Britton Raises Large Sum for Volunteer Fire Dept. in Short Time

The fastest money-raising campaign in recent years was completed Tuesday when Britton solicited the Volunteer Fire Dept. The Department, which is to be host to the District of Firemen here on Saturday, needed money for uniforms and other incidentals. They asked for five hundred dollars more than three hours and had that amount in checks and was still going. He says the money raised in and has now a total of almost five hundred dollars in money and

Clean-up Drive Showing Results

Yards, alley ways and trash dumping spots are taking on a more favorable look as citizens work with the clean-up campaign now under way. Winter months bring an accumulation of limbs, leaves, dead grass and other rubbish to mar the appearances of homes and alleys. With the city cooperating in the drive by removing trash free until April 24th, there is little excuse for having unsightly premises this summer. When you have completed the clean-up, call the City Hall and leave your address. A truck will pick up the debris and haul it away. A clean town is a joy to its inhabitants and to passersby as well.

Playing starts at 7:30. Cake and coffee served as refreshments.

2nd Auction Sale Tops 1st Offering

Those who believed the first of weekly sales at the Burkburnett Livestock Sales Barn went the limit in attendance and stock offered had a surprise when the second auction was opened last Saturday. Attendance seemed to capacity; more and better livestock was offered in the fast moving sales ring. Higher than market prices were again witnessed last Saturday as bidders vied for choice animals. Sellers and buyers seem to like to come to the Burkburnett sale, and owners of the enterprise are endeavoring to keep them in that frame of mind. Next Saturday beginning at one o'clock the sale will open with another choice selection of animals from this territory. At present the barn is charging the same as other like barns for handling stock through the ring; $1.50 per head for everything sold. Stock will be received any day or night and cared for until the next sale. You have a warm welcome at the barn as seller, buyer, or just plain spectator.

Soft Ball Teams Being Organized

R. P. Thaxton, chairman of the C. of C. Sports Committee, and his committeemen, held a meeting recently to map plans for soft ball games this summer. From indications now there probably will be teams entered from Devol, Taylor's Store, Temple, Walters, Oklahoma and two or more teams from Burkburnett.

Those interested in entering teams for the summer's play are asked to contact Mr. Thaxton and make application. These applications should be in Mr. Thaxton's possession not later than Wednesday, April 21st.

The committee also discussed providing a recreational program again this summer for teen age boys. More definite plans will be announced later. A hard base ball team is already organized under the sponsorship of Preston's Dairy.

Seniors to Present Play High School Auditorium April Twenty-Third

The Seniors will present "Out of This World", a comedy in three acts, April 23rd. The incidents take place in the home of Otis Kerby, a slightly eccentric bachelor who thinks the world is in a horrible condition. His niece, Linda Russell, a girl full of new ideas, is living with her uncle while she is attending Parkhurst School for Girls. The play opens on Parkhurst's gala day of the year with a picnic, swimming party, and prom all on the schedule. The boys from Cedar Heights College have been invited, as well as Homer Judson, a newspaper publisher and his son Bruce.

Homer and his son arrive in town without hotel reservations; so Linda, with her usual flair for bright ideas, gives them—not to mention two other boys from Cedar Heights—rooms in her uncle's home, without his knowledge. Things become quite complicated when Uncle Otis comes out of his attic hideout and discovers the house full of people, and Homer Judson, of all people, among them. While the guests are in swimming, he locks himself and their clothes in his attic room, and he refuses to budge. After much confusion, heated words, and a series of hilarious events, Linda brings everything under control again.

Seniors taking part in the play are Donald Howard, as Uncle Otis; Jessie Ruth Preston, as Linda Russell; Billie Jean Shields, as Pauline Russell, Linda's mother; Burl Ray Matthews, as Homer Judson; Melvin Gragg, as Bruce Judson; Mary Evelyn Sites Beth Brookshear and Lahoma Bryan, as June Bishop, Donna Craig, and Phebe Atkins, Linda's friends; Joyce Young, as Miss Crest, dean of Parkhurst School; Jerry Brookman and Billy Earl Askins, as Glen Willard and Leo Dennis, student from Cedar Hts.; and Gloria Minick, as Myrtle Huff, housekeeper for Mr. Kerby.

Cancer Control Finance Campaign Is Extended for One More Week

R. H. Henry, chairman of the local Cancer Control Drive for funds, has extended the campaign for another week to allow all an opportunity to contribute. Results thus far have been encouraging. Last week $50 was reported from the Odd Fellows. This week thus far the following amounts have been received: First Baptist Church, $45.44; O. E. S., $15.00; University Study Club, $10.00, in addition to an amount previously sent in to State Organization of Study Clubs before a local drive was announced.

The slow response to the Cancer Control campaign is attributed directly to the fact that so few people realize the widespread prevalence of cancer. No cure for cancer has been found. The present campaign for funds which is nation wide, is for the purpose of making research in an effort to determine what causes cancer, and how to cure it after detected.

