Wichita County Farm Bureau News

The importance and necessity for the use of commercial fertilizers was brought out in a talk by Yayne Beaty, farm editor for the radio station WBAP.
He told of interesting developments in television and said WBAP is installing the first facilties for television broadcasting this side of St. Louis.
T. H. Cardwell, field representative from Graham, explained the accommodations now afforded Farm Bureau members through the Blue Cross, automobile casualty and life insurance at cost.
The possibilities for the state organization's establishing a nitrogen plant in Texas were outlined by district director Loys D. Barbour, who explained how such a project is being accomplished by the Farm Bureau in Mississippi. Barbour left the thought with the group and plans to follow up with continued presentation of the subject.
County president, George A.
Lewis, directed the activities of the day. Rev. Kirk Beard, pastor of the Iowa Park Methodist Church, gave the invocation.
Mrs. Horace Banks was song leader for the day, with Mrs. R.
A. Tanner as piano accompanist.
Special entertainment was furnished by Bobbie Lee Wall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Therle Wall of Hardeman County, as he played his accordion. A bit of humor was injected into the program as Mrs. W. A. Scott and Mrs. George Lewis directed a stunt, "Oscar, the Flea." Mrs. Loys D. Barbour, who attended the meetings of the Associated Women held in connection with the Southern Farm Bureau Training School, outlined the possibilities for a functioning federation of women in Texas.
During the noon hour guests from five area counties served themselves to a buffet luncheon, passing single file past tables laden with chicken, homemade pies and cakes, salads and cantaloupes furnished by L. E.
Brooks.

Mounted Dancers Have Engagement West Monroe, La.

Burkburnett's very popular and fast becoming famous Mounted Square Dancers are on the move. This week C. A. Morgan announced they will make the rodeo show at West Monroe, La., which begins September 6th.
They will appear at each of the seven shows during the week.
The dance team, all eighteen of them, appeared at each of the four shows that closed last Saturday night. Those who have seen other Quadrills say the Burkburnett bunch has no equal.
Others who were seeing their first mounted square dancers could hardly believe what they were seeing. The most popular number the dancers do is the figure eight. Horses running at full speed, missing each other by mere inches, brings gasps from the crowds. A light error in timing could be fatal to two or more riders.
The riders have almost a dozen dances they do to perfection.

C. A. Morgan Thanks Helpers With Celebration

C. A. (Buster) Morgan, general chairman of the Celebration, has authorized the Star to thank all who helped in any way to make the event a huge success. To name each one who worked at the job would be impossible. There were too many of them, and someone might be overlooked.
That the Celebration was a success cannot be questioned.
We had the crowds, we had the show, and every last one who came was thoroughly pleased with our efforts. Financially, the show was a success also.
Looking at it from any standpoint, it was the biggest and best party Burkburnett ever staged.

To plan and produce a party as large as the Celebration which closed last Saturday night takes a lot of hard work.
It is too big for one, two, three or a dozen men. The fact that it turned out so well is sufficient proof that many men and women were working. Some gave many days of their time.
Others gave just as much in proportion by the sacrifices they made. Not everyone can be on the front row—someone has to set the stage, pull the curtains and prompt the players.
Burkburnett had just a lot of those workers in the background, doing little things that must be done to keep the thing moving.

Every little thing helped to put the show over in grand fashion. From the parade Wednesday until the rodeo closed Saturday night, someone had to be doing something to help.
A part of the success belongs to the workers who spent many hours decorating the beautiful floats. This is the first year that a large number of floats have been entered. Many said "They made the parade."

To everyone, men women and children, who helped in any way, Mr. Morgan, the Chamber of Commerce, and those who were working too, offer their sincere thanks for a job well done. The co-operation was splendid in every respect. Burkburnett has proved that by hard work it can do wonders.

HOUSES — ROOMS WANTED

Calls for houses and rooms are being made to Burkburnett every day since the announcement was made that Sheppard Field was opening up again. If you have a place that could be fixed up in a hurry, you will find ready renters. Wichita Falls cannot take care of all who will come to the field. Burkburnett is near the field and many will be seeking a place to live here.

Kiddies Have Big Day Saturday

The Kiddies of Burkburnett and surrounding area, truly had their day of the Boom Town Celebration last Saturday. Plans were made and carried out which made this one of the most enjoyable events of the four days' celebration.
The big day got off to a good start with the special Kiddies' show at the Palace Theatre.
Manager Louis Littlefair had booked a program for this special occasion, packed with fun for the youngsters. A free bag of popcorn was given each child attending the show.
The Red Bicycle which was given away with the friendly co-operation of the Theatre and Garland Furniture Co., was won by little "Doc" Simms.
At 1:30 P. M. the big parade, composed of only children, formed at the Grade school and proceeded through the business district.

This parade was truly a sight for the many visitors in town that day. The many clever entries represented long hours of work and originality and it was hard for the judges to make their decisions. Carrying away top honors for the best entry, was the big float carrying the kids from "Ellis Street". In the most unusual contest, Benny Cordray won first place with his two wheel cart led by a calf.
Wardie and Donna McConnell won second riding in their covered wagon, bearing all the signs of the early pioneers crossing the country. Little Wendolyn Nann Goins won first place as the best dressed mounted rider, with little Pat Kay Inloe running a close second. Not to be omitted, were the gaily decorated bicycles. In this contest, Mary Jo Gresham took first place and KaRene Davis, dressed as a Bluebonnet Girl, won second.

