WOMEN IN UNIFORM

It seems pretty certain that the Army, Navy and Air Force branch of feminine units, will become a permanent organization by the passing of a bill in the House. War proved the worth of Waacs, Waves and lady Marines. They performed their duties in a manner to make all America proud. Since the war a number have continued to serve and in many additional fields. In fact, their jobs are many that were performed by men during actual war service. They are carrying out successfully, 230 different tasks and the Army has a list of 400 jobs they could fill, in time of war. We pay tribute to those who are still in uniform and to their sisters who join them through enlistment.

POLITICS AGAIN

Political differences of Southern Democrats over the Civil Rights commission, has stirred both parties, in the North and the South. Racial disunity has led to disruption before, has long governed the actions of people of this country, in spite of the great universal need of understanding. Religious differences have reached a far better footing through efforts of Catholic, Jewish and Protestant organizations, working together for the common good. Brotherhood is stressed in all creeds, is pressed into usage by those who realize that only through brotherhood is the world to have peace. The flare-up over the proposal of anti-lynch, anti-poll tax and anti-discrimination laws which affect race relations, has pushed Southern governors into taking a formal stand in protest. Each of us know how we stand on the subject of lynching, poll tax, discrimination. What we must remember is that this is a presidential year, when such dissension and turmoil is apt to be turned into a major issue. Much can happen, politically, when the fight for power of office, is on. We should bear in mind, that it is difficult to convince the United Nations of our good works, if we can't show them we are a united states.

THE FARMER TAKES IT

Farmers have been warned for some time to be prepared for a drop in prices, reminded that a wartime peak would not last for ever. With the recent decline there are those who wonder if the farmer is prepared to take it, whether he has provided against just such an occasion. Many farmers around Burk Burnett are more interested in their soil, what it will produce, than in the level of prices. For, with proper fertilizer, enough moisture, marketing knowledge, past experience, the farmer feels he will get a profit from his crops. Naturally, the farmer hopes that when farm prices drop, reductions in other lines will keep the scales in balance. The farmer today is freer of debt than in many long years past. He has modern mechanized equipment to help keep his land productive. Much land that used to be waste is now yielding two crops. Farmers feel that because of the European market, plus home needs, agriculture is a long range program. The foreign markets afford an outlet that means more jobs, more money, Yes, the American farmer can take it.

Chick Chats

(By Clark Gresham)

DISEASE THREAT IN POULTRY RAISING

Disease is a constant threat in poultry raising and the danger is at its height for the first few weeks after chicks are started. Plan now to give your chicks the protection they will surely need if mortality is to be kept low.

Here are some important things to remember, points to watch in your disease prevention program:

Avoid Overcrowding
Make sure your chicks are from parent stock which has been tested for pullorum and reactors removed.

Put chicks on ground which has not been occupied by poultry during the past year.

Clean and disinfect the brooders house before chicks arrive. Continue to clean and disinfect regularly throughout the growing period.

Rake and stir up the litter frequently.

Use a deep, highly absorbent litter, adding extra litter each week or so. A good litter is a disease preventive in itself.

Observe sound sanitary practices for prevention of disease and to avoid worm infection.

Keep the house well ventilated but free of drafts. Chicks need fresh air.

Don't permit overcrowding. Separate the pullets and cockerels at an early age.

Keep the house warm, dry, and comfortable. If there are any holes through which water may leak, plug them up. This will help prevent respiratory troubles.

In case a disease outbreak occurs, consult a dependable poultry specialist for diagnosis and recommended treatment. Burn or bury dead birds.

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

This splendid recipe is used by millions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It is so easy to mix—a child could do it.
From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial irritations.
Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.
Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and fill up with your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough medicine, very effective and quick-acting, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.
You'll be surprised by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving quick relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.
Pinex Saves You Money!

'Columbus Clocks' Found To Be but Fair Souvenirs

At the Chicago World's fair (Columbian exposition) in 1893, thousands of souvenir clocks were sold bearing a portrait of Columbus and the date 1492, says Collier's. Years later upon the death of the original purchasers, a large number of these souvenirs came into the possession of descendants and others, many of whom, believing they owned "a clock brought over by Columbus," sought an estimate of its value from clock authorities and antique dealers, only to be disillusioned.

Soil Conservation

There are several tenant farmers in the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District who are carrying out a coordinated conservation program on farms on which they live. The time is long past for a clear mutual understanding between land owners and tenants on the conservation of soil. In the past tenants have had no definite assurance of leasing land for more than one year, therefore they have been rather hesitant about applying the necessary conservation practices.

