The South is very steadfast in maintaining cotton production.

"ON THE BEAM"

Burkburnett High School Auditorium Thursday, December 7th, 9:30 A. M. Admission, Students 15c; Adults 30c

Glenn L. Morris presents the latest in science in aviation through a program entitled "On The Beam."

Nowhere has the proper application of science yielded such spectacular and satisfactory results as in the field of aircraft control. Piloting a plane is relatively simple under favorable weather conditions. Upon entering the overcast, however, complex problems arise rapidly. Aids to the airman constitute a world of development within a few years—radio beams, markers, direction finders, landing devices, and a panel of unusual instruments.

Are you on the beam or off the beam? What sort of signals come to the airman directly above your school building to guide him thru the clouds?

Morris says: "The first part of the program deals with the fundamentals, simple propagation of radio, radio control, and some stunts. After a discussion of the limitations of the compass, which tells only the direction the aviator faces, and not the direction he is actually going. I explain the construction of the new radio range stations. Then we tune in on some of them and put the signals through the public address system, so that the audience will know exactly what the pilot is hearing in his head set as he flies directly over the building. The stations are identified and a drawing is made of the nearest one."

"Then I make use of a small range station on the stage, picking up the signals on a model DC3 plane, which is held by one of the students, who in turn is blindfolded. He is confused by whirling about and is 'lost'. He listens to the signals which find the audience can hear also, finds the 'beam' and finds his way across the stage to the little range station. The chief educational theme throughout is the importance of technical knowledge both in war and in peace, and the purpose is to stimulate study in these fields."

Morris is known all over the country for his popular science lectures and demonstrations. He is a specialist in making science understandable. His rare ability as a showman and over twenty years experience in meeting all types of audiences enable him to hold attention at high pitch. You may be confident that when he arrives with this new equipment on aviation science, that you are in for another fascinating treat and an adventure into man's latest field of activity.

Back On The Farm

During the past four years there has been a 4,748,000 drop in the farm population. Half of this decrease took place in 1942, when farm people moved away to war industries and joined the armed forces. During the calendar year of 1943 the farm population decreased 1,138,000. So there are a few million reasons why farm foods are scarce in the home grocery.

Merchants Urged To Display Flags

Headed by a group of returned war heroes from every battlefield, a special unit of the "G I Jamboree" will visit Saturday at 11 A. M. on December 2 at a huge bond rally as part of the Smashing Sixth War Loan campaign for this sector.

Accompanying the heroes will be a "G I Military Show, complete with band, entertainers and novelty act from Sheppard Field. The "G I" Jamboree unit will visit burkburnett is one of four such units touring 200 towns of the Lone Star State under the supervision of Phil Isley of the War Activities Committee of the motion picture industry.

Acting as master of ceremonies for the show here will be Jack Mitchell, manager of the Majestic Theatre in San Antonio and former radio announcer, and Crawford Eagle, veteran stage actor who is now manager of the Dal-Sec theatre in Dallas.

Two servicemen who have just recently returned from the Pacific theatre of operations and will appear at the rally are Corporal Gibson and Private Lowe. Corporal Gibson of Asheville, North Carolina, saw action in the Papuan Islands, Dutch New Guinea, including the battle for Hollandia and Piac. Gibson was wounded in the latter campaign and has recently arrived at Ashburn General Hospital. Private Lowe served with the combat engineers in Hawaii and took part in the campaign to recapture Saipan and the Palie island group. Private Lowe was injured before hitting the shores of Saipan and had to be evacuated off a ship near the island.

According to Clifford Dodson, local chairman of the Sixth War Loan Bond Drive here announces all plans and arrangements are complete for this show. One of the largest crowds ever to gather in burkburnett is expected at this rally. Loud Speakers will be set up on Main street so that all may hear the speakers, who are overseas veterans.

Rotary Club

Carl Morrison brought the program to Rotary last Tuesday. He sang "The Desert Song" accompanied by his daughter Kay at the piano. Kay also played a piano solo, after which Carl led a round table discussion on post war plans for burkburnett and community. Some interesting ideas were presented by Tom Boyd, M. C. Tucker, B. H. Alexander, and Barney Landers and others. The topic discussed most freely was that of a "Dry Land Farm Experimentation Station" for this community on which some work has been done in the past and things are looking a bit favorable to that end.

