Mrs. J. R. Wood Injured Sunday

She was not pinned under the door, and after regaining consciousness, she managed to get into the house and summoned aid.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Wood was admitted to the Wichita Falls General Hospital for further treatment. She was reported as in a critical condition.

A son, Bill Wood, who is employed at Fort Worth by a shell manufacturing concern, came immediately to be with his mother. Two other sons, Lester, who is employed in Waurika, Okla., and Joe of Pampa are also home.

CLEANING TIME

Everyone in Burk takes pride in the town, wants it noticed favorably by transients, appreciated by visitors. We have plans for doing much work around here in progressive building, after the war, but today we are hindered by the lack of material and workers. This does not mean that our public pride, our civic spirit, should be tucked away in moth balls until peace comes to our country. Spring finds us again sweeping the community cobwebs away, making a clean-up program stick. Housewives hereabouts are busy with spring cleaning jobs inside the home. This can be extended outside by the community at large and we can bring about a number of local improvements. Altho proud of Burk there are still unsightly spots around here, alleys that need airing, rubbish needing removed, breeding places for insects needing eliminating. Let's make this town one where folks, passing by, will say, "I've always wanted to live in a place like that."

Keep Remembering

It is necessary to keep drumming into the national mind that we must not forget our purpose in dealing sternly with the German people. There are all sorts of tales published of their profound misery, attempting to forgive their part in war by blaming it on the Nazi terrorists, of their personal reluctance to fight. False accounts of their fondness for Americans, their protestations against cruelty, is being sent as propaganda into all the land. A story reaches us of how some German families are making friends of Russian prisoners and the few remaining Jews, paying them in gifts for their good will and hoping they will act as sponsors and speak in favor of the kind-hearted Germans. Germany says she expects this country, through contributions, to restore the damage done her through air raids, adding to the belief that Americans forget easily. If Germany even attempts to make payment for the damage she has done, we in Burkburnett will be surprised. There is no lightning-like change in the warlike German nature, it is just that they would want us to believe it so.

Burkburnett . . . History

As revealed by the files of the Star 17 years ago.

The Burkburnett Volunteer Fire Department enjoyed a splendid entertainment Thursday evening at the Fire Station where twenty-eight members and guests were present.

The luncheon was prepared and served by Mrs. J. J. Blackstone, and Mrs. F. H. Hood.

The Fire boys report an evening of good eats and good time generally.

The friends of Mrs. W. A. Braving will be pleased to learn that she is improving from a very serious illness.

Some time during the afternoon Sunday a white man who had imbibed too freely of intoxicating fluid, voluntarily and without the knowledge of officers chartered a room at the city bastille. Later in the day a negro man who had been gambling with the law, lost; and was carried to the city jail by Chief Garland. It was at this time that the officer discovered that this particular room was occupied; but the discovery would probably never been made had the caution not offered such strenuous objection to his dusky room-mate, and paid more respect to spirits of the Volstead Act and less to the Jim Crow law.

Both inmates paid a fine Monday for drunkenness.

J. M. Hayworth is here from Hollis, Okla., where he is engaged in building.

Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Tompkins made a business trip to Fort Worth Wednesday.

Capt. Leonard Mattingly has been transferred from St. Petersburg, Fla., to Davis, North Carolina. The Star will follow him.

Farmers Should Buy More Bonds

During 1945, American farmers should surpass their previous records in the amount of money they invest in War Bonds, says Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State College, Manhattan, Kansas.

Farm production and income promise to be exceptionally high this year. President Eisenhower points out. Even after providing for additional debt retirement, farmers will have ample funds which to buy bonds. Such investment now will help stabilize prices, will build the reserves needed by farmers for construction and repair when the war is over, and will provide the best possible general insurance against difficulty in postwar years.

No economic group in America suffers more from wide economic fluctuations than do farmers. No group will benefit more from economic stability. The diversion of surplus wealth now into War Bonds will not only help each individual purchaser, but will help the entire farming industry by promoting stability. The greatest danger of inflation is still ahead. Hence, a raising volume of investment in War Bonds is sound business for the farmer and for all other groups.