Landlords realizing the needs for conservation have been included in the lease, oral or written, the conservation needed on the farm as worked out jointly between himself, tenant and the Soil Conservation District.

Some of the tenants who are controlling erosion and improving the soil on the farm on which they live are: Edwin Muller, tenant on a 340 acre farm owned by Ella Schultz of the Clara Community, who within the last 2 years as cooperator of the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District carried out the following practices. Constructed 2 miles of terraces, constructed and sodded terrace outlet channel, contour farmed 180 acres, planted vetch, Austrian Winter Peas and hubam clover on 180 acres as soil improving crops. Phosphate was applied to all land planted to legumes, chiseling on the contour and stubble mulching was practiced on 180 acres. This farm has been in cultivation for approximately 50 years and very little conservation farming had been practiced up to this time. He now follows a three year crop rotation in which one third of his land will be planted to a legume or soil improving crop each year. According to records, conservation farming has increased wheat yields on this farm as follows: Average production of wheat prior to 1944 was 9 bushels per acre, yield for the year 1945 was 10 bushels per acre, yield for the year 1946 was 11 bushels per acre yield for the year 1947 was 14.5 bushels per acre.

The 1947 wheat crop with conservation farming is 5.5 per acre above the average yield. With wheat selling for $2.00 per bushel at harvest time, a difference of $11.00 per acre more return over the non-conservation farming.

Mr. N. J. Zimmerman, tenant on the Van Lesley farm North West of Burkburnett, in the North Burk Conservation Group, has carried out the following conservation work the last two years. Constructed 2.3 miles of terraces contour farmed 70 acres, planted cover crops of vetch on 59 acres, chisled and practiced stubble mulching to improve soil and prevent wind erosion on 128 acres. Mr. Zimmerman was one of the first cooperators of the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District to harvest vetch for seed. This is the first conservation work done on this farm.

Herbert Kiesling, living on the C. Birk Estate farm West of the Clara Community, has established the following practices, terracing 9.4 miles, contour planting 280 acres, soil improving crops of vetch and Austrian winter peas 60 acres, chiseling and stubble mulching 281 acres.

Arnold Kiesling, tenant on another farm owned by the C. Birk Estate, has carried out the following conservation work the last 1 1/2 years, constructed 6.8 miles of terraces, contour farmed 182 acres, and has 102 acres of soil improving crops. He stubble mulched 182 acres, leaving crop residue on or near the ground surface which helps prevent water and wind erosion, increasing the organic matter and humus. This is the first conservation work done on this farm.

Technical assistance is furnished to the cooperators of the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District by the Soil Conservation Service.

Jimmy Brookman of Dallas was in Burkburnett last week end for a visit with friends and relatives.

D. 1948, in this cause, numbered 44162-C on the docket of said court and styled Betty June Lyons, Plaintiff, vs. Walter Lyons, Defendant.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit:

After alleging jurisdiction, plaintiff further alleges that she and defendant were married on or about November, 1942 and continued to live together until November, 1945 when by reason of the cruel harsh and improper treatment on the part of defendant towards this plaintiff was of such a nature as to render their further living together as husband and wife insupportable; that there were no children born of this marriage and that there is no community property;

Wherefore plaintiff prays that the defendant be cited to appear and answer herein and upon trial hereof she have judgment for divorce and for costs of suit and for such other and further relief, special and general in law, and in equity that she may show herself justly entitled to receive.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after date of issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The Officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law and make due return as the law directs. Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this 13th day of February A. D. 1948.

Several years ago, recognizing that interest rates were falling and that more than normal fluctuations of economic conditions might be expected, the Company began setting aside a portion of earnings to provide a fund to preserve the integrity of Southwestern Life's obligations under all conditions. Even though interest rates may rise somewhat in the future and economic conditions become less likely to produce adverse fluctuations, contingency funds will still be maintained to add a comforting measure of strength to the policy reserves required by law. During the year $531,293.88 was added to the contingency funds, bringing the total to $6,098,999.60.

The year 1947 marked the completion of the new, modern, four-story annex to the Home Office Building. The Home Office property fronts 177 feet on Main Street at the corner of Akard Street in the center of the business district of Dallas.

