City Takes Up $14,000 In Bonds Total Indebtedness Only $250,000

Burkburnett citizens will be glad to learn that the City of Burk Burnett is making progress in retiring its bonded indebtedness. This year $14,000 worth of bonds were retired. That makes $59,000 retired since the bonds were refinanced in 1947.

Now, the City owes only $250,000, and at the present rate of payment, should be out of debt in 8 to 10 years.

In 1947-1948, interest payments annually were $12,360.00. The annual interest payments now are down to $8,125, and will drop each year as other payments are made on the principal.

ALL tax collections were pledged to apply on interest and principal when the bonds were refinanced in 1947. This was necessary to get the interest rate cut and the bonds refinanced. Not one penny of tax money can go for any other purpose until the balance of $250,000 is paid off. Each year, after interest payments are taken care of, the balance collected from taxes goes to cut down the principal. It can go for no other purpose, so the sooner the principal is retired, the less goes for interest.

City Outgrows Water Department Facilities

Tuesday, April 3rd is City election day. There will be two ballots. One will be for the election of two Commissioners. The other will be on a $45,000 Water Dept. Improvement bond issue.

Up for re-election on the Commission are A. R. Hill and R. O. Brookshier. The other two candidates are Geo. W. Counter, Jr., and Byron Presley.

The $45,000 Water Dept. Improvement bonds are urgently needed to assure water for this summer's use. The recent increase in population, and many new homes going up now make this decision one of the most important to face local voters in many years.

The number of water meters has more than doubled in the past few years, and water consumption has gone up proportionately. Three years ago the average daily consumption in the summer months was 300,000 gallons. Two years ago the peak summer demand was 600,000 daily, which was all that could be furnished under the present water set-up. Last summer was the wettest in many years, consequently the daily demands were much lower than would normally be expected in a dry year.

The daily average demands this summer are expected to be 800,000 to one million gallons per day. Only one-half or a little more of that demand can be met with the present water system. It takes only second grade arithmetic to figure out that something must be done if Burk has enough water this summer. The present supply facilities must be doubled or half the time the hydrants will be dry.

Quotations on the necessary pipe, pumps, engines, water rights, etc., at the time the election was called, amounted to a little over $37,000. The City Commissioners are asking for $45,000 to take care of any unforeseen advance price of materials. Some of the prices, at the time the estimate was made, were guaranteed; others will be delivery date price. It's practically impossible to find a company who will take an order for several thousand dollars and guarantee a certain price even a week hence. $45,000 will do the job now. Later the same job could cost several more thousand dollars. But Burk needs the water NOW! VOTE FOR THE WATER DEPT. IMPROVEMENT BONDS.

Water Bond Issue Deserves Serious Thought Tuesday

Last night I had a dream that awakened me with quite a shock. I dreamed that I had been notified by the City Water Department that I would not be permitted to use my air conditioner any longer because all of the water which was available to the city plant would be needed for human consumption. They also said I would not be permitted to wash my car or water my lawn for the same reason. I never was a hand to wash my car, and even though I enjoy a beautiful lawn, I can get along without it alright, but when they cut the water off from my air conditioner, it seemed that the weather got hotter and hotter and I sweated more and more.

I came to town this morning and called the City Hall and learned that in 1939 our water system had 665 meters which they were servicing and as of this date, they are servicing 150 meters and are planning to service all others which I made application for a tie in.

I then talked to some of the boys around town and found that most of them expect around 200 new houses to be built during the balance of this year. In other words, if we have a normally dry summer, it appears now that they will cut my air conditioner off. Being a fat boy, I sure do like to use the air conditioner, so I am going to vote for the water program next Tuesday.

After all, this is our town and if we expect to enjoy a normal growth, we must find water to take care of the growth. I believe all of us should awaken to the situation and take steps now to insure abundant water supply for later. Next July and August will be too late.

Now is the time to act!