With Kay, Carl had as his guest Mrs. Morrison. The club was privileged to have Geo. Bryer as guest. George is on leave from the club in the U. S. Army. Also present was Chauncey Weiler, Rotarian from Electra, C. J. Tucker and J. M. Isbell, Rotarians from Wichita Falls.

The club will have their annual Toy Program on the Tuesday before Christmas and will not hold meeting on Tuesday 26, the day after Christmas.

BUY MORE AND MORE

The Sixth War Loan Drive started November 20th, with the same need for backing as those previous ones. Each such drive brings us closer that day of victory when we will no longer be required to purchase war bonds to maintain a bulwark against the enemy. BUT that day has not arrived, it can't come until we meet the necessary requirements to bring it about. Our fighting men have not let up in their drive towards the goal. Will we in Burk Burnett fail in our drive? This is our job, the war bonds we buy are our guns with which to war. From all sides we learn of over-confident people relaxing, letting up in their persistence which used to be "on to Victory". What if, with every advance, our army became so confident of success that they felt all was needed was to slide in home without even swinging at the ball? Back this war drive for Bonds, as faithfully, as nobly as wisely, as you have those preceding it.

BUSY BUYING

Market reports point out that Christmas shopping has set a record in retail history, by getting off to its earliest start. In certain large cities where stores have tried to keep a reserve stock for the late Christmas rush, it has been necessary to make inroads into the holiday supply. This might well indicate shortages by the time some of us grab our hat and try to make the deadline. There is no practical reason why Burk Burnett Christmas lists couldn't be made now. We could help the over-worked clerks, avoid those crowded transportation lines, simply by doing it now. Mail early and soften the blow for the postoffice department. Don't overlook the perils of procrastination.

AFTER THE WAR

Women in war work are fearful they are not going to be given any consideration in postwar positions, at least not to the extent of men workers. They have already begun to campaign for equal pay and equal work opportunities after the war. If the U. S. Employment Service is to direct male workers to essential jobs, they feel it follows that women will be offered only non-essential ones. Those women now employed in skilled labor, feel they should be taught this business as a reserve during war and then be shoved into the kitchen and over a washing machine when war is done. There is much written and heatedly spoken on the topic, with most men feeling that with a limited number of positions open, they should have the preference. They argue that in resettling workers in peacetime work, women can't be moved from place to place as easily as men. The fact that not all of the women working today will even desire work in plants after the war, helps the problem somewhat. But that there is a real headache here, there is not a doubt. If many women must assume financial responsibility for their families after the war, who were not forced to do so before, no one will deny them their right to positions. They ask they be judged for merit alone, standing an equal chance to qualify.

Lutheran Church Announcements

Many things are failing in our day. But the Gospel never fails. The Gospel reveals that Friend of the human, who bowed down to the needs of mankind, paid the penalty of the world's sin debt, conquered death, and brought the glory of eternal life.

Today some are saying "We want a new Gospel, one that will improve the social order." But this new Gospel is no Gospel at all. It cannot renew society, because it cannot renew individual members thereof.

God renews men by the old Gospel. In all this world there is no power known to man by which the human heart can be cleansed and endowed with true righteousness.

Looking Ahead

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
President, Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

An Objective View

Jokes about absent-minded professors leave me cold. I can't help but bristle a little when people poke fun at school teaching, the craft at which I have worked hard for 20 years. Persons outside the field who say teachers, as a class, are more lazy or less practical than other people, may, for all I care, go climb a tack. Such charges are not worthy of dispute.

It is quite another matter, however, when persons in places of honor or inside the field of education lay hold of false standards and set them up as essential principles. The allegation, for example, that a teacher ought never to have a fixed opinion is one that I resent. Can it be true that a man's ability to make up his mind proves him unsuited to teach others.

Collegiate Attitude

Few higher compliments can be paid a man than to say he has an open mind. It is a joy to meet people of perfectly clear mental vision, persons not blinded by prejudices, men and women who don't get warped and lop-sided views with new ideas. The right approach in thinking about anything is an honest wish to find facts, measure them and accept them for what they are worth.