Local doctors agree that cancer is one of the worst, if not THE worst menace to health. Few laymen realize the ever present danger of cancer. Few realize that every three minutes someone dies of cancer. On an average of one out of every two homes is affected by cancer. During World War II this nation had 280,000 casualties. During that same period cancer claimed 607,000 civilians! A far greater killer than war at its worst. For each war casualty we spent one million dollars. For each cancer death only $3.00 was spent for research and control!

No person to person canvass is being made. Clubs, business houses and other groups are cooperating as a unit. Each one sets its own quota and collects the money which is turned in to Alvin Hill, treasurer. Next week some startling figures covering deaths in our town for the past 12 months will be given. Cancer is not something that affects people away off and not us. We are affected too. It has been said, rightly, that you can live with other dreaded diseases, but you cannot live with cancer.

Man Taking Over Nature

This business of sowing dry ice on clouds for man-made rain, is running into difficulties. Maybe one fellow wants rain for dry crops and his next door neighbor plans to hold a family picnic in the yard. Our water law states that "water on all sources of supply within the boundaries of the state, either above or beneath the surface of the ground, belongs to the public". Some contend that "above the ground" means water content of clouds, but perhaps legislators who formed the water law didn't expect folks to produce rain artificially. Clouds move about, so that a man wonders if they might not come under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission. In order to protect us from suits, it is now authorized that the U. S. Weatherman is the only one who is permitted to make rain. Remember, the sky is not the limit.

Continuing Education

Well aware of the large number of former service men and women to avail themselves of education, through the GI Bill of Rights, we overlook the Army's program of continued training for those still in service. A popular program during the war, interest lagged shortly afterwards but has revived, and today there are more service men taking advantage of the correspondence, self-teaching courses and group study classes at local posts, camps and overseas stations, than during the war.

There are 400 courses in elementary high school, vocational, technical and college fields. During off-duty, the "service students" are encouraged to attend near-by colleges and schools, with the Army paying 15 per cent of the tuition. If you, in Burk wonder whether these courses really pay their way, consider that during the past five years 750,000 soldiers have received high school diplomas. Also over two million service men and women have received academic credit for courses taken under the Army plan. With the help of the American Council of Education, specific standards are set and the service man's work is recognized by practically every state education department, colleges and universities.

Young people seem more conscious of the importance of education and it is well that those in service, at home or overseas, can have the opportunity to continue study. It is wise for the army of a nation to raise its educational level.

nett husband, who believes the man with a good memory for small things, will find home a happier place and his wife a more congenial little woman. Remembering birthdays and wedding anniversaries, for a starter, holiday greetings and flowers occasionally are nice gestures. The list includes: shaving regularly, wearing a tie when company comes, not dropping ashes on the floor, not using a face towel to wipe the car or shine the shoes, refraining from criticizing the wife's driving and her bridge game. Probably every local husband could add more items to this list. The individual things we overlook doing aren't bad in themselves, but added together over a period of time, "forgetfulness" can spell trouble.

(By Clark Gresham)

WELL-FED CHICKS WILL LAY BEST

The care you give to your brood of chicks during the first few weeks will have much to do with determining the production efficiency of your birds when they reach laying age. A good laying bird must have a good breeding background; it also must have good care and the right kind of feed during chickhood and the growing period.

Early Feeding Counts
Frequently, hens with excellent blood lines produce poorly because as young birds they were not cared for and fed in a way that would build the rugged system a good layer must have. Feeding and management of growing stock, then, shapes up as it's something to think about, isn't it?

There is nothing difficult about following a correct feeding program. Most commercial feed manufacturers provide feeds which will supply every needed element. The poultry raiser needs only to follow instructions. Of course, he can supplement or replace rations of this kind with his own feeds, but he should be certain that all of the essential nutrients are contained in them.

A good many producers give their flocks extra growth and extra egg-laying vigor by using commercial tonics. Tonics of this type fortify a bird's system with certain important elements which stimulate digestive processes and thereby help build a stronger, more efficient layer.

Wichita County Farm Bureau News

From the Office of
MRS. M. L. HINES
Secretary-Treasurer

D. Barbour, director of the Texas Farm Bureau, is back in the Wichita office in Iowa Park week after more than a week absence due to his being in the nation's capitol as a representative of the farmers of the state advocating the maintenance of clear channel radio broadcast testimony given before the Committee on Interstate Commerce was based on the following resolution passed at the State Convention—"We approve of the proposed break-up of Clear Channel Broadcasting and join with our fellow farm members in other states opposing this trend that curtail broadcasting service to farmers and small towns."

In his appearance before the committee, Barbour emphasized the farm and ranch people of the state depend upon the clear channel stations for uninterrupted reception which are available to agriculture. Points of interest were pointed out. Since a small percentage of farmers take daily news they depend on the news programs at meal times for current information and Texas Clear Channel Stations particularly of this kind of service. Exact quotations are of vital importance to farmers and ranchmen in Texas the three clear principal agricultural and live-channel stations, WBAP, WFFA, and WOAI are located in the stock markets of the state, and much of their marketing is done by telephone upon receiving radio quotations.