IN THE NAME OF WAR

We are not alone in our reaction to the blood-thirsty sounding labels used in connection with military action in Korea. You need not consider yourself overly sensitive or squeamish by objecting to the sound of "meat-grinder tactics" or "Operation Killer". Americans are normally peace-minded people, desirous of maintaining a decent way of life. When war comes they realize what it entails and share the feeling of wishing to defeat the enemy. We would not change the aggressiveness and strategy of our military leaders who are resisting the foe in the campaign. There is nothing pretty about war nor will words paint it so. The object of battle is to cut lines of communication, capture or destroy weapons, demolish industries that are war potentials and put out of action the enemy troops. But, in so doing, do we accept the action callously and dispassionately, with no sensitivity to the labelling of such as "meat-grinder tactics" and "Operation Killer?" Be our warriors of the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Corps, they are not glamorizing their job and though they burn, bomb, blast and kill, they are not blood thirsty. War by any name is hell, but it's inescapable duties need not be mentioned in words of calculated cruelty. Do they help the cause?

AS ONE MOTORIST TO ANOTHER

Scarce few of us who have not been involved, at some time or another, in a motor accident involving another car and finding, to our consternation, that the other driver carried no insurance. Generally your car damage costs are met by that other driver, but many times they are not. In the settling of your just claims, in either case, put you to extra bother and loss of time. It is not a cheerful incident, an accident of this kind, however minor the dents and scratches. The driver who can say, "I am covered. See my agent," saves you worry and the many trips to follow-up. Many states are enforcing compulsory automobile insurance. Upon buying a car license the driver shows an insurance policy which protects anyone to whom he inflicts damage. There are varied forms of this sort of state law. In some states it is either insurance or he able to settle damage claims by depositing security to cover judgments and, unable to furnish either the driver loses his right to own or drive any type of motor vehicle.

There are 25 states now using some plan for protecting motorists, by insurance or ability to pay cost damage. More states will come to it.

IT MIGHT MAKE US SICK

Remember when we were young and parents tried to get us to eat something we didn't care for by saying, "Take a bite and you'll like it." Generally they were right. But as grown-ups we don't swallow so easily. Taking the first bite out of the economy, the $10 billion tax, is not going to result in our liking it, what with a $6 billion "bite" to follow. There are increasing tax bites served by the government to many people who don't care for the dish, but, as mother said: "It's good for you." As long as the bites are necessary for the nation's good health, are sound and used with good judgment, then we will eat, but it is mighty hard to keep from choking on some of the dishes cooked up by the government.

COTTON IS KING

Way back in the long ago it was conceded that "cotton was king."

It seems that an advertisement signed by a group of Tennessee farmers challenged the right of any group of Southern farmers to say what the price of cotton will be regardless of the sweat and toil the Southern farmers assume in growing cotton crops. But let us not overlook the fact that America's cotton has gone up 40 per cent since the Korean war, as the Office of Price Stabilization has issued a statement to that effect.

And a statement made by authority of the Associated Press says that the fixing of price ceilings on cotton is a very strange adventure in the South and that "the OPS order is another step in socialization of the economy of the United States—especially as this is the first time the system of free enterprise has been invaded in the Southern cotton belt."

Letter From Korea

The following is a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. N. M. McBride from their son, Wendell, who has been in the service for 15 years and is now serving in Korea.

Dear Dad and Mother:

I received your letters of the 24th and 28th today. It was the first mail we have had in a couple of weeks. Sure glad you are both well and doing okay. The dirt isn't as bad here as at home but the wind blows quite a bit. It is pretty warm here now, especially in the day time. In a way I hate to see it get warm because I know how it is going to smell. These old grass shacks smell bad enough at best, but after they are torn up and half burned and then rained on they sure do smell. And then most of them have from one to half a dozen dead and burned bodies in them. I would just like to know how many civilians have been killed here in the last few months. Thousands of them froze to death this winter. Everywhere you go up and down the road you see bodies of old people and babies who couldn't make it and were just left to die. The first aid man of our outfit brought a little girl in the other day whose feet were frozen off about half way back and the bones were sticking out about an inch. Her mother had been shot through the leg and couldn't do anything for either of them. If he hadn't found them, guess they would both be dead in a few days.