And Now Beavers!
Please tell me how to get a permit to dynamite a dam, wrote a hospitalized soldier to his Red Cross chapter recently.
It sounded like a gag—but Red Cross chapters are accustomed to strange requests. This chapter found that beavers had built a dam across a section of the soldier's farm, blocking drainage of melting snow. The land was rapidly becoming a lake.

The soldier didn't want his farm ruined, but he knew his game laws—it was illegal to kill beavers. The logical answer was to blow up the dam, he decided. The Red Cross collected information from the State of Agriculture—all about the rid of beavers legally and to reclaim flooded lands. This to go on, the soldier ed the reclamation of his from his hospital bed and as he returns from military service.

Kathleen Norris Says:

What About Military Training?

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"It is only fair to our boys to have them ready. We didn't want it, we tried to do without it, but for 50 years to come I believe we must maintain a huge force."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

MORE than 500 American women have written to ask me what I think of compulsory military service for our American boys and girls. I don't often let political or international questions get into this column, but this is an exception and I want to answer these women in this way:

In a word, I'm for it. I think we might well emulate the Swiss system, which means only a few weeks out of every year, or at least we might make a serious study of that system. But if we are to be drawn into Europe's eternal boundary disputes and imperial quarrels in each succeeding generation, then in the name of common sense let us be ready for it, and save the lives of thousands of our boys by preparedness.

It was my dream for many years that by keeping the peace herself America might set the pace for the world. I still believe she might have done so. I still believe that if European countries had known, definitely and clearly, that we would not interfere in their old quarrels, they would have managed their affairs very differently in the last 25 years.

The northern, civilized countries, respecters of boundaries and of individual rights, would then have gotten together. They would have presented a solid wall to Germany; in the very beginning of her anti-Semitic purges, they would have united a dozen weak armies into one invincible one. They never did. Holland, England, Norway, Sweden, France, Poland, Belgium, Russia—what mightn't they have done against Germany's growing war menace! They never got together.

Europe won't unite. It is my sorrowful belief that they never will. Their claim, when any such federation is suggested, is that their differing languages, religions, backgrounds, traditions, histories make it impossible. This sounds funny in American ears. The truth is that their varying imperial ambitions cross and intercross after a thousand years of shifting loyalties and ineffectual wars, and now cannot be untangled even by their most brilliant statesmen.

So I have no hopes of them. Each one will do what some wise or unwise minister believes best for her, and chaos will result.

Meanwhile we have our own magnificent record, our long friendship with our neighbors, our peaceful skies, our unguarded borders. We know countries may live in peace together, and prosper all the more for that peace. But the deadly virus of war has been scattered everywhere now, and who knows what country will next break forth with improved guns and bombs and gases for a surprise attack?

It is only fair to our boys to have them ready. We didn't want it, we tried to do without it, but for 50 years to come I believe we

A HARSH NECESSITY

After many years of advocating neutrality and non-intervention, Miss Norris has come to the conclusion that the only security in the future for America lies in a large, permanent force, land, sea and air. This great army and navy will mean universal military training for young men. The women's auxiliary corps will require many thousands of girls too, although a draft of women probably never will be instituted.

There are certain benefits to military training, as Miss Norris points out, that to some extent offset the objections. Better health, wider experience and broader viewpoints are valuable by-products of army life in peacetime.

It is my dream for many years that by keeping the peace herself America might set the pace for the world. I still believe she might have done so. I still believe that if European countries had known, definitely and clearly, that we would not interfere in their old quarrels, they would have managed their affairs very differently in the last 25 years.

These will be our police. A great city without a police force would be in the same position as a great nation with its navy sunk and its men disarmed. Other nations must know that we are ready to implement with the guns they have forced upon us what we say in defense of decency and honesty.

