City Gro. & Mkt. Solve Help Problem With Servicemen

Many returned veterans are finding employment in Burkburnett. In stores and offices men with honorable discharge buttons are becoming more numerous each week.

For some weeks the help situation at City Grocery and Market was very critical. Henry Prinzing and Bud Hicks, both veterans of World War one, have solved the problem satisfactorily by employing two veterans of World War two. They also solved the housing problem for the boys and their families. Henry fixed an apartment in his house for the first one and when the next one came he secured a trailer house and put it in his back yard. That is really taking care of the situation.

Ernest (Pete) Boswell, a Navy man with more than three years in the service, 25 months of that time in the Pacific, and his wife live in the apartment. She is employed at Majors Variety store. Pete was on a tanker and plied between Panama and the Islands in the Pacific furnishing oil and gasoline for ships and planes. His parents live at Wichita Falls, Texas at Amarillo.

Lee Hatcher, with almost three years in the service, was in Europe 22 months with the 552nd anti-aircraft. He hit the Normandy beach on June 11, just after D-Day and when the war was over he was well into the heart of Germany. His wife and two year old son are here with him. His parents live at Randlett, Oklahoma.

Welcome to Burkburnett.

City Gro. & Mkt. Solve Help Problem With Servicemen

Many returned veterans are finding employment in Burkburnett. In stores and offices men with honorable discharge buttons are becoming more numerous each week.

For some weeks the help situation at City Grocery and Market was very critical. Henry Prinzing and Bud Hicks, both veterans of World War one, have solved the problem satisfactorily by employing two veterans of World War two. They also solved the housing problem for the boys and their families. Henry fixed an apartment in his house for the first one and when the next one came he secured a trailer house and put it in his back yard. That is really taking care of the situation.

Ernest (Pete) Boswell, a Navy man with more than three years in the service, 25 months of that time in the Pacific, and his wife live in the apartment. She is employed at Majors Variety store. Pete was on a tanker and plied between Panama and the Islands in the Pacific furnishing oil and gasoline for ships and planes. His parents live at Wichita Falls, Texas at Amarillo.

SAYING IT AGAIN

There are many in Burk Burnett who have already started the wind-up of their Christmas shopping and sensibly so in view of the handicaps faced by the last-minute shopper. There is a shortage of goods this year and stores are not offering many new lines in merchandise. Hopes for roasters, toasters and radios are lessened, mens suits and shirts are not numerous, children wanting cameras, electric trains and bicycles won't fond Santa so benevolent. At least, he will have to wait his turn in the line. Nylon hose will not be tossed freely around here as local women have expected. But, Yuletide goodness can be expressed with toilet goods, lingerie, costume jewelry for the feminine contingent, socks, leather gifts, albums, for the male members while one can always please the children. We always have books you know, for any age. Our purpose in helping you with your gift list is in hopes you will go out now and do your shopping. The shortage of merchandise is not the only problem, but the shortage of help is a major headache. The going is to be a bit rough for the last minute shopper and why be one when you can do it today.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Abram and little daughter of Duncan, Okla., were business visitors in Burk Burnett this week.

Mrs. J. M. Goins is a patient in the General Hospital in Wichita Falls and is reported to be improving.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

Longer hours and harder work increases the cases of tuberculosis. To fight this disease our country annually has its Christmas Seal Sale, with the result of much progress in the control and reduction of tuberculosis. Public health organizations and medical science has fought a good war against it, maintaining a higher health standard for us. It is even promised now that through adequate preventative measures and pronounced care of those already afflicted, we can eventually stamp out the curse of the white plaque. Let us keep this in mind in Burk Burnett when we purchase our Christmas Seals.

Burk Burnett History

As revealed by the files of the Star 10 years ago.

The Kiesling Bros. Hardware and Furniture store bought the hardware and other stock of the Alexander Hardware and Lumber company in Burk Burnett recently and the store is planning one of the biggest sales in this type of merchandise that has been staged in Burk Burnett in several months.

J. M. Alexander will continue to hold his office open at the same location for the collection of notes and accounts.

The Chamber of Commerce received a letter from Walter T. Vahlberg, state architect of Oklahoma, asking that office to inform the general contractors of Burk Burnett that they would be eligible to bid on the contract for the $25,000 school house to be built in Randlett, Oklahoma, in the near future.

Jack Hollis of Burk Burnett was formally sentenced to serve three years in the state penitentiary for automobile theft by Judge Earnest Robertson in the 89th district court in Wichita Falls. Hollis was convicted by the jury three weeks ago in connection with the theft of the auto of Jingle Hayes of Burk Burnett.

The car was alleged to have been stolen the night of the Harvest Festival in Burk Burnett from the streets of the city. After it had been taken it crashed into the Bogart grocery building in the south end of town, and one of the boys, Edwards, was fatally injured in the crash.

Hayes car was completely wrecked in the accident and it was practically useless. The car had failed to make the turn on the highway and had crashed into a light pole at the junction of the two roads, then flipped completely over to crash into the store building backwards. The store building was moved several feet from its foundation.

Volney Hill and Polk Robison were guests of J. C. Adams at the TCU-SMU football game in Ft. Worth Saturday.

