Curbing on Ave. D Is Progressing

Rain stopped curbing work on Ave. D for a day or so, but it has resumed again. The work on this street is going slower because of the many concrete culverts to be removed, and other obstacles, such as trees, etc.

This curbing project, which will be followed immediately with street paving from curb to curb, is one of the most progressive steps taken in Burk Burnett in many years. The State Highway Department will do the street curbing at their expense. The only cost to the property owners is just $1.00 per running foot for the curbing in front of their property.

Large Crowd At Burk Imp. Party

Little Kerry Clack Entertains Lions

Little Kerry Clack, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Clack, captured the hearts of Lions Tuesday night when he entertained by reciting "Casey at the Bat" and "Casey's Revenge". Kerry went upon the stage, and like a veteran orator, told of Casey's shameful failure at the bat and then his triumphant swat at a later date.

A number of building projects in Burk Burnett are under way. Will Teal's tile brick structure across the street from the Star office will be completed in a week or two. Pete Bates is contractor. The new building going up on the site of the old Clarkson Hotel with W. H. Draper as contractor, has the subflooring down and is progressing according to schedule.

Harlan Mills and Woodrow Fleming are making good progress on their 50x150 tile brick building on the corner of Ave. B and Main street. Workers now have the walls up past the windows. In another month or so it will be ready for occupancy.

Ted Harwell has started work on three houses in Rose Lawn, just off the Wichita Highway. Foundation work is now in progress.

Several homes are under construction on Magnolia street. In other parts of town additions and remodeling work is in progress.

Unknown Island Has Strange Set Of Monsters

Audiences viewing "Unknown Island," Cinecolor production, starring Philip Reed, Virginia Grey, Barton MacLane and Richard Denning, will be startled by thirteen immense and terrifying monsters of prehistoric days when the picture comes to the Palace Theatre Wed and Thurs.

Not since the "Lost World" thrilled moviegoers out of their seats nearly three decades ago did a hollywood producer venture to present a story showing the fearsome beasts, such as the tyrannosaurus, giant sloth and dinosaur, which roved the earth's surfaces between 50,000,000 and 100,000,000 years ago.

The story, an original one by Robert Terry Shannon and Jack Harvey, is a gripping and red-blooded adventure chronicle of amazing events which befell an intrepid group of people who seek the beasts on a mysterious island in the Pacific.

Junior University Study Club Starts Memorial Move

Members of the Junior University Study Club have started a move to erect some kind of suitable and permanent memorial to Veterans of World War I and World II from the Burk Burnett area.

Members of this club feel that the honor roll which stood on Main street, was removed all too soon. At present there is no kind of permanent memorial for Burk Burnett area veterans.

Members of the club would like to have suggestions from any and everybody about the proposed memorial. What kind, what size, and where should it be erected. Any suggestions you have should be given to Marilyn Robertson, or to any member of the Junior University Study Club, or left at the Star office.

Baptist Young Married Couples Organize Class

All young married couples, 17 to 25, who are not attending another Sunday School, are invited to meet with us Sunday.

The class will assemble in the Young People's Department of the church. For those who have small children, this church has ample facilities to care for them.

Two nursery departments with capable attendants and clean sanitary rooms, will take good care of the children during the Sunday school and preaching services.

We want to reach many young people. Attend this wide-awake class Sunday for Bible study, Christian fun and fellowship.

Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Rainey of Electra, former Burk resident, celebrated their 38th wedding anniversary with a dinner Sunday, March 27th.

Three of their daughters were there to help them celebrate the occasion: Mrs. Floyd Kiler and two children from Seattle, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carnes and children of Wichita Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Dureward Redman and children of Burk Burnett.

TWIN CALVES

Twin calves were born last week to a White faced Cow belonging to Mrs. Carl Miller.

Revival services will begin at the First Baptist Church, Wednesday night, April 6 and continue through Easter Sunday, April 17. C. T. Hodges of Irving, Texas will lead the singing. He is now an evangelist singer but for many years gave himself to music in our churches. He was for about a year music and educational director of this church while Rev. Finney was pastor. Rev. T. Lynn Stewart, local pastor will preach for the revival services. He has just returned from a very successful revival at Sylvester, Texas, and has had the honor of being invited for a return engagement for every revival he has preached in.