We are with the 3rd Division now. They went across the river into Seoul this morning. Said they couldn't find any Chinks and very few North Koreans. Seoul is torn up so bad they are going to make another town the capitol of South Korea. I guess we will move across the river in a few days. They are expecting another hard fight up about the 38th.

I see they are sending 150 men over here the first of April to start the Rotation of the GI's in Korea. At that rate I can expect to get back in about 1955. I'm getting along just fine here and there isn't much danger anymore. We are eating good and the weather has warmed up so don't you and Mom worry about me. Just take good care of yourselves and write to me often.

All my love,
Wendell

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting
Ernest Hemingway has spent much of his tremendous energy in the unrelenting pursuit of fish and game. He measures a man according to his definition of a sportsman:

"A sportsman is an individual who practices any difficult art for the pleasure he derives from doing it. If he is good enough at it to make a living from it that makes him no less a sportsman. The main thing is that he must love to do it; not simply love the winning or the applause, nor what it brings him."

For the past 20 years deep-water fishing has occupied much of Hemingway's time. He boat-fished the first unutilized tuna ever taken with rod and reel in the shark-infested Bimini. He has a reputation for fighting his fish hard and boating them in a hurry.

To keep sharks from chewing up his fish, he once armed himself with a submachine gun. When a shark showed up by the boat, following the chum, he would wait until it rolled on its side to take the offering, give it a couple of bursts and get back to his fishing.

To make the fight as tough as possible for himself, Hemingway sues the sportiest tackle he can find. To land a good-sized Marlin or Sailfish with this kind of gear, he says the angler must be in good enough shape to last 12 rounds in the prize ring.

The aura of fitness and well-being that Hemingway radiates at the age of 51 is one of the best arguments for a life of action in the outdoors that one could find, writes Bill O'Brien, a fellow outdoorsman and author.

But whether deep-sea fishing or wing shooting is his first love, it's hard to say. Literally multitudes of birds—clay and feathered—have fallen to Hemingway's gun. He killed his first quail when he was 10.

He loves to watch a game bird in flight, but he nonetheless loves to kill it. He has written: "I think they all were made to shoot because if they were not, why did they give them that whir of wings that moves you so suddenly . . . why did they make them all so good to eat? . . . I think that they were made to shoot and some of us were made to shoot them."

Way Clear For Home Remodeling

Builders are looking forward to a boom year in home modernization and repairs. With fewer new houses being built because of tighter credit restrictions and other government controls stemming from the mobilization program, mechanics and materials will be available for the first time in the post-war period to satisfy the pent-up demand for renovations and repair of existing houses.

New construction—reaching an all-time peak of some 1,300,000 units in 1950—has swallowed up building materials as fast as mills and factories could turn them out. Builders, concentrating their efforts almost entirely on new housing, have experienced difficulty in getting sufficient skilled labor to fulfill their commitments. But long-deferred repairs and improvements now can be made. Fortunately, the materials needed, like asphalt roofing, siding, insulation materials and paints, will be available. Dealers are building up inventories of these supplies in anticipation of the home modernization and repairs boom expected to get under way in early spring.

Easy to Finance

Home owners will find it easy to arrange financing for modernization and repairs. The Federal Housing Authority is continuing its liberal credit policy in insuring loans by banks and other lending institutions for this purpose. One of the first things some home owners will want to do is replace old, weatherbeaten roofing with new fire-resistant asphalt shingles. This improvement fits in nicely with overall home modernization since the color of the asphalt roof—usually the largest unbroken area of any house—is the key to the color scheme.

Easy to Finance

Home owners will find it easy to arrange financing for modernization and repairs. The Federal Housing Authority is continuing its liberal credit policy in insuring loans by banks and other lending institutions for this purpose. One of the first things some home owners will want to do is replace old, weatherbeaten roofing with new fire-resistant asphalt shingles. This improvement fits in nicely with overall home modernization since the color of the asphalt roof—usually the largest unbroken area of any house—is the key to the color scheme.