Might Have Been Stopped. If our three or four million army had been in readiness eight years ago, when Germany's fanaticism broke forth in her anti-Semitic purges, we might have seen the danger then. We might have warned her then that her maniac leader was starting on the death trail. We might never have had the headlines that you and I are reading today.

Too late for that now. But it is never too late to learn, and I, who preached non-interventionism and neutrality for so many years, from so many platforms, see now that we are a part of the great commonwealth of the world, that we cannot impress upon other nations our own ideals of unfeeling friendliness with our neighbors, that we must accept a certain degree of militarism until all nations are wiser, and be ready to say "thus far, and no further," when the next Hitler pops up his ugly head.

Military training is essential to dictatorship, true. But it may be a democratic thing, too, ironing out some of the class consciousness of our boys and girls, helping them to physical fitness, increasing their appreciation of home love and home comfort, broadening their viewpoints in a way that will be beneficial to them all their lives.

I haven't come to it easily. But I've come to it now. We have to have universal military training, and be ready. It may mean, to other countries, an increasing desire for war. It won't be that, to us. We're smarter than that.

Girdles Still Scarce Synthetic rubber is slowly becoming available for manufacture of girdles, but larger quantities of synthetic rubber than natural rubber are required to make the same amount of elastic thread. Also the supply of cotton fabric is still exceedingly short. All this makes it necessary that you get as much wear as possible from the girdle you now have. Wash it frequently with the same care you would give your best hose, and dry it away from direct contact with any radiator.

Ironing out class consciousness.

Improved Uniform International LESSON

SETTLEMENT AND STRUGGLES IN CANAAN

LESSON TEXT—Judges 2:6, 7, 11, 12, 18, 19, 6:11-16. GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.—Joshua 1:9.

God keeps his promises. Israel found that to be true as He brought them into the promised land of Canaan. Those who rebelled against Him had died in the wilderness, but now a new generation had come into possession of the land.

Here they met the challenge of the heathen, and were victorious over them as they trusted the Lord. Joshua, their leader, after faithful services was ready to go to be with the Lord, but before doing so, reminded them of God's promise and of the danger of unbelief and sin. As our lesson opens, we find the people settled in the land, as far as they had taken it. We find:

I. God's Promise Fulfilled (2:6) The Lord had promised the land to them as they went in and possessed it by faith in Him. He fully kept that promise in the measure that they believed Him. They never did take the whole land, but that was because of their failure, not God's.

The story speaks to us. God has provided a rich inheritance for the believer in Christ, but it must be appropriated by faith. How much have we taken out of the riches we have in Christ?

We are also reminded of the absolute faithfulness of God. There is little in this world in which we may repose complete confidence, but we may and should trust God. He has never failed anyone, and He will not fail us.

II. Man's Promise Broken (2:7, 11, 12).

The people had solemnly promised to keep God's commandments (see last week's lesson). That promise they had renewed in response to Joshua's farewell challenge (see Josh. 24:20, 21). They kept their word only as long as those who remembered Joshua were alive, and then they "forgot the Lord."

This fall of Israel has its counterpart in what is taking place in our land today. The great mass of decent people in America were reared in Christian homes. They know what is right, and they live on the spiritual and moral momentum received from their godly parents.

The next generation now coming into power, without the benefit of spiritual training in the home and church, are forsaking the Lord and following other gods, the gods of pleasure, of money, of lust.

III. God's Plan of Deliverance (2:18, 19).

One would have thought that God would give up a people so set on sinning, but He did not. He provided deliverance for Israel. That gives us courage, for we know that He has not given us up, but has provided in Christ a sure deliverance—if America will but turn to Him.

For Israel's deliverance God provided judges, who were not only judicial, but in fact, primarily administrative in their work. They were God's men to call Israel back to Him. The repeated failure and backsliding of Israel brought new acts of mercy on God's part in calling out new judges.

It is interesting to note that God works through men. Some of these judges were great men; others were just ordinary men. But each in his appointed place, at the appointed time, was God's man.

