At Nazarene Revival Explorer Scouting Come To Burk

Explorer Scouting, one of the three branches of Senior Scouting, is being organized in our two troops. Both troops will work as one in this field, giving the opportunity to every Boy Scout in Burkburnett who is 15 years of age or over, preferably a First Class, but not required.

Nothing of this sort has ever been organized in Burkburnett before, yet it is said to be the most thrilling branch of Scouting. Mr. L. R. Todd has generously volunteered to be the Senior Leader in charge of the Patrol and Mr. Henry Prinzing is acting as committee chairman With nine years of musical and until the committee of three is of Explorers in Wichita of which

By learning the Indians we will break the statement "If the present generation lost its can opener it would starve to death in three days." Perhaps this is true for the greater part of the generation but not for experienced Explorer Scout.

The first meeting will be held in the Baptist Church on Thursfor everyone interested in Senior view of the Explorer Scouting how to join, and full requirements throughout the time.

Schools teach reading and writing and here in Burk we felt that schools were available to everyone. Therefore we can be shocked that illiteracy has cost our army 240,000 men, which means the loss of 15 divisions, perhaps divisions that would have made a difference in the length of war. The army needed these men badly enough that they proceeded to give them an eight weeks' course in reading and writing. Texts that made the learning easier, were furnished, and since educators have proved that adults who are illiterate, can master the fundamentals quickly, the army met with success. Illiteracy is a national shame, a blot on our civic conscience. Educated in the rudiments in eight weeks by the army, it points each big, new victory at the dollar bill, offering to bet he to an achievement that can be made in any section where front. I'm afraid they'll fire so would beat any other general in illiteracy exists. Illiteracy is unnecessary and should be many of those salutes that they'll Paris. Give Pullets Good Housing Facilities

Many poultry authorities are advocating 100 per cent pullet flocks this fall to assure increashigher egg production at lower cal, insulate with easy to in- fall pullets. cost. Pullets lay 50 or more eggs per year than hens, with better distribution of egg production. Aside from the advantages to the poultrymen of increased production there is better livability and less likelihood of disease carryover. If we could determine among pullets which will be the best layers with the same precson and accuracy possble among hens that have laid a year we could advocate this plan with confidence. However, there are a few points that help in this problem.

Observe Slow Starting Pullets There is a decided tendency for high production and early maturity to go hand in hand just as slow maturity and low production is generally the case.

Also if pullets have pale shanks and thin bodies or other evidence of poor health something must be done to bring them up to better laying par and top condition. A stomach flock treatment will sometimes accomplish this but in other instances, culling is the nly solution.

Comfortable Winter Quarters

All too often pullets are taken from the rasge and placed in laying quarters with old hens or to houses used previously by old birds without cleaning. It is better if they can occupy houses by themselves and it is absolutely essential that these houses be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. Clean up all litter, refuse and dirt, sweep down the walls, scrape the floors and scrub thoroughly. However, even houses clean in appearance may still harbor germs. So give it a thorough disinfecting with a reliable disinfectant. Some disinfectants are stainless which eliminate the job of whitewashing inetriors unless it is desired. Spread a good nicotine roost preparation on the roosts which will kill the mites and feather lice as the pullets roost, without the necessity of stall insulation. Replace handling the birds. Good fresh under the perches and any litter should then be spread on en window glass. Careful the floor for the new layers.

The Golden Text is: "Wilt thou set thine eyes upon that which is not? for riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away as an eagle toward heaven' (Proverbs 23:5.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me" (Exodus 20:2, 3.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In proportion as the belief disappears that life and intelligence are in or of matter, the immortal facts of being are seen, and their only idea or intelligence is in God' (page 279.)

Allied Invasion of Yugoslavia Poses Another Threat to Reich; Plan for Small Standing Army

Entering Chambois, France, the Allies found abandoned, wrecked and burned German equipment, common sights along the enemy's bat tered retreat route to the Reich.

As Russian troops tore across Romania onto the eastern Yugoslav border near the capital of Belgrade, U. S. and British forces landed on the western coast for a drive inland. As the two Allied armies worked forward for a junction, Marshal Josip Tito's Partisans were active in harassing German troops and sabotaging communication lines. The twin offensive in Yugoslavia doubly imperilled the harried legions of Adolf Hitler.

