Plums for Xmas

Victor Van'Loth is looking forward to having plum pudding Christmas. From fresh plums picked from his own yard.

This week he brought a limb from the tree which is covered with blossoms. They should mature about Christmas.

Victor said the tree was on the North side of his house and he believed it got so cold last winter it is just now beginning to thaw out. The last few days were sunny and warm and old Mother Nature told the tree it was safe to put on blossoms.

City-Wide Youth Revival To Be Held August 17-21

Stanley Howard

"It's A Wonderful Life" at Palace Theatre Sunday

Sunday and Monday the Palace Theatre will feature "Frank Capra's 'It's A Wonderful Life.'" The story concerns the drama of a man who had everything but money.

Starring in the picture are James Stewart and Donna Reed. Other players are Lionel Barrymore, Thomas Mitchell and Henry Travers.

Short subjects will be Fox News and No. 94 Tom and Jerry Cat Concerto.

Lions Club

Lions Jim Ady and Bernard Buck brought the program Tuesday night, and presented Mrs. Owens, English instructor at Iowa Park, in several readings, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. James Sewell, also of Iowa Park.

Visiting Lions were Curtis Sewell and Miles Hines of Iowa Park. Mr. Hines brought his wife as a guest.

Attendance is still off due to vacations. Next week Ted Swinford and Wallace Scott will be program chairmen.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Wofford spent Sunday with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jordan in Markley, Texas. Their little granddaughter, Frances accompanied them home for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brooks, former residents of Burkburnett, who have been living in Artesia, California, have moved back here.

A city-wide youth revival, sponsored by the young people of the First Baptist Church, will be held on the lawn of the First Baptist Church from Sunday, August 17th, through Thursday, August 21st, at 8:00 P. M. All youths are cordially invited and urged to give careful consideration in supporting the youth movement.

Our goal in this revival is threefold: 1. to win the lost; 2. to call out the called; 3. to renew the allegiance of the saved. There will be three young men from out of town to lead the services. These men come from schools within our state. They are Stanley Howard, Richard Brannon and Jess Moody.

Stanley Howard is a senior at the Southwestern Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth. He is majoring in English and Bible. He is active in music, athletics and BSU work. He plans to make foreign missions his life's work.

Richard Brannon is a sophomore at Baylor University. He is majoring in Bible and English and plans to be a preacher. He played on the Baylor basketball team during the 1946-47 season. In 1947 he spoke at the Waco Youth Revival. He was with the Merchant Marines for a year and a half.

Reverals like this are sweeping the country, with record-breaking crowds in almost every town. Let's have a good one in Burkburnett too.

First Baptist Church

A. E. Harrison, Pastor

The Youth Revival will start at the First Baptist Church Sunday, August 17th, and will run through the 21st. This is not a revival for the Young People of the Baptist Church alone, but is for all the young people of the community. All sermons will be by young men who are attending the Seminary studying for the ministry. The music will be under the leadership of a young man who is attending the Seminary studying for leadership in this type of work for the Lord.

We, the older people, of the First Baptist Church, extend to one and all, young and old, a hearty invitation to come worship with us during this Youth Revival. We know it will do your heart good to hear these young people and watch them at work for the Lord.

Let's let these young people know that we are behind them one hundred per cent by coming out to Sunday School Sunday morning. We should have at least 400 in Sunday School Sunday morning. With everybody working we can have more. Attend Sunday School and then come out to the services every night next week. Only five nights. We will be looking for you. Supt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hinkle and children, and Miss Vera Anderson of Wichita Falls, are spending two weeks visiting relatives in Altamont and Norris City, Illinois. In Altamont they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson and family.

Mrs. B. M. Cropper arrived home Wednesday night after visiting in Houston.

Celebrates Birthday With Lawn Party

Fred A. Fewin Jr. was honored with a lawn party at his home, Thursday evening, August 7th, celebrating his eighteenth birthday.

Twenty young people were present to wish him happy returns of the day and assist in disposing of the ample supply of cherry pies, home made ice cream and cake.

A "stunt" gift was planned by the young men and added much merriment to the evening entertainment, after which a lovely gift was presented from the group as a whole.

Foot Ball Outing Camp to Start On Monday, Aug. 18

Today Athletic Director Don Short and H. D. Smith went to the Wichita Mountains to choose a site for the Football Outing Camp. The location will probably be at Craterville Park, just West of Lawton, Oklahoma.