God is looking for men today who will serve Him. He wants brilliant, capable men, but He also calls the ordinary, everyday variety, and as they are faithful, He blesses them. Has He called you? Have you responded?

IV. God's Presence and Power (6:11-16).

Israel had long been under the oppression of the Midianites, who would sweep over the land and steal their crops and their flocks. Israel finally turned to God for help, and He met their need by calling Gideon as the fifth of the judges.

God knows better than to call an idle man, one who is sitting around waiting for opportunity to knock. He seeks out the busy person and gives him more to do.

Note the entirely adequate provision made for Gideon's success. "Surely I will be with thee." That means both the presence and the power of the eternal and omnipotent One.

Gideon at once began the tearing down of the heathen places of worship in his own community. It was the hardest place to start. It always is. But the one whose light is to shine afar must see that it shines brightest at home.

The humility of Gideon as he looked at himself (v. 15) is commendable. But note that he did not permit it to shut the door of faith, as he believed God and did mighty exploits for Him. Don't trust yourself, but do trust God!

Ira Hardcastle, who has been in Pearl Harbor for the past three years, is home at 113 Avenue D enjoying a 30 days' leave. Mr. Hardcastle has been working as a boilermaker under civil service for the Navy. For a short time he worked at Guam, and has been to a number of places in the Pacific, helping to repair our ships, getting them back into the fight against the Japs. He will report to San Pedro, Calif., for further assignment when his leave is up. While here he is having a sidewalk laid in front of his home. During the year numerous other improvements were made to this residence.

Two Burkburnett boys were reunited at William Beaumont General Hospital here, one of the Army's largest hospitals, where they are both convalescing from wounds received in action in Europe. They are T-5 Roy L. Bridges and Pfc. Wendell R. Goins, who found themselves in adjacent wards at William Beaumont.

For 16 months in France, Belgium and Germany, Bridges lived up to his name. He was with a Combat Engineers Battalion of the First Army, and his main job was to build or blow up bridges, as the situation required.

While crossing a ruined bridge last February, one of Bridges' comrades stepped on a mine. Bridges suffered arm and leg fractures and injuries of the right eye. He was wounded once before in June when enemy shrapnel struck him while he was building a bridge under fire.

Corporal Bridges has been in the Army 2 years and 2 months. He has been awarded the Purple Heart and Cluster and wears the ETO ribbon with 3 stars. His wife, Mary Opal, resides in Burkburnett.

Housing Project to Attract the Birds

IF YOU would attract birds, remember that they are discriminating tenants. Bluebirds like a house with nest space six inches deep below an entrance an inch and a half in diameter, and they prefer a sunny location five to ten feet high. Robins want a roof but no front on their house; a high location and a little shade, please. Wrens like a tiny house tucked under the eaves of your own dwelling.

The bird house designs shown here are planned to suit prospective tenants and their lines are so pleasing that you will be proud to make them permanent features of your yard or garden.

NOTE—Pattern 277 gives an actual-size cutting guide for all shaped parts of these three bird houses and illustrated directions for their construction. A list of all materials is included. To get pattern 277, send 15 cents with name and address direct to:

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood. You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder. WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman Faced With Momentous Tasks Abroad and at Home as Allied Drives Lead to Victory

Released by Western Newspaper Union. EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Bearing meager household possessions on heads and in arms, Jap civilians on Okinawa return to lowlands after flight inland before invasion forces.

NEW LEADER: Historic Task

Dying even as American military leaders saw an early end to the European war, with the intricate problems of peace lying ahead, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt left to successor Harry S. Truman one of the most momentous jobs ever confronting a statesman. Oddy enough, Mr. Roosevelt himself entered the office 13 years before under highly critical circumstances, with the nation's business and agriculture in stagnation and its finances on the verge of collapse. Still comparatively new to the American people, Mr. Roosevelt won their immediate confidence during the first 100 days of his administration with measures designed to reestablish the tottering economy of the country. Then, Mr. Roosevelt made perhaps his most famous statement of all: "The only thing we have to fear is fear."