Following the parade, boxing matches were held, and bicycle and stick horse races. First and second prizes were awarded.

Lions Club

Almost a full attendance of Lions gathered at Town Hall Tuesday night for the regular weekly meeting.
Vice-President C. M. Archer was in charge in the absence of President J. H. Rigby.

Roy Magers, co-operating with Wallace Landrum, was responsible for securing the program. Lion Landrum introduced Judge Temple Shell, who in turn introduced Euline Shaw, Wichita County Juvenile Officer. Mr. Shaw brought members and guests several case histories of juveniles in this county, stressing the fact that most juvenile delinquents come from homes where one or both parents are delinquent. Many of those who heard the interesting talk had their eyes opened as to the existing conditions in this county, this state and this nation.

Revival Meeting At Church of God

The Revival Meeting now in progress at the Church of God, 121 Avenue E, is being well attended and splendid interest shown.
You are cordially invited to come out and hear Rev. W. E.
Mitchell, who is doing the preaching.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brookman had as their guests last week,
Mrs. Brookman's mother, Mrs.
John Wood of Midland and her sister, Mrs. Elmer Huddleston and daughter, Betty Sue of Abilene.

Lansford Johnson Fatally Injured Services Thursday

Funeral services were held here Thursday morning at ten o'clock for Lansford Johnson, Jr., from the First Methodist Church. Rev. T. Herbert Minga, pastor, officiated, assisted by Rev. T. Lynn Stewart, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Johnson died Tuesday night in a Wichita Falls hospital about 9:45 from injuries sustained Sunday afternoon when he was thrown from a horse. He never regained consciousness after being removed to the hospital in Wichita Falls, following first aid treatment in Burkburnett.

He came to Burkburnett in 1920, and for the past four years had been employed by the Burkburnett Implement Co.
Survivors included the widow;
two sons, Lanny, 6, and Jerry,
two; his parents, Mr. and Mrs.
Lansford Johnson, Sr., of Burkburnett, and one brother, Floyd of Wichita Falls.

Pallbearers were: Lloyd Teal,
Monk Young, Shorty Spivey, Bernard Buck, Gene Griffin and
J. D. Ashton, Jr.
Interment was in the Burkburnett Cemetery under the direction of the Owens and Brumley Funeral Home.

Mexican Jumping Beans Grow West Of Burkburnett

It is all a mistake that Mexican jumping beans will not grow North of the Rio Grande. We have several of the limbs in the Star Office, shelled out some of the beans and watched them do their stuff. They are still a little green but the performance is worth seeing.

Clyde Peed, who lives Northwest of Burkburnett had been telling for several years of a grove of Mexican jumping beans near his home. Last Friday he plucked several branches and brought them to the Star office.
He says some of the beans he picked last year jumped all winter long. They were placed in a glass and when the jumping got good the sound was something like shaking gravels in a jar.
The bushes grow three or four feet high. The leaves are about two inches long and half an inch wide. On the tip of each branch there are either three or five beans. Each bean is in three sections making an almost perfect ball. Not all the beans jump.
Some of them have the motor missing. The motor is a white worm, little over half an inch long and almost big around as a match. When the worm twists the bean jumps. What they live on is a mystery. They are inside a tough shell with no grocery provisions in sight.

Louis' Coffee Shop To Close During Month Of August

Announcement has been made by Louis Cashwheeler, owner of Louis' Coffee Shop that his place of business will be closed all during the month of August.
The Cashwheelers plan to spend their vacation in California, returning to Burkburnett September 1.

Grace Lutheran To Lay Corner Stone

Rev. Henry C. Schroeder

Grace Lutheran Congregation of this city, the Rev. Henry C.
Schroeder, pastor, will lay the corner stone for its new church next Sunday afternoon, August 1, at 3 p. m.

The exercises will take place at the site of the new church on East Main street. The contractor for the edifice, Mr. Charles E.
Kinsey of Wichita Falls, will be present to secure the stone in its permanent resting place, and the Pastor of the congregation will be in charge of the exercises.
Highlights of the occasion will be a reading of contents of the corner stone and an address by the pastor pointing out the significance of the stone.

This event will be a happy occasion in the history of Grace congregation. Ever since the church was organized in Burkburnett in 1945 it has been the fond hope of its members to have their own House of Worship. The beautiful Gothic structure was planned under the leadership of the late Rev. Paul Kaiser. The architect is James N. Foster of Wichita Falls.
Members of the congregation are giving unselfishly of their time and are supporting the project whole-heartedly in a financial way to make their dream a reality.

Nearby Lutheran congregations have been invited to attend, and the people of Burkburnett and surrounding area are also most cordially invited to be present.

WHAT PRICE TRAVEL

The vacationist finds the trip this summer is more expensive than the ones a few years back, and compared to the one in 1940, the cost is terrific. Whether you travel far or near the price hits you from the time you start buying clothes in preparation. Cruises are up as high as 82 per cent, since 1940. Transportation taxes make the travel costs higher. Sportswear, fishing tackle, golf and tennis equipment, luggage, cameras, films, gasoline, all put strain on the vacationer's pocketbook. Have car trouble and repair plus increased wages of mechanics, dents the outing budget. So you decide to stay home and picnic in the backyard. Weiners cost three times as much as in 1940 and the lowly bun has doubled in value since then. Looks as though a chap has to enjoy his vacation twice as much today as yesterday, in order to get an equal return on his money.

