HICKS SELLS INTEREST CITY GRO. & MKT. TO HENRY PRINZING

Effective January first, Henry Prinzing became owner of the City Grocery and Market when he bought the interest of his partner, J. N. "Bud" Hicks.

Mr. Prinzing and Mr. Hicks first went into the grocery business here June 12, 1931. The first location was in a 25-foot front building just west of where Boyd Bros. is now located. They started with a small stock and gradually added to it until the building was no longer large enough to accommodate them.

November 8, 1940 the home of the City Grocery and Market was moved to Avenue C, near the bank and post office and where more parking space for customers was available. It still occupies this location, a 50-ft. front brick building, with storage warehouse in the back.

Fixtures in the store are the most modern available. Fresh vegetables are displayed in an electrically refrigerated unit, with full vision glass doors. A deep freeze unit takes care of ice cream and frozen foods. The market department is as complete as modern equipment can make it. There is a large refrigerator room, 10 ft. x 12 ft. for storage. A power slicing machine and other labor saving devices speeds work in this department and makes it possible for one man to wait on a large number of customers in a short while. The meat display counter is one of the most attractive to be found anywhere.

A complete line of fresh vegetables, meats and groceries at all times. Fluorescent lights and automatically controlled heat make shopping in this large store a pleasure.

When asked the reason for the steady growth of this establishment, the former partners look at each other and say, "Well, all we've done is work hard, buy the best quality merchandise we could find, sell it at a reasonable profit and treat our customers with courtesy at all times." Which is a pretty good formula for any successful business.

Mr. Hicks has not made any definite plans for the future.

Mr. O. G. Burnett, president of Hardin P.-T. A., announces there will be a meeting of the organization Thursday, Jan. 16, in the Grade School at 7:30 P. M. Purpose of the meeting is to make try-outs and select the cast for a P.-T. A. negro minstrel and chorus. Men as well as women are wanted at this meeting. Mrs. Bob Kearns will direct the minstrel.

Chief photographer Charles W. Lanz, USN, of Burkburnett, has been awarded the Presidential Unit Citation at a ceremony held during the Commanding Officer's inspection. The award was made by Capt. E. C. Renfro, USN, Commanding Officer of the Naval Air Station, Whiting Field, Fla.

Burk Boy Receives Citation Award

Chief photographer Lanz earned the award serving aboard the USS Bunkerhill during action against the Japanese forces in the Pacific war area. Text of the citation is as follows:

For extraordinary heroism in action against enemy Japanese forces in the air, shore, and afloat in the South, Central, Southwest and Western Pacific from November 11, 1943 to May 11, 1945. Spearheading our concentrated carrier-warfare in the most forward areas, the USS Bunkerhill and her air group struck crushing blows toward annihilating Japanese fighting power, they provided air cover for our amphibious forces, they fiercely countered the enemy's aerial attacks and destroyed his planes, and they inflicted terrific losses on the Japanese in fleet and merchant marine units sunk or damaged. Daring and dependable in combat the Bunkerhill with her gallant officers and men rendered loyal service in achieving the ultimate defeat of the Japanese Empire.

BETWEEN THE DEADLINES

By Harry Dodson

There is just too much to write about this week. That makes it harder than when news is scarce. You can always manufacture something, but withholding live news is difficult.

There is no use saying anything about the weather. Everybody knows that we had six inches of snow on the ground for five or six days, that driving was hazardous, walking dangerous and frozen pipes were numerous. They also know that the thermometer dipped to 12 below zero to set a forty year record in this area and that the number of sub-zero days set some other kind of record. The snow is almost all gone now, so we just won't mention the weather.

A call for help comes from Mrs. L. M. Hicks. She has been cashing the old age pension check for Grandma Waggoner, who is blind, and assisting her in other ways. This week she cashed the check at the bank, put 6 $5 bills, 6 $1 bills and 80c change in the envelope and went by Blankenship Laundry on the way home. The envelope was lost and Mrs. Hicks asks that the finder please leave it at the Star office, as this is the only income Mrs. Waggoner has.

Annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, biggest social get-together of the year, will be held next Thursday night, January 16th, at Town Hall, beginning at 7:15. The crowd will gather at the Methodist church auditorium and go in a body over to the hall. Tickets at $1.50 per plate are limited to 200. Get yours at the bank or at the Manhattan.

J. V. Brookshear will fill the M. C. chair, and you may take that either way you wish. He will do a jam up job.

Rev. James H. Landes, pastor of the First Baptist church of Wichita Falls, will be the principal speaker. He comes highly recommended as a forceful and interesting speaker. A treat awaits those who attend the banquet.

The C. of C. has been very active the past year under the leadership of Chas. A. Morgan, president. He will have a fine report to make.

J. R. Sullivan will not let snow and cold keep him at home indefinitely. He was up town this week hopping around in a manner that belies his 79 years comes January 10th. He was Santa Claus at the American Legion party Christmas Eve and got a lot of pleasure out of it. Mr. Sullivan says sometimes he wonders at the wisdom of teaching the youngsters there is a Santa Claus. He says we teach them a lie when they are little and then beat hell out of them when they grow up if they lie to us.

Have an invitation to attend to Inaugural Reception at Austin on the 21st in honor of Gov. Beauford H. Jester and Lieut.-Gov. Allan Shivers. Have never attended one—yet.

See where manufacturers have started a campaign to increase the length of beds from 74 inches to 78 inches. That is one of the finest suggestions in many years. Being only 73 inches tall, it's quite a feat to sleep straight in a 74 inch bed. Ever try to sleep with your toes sticking straight up while they support 20 some pounds of cover on cold nights? It's not very relaxing to say the least. There is one other way the tall boys can sleep. On their stomach with toes hanging over the end of the mattress, but your toes get pretty numb about four in the morning. Why don't I sleep diagonally across the bed? Nobody but a shorty would ask that question, and then they wouldn't understand the answer.

Anniversary Of The Airplane

Centuries have been linked in distance through the development of the airplane. On December 17, 1903, when the Wright brothers made their first flight, it lasted 12 seconds, covered 120 feet and the speed was about 10 miles an hour. Folks are so air-minded today that it stretches the imagination to believe skeptics of yesterday said of Orville and Wilbur Wright, "it can't be done". To many of us the airplane stands as a new invention and especially wonderful one. While many others, particularly children, take airplanes as routine, accept them as they do the telephone, automobile and electric lights. To them, airplanes have always been as much a part of the sky as clouds and stars. The forward strides made by aviation companies in producing new models, more powerful planes, inaugurating features that put this country in a prominent place in the field, continues to keep aviation new.

War stimulated our production, carried manufacture from the custom-built to the assembly line class. Viewing the airplane as a destructive agent, we recognize it as an important weapon in war. But as airplanes became used for death, so were they instruments of mercy, as the flying ambulances and the swiftness of landing ground troops during war which saved many lives. There is a large range of discussion in this field. But that the airplane is here to stay, none of us in Burk Burnett doubt. The peacetime possibilities for aviation are unlimited. We proudly offer our greetings to aviation on its birthday and to its efforts to make this globe one small world in touch and fellowship with all people.

Community Forests

Cities, Towns, counties and school districts have faithfully made steady progress to reforestation since 1710 when a village of New Hampshire established the first community forest. Our national and state forests have grown through the years but community-owned tracts need furthering by more towns. Not only to protect our reservoirs and watersheds but from an economic benefit to the municipality should we utilize tracts in localities. They play a part in our crop planting plans, further and protect wildlife, use waste-land and promote the vital soil conservation program.

Consider community-owned forests from the standpoint of local economy. Long have European countries kept local tax levies at a lower level through profit from well-managed timberlands. Trees grow to a future harvest of lumber. This results in benevolences to taxpayers who have maintained the arts. Small woodworking industries have been sustained from such. There were about 3,000 community owned forests up to 1940, covering 3 million acres. During the war they weren't promoted. It is time now that we return to this form of conservation.

