Lions Club Speaker Back From Russia

Mr. and Mrs. Magers Off To Mexico City

Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Magers leave today to attend the annual meeting of the Great Southern Club, to be held in the Plaza Hotel, San Antonio, Texas. This club is composed of the leading producers of the Great Southern Life Insurance Company of Houston, Texas.

Mr. Magers was among the 140 who qualified their wives with production of 150 per cent of Club quota. Club members and their wives will spend two days in the Alamo City as the guests of the Great Southern Life. The time will be divided between business sessions and social activities, the latter to compliment the Company's outstanding sales leaders.

Mr. Magers further qualified as one of 11 representatives who attained the President's Cabinet, honor group for those Club members who maintained a second year renewal of 95 per cent or better. He and his associates will be honored at the President's Club banquet scheduled for Friday evening.

Following the San Antonio meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Magers will board a Great Southern special train bound for Mexico City. Last year the Great Southern Life announced a special trip for all representatives, and their wives, who produced and paid for a quarter of a million dollars of new life insurance in addition to meeting other Club requirements. Expecting probably 50 qualifiers, the Company was gratified to find that 84 Great Southerners each sold more than $250,000 of life insurance during the Club year ending last June 30.

Following the opening song and prayer, roll call was answered by 22 members, 2 visitors and three new members. Mrs. James, Mrs. Rose and Mrs. McClurkin. Officers for the following year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. A. A. Evert; Vice-President, Mrs. E. J. Simmons; Secretary, Mrs. M. R. Hewell; Treasurer, Mrs. C. E. Martin; Reporter, Mrs. S. E. Askins.

Jr. University Study Club Met Monday

The Junior University Study Club met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. C. Sullivan on Ellis Street.

Mrs. Sullivan served a beautiful salad plate to sixteen members and three guests. Cut flowers were used to add to the attractiveness of the newly redecorated living room of the Sullivan home, while a beautiful fruit bowl centered the dining table.

Mrs. George McClarty, the club's vice-president, presided in the absence of the president.

Mrs. George W. Counter, Jr., and Mrs. McClarty were in charge of the program, which was on "youth."

The group found the roll call to be entertaining. It revealed a charming bit of humor from "reminiscence of my youth" from each member.

Because "life is too difficult in Russia now," R. D. Merrick, Randlett farm boy who "helped build" three of the Soviets five-year plans with his crop production achievements came, back to his native state last week and started brushing up on his English.

Merrick spent 14 years in Iraq and Russia.

Now, after a brief visit with relatives, he will be on his way to Afghanistan to open agricultural experiment stations.

After graduating from A. & M. College in 1931, Merrick accepted a position near Damascus as director of poultry production and agricultural advisor on a 15,000 acre grain and chicken farm.

He next taught English and vocational agriculture in Iraq, going in 1934 to a Soviet state farm at Daghestan near the Caspian sea. There, by irrigation methods, he raised the cotton yield tenfold.

By 1938 Merrick had worked his way to the Kuban region, richest in Russia, where he concentrated on the development of one variety cotton crops. He went into production of Russia's famed color cotton and won honors from the highest agricultural societies of the country.

Three years later, he was growing 10,000 acres of well known Russian variety of cotton in 16 collective farms. His work brought top recognition and lavish gifts from the Russian government. The Russian people adopted him. He lived their life, spoke their language, adopted their mannerisms, and nearly forgot English.

Then, in 1942, came the German invasion.

Merrick's Russian wife was killed (his son still with the grandparents in Russia), and Merrick was thrown into a concentration camp.

Released a month later, he was assigned by the Germans to statistical reports on livestock and agricultural yields for his area. Much of the work he had done had been wiped out by the war.

Although the Russian government again assigned him to agricultural work when they regained control, Merrick was dissatisfied with his postwar position; made plans to return to the United States.

"Equipment and stocks are low. But Russia, with its science and determination will forge ahead," Merrick believes. "Permanent peace is what the Russian people long for."

Mr. Merrick will speak at the Methodist Church Sunday night, October 20, on "Religious Conditions in Russia."

Mrs. Bowles presided at the guest book, and a lovely assortment of gifts was presented to Mrs. Boggs by Mrs. H. A. Mills.

Future Homemakers Of America

The week of October 20-26 has been proclaimed by Governor Coke R. Stevenson as Future Homemakers of Texas week. We have 30,000 members in Texas and about twenty members in our local chapter.

The program of the future homemakers is outstanding. The theme for the year 1946-47 is "Building Today for Tomorrow." Included in our six point program are: Improving ourselves, contributing to our homes, cooperating for school betterment, developing our organization, serving our community, state, and nation, and promoting recreational activities.

Our special projects for the National organization are the Christmas Festival for World Youth and National Famine Relief. Our long time project is building a state camp that all clubs may use for an annual camp. In celebration of our week the local club has planned various activities.