D. R. Peevey and Marshall Alexander visited Travis Gregg in Lawton last week.

THIRD SMITH BRIDE GETS GOOD ADVICE

HAMILTON, KANSAS. — Mrs. W. H. Smith wrote a most interesting letter to Faultless Starch about the way the Smith family has used that starch. Here is her letter:

"Forty-seven years ago, Mrs. W. O. Smith, as a young bride, started using Faultless Starch in her home.

"Twenty-five years ago Mrs. O. T. Smith, as the very young bride of Mrs. W. O. Smith's son, started using Faultless Starch in her home. She tried many other starches, but always went back to Faultless Starch.

"Ten months ago I started using Faultless Starch as the bride of Mrs. O. T. Smith's son. I started using it at Mrs. Smith's request, and now I am a stiff backer of Faultless Starch.

"As 'three generations of brides,' we say, 'three cheers for Faultless Starch.'

"I might add that I am very fussy about my husband's shirts. And also that Mrs. W. O. Smith has never used any other starch for over half a century."

What an interesting story! Certainly here is positive proof that Faultless Starch makes wonderful friends that stay for a life-time.

YOU DESERVE FAULTLESS

There is no reason in the world why you can't enjoy Faultless Starch, too. You might just as well make your starch—WITHOUT COOKING—with Faultless Starch. You might just as well stop that "sticky" iron—with Faultless Starch. You might just as well be proud of the absolutely faultless look you get with Faultless Starch!

Your grocer has Faultless Starch. So ask him for it. Then you'll understand why three generations of brides say, "three cheers for Faultless Starch!"—Adv.

Kathleen Norris Says: The Problem of Sally Kent

"Pack a suitcase with comfortable clothes and a box with provisions, and put them in the old car. Then say to him, 'get in, we're going places,' and head west."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"MY HUSBAND has come home so changed, after two years in active service as a marine," writes Sally Kent, "that I find myself for the first time in my life with a problem that is too difficult for me to solve. I wonder if other women are facing like troubles, now that the war is over, and if you have helped them and can help me.

"I am 31," the letter goes on. "David is two years older. He was drafted in 1942, and left me with a baby girl of three and another baby coming. We were both anxious that he should do his share as a soldier, and I tried to do mine at home. We moved to my mother's house, and there my son was born just two years ago. Mother keeps boarders; I had helped her all through my girlhood and took my old place now; planning meals, marketing, making beds, and superintending the changing personnel in the kitchen.

"Mother has always prospered, and in crowded war times she prospered exceedingly. My weekly budget to David — a few lines anyway every day, and often pages — were always cheerful, and snapshots of David and Jimmy kept him in touch with their progress. This was for me—as for many wives—a lonely time, a time with anxious moments, but a time of much deep happiness, too. Mother's life has never been easy—she found this integral refreshing and delightful, and the children were wonderful.

Dislikes Boarding-house. "David came home willing to accept all this, but within a few days I knew something was wrong, and now everything is wrong. He doesn't like living in a boarding-house, he thinks Diana is badly spoiled, and he seems completely indifferent to the baby. Of course, the children did not know him, and when a dark, thin, nervous daddy was added to their little scheme, they didn't like it.

"I try to make allowances for the war-worn nerves of a man who has known nothing of home life for more than two years; I try to keep things serene and cheerful, and of course it is understood that as soon as he resumes work and is able to support it, we will have our own home again.

"But this is not enough. He wants me to leave the children and go away with him. Where doesn't seem to matter. He wants to go West, to buy a farm, to pioneer in the Canadian north, to do anything except settle down here, realize how lucky he is to have a comfortable home, no immediate financial pressure, and a devoted wife.

"Obviously, this is just what I can't do. I'd like a change myself. I'm not in love with bedmaking and dusting. But you can't pioneer with two small children as companions, and financially any such change would be a desperate chance.

"We love each other; there isn't any triangle complication; when we take long walks together, as we do in the evenings, there isn't any quarrelling or unpleasantness. But it all comes out to this; David wants me to throw away the security I have built up so painfully and slowly in all these long months. I want him to return to normal—he is certainly not normal now. Please advise a woman anxious to save her marriage, and the man she loves, if she can."

My advice, Sally, is compromise.

UNSETTLED

That strange and frightening change that comes over men after they have been in military service for two or three years is a great trial to their wives. Women who have been waiting for weary and anxious months to end, suddenly find their dream of a happy future shattered. Here is her husband home at last, and for good, but he is so different! He is not the man who said goodbye so sweetly and sadly on that awful day when he left for overseas. No, he is not the same. He is moody and querulous, unable or unwilling to fit into civilian life. Nothing pleases him. He is indifferent to his loving wife's best efforts. Often he has some outlandish scheme, like moving to some distant part of the country and trying a completely new business.

The story in this issue concerns a returned soldier named David. He wants to leave their two children with someone, anyone, just so they are cared for, while he and Sally go West, to look for a farm. He also thinks about pioneering in the Canadian northwest. Farming is completely new to him, but he wants to do almost anything except to settle back to his old job in the old town.

We American women will have to do a lot of compromising if we are to help our returning servicemen to re-adjust themselves to conditions that seem strangely smug, safe, self-satisfied to them, after the horrors and loneliness and abnormality of war.