NOT HERE

Editors of big city newspapers get lots of letters from irate citizens, about the excessive honking of auto horns. The metropolis, with its crowded streets, its many cars, probably does get fed up with the man who "sits on the horn." Civic organizations can issue anti-noise literature and not get much co-operation. Law enforcement officers can try to curb the racket, too. But, still the noise continues.

What does one of these "letters to the editor" mean, when it says the city will get the reputation of being a hick town, if the incessant automobile honking isn't stopped. Urbanites often refer to a town the size of Burkburnett as a hick town. It used to irritate us but no longer. We know how many city folks envy those of us who live in these so-called hick towns. The idea that excessive horn honking is habitual of a small town, is absurd. What about

You will agree that

The parable of the sower and the seeds is applicable to enthusiasm evinced in behalf of civic projects. Seeds falling by the way-side, on stony ground, and in the thorns failed to produce fruit, while those sown in fertile soil, yielded with great increase.

Enthusiasm which is not nourished by patient activity cannot yield fruitful results.

The Municipal Light Plant is already making substantial gains, but the yield can be greatly increased in time. Are you helping own your own at home by active, patient support of the Municipal light plant?

the songs, poetry and prose that praise the peaceful village, the quiet of rural living, the calm of the country? A blasting, blaring horn used to beat, disturbs everyone, in town or city. Fortunately we have little of it to contend with here. Most folks feel they can use automobile driving caution in many instances, in place of the car horn. If the city slicker doesn't believe this, let him spend a weekend in a hick town.

Burkburnett . . . History

As revealed by the files of the Star 10 years ago.

W. C. Keisling, Wylie Browning and Herman Englemann attended a meeting of the executive committee for the Wichita County fair held in Iowa Park Tuesday evening.

The Magnolia Petroleum Company staked a new location this week for another deep test for Burkburnett. The location is on the Riley farm about 5 miles Southwest of the city.

Chas. Grace and family returned Wednesday night from a delightful vacation spent in Colorado.

Miss Letha Faye Minick accepted a position this week as manager of the ladies ready to wear at the Manhattan.

Mr. and Mrs. Neeley Vaught and their children are spending their vacation in South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley.

THE Methodist CHURCH

T. HERBERT MINGA
Pastor

The Youth Caravan visiting the Methodist Church this week has brought a wealth of inspiration to many young people participating in its varied activities. Friday evening at 8:15 the climactic session of this unusual week will be held in a consecration service in the church auditorium. All who are interested in better Christian living are invited to share in this hour, adults as well as all ages of youth.

Beginning with workshop groups in the morning and closing with well directed recreation after the evening worship services, the five caravanners have filled each day with all the advantages young people gain by attending assemblies and church camps.

A Fellowship Supper has been given to the young people each evening in the church dining room. The meals were prepared and served by different groups: On Sunday, Circle three of the WSCS and the MYF; on Monday, The Wesley Class; on Tuesday, the Homebuilders Class; on Wednesday, the Children's Division; on Thursday, the Men's Bible Class; and on Friday, a picnic supper brought by the Young People themselves.

The five caravan leaders entertained the Rotary Club with some of their talents on Tuesday. All of them are musicians, speakers and devoted to the cause of religious development. They are: Miss Etheleen Williams of Bonham, Miss Kathryn Poe of Indianola, Miss Mava Adams of Roscoe, Miss Carolyn Jackson of Paton, Iowa and Paul Boston of Montgomery, La.

About fifty young people from First Church, in Wichita Falls and Floral Heights visited the caravan on Monday evening. Accompanying them were Rev. Raybon Porter, associate pastor of First Church, Rev. W. A. Weems, associate pastor of Floral Heights Church, and Rev. G. P. McCollum, district superintendent, and Mrs. McCollum. After the recreation hour C. J. Lippard and the pastor host, T. Herbert Minga, served cold drinks to the group. The pastor will preach on Sunday morning, and the evening service, planned by the caravan leaders, will be led by Miss Alice Millikin who has been the musical director for the week. The hour for this is 7:30.

Come to church Sunday. You need the church, the church needs you.

Joe Gibson, who is employed by the United Gas Co. in Monroe, La., suffered a very painful accident last week. While working a wasp struck him in the left eye. He was rushed to a hospital where doctors believed at first the sting would affect his vision, but have later determined it did not. His parents left Wednesday to visit him.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Keep powdered sugar in tightly covered glass or tin containers to prevent lumping.

You really should cook potatoes and other root vegetables in their jackets. Valuable vitamins and minerals are near to the skin.

Slice leftover potatoes, pour over them some white sauce and grated cheese, then heat in the oven for one-half hour.

Vary bread pudding by garnishing with chopped nuts, marshmallow sauce, shredded coconut, or maraschino cherry sauce.

Little children love sweet animal milk toast. Toast bread, cut it into animal shapes with a cookie cutter, spread lightly with jelly or jam and pour hot milk over the top.

When only a few drops of lemon juice are needed, puncture fruit with a fork or sharp-pointed knife. Squeeze gently. This prevents wasting the whole lemon.

To remove bits of ground meat easily from the food chopper, follow up the meat with a small amount of stale bread. The bread-crumbs will carry away any meat which remains in the chopper.

To preserve the new appearance of your refrigerator, remember that defrosting alone is not enough. Clean it thoroughly, inside and out, with soap and water every time it is defrosted.

Oranges at room temperature, or slightly warmer, will give more juice than chilled fruits.