Weather reports and predictions play a very important part in the operation of the agricultural industry in the state. Ranchmen depend on weather predictions for their shipments and for warnings of freezing weather. Such reports save untold loss to farmers in planting, harvesting, and marketing.

Farm people in rural areas located great distances from entertainment centers find entertainment by radio very important.

Since the above is true, Barbour stated that the farm people were opposed to a reduction in the clear channel stations and insisted that power be increased to allow complete coverage of all areas and territories of respective stations, asking that sufficient power be granted in order to insure dependable and uninterrupted reception.

Note of Appreciation

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to my many Burkburnett friends who were so kind to me during my illness. For your many cards, visits and every thoughtful act, I am deeply grateful.

FIND DOG'S FOOD HABITS ACQUIRED AND NOT INBORN

Does Not Require Fresh Meat to Stay Healthy, Authority States

Dog owners who are fearful for the health of their pets because of the current scarcity and high prices of fresh meat are reassured by Harry Miller, director of the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

The dog's welfare does not require that he consume fresh meat, he states. Dogs will do as well or better on popular brands of prepared dog foods of which there is an ample supply in groceries and which contain in balanced nutritional form all the proteins, fats, carbohydrates and the essential vitamins and minerals that meat does not provide.

As a matter of fact, he says, the situation today as regards dog food is not unlike that experienced during the war years. With little fresh meat and no canned dog foods available, millions of dogs were kept on prepared dry dog foods, and they came through in the best physical condition they had ever been in.

"Lean Red Meat" Myth
It is erroneous to assume that dogs always prefer raw meat to any other food, according to Mr. Miller. Appetite is an acquired, not an inborn quality, and just as

Coyote stalking sheep

Eskimos with their raw fish and Pygmies with their ants and caterpillars have food habits different than our own, so do dogs, under domesticated conditions, accept and eat the most diverse kinds of foods as long as they supply the required nutrients. In fact, animals raised in laboratories on "synthetic rations" hardly know what to do with a bone or a piece of meat.

"The feeding habits of the coyote, who is probably the closest American wild cousin of the dog, are a case in point," Mr. Miller states. "When the coyote stalks and kills a sheep, for instance, he doesn't go for the 'lean red meat' his victim offers. He makes instead for the viscera, where he finds a combination of animal proteins and the nourishing, partially digested cereal foods that have resulted from grazing. What the coyote does by instinct man has accomplished for dogs, through science, by combining in prepared dog food all the ingredients a dog requires for complete nourishment."

Life Span Increasing

Mr. Miller also points out that, again as in the case of humans, the life-span of the dog has increased tremendously in the last 25 years—the exact period during which prepared dog foods have come into popular use. Countless dogs today live to the age of 11 or 12, whereas not so long ago it was uncommon for a dog to survive beyond 7 or 8 years. One dog died recently at the unheard-of age of 28—the equivalent of 135 human years—and to his dying day his meals consisted of prepared dog food of a dry variety. There is little doubt the average life-span of dogs today would be even longer than it is but for the high mortality from car accidents, which snuff out the lives of thousands of dogs annually in the prime period of their existence, he states.

Uncle Sam Says

You, too, can be a harvester—and not once or twice a year but every month. What farmer—even the wheat men and women of Kansas and the Dakotas who at this moment are reaping the greatest harvest in history—would not prize a harvest every month. The harvest-a-month plan has popular name—the Bond-a-Month Plan. Begin today sowing financial seeds. For every $18.75 you plant during a month in the form of a United States Savings Bond $25 will sprout 10 years later.

How would you like bed sheets that need no tuckin'? There are some on the market now that have "pockets" which slip around the mattress ends.

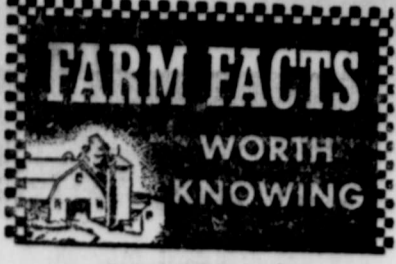

Trim off the tops or leaves of root vegetables before storing. The reason? During growth the leaves manufacture sugar, protein and other nutrients, passing them down to the roots for storage. After vegetables are pulled from the ground the leaves begin to withdraw nourishment. They should be stored in the refrigerator, too, for warm air dries them out in a short time.

Gaily colored place mats make pretty settings for summer luncheons. So make your own from old pieces of fabric about the house and then dye in brilliant colors with all purpose dye.

Here's an ounce of prevention! A little luminous paint beside basement or porch steps will keep one from stumbling in the dark. And don't forget, luminous paint for source numbers.