Next Summer Jimmy plans to go to Weyauwega to make his home with his sister. She has a large home, and beautiful yard and grounds, which will give Mr. Lavender a chance to work off his surplus energy looking after the place. He has been in Burkburnett 27 years, the last six employed by the City to care for Town Hall and the lawn around City Hall. Jimmy numbers his friends by his acquaintances. All the children know him and call him "Uncle Jimmy."

COMPULSORY TRAINING

Present international turmoil may have some effect on the Congress that will pass legislation in January providing for universal military training for six months of continuous duty with the Army. Although the Army had originally asked for a year of military training, even the six months training will meet with disapproval. There are those who feel such a step on the part of this country wouldn't help solve peace programs, feeling it would intimidate other nations. This insecurity among other people would not further our cause. But there is a large group of Americans who do not want to be in the unprepared position as before this past war and who believe compulsory training is vital. January will tell what Congress intends to do about it.

ANIMAL BLOOD BANKS

None deny the value of human blood banks. The saving of life in war and peace, through this means, is exceptional, blood banks are now being founded in animal clinics and hospitals, to save livestock. They can store blood of cattle and horses as long as 120 days. Cow blood does not need typing but horse blood does. The animal donor must have a clean bill of health, as do human donors. Cows have safely yielded up to two quarts of blood for the bank and the sick animal, if large, can be given from half to three quarts of blood at a time. Wire cuts where much blood is lost, sweet clover poisoning, foundered horses pneumonia, naval ills, all have been cured through the animal blood banks. This is a real service to animals and to man.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Want a Vacation from Marriage?

Alvin Blake went south on his vacation, for some fishing, and left his Missus to enjoy a vacation from the scrub pipe, clothes in a heap, and solos on the harmonica.

First few days, Martha enjoyed it—house neat and quiet, top back on the toothpaste, no morning mess from Alvin's midnight snacks (Al's partial to a bit of cheese and beer at bedtime).

Come the end of the week, she began to fidget; couldn't even read the Clarion, it looked so unmissed; didn't have any appetite with nobody to cook for. She was about to wire Al, when he barged home a week ahead of time, and she almost cries for gratitude. ("Felt the same way myself," says Al.)

From where I sit, those differences of habit and opinion—whether they have to do with corn-cob pipes, a glass of beer, or playing the harmonica, seem mighty trivial when you're separated. And they are, too!

How to help your child fight FEAR OF DARKNESS

1 Fear of the dark is founded on a dread of the unknown. Many a grown man feels his courage ebb with the daylight. And to a child, whose limited experience makes him even more fearful, the dark can be filled with terrors which may affect his emotional adjustment.

2 Bring back the daylight world he knows, with your "Eveready" flashlight... show that the yard, or the basement, is the same familiar place by night as by day. Or that mysterious night-time sounds are made by simple things—rattling shades, moving branches, pets. Let him use your flashlight himself—or, better still, get him one of his own. Then—

3 Encourage him to perform small tasks after dark, when he may use his "Eveready" flashlight, such as putting his toys away or getting something for you from a dark closet. Above all, never frighten him with "Boogeyman"; appeal to his pride. Then he will accept darkness as just another part of the day.

Miscellaneous Shower Honors Recent Bride

Mrs. Carl Day, the former Miss Mildred Hill, was named honoree at a lovely miscellaneous shower given Tuesday evening, Oct. 8 at the home of Mrs. George McClarty on Ellis street. Co-hostesses for this courtesy were Mesdames C. C. Gilbert, L. R. Cashwheeler, Bob Weaver, H. A. Goodwin, W. J. Gibson, Jack McClain, Harry Dodson, Walter Hewell, R. L. Hughes, J. W. Entertainment was provided by piano selections by Blanche Butler and a solo, "You Belong to my Heart," by little Wynona Reed. This was followed by the presentation of the many lovely gifts to the bride. The hostess's gift was a place setting of sterling silver.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs. W. C. Hill, and the groom's mother, Mrs. H. M. Day, were each presented with lovely corsages from the hostesses. Miss Gertie Reed presided at the guest book, and Mrs. George McClarty at the punch bowl, assisted by Gracie Bell Jones.

Chart released by Reconversion Director Steelman marks progress in civilian production, with figures with asterisks indicating shipments to dealers.

RECONVERSION: Steelman Reports

The wartime economy of the U. S. has reached a fork in the road. Reconversion Director John R. Steelman declared in his quarterly report to the President and congress. In one direction lies unprecedented, stable prosperity; in the other, boom and bust. Steelman pleaded with business, labor, agriculture and consumers to avert an inflationary spiral. He asked business to hold down prices; labor to refrain from making unsound wage demands; agriculture to continue to produce at a record clip, and consumers to desist from spending freely.