Tribute Paid To Loving Memory of Norma Joyce Sands

At the death Friday, July 23, of Norma Joyce Sands, the members of the King's Daughters Class of the Junior Department of the First Baptist church and their leader, Mrs. O. B. Wofford, feel they have lost one of their most faithful members.

On July 11, a one-act play, written by Mrs. Wofford, was presented to the Junior Department of the Church. In view of the part Norma Joyce took in the play and her ever-ready devotion to her class and friends, the King's Daughters and their teacher, Mrs. Wofford, humbly dedicate the play to her loving memory.

Fighting Truman Gets Democratic Nomination, Calls Special Session; Barkley Selected as Running Mate

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

Truman 'WE ACCEPT!' Barkley Born in Log Cabin In Fighting Mood

The PHILADELPHIA STORY Truman-Barkley

If the Democrats hadn't known before their convention that President Harry Truman was their man they found out on the steaming Wednesday when their political show slammed through to a smashing, triumphant finish.

Harry Truman told them so, after the enterprising liberal forces of the party had spent all that Wednesday in the 105-degree heat of convention hall proving it beyond any doubt.

It looked like the Democratic party might have been completely revitalized in 12 tense hours on that last day of the convention, ending a period during which the Democrats' morale and will to win slowly had been ossifying.

The revitalization came as a result of two potent factors which actually could be reduced to one—President Truman's influence.

In the first place, in adopting the strong, positive civil rights plank in the platform the party not only repudiated the idea and spirit of reaction but also dealt an extremely sharp and real slap to the hands of the southern wing which had tried, at times almost savagely, to produce a cleavage within the party.

That action, closely followed by the nomination of President Truman to run for re-election and the nomination of Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky by acclamation for the vice-presidential spot on the ticket added another solid timber to the structure that the liberal elements of the party were fighting so hard to build.

Those developments were, in themselves, a complete and victorious proof that the Democrats this year intended to bring themselves before the American public as a responsible, cohesive party that would be striving for nothing less than total victory in the November election.

But it remained for President Truman to give the whole affair a significance that could not be ignored.

Fighting Finish It was a far cry from a love fest as the Democratic clans, feuding for many months, met in the City of Brotherly Love for their 30th national convention.

After three days of strife and bickering, the conclave came to a close as a fighting President Truman triumphantly accepted his party's nomination for the presidency and then rocked Democrats and Republicans alike with an instant summons to the 80th congress to return for a special session July 26.

The convention, perhaps the most bitterly divided since 1860 and 1924, ended with a political explosion detonated by the quiet man from Independence, Mo. The explosion startled even the regular members of his own party who had engineered the nomination of Mr. Truman to the presidency.

The Democrats pinned their November election hopes on a ticket of Harry S. Truman and Alben W. Barkley. It was the 64-year-old modest, low-voiced former senator from Missouri, who had succeeded to the office upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1945, for the presidency. And it was the 70-year-old, soft-speaking, compromise-

PERSHING: Taps Sounds

Gen. John J. (Blackjack) Pershing, who led American troops to victory in World War I, is dead at the age of 87.

The aged former chief of staff had been ill since February, 1938, when he was stricken at Tucson, Ariz., by a form of rheumatism which affected his heart muscles. He came close to dying at that time, but rallied with a display of fighting spirit which amazed his physicians. Since then he had lived at Walter Reed hospital in Washington, D. C.

Death was caused by a blood clot which reached his lung. At Pershing's bedside when death came were his son, Warren; his sister, Miss May Pershing, and his long-time physician, Maj. Gen. Shelley Marietta.

Long the idol of a grateful nation, Pershing held the rank of general of the armies, a title conferred on only four other American soldiers, Washington, Grant, Sherman, and Sheridan. He outranked such contemporary five-star generals as George C. Marshall, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and Douglas MacArthur. Their title is general of the army.

Pershing won his greatest fame as commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary force in World War I. Appointed to that post in 1917, he took personal command of the American troops sent to France. He almost immediately became involved in a dispute with other Allied commanders who wanted to break up the American army and use it to reinforce the French and British armies wherever necessary. Pershing flatly refused to let his troops lose their identity.

Born Sept. 13, 1860, in the frontier town of Laclede, Mo., Pershing was graduated from West Point when he was 26. He became a second lieutenant in the sixth U. S. cavalry and launched a career in soldiering to which he devoted his entire life. He fought Indians in the American west, Spaniards in Cuba, Moro tribesmen in the Philippines, Mexican bandits under Pancho Villa on the U. S.-Mexican border and Germans in France.

Throughout World War II, Pershing received a full report twice a month from General Marshall, his aide of 1917. Although old and feeble, the general followed daily developments closely from his hospital room, paying particular attention to "my boys," who included Generals Marshall, Eisenhower, and George S. Patton Jr.

CROPS: Record Output

Barring a major crop disaster, the nation will harvest another bumper crop this year, with indications pointing to a general crop production which may surpass that of the outstanding year of 1942 and the record set in 1946.

Acres in crops is among the largest in recent years and yield prospects are good for most crops, agriculture department spokesmen said, on the basis of July 1 conditions.

An all-time record corn crop of 3,322,862,000 bushels was forecast although corn, the largest feed crop, still faces such hazards as a dry, hot August or an early frost. Previous record was 3,287,927,000 bushels in 1946.