When preparing mashed potatoes, heat the vitaminized margarine and milk to keep potatoes from cooling. And for a delicious, distinctive flavor add a bit of onion juice.

Mrs. I. F. Cannon of Fort Worth visited last week in Burkburnett with her sister, Mrs. Neva Jo Ott and Sandy. Sandy accompanied her home Sunday for a short visit.

Q. Do brood sows need exercise?

A. The general belief is that exercise has a marked effect on the general thrift and health of pregnant sows, the ease of pigging and promptness of recovery after farrowing. See that breeding stock gets exercise. One way to increase it is to feed the sows at the opposite end of the lot from where they are housed.

Q. How can mites in the poultry house be controlled?

A. One of the best ways is to spray the roosts, floors and walls with Purina Insect Oil. A thorough job with this insect oil will keep down mites for a year.

Q. Will the heavier calves at birth make bigger gains than those of lighter weights?

A. Yes, the Wyoming State Experiment Station has reported a test in which a group of heavy calves which had an average birth weight margin of 24 lbs. showed a 43 lb. heavier weight per animal at six months of age over a group of lighter calves. Three groups of registered Holstein-Friesian heifers were used in the test. Average birth weights per animal for the respective groups were 77, 90 and 101 lbs. At six months of age, the average weight per animal in each group, in the order named, was 322, 347 and 365 lbs.

Q. What is the normal gestation period for a rabbit?

A. The normal gestation period is 31 days from the date of mating. However, a doe may vary a day either way and still kindle a strong healthy litter of young.

Q. What is a brace of dogs?

A. Two dogs of the same breed, matched closely for color, type and size. They need not be the same sex.

Seniors Invited to Hardin-Simmons

Senior students of Burkburnett High School are among those invited to be "collegians for a day" at Hardin-Simmons University Saturday, April 24, when the University plays host to several thousand students in annual Senior Day.

The seniors will be entertained with a program at 10:30 Saturday morning in the new Rose Field House. Following the morning program, the students will be guests at a barbecue with members of the H-SU Cowgirl Band playing luncheon music.

All buildings on the campus will hold open house from 12:30 to 3 o'clock. Visiting students may inspect the various dormitories, bookstore, gymnasiums and classroom buildings.

There will also be an opportunity for students to counsel with faculty members concerning their educational program.

The program will be concluded in the afternoon and evening when the seniors will be guest at the second annual Hardin-Simmons intercollegiate rodeo. There will be bareback and saddle bronc stamping, steer riding, calf roping, and wild cow milking for the waddies while the cow-lassies will vie for honors in goat tying and cow milking. All contestants will be college students.

Invitations have been sent to all senior classes in West Texas. "It is possible we have overlooked some individual or group. A formal invitation is not necessary. If you want to come, you are welcome," according to W. C. Ribble, chairman of the program. The senior day program has been a traditional event at Hardin-Simmons. Thousands of students in the past 25 years have been guests of the school on this day.

Mrs. Will Teal has been ill at her home for the past two weeks. She is much better at this time.

W. J. Lloyd left Wednesday morning for California on business.

Dodge Dealers Aid Scrap Metal Drive

Burkburnett Motors, Burkburnett, Texas is among 4,000 Dodge dealers who are participating in a national scrap metal drive to help increase production of cars, trucks, farm implements, and household appliances and equipment.

E. C. Quinn, general sales manager of the Dodge Division, Chrysler Corporation, launched the national campaign with an appeal that dealers help speed the movement of scrap iron, steel, lead, copper and brass to mills and foundries.

He pointed out those metals are urgently needed to keep industries operating and so maintain employment. Adequate stockpiles of the important metals also are needed for national defense, he pointed out.

All Dodge dealers were urged to clean out any accumulated scrap metal and see that it is delivered to those scrap dealers who will agree to move it along at once to mills and foundries. They are displaying large window posters which urge the public to turn in scrap metal.

Employees of the local dealer also are participating in the drive by gathering up scrap metals at home to donate to charitable organizations or sell to junk dealers.

New-Slama Rites Read April 3rd

Father Hartnett performed the nuptial rites at the Sacred Heart Church in Wichita Falls at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, April 3 to unite Miss Mary Elizabeth Slama and Jon Korea New, Jr.

Music for the ceremony was furnished by Mrs. Elizabeth Rosano, Miss Jane New and Mrs. Carl Edwards. Selections included Mother at your feet is kneeling on this day, Ava Marie, and Lord I am not Worthy.

For recitation of vows the couple stood before an altar flanked by lilies, white stock and garland of fern.

Joe Slama gave his daughter in marriage. She was lovely in a gown of white slipper satin, featuring a lace yoke, and buttoned down the back with covered buttons. The full skirt extended into a long train. She wore a fingertip veil and carried an orchid atop a white prayer book. She also wore the traditional something new, old, borrowed and blue.