World Problems

Greatest immediate task facing President Truman is the San Francisco peace conference, scheduled to go on despite the death of Mr. Roosevelt, who worked for its successful culmination to achieve his dream of an international cooperative organization to prevent future disastrous wars. Though the groundwork for the San Francisco parley had been laid at the Dumbarton Oaks conferences, at Washington, D. C., new problems had arisen since to command the full resources of American statesmanship. Over and above the proposal of granting Russia three votes on the permanent security council to match Britain's six, there remained the touchy proposition of allowing representation to a Polish government not dominated by any large power and acceptable to all. Along with the San Francisco parley for creating an international peace organization, the new President also was confronted with handling the Bretton Woods financial agreements, designed to establish postwar economic stability by supporting the monies of different countries and advancing loans for the reconstruction and rehabilitation of foreign nations to help them become profitably productive.

Rated Conservative

With President Truman considered a conservative Democrat despite his support of New Deal policies, speculation centered on the course he would adopt on domestic policy, long marked by Roosevelt liberalism. Bearing the friendship of both the CIO and AFL, President Truman was expected to maintain a sympathetic attitude toward labor. With Roosevelt administrations having established such social security policies as unemployment insurance and old age pensions, and with the government pledged to support farm prices for two years after the war, President Truman's great

WHOLE BLOOD

Whole blood, one of the greatest single factors in saving the lives of wounded soldiers, is being flown to Europe under a new system of refrigeration which prolongs the life of this fluid by about one-third. Under the present system whole blood is suitable for transfusions for a period of about 16 days, but under the new plan it will last for 21 days. Expendable iced containers have been developed to keep the whole blood at the right temperature

Hold Your Own

Keep a tight grip on your pocketbook and a sharp eye on your wallet, for purse-snatching and pocket-picking are showing a pronounced popularity among crimes, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The increase in thefts of this character is laid to the tendency of prosperous war-workers to carry large sums of money about with them.

AGRICULTURE: Hog Support

Having called for greater fall pig production to help relieve the tight meat situation, the government sought to reassure farmers of future returns by announcing a 50 cents increase in the present $12.50 floor or minimum price for all good and choice hogs up to 270 pounds. At the same time, the War Food administration said that neither support nor ceiling prices would be trimmed before September, 1946. Though the government's action on floor prices was not expected to affect current operations because of the relatively small supply of hogs in face of the record demand, it was considered reassuring in the prospect of greatly increasing marketing in the winter, when the pressure on prices might be strong.

With private sources estimating that spring pig farrowing was up 12 per cent, the WFA called on farmers to increase the fall crop by 18 per cent. Chiefly because of lower hog production throughout the first part of 1945, total meat output is expected to drop some 10 per cent below last year.

Bumper Crop

Benefiting from excellent weather conditions, the nation's 1945 winter wheat crop is expected to approximate an all-time 862,515,000 bushels, about 37,000,000 bushels over the previous 1931 top, the U. S. department of agriculture reported.

After fall moisture was generally sufficient to get the crop off to a good start, good snowfall provided protection during the winter to hold acreage losses to the lowest level in 25 years. In most sections, the ground was in condition to absorb a large percentage of the moisture from the melted snow and rains, the USDA reported.

With the expected abandonment lowest since 1919, indicated yield of 17.4 bushels would be one bushel above last year. As of April 1, estimated stocks of wheat on farms totalled 239,063,000 bushels, third largest since 1927. Stocks approximated 22 per cent of the 1944 harvest, USDA said.

MINERS: Another Raise

Maintaining his reputation as one of organized labor's shrewdest and hardest bargainers, bushy-browed John L. Lewis won new wage concessions for his United Mine Workers averaging $1.07 a day, but the agreement remained subject to government review in the interests of the anti-inflation program. Expected to run into close scrutiny of the War Labor board, which has hewed to the "Little Steel" formula limiting wage in-

Staff Chiefs at Helm

An artillery captain himself at 33 during the last war, President Truman, like Mr. Roosevelt, is expected to leave the conduct of the war largely to the American chiefs of staff, who have already marshalled the country's great striking power for the knockout of both Germany and Japan. Reeling under the force of U. S. and British power thrusts from the west, and Russian pressure from the east, Germany's days appeared numbered, with Allied military leaders mainly expecting guerrilla warfare after the collapse of integrated Nazi resistance.