Head West in Car. Get someone to look after your babies, no matter what you have to pay her. Pack a suitcase with comfortable clothes and a box with provisions, and put them in the old car. Then say to him, "get in, we are going places," and head west.

Years ago a nervous husband I knew got this treatment—my own husband, in fact—and before we had gone a hundred miles he was beginning the cure, quiet, amused, expectant, happy. We drove 6,000 miles, the most inexpensive travelling there is, except on foot. The most thrilling, for you may stop anywhere, eat when you like, try anything.

You'll find your old companion beside you sooner than you dream is possible. You find him rested, soothed and presently eager and alert again. You'll talk plans, explain away difficulties, share problems. You'll agree that Diana is a little spoiled; that there is no place for a young couple like their own home; you'll say the baby is exactly like his dad.

Give him a six-weeks break. Give yourself the same. November is beautiful travelling weather, and a marriage like yours is worth saving.

Medical Care in Rural Areas Is Inadequate

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Rowntree, chief of the medical division of the selective service system writes: "Surveys of the health situation among the rural families in some of the states indicate that a large proportion of farmers have poor health, that the facilities for health services are below normal requirements and that there is a pitiful inadequacy of the care provided regularly for the lower income families.

An analysis of some of the surveys indicates that between one-third and one-half of the lower income groups have no medical or dental care whatsoever. Of the 16,000 cases of serious illness reported by farm families in Texas and Oklahoma, less than one-half had a doctor's care. Only one out of three births was attended by a physician." Because of the inadequacy in most rural counties of the public health services and hospitals, the death rate at almost any age level is greater in rural areas than in urban centers.

THE CHRISTIAN'S PLACE IN THE LIFE OF HIS NATION (Temperance Lesson)

LESSON TEXT: Matt. 5:13-16, 43-48; 1 Peter 2:13-17.

GOLDEN TEXT: Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.—Psalm 33:12. Men make up nations. Human beings in a land like ours determine by their interests and attitudes the direction in which the entire social order moves. That in turn determines what kind of government we have.

If the totalitarian philosophies have colored our thinking and caused us to forget the importance of the individual in the life of our nation, let us turn at once to the right view. Particularly important is the bearing which individual Christians can and should have on our national life. We have tended to draw back and fail to use the power and position which we have by God's grace.

Nowhere does that show more than in our failure (perhaps one should say shameful failure!) to bring Christian principles to bear upon the appalling liquor problem. This is temperance Sunday. Do not fail to stress that phase of Christian citizenship today. How should Christians make their influence felt in the nation? By being what they ought to be and contributing to its life. Note these things in our lesson—the Christian gives:

I. Salt (Matt. 5:13). We are the salt of the earth, and the pungent savor of Christ is to be evident in us as we touch life round about us—in the church, in the home, and in the nation.

True salt is antiseptic and purifying. It fights corruption wherever it is found. How effective the spiritually salty Christian and church should be against the corrupt political system, the liquor industry, vice and sin of all kinds. Have we lost our savor (v. 13)?

II. Light (Matt. 5:14-16). A light is intended to give illumination to all round about it. It always does unless someone hides it under a cover, and then it becomes not only useless but dangerous.

A life lighted by faith in Christ will shine to the very ends of the earth and, as a missionary once said, "The light that shines farthest shines brightest at home."

We are the light of the world, but if we cover our light we deny the very essence of our natures. Here is no thought of proud or selfish display. Light does not shout about itself, it just shines.

Who will deny that there is need of some real spiritual light in some of the dark corners of our national life? Who is to shine in such places but you and me, fellow-believer?

Then, too, let us not forget that God has sent us out to light other lights. We can best serve our nation, and best meet the challenge of liquor by turning men to Christ.

That doesn't mean that we should neglect other "good works," but it is well to keep "first things first."

III. Love (Matt. 5:43-48). "Love your enemies" (v. 44); that is the standard which Christ has established for His followers. While the love one has for the brethren is without doubt a more intimate relationship than the love one may have for an enemy, we must not seek to minimize the real love we should have even for those who curse and revile us.

It is to move us so deeply that we not only treat them kindly, but also pray for them. Humanly speaking such a thing is impossible, but in Christ it is not only possible, it has actually been demonstrated in life.

It is so easy for Christians to speak with derision that borders on hatred about "the devil's gang," and to lose all love for the crowd that hangs around the tavern and the gambling house. Let us hate their sin, but may God help us to show that we really love them.

Love will do more to reach the world for Christ and more to direct our national life into right channels than any other influence we can bring to bear. Let us do all we can but let us do it all in love.

IV. Loyalty (1 Pet. 2:13-17). The loyalty of the Christian to right authority should be glad and free, not by necessity or by coercion.

The believer will see in all men the image of God and will honor them even though he may not be able to respect or approve their way of life. The dignity and position of the individual is always recognized by Christianity. The brotherhood of true believers should call forth a peculiar love. We need to renew that brotherly affection between believers. Fear of God, that is, the desire to do His blessed will, shows itself in the best kind of citizenship. Government would serve itself well if it encouraged every effort to win its citizens to Christ.

J O C Class Meets At Palace Theatre

Each Sunday morning at 9:45 members of the J O C, Young Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church, meet at the Palace Theatre for their regular Sunday school lesson. The move down town was made because the class had outgrown its class room at the church and there was no larger room available in the church.