Attendants were Betty Slama, sister of the bride as maid of honor, while Mrs. Ann Cocke and Miss Thresa New were bridesmaids. They wore blue, pink, and yellow frocks over taffeta, respectively, and carried daisy colonial bouquets.

Ushers were Boyd Miller and Jack Green of Wichita Falls.

Edward Slama of Burkburnett was best man for the groom.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The house was beautifully decorated with pink carnations, white stock and fern.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth centered with the three tiered pink and white wedding cake. White candles were burning in crystal holders, and punch was served from the crystal bowl. Mrs. Pauline Hullivan served the cake, while Mrs. James N. Tallant of Wichita Falls presided at the guest book.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Slama of Burkburnett. She attended the Academy of Mary Immaculate and Hardin College in Wichita Falls and the Loveto Heights College in Denver, Colo.

Mr. New, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. New of Holliday attended the Pacific High and Stockton Jr. College, Stockton, Calif., and the University of California at Pasadena.

After a brief wedding trip to Oklahoma City, the couple will make their home Northwest of Burkburnett. Mr. New is employed with the Gulf Oil Company here. For travel, Mrs. New chose a pink gabardine suit with black accessories.

Approximately seventy-five guests attended the reception. Out of town guests were from Denver, Colo., Holiday, Iowa Park, Sherman, Scotland, Electra, Thrift, Archer City, Burkburnett, Pampa, Vernon, and Ryan, Okla.

Sun.-Mon. Picture Virginia Mayo As Kaye Team-Mate

Danny Kay's new Technicolor comedy for Samuel Goldwyn, "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty", presents the red headed funster in an entirely new type of characterization. He is a meek, henpecked little fellow who becomes a hero in spite of himself, who wins Virginia Mayo, his co-star, through a series of adventure packed dream sequences.

The picture hailed as Kaye's funniest, is based on James Thurber's famous short story of the same title, and is directed by Norman Z. McLeod.

Kaye has his first chance in four film starts to indulge his talent for straight dramatic acting plus his famous brand of brisk, effervescent fun-making.

TO WALLACE:
Veiled Hint

Henry Wallace, whose third party movement was coming more and more to follow the standard Communist party line, had reached the status of a complete pariah as far as President Truman was concerned.

In his St. Patrick's day address in New York the President had rejected angrily any notion of accepting Wallace's support in his campaign, even if it cost him the election.

Then, during the course of remarks made at a dinner meeting of Greek-Americans in Washington, Mr. Truman turned on still more heat.

He issued an acidulous, thinly veiled suggestion that Wallace take his third party movement to Russia where Mr. Truman obviously thinks it belongs.

"I was going to tell you that the Greeks had a Henry Wallace," the President said to his listeners. "I was going to tell you that the Greeks had a statesman, an orator, a demagogue. . . . They had the greatest demagogue of all times, Alcibiades." (Alcibiades was a famous Athenian who, after committing certain indiscretions, was forced to flee Athens. He went to Sparta and there betrayed secrets of his countrymen which were instrumental in bringing about the fall of Athens.)

Mr. Truman continued: "If imitators of that ancient Greek conqueror want to see . . . liberties subverted, I suggest that they go not to the Rocky mountains—that's fine country out there. He ought to go to the country he loves so well and help them against his own country if that's the way he feels."

HOMEBOY: No Meeting

With the arrival of spring and the yearly rebirth of hope eternal, a second-hand rumor suddenly was revived across the Atlantic. It had to do with the rebuilding of the stripped gears of East-West relations.

The rumor, which was being circulated widely in Europe, said that President Truman was planning a trip to the continent for a Big Three conference with Attlee and Stalin.

Another version, as given currency by newspapers in Turkey, reported that the President might go to Europe sometime in April and possibly visit Turkey and Greece.

All this was good for a flurry of excitement, but in the end it turned out to be nothing more than clutching at straws.

Mr. Truman, the White House announced, had no plans for leaving the country, and there was no prospect of a Big Three meeting.

SPIES: In Germany

Conditions were getting back to the cloak and dagger state.

With a dramatic flare, radio Moscow charged that Russia had uncovered an American-directed spy ring of former German army officers operating out of western Germany, Austria and Sweden to learn Soviet zone secrets.

Leader of the group functioning in the Soviet zone had been captured and had confessed, Moscow reported. The broadcast claimed, in part:

"He confessed he was a member of an illegal Fascist organization existing in the western occupation zone of Germany, consisting of officers of the former German army who are being used by the American intelligence service for espionage in the Soviet zone."

PIPELINE: Junked

The Canal pipelines, that 140-million-dollar project constructed during the war as a means of getting an emergency oil supply from Norman wells in Northwest Canada to Alaska, is ending in the junk yard.

All that is left of it now is being trucked out for shipment to junk dealers in the Midwest United States. Fifty trucks work night and day out of Johnson's Crossing on the Alaska highway hauling salvage.