"Saga of Peta Nocona" Tuesday Night, April 17

WICHITA FALLS—First performance of Eitel Allen Nelson's "Saga of Peta Nocona" in Wichita Falls Tuesday night, April 17, will not only illuminate memorable incidents in Red River valley history, but also will present outstanding musical units of this Texas-Oklahoma district over which the famous Comanche chieftain once led his warriors.

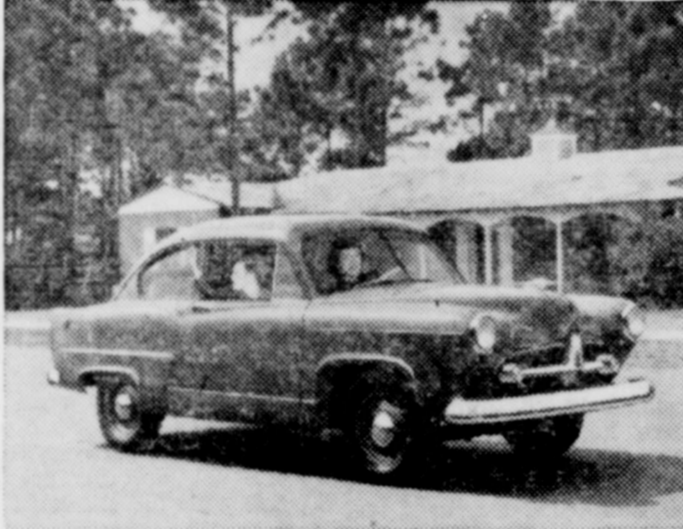

The 30-minute score for orchestra, chorus and baritone soloist is to be played by the Oklahoma State Symphony. The conductor on that occasion will be Frederic Balazs, musical director and conductor of the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra since December 1947.

Nearly 200 voices for the several choruses are to be provided by the University of Oklahoma, Norman, and Midwestern University, Wichita Falls. Chester Francis, director of the Oklahoma group, will bring 100 singers. William V. Boland of the MU musical faculty, will train a like number from the university choir and church choirs of Wichita Falls.

The soloist, to whom is assigned the death chant of Peta Nocona, will be Desire Ligeti, stalwart bass-baritone of the San Francisco Opera Company.

A full hour of music from Brahms, Mendelssohn, Debussy and Bartock will be included in the concert, the Nelson saga coming as the finale.

A day in the life of the Henry J and Rise Stevens

8:45 am... Start of a busy day! It's a lovely day on Long Island—perfect for Rise to go fishing with her son, Nicky. But there's shopping to be done, and then a drive to New York in the Fashion Academy car of the year!

1:30 pm... Conference at the Mot! Rise arrives at the opera house where she has thrilled thousands with her singing. But first an autograph—for a young member of the Rise Stevens Music Club, an international society of her admirers.

2:45 pm... A visit to the studio! Now she is to record her glorious voice for another RCA-Victor album! Rise always keeps her appointments on time—thanks to the ever-dependable performance of her Henry J!

4:30 pm... To the airport! Tonight there's a concert in Boston, so Rise flies there and back. The double-purpose interior of her Henry J provides more luggage room than the trunks of most sedans!

11:30 pm... Home at last!

The day's driving leaves Rise rested and relaxed. And it costs so little! Her Henry J gets up to 30 to 35 thrifty miles a gallon. Why not get around the Rise Stevens way—in the smart, new Henry J!

Ray C. Morrow, Pastor

On Stage In Person

One of the most popular singing cowboys of stage, screen and radio of today, Roy Whitley is one of the few started as a practical working cowboy. Born in Adiana, Ga., on December 1, 1901, Ray moved with his family when he was a small boy to a ranch near Ashland in Clay County, Alabama. His outstanding memory of those days is riding 30 miles for supplies. In those days, he attended country school, sang in the church choir and wanted to be a railroad engineer. When he was 14, he left home to strike out for himself. He went to Van Horn, Texas, where he got a job on Colonel W. T. Johnson's ranch. Here he became familiar with the routine of a large cattle ranch, absorbed the philosophy of real cowboys and learned their music. It was then he laid the ground work for his future career as a singer and writer of cowboy songs.