The first four nights of the revival will be an old fashioned prayer meeting each night with the pastor bringing a brief message and some great gospel singing. The preaching phase of the revival will begin Sunday, April 10. On that Sunday the Sunday school has set a goal of 706 in attendance. Services will be held each day that week at 10 A. M. and 8 P. M. There will be sane Bible preaching and good Gospel singing. The pastor and members of this church extend a most cordial invitation to everyone to attend all of these services.

Services for this Sunday as announced by the pastor are as follows: 9:45 A. M. Sunday School with eight complete departments and a class for every age. High attendance goals have been set for the next few Sundays and every effort will be made to reach them. If you are not in Sunday School, we urge you to come this Sunday to this school of the church.

10:50 A. M. Morning Worship. Sermon: "When Life Becomes Spiritually Fruitful." The pastor urges and prays that you attend this morning service. We are trusting the revival will really begin this Sunday morning.

7:00 P. M. Training Union. Come, let's strain for better Christian Service.

8 P. M. Evening Service. Sermon: "The Unprofitable Servant" or "Villain in the Kingdom." The Lord's Supper will be observed.

The Nursery is open for all services. A capable attendant is in charge. The nursery will be open during the revival. The church bus runs every Sunday morning and night to bring those to church who have no way to come. The bus will run every night during the revival.

BOOSTING MAIL RATES

J. E. Jones, Washington, D. C.

What's the matter with this postal system of ours? It seems to be getting funny. Last summer everybody who used the so-called "pre-canceled" mail was nicked a straight ten dollars fee for the privilege. That looked like a hold-up to some of us.

Worst of all changes is the boosting of the rate on publishers and advertising they carry, which raises the rates more than 300 per cent; particularly on second-class printed matter. As we recall postal history there has always been a deficit. The Post Office Department thinks that the customary $500,000 deficit can be wiped out by raising the cost of stamps. There is a funny proposition for a sliding scale of additional charges for mail service based upon a percentage of advertising in a publication. It looks like a woody proposition. It seems to figure out that the greatest hardship of all will be imposed upon local newspapers. One New York Times reporter makes the statement that "the greatest hardship will be on the small newspapers, a number of which will have to reduce their circulation."

The Herbert Hoover Commission report stands pat on the statement that the Post Office has not accurate accounting methods on which it can determine its actual costs to specific users. The report adds: "A lot of folks just won't be able to use the mails any more, and the Post Office may wind up losing more revenue." Postal rates are joining the procession of "higher costs of living."

THOSE REPORT CARDS

Most of us are afraid of report cards, as youngsters, we won't deny. The brilliant student could proudly display his marks, but the less brilliant wanted to hide. It doesn't take educators to tell us that some children who can't get top grades, assume a defeatist attitude. We know that report cards can be dangerous, leading to all kinds of punishment on the part of parents. In six schools in a New Jersey county, several hundred students have never seen a report card. Their teachers have 15-minute conferences, four times a year, with the parents. No fixed grades, but folders of the student's work, notes on mental and physical development, are discussed with these parents. Not only does this bring parent, teacher and child closer understanding, but gives a better idea of what the school is trying to do. As a Burk Burnett man puts it, the doing away with the report card again proves we oldsters were born too soon.

Business, Big and Little!

You cannot create a make-believe feud out of the mythical question of Big Business vs. Small Business. It won't hold up, this attempt to make "bad business" out of business that's big. We need many of them small, but we also want some of them big. I recall Emerson's fabled quarrel of the mountain and the squirrel, in which the squirrel made the point: "If I cannot carry forests on my back, neither can you crack a nut." Both big and little enterprises belong in America's system.

Out of the desire of people for goods and for services, our business exists. Private business, generally, is taken for granted. Yet, many unthinking people consider "Big Business" a certain bogeyman. They fail to see that big business is simply a lot of people doing things together that they could not do separately.

Put Them Down?

We sometimes act as if we expected the government to whittle all big industry down to size. Yet, what would our fate have been after Pearl Harbor, without large and well-equipped industries? In war, we relied upon our bigness. And big industry was well-supported by thousands of small firms. Now, in peacetime, America looks to a well-financed and managed industrial community for continued prosperity and plentiful jobs.