This outing camp will be a re-conditioning undertaking for this year's foot ball boys. The process will be for both physical and mental betterment.

The services of Claude McDonnell, who is connected with the Palace Cafe, have been secured. Mr. McDonnell will secure and prepare all food for the boys while they are in the camp. He specialized in that type of work while in the army and had charge of officers mess. His rating was S-Sgt. and worked for the Commanding General of the 1st Calvary Division in Aska, Japan. In addition to his duties with the General, he supervised mess for the General Staff. Claude was cited with an Army Commendation Ribbon by Maj.-Gen. William C. Chase. Mr. Short considers they are indeed fortunate to have the services of such a competent man.

Mr. Short plans to leave with the boys Monday, August 18 and return Saturday, August 30th. On Sunday, August 24th, a barbecue dinner is planned for the boys and their parents. Religious services will be held at the camp in the afternoon.

Note of Appreciation

We are truly grateful for our many friends in and around Burkburnett who have been so kind to us during our brief visit here. We want you to know how much we appreciate the many who have dropped by to see us, and for the lovely flower arrangements. To all of you, who by your kindness, made our stay a pleasant one, may we take this means to extend our sincere thanks.

RESOLUTION OF THE WICHITA COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION

THE SUPREME COURT OF TEXAS has held:

The practice of law is a matter of vital interest to the public. The lawyer is primarily engaged in the preservation of the liberties and property of the people and the administration of justice in which is one of the primary purposes of government. As society has become more compact and complex, the lawyer's role has necessarily become more complex, requiring skill in its application. The legislature in recognition of this fact has from time to time increased the legal attainments required for admission to the bar. These safeguards have been deemed necessary to protect the public against the loss of liberty and property rights through ill advised incompetent practitioners. It is readily apparent that to serve no useful purpose to require high standards of efficiency for members of the legal profession who have not attained these standards of efficiency to be permitted to practice the arts of the law. Also, the relation between attorney and client is intimate one, involving the highest degree of trust and in which as a consequence, there is unlimited opportunity for fraud on the part of the lawyer. It is apparent therefore, that those who are entrusted with the opportunities of such position should be possessed of a high degree of integrity . . ."

AGAIN SAID:
It would be useless to establish high standards of efficiency for members of the profession if those who do not meet them, and therefore not bound by such standards, could practice the arts of the profession. The public has a vital interest in the regulation of the practice of law for the benefit and protection of the public as a whole, and the legislation above referred to should be adopted in furtherance of a wholesome public policy.

It has been brought to the attention of this Bar Association that there are in this County divers persons not licensed to practice law, who, because of custom, inadvertance, or indifference, are preparing legal instruments and documents, contracts, wills, deeds, notes, mortgages, trusts, releases, transfers, mechanic's and lienmen's liens, etc., and-or giving legal advice; and there has also been brought to the attention of this Association numerous instances in which such actions and-or instruments and documents, prepared by persons not licensed to practice law, have caused loss or jeopardy of valuable property or interests of individuals, and in some instances, placed in jeopardy the welfare of the public, and it is conceived the duty of this Bar Association to call attention to the public of the dangers attendant to allowing persons unqualified to practice law, to advise them on legal matters or prepare legal instruments; and to call attention to the persons and-or firms, who have occasion for, or contemning advice on legal matters or preparing such legal instruments (to which they are not a party) of the public and the civil and criminal liabilities which may be incurred by them by participating in such practices;

BEFORE, be it resolved by the Wichita County Bar Association that the matter of such illegal practice of law be called to the attention of the general public, as well as those persons who may hereafter contemplate, engaging in such illegal practice, publishing a copy of this resolution in all local newspapers each week for two consecutive weeks.

LET'S MAKE THIS DREAM COME TRUE

New Machine Increases Tube Safety

In a remarkable demonstration of the effectiveness of a new tube splicer, a 16 x 5.00-8 industrial tube was inflated 19.25 times above its normal capacity, by engineers of the experimental division, the General Tire & Rubber Company.

Before inflation the wall gauge of the tube was 90/1000 of an inch thick and after inflation the thickness had been reduced to 10/1000 of an inch. Not only does the test prove the strength of the splice, but it also shows the increased adhesion of the valve to tube.