The class has over twenty members and is growing fast. All young men not in regular attendance at other Sunday Schools, are urged to meet with the class at the theatre.

Rev. A. E. Harrison is the teacher. The meeting starts promptly at 9:45 and dismisses at 10:45.

Auto Industry Faces Tieup In CIO Demand for Pay Increase; Trace Nazi Moves for Conquest

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Lean and sober, Hermann Goering (left), Rudolf Hess (center) and Joachim Von Ribbentrop go on trial for war crimes at Nuernberg, Germany.

WAR CRIMES: Trace Nazi Rise

Declaring that high Nazis' own written records would furnish sufficient evidence to condemn them, U. S. Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson developed the first count in the Allied case against the 20 surviving members of Hitler's hierarchy, charging that the party's seizure of control in Germany constituted the first step in its plan of world conquest.

Addressing the four-power U. S., British, Russian and French court, Jackson declared: "We will not ask you to convict these men on the testimony of their foes. There is no count in the indictment that cannot be proved by books and records."

In tracing the evolution of the Nazi rise in Germany, the U. S. prosecution recounted the notorious blood purge of 1934 reportedly instigated by Reich Marshal Goering to crush opposition within the party, the elimination of all political groups and confinement of opponents in concentration camps; the gradual suppression of labor unions with the industrialists' connivance, and finally the control of business itself.

PEACE PATTERN: Bishops' Report

Following closely upon their qualified endorsement of compulsory peacetime training, the Catholic hierarchy of the U. S. called for the realistic adjustment of fundamental differences between the democracies and Russia through recognition of fair play so that an atomic World War III might be avoided.

Demanding a realization of the ideals for which Americans fought in World War II, the bishops deplored the trend of European affairs following the Moscow conference of 1943, claiming Russia since had adopted an independent course on many matters and sought to impose its domination over helpless neighboring states.

Besides calling upon the U. S. to provide full support for overseas relief, the bishops also assailed mass vengeance against the defeated nations, large-scale transfer of populations, systematized use of slave labor and cruel treatment of prisoners of war.

AIR ACCIDENTS: Dangerous Trend

In offering civilian aviation interests the full co-operation of the army air forces for promoting safer operations, Col. George C. Price, chief of the office of flying safety for the AAF, predicted a heavy future accident toll unless current trends were reversed.

Declaring that civil air accidents since V-J Day to October 31 were 70 per cent greater than in the same period last year, Price said that with 300,000 planes in the air in the next five years there might be 48,000 serious crashes and 5,000 fatalities annually in the early 1950s.

Though flying mishaps in the army took 26,000 lives and destroyed 22,000 planes during the war, the accident rate was lower than it had been during peacetime, Price averred.

Army safety experience would be gladly offered to civilian agencies to minimize flying hazards, he said.

PEARL HARBOR: Star Witness

One of the star witnesses at the early congressional hearings in the Pearl Harbor catastrophe, big bluff Adm. James O. Richardson, who commanded the U. S. navy up to February, 1941, revealed that the late President Roosevelt favored the anchorage of the Pacific fleet at Hawaii over his objections in the hope of restraining further Jap aggression.

"I stated that in my opinion the presence of the fleet in Hawaii might influence a civilian political government," Richardson said, "but that Japan had a military government which knew that the fleet was

AMERICAN LEGION: Take Stand

Ending its 27th annual convention in Chicago, Ill., with all of the characteristic hi-jinks, the American Legion took its stand on the leading controversial national questions of the day, demanding:

- One year of compulsory military training for all youths, with adequate basic training and either advanced technical or scientific instruction, when qualified, or further schooling in ROTC units.
• Retention of the secret of the atom bomb and the establishment of a civilian board for scientific research in military material.
• Financial assistance to friendly foreign countries not imposing trade restrictions and then for constructive purposes only.

MASS TRANSFER: Move Germans

Because of agitation within the countries governing their areas of residence, millions of Germans will be shifted to the amputated reich this winter despite a lack of fuel and rolling stock needed to transport them.

In all, some 6,000,000 Germans are to be moved from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria and Hungary by next summer, with the U. S. occupation zone receiving 3,200,000; the Russian, 2,750,000; the British, 1,500,000, and the French, 150,000.

Science Today...

New fabrics from chemistry, even to a cloth from grass and possibly a rayon from seaweed, strongly suggest that we are witnessing a large-scale revolution in textiles, the American Chemical society journal declared.

The New York Scene: Faces About Town

Eddie Cantor convulsing chums with a report on how a coast rattle-rouser flayed him in a speech. He called the star: "Eddie Cantor, the er, er, international banker!" ... Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen reminiscing with other Broadway showfolks on one-time vaudeville companions. ... The Paul Gallico with the Paul Drapers. ... Margo, the star, telling youthful Bill Mauldin the "Up Front" author how much good he is doing for his countrymen. ... Peggy Hopkins Joyce intensely interested in Diosa Costello's hip-flipping at the Havana-Madrid. ... Skeets Gallagher being asked for his autograph while Bebe Daniels (the former film star) went unrecognized by the same kids. ... Martha Raye, fit to be handcuffed. A midtown hotel management disregarded her baby and ejected them from a suite because "it is reserved for a cocktail party."