The Return From Exile
Lesson for April 18, 1948

COWPER'S lines come to mind as we study the dramatic return of the Jews from their exile in Babylon to Jerusalem in the first year of the reign of Cyrus, king of Persia, 538 B. C.

"God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform; He plants his footsteps in the sea And rides upon the storm."

And yet it is not altogether strange, for if you will turn to Jeremiah 29:4-14, you will find a prophecy given 50 years before the event that this very thing would occur.

There were two other deportations of the Jews from Babylon, prior to the incident in our lesson—the return led by Daniel, 606 B. C., and the one led by Ezekiel, 597 B. C.

Dr. Newton

PROCLAMATION OF CYRUS

THE proclamation of Cyrus, Ezra 1:1-3, records the happy word to the Jews that they would not only return, but that the temple would be rebuilt. Cyrus called upon all the people who would to make offerings by which the temple might be restored. Cyrus was acting under divine impulse in this gracious and generous proclamation.

"The Lord God of heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth; and he hath charged me to build him an house at Jerusalem which is in Judah," said Cyrus, Ezra 1:2.

Fifty thousand Jews, their hearts rejoicing at the thought of returning to the land of their fathers, set out on the trek of 600 miles, laden with gifts from the Persians for the restoration of the temple in Jerusalem. They could now sing the song of the Lord, and no longer did their harps hang silently on the willow trees.

THE DECREE OF ARTAXERXES

THE fourth chapter of Ezra brings us to the halting of the work on the temple, after they had raised the magnificent sum of approximately $400,000, and had laid the foundation for the temple, with imposing ceremonies.

This delay was occasioned by the jealousy of the Samaritans, who went to Artaxerxes through employed counsel, and convinced him that it would be dangerous to allow these Jews to rebuild Jerusalem. At first, the Samaritans proposed that the Jews let them use the temple in joint worship, but the Jews feared the Samaritans and refused their offer. It was then that the Samaritans effected the delay in the building of the temple by the space of 14 years. Meanwhile, the Jews went forward with the building of their homes and re-establishing themselves and their civilization in Jerusalem.

STICKING TO ONE'S PURPOSE

WE come now to the part Haggai played in summoning the Jews to their duty and obligation to God to restore the temple. It was in the second year of the reign of Darius that Haggai received the word of the Lord: "Is it time for you, O ye, to dwell in your celled houses, and this house lie waste? Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts. Consider your ways."

It was enough. The people rallied to the call of Haggai, and the temple was completed. Men can always do what they ought to do, if they will to do it.

GOD'S PURPOSE FULFILLED

THE message of Haggai was completed. Ezra 6:13-18, and God's purpose was fulfilled. Read Psalm 125.

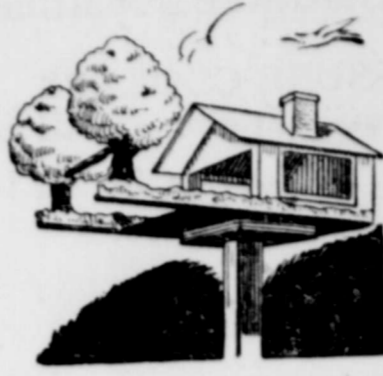

This brings us to the golden text: "No man having put his hand to the plow and looking back, is fit for the Kingdom of God." Luke 9:62. When once the returned exiles felt the iron of God's purpose surging through their veins, they quitted themselves like men, and God's power was everywhere manifest. So may it ever be with us!

As We Achieve

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

This little miss is nicely in focus. And the background is left out of focus since it is outside the depth of field.

Probing the Depths—Of Field

ONE of the phrase definitions offered in this space a month or two back was for "depth of field" or "range of sharpness" as it's also called. As we explained then, depth of field refers to the distance—in a picture scene—from the nearest point in sharp focus to the farthest point in sharp focus. We added that the smaller the lens aperture is the greater is the depth of field.

Actually depth of field is dependent both upon the aperture used and the focal length of the lens. Lenses of short focal lengths, for example, such as those used on most miniature cameras, offer greater depth of field than a lens of longer focal length at the same aperture. But this is of more concern to the expert, who may use several different cameras, than to the average snapshot maker who has a single camera.

However, there are certain general rules which the owner of any camera other than a "fixed focus" type will do well to remember. These can be illustrated simply, using the figures which apply with a camera of mine. The same figures may not apply for your camera—chances are that they won't. But the principles will.

Suppose, for example, we pick a lens aperture of  $f/11$  and focus on an object 10 feet away. Not only will the object on which we've focused appear sharp and clear in our negative, but so will any other object approximately  $7\frac{1}{2}$  feet to 15 feet from this camera lens. This distance— $7\frac{1}{2}$  to 15 feet—is our "depth of field" for this camera when it is focused at 10 feet and an aperture of  $f/11$  is used.

If, on the other hand, we use an aperture of  $f/3.5$  and focus again on an object only 10 feet away, our depth of field is only 9 to 11 feet. This illustrates our first rule: With a given lens, depth of field decreases as the size of the aperture increases.