SAVING MONEY THAT YOU SPENT

Such proposition sounds absurd on first thought, doesn't it? However, if you stop to think the situation over, you know that you are saving every cent you spend with your Municipal light plant.
Revenue paid into your light plant is payment for your bills, yet you are saving that amount by enjoying lower taxes, better streets, etc.
Again you save by having the revenue remain in your home town for home town use. It is not transferred to financial centers far removed from here to benefit the already prosperous heads of holding companies.
By patronizing your Municipal Light Plant you are actually saving the money you spend.

Jess Hageman Honor Guest At Banquet

Last Friday night, the Town Hall in Burkburnett was the scene of a banquet given in honor of Jess A. Hageman upon his completion last February 15th of thirty years of continuous service with the Magnolia Petroleum Company.

Mr. H. P. Hodge, with the Land and Lease Dept. of the Magnolia of Wichita Falls, acted as Master of Ceremonies. Rev. T. H. Minga, gave the dinner invocation, and a delightful meal was served by Mrs. Beulah Jackson.

Miss Blanche Butler, assisted by two of her pupils, Marilyn Felty and Alden Smith, presented several musical selections.

Mr. Hodge introduced Mr. R. T. German, division superintendent of Magnolia Petroleum Co., North Texas Division, who presented Mr. Hageman with a diamond lapel button and congratulated him on his faithful and loyal service during the past 30 years.

G. F. O'Brien, Dist. Supt. of Electra, and J. C. Enloe, Field Foreman, expressed their appreciation for their association with Mr. Hageman.

Attending the celebration were: R. T. German, Odessa, Texas; G. F. O'Brien, Electra; Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hodge, Wichita Falls; Don Hageman and Miss Laura Blakney, Wichita Falls; Rev. and Mrs. T. H. Minga; Messrs and Mesdames A. R. Bunstine, B. N. Cauthorn, J. C. Enloe, H. E. Williams, Jess Hageman and Carol Ann.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bunstine left last Saturday for Ft. Worth to visit their daughter, Mrs. Raymond Holland and family.

THE Methodist CHURCH

T. HERBERT MINGA
Pastor

Our well loved district superintendent, Rev. Bolton Boone, will preach for us on Sunday evening at 7:30. This will probably be Bro. Boone's last sermon for us as district superintendent for he has accepted the superintendency of the Methodist Hospital in Dallas and will be leaving in a few months for his new post. Our members will want to hear Bro. Boone. Remember the hour for the service, 7:30.

At the services on Sunday morning the pastor will speak. Special guests for the hour will be the Camp Fire Girls and Blue Birds who will be dressed in their uniforms and sit in a reserved section.

We need only $820 by Easter to pay our part on the Bridgeport Youth Camp. When this camp is completed at the beautiful site, it will be available for the youth of the Wichita Falls district for a week at a time. All who are interested in the welfare of our youth will want to contribute to this investment in the future of our church.

Do not forget to attend both services on Sunday. The church needs you. You need the church.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

This little miss makes a fine subject for an open flash shot. Open flash can be used with the simplest cameras for indoor shots.

Flash For Everyone—Open Flash

AN acquaintance of mine not long ago was bemoaning the fact that he lacked a new camera. "One with a flash synchronized shutter," he put it, "so I can make indoor shots."

I told him to cheer up. After all, while cameras with built-in flash may be ideal for work indoors, the lack of a synchronized shutter doesn't mean indoor pictures are out. "Shucks," I remarked, "you can make snapshots indoors by daylight, with common household lamps, or with Photofoods. As far as that goes, you can use flash, too, if you use open flash."

That was a new one to him. . . the open flash. He'd never heard the expression. So I explained that the term "open flash" merely referred to the use of a flash bulb in a hand-held reflector not in synchronization with the shutter.

The beauty of open flash, of course, is that the method can be used with any camera equipped for either "time" or "bulb" exposure. Any camera, that is, where the shutter can be set so it will remain open until closed by the action of the picture taker. For the method simply calls for opening the shutter, setting off the flash bulb, and closing the shutter.

Naturally, since the shutter remains open a long time by photographic standards, open flash isn't for use with subjects which are likely to move about. And the camera should never be hand-held but should be steadied on a table, tripod, or other firm support. But with these limitations, open flash offers a fine means of making indoor shots of people who will sit quietly, or of still lifes or other non-moving subjects.

As a general rule for pictures of this type, the reflector should be held above the camera—tilted slightly down toward the subject—and a little to left or right of the camera-subject axis. This provides slightly better modeling than direct, flat frontal lighting.