On the other hand, refusing to accept a fact when you see it is worse than not seeing it. There are mental giants who are moral cowards, no doubt, but don't let anybody tell you it is necessary. Intellect and shilly-shally don't have to go hand-in-hand. Hostility to the truth marks a nit-wit, certainly, but indifference to the truth produces the same result—nothing.

A Blushing Matter

Recently I addressed an audience well salted with men of my own calling: teachers, school executives and men of degree in formal education. I talked about things I believe in, such as constitutional government, laws made by representatives of the people, free speech, unshackled faith, and open competition. After the meeting one of the educators told me I was not objective, did not have an open mind.

He was ashamed of me for having convictions. What a spectacle I was in his eyes, a college president with my mind made up! I spoke of representative, constitutional government as better than state socialism. I defended man's right to own property, to create and operate a business with a hope of profit, as better than government management of industry. "If we lose these principles," I said, "we will drift to lower standards, surely as water seeks its level."

We Need Fixity

Those are facts. Experts in political economy can prove them to any open-minded listener. Or a student can travel the Earth and see for himself as I did. Where does labor get the highest wages? Where does agriculture enjoy the highest living standards? It is in America, only in America. The reason is our economic system, not just our resources or our people. These facts need to be taught.

Europe's outcast philosophies, wrong as they are, make progress in America. Why? Because too many of our young men leave college believing they must have an objective attitude toward everything. They get no firmness of purpose at school. In my opinion it is high time educators got some fixed principles on vital matters like government, morals and religion.

Texans just won't quit fighting!

Even the boys who have spent months overseas, been seriously wounded and returned to the States to recover their health, insist upon doing their extra bit for victory. Dozens of men in McCloskey General Hospital at Temple have volunteered to help with war fund and war bond drives, even though they have won the right to sit back and take things easy.

Two returned veterans, Captain R. E. Erisman of Ennis and Pfc. Paul Trotter of Sherman, are touring the state now, putting on one day "clean-up" campaigns for the National War Fund helping local war chest put their counties over the top.

Captain Erisman recently returned from China, where he spent 13 months fighting the Japs with Chinese troops. He is recovering now from a serious illness contracted there.

"People at home who think the war is almost over make me sick," he told a meeting at Stephenville last week. "If they realized how many of our boys will be killed before victory finally comes they would think differently. The Japs are tough, and it will take a long time to whip them."

Trotter, a likeable, lanky Texan, was wounded seriously at Salerno Beach, captured by the Nazis, and spent almost seven months in a German prison camp.

He returned on the Gripsholm a few weeks ago, and is recovering from bullet wounds in the left hand, arm and side, and shrapnel wounds of the shoulder and face.

While in the prisoner of war camp, he received athletic equipment, books and other recreational supplies from his Texas home folks, through War Prisoners Aid, the National War Fund agency.

"I am making this tour to tell the people of Texas how much this help means to the men in Nazi camps," he explained. "Men would go crazy from sheer boredom if they didn't receive recreational equipment. Many close friends of mine are still prisoners, and I want to help them get the things they need."

He is helping plenty, too. At Stephenville, where the two heroes spoke, more than $1,800 was raised in a one-hour public rally that put the Erath County War Chest well over the top.

And another Texas fighting "man" is back home, after engaging in two major battles in the Pacific. He is Alfred Wright of McAllen, who set a record by being the youngest fighter to fight the Japs. Alfred took heroic part in two tough battles before Navy officials disclosed he was only 15 years old. On the battles was fought when he was 14.

The Navy sent him home when they learned his age. But he can take from the fighting as youngster the two battles he wears so proudly.

Yes, Texans fight, at any And their type of fighting, at home and abroad, is going to do a lot toward victory in war against the Nazis and Japs.

Americans Well Fed? Not So Doctor Says

The belief that Americans are well fed is an illusion which was smashed this week by Dr. Robert S. Harris of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He told the American Dietetic Association at Chicago that investigations have disclosed that only 7 per cent of all United States families do not get enough food, while others are not getting enough of the right kind, he said.