In conformity with long-rumored Nazi plans for a last suicidal stand in the Alpine fastnesses of southern Germany, the enemy continued to put up his strongest resistance south of the river Main, where the U. S. 7th army's advance was slowed. Farther to the east, however, the Russians drove beyond Vienna to threaten the Austrian gateway to Adolf Hitler's last mountain strong hold.

PACIFIC: Tough Nuts

Tough throughout the whole Pacific campaign, the Japs are proving even tougher as the battle approaches their homeland, with their stubborn defense of Iwo Jima more than matched by their resistance on Okinawa in the Ryukyu Islands against U. S. marine and army forces. Experts at making use of the rugged Pacific island terrain, the Japs have set strong gun emplacements in the rolling countryside, with subterranean tunnels allowing their troops free passage from one position to another. In addition, the enemy has surprised U. S. forces with the use of deadly new weapons, with heavy concentrations of artillery on Okinawa helping slow the Yanks' advance.

RECONVERSION: Make Preparations

With victory in Europe imminent, and with it a partial reconversion from wartime to peacetime output, War Production board took steps to permit industry to obtain new machine tools for manufacture of civilian goods. Biggest major item on WPB's program was the grant of priorities to the automobile industry for 50 million dollars of machine tools and related equipment for civilian manufacture. To take from three to seven months for making, the orders were placed last fall without priority rating, then dumped when early hopes of victory faded and the war went into 1945.

DISABLED WORKERS

Physically impaired workers produce as much as, or possibly a little more than, able-bodied workers, and they are dependable, regular in attendance and careful in observance of safety regulations, medical officers report in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Only serious physical defects were considered in selecting impaired workers for the study and the majority have been placed in jobs by matching their defects with the physical demands of the job.

Lint From a Blue Serge Suit

Just before the war, Jan Smeterlin, the eminent Polish pianist, was on a world concert tour and at one point visited Valdemosa on the island of Majorca, which was the place where Chopin lived. Smeterlin visited the monastery which was Chopin's home (and has since been turned into a private residence) hoping to see the piano on which Chopin played. He was told that the piano was now the property of a private family in Palma. Smeterlin located that family and as he stood in rapt awe looking at this box, which was the instrument of the great Polish immortal, the man of the house said, "Surely, Mr. Smeterlin, you're going to play on it!" Smeterlin replied reverently, "Oh—I wouldn't think of touching it." To which his host said, "Oh, nonsense—my children bang on it all the time!"

Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black is a fiend for lyonnaise potatoes. A new waitress at his favorite restaurant brought him french fries in error and told him she couldn't change the order. . . . A Washington reporter, seated near by, asked her if she knew the patron was a United States high court judge. Unimpressed, she refused to change the order, explaining: "How often do they change their decisions?"

We've only used it twice before, but every time some contributor offers it we get the giggles and have to print it over again. It's about Mr. Mefoofsky and his four-year-old son, Itzie. . . . They were strolling in the park, and the boy kept asking all sorts of questions. It was getting on Mefoof's "noyfs". "Poppa," persisted Itzie, "wot kind flowers is doze?" "How should I know?" exploded Mefoofsky. "Am I in the millinery bizniz?"

James Gordon Bennett (who used to own the N. Y. Herald) had a list of "don'ts" for reporters that was as long as the memory of a radio comedian. . . . Every once in a while, though, the boys made him take one back. "Don't use 'patron' or 'guest' in referring to a paying customer at a hotel," one rule went, "because you are using the word incorrectly." The rule was changed when the boys on the rewrite desk (searching for other words) started to refer to persons who registered at hotels as "inmates."