As for exposure, it depends upon the type of flash lamp used, the type of film, and lamp-to-subject distance. With box cameras and other simple cameras having a fixed lens aperture, the lamp to subject distances may be anywhere from 6 to 12 feet, using customary roll film and an SM lamp. A slightly more powerful No. 5 lamp permits increasing the distance to 15 feet with the same film.

One word of caution, however, which I passed along to my friend. After you've posed your subject and are all ready to make the shot, turn out any room lights which may be in the camera's field of view. Other wise you run the risk of exposing your film prematurely in the tiny interval between the time you open the shutter and the time the flash goes off.

Want to make an unusually pretty centerpiece for your February party? Then cut the bottom of a large sweet potato to make it even. If you indignant women want to do something about getting yellow margarine for your tables, now's the time to act. Write to your congressmen—and ask your friends to write—urging them to vote for legislation repealing ridiculous taxes on yellow margarine. Then the manufacturers can do this task for you, at no extra cost to you.

There's a gadget on the market now which, with the press of a button, cuts off radio commercials—the long and the short ones. Manufacturers say they can't keep up with demand.

Looking for an idea for a party? Fill a scooped out cabbage with real mayonnaise. Stick shrimp and tomato wedges on toothpicks around the cabbage and dunk in real mayonnaise when eating.

If "Number please?" is sometimes delayed...

When you lift your telephone receiver, a light appears on the switchboard in front of several operators. Normally at least one of them can respond quickly. She picks up one of the cords in front of her and plugs it into the switchboard. This connects here with your telephone and she says, "Number, please?"

But nowadays the switchboard is temporarily crowded, serving many people who otherwise would not have service. Many more telephones are in use than ever before, and calling is at an all-time high. The switchboard at times is literally ablaze with lights—and if you should call during one of these busy times, it is possible that every one of the operators who could answer your call is busy. When that happens, a few extra seconds may elapse until you hear the familiar "Number, please?"

As soon as much-needed equipment can be obtained and installed, we'll be ready to handle your calls quicker and better than ever before. Meanwhile, if at times your call is not answered at once, you'll know that nimble fingers will reach it as soon as they possibly can. We appreciate your patience and understanding.

"NO!" is one of the most valuable commands in preventing waste motion in hunting. A dog who will refrain from eating when commanded "No!" is well on the way toward being well trained.

"HEEL!" This command keeps the dog at his master's side ready for any contingency. Pointers and Setters "heel" on the right side while Retrievers walk on their master's left side.

Picking the paw and then planting it down firmly on the ground is the best way to stop tracks on this ground.

TRIAL DOGS are run in braces. Exuberant dogs HOLDING a point until a gun is fired is taught by having one man flush the bird while another holds the dog. After the gun is fired the dog is allowed to run to the end of a long lead, and thus comes to associate the two.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Reds Complete Political Conquest Of Czechs, Take Over Government; Congress Extends Rent Controls

Released by WNU Features. (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CONQUEST Curtain Time

Gottwald... Nosek.

There were six days of crisis in Czechoslovakia and then it was all over—the Communists were in complete control of that nation of 13 million population.

The iron curtain came down with a muffled clang as President Eduard Benes accepted the resignation of 14 of his cabinet ministers after he had refused for a week to do so.

Into power strode Communist Premier Klement Gottwald who had led his party upward from a minority status in Czechoslovakia until now its members dominated every phase of the nation's life and were prepared to swing it directly into the orbit of other Soviet satellites.

Wielding the club to keep the Czechs in line was Gottwald's good right hand, Vaclav Nosek, minister of the interior, who controls all Czechoslovakian police forces. In that powerful position in a Communist-dominated state Nosek was analogous to the mailed glove on the dictator's fist.

For what it was worth—and that was very little—aging President Benes had managed to keep at least a superficial appearance of representative government by insisting that the government be composed of members of other parties of the national front which reinstated the Czechoslovak republic in 1945 when the Germans were being driven out. But it was a hollow, tasteless victory—meaningless in any practical application.

The new government consists of 12 Communists (there were seven before), four Social Democrats, two Czech National Socialists, two Catholic Peoples party members, one Slovak Democrat and two non-party men, Jan Masaryk as foreign minister and Gen. Ludwig Svoboda as minister of defense.

Bewildered Czechs finally knew their cherished republic had come to a grim end when loud speakers in Prague blared this announcement into the night: "Reaction has been beaten. Go back to work and let us complete our tasks on the two year plan."