It was a gray day early in December some dozen years ago in Fort Worth and an icy wind was whistling around the corner where we stood. My companion was shivering and he had on an overcoat. I didn't have one on, so you can judge how comfortable I was.

Just a few months before, this winter had joined The Star Telegram. I enjoyed seeing my friends from out West Texas way when they visited Cowtown and I tried to get some bit of news from each one and thereby be able to put their names in the paper.

This friend, J. E. Spencer, was manager of a Chamber of Commerce. It was a new kind of work for him.

What's happening out your way? Not anything special, he replied.

Try to think of something so we can give the old town a boost.

He studied a moment and then said: Well, we opened the Christmas shopping season yesterday.

Of course, that had happened or would soon happen in every town in the United States.

We had a big crowd at the airport for a special stunt—old Santa Claus came to town in an airplane.

Well, much obliged, no use of my keeping you here freezing; glad to have seen you, I said and we went our different ways.

And I did have my story—a full column on the front page next morning. Because by friends town was the one place in all America that the coming of jolly old St. Nicholas was news.

The lead on the news story was: "Santa Claus has come back to Cisco!"

The last time he had been seen there, he fled under a hail of lead, leaving two dying citizens and ten others wounded. It was two days before Christmas in 1927 that a band, the leader disguised as old Santa, held up the bank.

Because of the tragic associations Christmas after Christmas went by without a Santa Claus being seen in the town. There were little children who could not remember ever having seen the bewiskered old fellow. It was the only place in all Christendom where the patron saint of the Yuletide season was unknown.

FIRST PARIS STYLES

French styles have lost none of their piquancy despite the hardships of the Nazi occupation. Shown above as pictured in the November issue of Harper's Bazaar is an example of the first style pictures received from Paris. Note the tiny waistline, accentuated by bulk at sleeves and hips, the long finger-tip length of the sleeve jacket, and the set of the hat on the back of the head with all the forehead in view.

And now Santa Claus has come back to Cisco.

Returning to Cotulla recently, your columnist found the town much changed from the winter of 1920-21 which was spent there to build up my health.

The town, between San Antonio and Laredo, was pretty much at that time as it was some 35 years before when Will Porter arrived in LaSalle County to regain his health. (The world now knows him better as O Henry.)

The streets in 1920 when I landed there, were still unpaved and there was an old building with a faded sign, "Saloon." The hotel where O. Henry occasionally spent a night is still there, even now, and is doing a thriving business.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Wildenthal is much too young to remember O. Henry but he remembers people who did know O. Henry. He tells the traditional story of the time that young Porter came to Cotulla, drank too much and then went into the hotel lobby. The motherly proprietress, whom he called "Aunt" made him promise not to drink any more. Then while he slumbered in the chair, a bottle of whiskey fell out of his pocket but he slept on. She hid the bottle and wouldn't let him have it when he awoke.

Then there was a deaf and dumb Mexican whom Wildenthal knew and who could tell what you said by watching your lips but he had to write out his part of the conversation, in Spanish. This Mexican and O. Henry often went riding together, O. Henry usually ahead and, legend says, talking to himself—perhaps even then, planning the short stories that were destined to make his name immortal.

The youth had his money all in silver dollars, which he buried, and on these rides, if he needed money, he would dig up his horde and obtain a supply. The Mexican was the only other who knew where O. Henry's money was hidden.

Along in the '90's which would be some years after O. Henry had left LaSalle County to make his home in Austin—he was on the train, enroute from Laredo to San Antonio or Austin. During the stop in Cotulla, he saw his friend, the deaf and dumb Mexican, from the car window and alighted and shook hands. That perhaps was the last time O. Henry was in Cotulla—though in memory he was there often, afterward, because some of his finest stories are about that country which, with its mesquite prickley pear, roadrunners and cattle hidden in the dense brush, is just about as it was 60 odd years ago when he went there to build up his strength on a ranch and would drive the wagon into Cotulla for supplies.