Designed by Max Engler, and demonstrated by Harold Lewis, right, and Harvey Scott, the new development gives General Tire, which pioneered pneumatic industrial tire usage, the industry's most advanced method of sealing industrial tubes.

VOICE FROM THE PAST

The Lincoln papers that have been sealed for 28 years, are now open to the public for consumption. There is no revealing of items that are startling, no uncovering of political intrigue of that era that history has not recorded. There were five double safes full of these papers, entrusted to the Library of Congress by the son of Abraham Lincoln, in 1919.

There are documents that show the interference of "petticoat politicians", that those closest to Lincoln failed to understand him or to appreciate his wisdom. He had much trouble keeping peace between his Army and Navy. He was wise enough to see the hostility and the shortcomings of those politicians who fought his every step. He had a special pigeon hole of his desk where he kept the many threats that were made on his life.

We never lose interest in the life of this patient man from the backwoods, who has been an example to democracy through the years. These personal records benefit the nation, give us an insight to the vast problems that confronted him. History will add more pages of the greatness of Abraham Lincoln.

WORMS FOUND IN ALL FLOCKS

It is a rare flock of chickens that is completely free of worms. Indeed, one is not far from wrong in assuming that worm parasites can be found wherever poultry raising is practiced.

Most poultrymen begin to suspect worms only when their chickens develop symptoms that are visible to the eye. In reality, such symptoms are an indication that the affected birds are heavily ridden by parasites and that the infestations are so severe that the over-all health of each bird is lowered in marked degree. When worms in great numbers infect a bird, the health of the bird may be damaged beyond hope of complete recovery; and even death may result.

The Worm Cycle

Of course there are thousands of flocks which are healthy in appearance and give no indications of worminess; yet somewhere in each of these flocks there are apt to be worm parasites. There may not be enough of them to cause visible ill effects among the chickens, but the worms are there—and they are dangerous because they multiply so rapidly, particularly during the summer season, that they may soon create wormy symptoms where none exists today.

they eat worm eggs in an intermediate host (insect) or from the soil, litter or feed. Inside the chicken these eggs hatch, producing more worms which reach maturity in the intestinal tract and lay more eggs. These eggs are passed in the droppings, completing the worm cycle.

Extremely Prolific

Some types of worms are said to lay up to 50,000,000 eggs each—So if only a tiny fraction of these eggs lodge and hatch inside a chicken there is a strong possibility that a heavy infestation may develop unless the flock manager takes counter action.

Because of the nature of the worm cycle, the obvious way to avoid worm damage is to practice ceaseless sanitation. It is when birds are reared in filth that the worm threat is most dangerous.

Threw Old Shoes, Rice at Weddings in Ancient Times

Our habit of throwing old shoes at weddings originated in the mysterious East. Nowadays at the ceremony, no bridegroom would dream of batting his beloved over the head with his shoe. But after the Asiatic duo were pronounced one, the groom straightway swatted his spouse with his slipper, symbol of authority, to publicly announce her obedience to him.

The ancient Anglo-Saxon convention required the bride's father to fling his daughter's slipper after the bridal carriage to signify that the authority under which his child had lived had been transferred to a new master.

The old Roman practice of making bridal offerings of corn, symbol of plenty, is recreated in our pelting the newlyweds with rice.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Good grouping makes a charming and lifelike shot that tells a story of the morning's mail with news and snapshots from home.

MORE THAN ONE

ONE of the pitfalls of picture-taking—yet one that can easily be avoided—is what we call a group shot. Several of my friends who are casual snapshoters frequently go astray here. They may make a beautiful snap of a child playing with a toy. But get three or four children in a group and my friends want to line them up.

But three persons standing idly staring into a camera look no better than one person doing so. In fact, they may look worse. For in a picture of this sort all the faces compete for attention. Such a picture lacks unity.

Newspaper photographers long ago worked out a simple solution to this problem. If you study the groups of three or four pictured in papers you spot it easily. Generally the news cameramen pose their subjects so that one is talking and the others in the group are looking at him, listening.

Today's picture offers a similar means of good grouping. None of the girls in the snapshot are watching the camera. Instead, the attention of all three is focused on the snapshots the one girl holds. The shot is a natural one; all three subjects are behaving in a normal fashion.