Now suppose we try our  $f/11$  aperture again. This time, let's focus on an object 15 feet away instead of 10. Our range of sharpness here, instead of being from  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to 15 feet, is from 10 to 30 feet. And from this we get our second rule: The greater the distance between the camera and the object focused upon, the greater the depth of field.

All three of these examples point to the third general rule about depth of field. When we focused on 10 feet at  $f/11$  our range was from  $7\frac{1}{2}$  to 15 feet. When we focused on 15 feet at  $f/11$  our range was from 10 to 30 feet. Hence we can say that the depth of field is greater beyond the object focused upon than in the direction of the camera.

These three basic rules, then, provide all the knowledge you need concerning depth of field—enough knowledge to use this property of lenses when you wish to include background details or eliminate them, for example. But remember, these are general rules. The depth of field at a given distance and aperture with your personal camera is something you must check on, preferably in your camera manual.

Shower Compliments Recently Wed Couple

To compliment Mr. and Mrs. James A. Johnson, Jr., a large hostess group entertained Saturday night, April 10th at 7:30 in the basement of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. James A. Johnson, Sr., Mrs. B. L. Turner and Mrs. James A. Johnson, Jr., were in the receiving line to greet the guests. Mrs. Artie Whitesides secured names for the register.

The party room was beautifully decorated with seasonable blossoms. Especially effective was the refreshment table, covered with a lovely white damask cloth and featuring a flower arrangement sent by Mike Begun, as a gift to the bride.

Punch was served from a crystal bowl by Mrs. Wiley Bloxom, Mrs. W. J. Justice, Mrs. Ralph White and Mrs. Ray Mills.

The cleverly arranged "Radio Program, The Bridal Hour," was broadcast over station J. J. J. (Jerry & James Johnson), with Wayne Lax as Master of Ceremonies. ## The SNAPSHOT GUILD

A swell shot—the kind of shot which only comes from having your camera loaded and ready to shoot at all times.

Johnnys-on-the-Spot

A NEWSPAPER photographer who lives nearby was talking of amateur picture-takers. "You know," he said, "it is surprising the number of on-the-spot news pictures each year that are made by amateurs. They're not always technically perfect, of course, but they have one great virtue—someone with a camera happened to be in the right place at the right time to shoot. No amount of planning can guarantee that kind of good luck every time."

He went on to add that news photography—by its very nature—places a premium on being on the spot when something is happening. "Obviously, the best newsman in the world," he said, "can't know in advance when an accident will happen, when a fire is going to break out. Some of my own best shots, I know, have been made when I stumbled upon a picture while on the way to another assignment."

After he left, the thought came to my mind that most of the shots to which he referred involved—from the amateur picture-taker's standpoint—something more than luck. Not only did the people who made these shots happen to be Johnnys-on-the-spot; they also had their cameras with them, ready for any picture opportunity. I thought of a few times when I myself had been at a fire—and my camera was home. Or one time when I happened to cross a bridge as a rescue party was seeking to pull two boys from an ice floe in a river—and again no camera with me.

It was after this second experience that I started to make a habit of carrying my camera in my car. Not in the glove compartment to be sure—that gets too hot in warm weather. But I make a point of keeping my camera, loaded and ready to shoot, on the seat of the car where it is handy if wanted.

And I've found it pays off. I've a dozen or so fire scenes in my albums, several accident pictures, and other good shots which never would have been made if I carried a camera with me only when I planned picture making. For numerous picture chances occur only once and then for a moment—it's get them then or never. And no one has yet figured out how to get them with a camera that's peacefully resting at home in a drawer.

—John van Gulder

Jack James, Assistant.

The meeting opened at 7:30 with a prayer by the Scoutmaster. Following roll-call, dues were collected. The Patrols then went to patrol corners and discussed the hike to the river next Saturday. Last Friday night and Saturday, we had an over-night camp at our camp site on the river. The center of activity was the construction of the fence and the observation tower. We then practiced marching and discussed what we were to do at the Boom Town Celebration this summer. After the meeting we went to the City park and were the guest of the Baptist Church for a very nice Bar-B-Q supper. We had 25 members present.

TEACH THE WORD

Final charge to Timothy, Paul said, "I charge thee . . . teach the word, be instant in season, out of season; reprove, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine. . . but after their own lust shall they heap to themselves, having itching ears; and they shall turn their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables." In these solemn words, Paul urged a gospel preacher to PREACH THE WORD, the same which Peter wrote in 1 Peter 1:25. It is the gospel which is the truth, John 8:32, which will make men free. Paul also said that the time would come when the world would not endure sound doctrine, and would be turned from the truth, and be turned to fables, or the doctrines of men. Surely that time has come. The world is full of man-made doctrines believing that they will lead eventually to heaven.