T.-B. Still Takes High Toll Life

Despite the fact that the cause of tuberculosis is known, diagnostic aids highly developed, and treatment procedures definitely established, the disease still remains the chief cause of deaths among persons aged 15 to 35 years. Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, has stated that their age period corresponds to the time of greatest physical activity. The resulting chronic fatigue may be an activating factor in the development of tuberculosis.

"Today's distraction for the adolescent, whether in school or employed, are many and intriguing. Coupled with the daily requirements of study of work, are many activities and allurements that tend habitually to rob the boy or girl of the nightly adequate sleep requirement," Dr. Cox said. "For many young people, bed is but a last resort, and the next morning's ring of the alarm clock is a painful recall to the day's work or school. In this manner bodily resistance can be lowered, thus giving the latent tuberculosis germ, if present its chance to become active, as well as to make those coming in close contact with an 'open case' more vulnerable to infection than usual."

"Another easy approach to chronic fatigue is through physical activities of any nature, including vigorous competitive sports (as distinguished from the usual run of recreational activities associated with school life,) and hard, sustained physical labor. While most youngsters stand up to the physical demands of interscholastic sports, as well as hard work, those who are infected with the tuberculosis organism, however inactive the germ may be, rarely are so fortunate. This problem calls for more parental consideration than it is receiving today."

University Study Club

The University Study Club met with Mrs. I. D. Russell, Wednesday, November 15, for a Thanksgiving Luncheon, with Mrs. J. H. Rigby, serving as co-hostess.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 26.

The Golden Text is: "In the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities: but fear thou God" (Ecclesiastes 5:7.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcome, and set down with my Father in his throne" (Revelations 3:21.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Ignorance of God is no longer the stepping-stone to faith. The only guarantee of obedience is a right apprehension of Him whom to know aright is Life eternal" Preface vii.)

Use Of V-Mail To Navy Personnel In Europe Urged

Because air mail service to and from U. S. Naval personnel in the European Theatre of Operations has recently become less frequent, post office authorities at U. S. Naval headquarters in England today recommended increased use of V-Mail.

Air mail will continue to be flown during the coming winter months, they disclosed, because Naval flying over Northern Atlantic routes has been curtailed until better flying weather in the spring.

During summer months air-mail letters between the United States and Europe averaged less than a week in delivery. More than two weeks will be required during winter months, they said.

V-Mail, always a priority item in trans-Atlantic flights, will continue to reach its destination in the normal time of five to seven days. Authorities therefore recommended that V-Mail be used by Naval personnel and their correspondents in the United States in all cases where the earliest possible arrival is desired.

The equivalent of 25 sacks of air mail letters can be carried in one small V-Mail sack, recorder don 16mm. film. Because of the quantity of air mail posted, much of it will have to be carried in ships during the winter.

Survivors Deceased Service Men Should Contact S. S. Board

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Nov. 21, 1944.—Survivors of deceased service men who worked in employment covered by the Social Security Act prior to their entrance into the armed forces were urged to contact the nearest Social Security Board office by R. L. Surles, manager of the Wichita Falls, Texas, field office.

In addition to any benefits payable from War Risk Insurance there may also be some payment from the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance system. These payments can be made if the worker was insured under the Social Security plan, particularly if the deceased is survived by minor children, since monthly payments continue until the youngest child reaches age 18.

Delay in filing the claim after notice of death is received may result in some loss of benefit by the survivor.

More Rural Telephones Planned

A joint committee of representatives of Bell and independent operating telephone companies throughout the U. S. has been formed to advance the nationwide postwar programs which the various telephone companies have been working on individually to extend and improve farm telephone service, it was announced today.

Co-chairman of the committee are John P. Boylan, president of the United States Independent Telephone Association, the national organization of the thousands of independent telephone companies, and Keith S. McHugh, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, representing the Bell operating companies.

"Rural Telephone service is more highly developed in this country, under the American system of private enterprise, than in any other country in the world," Mr. Boylan and Mr. McHugh said today in a statement issued by them for the committee. "However, it is by no means as highly developed as we in the industry want to see it, and the industry intends to do everything in its power to provide more service, and better service, at a cost which the farmer can afford."