New Yorker's Notebook

The English are giggling over the cook's dog at an RAF flying field. The canine dashed down the runway in pursuit of a plane taking off. . . . "Does your dog always do that?" a new officer asked. "The cook said yep. . . . 'Why?' the officer wanted to know. "I don't know, sir," replied the dog's owner. "But what worries me is what he's going to do with it when he catches a plane."

Ivor Newton, the London pianist, heard a Cockney give this explanation of his own courage regarding the robot bombings: "I see it like this. It must take the Germans a lot of trouble to make the bloody things, and then they have to get them into those pits and up in the air, and it is quite a long way from France to London, and if they do get to London, they still have to find Limehouse, and even then, it isn't every one who can find 37 Bulstrode road where I live, and if they do, it's 10 to 1 that I would be down the corner in the Pub."

At the home of mutual friends, after the funeral of the Archbishop of Canterbury, Winston Churchill, who was touched by the prelate's passing, said: "Once again, the nation has lost a great churchman and a great Englishman. . . . Then, in an aside, Mr. Churchill, who credits his 70 years to having a drink now and then, added: "And once again one of my good friends has met the untimely end of a complete teetotaler!"

Story of the Week: The newest General Patton legend according to just-retuned correspondents. . . . When the Germans cold-bloodedly murdered Gen. Maurice Rose, Patton was strangely silent for a long time. . . . Then he reached slowly into his jacket pocket from which he removed a German-English dictionary. . . . And crossed out the word "mercy."

Young Wright Made Sure of No Ill Wind

Inventor Orville Wright recognized the value of the scientific approach at an early age. When he was seven he went into the business. "Orville, what are you going to do with all those bones you collected?" asked a neighbor noticing the boy pulling a wagon load of the stuff. "Sell it to the fertilizer factory," replied young Wright. "Horrors!" exclaimed the neighbor. "How can you go near a place? It smells awful." "Doesn't bother me at all," plained the miniature merchant. "I go there when the wind is blowing toward the factory."

Tot's Party Frock

A PRETTY party frock for a very young lady. The neckline, side button closing and pocket are daintily edged in contrasting ruffle or lace. Make this for "Sunday best" in gay dotted swiss, organdy or dimity—for school in sturdy striped or checked fabrics.

Household Hints

You can clean glazed chintz by spreading it on a flat surface and sponging quickly with lukewarm water. Press on the wrong side with a warm iron or on the right side using a slightly dampened pressing cloth.

When painting woodwork, coat the door knobs, locks, etc., with vaseline, so that the paint can be easily wiped off if it splashes on these surfaces.

To remove rust from nickel, grease well with any kind of lubricant, let stand for a few minutes, then rub with cloth soaked in ammonia. Rinse with water and polish.

Equal parts of salt, flour, and vinegar make an effective paste to clean brass, copper, or pewter. Apply the paste, let stand for an hour, rub off, wash with water, and then polish.

An easy way to give ferns their weekly watering is to place them in the bathtub, draw shower curtain and turn on the shower, adjusting spray until it is about room temperature.

Dental floss is fine for mending elastic, because it wears so long. Take care in mending that tiny rubber threads are not damaged. Sew between them.

Carrots with no tops stay crisp longer than those that have the leaves left on.

After oiling the sewing machine, stitch through a blotter several times. This takes up all surplus oil on the machine, and keeps from getting it on the material.

