BIG BOYS GETTING MOST NEWSPRINT

Yes, there has been a real shortage of newsprint paper building in the near future acfor a long time. As usual, there was discrimination. The cording to plans made at the government used more paper than was necessary. The big meeting last Tuesday night. dailies and magazines were the best customers and the easiest to supply. The small newspapers took the raps, and they still are getting the shortend of the deal.

Evidently less than 15 per cent of the total output of newsprint is sufficient to take care of all Family Dailies and Weeklies printed outside the metropolitan areas. United States Senator Capehart is an energetic champion of 'ye small papers," and he holds an advantageous post on the Senate Small Business Committee, which has close connections with the U.S. Department of Commerce. Editors and publishers who feel an urge to push for their rights, could help to do a useful job by telling their own Representatives and Senators that "now is the time to come to the aid of their party.

T. HERBERT MINGA, Pastor

This Sunday will be Palm Sunday. A good many persons have expressed their intention of uniting with our church on Palm Sunday and Easter Sunday. Services will be held in homes during the pre-Easter week at which the pastor will discuss the events at the Last Supper Jesus held with his disciples. Let everyone who enjoys this type of meeting attend at least one of these services: At Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Melton's Monday night; At Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McKinnis' Tuesday night; at Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Henry's Wednesday night; and at Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rigby's Thursday night. The hour is 8. On Good Friday afternoon we will have the communion service in the church from 4:00 until 7:00. Come at any time during these hours and stay as long or short a time as you wish. Our Easter offering this year is to go for Methodist student centers at the state colleges and universities in Texas. A letter has gone out to members of the church explaining this offering. Give your contribution to a member of the committee or bring it with you on Easter

Do not fail to enter into all morning. the Easter activities of our church. Attend the services this Sunday. You will be glad you came. You need the church and the church needs you.

LOUIS E. STARR monder-in-Chief V. F. W. of the U. S.

America's millions of overseas veterans, you men who fought for Freedom on the battlefronts of the world. World War II is over, but your job is not done. Perhaps you realize that, from what you see around you in America today.

"The V. F. W.—our country's oldest, largest, and strongest order of overseas fighters—needs you. We need you to take over and manage an organization that has been built up since 1899. Hundreds of thou-sands of your fighting comrades are already in V. F. W., doing just that. Tomorrow and destiny won't wait . . . you have to act . . . yours is the challenge."

HELP CHICKS GET A GOOD START

After receiving his new chicks d getting them comfortably ettled in the brooder house, how ould the poultryman proceed om there to bring the little pirds safely through their first few weeks of life? Baby chicks e tender creatures which are ighly susceptable to disease, and insequently the care they are iven in the brooder house neans a lot of determining how any or how few of them will lie before reaching maturity.

First, provide plenty of room or the chicks - at least one square foot of floor space for every two or three birds. A 10'x12' house is about right size for a brood of 250 chicks.

Have the floor of the house overed with one to three inches of clean, absorbant litter. Stir the litter frequently to keep it loose so moisture will evaporate. Add thin layer each week, and renove all wet litter as soon as it

Brood the chicks away from older birds. Adult chickens, although they may appear healthy and normal, frequently carry infections which can be transmitted to the chicks.

Erect a hover guard around the hover to prevent the chicks from straying away from the warmth of the brooder stove and to eliminate floor drafts. This es high - roofing paper, galvanized tin or boards will do as material for the guard. During the first day it should form a circle one foot outside the edge of the hover. Gradually it should be moved back until on the fifth or sixth day it can be removed entirely

Give the chicks feed and water, as soon as they are received It may be helpful at first to place their feed on egg flats to teach them how to eat. Use regular chick-size feeders after the first few days, about six 2-foot feeders for every 250 birds. Six quart size waterers are needed for a Brooder stove temperature at the start should be 90 to 95 at the edge of the hover, two inches above the floor. Reduce the temperature about five degrees each week until a temperature of between 60 and 75 degrees is reached. Above all, keep the house clean and sanitary by frequent cleaning and disinfecting especially when diseases threaten to break out in the brood.

Right Solution! You can beffer disinfect brooder houses with Dr. Salsbury's PAR-O-SAN because it's efficient and it's pleasant to use! No "dippy" odor s, for "he who saves his life loses it". It is a strange paradox, but everlastingly men are strong not to bear their own burdens, but to carry a Cross for others; will find God at their side to sustain them when they fall beneath their own ens. Men were never meant to carry their burdens alone; that is what God is Likewise God was never meant to bear the world's load alone; that is what is for. So it is a wonderful partnership, this company of God and his human JESUS TRANSFIGURED THE CROSS FOREVER, TURNING A SYMBOL SUFFERING INTO A SYMBOL OF TRIUMPHANT LIFE. Every man who s a Cross on his heart will find good company; he will walk with the Son of who forever walks with God. How terrible is any Cross that a weary man carry alone, the more terrible because he does not need to carry it alone! Christian Gospel tells of a Man who died for us and of a God who was red in the love of Calvary as nowhere else in the world. Our God lives with us for us, and in us, if we allow Him.