"Since operating telephone companies throughout the whole country have been working on this problem, a representative joint committee has been formed consisting of a number of their most experienced officials. We believe that the application of new facilities and methods which were under development by the industry before the demands of war interrupted our research and construction program will help to bring telephone service to many new farm customers. As soon as war demands are reduced, we propose to resume and expand our research effort and, along with it, the intensive program for extending farm service which was being carried on before the outbreak of hostilities."

"Over one-half million miles of telephone pole lines serving rural areas have already been built so that more than two-thirds of all rural families in the United States can be served from existing lines. Since 1935 more than 500,000 additional families in rural areas have become telephone subscribers—an increase of 35 per cent. One of the major objectives is to continue this upward trend by making the service over existing lines increasingly valuable and attractive. This the industry intends to do to the limit of its ability.

"A second major objective is to extend service at reasonable cost to families not now reached by existing lines. Telephone industry research in the last several years has successfully developed new construction materials and methods which substantially lower the cost of building wire lines to areas not previously reached. In addition, work was started by the industry in 1938 to develop a practical system of transmitting telephone conversations over electric power lines. A similar system can be used over telephone lines to increase their capacity. This so-called rural carrier system transmits a very high frequency current over the wires. From 1940 on experiments with this system for telephone service over rural power lines were carried forward in a cooperative effort of Bell Telephone Laboratories and the rural Electrification Administration. Before this work was interrupted by the war, it was clear that a suitable system of this kind could be produced.

"One practical effect of these developments is to make it physically possible to furnish telephone service wherever there are rural power lines and no telephone lines. The telephone companies plan, in cooperation with REA co-operatives and with power companies serving rural territory, to determine the full extent to which rural carrier telephone service can be used economically and effectively.

"The telephone companies also plan to study the possible application of microwave radio systems to rural telephone service and to make use of this and any other new methods which will be helpful in serving the farmer."

Ed Richard Whitesides, Omer Baumhardt and Thurman Kennedy, attended the Lubbock Tech vs. S. M. U. football game at Lubbock, last Saturday, and also visited with relatives in Slaton.

Style with Thrift For War Bonds

A slimming style you can make yourself is this deep green wool sheath which fastens down the front with matching novelty buttons. A peppermint stripe dickey ties into a soft bow at the neckline. Three-quarter sleeves and fan-shaped darts at the waistline accentuate the slim lines of this pattern. Contrasting pill-box and shoulder bag are made of felt. Girls who make their own clothes bring us nearer to victory by putting their sewing-savings into War Bonds. Patterns for dress and accessories can be purchased at local pattern counters.

PUSHOVER?

DON'T TELL PRIVATE JONES THE JAPS ARE EASY

THE JOB IN THE PACIFIC IS STILL TERRIFIC!

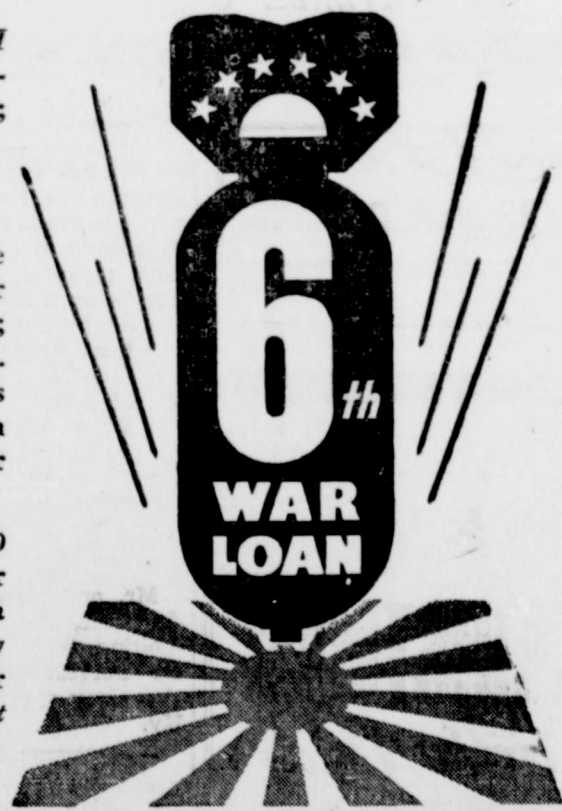

THERE ARE STILL MILLIONS OF TOUGH, BRUTAL JAPS TO LICK. EVERY JAP WE KILL MAKES MY CHANCES OF GETTING HOME BETTER, AND IT COSTS PLENTY TO KILL A JAP

Look into your heart and ask yourself honestly: "Have I stopped fighting? Have I stopped buying War Bonds because I think the war is about over?" You're not a quitter; your answer is "No!"

