with many of the patients. Corporal Leland Grohman of San Antonio told of heavy fighting in Italy, but forgot his own troubles to praise the home-folks who sent USO-Camp Shows across to entertain the boys.

We met Sgt. Charlie Rummell of Waco, who spent months in a Nazi prison camp after losing his legs from machine gun wounds. Charlie talked about the National War Fund, too, telling how sports equipment, books and other anti-boredom materials sent over by War Prisoners Aid helped the captured men fight off "barbed wire sickness."

And Lt. Marjorie Gray of Killean, who served through 77 days under constant shell fire at Anzio, before being sent home to recuperate at McCloskey. The petite nurse told of the black day when the Germans bombed the hospital, killing scores of patients, doctors and nurses and wounding many more. She was close by when Lt. Helen McCullough, another nurse of the Baylor Hospital Unit, was seriously wounded. Lt. McCullough, who wears the Purple Heart, was released from McCloskey Hospital last week, well again.

Here's a note to mothers, wives and sweethearts of the wounded lads at McCloskey—a note that may ease their worries about the boys:

Don't worry about them! They are being cared for better than any soldiers ever were cared for before. They are cheerful, happy and confident of the future.

They are getting the best medical and surgical attention that can be had. And, best of all, they are loved and lovingly cared for by the officers, nurses and men who staff this great healing unit. There is nothing impersonal about the way McCloskey Hospital takes care of its boys. Every patient is a personal responsibility of those who staff the great institution, and nothing is left undone to return them to health, happiness and usefulness.

It's hard to tell which to admire most, when one visits McCloskey—the heroic wounded veterans or the human, capable and kind men and women who care for them so well. But one thing is certain: thanks to the skill and patience of the McCloskey medics, thousands of men who might have died or been helpless cripples for life will return to their homes happy, healthy and useful citizens of the Lone Star State.

Texas Limestone Looms As Profitable Quarrying Industry

A small but profitable industry—quarrying of limestone for building rock—looms as a source of post-war wealth for Brazoria County thanks to investigations by the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology.

Under the direction of H. B. Stenzel, geologist, University staff member have completed a study of the limestone in the Damon Mound Salt Dome—rare deposit in the Coastal Plain of Texas—and have reported that quarrying can be resumed if water is diverted from the excavation and the country's clay roads topped to permit all weather transportation.

Since most limestone used in the coastal regions for fills across swampy lands or protection against erosion in breakwaters must be shipped in from the north or west, this native rock is a critical need for the Brazoria region, the report of the Bureau pointed out.

"Since this deposit is unique however, there is a possibility that the radius of consumption could be extended farther than usual and still remain on a profit basis," it was explained.

Copies of the circular describing the Damon Mound limestone may be obtained from the University Bureau of Economic Geology.

Make Sure Your Insurance Company Has Texas License

Commissioner O. P. Lockhart, chairman of the Board of Insurance Commissioners, today issued a warning that the people of Texas should be sure they know what they are buying before they pay money to out of state insurance companies not licensed in Texas on insurance policies that have been advertised by radio or by direct mail.

"Complaints reaching the Board of Insurance Commissioners from dissatisfied policy holders indicate that a number of companies whose home offices are outside of the State of Texas are using the mails and radio advertising to sell policies in the State of Texas even though such companies have not obtained a certificate of authority to do business in this State," Lockhart said.

"Such companies cannot be regulated by the laws of this State and are outside the jurisdiction of both the Texas Insurance Department and the Texas Courts, with the result that Texasans must go to the home state of the company to bring suit against it when disputes arise," he explained. "The policies issued by many of such companies are policies that would not be approved for the use of companies licensed to operate in this State, because they are couched in misleading terms and seem to provide more benefits than can be collected."

The Commissioner suggested that any person considering buying an insurance policy solicited through the mails or by radio should, for his own protection, find out whether or not the company holds a certificate of authority to do business in the State of Texas. The Board of Insurance Commissioners, State Office Building, Austin 14, Texas, will gladly answer inquiries in this respect in regard to any company.