And that's the key to good group pictures. Make them natural. When two people get together they don't stand shoulder to shoulder, facing the same direction. They face each other, chat, look over a book, a letter, or a paper—and that's how your pictures should show them.

Not only are such snaps charmingly lifelike, but they tell stories of their own. And because they "say" something, they are more interesting than a mere record shot.

You're on your own this year so far as home canning sugar is concerned! How much you have for canning depends upon how much you save. As this is being written, the revised rationing system increases the amount of sugar allowed each individual but makes no provision for additional allotments for home canning.

So it's entirely up to you to establish your own system of rationing, setting aside a certain amount from each individual's allotment for putting up home-canned foods.

If you can't possibly, even by self-imposed rationing, have enough sugar to put up all the food you want with as much sugar as you'd like, then you can fall back on the sugar stretching methods used with such good results during the war.

Housewives learned then that fruits for pies, puddings and gelatin desserts keep just as well without sugar, although it's advisable to use a little sugar, if possible, with light colored fruits in order to preserve color. They learned, too, that a combination of corn sirup and granulated sugar gives excellent results. Those who enjoy the taste of honey learned to use it as a sugar extender. Use of saccharin is barred of course because it has a tendency to produce an unpleasant taste.

Home canners have also learned that they can use brown sugar, maple sugar and sirup in butters, jams and spreads, although these are not satisfactory for other canning.

Putting up some amount of fruit without sugar is a good idea because you then have it on hand to make into jams and jellies as needed.

NUMBER ONE BODYGUARD

A photographer of the cruiser USS Toledo snapped this head bodyguard of His Highness Amir Saud bin Abdullah and his assistant during the visit of the Amir of Hasa to Toledo at Ras at Tanura, Saudi Arabia. The occasion was the call of the Amir and members of the Royal Family on the USS Toledo, which served as flagship, later departed for the USS Fall River as flagship for Rear Admiral A. M. ...

Something New

For the first time in the history of the United States a President has vetoed a bill passed by Congress for reduction of taxes. Traditionally, it has been considered proper for Congress to hold the purse strings and determine expenditures. Consequently, when Congress has spoken on the subject the President has always accepted the verdict with regard to lowering taxes. This time the bill passed both Houses with a large majority and still was vetoed by the President—something new.

Financial experts are now predicting a considerable surplus in the budget at the end of the fiscal year. This happens because more income from taxes is being realized than was expected. Moreover, Congress has succeeded in cutting down proposed expenditures a great deal. Consequently, the reduction of four billion dollars in taxes could have been made and at the same time a large payment on the national debt.

Soaring Tax Load
 The total tax bill of the nation is now running just about one-third of the total amount of money earned by the people of the nation. This means that one-third of the average income of the average individual is going for taxes. It means that one-third of every man's income directly or indirectly goes back to the government in taxes. This is a dangerously high tax rate for peace time, and if continued can be ruinous to the economy of this nation. In fact, no nation can be expected to prosper under that kind of tax load—not for very long.

President Truman, in commenting on the tax bill, said there was already sufficient cash available for "necessary investment and business expansion." It should be remembered however, that America didn't become great by making only what the government considered "necessary investment and business expansion." The government did not pronounce as "necessary" the development of our great western railroads.

Neither did government pronounce "necessary" the development of the great automobile industry. The government did not pronounce "necessary" the production of a cheap automobile made possible by Henry Ford, General Motors and others who had similar dreams and who made capital investments beyond what the government announced as "necessary."

No Brakes Needed
 From personal contact with industrialists and financiers I am thoroughly convinced that new ventures are entirely too few. Much capital is being held back because of various discouragements including high taxes and uncertain industrial relations. Had these brakes been on during preceding generations they would have prevented the development of the railroads, the automobile industry, the refrigeration industry, and the airplane industry. Our nation would have been much poorer today and we would have been living on a lower income level.

If we are going to have a prosperous economy ten years from now, taxes should be lightened immediately and industrial relations tremendously improved. We must look ahead to anticipate our needs. We can go along making "necessary investment and business expansion" and move into poverty and mediocrity, slipping gradually backward. If our nation is to remain great, free men must be able to dream their own dreams and make new ventures.