Goodwin Home Is Scene Of Rites

Of beauty and simplicity was the wedding ceremony read Jan. 2 at the twilight hour, when Miss Maurine Goodwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Goodwin became the bride of Mr. Everett W. Pearson. Only relatives and close friends were present for the double ring ceremony which was read by Rev. A. E. Harrison, pastor of the First Baptist church. The couple stood in an attractive nuptial setting, improvised in the living room decorated with arrangements of greenery and white and blue chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractive in a light blue dress-makers suit, with which she wore navy accessories. She completed her costume with a corsage of white rosebuds. For something old, she wore her mother's pearl earrings which matched her pearl necklace. For something borrowed, she wore a six-pence in her shoe.

Mrs. P. A. Johnston, aunt of the bride, attended her as matron of honor. She was attired in an aqua blue gabardine dress-makers suit. She wore harmonizing accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mr. Virgil Taylor served as best man for the groom.

The musical setting for the ceremony was provided by Miss Blanche Butler, pianist, and Miss Mary Ann Danforth, vocalist. Miss Danforth sang "Because," accompanied by Miss Butler, who also played the traditional wedding selections.

Mrs. Pearson is a graduate of the Burkburnett high school and Mary Hardin-Baylor College. She was a teacher in the public schools and at the present time is employed by the Navy Dept. at the Naval Air Station in Corpus Christi.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Pearson of Texarkana, Texas. He served in the army 47 months with the Combat Engineers, serving 30 months overseas. He was stationed in the European Theatre of War, serving in Africa, Corsica, Sicily, France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Germany and Russia. He was awarded 5 bronze stars, Purple Heart, Driver medal, Good Conduct and Sharpshooters medals.

Mrs. Marion Ragsdale presided at the brides book.

Immediately following the wedding, the brides cake was cut and served from a table decorated to place emphasis on a blue and white color combination. Miss Lemona Walker and Mrs. Athelene Morton presided at the refreshment table.

The bride chose to travel in a smart tailored gray gabardine suit, with which she wore red accessories.

The couple will establish residence at 1733-15th St., Corpus Christi, Texas.

Shower Honors Maurine Goodwin

Thirty-seven hostesses and numerous friends complimented Maurine Goodwin with a pre-nuptial shower Monday night, December 30. The theme of the evening being, a "Winter Wonderland" trip on the Highway of Life. The serving table presented a striking welcome to the entering guests with its lovely lace-covering over blue, with a sparkling white sleigh centerpiece, laden with white flowers and drawn by two reindeer.

Mrs. Sylvia Lohoefer presided at the tea service and Mrs. A. E. Harrison served the cake. Mrs. Dorothy Duke played softly while the guests were being served and seated at a huge table, representing the Highway, which was snow banked, and arrayed with tiny homes, spruce trees, reindeer and sleighs. Miss Goodwin was seated in the place of honor and the House of Pierson displayed before her. Miniature logs with their blue candles and blue sleighs with Maurine and Everett, printed thereon, provided color within the vast whiteness of the winter-world.

Ruth Preston and Vivian Suttles furthered the seasonal theme by singing, Let It Snow, then concluded with To Each His Own. Sidney Gamblin presented two numbers, I Can't Begin To Tell You, and Always.

Quite effective was the gift presentation by Master Danny Boden, who drew into view and stopping before the honoree, a huge glistening sleigh with wedding bells attached, and laden with many lovely gifts, as he sang One Sunday Morning.

Fifty guests braved the icy winds to gain a glimpse of the indoor Winter Wonderland and to wish Maurine and Everett, Bon Voyage along the Highway.

Holiday In Mexico Technicolor Picture At Palace Sun.-Mon.

Bringing a flock of new song hits to the screen, Holiday in Mexico, M-G-M's latest Technicolor musical, opens at the Palace Theatre with a stellar cast headed by Walter Pidgeon, Jose Iturbi, Roddy McDowall, Jane Powell, Ilona Massey and Xavier Cugat.

You, So It's You, Someone To Love Italian Street Song, Yo Te Amo Mucho, Goodnight Sweetheart are a few of the melodic offerings sung in the picture by Miss Massey and Jane Powell.