The wheat crop prospect of 1,241,751,000 bushels represents a gain of 4 per cent from earlier forecasts. If that amount is harvested, it will rank as the second largest crop in history.

Rice will set a new acreage record and nearly equal last year's record output. Oats and barley will be well above average crops.

Bumper crop prospects are not expected to mean any immediate increase in meat supplies or any noticeable decrease in meat prices but the record harvest should mean larger meat supplies in the future.

Employment Gains

Continuing the postwar upward trend in civilian employment, 1.5 million more persons were employed in civilian occupations last April than in April, 1947, it is revealed in figures compiled by the National Industrial Conference board.

Accompanying this increased employment was a decline of more than 200,000 in unemployment over the year's period.

Washington Digest Alas, Poor Yorick, Capital Has Seen Its Last Theater

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON—As Washington hurries through summer, forced to commute to Philadelphia for its major distraction, it is faced with a painful prospect of less diversion next fall. This city which once boasted of almost a dozen legitimate theaters (when it had a much smaller population) is about to have the last one that lingered on alone turned into a movie house.

The old National theater, which opened in 1835, was burned and rebuilt four times, collapsed once, is now about to end its legitimate days on an issue which is giving the Democratic party equal concern—civil rights. The Actor's Equity, to which most actors belong, won't play here because Negroes are not permitted in the audience.

There is talk that the old Belasco theater, erected in 1895 on Madison place, facing Lafayette square, may be reconditioned and leased to a management which will lift the racial discrimination practice (the Belasco is currently government property and is used as a storehouse). If the Belasco is not reopened, Washington will be theaterless.

Baukhage Washington's theatrical tradition began early. One of the first theaters here was the Washington theater at Eleventh and C streets. It opened in 1804 and its ads proclaiming the grand premiere added in small type: "No Segars are to be smoked during the performance."

When that edifice burned, a second Washington theater, seating 700 persons, was opened in 1821. It boasted numerous improvements and innovations, including stoves, reserved seats, improved acoustics, no liquor in the box lobbies and facilities for Negro players. "Facilities" today wouldn't satisfy accommodations would have to be on a basis of race equality.

Fourteen years after the new Washington theater had opened its doors the National theater appeared on the site of the present movie-house-to-be. It is located in the very center of what only recently has been called "downtown," on E street which meets Pennsylvania avenue just before it bumps into the treasury building, skirts its northern front and ambles past the White House.

Important clubs, hotels, and restaurants are only a few blocks from the National today but when it was built, it was, like any other point in the young capital, well-nigh inaccessible in inclement weather. When it rained or snowed, Pennsylvania avenue became a mudhole. Residential areas, except those in Georgetown, weren't far from the center of town in the early 1840s, but because of the rough going the wealthy didn't like to risk their fancy equipages out on bad nights, it cost as much as $10 to get from home to the show.

Now you can ride all the way from Capitol Hill to what was forest and farmland in 1835 for 30 cents.

The capital's greatest theatrical development began right after the Civil war and went on for three decades. By the time I attended my first show here in 1914, there was no dearth of dramatic entertainment and sometimes three original Broadway companies would be playing in different theaters at the same time. It was a good town for openings up until fairly recently.

There is one theater, now a museum, which is still a point of interest for tourists. Originally it was a Baptist church on Tenth street. In 1861 it was converted into what was called Christy's opera house. Later it became Ford's theater. In the upper stage box of this theater, President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated by the actor, John Wilkes Booth.

There was a saloon on the corner below the theater where Booth was said to have had his last drink before he crept into the theater, shot Lincoln and leaped to the stage, tripping on a piece of bunting and breaking his leg.

For many years, over the bar of that saloon, hung a crude picture of the assassination, and on the floor was a metal marker where the half-mad actor was supposed to have stood as he warmed his courage in preparation for his theatrical crime.

Washington theatergoers were well acquainted with John Booth's acting but better still with that of his elder brother, Edwin, who had the greater talent. But they never saw Edwin Booth on a local stage again. He was so heart-broken over his brother's crime that he never again played in the capital.

A theatrical performance in Washington plays one role that it plays in no other American city. It becomes, on certain occasions, few or many according to the taste of the incumbent president, a ceremony of state. No matter how private a president wants to be when he sees a show, he can't help being a public person on such occasions. The secret service, responsible for his life, wouldn't think of letting him sit anywhere but in a box where he is separated from the crowd. This, on the other hand, makes him conspicuous. One guard outside the door to Lincoln's box in the Ford theater could have prevented the assassination.

The fact that there was no provision for protection by the government in the Temple of Music in Buffalo cost the nation its President William McKinley.

Since then, the chief executive has had a bodyguard whether he likes it or not, and a bodyguard can't hide its light under a bushel. Entrance and exit from a public building become a little bit of a pageant, no matter how they are effected.

Woodrow Wilson loved the theater. He liked vaudeville and was a frequent visitor at Keith's—now one of our big movie houses. Edmund Starling, head of the secret service under several presidents, often talked to me about how much Wilson loved the theater. Starling enjoyed it. I enjoyed it, and perhaps together, we exaggerated Wilson's affection for the footlights. But Starling used to say that Wilson got more recreation from that source than any other. In his book, "Starling of the White House," he says Wilson preferred musical comedy and vaudeville to serious drama. That was the general impression among the newspapermen. I know.