Sallies in Our Alley: Ken Roberts, the radio announcer, was explaining how atom could be broken up.

"What about the O?" asked Dorothy Shay. ... "That's the big Zero," Ken explained, "which is what the world will be if those three don't get together." ... Doodles Weaver knows a punch-drunk pugilist who can't afford a sparring partner, so he calls taxi drivers names.

Midtown Vignette: The Mayor the other day sat in Magistrate's Court where he fined many motorists for this and that.

He let off many more, however, with merely a reprimand. ... It reminded us of this episode. ... An out-of-towner was motoring up Broadway and slipped past a changing traffic light. When he stepped at the next corner a cop said: "Red lights mean nothing to you, eh? Let's see your license." ... The out-of-towner handed it over, and the gendarme made notes in his little book after which he handed the motorist a folded bit of paper and his license. "Get along now," he ordered. ... At the next red light the stranger read the slip of paper. It said: "Don't pass no more red lights."

Memorial to Gus Edwards: His simple and clean songs (lyrics by Will D. Cobb) were the heart—the signature of a whole period of American history.

What family has not sung "School Days" or "Sunbonnet Sue"? And how many grandmothers were courted with "By the Light of the Silvery Moon"? ... His songs were the kind American people loved to hum and sing in their kitchens or parlors. Because Mr. Edwards and Mr. Cobb never wrote a song a man couldn't sing to his mother—or his wife couldn't teach their daughter. ... He leaves us with the memory of a useful life. ... A noble, dignified and devoted wife. ... And a song to sing.

The Mags: In the current issue of magazine the ubiquitous Bennett Cerf writes about practical jokes.

For our money, he left out (or never heard of) the best and most touching one of all. ... It happened to an eloping couple who were told that if they went to the White House, the President would marry them. ... They were very gullible—and their advisor very convincing. ... Anyhow they went. ... How they got in, we dunno. ... But the President, quickly sizing up the situation, turned the tables. ... He sent for a minister, stood up as their best man, and then invited the couple to spend their wedding night in the White House. ... Although it might have been FDR, it wasn't. ... It was A. L.

Manhattan Murals: The bobby-soxers starting the queue at the Paramount to get the choice seats during Sinatra's engagement.

They start as early as 4:30 a. m. ... The Empire State edifice—recovered from its wounds (after that horrible plane crash into its throat), wearing a look of indestructibility again. ... The well-dressed middle-aged man walking into the St. Moritz foyer one middle of the night without his hat, overcoat, shoes and socks!

Marlene Dietrich's pals hear she has sold most of her jewelry because she refused film offers (to go overseas with our troops) and needs cash. ... Charles Farrell, no dope he, invested $50,000 in five Palm Springs bungalows, which will bring neat rentals. ... Paul Lukas' mission abroad was gov't inspired. He returned with a list of rich Hungarians who colluded with Hitlerites.

An avalanche of activity rumbling across Erie Basin, the nation's busiest shipping center.

Exuberant block parties welcoming home servicemen. ... Manhattan Beach, where the building of apartment houses is prohibited. ... The Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial arch on Eastern Parkway. Poetry etched in stone. ... One of the most compelling examples of the Big Burg's visual magic: When night conceals the shoreline the waterfront skyscrapers' illuminated towers seem suspended in the dark.

Following the service the pastor will bring an appropriate message, striving to bring about a closer feeling and spirit between these organizations and their sponsoring institution—the church.

At 6:30 the regular Training Union will meet and you are urged to be present for this. Economic Security

Back in 1935 senators and representatives in the Congress of the United States began drawing $5,000 a year; $100 a week. That was good pay 60 years ago but a first-class welder can do better now. Congressmen have had two raises in salary since then. The last one was 23 years ago when they started earning $10,000 a year which was, at the time, a comfortable living for them.

A great many executives in private enterprise earn more money than senators although they do not claim superior ability. Why do our legislators not earn more? Because their salaries are fixed by law and they themselves are the gentlemen who make the laws. They could vote themselves a raise in pay but there is always reluctance to introduce such a bill.

Throughout Government
There are politics in it, of course. Revenue measures never are popular. Congressmen who vote for a dip out of Mr. Taxpayer's pocket come to regret it on election day sometimes, even when the expenditure was a wise one. That's exactly why employees in the Post Office Department haven't had a boost in pay since the congressmen did, a matter of 20 years ago.

Wage rates in private industry have advanced from 42 cents to $1 an hour in the last 20 years. They have more than doubled. Informed authorities say that living costs have gone up 30% or more during that time. Doubled pay for workers in private industry offsets the living costs that are about one-third higher, but what about government people from mail clerks to senators?

Ask for Consideration
One of the biggest newspapers in my state published an advertisement recently, calling the attention of the people of Arkansas to the unhappy plight of the postal employees who serve them. The display advertisement was bought and paid for by the postal workers themselves. In a diplomatic way they are asking their neighbors to help them ask Congress for better wages.

I want to see the postal people earning more money. I favor the passage of currently proposed legislation to boost the pay of senators and representatives 20% or better. I hope to see the day when a self-respecting poor man can afford to represent his state in costly and wealthy Washington. These are details however. It is wrong in principle that government employees wait 20 years for a raise.