In Czechoslovakia's ironic chronology the surging wall of the Red tide engulfed their country just 10 years after the western Allies had sold the nation to Hitler at Munich in a tragically selfish and futile effort to avoid war and save their own skins at the price of just one small Central European state.

Reaction With the Balkans all tied up with a red ribbon the world began to wonder which small nation the Communist tide would engulf next.

Some thought Finland might be the top name on the list, others wondered whether Austria, France and Italy might not be clamped soon in the Communist vise.

There was general agreement on one fact, at least: That the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia had forged perhaps the most vital link in the Russian chain intended to shackle the Marshall plan.

In Finland and Italy, as in Czechoslovakia, elections were coming up soon and the Communists were out for victory. Finland, like Czechoslovakia, is ruled by a coalition government which has acknowledged that the country must remain friendly with Russia.

DOWNWARD: Factory Wages Life, as it is reflected in the weekly pay check, is no longer as lush as it was last year. To be exact, it was 47 cents less in January than in December, according to the bureau of labor statistics.

However, average hourly earnings increased from $1.279 in December to $1.289 in mid-January.

RENT CONTROL: Extension

The tenants got another reprieve. Legislation extending federal rent controls for a month beyond the February 29 deadline—through March 31—was passed by the house and senate and sent to the White House for signature.

The bill was approved while the senate was considering legislation to continue rent controls for 14 months, and it will operate to give the house and senate time to agree on long range extension measures.

In evolving rent control extension during the interim provided by the stop-gap bill the house was expected to devote considerable time to wondering whether congress should not wait and see whether prices will be stabilized at a lower figure following the recent market break before it acts in the matter.

It was probable, however, that the house would go along with the senate's 14-month rent control extension, but would attempt to make a "good many" revisions.

House backers of rent control legislation are determined to protect tenants who have agreed to increases up to 15 per cent against further hikes in their rent. The senate bill now under consideration would freeze rents at the increased level from December 31, 1948, when the 15 per cent leases expire, until April 30, 1949.

COLD CHICKEN: No Fuel Oil

Campaigning politicians this year may have to eliminate "a chicken in every pot" from their lists of promises because there might not be enough chickens to go around.

Reports from the poultry belt in the Midwest say that the severity of the fuel oil shortage is cutting into the 1948 baby chick hatch to threaten poultry and egg production this year.

Thousands of farmers canceled chick orders for early March delivery because they couldn't get oil for their brooder stoves. Iowa and the Northwest were suffering most from the situation, but it also was bad in Illinois and Indiana. The kerosene shortage has been severe enough to cause hardship in most of the poultry producing area.

Some poultrymen were deferring chick deliveries until later dates, hoping that warmer weather would ease the tight oil supply.

Officials of one large hybrid chick hatchery in Iowa claimed they needed six tank cars of fuel oil to get their 1948 production under way.

One of the most vociferous complainants generally being made among farmers was that city consumers were using up all the fuel oil.

FEARFUL: Hoof and Mouth

Cattle, hog and sheep growers of the U. S. continue to live in the shadow of a fear that the hoof and mouth disease which has been decimating livestock in Mexico for many months will spread across the border and affect U. S. herds.

At a recent session in Chicago a joint committee of the cattle, hog and sheep raisers forwarded a plea to Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson to renew efforts to eradicate the disease.

Among other things, the stockmen requested that these actions be taken: 1. Renegotiate with high Mexican officials on plans for resuming the interrupted slaughter and burial program.

2. Immediate construction of a fence along the present quarantine line about 250 miles south of the U. S. border. 3. Build new beef canning plants in the "clean" states of northern Mexico and continue to run those now operating.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

By LOUIE D. NEWTON, D. D. International Union Sunday School League

SCRIPTURE: Acts 20:17-38; Ephesians 5:8-21; DEVOTIONAL READING: Philippians 4:4-9

Christian Character Lesson for March 14, 1948

WHO is the most valuable person in your community? In many communities it has come to be the custom to select the Man of the Year, the idea usually being to name the person, through a process of sampling of public opinion, who has rendered the outstanding service of the year.

Sunday's lesson is a dramatic scene out of the long ago, picturing a community's tribute to a truly great man, the apostle Paul. Read Acts 20:17-38, and you will have the story.