Later Ray went to San Antonio where he entered the construction business as water boy and worked his way up to foreman in the Iron worker's union. While following this vocation, he was a structural sheet worker in the construction of the Empire State Building and the George Washington Bridge in New York and similar big projects.

While helping build the Washington Bridge, Ray organized a cowboy singing act comprised of four singers and musicians. His old ranch boss, Colonel Johnson, brought a rodeo to Madison Square Garden. Reporting direct from work with soiled hands and face, for an audition, Ray, unrecognized by the Colonel, and his group won a job with the show.

Always in popular demand, Whitley breaks up his screen and radio work with frequent personal appearance tours from coast to coast.

Roy Magers On Lions Program

Roy Magers, Lionmaster, was responsible for the program last Tuesday night. Lion Roy brought a very interesting discussion on Lions Education, directed for the most part to eleven new members of the club. He told of the founding of Lions in 1917, and told of the growth of Lions International to the present time. The organization now has active clubs in twenty-nine countries of the world, bringing all nationalities to a closer fellowship and understanding. The talk was one of the most interesting and informative given at the local club in a long time.

Next week Roy Mitchell and Willis Barley will have charge of the program.

Tuesday, April 10th was the date set for a Lions Canasta, bridge and 42 party to be held at Town Hall. Lions and their guests will begin play at 7:30 P. M. There will be no Lions supper that night.

Miss Killen, Guy Joe Roberts Are Married In Church Ceremony

In a Saturday evening ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church at Brownwood, Miss Norma Jean Killen, daughter of Mrs. Emma Killen, 711 Fisk, and M. M. Killen, Newton, Kansas, became the bride of Guy J. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Roberts, Sr., Burkburnett. Candelight from tapers in tall candelabras lighted the church, decorated with white gladioli and palms and white callidums. Family pews were marked with a single candle tied with white ribbon. Dr. Nathan J. Salyer, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony with organ music furnished by Mrs. J. A. Cunningham III. She played the traditional wedding marches and preceded the ceremony with "Because," d'Harderlot; "Desert Song," Romberg; "Indian Love Call," Friml and "Always," Irving Berlin. She also accompanied Mrs. Harrell Rice and Mrs. William Kemp as they sang "I Love You Truly." Robert Wilton Holley gave his sister-in-law in marriage. She wore a candlelight satin gown fashioned with long princess lines buttoning with self covered buttons terminating at the Mandarin neckline. Caught to the fitted bodice was a full paneled skirt which extended into a cathedral length train. The long sleeves ended in petal points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of imported mist illusion was caught to a Juliet cap of candelight satin and seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a gold and diamond necklace belonging to her mother. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of white hyacinths with a single white orchid at the base. Mrs. Wilton Holley was her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. Carl Milton Roach of Jasper, cousin of the bride, served as bridesmaid. Miss Pamela Holley, the bride's neice, was flower girl. The bride's attendants wore identical white gowns styled with fitted white satin jackets and bouffant white net skirts. Their mitts of white satin extended in points over their hands. Mrs. Holley carried a fan shaped arrangement of yellow daffodils tied with white ribbon and Mrs. Roach carried a smaller fan shaped arrangement of like flowers, also tied with white ribbon. Both wore rhinestone necklaces, a gift of the bride. Both attendants wore miniature illusion veils attached to caps of white satin and seed pearls. Miss Holley chose a white tulle floor length dress with full gathered skirt of white net and trimmed with yellow and white ribbons. In her hair she wore silver barretts, a gift of the bride. She carried a basket of white satin and maline containing yellow rose petals. The bridegroom's best man was his cousin, Brack Preston, Burkburnett. Groner Pitts served as groomsman and ushers were Henry Evans, Jr., and Harrell Rice. Mrs. Killen and Mrs. Roberts, mothers of the bride and bridegroom, wore navy blue suits and corsages of white gladioli. At the reception following the ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Holley, 2216 Elizabeth Drive, spring flowers carried out the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white. Covered with a white organdy and linen cloth, the table held the bride's bouquet and a centerpiece with the all white tiered cake at one end and the silver coffee service at the other. White candles in crystal candelabras completed the appointments. Mrs. Grone Pitts poured the coffee and Mrs. Shirley Roberts, of Wichita Falls, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served the cake. Others in the house party included Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Salyer, Mrs. Henry L. Evans, Jr., at the guest register, Miss Elbert Ruth Dean and Miss Marjorie Ann McNeill, both of Brookeland and cousins of the bride assisting in the dining room. When the couple left on a wedding trip, the bride was wearing a navy faille dressmaker suit with navy accessories. Her navy straw hat was trimmed in pink and her houndstooth coat, hip length, was also navy and pink. Upon their return, the couple will be at home in Denison. A graduate of Marcelline, Mo., High School and Texas State College for Women, the bride taught home economics at Bryan High School, Bryan, for the past semester. At TSCW she was a member of the Mary Swartz Rose Club and Alice Freeman Palmer Club. Mr. Roberts, a graduate of Burkburnett High School and Howard Payne College, is now employed by Dun and Bradstreet in Dallas. He was cheerleader in Howard Payne from 1946 to 1948. Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Broadway, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. George T. Roberts, Jr., Mineral Wells; Mrs. Shirley Roberts, Miss Doris Roberts, Bob Dudley, Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Brack Preston, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Roberts, Sr., Burkburnett; Miss Elbert Ruth Dean and Miss Marjorie Ann McNeill, Brookeland; and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Milton Roach of Jasper. Also Mrs. Gertie Brown.