Set against the colorful background of Mexico City, Holiday in Mexico tells the story of an American ambassador, played by Pidgeon, and his charming 15 year old daughter, played by Miss Powell. Her romantic entanglements, plus her efforts to manage the social affairs of the Embassy, weave into a gay musical plot.

Sunday School, 9:45. Morning Worship, 11. Evening Service, 7. Fellowship meetings: Juniors, 4. Intermediates, 5:30.

In spite of the frigid weather we had fairly good crowds at our services last Sunday. Now that the temperature has moderated so that more people will be able to have transportation we should have a normal attendance. Our church has a full and interesting program for the next few months, and members who have the welfare of the church at heart will be eager to get back into the regular activities it affords.

If you are not attending church come worship with us this Sunday. You will find strength and inspiration from the services and pleasant fellowship with those who worship with you. Make this your church home and enjoy its benefits while you contribute to its progress.

Announcement

I have sold my interest in the City Grocery and Market, effective January 1st, to my business partner, Henry Prinzing. We had been in the grocery business together in Burkburnett since June 12, 1931.

The more than 15 years in business here have been pleasant years and the friendships made during that time will be cherished always.

I can assure my friends that Mr. Prinzing and his employees will maintain the same high standard of service and the same high quality merchandise that customers have always found at the City Grocery and Market.

THANKS AGAIN FOR ALL THE COURTESIES IN THE PAST

New French Law Hits at Sale of Forged Paintings

To prevent the sale of forged paintings, France now has a law under which an official group of art experts passes on the authenticity of every picture put up at public auction.
Furthermore, the seller usually gives the purchaser a written guarantee that he may return the painting within six months if he doubts its authenticity.

Portland Vase Smashed, Yet Increases in Value

The British Museum in London recently purchased, through a private bequest, the Portland Vase which it has had on loan from the Portland family for 135 years, Collier's reports. Ten inches in height and made of blue glass engraved with white figures, this vase was found in a tomb near Rome in the 16th century.
Moreover, in 1845, a lunatic smashed it into some 250 pieces and, although put together by experts, it has since been imperfect. Yet the vase has increased steadily in value.
The price paid for the vase by the museum was not disclosed. However, in 1929, the owner refused an offer of $148,000 for it.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Claims for Back Travel Pay Pass 1/2 Billion; Farm Chiefs Call for Protective Tariff

Released by Western Newspaper Union

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

PORTAL TO PORTAL: Claims Mount

As union claims against industry for back pay for walking to the job or preparing for work on company property mounted to over half a billion, tax experts opined that Uncle Sam may have to bear the burden of the settlements if the firms are permitted to obtain tax credits for such disbursements.

Although John L. Lewis first pointed up the question of so-called "portal to portal" pay for miners traveling to the coal faces underground, the principle was given industry-wide implications with the Supreme court's decision upholding such compensation retroactive to 1933 for employees of the Mount Clemens, Mich., Pottery company.

The Supreme court verdict was followed by a rush of the major CIO unions for such retroactive back pay, with the United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers' union International Harvester for 100 million dollars. Since employees have been paid for a 40 hour week, the unions are asking for overtime pay plus damages.

Firms may be able to charge off back payments to Uncle Sam under provisions of the income tax law permitting companies to carry back net operating losses into the two preceding years and also apply such losses in two succeeding years.
Meanwhile, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce polled its membership on congressional amendment of the fair labor standards act of 1938 under which portal to portal pay has been based. The chamber proposed (1) observance of custom, practice or agreement in different localities or industries as to working rules; (2) provision for relief for unwitting violation of the law, and (3) permission of companies and unions to make compromise settlements.

GEORGIA: Gubernatorial Mix-Up

Ability of the late Gene Talmadge's following to muster full strength when the general assembly convenes was to determine Georgia's next governor.
"Old Gene" himself was scheduled to take office January 14 before his death intervened, creating a situation unparalleled in Georgia's history.