Contest Winner "Brands" His Prize

A pioneer of the auto industry, hunted throughout the nation in a contest to discover the oldest Chevrolet truck in America, turned up, appropriately, in the possession of a Montana homesteader. The venerable vehicle, vintage of 1918, was still serving Rancher Leslie A. Storey, of Jordan, Mont., whose ranch lies 18 miles from a typical "last frontier" town. The award for owning the oldest licensed and operating truck was a new Chevrolet "advance-design" model, which Storey "brands" here with his distinctive Circle-Heart brand. It was presented to him by J. W. Burke, manager of Chevrolet's truck department, as Mrs. Storey and Montana cowgirl Merle Spears (right) look on. Nearly 7,000 old-time Chevrolet trucks were entered in the contest won by this vehicle, which was one of 384 built by the division in 1918, its first year of truck production.

Farm Bureau Notes

C. A. Morgan of Burk Burnett, president of the Wichita County Farm Bureau, directed the business session of that organization held on the lawn of the Iowa Park Methodist Church Monday evening when plans were laid for the fall round-up. T. J. Pace, county organization chairman, will head the project, with Wymore Downing of Wichita Falls, C. A. Morgan, Ed Foster of Electra, and George Lewis of Iowa Park as team captains. Each captain will secure ten community workers, who will meet twice before the round-up period for training and information.

District meetings are scheduled for the latter part of September and the first two weeks in October, with the state-wide kick-off slated for October 23rd. November 6 is the date set for the annual county meetings with the state annual meeting called for November 17 in Amarillo.

Reports on the recent Training School were given by G. R. McNeil, county agent, Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, and Mrs. M. L. Hines, which were indicative that Farm Bureau enthusiasm in Texas is going up.

Loys Barbour, state director of sales, gave a resume of the steps taken so far in the launching of the Automobile Casualty Insurance Co. and set October 1 as the date for its beginning to function. Texas, Arkansas, Mississippi and Florida are the states co-operating in the project.

Good Sheep Valuable Help To the Farmer

Many Countries Have Developed Their Own Special Shepherd Breeds

In the handling of large flocks of sheep on the farm, a good herd dog oftentimes accomplishes the work of two or three men, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

An old saying goes that "There is no good flock without a good shepherd, and there is no good shepherd without a good dog." In Scotland, where the work of the sheep dog has reached near perfection, no shepherd would consider selling, as he would feel himself helpless without his trained ally. The sight of a small black and white Border Collie driving a flock of sheep along a road or through a village in a calm, business-like manner is so common in that country as to attract no attention whatsoever.

While it is believed that the dog's first association with man was as his hunting companion and helper, certainly his second trust was as guardian of mankind's flocks and herds. Though there was little communication between primitive peoples, the dog's ability as herder and guardian was early discovered and utilized by many different races and tribes. Many countries have developed shepherd breeds, and while these vary widely in size and appearance, their work is identical. Belgium produced the Belgian Sheepdog and the Bouviers de Flandre. The Briard comes from France. Hungary developed the Pulik and the Komondorok. The Welsh Corgi, Old English Sheepdog, Border Collie, Shetland Sheepdog and Collie all originated in the British Isles. The German Shepherd and the Giant Schnauzer are, of course, products of Germany. The Australian Sheepdog, or Kelpie, has proven his value in the rugged sheep-raising country "down under." The Samoyede, though generally considered a sledge dog, has also been used for the herding of reindeer on the tundras of Siberia.

In England, Scotland and America the Border Collie, which has been bred for herd work for 300 years, is the most frequently used sheep dog. The Border Collie is known for intelligence, obedience, and working ability. Standing about 18 inches at the shoulder, this dog has a dense coat of black with white markings on the collar, feet and tail tip. Weights run from thirty to forty pounds. The Border Collie's head is shorter and broader, and his eyes larger, than those of his big cousin, the Scotch Collie.

Puppies that come from working stock frequently display an interest in sheep as early as seven or eight weeks of age. The first lesson is usually taught at three to four months, when the puppy is taught to lie down on signal and to walk at heel on command. Training is simplified if the young dog can be allowed to follow the example of a well-schooled older dog, but many fine sheep dogs have been trained without ever having seen another dog work. The education of a sheep dog requires both time and patience, but once his dog is trained, the farmer or herdsman will wonder how he ever managed without his four-footed helper. Those interested in obtaining instructions for the training of a sheep dog may have them free of charge by writing to the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.