First Star Printed In Burkburnett On September 11, 1907

Last week a copy of the first paper to be printed in Burkburnett was brought to the Star office.

Volume 1, Number 1 of The 6666 Star, was printed September 11, 1907, with F. J. Graves as editor. The six column paper, hand set, consisted of four pages, the back and front page local items with the inside pages patent sheets.

Interesting items taken from the first publication are as follows:

"Burkburnett is destined to be a city of 1,000 people in a very short while if she keeps building at the present rate."

"There will be $300,000 worth of cotton marketed in Burkburnett this fall. Not so bad for a town less than three months old."

"The Star is pleased to announce that it starts off with 200 cash subscribers."

"New School Near Completion" (4 room frame).

"This paper is named in honor of the 6666 Ranch on which the town is located."

Ads in the paper read something like this:

"Cicero Smith, W. Graham, Manager."

"M. Dodson, the Land Man."

"Fowler Brothers Livermen."

"Your whiskers will be amputated without pain at the City Barber Shop. Laundry Basket leaves every Tuesday A. M. F. E. Pike."

"Miss Bonita Akers, Millinery."

"First Nat'l Bank, J. A. Kemp, Pres.; J. D. Hardin, Vice President."

"K. O. Kessler, Hdw. & Furn."
"Scott & Cowan, Contractors and Builders."

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Griffin left Thursday for their home in Sheridan, Wyoming after a three week visit with his father, W. B. Griffin.

This Space Donated To THE CUB SCOUTS

Is your son between the ages of 8 years and 11 years? Would you like to have him become a Cub Scout of America? Well, I would. And if your answers are yes, let's get together and do something about him.

As of now, there are about 15 Cub Scouts in Burkburnett. Surely there are many more boys of this age with parents that have the time and are interested in doing all that is possible in making the boys of today better and more understanding men of tomorrow.

Pack meetings are held the 4th Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p. m. at the First Christian Church.

On Saturday, April 7th, some of the fathers are taking the boys to Sheppard Air Force Base to go through the Airplane School.

On Friday afternoon, April 13th, they are going to Perkins Reservation for an outing.