Gov. Arnall Because neither the new or old state constitutions provided for such a contingency, adherents of Gov. Ellis Arnall and "Old Gene" jockeyed for the position.
While Governor Arnall disavowed any intention of taking advantage of the uncertain legal situation to remain in office, he proposed to retain his post until the new pro-Arnall lieutenant governor is sworn in, when he will resign in his favor.

Anxious to obtain the gubernatorial seat, however, "Old Gene's" followers hoped to muster sufficient strength to declare the post vacant at the election canvass when the assembly convened, then name his son, Herman, governor. Although only "Old Gene's" name was on the ballot at the last election, his son received a number of write-in votes to provide for just such a contingency as occurred. Thus, the legislature could turn to Herman as the nominal choice of the people.

TARIFF: Seek Protection

Historically for free trade, the deep south reversed its position in petitioning President Truman and Federal Trade commission for a strong protective tariff for American agriculture.
Signed in behalf of the elected commissioners of agriculture of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, North Carolina, Texas, Tennessee and Virginia, the petition reached Mr. Truman as the government prepared for renegotiation of existing rates in reciprocal trade treaties drawn under the act of 1934 and subsequent extensions.
Declaring that industrially undeveloped nations could pay for American manufactured goods only with agricultural products, the commissioners warned against subjecting U. S. farmers to a flood of foreign commodities and reducing their living standards to a subsistence level. Calling for a trade program fitted into the American economy, the commissioners advocated the exchange of such exportable products as wheat, lard and cotton for rubber, coffee, tea and bananas.

Wisely, the commissioners' petition was national rather than sectional in its nature. Although professing concern for the future of cotton in competition with foreign rayon, nylon and other artificial fibers made in reconverted armament plants, the commissioners also warned that a further lowering of tariff rates would adversely affect cattle, oleomargarine, butter, cheese, fish, eggs, grains, potatoes, peanuts and vegetables.

Dramatically pointing up the effect of cheap foreign competition on American products, the commissioners declared that whereas white and sweet potato starches had been used for the adhesives on the back of stamps and the flaps of envelopes, the adhesive on the stamp bearing the petition was made of imported cassava roots.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS: Red Tape

The sullen Russians continued to keep overseas relations with U. S. military personnel on strictly a formal basis as illustrated in their order to an American naval vessel to clear out of Dairen, Manchuria, within the prescribed 48 hours.

The LC-3 1090 entered Dairen as a diplomatic courier ship to bear supplies and mail to the U. S. consul. Legally, the vessel was permitted to remain only 48 hours, and the Russ ordered the Americans to leave or accept the consequences when it appeared they might be delayed over efforts to obtain landing clearance for a Standard Vacuum Oil company employee, a newspaper correspondent and a magazine photographer.

Russian authorities in control of Dairen had given the U. S. consul the run-around in his attempts to secure permission for the three to land. However, their action stemmed from a fear to grant the clearance without prior approval from their masters in Moscow rather than personal feeling.

QUAKE: Rocks Japan

As hundreds of thousands of Japanese made homeless by earthquake and tidal wave shivered in the wintry air, the U. S. rushed relief to the distressed areas.

Having become used to the shock and terror of wartime B-29 raids, the Japanese accepted the catastrophe with resignation, calmly counting their dead and injured in the thousands and their property damage in the millions. No less than 24 of the 47 prefectures felt the tremors, with the coastal regions of southern Honshu, Shikoku and Awaji islands swept by seven foot walls of water rushing in from the sea.

All of the horror and distress was portrayed by the Tokyo newspaper Asahi in an eyewitness report from Shikoku: First, startled people felt the ground shaking beneath them, then they could hear a great roaring sound. Stumbling from their quaking houses, they rushed for high ground, but many were overtaken by a surging wall of water and their screams rent the air. Some people saw a little girl with a doll crying, "Save me, gentle Buddha," but when they returned to search for relatives the fearful child was missing and all they could find was the doll, wedged between planks on the beach.