Dangerous Bureaucracy
The important thing is that every workman who quits a job in private industry to enter government employ gets his wage scale frozen. The change of work may bring more pay but that's temporary. Whoever works at that job a generation from now will probably be earning the same amount and spending a lot more to live. Remember that the laborer of today is earning senatorial pay for 1965.

These facts are understood well by men of industry and leaders in labor movements. It is encouraging to observe how the Labor-Management Charter, signed in Washington last March by labor union executives and prominent men of business, deals with the subject. In brief it states: Private enterprise is the necessary foundation for the welfare of labor as well as management.

Polio Is Everyman's Enemy, Bing Declares

The war against infantile paralysis is a war in which all peoples of all nations have a common foe, Bing Crosby, screen and radio star and national chairman of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation national 1945 appeal, said today in an appeal for contributions.

"Wars among nations always end but the fight against disease is an unending battle in which all mankind has a common interest," said Crosby, who is directing the campaign to raise $5,000,000 to expand the work of Sister Elizabeth Kenny, Australian nurse famous for her discovery of a revolutionary treatment for infantile paralysis.

"The war against infantile paralysis, the crippling disease, is a war in which all peoples of all nations are fighting together against a common foe," Crosby said.

Establish Local Clinic
Crosby emphasized that one-half of the funds raised in each of the 48 states where the drive is being conducted will remain in the state to carry on local campaigns against the disease, to finance training of Kenny technicians for clinics throughout the country and to finance treatment of the stricken.

Funds also will be used, Crosby said, to:
Enlarge the Elizabeth Kenny Institute in Minneapolis, Minnesota.
Carry on extensive research as to the causes of the disease.
Provide periodical study courses for physicians and technicians.
Perpetuate and extend the scope and benefits of the Kenny Institute not only in the United States but throughout the world.
Lessen ravages of the crippling disease.

Work of Altruism
"Elizabeth Kenny's work has been a work of altruism," Crosby said. "She accepts no fees or salary from her work. Her only reward is the realization that she has brought happiness back into the lives of countless persons."

"I realize that the people of America have been called upon to contribute to many worthwhile ventures during the trying years of the war. We have won that war through the generosity and the unselfishness of the people of America but another war that rages continually remains to be won. The people of America can help win that war too—the war against infantile paralysis—by contributing as generously as their purse permits to the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation campaign fund drive."

Texas State Guard Passes Federal Inspection Nov. 21

The Burkburnett Company C of the Texas State Guard had its Federal Inspection November 21st by Lt. Sener, U. S. Army, Eighth Service Command. Lt. Sener passed very favorably on the manner that Company C presented its formations. Especial credit was given to the appearance of each man, military courtesy and how promptly each man answered the questions propounded. He stated that all questions were to his complete satisfaction, not only answered correctly, but were answered intelligently and to the point. Not one man failed to give his correct rifle number. Lt. Sener gave credit not only to the enlisted men of the ranks but to the non-commissioned and commissioned officers of Company C.

A written report should be in the hands of the Company Commander on or before January 1. Lt. Col. Floyd Dean was present at the Federal inspection and expressed himself as being highly pleased with the turn-out of men at the inspection and in the manner in which they conducted themselves.

(This is the first of two articles on the revolutionary discovery of the treatment for infantile paralysis by the famous Australian nurse, Sister Elizabeth Kenny.)

An Enemy Strikes and Sister Kenny Appears

This is a story about a woman and her unending fight against an unseen, cruel, ruthless enemy of mankind.

It is the story of Sister Elizabeth Kenny, famed Australian nurse, and her one-woman crusade against the crippling disease, infantile paralysis.

The story begins more than 25 years ago deep in the heart of Australia when a child suddenly became ill.

Like all parents in this desolate section of the land "down under" the parents of this child consulted neighbors when their son became ill seeking advice.

But neighbors shook their heads helplessly. To them, as to the parents, this was a strange disease and one that left frightening affects.

Doctors Not Available

There were no doctors to call upon in this part of Australia's bush country, the medical needs of the 200 farmers and an assortment of prospectors and explorers being cared for by a community nurse. By force of circumstances she was the medical adviser, midwife and consultant for the entire population.

Only when her services were sorely needed was she called upon for her many duties in the seemingly boundless wilderness she served kept her constantly busy.

But despairing of their child's life and unable to find other help in the community, the parents called for the nurse, Sister Elizabeth Kenny. To Miss Kenny, too, the disease was something new.

Immediately she telegraphed an old friend, Dr. Aeneas J. McDonnell, chief surgeon of Toowoomba General hospital in Queensland and one of Australia's outstanding surgeons, describing the symptoms and asking his advice. This was the reply: "INFANTILE PARALYSIS . . . NO KNOWN CURE . . . DO BEST YOU CAN."

Miss Kenny read the message and handed it to the parents. Tears welled in their eyes as they focused on the helpless, pain-ravaged body of their son.

New Burdens

But the nurse did not despair. Her first move was to ease the pain of the suffering child.

Then new burdens fell on Miss Kenny and a greater fear gripped the community as five more children were struck down by the disease.

Six children now lay helpless, faced with death or a future of grotesquely deformed bodies.

Many adversities had been overcome by men and women striving to eke out an existence in this section of Australia but a new enemy they did not know how to fight and one that medical science had not conquered filled them with stark terror.