The Japs took all the food and burned the villages. Appalled by the desolation of the country, Johnson and his buddies were even more appalled at sight of the first Filipinos who eluded the Japs and made their way to the American lines. Most of them didn't have any clothes to cover their bodies, Sgt. Johnson wrote. The children were hungry and weak. Never have I seen such hungry kids. We had a few rations and never have I been so happy to do anything as I was to give these people what we had. But don't think for a minute they don't appreciate what we do. I have seen the bravest men in world come down the mountain, crying because the Japs had bayoneted someone near and dear to them.

his jokes are grim, but behind them lies the high courage that all Texans admire. Several disabled Texas officers who returned from German prison camps were talking from experience in McCloskey General Hospital at Temple. In the circle sat Lt. F. A. Brumeloe, Midlothian; Lt. E. S. Proctor, Port Arthur; Lt. Ralph Norsworthy and Lt. Ernest Davis, both of Dallas, and Lt. John Akers of Greenville. Under discussion were the books, sport equipment and other aids for combatting "barbed wire sickness" in war prisoners which are furnished by War Prisoners Aid, the National War Fund agency to which Texans contribute through their county war chests. Without them, said Lt. Brumeloe, who was shot down over Bremen, there's nothing to do except sit and stare at each other and talk until you hate everybody. After a while you get to just chewing your finger nails. "I'll say you do, agreed Lt. L. E. Hearn of Tulsa, Okla., who sat with the Texans. Look how I chewed mine. Amid laughter, he held up his left arm, off at the elbow. Actually, Hearn lost his arm in the action in which he was captured in the Vosges mountains of France. Texans gallantry has another long list of decorations to its credit this week. Among others—Capt. Bill Dollahite, Longview, has been awarded the Silver Star and the French Croix de Guerre. Paratroop Sgt. T. J. Cunningham, Talco, received the Silver Star for exploits on Lyete. Sgt. Jack D. McHam, Blossom, with the Second Division in Germany is another to receive the Silver Star.

Cabbage Plentiful
Wichita County meal planners were asked by War Food Administration this week to buy and serve more cabbage while they are plentiful. According to Dan L. Boyd, District Representative, WFA's Office of Supply, cabbage are moving to vegetable bins faster than they can be consumed and unless meal planners step up purchases and serve them more often some of the supply will spoil. Using seasonally abundant foods which will not keep for an indefinite period of time is one of the best ways to make the most of the wartime food supply and ease the pressure on commodities not so plentiful, he said. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Grace received word recently that their son, Pfc. Pete Grace, had been wounded in action in Germany. Pete went overseas in January 1945 and is with the 7th army.

Strawberries

Strawberries are the most popular fruits for frozen pack. Pick when well colored and ripe but not soft. Hull, wash, slice or pack whole in containers. For dessert purpose use a 50 per cent syrup. Strawberries may also be packed in sugar,—3 to 4 weights of berries to 1 of sugar added as evenly as possible. Containers should be airtight or practically so. Tin cans must be of the lacquered type.

Rhubarb

Prepare as for table and pack tightly in containers. No sugar is needed.

Grace Lutheran Church

Especially in times like these the Bible is the greatest source of strength in the world. It brings us the message of the power of God, which is greater than all the power of bombs and planes and guns. It tells us of the love of God which is more lasting than all the hate and fear of men. It shows us the weakness of sin and the power of the Cross. The Bible is our great light and our strong companion. Nothing can make us more quiet and sure in a noisy and uncertain world than our Bible.

Come and hear a Bible message at the services of this church next Sunday!

DANGER

You wouldn't buy a hazard and place it in your HOME if you knew what you were getting would you? Many property owners in Burkburnett have done just un-knowingly. This is how. We are not protected from hazards by an ordinance which would require an inspection of electrical wiring before a power company could service to the building. Most cities are so protected by city government. Burkburnett is not, so it is up to the property owners to protect themselves. Many people buy hazards by hiring someone to wire their buildings who do the job "cheap" and they never consider whether "cheap" wiring job is a safe one. Usually the cheap are the most expensive ones, in that they have to be over or repaired. Such has happened many times in Burkburnett. If any circuit in your house requires a fuse less than a fifteen ampere then you can be sure that something wrong (unless special wire has been installed) and I want to know why call us and we will tell or show this is so. When you are considering re-wiring or installing new wiring consult your power company or your yard or your local electrical contractor for advice. Don't have a chance on the carpenter on laborer who knows little nothing about wiring. Be SURE that the wiring is safe. —PHONE 144.