At Johnsville, Pa., naval air technicians develop deadly guided missiles of future warfare. Photo shows scientists testing ship-to-shore weapon designed for pin-point bombing at 100 miles. Traveling hundreds of miles an hour, missiles are directed to target through television, radar, radio or devices sensitive to sound, heat and magnetism.

INDO-CHINA: Imperial Headache

France was the latest European power to suffer an imperial headache, with Indo-Chinese natives battling French forces for extension of self-government.

Under a compromise effected last March, France granted self-rule to several provinces but retained control over the rest of the country as a lever for continued dominance. Availing themselves of a well-oiled machine developed under Japanese auspices during the wartime occupation, the native leaders of the Viet Nam (Independence party) have pressed for an extension of their self-rule.

Not yet able to grant all of French Indo-China independence and be assured of the protection of its commercial interests in the rich Far Eastern country, France has been forced to use troops to retain a grip in the absence of an agreeable compromise.

Helping Hand

Since Uncle Sam has dealt generously with Italy, it is looking confidently for more assistance from the U. S. Thus far, the U. S. has agreed to compensate Italy for supporting American invasion troops and furnishing war supplies, and has extended credits for purchase of overseas surplus. In addition, Italy has profited from U. S. contributions to UNRRA and the international bank.

Despite the difficulties presented by shortages of both foodstuffs and industrial materials, both the left and right wings have made political capital of unrest. Latest example was the food riots engineered by Communists in southern Italy. As a result of the political bickering, there has been a resurgence of Fascist sentiment, with Mussolini's former followers growing increasingly bolder.

Leftists also have backed the attacks on pope and church, with the intention of weakening respect for the Catholic doctrine of authority, family and property. However, the rightist dominated government has been quick to fight abusive criticism of the clergy. An editor charged with publishing pornographic cartoons of a friar and unclothed woman was sentenced to two years in jail.

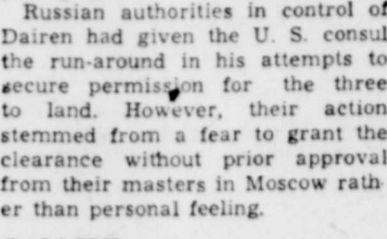

Salvage Army Equipment

At repair shops in quartermaster depots throughout the United States thousands of different kinds of worn or damaged military items ranging from mess kits to mobile bakeries, from shirts to typewriters are being restored to usable condition in one of the biggest peacetime repair jobs ever known.
Savings of $150,000,000 have been accomplished at labor cost of $13,000,000.

RAW MATERIAL: U. S. Reserves

Huge demands during two world wars have drawn heavily upon United States reserves of metals and minerals although the country still has abundant resources of the most essential, according to the New York Trust company.
Great as are its resources, United States reserves of some important metals and minerals have been depleted by unprecedentedly high production during the last five years.

Lift for Milady

Now, we have seen everything in ladies' hats — or have we? Latest creation by Edward Stevenson of Hollywood, Calif., where one can expect almost anything, utilizes Christmas wrappings, etc., which otherwise might go into the wastebasket. This chic number is fashioned from cellophane and metal foil paper, cellophane straws, holly, bells, pine cones and tabs.

III. He Controls (vv. 12-16). After a few days with his family and his disciples, he went down to Jerusalem for the great feast of the Passover. There he found his Father's house being misused and defiled. His holy indignation kindled, he spoke and acted with authority as he drove these "racketeers" out of the temple.

People like to hear about a God of love, one who knows their weaknesses, and is kind toward their infirmities. But we must not forget that God shows his love by a great and holy hatred of sin, and a desire to deliver us from that sin. This means that he must and will deal in drastic fashion with those who persist in their sin.

This is a majestic picture. The Son of God and Son of Man steps into the center of this unholy traffic and with mighty, holy indignation (not anger) drives it out.
Why did these men who were so deeply entrenched and so eager to make money flee before the wrath of a lone man? It was only because they recognized divine authority. He has a right to control men, for he is God.

It is not a mere matter of reform, for here he was cleansing the temple, the very heart of the life of the Jewish people. He dealt with a present situation to establish an eternal principle.
We cannot help but admire this magnificent Jesus, but the question comes to us today, Has he been given his proper authority over and in our lives?