First, the U. S., British and Russian drives promised to link the Allied armies for a concerted attack against southern Austria and Hungary, and, also to outflank the Nazis manning the Gothic line in Italy to the west; and, second, an Allied junction would cut off an estimated 260,000 enemy troops remaining in lower Yugoslavia, Greece and the Aegean islands.

Stiffen at Border

Bleated the German radio to fanatical Nazi rearguards resisting the U.S. and British drives to the Reich's western frontier:

Fighting was particularly heavy in northeastern Belgium before the fortress city of Liege and in the rugged Ardennes forest, and directly to the east of Paris, where American troops drew up along the Moselle river for an assault on Nazi defenses guarding the rich industrial Saar basin.

Mounted thickly in the precipitous. wooded heights east of the Moselle, the German artillery maintained a steady drumfire against doughty U. S. troops seeking to establish firm bridgeheads across the river.

Farther to the south, Lieut. Gen. Alexander Patch's Seventh army, driving up from the Mediterranean for a juncture with Lieut. Gen. George Patton's Third army along the Moselle, drove on the Belfort gap, the low lying plane between the Vosges mountains of France and Swiss border leading into Germany.

Costly Fighting

Reflecting the strong pressure the Russians were exerting to the northeast of Warsaw, the Germans acknowledged their withdrawal across the Narew river, ". . . to avoid the danger of a Russian breakthrough on the southern border of East Prussia."

In withdrawing across the Narew. the Nazis continued their policy of economizing their forces by giving their opponent promised to grind down their manpower. Because of the proximity of the Russians to German soil, however, the Nazis no longer were free to make wholesale withdrawals, but now faced bloody front-line fighting.

RELIGION IN THE LIFE OF A NATION

LESSON TEXT-II Samuel 7:17-29. GOLDEN TEXT-The Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory. Isaiah 60:19.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation" (Prov. 14:34). True religion is vital to the life of a nation and is the only foundation for national stability and growth. David, the man and was not content that the ark of God, the center of the nation's worship, should be without a suitable house. He was not one to be content with a fine palace for his own comfort while the ark of God had a temporary abiding place within curtained walls (v. 2).

Although the prophet Nathan encouraged him in his plan (v. 3), the Lord revealed to the prophet that David was not to build His house (see I Chron. 22:8, 9), but to prepare the materials so that his son Solomon could do it. David's response to that message reveals the true religious attitude of a king and a people who fear and worship God.

I. Receive God's Grace (vv. 18-

The great Davidic covenant, which is yet to have its final fulfillment in David's greater son, our Lord Jesus, was made with him at Jones, whose condition worried pals, this time. He was promised that the throne of his kingdom was to be established forever (vv. 13-15), a prophecy to be fulfilled in Christ.

But there was also the great promise of blessing upon David's son Solomon, and the reminder of God's grace upon David, the one brought up from the sheepcote to be king (v. 8).

In humility of heart David received this grace and thanked God for it. Note such expressions as "Who am I?" "What is my house?" "What can David say more?" and "For thy word's sake thou hast done these great things." David knew and admitted his unworthiness; he realized that this was indeed unmerited favor from God, but he accepted it as God's gift.

II. Recognize God's Power (vv.

III. Rest in God's Promise (vv.

"Do as thou hast said." That is a perfect prayer for any nation. Let the will of God be done, and all will be well-now and in the future.

There is nothing commendable about doubting God's promise or limiting Him in fulfilling it. It glorifies God and magnifies His name to take Him at His word and to confidently expect Him to fully meet His promise. To do anything else is to reflect on His power and His integrity.

It was the prayer of David that the Lord's name might be magnified forever in the keeping of the covenant which He had made with him. That squarely put all of the authority and dependability of God behind the keeping of the promise. David found peace of heart there. May not we do likewise, resting on

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war sure has made a lot of changes in this old world of ours, hasn't it, Judge?" "Plenty of them, John. One that few people realize is that the rubber producing center of the world is now right here in the United States. "When the Japs conquered the big natural rubber producing centers of the world they thought they had us licked. But in two short years, thanks to American industry, we are now producing synthetic rubber enough to supply all our military and essential civilian needs.

"Our rubber experts knew how to make it but the problem was to get the huge amounts of industrial alcohol needed. Almost overnight the country's beverage distillers stopped making whiskey and converted 100% to the production of this vital ingredient. A high government official said recently this was '...an almost unparalleled example of the overnight conversion of an entire industry from peace to war."

"Come to think of it, Judge, it was a mighty fortunate thing the beverage distilling industry was in existence, wasn't it?"