Every 60 seconds of the working day, the life insurance business pays 9 death claims for a total of $8,800; makes other benefit payments to living policyholders of $9,500; handles the servicing of nearly 1,000 policies; underwrites 140 new policies.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Much against my personal desires I was called back to Washington on August 1 for work on the bill to provide for disposing of surplus war property. After days of intensive hearings and deliberation the committee of which I am a member reported to the House of Representatives a bill known as H. R. 5125. This bill was debated in the house for a week, and was passed by the House on August 23.

The measure seeks to formulate policies for the disposition of around 100 billion dollars worth of surplus war property. The sale or disposition of this property will be handled by the executive branch of the government under policies established by the Congress. Many members of the Congress, including myself, feel that the legislative branch of the government should set forth definite rules and policies to direct and govern the administration in the sale of the tremendous surplus to be left on our hands following the war.

As a member of the committee handling this legislation I was able to write into the bill three important amendments which were adopted by the House on passage of the measure.

Like many other members to do everything possible to prevent profiteering and speculation in the disposal of these goods. One of the amendments written by me is to this effect, and provides "to prevent, in so far as possible, unusual and excessive profits being made out of surplus property."

Another amendment, of which I was the author, prohibits the destruction by fire or otherwise of any government property until after thirty days public notice and until after every other attempt has been made to sell, or if sale is impossible, to give away the property. Many people will remember that when the CCC camps were closed a great deal of lumber, picks, shovels, and other useful equipment was buried, burned, or otherwise destroyed while many people near these camps would have bought the equipment and used it to good advantage.

A third amendment written into the bill by me, over the objection of most government agencies, provides that agricultural lands acquired incident to the war program shall be returned to original owners in so far as possible when the government has finished with it, at a price not exceeding that paid for the land originally. This amendment further provides that where original owners do not repurchase within a reasonable time the land shall be sold in family-sized parcels, not more than one parcel to one family. It is hoped this will keep the land out of the hands of speculators, and will result in its resettlement by farmers who will live on the land.

This bill is now being debated by the Senate. It is expected it will be finally drawn, agreed to, and written into law within the next several weeks.

The surplus properties bill and the reconversion bill are the two most important matters upon which Congress is expected to act prior to its recess early in the fall.

Super Precise

In their efforts to turn out super-perfect war materials, American engineers are becoming super-precise in their test measurements. Westinghouse and Sheffield Corporation experimental laboratories have created an electric gauge, called Electrigage, for measuring thread gauges, threaded parts and the like, which will detect errors as small as twelve millionths of an inch.

Miss Wanda Ludington of Thrift, Texas, underwent a tonsillectomy at the Burk Clinic Saturday and is now doing very well. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Ludington.

Rev. A. E. Harrison closed a very successful meeting at the Gorman Baptist Church Sunday night. He reports that attendance and interest were excellent, with 38 additions being added to the church.

Miss Jonita Majors left Wednesday for Austin to resume her studies in the University of Texas after a short summer vacation.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Yes, I'm afraid there's no denyin' it, Judge... jeeps and trucks and other kinds of motorized equipment have taken the place of the good old horse in modern warfare."

"It's true of lots of things in this war, Eben. Every day we hear of new tactics and requirements and new uses of products. For instance, take the alcohol that is used for war purposes. In World War I, this vitally needed product was used mostly in making smokeless powder, chemical warfare materials and medical supplies. Today it must do far more... it must provide the base for such indispensable products as synthetic rubber, shatterproof glass, lacquers, plastics and many other of our requirements so essential to victory.

"As a result hundreds of millions of gallons are required every year... half of which is being produced by the beverage distilling industry. Bet you didn't know that, Eben."

"As a matter of fact, I didn't, Judge. That's a mighty important war contribution that had escaped me completely."