Both the Roosevelts, Theodore and Franklin, were great theatergoers. Neither of them was a blushing violet as far as receiving adulation of the crowds was concerned, but for a number of reasons, largely the hectic times of the late Roosevelt's regime, the former made his attendance anywhere more of a show. Although an assassin's bullet did lay low a man in Franklin Roosevelt's entourage—Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago when both were visiting Miami—Theodore Roosevelt was himself actually shot and badly wounded on one occasion. However, this was after he left the White House and while he was making a political speech in Milwaukee.

It was the movie which drove out the later Washington legitimate theaters, but this death blow to the present-day National theater arises out of the growing demand to end segregation—a demand which made itself felt after World War I, and which increased in World War II. The frequent, well-publicized controversies over lifting of the segregation ban in Constitution hall, property of the Daughters of the American Revolution and one of the few available concert halls in the city, have spotlighted Washington's segregation habits—they aren't laws.

The manager of the National theater is not closing the theater for social reasons. He simply can't book shows if he continues race discrimination and he thinks that if he raises the ban, he can't sell tickets to enough white people to make it pay.

To southerners it probably seems absurd that such a question should arise, and northerners probably will be just as surprised for the opposite reason. Washington was once a southern city, now it is a mixture of North and South and typical of neither.

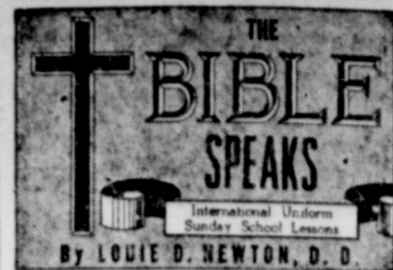

Embrace, Pity, Then Endure

Before his third party's convention in Philadelphia, Henry Wallace repeated several times the assertion that he was not a Communist, that he didn't want Communist support, in fact, that he wished they'd get out of his party. For this, as some observers pointed out, Wallace was mildly spanked by the Daily Worker, mouthpiece of Muskovite communism in America.

It seems to me that Wallace is following one of Alexander Pope's quatrains in reverse. Remember Pope said:

"Vice is a monster of so frightful mien As to be hated needs but to be seen, Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face, We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

Having embraced the Reds, Wallace seems to be beginning to back up, through pity, and now is finding that he has to endure them, whether he likes them or not.

SCRIPTURE Jeremiah 32:6-15; 36-37; 43:8-9. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalms 82.

Baruch, The Scribe

Lesson for August 1, 1948

BARUCH, whose name means "blessed," was the grandson of Maaseiah, "governor of the city" under Josiah (II Chronicles 34:8), and his father, Neriah, appears to have been an official during the reign of Jehoiakim. He was a trusted friend of Jeremiah (Jeremiah 32: 6-15 and 43:5-6). Tradition holds that Baruch was carried to Babylon, where he wrote the apocryphal "Book of Baruch," and died in 574, B.C., twelve years after the fall of Jerusalem.

Our golden text for this lesson is found in Psalms 119:105. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and light unto my path."

OUR BIBLE "THEN Jeremiah called Baruch, the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the Lord, which he had spoken unto him, upon a roll of a book. And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut up; I cannot go into the house of the Lord. Therefore go thou, and read in the roll, which thou hast written from my mouth, the words of the Lord in the ears of the people in the Lord's house upon the fasting day; and also thou shalt read them in the ears of all Judah that come out of the cities," Jeremiah 36:4-8.

How did we get our Bible? Through this simple process of God speaking through his appointed prophet, and by the faithful work of men like Baruch who served as scribes.

THIS SCRIBE O' LONG AGO

IN the introductory paragraph I sketched briefly the story of Baruch. He was a trained man, trusted and beloved. This he had to be, else God would not have approved Jeremiah's selection of Baruch to copy what he was saying for God. And not only was he selected to write down what God was saying, through his prophet, but he was used to proclaim the words of God to the people in the Lord's house. Baruch was amanuensis, reader and distributor of the Bible—a distinguished role, indeed. Let us today be gladly ready to read the Bible to others, and to distribute and circulate the Scriptures wherever we may. Here I pause to pay tribute to the American Bible Society and all others, including the Gideons, who help to make the Bible known to all men everywhere.

A MAN ON WHOM GOD COUNTED THUS we see that Baruch was a man on whom God counted. His work was done well, and we read that, "When they heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other, and said unto Baruch, We will surely tell the king of all these words."

Young people will do well to ponder this incident. In the varied contacts of young Christians in this modern day, we may be used of the Holy Spirit in making known the words of God if countless ways. Thus, like Baruch, you may be used of God to make known his will unto all mankind.

BARUCH, A COURAGEOUS SCRIBE

THE full context reveals the fact that Baruch exhibited courage as well as faithfulness in his service as scribe to Jeremiah. It was not an easy task. Nor will it be easy to fill our posts as couriers of the Good News. But it was a rewarding experience for Baruch. He served his day and generation according to the will of God.

Mr. Henry Ford, Sr., believed in having a copy of the Bible near at hand wherever he might sit down in his home. "I do this in order that I may reach over and spend a few minutes with the Lord wherever I may sit down. And I always cherish the hope that others will find it a lamp unto their feet and a light along their daily pathway."

Let us give thanks for Baruch—the trusted friend who served Jeremiah, and thus served God.

Conduct

Fundamentally, the force that rules the world is conduct, whether it be moral or immoral. If it is moral at least there may be hope for the world. If immoral, there is not only no hope, but no prospect of anything but destruction of all that has been accomplished during the last 8,000 years.—Nicholas Murray Butler.