You are to attend the gospel meeting at the Church of Christ. We will preach the word, the truth, the gospel, the message, nothing less, if there is any preaching done in the world. Meeting which is not in harmony with God's word, we are not interested in. The doctrine and worship of the Church of Christ is always open to questions and investigations. If you are interested in TRUTH, attend this gospel meeting. We shall endeavor to PREACH THE WORD. Let us reason together."

Never use soap and water to clean floors, says one of the largest manufacturers of hardwood floors. It may ruin the finish, raise the wood's grain and wash dirt into the cracks. This company now markets a product to dry-clean wood and linoleum floors, which also leaves a waxy film.

Sunday school at ten a. m., with all classes studying the 9th chapter of Hebrews—"Christ Is Better Than The Old Testament Tabernacle." We use the Bible only in our Sunday School, studying chapter after chapter and verse after verse of each book. We have a class for you. After the Sunday School the pastor has something special for the Booster Band. Be sure to be present.

Preaching services at eleven o'clock. After special choir singing, the pastor will bring a message on this subject, "Investments You Never Have to Worry About—That Always Pays off."

Night services begin at 7:30 with an old-time song service. We were mighty happy to have so many visitors at our services last night. The pastor will preach on this subject, "What Does It Cost To Kill A Man?" This may have a sensational ring—I confess, it is a sensational message. Come and hear, and experience the sensation of a real Scriptural sermon.

Priming the Pump

● The interdependence of nations has been clearly demonstrated in our time. We see that no country can afford to ignore the hardships and miseries of other countries, however small they may be. We have come to know that the enduring prosperity of each country depends on the welfare of all peoples.

That is why American businessmen of vision are cooperating with the businessmen of foreign countries friendly to us—spreading the knowledge of American methods of production, increasing trade, raising the standards of living both at home and abroad.

But many of these friendly countries, devastated by war, desperately need raw materials—particularly cotton. To meet this need, our government is making possible the purchase of cotton by the textile industries in these countries, thereby priming the pump for the flow of world trade that will help bring prosperity and lasting peace.

In priming the pump for others, let us not forget to keep it primed for ourselves. The cotton industry is dependent upon your purchases. So remember to buy products made of cotton. When you buy cotton products, you buy a stake in the future of America and of the world.

The message above is published by this institution in behalf of the cotton industry of surrounding counties in Texas and Oklahoma.

THE WIDE OPEN SECRET

It's a wide open secret now that no other car at any price gives the kind of riding and driving quality that Dodge gives. This is proven with every new Dodge delivery, and the reason is no secret either. Dodge is the first car in history to give you the full combination of Floating Power, Full-Floating Ride, and All-Fluid-Drive. These, with new Super-Cushion tires, mean comfort and performance far beyond all limits of price.

Lions Observe Children's Week

Members of the Lions Club observed National Children's Week Tuesday night with one of the most interesting meetings of the year. Lions had as guests their children. Those who had no children borrowed one of neighbor's.

Lions C. T. Bradford and Ollie Thompson brought a very enjoyable program. Leon Bradford introduced as his guest and the first member of the program, Little Miss Marilyn Fealy who played two piano selections to the delight of those present. Leon Thompson next introduced Mrs. Kathryn Sue Banks of Iowa Park who in turn presented some of her dancing pupils in highly entertaining numbers. Sandra Sue Banks, daughter of Mrs. Kathryn Sue Banks, and Bruce Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ann Hughes, gave their interpretation of "Red Silk Stockings and Green Petticoat," featuring singing and dancing. Applauding was prolonged following the presentation. Next to appear were Suelien and Bill Bryant, five year old daughter and seven year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Bryant. Their number was "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover." These youngsters drew such a hand they were called back for a second number. Both couples were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ota Gay. They see all from Iowa Park.

Indians Give Colorful Decor Back Puzzled Hollywood

There is an Indian village near Acapulco, Mexico, which Director Henry King used for four days for the filming of sequences for Darryl F. Zanuck's presentation in color by Technicolor of "Captain from Castile," the new 20th Century-Fox hit starring Tyrone Power and opening Wednesday at the Palace Theatre. But even though certain alterations were made by studio workmen, the village today looks exactly as it did before the company took it over.

The only changes King ordered in the village involved the painting of the Indians' hats to bright colors such as red, yellow, and blue. The studio's painters went all out in doing a fine job and thought they had improved the hats to such an extent that they had made many friends among the natives for life.

The day the company completed its shooting in the village, King asked the Chief if there was anything else that could be done for the people.

The Chief had but one request: would Mr. King please have the painters remove the bright colors and restore the interiors to their original drab appearance.

This, of course, was done, much to the bewilderment of King and the workers who thought the natives had been grateful by the improvements they had created.

The Chief thought, no doubt still thinks the white man is crazy.

W. A. Roberts left last Thursday for Galveston for a visit with his son, Dr. Donald Roberts and family. He and Mrs. Roberts, who has been visiting there for some time, will return this week.