THE AUTHORITY OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—John 2:1-16. MEMORY SELECTION—Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it.—John 2:5.

The witness of John concerning Jesus as the Son of God had been attested by the divine knowledge of Jesus and his personal call to his disciples. Now the time had come for him to declare his authority as God by an overt act which all men could see and understand.

It is interesting to note that for this, the first of his miracles, he chose a festive occasion in the home. He had been invited to be a guest at a wedding (v. 2). Those who ask him to be present at their marriage may confidently expect him to be present and to add greatly to the real joy of the occasion.

The authority of our Lord shows here in three different ways:

I. He Commands (vv. 1-8). He was neither host nor was he the one charged with responsibility for the serving, but when the time came for him to do his mighty act the servants were ready to obey that admonition of his mother and do what he said.

Mary may have had some responsibility for serving the guests. Why then had she not looked to the supply of wine? Apparently she who knew of what had taken place at the baptism of Jesus and immediately after, and having in her heart the memory of what occurred at his birth (Luke 2:14), thought it time for him to do some great miracle.

He was indeed ready to do so, but in his own way. "What is that to thee?" in verse 4 really carries the meaning: "This is a matter which I must care for in my own way," and he did.

We do well to seek grace to be like the servants who did what the Lord commanded, even though it did not seem to be a sensible solution to fill the jars with water. Obedience without hesitation and without question is the price of blessing!

II. He Creates (vv. 9-11). The act of creation was already done, but now the fact came to light. He had changed the water into wine, the juice of the grape. This was not a case of adding something or diluting the remaining wine. Here the water, as he decreed it even without the use of a spoken word, was no longer there, but the best of wine, Jesus was and is the Creator. He was present at the beginning of all things (note the "let us" in Gen. 1:26), and it is declared that "by him were all things created" (Col. 1:16, 17). In fact, "without him was not anything made" (John 1:3).

What he created was good, so good in fact, that the one in charge of the feast remarked about it. The Lord never does anything by halves, nor in a careless or defective way. He made a great quantity of wine (probably more than 100 gallons) and it was of the greatest excellency.

Some would read verse 10 as though our Lord were here helping along a drunken wedding party, but of course that is not true. The steward was simply recognizing the ordinary rule of serving whereby one uses the best one has until there is no more like it, then takes the inferior provision. To use this verse to excuse drunkenness is only possible for those "eager to mar, if by means they could, the image of perfect holiness which offends and rebukes them" (Trench, quoted by Renski).

III. He Controls (vv. 12-16). After a few days with his family and his disciples, he went down to Jerusalem for the great feast of the Passover. There he found his Father's house being misused and defiled. His holy indignation kindled, he spoke and acted with authority as he drove these "racketeers" out of the temple.

People like to hear about a God of love, one who knows their weaknesses, and is kind toward their infirmities. But we must not forget that God shows his love by a great and holy hatred of sin, and a desire to deliver us from that sin. This means that he must and will deal in drastic fashion with those who persist in their sin.

This is a majestic picture. The Son of God and Son of Man steps into the center of this unholy traffic and with mighty, holy indignation (not anger) drives it out.
Why did these men who were so deeply entrenched and so eager to make money flee before the wrath of a lone man? It was only because they recognized divine authority. He has a right to control men, for he is God.

It is not a mere matter of reform, for here he was cleansing the temple, the very heart of the life of the Jewish people. He dealt with a present situation to establish an eternal principle.
We cannot help but admire this magnificent Jesus, but the question comes to us today, Has he been given his proper authority over and in our lives?

Household Hints

To restore and preserve cane seats treat lightly with linseed oil. Be sure all excess oil has been wiped away.

Cloth-covered suitcases can be restored to newness by covering the fabric with a coat of high grade lacquer.

To prevent windows from sticking, rub a little floor wax in the window sash groove.

To remove the metal base of an electric light bulb that has broken in the socket, push a cork into the base and turn it.

Winter window washing is made a lot easier by adding denatured alcohol to the water to prevent freezing. Wipe quickly with crushed tissue paper.