Despite record employment of 58 million and an annual production rate of 172 billion dollars, many key commodities remain scarce, Steelman said. Accumulation of inventories at a rate of 6 1/2 billion dollars yearly indicates there is some speculative hoarding, he added. The meat shortage promises to worsen this winter and supplies of fats, oils and sugars will remain tight for many months. Up 23 per cent from 1943, clothing prices are expected to go up another 10 per cent by the end of 1946.

CIO: Fight Reds

The growing movement against Communist influence in the CIO received further impetus in New York City when 34 officials of six CIO affiliates organized to do battle against the Reds.

Forming the CIO Committee for Democratic Trade Unionism, the group, headed by Vice Pres. Jack Altman of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store union, conceded that Communists had wormed their way into CIO councils and sought to divert the labor movement to advancement of the cause of a foreign nation and its ideology. In addition to Altman, the new committee included representatives of the United Auto Workers, Textile Workers, Rubber Workers, Utility Workers and Novelty Workers. In banding together to combat the Communist menace, they followed the lead of democratic elements within the CIO Electrical and Upholsterers' unions.

Disgusted with "the dirty work of the Communists within our union," Frank R. McGrath, president of the CIO United Shoe Workers, announced his resignation in Washington, D. C.

RUBBER: Cut Price

While the state department declared that an unexpected increase in production of Malayan rubber has permitted the British to slash their price to 20 1/4 cents a pound to the U. S., experts asserted that the government's threat to utilize a greater capacity of this country's huge synthetic industry resulted in the reduction. British, Dutch and French producers had hiked their price to 23 1/4

POWER:

A total of 1,070,000 residential and farm customers was added by the electric power industry in the U. S. during the first eight months of 1946 despite the housing shortage and difficulties encountered in securing poles, wire and equipment, Edison Electric Institute reported. Data received from power systems throughout the country show that for the 12-month period after V-J Day 1,668,000 new customers of all classes were added.

PAUL TRAINS FOR HIS LIFE WORK

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:19b-22; 11:25-28; Galatians 1:17-24. MEMORY SELECTION—And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God.—Acts 9:20.

The regenerating grace of God had made Paul into a new man, one who now had no greater delight than telling others of the redeeming grace of God. In preparation for that fuller ministry which was to follow, Paul first gave witness in the place where he had been persecuting the Christians, in fact, in the city to which he was bound when the Lord met him. But now instead of breathing out threats and violence he met these former associates and friends with the new message of the gospel. He had to meet them sooner or later, and it was well that he met them now. A clean break with his past makes a man ready for future service.

I. Paul Faces His Past (Acts 9:19b-22). What a surprise it must have been for those persecutors of the Christians at Damascus to find that the one to whom they had looked for leadership was now a Christian. What a testimony that was—right to the point!

"Straightway"—what a good word to apply to the servant of the Lord. Paul did not hesitate to declare his faith in Christ, to proclaim that the One who had redeemed him was able to save others.

It is the normal and proper expression of Christian faith to give testimony to others. That should be true of every believer. With Paul there was the added element of his call to preach, for God had ordained that he should be his chosen vessel for that purpose (Acts 9:15).

Paul's message was Christ. He proved to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ (v. 22), the One of whom their Old Testament Scriptures spoke and for whom they professed to be looking. He declared him to be the Son of God (v. 20).

They were unwilling to accept the message. They were "amazed" at Paul and "confounded" by the truth he proclaimed, but they rejected both it and him, and he had to escape for his life.

Although our lesson only indirectly refers to it (see Gal. 1:17, 18), it should also be noted that Paul went up to Jerusalem before he went to Antioch, as indicated in our next portion of Scripture.

There he faced suspicion on the part of the believers, who knew him as their enemy. Having faced his past we now see that

II. Paul Faces His Future (Acts 11:25, 26). He was God's chosen instrument to bear his name to the Gentiles (see Acts 9:15), and at the invitation of Barnabas he came up from his home city of Tarsus to minister at Antioch, the place which now became his real spiritual home, and the center from which his great missionary enterprise was carried out.

It is interesting to note how this came about in the providence of God. Persecution spread the believers abroad (Acts 11:19), and like the scattered brands of a beaten fire they carried the flame of Christianity far and wide. Thus the gospel came to Antioch, the third greatest city in the world of that day. A revival broke out and Barnabas was sent from Jerusalem to be of help.

Good and spiritual man that he was (Acts 19:23, 24), Barnabas did nothing to hinder this work of God, but admonished the people to "cleave unto the Lord"; that is, to follow him closely. Would that all spiritual advisers had such a spirit and such sound judgment.

He was also wise in sensing his need of help. So he went after Paul, the very man to teach these young Christians and to lead them into a radiant and abundant life for the Lord. Here it was that the beautiful name of "Christian" was first used.