One of the oldest and most singular of all the present processes employed in steel-making is the Bessemer process. A blast of blown through the molten iron elements such as carbon and silicon are oxidized in the intense heat that is generated. ## Northside 777, Actual Story of Crusade, Filmed from Life, James Stewart in Lead Role

"Call Northside 777" proved so outstandingly successful in such films as "Boomerang," "Kiss of Death," "13 Rue Madeleine" and "House on 92nd Street." Its story lifted right out of the headline of Chicago newspapers — the Chicago of 1932, of gangland wars, bootlegger battles and cop killings—the events and characters depicted in "Call Northside 777" are not fictional, rather "any similarity with persons either living or dead, is intentional.

For James Stewart, currently at the peak of his brilliant career, "Call Northside 777" holds what is considered to be the most intensely dramatic and suspenseful role he has ever played. Stewart is seen as a usually mild-mannered and cynical reporter whose stubbornness and courage breaks wide open one of the most scandalous injustices of a decade. Richard Conte, Lee J. Cobb and Helen Walker play important supporting roles in the film which was directed by Henry Hathaway of "Kiss of Death" and "13 Rue Madeleine" fame.

Based on Actual Case
"Call Northside 777" is based on the case of Joseph Majczek who, on July 3, 1947, received a check for $24,000 from the State of Illinois for 13 years of wrongful imprisonment. He had been sentenced in 1932 to 99 years for the murder of a Chicago policeman.

Majczek's release from the Stateville Prison brought to a climax one of the most astounding, shocking stories ever recorded in the annals of crime and punishment. It is the story of a mother's faith in her son, a faith so strong that for 13 years she scrubbed floors, saving every penny, that she might prove her son's innocence. It is the story of a newspaper reporter who stood alone against overwhelming odds to secure the evidence and the infamy of a decade—who battled against overwhelming odds to secure the evidence to free an innocent man—and who, himself, found a love and triumph few men have ever known. And it is this story which "Call Northside 777" brings to the screen with painstaking fidelity, following it thru step by step, revealing actual events and characters, within the realm of possibility.

Protect Flock From Worminess

To keep your chickens free of severe damage caused by intestinal worms, follow a systematic control program for the rest of the growing season and after fall housing. Such a program should include regular cleaning of the poultry house or shelters, runs and equipment, plus the use of medicines which will remove the worm species from the infected birds.

Remove Filth

The frequent removal of filth will prevent worm infection in your flock by reducing the number of worm eggs present. Give your flock the benefits of a clean sanitary home.

For such familiar worm species as large roundworms and cecal worms there are dependable commercial medicines which may be given to the flock with good results. Many poultrymen follow the practice of administering a worm-remover every month mixing it in the flock's feed. This is done during the range period and also after fall housing.

Uniform Growth

Poultry raisers who follow a good worm control program find that it helps prevent damage from intestinal worms, thereby promoting uniform growth of the birds and encouraging higher egg production. Although they rarely cause mortality, intestinal worms are actually extremely costly. They cause decreased egg production, lower birds' resistance to infectious disease, and create cull chickens which are not fit for market.

In effect worms cause slow starvation. Great numbers of them in a fowl's intestinal tract make it impossible for the bird's body to assimilate food as it should. The effect is most noticeable in young birds whose growing bodies demand full use of the feed they consume.

Attend Relatives Funeral

"Bride Goes Wild" Stars Johnson and Allyson, Comedy

Those who have been asking for longer and louder laughs on the screen will find their wishes gratified at the Palace Theatre, where MGM's howling romantic comedy, "The Bride Goes Wild" starts Sunday. With Van Johnson and June Allyson cast in the breezy, light hearted type of role which first won them Hollywood approval, and with the ingratiating ten-year old Butch Jenkins lending staunch assistance, this picture emerges as one of the freshest and most rib-tickling comedies of the year.

The premise of the engaging yarn is the triumph of industry and abstemiousness over intemperance and sloth, with Miss Allyson representing the former in the role of a prim New England schoolma'am who doesn't smoke, drink or flirt. When she encounters Mr. Johnson, a writer of juvenile fantasies who does all three to excess, there is a clash of wills and personalities that engenders some of the funniest film fireworks you have ever seen.

Young Jenkins, as a tough orphaned brat whom Van unwillingly adopts for reasons of expediency, inadvertently becomes the pawn on the romantic checkerboard of the principals, and it is he who finally brings them together with the help of an astonishing collection of ants.

Sunday school at ten A. M., with all classes studying II Peter, chapter one, "Why And How to Grow as a Christian." Come and study in our Sunday School where nothing but the Bible is our literature. We study the Bible as it is, and give it to men as they are.

Preaching service at eleven o'clock. After an absence of two weeks, in which he was helping in a revival meeting in Carlsbad, N. M., the pastor will be occupying his own pulpit Sunday. He will continue his studies on the seven churches of Revelation for the morning preaching hour. This Sunday he will be preaching on the fourth Church of Revelation, "Thyatira—The Church Married to the World." Rev. 2:18-29. These studies are not wild haired guessing nor cold, formal, scientific reasoning, but a careful spiritual study and application of the things which God has given for our edification. They are not mysteries, as so many try to make them, but revelations of things God wants you and me to know. They are not historical, but prophetic, for our learning. We invite you to bring your Bibles and carefully follow us in these studies.