Still Second Rating

The touring company had never been of the best, and when they reached the stage of playing to the family of the man who owned the little country theater, and found that even they left at the end of the first act, it was decided to break up. Two of the actors set out to work their way back to New York.

They were lucky enough to get a passage on a barge, and when passing through a lock they overheard this conversation:
"Load of fertilizer and a couple of actors, Bert."

The two actors looked at each other in silence, then sighed deeply. "Cyril," said one, "shall we never top the bill?"

GOOD LAYERS ARE CHEAPER TO FEED
The faster your laying flocks fills a case of eggs, the less feed and more profit you'll have in every case. A flock of one hundred hens that is in 40 per cent production will consume about 26 pounds of feed daily. A flock of the same size that is in 70 per cent production eats about 32 pounds. The high producers have nearly twice as many eggs while consuming less than 20 per cent more feed. Looking at it in another light: a flock in 40 per cent production requires 9 days to fill a case of eggs while consuming 234 pounds of feed; a flock in 70 per cent production fills a case in 5.1 days and eats only 163.2 pounds of feed.

Less Food Per Egg
It is apparent that a good laying hen, while she eats more than her slow-laying sister, is more economical because she requires less food to lay each egg. The poultryman's aim should be to keep feed consumption high thus encouraging high egg production. At the same time, he must be wary of the occasional loafing layer that eats a lot but lays very little. Cull these layers.

There are any number of factors influencing feed consumption. Some of the things you can do to increase consumption are: feed mash and grain more often during the day, stir the mash more frequently, provide increased feeding space, feed wet mash at noon or at night, and some others. Perhaps a tonic that will serve to sharpen their appetites will help.

Quality Feed Preferred
Remember, however, that good laying depends not only on the quantity of feed that is consumed, but on its quality as well. Make sure that the flock is getting a balanced ration of properly blended, high quality ingredients.

Water is important. An egg is about 65 per cent water, so the hen that is unable to get enough water to drink cannot lay as often as it would if it drank enough to satisfy its body needs. Keep water before the hens at all times, and make sure there is enough space at the waterers so that none of the birds is crowded away.

Feed and water are of extreme importance, but there are other factors that may affect laying just as much. A drafty, wet laying house, lice, worms, anything that creates discomfort, lack of rest or discourages feeding will cause a drop in rate of production.

HANDS AT WORK.

Just like a true artist can tell a story of their owner. These, for example, express most age and patient workmanship.

There's a certain technique in photography of hands at work. Still and motion pictures in exhibition, street scenes, portraits. The reason for this lies in the fact that hands are expressive. One need not be a painter to read the story told by a picture such as this.

Hands of this sort are made to match the same. You can make different portraits, using one light, one near the camera and slightly below it and the second somewhat higher than the camera and placed at the light side at the subject at a 45 degree angle. This second light serves as a modeling light, bringing out the contours of the hands and fingers.

Generally speaking, with lighting of this type a little long exposure will be used. This is because you will want to use a relatively small lens aperture, such as aperture gives greater range of sharpness, and helps bring out the texture and tiny wrinkles of the skin.

Today's picture, for example, was made with a lens aperture of f/16. The shutter speed was 1/125 of a

SAYS BELGIAN WAR BRIDE...

* "Des facilites dont n'aurais jamais re"

She's still not entirely used to the change in Texas weather of her native Belgium, but pretty Mrs. Josephine Restivo, ex-Army Staff Sergeant Sam L. Restivo, is enthusiastic in her praise of the convenience of living in this land of abundant, low-cost gas service.

"Convenient? I'd never dreamed of it!" says Mrs. Restivo. "Sam told me many things about the South, but he never thought to mention natural gas service. I guess it's because he's always been used to it—and has just taken it for granted without appreciating how grand it is."

Yes, it's true... United Gas service is so dependable, so cheap, that most of us seldom give it credit for the comforts and conveniences it provides. It takes newcomers like Mrs. Restivo to remind us of the real values we all enjoy from our natural gas service.

UNITED