A business keeps growing amid strong competition if it pleases customers by giving them what they want at fair prices. While doing this it must pay its workers a competitive wage, and also earn a profit on the money which owners of the tools have entrusted to it. If a business does these things, it may expect to grow and be of even greater service to its public. In America, any kind of business must merit public approval or fold up.

Each a Customer

Big industry can do some of the big jobs better. Suppose you had to depend upon a one-man workshop for your automobile. Experts say it would cost you $50,000 to have your car built that way. Instead, large companies manage the mass production of thousands of parts (some of which are made by small firms), so that an assembly line rolls out the cars. This requires millions of dollars of capital, and thousands of workers.

Not all business should be big. Many needs are best served by small business. Actually, these firms are not always competitors of big business, for the big fellow and the little fellow can be partners in industrial activity. Then each one, big or small, profits from the efforts of the other. Here, we'll find parts used by big firms being made by small ones. There, we'll find the material of a large producer being fabricated by a small mill. Each is a customer of the other.

Pulling Together

It is because all of us have worked, and traded together, that living standards in America are the highest in the world. Many of our biggest businesses form the base of this pyramid of prosperity, making it possible for many small businesses to grow and develop. When our enterprises, big and little, have prospered, everybody has shared in the rewards. What system could bring us more?

Model Airplanes Numerous Over Burkburnett Sunday

If you were wondering what the strange buzzing sound was that you heard last Sunday afternoon, in the vicinity of the High school, it was Airplanes; model Airplanes with their miniature motors.

Harry Smith Jr., of Wichita Falls, owner of a Model Airplane shop and three soldiers from Shepherd Field came over to assist our young boys with their planes, and to encourage them to continue with his fun providing hobby.

Several of the local boys already have their planes and others are in the making. There are a number of the Dads also entering into this interesting sport. Dean Richmond, Scout Master of Troop No. 155 has added a complete line of Model Airplane kits and equipment to his Jewelry Store, making it possible for more boys to secure planes. Look for his ad on another page of the Star this week.

Mrs. Aline Cunningham and daughter and Mr. Garvin Eads of Fort Worth spent the week-end visiting Mrs. Minnie Blum and Mrs. Lewis. Mrs. Reagan, who had been visiting in the Blum home returned to Fort Worth with them.

Your Family Sunday School

Everyone who has opportunity to meet and work with the people as I have had the privilege of doing for a good many years is struck by one quality recurring in the members of every generation. That quality is eagerness; eagerness to achieve; eagerness to learn. It is a veritable source of energy and power.

Boys and girls of today are of wonderful quality, this generation for the world. Within their hearts they have the potential to rebuild the world as they desire. If they can make this a peaceful world, they can utilize their tremendous energies to produce in the world only if they are able to harness them to work efficiently. Helping to channel their mighty energies into the work of spiritual adulthood, the sole work of Sunday Schools of our day. Nowhere else are the children of spiritual education in self-discipline and devotion available to our people. The work of our Sunday Schools therefore becomes a primary consideration of every responsible adult in this nation.

Our public schools do an important job of helping to train young minds. There are countless civic programs which help to train young bodies and coordinate young muscles and teach some of the lessons of good sportmanship. These have the deserved support of most of our citizenry. Yet without spiritual education, a sound background of moral and religious training all other courses of training fail.

In this most important of all the responsibilities of education—that of training the mind and spirit—countless millions of adults are woefully neglected or indifferent or both. To provide for the schooling of a child's mind, to provide for his physical health, yet to neglect the health and growth of the soul within him is to rob him of his birthright—and cripple his spirit.

Until every boy and girl, and every man and woman in this nation has become an active participant in a Sunday School and church program, we are neglecting our most important national resource—the spiritual power of our people.

It is not enough merely to send your children to Sunday school. Take them to Sunday school this Sunday—take them regularly—join in the work of the church of your choice—help to make that work more far-reaching and significant—put your own faith to the test, and you may discover in yourself new spiritual strength which will bless your own life, that of your family and the community in which you live.

Thrills Stressed In Big Cattle Range Adventure

Romance and treachery on the cattle ranges keynote "Blood on the Moon", spectacular film version of the Luke Short novel, with Robert Mitchum, Barbara Bel Geddes and Robert Preston in the stellar roles.