Calvary Baptist Church

Sunday School begins at ten a. m., with all classes studying the fourth chapter of John. "The Master Soul Winner Showing The Way For The Rest of Us."

Preaching at eleven o'clock. While the evangelist goes back to Bowie for the morning service there, the pastor will fill his pulpit here. Subject for the sermon will be, "The Holy Spirit In Conviction, Conversion and as Director."

Bro. Dearmore will be back for the night service, bringing an evangelistic message all will want to hear, with Bro. Miller at the head of the singing. The revival continues through next week, and if you haven't attended yet, get in the rest of the services. You always have a warm hearted welcome at Calvary Baptist Church, whether it is at the regular services or in a revival. Come with an open heart and mind to the church with the open Bible.

Ray C. Morrow, Pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Magers left Wednesday morning for Houston, where Roy was called by his company for a special conference with other representatives from over the state. They will spend 3 or 4 days in Houston. Mrs. Magers has a brother there that she will visit.

High School Bible Class To Be Offered This Year

Rev. DeVore is to teach the High School Bible class.

Other plans did not materialize and there was a general demand that the class be taught by the minister's Alliance. Rev. Harrison is to assist.

The class will be offered during the 1:40 period in the afternoon and will be open to the High School students. The Text Book will be The Bible supplemented by a syllabus for assistance in studying the Bible itself. The Bible will be studied from a non-sectarian, non-doctrinal point of view and emphasis will be placed on the historical, moral, and cultural values. All who will be invited to register for the course.

The class was offered last year and taught by Rev. Austin Varner during the fall semester and Rev. A. E. Harrison during the spring. The teachers will give their time without pay as they did last year.

The Old Testament will be offered the fall semester and the New Testament during the spring semester. A student may receive half a credit on either semester of work and a full credit for the full years work.

Sunday School, 9:45. Preaching Services, 11. Training Union, 7:30. Preaching Services, 8:30.

The pastor heard some good reports of the services last Sunday which were led by Chaplain Caraway. We rejoice in the good services.

The Sunday School attendance was not quite what it should have been, but good crowds for the preaching services.

The pastor is glad to be back and through with the revivals for a while. The Lord was good to us in the revival at Gorman giving 38 additions, 23 for baptism and 15 by letter.

Now that hot weather is about gone—vacations are passed, and the revival season is over let's get back to work in Sunday School and preaching services.

Wednesday night, Sept. 6 is our regular conference. You are urged to be present. A great big welcome awaits you at each service.

Chevrolet Producing Aircraft Engines

Announcement was made here today by M. E. Coyle, vice president of General Motors Corp., and general manager of the Chevrolet division, of production of the division's first 18-cylinder Pratt and Whitney aircraft engine. Having built more than 46,000 14 cylinder Pratt and Whitney aircraft engines in the past two years, Chevrolet, a major producer, now enters the big engine field. The first of the entirely new type engines known as the R2800-C, was test run 5 months and 18 days after Chevrolet was requested to accept the new responsibility by the Air Corps, Mr. Coyle stated.

Current production of the 14-cylinder job will be continued, said Mr. Coyle, in pointing out that the company had maintained high production levels on these types while handling a complex and involved plant rearrangement and re-tooling program in order to get production of the new model under way at the earliest possible date.

A seven pound son, William Floyd Cates, Jr., was born August 22nd to Sgt. and Mrs. Floyd Cates of Burkburnett. Mrs. Cates the former Louise Kent, is now in the General Hospital in Wichita Falls and will return home next Sunday or Monday.

John W. Story and Joe R. Story of Burkburnett and Melvin E. Story of Kamay visited their mother, Mrs. Lona Hammons, and their brother, Morgan Story, in the latter's home in McAlister, Okla. This was the first time that Mrs. Hammons and her four sons had been together in 27 years. Mrs. Joe Story and Josephine and Mrs. Melvin Story also made the trip.