All this was possible because III. Paul Faces His Lord (Gal. 1:17-24).

Many years after he had been called to Antioch, Paul wrote this letter to the Galatians to warn them against Judaizing teachers and to urge them to hold fast to salvation by faith. He declared this to be a message which he received from God and not from men.

Before Paul went out to preach and teach he went up into Arabia to be alone with the Lord, as he took what we might call his postgraduate course in theology. He learned—alone with God.

His life had been transformed. His attitudes had been completely changed. His thinking about Christ was diametrically opposite to his former beliefs. He needed time alone with God to prepare himself for the stormy but triumphant years ahead.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Leather or skin gloves should be mended with cotton thread; never with silk.

Store paint brushes in turpentine, not in water. Water causes the bristles to become soft and flabby.

To prevent brown or powdered sugar from lumping, place each in an air-tight container once their packages are opened. An ordinary fruit jar will serve the purpose, if lumping does occur, place a damp cloth in the jar with the sugar for a time.

When measuring windows for new curtain fabrics, measure all the windows. They may look the same size, but often differ. Correct measuring may save you needless waste of material.

When you wish to use only half of a vegetable that tends to turn brown when cut, coat the half you intend to save with shortening. This slows the discoloring process, provided you also keep the vegetable in the refrigerator.

Stretch two thin curtain rods across the inside of your clothes hamper and across them hang soiled towels and washcloths that are still damp. These will dry here and still be no eyesore to users of the bathroom.

To remove chewing gum clothing, rub the spot with a little Vaseline until the gum rolls into a ball and scrape it off.

A spray bath refreshes plants such as ivy, frees them from dust and prevents the growth of "red spider" which eats leaves.

When refinishing furniture wood paneling, wait at least three days before waxing you desire a wax finish. Form finishing wax is recommended. After waxing, again wait two days before polishing.

Cull Carefully For Better Production

Pullets that show little promise of developing into sturdy, productive layers should be culled before your flock goes into the laying house this fall. By eliminating them you will save feed and space and increase your chances of avoiding heavy disease losses later on.

Eliminate Poor Producers
No matter how carefully you may have managed your pullets during the summer season, there are bound to be some birds that are not up to par physically. These are the chickens that will produce poorly. Get rid of them.

Many poultrymen have brought their pullets in from the range by now, but even after they're in the laying house careful culling should continue until all of the poor egg producers are eliminated. And by all means be particularly thorough in culling if you failed to eliminate the non-producers at housing time.

Don't keep the runts, the sluggish or inactive birds. Segregate birds having poor feathering. Cull the birds that have long shallow heads, dull and sunken eyes, or narrow, short, poorly fleshed backs. Watch for narrow pale shanks, a sign of weakness.

Keep Healthy Birds

The birds you want to keep are the lively ones that have vigorous appetites—the pullets of good flesh and sturdy build. You want birds that lay more and better eggs. So look for strong deep yellow shanks, for they indicate a bird is rugged and has been raised well. You want birds having wide, fleshy backs, usually a characteristic of a good layer. Examine the combs and wattles—if they are healthy in appearance, not pale or shrunken the bird is probably a good one.

Hens in a rigidly culled flock are usually uniformly high in rate of egg production. What is more, this kind of flock is no feed waster; the mash and grain and grit you pour into the hoppers give each bird maximum nutritive benefits. Feed is wasted on weak chickens because, while they may retain good appetites, their egg production fails to measure up to the cost of the feed they consume.

Mr. H. C. Ellis of Electra, Texas, and formerly of Burkburnett, received word that his father passed away Monday in East Point, Georgia. He left by plane to attend funeral services.

Those communities which have been far-seeing and wise enough to establish municipal light plants will tell of innumerable benefits derived from such projects. They will mention advantages aside from dollars and cents, and they will speak of profitable revenue.
They see the wisdom of owning their own at home. Examination of facts in the light of reason, convinces all that citizens are wise who loyally back municipal ownership by PATRONAGE of home-owned light and power plants.

More telephone service than ever...
FOR MORE PEOPLE THAN EVER...
We've put in more than 190,000 telephones in Texas in the first nine months of this year—nearly twice as many as we connected in the first nine months of 1940.
We're handling a million and a half more local calls a day than a year ago.
And 13 per cent more long distance calls. (Nearly twice as many as before the war.)
Putting in all those telephones and taking care of all those extra calls—regardless of shortages of materials—is one of the biggest jobs the telephone company has ever done.
Best part is that service has remained good on most calls despite heavier-than-ever volumes.
There are some delays but we're working on them—just as we're working hard to serve people waiting for telephones. Service will be better than ever, for everyone, as soon as new equipment can be made and installed.