Preston portrays a boisterous frontier crook, Miss Bel Geddes, the fiery daughter of an elderly cattleman, and Mitchum a roving cowboy who hires out to Preston to help put over a shady deal on the cattle man. But Mitchum soon becomes disgusted by Preston's greed and by Preston's secret romance with the cattleman's other daughter and decides to wash his hands of the whole thing.

Preston, however, forces a quarrel on Mitchum and tries to ambush him, with the result that Mitchum joins forces with the cattleman and, by the daring kidnapping of a crooked government agent involved in the deal, manages to save the rancher's herds in a thrilling climax.

Look at the Label
A lot of persons, who like to think that they think, are bandying about a couple of terms that mean less than a whole lot to a whole lot of people. I refer to the terms: "liberal" and "reactionary." May I put in my two cents worth in hopes that you may know these modern labels better?

What I mean is that armchair commentators and soapbox spellbinders throw these terms at you, without any apology. Sure, you can get their meaning, whether they are for it or against it, by the way their lips are curled and their epithets hurled. But that's not enough. We need to know what the labels mean. A man can't think straight unless he can know his ideas as he picks them up.

The Real Test
Jesus said of false teachers: "By their fruits ye shall know them." That is still the best way to size up a man and his idea. It is even possible to put that test to labels. That way, a man cannot call himself one thing and be another.

The word liberalism comes from the same basic word that gave us the term liberty. The ancestors of this label, therefore, are of the best blood. The term has the finest possible background, for it implies all sorts of freedoms and puts strong stress upon human liberty. Then how is it that those who claim liberalism as their doctrine are found waving the banner for the very worst enemies of all liberty?

State Supreme
We Americans declare that we hold sacred the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. We have said that man is to be as free as possible, while also being responsible. The nation's founding fathers clearly insisted that government must be set up to serve man, and not man to serve the government.

But here and now we have the sorry mess of the liberals today wanting to change all this. They propose to improve this arrangement by "planning" us into either a socialist or a communist or a fascist society in which all signs of human freedoms must certainly vanish. These planners and plotters would have the society (government or state) to be supreme in all things. Even God they would replace by the State.

A New Serfdom
What need would we then have to guarantee personal rights and freedoms, if the state is to assume all the responsibility for everybody? No need, at all, if the State is supreme. These liberals (I am now applying the label test to their works) care nothing for the Constitution. They are all totalitarianists at heart. Their aim is political power to suppress the personal liberty that belongs to the individual. Here we have the strange spectacle of dangerous "liberals."

What else is the explanation, when those who love to call themselves liberals denounce as "reactionary" anybody who distrusts the police state and would halt the trend to totalitarianism? A "reactionary," strictly speaking, is one who objects to progress and desires to turn back the clock. We must conclude then, that the real reactionaries of today are those liberals who would return us to the slavery of the State. They would make the coming century a new Dark Age.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

This has been another hectic week in the Congress. The House yesterday by a vote of 208 to 207 recommit the Rankin pension bill. 20 Texans voted on this motion. All voted to recommit except Beckworth, Lyle and Patman. The motion to recommit was made by Congressman Olin (Tiger) Teague, of Bryan. Congressman Teague has a brilliant military record—he served three years as an enlisted man in the National Guard, volunteered for army service, was commissioned a second lieutenant in Officers Reserve Corps on finishing Texas A. & M. He spent six years in the Army, from October 1940 to September 1946. Was in combat 6 months, wounded a number of times, decorated 11 times, and received the following awards—Silver Star with 2 clusters, Bronze Star, Purple Heart with 2 clusters, Combat Infantryman's Badge, Army Commendation Ribbon, French Croix de Guerre with Palm. No one can doubt the patriotism or the devotion to his country of Congressman Teague. He moved to recommit this bill because he thought it unworkable and impractical and that it should have further study. Under existing law any veteran on attaining the age of 65 who has as much as 10% disability can secure a pension of not less than $60.00 per month. There are many conditions under which pensions can be secured at a much earlier age, with allowances for dependents. Congress will doubtless pass a pension act with improvements over existing law. In fact, Mr. Rankin has declared his intention of bringing out a different and obviously better bill than the one which Congress has rejected.

The House Committee on Education and Labor, headed by Chairman John Lesinski of Michigan, has been busy reporting controversial bills. They have reported out the Administration's bill to increase the minimum wage to 75c and to extend its coverage to practically every worker in the land. They have also reported out the Administration's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley act. Then, Chairman Lesinski has introduced H. R. 3630 written by the American Federation of Labor to provide a billion dollars a year in federal aid for public schools to be used for educational purposes only.