LOVED AND HONORED The first impression I get from this story is the fact that these people of Ephesus loved Paul. They loved him enough to lay aside their work and hasten to see him for the last time, and to bow down in his presence and honor him.

Why did they thus love Paul? Because he had told them about God. You need not read again the record of Paul's ministry in that important city of Ephesus to be reminded of how greatly he had served them in the name of Jesus.

Loved and honored! What a tribute to the worth of Christian character! Wouldn't you appreciate the tribute which they paid Paul as the goal out yonder to which you strive? Boys and girls of today may thus be honored tomorrow, if they will live for Jesus as Paul did.

THE POWER OF RIGHT LIVING PAUL not only told the Ephesians how to live, but illustrated day by day in his own life what he preached to them. The most eloquent sermons are not spoken, but lived. "What you are speaks so loudly I can't hear what you say."

The boy and man who plays the game straight are putting into practice what the teacher and preacher proclaims on Sunday. The power of right living will win its way today, just as it did in the long ago when Paul witnessed for Jesus in Ephesus.

It was not easy to live for Christ in Ephesus, nor is it easy to live for him in Chicago or Los Angeles or Boston or Miami, but it is the one way to ultimately impress the world of the reality of Christianity.

PAUL'S CONSUMING PASSION WE ARE what we are becoming. And never was this axiom of life more powerfully illustrated than in the case of Paul. "I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus."

Philippians 3:14. And in Ephesians 5:6-21, Paul reviews the qualities of conduct which produce worthwhile character, admonishing all Christians to strive for these qualities.

"I live, yet not I. Christ liveth in me," is another of Paul's watchwords, and still again, "I can do all things through Christ, who strengtheneth me."

It was the consuming passion of his life to embody the teachings of Christ in his words and in his works. It is conceivable that the people at Ephesus had come to see Christ in the life of Paul, and that his daily ministry in their midst convinced them that God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself.

WHAT AM I WORTH? THE question then emerges. What am I worth to my community? When I come to the end of the journey, will the people who know me best honor and love me for what I have done?

I can see the people of Ephesus bowing on the dock at Miletus, kissing this weary old servant of the Lord. It is a beautiful scene. This tribute meant more to Paul than all the gold of Ephesus would have meant. It was compensation of abiding worth to him. And what is vastly more important, it was glory to God which must have evoked the praise of the angels about the great White Throne.

On God's Word John Wycliffe, in the introduction to his translation of the Bible into English in 1380, wrote as follows: "When the teachings of the Bible are generally accepted and acted on, then shall we have a government, of for and by the people."

Four hundred years later the American republic was established—the first great democracy—and it was successful because the Constitution and the Bill of Rights were founded on God's Word.

Driving Safety

A call to arms was issued today by W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol.

The arms referred to are the kind you stick through car windows to signal your intentions to other drivers.

"Hand signals are a means of self-preservation when you are driving an automobile, as well as a courtesy to the other fellow," Chief Elliott said.

He emphasized hand signals as one of the important laws designed to make motoring safer, and appealed for better voluntary observance of the regulation in cooperation with a nation wide "Learn and Obey Traffic Laws" program during February.

Captain G. L. Morahan of the Wichita Falls District offered these hand signalling tips:

Give signals far enough in advance to allow the other driver to adjust himself—at least 100 feet.

Hand signals do not justify you in making an unexpected or illegal maneuver. For example, to make a left turn, be in the left lane before you reach the corner.

Get both hands back on the wheel before starting to turn.

Hand signals are not uniform throughout the country. A safe rule is to be prepared for anything when another driver holds out his hand.

Dale H'Aint A'Gonna Ride The Open Range No More, Podner

Heroine of many a sturdy epic of the sagebrush where men are men and women kissless, Dale Evans has waved adieu to the boots and saddle routine to blossom out as a glamour gal personality in her latest Republic picture, "The Trespasser," a super-smooth, sophisticated old thriller, which opens Friday and Saturday at the Palace Theatre.

In working the switch, Dale has gone from buckskin breeches to ermine wrap, from rangeland "canary" to supper club champagne.

Cowboying is a thing of the past for Dale now. Someone else can herd 'em off at Eagle Pass. She's out to prove she can waddle a "jump" tune, fill a Schiaparelli gown in eye-popping fashion and, in general, entertain our. A feat that should be too difficult since she has been most generous.

Attendance at the class of the First Baptist remains good. Last Sunday were present to hear the discussion by the Rev. R. Carswell, according to Teal, president.