To facilitate general care Miss Kenny moved her six patients to one large house. There the children looked up at Miss Kenny and all who visited them with pathetic, pleading, lifeless eyes. To the community they were youngsters to be pitied who, if they lived, would go through life with twisted arms, legs and spines, robbed of their mobility, health, happiness and independence.

A Challenge

But to Miss Kenny they were more than this—they were a challenge to herself and to all mankind.

As a school girl, Elizabeth Kenny had been given access to the laboratory of Dr. McDonnell. Here she had spent countless hours fashioning papier mache models of the various body muscles and attaching them to a skeleton.

Here she acquired a remarkable knowledge of the anatomy and muscle functions. She also developed an inherent mechanical skill and began to see the human body as a delicate machine. Here she obtained, unknowingly, the knowledge that was to prove so important in evolving her world-famed treatment.

As a nurse she saw what medical practitioners had seen in such cases since they first recognized infantile paralysis as a separate disease. And Miss Kenny's technical mind saw more. It saw the affected muscles as a series of levers, cables, pulleys, an intricate mechanical system.

Something, she sensed, had gone wrong with the mechanism of motion in those twisted bodies. Limbs refused to move.

A Discovery

Her examination disclosed that while some muscles appeared to be paralyzed, their opposing muscles were in spasm—the muscles were contracting—resulting in excruciating pain. Later studies were to prove that this was a revolutionary discovery.

Up to this time spastic muscles never had been considered, or even known, in the treatment of infantile paralysis.

Since these were sick muscles, Miss Kenny concluded they should be treated. Heat therapy, she felt, would bring relief.

After trying various kinds of heat to ease pain, Miss Kenny finally hit upon hot fomentations (hot medicants) as the most effective. She discovered these brought almost instant relief from pain and, after several days, caused relaxations of the affected muscles and disappearance of spasm.

When the pain had subsided, Miss Kenny made another startling discovery—that the apparently paralyzed muscles were not actually paralyzed at all but, because of the disease, had lost their co-ordination and ability to function normally. She then tried retraining these muscles to normal activity.

Movement Returns

For several months Miss Kenny continued her treatments following the theory she had discovered. Stricken children gradually were learning to use their arms and legs.

Before long they left their beds. They again became normal, robust children able to romp and play.

And, best of all, there were no ugly deformities, no crippling affects, no braces. Infantile paralysis at last had met resistance.

(Next week's article will tell how Miss Kenny introduced her treatment to Australian and American medical men.)

Rev. P. G. Hightower, Pastor

We are coming again to that time of year when we stop to think upon the great gift of God to the world, His son Jesus Christ. We always think of a gift for a friend or a loved one; for Christmas without a gift is not Christmas at all. The greatest gift of all is God's gift which was made to save the world from its sin.

We are speaking each Sunday morning on this gift. Last Sunday we spoke of the prophecy in the Old Testament on the coming of Christ. Next Sunday, December 9th, we are speaking on "The Door His Coming Opened". People were closed in without hope, but His coming opened them new faith and a new life. The pastor will point to these Doors Christian Religion.

Sunday evening services at 7:00 o'clock with a singing of hymns. The pastor will deliver the message.

We are beginning our Christmas season. This is an opportunity for us to make a lasting gift to an orphan. Without the Home, Christmas would not mean much to them. Last year we gave them $150.00 in cash, and $150.00 in material. Help us keep this high goal.

The public is cordially invited to worship with us at these services, and to think with us on this great Gift of God to the world.

VICTORY BOND DIGEST . . .

Remember? How can we ever forget! Disaster and death came out of the clear blue sky to strike like a thunderbolt! Never again will America be so totally unprepared . . . never again will America let her guard down. We're going to make sure it won't happen again by backing our words with action. Action that will make Post-war America strong. That means a solid economy . . . without inflation. That means giving the boys who did the fighting a break . . . backing up the G.I. Bill of Rights. The best way to do it . . . Buy Victory Bonds. The best time . . . right now . . . December 7th . . . a DARK day in America's past, a great day to reaffirm your faith in America's future.

Why should I buy Bonds now that the War is over? A good question with many answers. Buy them for the sake of our boys . . . the millions still in uniform . . . the hundreds of thousands on the way home. To help them start life anew.

The shooting has stopped, but it's not all over yet . . . not till the last man is back can we on the home front consider our obligations met. Obligations we owe to every man who served in the cause of Liberty. It's a costly undertaking, a responsibility we must not neglect. That's why our Government needs Eleven Billion Dollars invested in Victory Bonds. Could there be a better reason!

"Me... I'm staying in the Army!"

THERE ARE PLENTY OF REASONS . . . AND HERE THEY ARE!

- "First, I keep my present grade. That means a lot.
- "By reenlisting for 3 years I can pick my own branch of service in the Air, Ground or Service Forces, and can go to any overseas theater I wish.
- "I get my mustering-out pay, even though I'm reenlisting. Also, I get $50 a year reenlistment bonus for each year I've been in the Army. My dependents receive family allowances for the full term of my enlistment. And I'll be eligible for GI Bill of Rights benefits when I get out of the Army.
- "My food, clothes, quarters, medical and dental care are all supplied to me. And I can learn any of 200 skills or trades in the Army schools.
- "All of us who are reenlisting are going to have from 30 to 90 days' furlough at home with full pay and our travel paid both ways. And we'll have 30 days' furlough every year with pay.