The rent control bill is now being re-written by the House and Senate Conferees. We predict that rent control will be extended but that a local option amendment will appear in the law. Local communities will be given the authority to decontrol themselves if they so desire.

A great deal is now being said concerning the North Atlantic Pact. This Pact will soon be discussed and debated throughout the land. The Pact is a defensive alliance by the Western democracies for the avowed purpose of resisting aggression. It has been compared with the Monroe Doctrine. Such alliances are legal within the framework of the U. N. Charter. Of course, such a pact in effect goes back to the old power idea. Apparently the world is fast being divided into two camps; the communist camp and the democratic camp. It cannot be denied that balances of power can be, and in some instances in the past, have been effective in preserving peace. If the world were divided into two camps both of near equal strength neither camp would likely attack the other. Just as no potential enemy would attack us if he knew in advance that he would be defeated, it is reasonable to assume that no potential enemy will attack a member of the North Atlantic Alliance if he knows the same will provoke war and that he will in the end be defeated. We cannot afford another war even if we won. We must do everything possible to make war impossible. Our best hope of survival is to build and maintain a nation spiritually and materially strong. This means patriotic peacetime devotion to civic righteousness. This means resistance to domestic termites that forever gnaw on our foundations.

Mr. Winston Churchill came to Washington this week. Next week Mr. Ernest Bevin will be here. Mr. Churchill is the leader of the Conservative Party in England, while Mr. Bevin is one of the leaders of the Labor Party in England. It is curious they would both come over at the same time and at the time the Senate is about to act on further Marshall Plan aid.

A letter from a friend in the District complains of the prices on furs. He thinks we should have higher duties on imported furs. He makes this observation: "Now, as one hunter to another sir, I don't think there is a darn place or nation on earth that can compare with the products of the good U. S. A., including skunks. And our skunks are far superior to any skunk Russia can produce, and there are a few there."

Word has been received here of the death of C. M. McKinney of Choctaw, Oklahoma, last Thursday night. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Artie Whitesides.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Three-dimensional effect is gained from "framing" this shot of an old house.

Three-Dimensional Effects

Photography's fascination with the fact that it offers so many different effects of gaining different effects, lies in the fact that it offers so many ways of gaining effects. As an example, a photograph taken a few days ago showed a list of the various ways of giving an illusion of space.

A sense of space, too, can be gained by keeping backgrounds fuzzy and out-of-focus, a characteristic of many informal pictures of people and similar shots. With some types of cameras this is accomplished by using the largest lens aperture which the camera affords, reducing depth of field to a minimum. Outdoors, a similar effect is provided by haze and mist. A picture made on a hazy day invariably suggests distance.

All of these tricks, if you can call them that, help bring your pictures closer to reality since they provide the three-dimensional feeling—the reality of a three-dimensional world. And all of them can be used easily by any picture taker. Depending on the type of picture you are making, or upon the scene itself, one or another method will probably suggest itself to you.

An Enterprise Story

Freedom of enterprise is a strong and dynamic principle. It continues to work us wonders despite the many ways we have hedged it about. The sorry plight of our time is that we have found such a fine way of life, proved that it works so well, then cared so little to protect and cherish it. Yes, a lot of us pay first-rate lip service to free enterprise.

But when it's time for the crucial test, what happens? We let the politicians (who ought to become statesmen when elected) spread the death-web of bureaucracy far and wide. We seem to agree that government can do it—oh, just almost anything—so much better! We tax industry and incomes until capital is too scared to have any enterprise left. In short, we back enterprise right up to the precipice, and seem not to realize what we have done.

50,000 Lives

I have said that free enterprise still works us wonders. One of the most amazing examples of freedom of business enterprise has been working miracles right before our eyes now for five years, and we have scarcely noticed it. One of the nation's top science writers, J. D. Ratcliff, has outlined the miracle-story of penicillin manufacture in the January issue of "Nations Business." Ratcliff says this great medicine is now the biggest selling item in the drug trade, saving 50,000 lives yearly from pneumonia alone.