Evening services begin at 8:00 P. M. with a good gospel song service. After which, the pastor will bring a message on this subject: "Why can't nations live in peace? Why can't all religious bodies agree, cooperate and consolidate? Why can't all Christians quit backbiting, slandering and bickering? Why can't the world be at peace and all wrong be made right?" A great big subject, isn't it? Well, is there an answer? I dare you to come and hear exactly what God has to say in answering these questions. It will not be a Baptist answer, but a Bible answer. We are not trying to build a denominational program, nor build an ecclesiastical machine, but to give a thus saith the Lord. A warm welcome awaits all.

New Testament Church

Continuing our study of the New Testament Church identity today, we desire to notice the authority of the church. All organizations must have authority of God for their existence and continuance.

Matt. 28:18, Jesus said, "All power (or authority) is given unto me in heaven and in earth." In all things we are to be spiritual, Jesus had ALL authority, and the New Testament Church followed his authority in every matter. The authority of the Lord was respected and followed in every matter. The elders of the apostolic congregation exercised only the authority that was designated to them by the Lord through the Holy Spirit.

The authority of the Saviour must be respected and followed by the church. This authority is revealed in the New Testament. In 2 Tim. 3:16, 17, Paul said that the inspired scripture will completely furnish us with every good work. Therefore, we must obey the teaching of the New Testament alone in order to be the true New Testament Church.

The books, written by men, living or dead, are the authority for most religious bodies. Manuals, discourses, confessions of faith and prayer books of every denomination have taken the place of the holy word in God in churches. Popes, cardinals, archbishops, presiding elders, district superintendents occupy places of authority in New Testament times. Conferences, convening similar meetings make laws and by-laws which are found in the eternal word of God and not in man's writings. Does the church of which you are a member have the authority of Jesus Christ and his word alone to follow.

Europe Needs Old Eyeglasses

One of the great needs in Europe today is for eyeglasses. For some people, suitable eyeglasses mean the difference between employment or non-employment; for some the difference between school and absence from school; and for others they mean health, and hope, and a chance for knowledge.

Do you have old and unused and discarded glasses (or frames or lenses only) in some desk or drawer or elsewhere? Will you give them to relieve some needy person in Europe? If so, leave them at the Palace Theatre or in the lobby of the Methodist Church. The Fellowship Class of the Methodist Church is sponsoring this move in Burk Burnett.

Reign of the Bureaucracy

"Bureaucracy" is a mossed-over but not outmoded term. Its popularity may have faded lately because politicians seem to use the term less and less. I fear that all too many folks have assumed that government by bureaucracy is here to stay, that no matter what brand of national administration you have, the emphasis will still be on Washington. Yet, to welcome an increasing reign of bureaucrats is to invite totalitarianism.

The battle against political encroachments upon the lives of our people still can be won. When the facts are carried straight to the bar of public opinion, I believe informed Americans will repudiate this reign of bureaucrats. For a generation, the scope of government's power has extended outward from the federal center. People are tired of abuses that come in the wake of bureaucracy.

Beyond the Law
Do you realize that some 1,200 federal bureaus now exist to dominate, control, and restrain every manner of human activity? Back of these bureaus eleven government agencies function as corporations and 44 actually exist as corporations. The majority of these have little constitutional justification. Compliance with constitutional law is not important to these bureaus and agencies. Neither is the spirit of individual enterprise, which is so much a part of American tradition.

These agencies feel they are beyond the law and the spirit of the constitution. While competing with the private enterprise of citizens, these federal corporations indulge in wasteful, extravagant, and corrupt practices. A screen of bureaucratic confusion, with the help of garbled records and false accounting methods, hides them from full public view. These methods resemble those of the monarchies of old!

No Rent, No Taxes
Federal corporations that compete with the enterprises of private citizens have rare advantages. They pay no rent, and decline to refer to this in their bookkeeping. They are simply "operating government property." They pay no taxes, like the corporations with which they compete. They are "the government," and their purpose is to consume taxes. Tax money is grist for their mills.

Despite having to pay no rent and no taxes, federal corporations are estimated by one source as having used up $5,500,000,000 more than they earned in the year ending last June. Moreover, they have a free rein on costs. Losses added to well-hidden costs are estimated to make up a full third of the annual federal budget. All this cost is a huge burden on the productivity of our citizens. Such wastefulness has no place in this people's republic!

Consider the effect on our nation now, if we could eliminate one-third of the tax requirement! Not only would we have needed money for world rehabilitation and for retiring the national debt. While establishing a sound federal economy by eliminating these needless government costs, we would increase the standard of living for everyone. But most important, by ending the reign of bureaucracy, we would halt the march toward totalitarianism!

1. Ropery milk should not be confused with stringy, clotted, gargety milk from mastitis infected cows. Ropery milk may look normal as it comes from the cow and usually the ropery condition is not apparent until it has stood for several hours during which time the type of bacteria responsible for this condition have had a chance to multiply. Bacteria causing this condition are usually found in stagnant water, and the trouble is apt to occur when cows get out on pasture and wallow in ponds or swampy places. Improper sterilization or rinsing milking utensils with impure water may cause contamination. This trouble can easily be overcome by improved sanitation practices.

2. Yes. At the Research Station, the Ralston Purina Company found that ducks can be raised on dry ground. A concrete pool should be provided. Ducks will wash themselves and keep clean and comfortable.

3. Ridding pigs of worms of age may save up to 10% of corn per pig, thus increasing hog raiser's profit and at the same time making an important gain.