It costs billions of dollars a month to fight Japan

The fight in the Pacific calls for a highly specialized type of equipment. B-29 bombers that cost $600,000 in War Bonds; M-4 tanks with bulldozer blades that cost $67,417; "alligators" that cost $30,000; millions of gallons of gas. We need more and costlier equipment than any war has ever called for. And that's the reason for the 6th War Loan Drive. Just as long as a single Japanese aims a gun at our men—we must continue to buy War Bonds.

Once again you are asked to buy at least one extra $100 War Bond. Buy more if you possibly can. Not only is it for the final Victory—it's for your future. Sign up for extra War Bonds on the Payroll Plan. Welcome the Victory Volunteer when he or she calls at your home. Remember—the job in the Pacific is still terrific. We're out to get Japan in the 6th War Loan Drive!

IT TAKES PLENTY OF WAR BONDS TO BUILD B-29s

THE WAR in the Pacific is the most costly war America has ever engaged in. It's simple arithmetic. A mountain of special, costly equipment is needed. A B-29 Superfortress used in the bombing of Japan costs $500,000 in War Bonds. And this is just one of the many extra costly implements of war needed to achieve final victory in the Pacific. That's why the 6th War Loan Drive is so important. That's why you must back it as generously as you have every other war loan drive. Invest in the next raid on Japan...

Uncle Sam Enjoys Novel Experience

Uncle Sam has enjoyed a rare experience, the voluntary return by a war contractor of its profits on government business.

The National Farm Machinery Cooperative at Shelbyville, Inc., sent the Treasury a check for $45,000—a patronage refund on the defense cooperative's tractor factory.

The factory is owned by consumer and purchasing cooperatives in the United States and Canada and before the war was producing tractors for members. It converted production of tank parts and other materials. The patronage refund follows the regular cooperative practice of returning profits to patrons.

Brack Preston Jr. left Wednesday for Big Spring, Texas, where he will visit his brother Harold Preston through the Xmas holidays.

BUY and USE Christmas Seals Annual Seal Sale Progressing Here

Many residents of Burkburnett have received Seals delivered to them by their own postman this week. Monday, November 27, was the opening day of the annual sale of support the tuberculosis control program of the association. The sale will continue until Christmas.

The creator of the Seal mailman, who is the art editor of the Woman's Home Companion, stated why he selected this particular design.

"There was never any question but that a postman should be featured on the Seal," said Wildey. "A postal employee in Copenhagen first had the idea of building a more healthy community through the sale of holiday Seals. It was exactly 40 years ago that his idea was carried out and the first Christmas Seals were sold in Denmark. Both in Denmark and in this country which implied the idea in 1907, postal employees have always played an important part in the campaign. It was, therefore, a natural to depict a postman on the 40th anniversary Seal.

"Christmas Seals have become a tradition in this community," said J. R. Terrill, general manager for the campaign, hope everyone will use. This is the 40th anniversary of the sale of the first seals to support a health program, 17th year that the seals have been distributed here.

"The greater part of the connected with the Christmas Seal sale is of volunteers," continued. "This means campaign are kept at a minimum, the association to devote to the sale to its work prevention and control of tuberculosis.

"It is extremely gratifying that so many men and women want to help make the success. We are proud to have pledges to buy and use the Seal on all their Christmas cards." Mrs. R. L. Ligon, executive secretary, explained the need for the tuberculosis control program to meet wartime needs. The association is expecting the arrival of a new photogen X-ray unit some time in December, the equipment will play an important part in the cross-finding program.

Mrs. Polly Wiggins, hostess of the little daughter of Oklahoma, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Wiggins here the week.