Just a few short years ago penicillin was made in laboratory flasks and sold for a fancy price. But, then, American industry tackled the job of producing penicillin. At first the quoted market price was $20 per 100,000 units, but today a dollar's worth of penicillin will rout dreaded pneumonia.

Courage and Vision

How did all this happen? Well, it took enterprise and lots of it. Penicillin manufacture was pretty much a guessing game—at first. It took courage to invest and to plan. According to Ratcliff, one small company in the chemical industry had this courage and vision.

It seems that a man named John L. Smith, president of Charles Pfizer & Company, Brooklyn, gets the main honors for penicillin manufacture. Smith was an immigrant to this country at the age of two years, and worked his way up to an education in chemistry. After he became president of that small firm, specialists in microbes and fermentation processes, Smith heard of penicillin. Then Smith took a chance, made possible by America's system of enterprise.

A Real Test

This man Smith made plans to spend 4½ million dollars for a giant new penicillin plant. That was big money, for his company was doing only about twice that amount of business annually. Besides, science was not certain about what penicillin could do. But Smith had seen it save lives, and he intended to produce it. He hid, in vats as large as tank cars. The demand was great. Then others began to make it. Still, the Pfizer company's sales jumped to 50 million dollars a year. The country had its precious penicillin.

This is a grand success story. But it is not a new one. The same kind of story has been repeated countless times in the building of America. Freedom of enterprise has helped make our land into a land of plenty. It would be well if we should test every bill in Congress, every national policy, with the question: will it encourage, or will it hinder, private enterprise?

National High School Photographic Contest Open

ONE of the best creative activities for students of which we know is the annual National High School Photographic Awards. Open to high school students in the ninth to twelfth grades, inclusive, in public, private, and parochial schools in the United States, the competition has won warm approval from many hundreds of educators. And the entrants themselves have found the competition fun.

Not only have the students found it fun, but many have found it a stepping stone to further their own education. In fact, all three of the grand prize winners of the last three years have used their $600 in prize money to help meet their college expenses. In all, the contest offers $2,500 in cash awards, with a top prize of $100 in each of four classes and an additional $500 to the $100 winner chosen as the best of all pictures in the contest.

Other prizes include second place awards of $75 in each class; third place awards of $50, also in each class; and more than 300 prizes of $10 and $5 plus Certificates of Merit.

This year's contest, open from February 1 to May 7, is divided into classes for photographs of school life; for shots of school athletic events; for pictures "around town," showing people at work or play and reflecting how we live; and for prints of pictorial beauty, scenic, still lifes, and similar shots.

As in past years, only black-and-white prints are eligible. Since the contest is designed to stress the creative side of photography, these pictures may be developed and printed by the contestant or by a professional photofinisher. And while they may be cropped or enlarged (to 7 inches in the longer dimension), no artwork, retouching, or multiple printing is permitted.

Complete rules and entry blanks for the contest may be obtained at most photo dealers, through local high schools, or by writing directly to the National High School Photographic Awards at 343 State Street, Rochester 4, New York.

Remember How We Talked?

It went like this at the Hooper's one other night. Hap's eighteen-year-old daughter is talking about "a real gene guy—solid—out of this world, but def."

"Now what kind of language is that?" Hap barks. "Can't she speak English?"

"I'll translate it for you," Ma Hooper says, "in the language of the twenties, when you were about twenty years old. She simply means this fellow is the 'cat's whiskers.' Remember how we used to talk sometimes?" Hap went back to reading his newspaper.

From where I sit, it's easy to criticize the other person when we don't take a good long look at ourselves. Sure, there'll always be some differences. I'm fond of a temperate glass of beer and maybe you would prefer ginger ale—but let's just live and let live. Because when we go out of our way to find things to find fault with in others, chances are they can find a few in us, too.

To Be Saved One Must Obey The Truth

There is no one lesson more clearly and emphatically in the Bible than that man must obey the truth to be saved. Yet there is no one truth more doggedly and vicariously opposed than that obedience is essential to salvation. The very question we are considering implies that all the denominational world teaches that salvation is a work of God in the soul prior to any obedience. The very question we are considering implies that it is something to DO to be saved. And when the question was asked in the days of inspiration, those inspired of God answered it with a statement of something to do, that inspired men thought people had to do something to be saved. Even the Lord himself, when he appeared to Saul of Tarsus, entertained Saul's question, "Lord, wilt thou have me to do?" And then the Lord told him to go to Damascus "and it shall be told thee what thou do" (Acts 9:6). That Saul asked what to do to be saved is admitted by all. And that Jesus answered that if there was something he could do, and must do, was saved is just as plainly taught.

Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father, which is in heaven" (Matt. 7:21). "It is of Jesus that he "became the author of eternal salvation to all them that obey him" (Heb. 5:9). "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth" (1 Pet. 1:22). And are they that do his commandments, that they may abide in the tree of life and may enter in through the gate into the city" (Rev. 22:14). These scriptures from the Bible side of the question state clearly and positively that salvation is conditioned on obedience. Since this is true that you obey the truth.

Youth Choir Caravan Dinner

Thirty-five young people left the First Baptist Church via cars to various homes for a four course dinner Wednesday night, March 23. Christene Suttles returned thanks at the Buster Morgan home where the cocktail course was served, and a brief business session held. The tourage journeyed on the Leo Foster home for a very attractive salad plate. For entertainment Patsy Morgan accompanied Nathalie Foster, Charlene Clements and Judy Willingham as they sang, "Forever and Ever."

The third home to be visited was that of the T. Lynn Stewarts. The delicious main course was attractively served at beautifully decorated individual tables throughout the home.

The desert course, apple pie ala-mode, was served the group at the home of Mrs. Sid Gambline, after which Mamie Browning, choir director, took charge in conducting a Singpiration. Needless to say, little Nancy Northcott was chief entertainer of the evening and a most congenial Miniature hostess.

The young people expressed their delight and appreciation of a most unusual evening to the mothers who so graciously opened their homes and hearts to them and their guests.

North Texas State Honors War Dead

Tribute was paid to 147 former students of North Texas State College who gave their lives in World Wars I and II as the new NTSC memorial student union building was dedicated Thursday, March 31.

Included on the list of ex-students was J. H. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ferguson, 520 North Main, Burkburnett.

Names of the Gold Star ex-students are listed on a bronze memorial plaque located in the foyer of the new union building. A lamp lighted during the ceremony will burn continuously over the plaque.

Dedication speaker was Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, NTSC ex-student and commander of the Eighth Air Force at Carswell Air Base, Fort Worth. Miss Emma Mae Brotze of Marshall, ex-student and member of the Board of Regents for the Texas State Teachers Colleges, made the presentation of the new building to President W. J. McConnell, who accepted on behalf of the college.

The ceremonies highlighted the first annual "North Texas Day", held this year on the 50th anniversary of the signing of the legislative act providing for NTSC's establishment as a state institution.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

More major land leveling, border, and ditch construction has been done in the Wichita Irrigated Valley the last 7 days than has ever been done in the history of the irrigation project. The irrigation districts, one and two, now own and operate a large carryall, bulldozer, large land alpine, maintainer, 3 drag lines and other equipment needed to carry out land leveling, drainage, and construction work. Personnel assigned to the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District are assisting farmers with the engineering part of the land leveling process. Farmers who are leveling land this week are Ben Richards, C. H. Adams, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Roy Thompson, and Sam Cunningham.

Approximately 1,000 feet of Diversion terrace has been constructed on the Ross Schleigh farm this week. This large terrace will direct approximately 40 acres of water from a flat alfalfa field and will empty on bermuda grass pasture. The terraces were run by the Soil Conservation Service and constructed by Commissioner H. H. Haynes' equipment. The tenant on this farm is Marvin Klinkerman.

The terraces were run by the Soil Conservation Service and constructed by Commissioner H. H. Haynes' equipment. The tenant on this farm is Marvin Klinkerman.

A terrace outlet channel with a sixteen foot wide flat bottom has been constructed on the Arthur Peyton farm of the Burwise Conservation Group. The channel will be sodded to bermuda grass and will take care of water from 80 acres of cultivated land which has been terraced.

There are 3 stock ponds now in process of construction on the Foster ranch west of Burkburnett and should provide a good supply of stock water. Thompson of Burkburnett, Moeller Brothers of Burkburnett, are doing the construction. The ponds will be a combination of grass and alfalfa.

Loys Harbour is the installation of irrigation ditches to each of his alfalfa corners. This will be used to turn the each border from irrigation ditch. This move much of the water from the irrigation of this field.