- "Any time after 20 years I can retire at half pay increasing year by year to three-quarters retirement pay after 30 years service. And the time I've already served in active military or naval service counts toward my retirement time. Added up—reenlistment seems pretty sound to me.

BETTER EGGS BETTER PRICES

Every good poultry raiser likes to get top prices for his eggs. The best poultrymen have learned that the easiest way to get top market on eggs is by improvement in their egg quality and egg marketing procedure.

Simply because eggs are in a shell too many people are inclined to forget that they are just as perishable as fresh vegetables, milk or fruit. Cooling the eggs quickly and keeping them cool is a first essential in retaining egg quality. The safest egg holding temperature range between 40 and 60 degrees. Eggs should not be put in egg cases until they are well cooled. Wire baskets are recommended for gathering as this allows eggs to cool more quickly.

Clean nests, clean floor litter and frequent egg gathering are simple factors that assure cleaner eggs. A good uniform egg laying ration is essential as yolks, color and food value are determined in part by your feeding program.

THE DOG'S SENSE OF SMELL TRULY IS REMARKABLE

It's his remarkable sense of smell that gives the dog those unique qualities for which he has been prized through the centuries, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

In zoology, animals are sometimes divided into two groups—visual and olfactory animals. Man today is, of course, a visual being; with the assumption of an upright position and the raising of the head from the ground, his olfactory sense has deteriorated. But the dog is first of all an olfactory animal. A dog lives, feels, loves and hates by its sense of smell.

In his book, "Man in Structure and Function," the German writer Fritz Kahn gives the physical basis which makes the dog a truly olfactory animal. He compares the dog's olfactory mechanism with that of man. He finds that while the olfactory mucous membrane of the human nose is only as large as a postage stamp, that of a dog, if spread out, would cover more than half its skin. Much the same relations obtain in the portions of the brain devoted to smell. In man the olfactory area occupies one-twentieth of the medial surface of the brain, while in a dog this area is more than one-third of the inner wall of the brain.

Reporting on experiments abroad, Science Service says a dog can detect a solution of formic acid even if it contains one part acid to ten million parts water. Dogs have also detected scents in other solutions of acids so weak as to be quite odorless to man. In another type of experiment, a young German Shepherd female was used to retrieve a small piece of pine wood handled by her keeper. The keeper held the piece of wood in his hand for just two seconds, and then placed it with forceps among a dozen or more identical pieces which he had not touched. The dog was allowed to sniff the keeper's hand and told to bring her piece of wood. In every trial, she found the right piece.

Legion Auxiliary Entertains Husbands At Banquet

Mounds of colorful fruit and sprays of ivy interwoven with colorful berries flanked on either side with silver candles also interwoven with ivy and berries were used to decorate the long banquet tables, Thursday night at the Legion hall, honoring the members of the auxiliary and their husbands and guests. Miniature American flags placed in gum drops of various colors served as favors.

A delightful meal consisting of roast turkey, dressing and gravy green beans, creamed potatoes, candid yams, black eyed peas, salad, hot rolls, coffee, peaches and cake, was served to eighty-six persons.

Virginia McConnell, president of the Auxiliary presided over the meeting, presenting Mr. Tevis, the post commander who welcomed all legionnaires.

Mr. Joe Majors led the group in prayer with Mr. J. E. Cypert giving the preamble. Mr. Sid Askins, the Sergeant-At-Arms, presented and retired the colors at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Boreing, a member of the Grandfield Unit was presented as the Auxiliary's guest.

Miss Mary Jo Haley, sang two numbers accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Lewallen. Miss Peggy Dot Busby, sang "Night and Day", accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Duke. The guests were further entertained with an informal sing-song led by Mr. Dot Busby and accompanied by Peggy Dot Busby.

Hunt With Care

With the hunting season now open, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, is urging all hunters or other persons spending time in wooded areas use all possible precautions against being bitten by ticks which may infect the victim with relapsing fever. He further advises that when a tick is found, it be removed from the body as soon as possible and that care be taken not to crush the ticks in handling them.

"Tick-bite fever is contracted," Dr. Cox explained, "either from the bite of infected ticks or by absorbing the infectious material through breaks or scratches in the skin." According to Dr. Cox the disease does not spread from person to person by direct contact but only through the bite of an infected tick or body louse. Prompt removal of the insect is of the utmost importance.

Relapsing fever is characterized by sudden onset, intense headache located in the front part of the head and pains in the back and limbs. The fever lasts from three to five days before slowly declining. The temperature will then remain normal for about a week when the fever repeats itself. There may be three, four, or even more such relapses which accounts for the name of the disease.

Dr. Cox said that the wearing of suitable clothing so as to prevent ticks getting next to the skin is of importance in the prevention of this disease. The insects may be removed with the fingers but the use of tweezers is recommended since this helps to prevent leaving the head embedded in the skin. After removing or handling a tick, the hands should be washed carefully with soap and warm water.

F. H. Kelley, 115 West Col is visiting his son Jack K. Durant, Okla., this week.
