Chi Rho Fellowship At Central Christian Church

The boys and girls of the Central Christian Church are finding the Chi Rho Fellowship, which is a branch of the Young People's Fellowship, a very interesting and entertaining organization. The name Chi Rho is Greek and was the ancient password used by the early Christians in Greece during their time of persecution. It means Christ is always present.

The initiation of members into the local chapter was held two weeks ago with a candle light service when eighteen were enrolled on the scroll. Each meeting begins at 6 P. M. on Sunday evening with a call to worship. This is followed by a song-fest, a study period, a recreation or game period, then refreshments. For the benediction a circle is formed while they sing "Into My Heart." All usually stay for the evening church service.

The officers for the quarter are: President, Marlyn English; Vice-president, Leon English; Secretary, Don Fowler; Treasurer, Eva Jo Woodard; Program leader, Charlene Davis. Bulldogs Lose Conference Game To Seymour

The little Bulldogs dropped their first conference game of the season here on the local gridiron last Friday night to the Seymour Panthers. It was a hard fought game, ending 32 to 14.

Quarterback Hugh (Pude) Fewin, has more intestinal fortitude than any Bulldog player in many, many years. Early in the game he received a blow on the nose which cut a wide gash. He played the entire game calling the plays and doing much of the hard tackling to hold the Panther runners to short gains. Few spectators in the stands knew that several stitches were required to close the wound following the game.

Scoring order was as follows: First Quarter—Seymour crossed the goal line first when Fullback Charles Beaver went around right end on a 71 yard jaunt, Bobby Morris kicked the extra point.

2nd Quarter—Beaver plunged over from the one yard line for the second Seymour counter. The kick was wide. 13-0.

The Bulldogs bounced back, taking the kick-off on their 20 and keeping possession until they scored. Kenneth Richardson went across from the 2 yard line. James Kelley kicked the extra point, with Richard Ragsdale holding.

3rd Quarter—Joe Crump with the Panthers broke through center for 30 yards and six more points. Morris converted. 20-7.

4th Quarter—Late in the 3rd quarter Burk took a kick-off on their 1 yard line and made a sustained drive to Seymour's six. From there Hugh Fewin plunged over for a TD. Kelley again kicked the point with Ragsdale holding. Seymour still didn't feel safe. Beaver plowed through center for a TD from the 7 yard line, bringing the score to 20-14.

Burk took the kick-off and returned it to their own 32. On the next play, Morris intercepted a Burk pass and raced untouched for a Touchdown.

Friday night, November 2nd, the Bulldogs go to Quanah for a conference game. Follow the little Bulldogs and give them your support. They'll appreciate it.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Miller and son of Odessa have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Bob Brookover the past two weeks.

Quanah Football Tickets May Be Purchased Here

Reserved seat tickets for the Quanah football game to be played at Quanah Friday night, November 2nd, may be purchased here at the High school office or at the First National Bank. These are choice seats, located between the 45 yard lines. Tickets will be available here until Friday noon.

The game at Quanah is a conference game, with Quanah having one of the strongest teams contending for the title. Go to Quanah with the Bulldogs Friday night. They need your support.

Dividing the Profit Dollar

There's a lot of huffing and puffing from time to time about the alleged high profits being made by American industry. The thing we aren't told, however, is what happens to the money industry takes in through the sale of the products which make our lives more comfortable and more secure.

Since this is Burk Burnett Oil Progress Week, when oil men of this community make their annual report to customers and neighbors, we asked one of them to let us take a look at the last annual financial report of his company. We checked that report carefully and here is what we found:

The company took in more than $1,300,000 last year (not including the gasoline and other taxes it collected from all of us for the government). Here's how each of these company dollars was divided up:

In the first place, 62.5 cents of every dollar taken in was spent for raw materials and for producing, transporting, making and selling products and services.

Next, payrolls and employee benefits took 12.5 cents out of the dollar.

Obsolescence and depreciation of properties and equipment absorbed 7.3 cents.

To keep the company progressive, 5.6 cents were put back into the business in the form of new plants and facilities.

The government took 5.9 cents which paid the company's income and other direct taxes.

Out of the fast-shrinking dollar, 5.8 cents was distributed in the form of dividends to more than 100,000 investors whose savings made this company's existence possible.

Last, 0.4 of a cent was used to pay interest on borrowed money.

The picture looks a lot different when it is viewed from this angle, doesn't it?

BAD TO WORSE

As recent news stories from various parts of the country have shown, the beef situation is rapidly going from bad to worse—due to the incredibly confused problem of present price ceilings and price control policies.

For a considerable period of time, the number of beef animals which the established law-abiding packers have been able to buy has been far below normal, and far below the needs of consumers as well. Moreover, livestock prices—which are governed by rules so complex as to confound even the experts—have reached a point where, in many cases, the packers who abide by the law must operate at a loss if they operate at all.

Something of a new high in the confusion was reached in the latter part of September when the Army found it couldn't obtain 13,000,000 pounds of dressed beef it needs in the domestic market. A number of major packers informed the Army that they would be unable to put in bids. One reason for this, the packers pointed out, was that they couldn't get enough beef to handle the orders of their regular customers. Another was that filling the Army's big order, under present regulations, would entail prohibitive losses. Army officials announced that they would buy beef abroad if they couldn't buy it at home.

All in all, the beef problem has presented the nation with a practically perfect example of how price and other controls always gum up the works, hurt the consumer and the reputable business alike, and create problems far worse and far more complex than the problems they are supposed to solve. Apparently the government just has not learned the economic facts of life.

They Started In An Oil Well

Do you happen to own a transparent raincoat? Or a set of non-breakable ice box dishes? Or a light-weight, bright-colored garden hose? Did you ever notice the wrapper that surrounds the frozen vegetables you buy at the store?

These, along with thousands of other equally commonplace articles, may have started in an oil well. They were converted into their present form by the science called petrochemistry, which takes petroleum hydrocarbons and utterly transforms them.

This particular branch of chemistry is very new and it is enormously complex. It deals in the abstruse world of atoms and molecules. And so far, great as the progress has been, only the surface has been touched. As an article in a magazine published by one leading oil company put it, the "phenomenal progress of petrochemistry has been achieved in a few recent years by what might be called the traditional methods of chemistry, involving the rearrangement of atoms to make strange new molecules. Ahead lies the wide-open, fabulous field of nuclear chemistry, which plays with the atoms themselves. Already the star-gazers among chemists are looking in that direction."

Petrochemistry demonstrates that crude oil is an extraordinary commodity. The processes of science can make it perform services and produce useful articles which are almost unlimited in scope and number. And all of this is the result of research, both within the oil industry itself and in the industries which produce plastics, synthetics and other chemical products. The result is better living for the people.

The American oil industry spends $100,000,000 a year on research. That is an enormously profitable investment for the whole nation.

WILLING WATER SAYS:

COST OR SAVINGS . . .

Granted that water is free; granted that you are paying only to have water gathered, treated and distributed; just what is it costing you?

What, for example, does it cost to get enough water delivered to wash your face—just to fill the basin? Less than five one-hundredths of a cent, or less than five cents a month, assuming you're satisfied to clean up three times a day.

You can get all the water you require for a bath, poured right into the tub for approximately a penny, and a shower will cost you even less. The bill for flushing a toilet runs about two-tenths of a cent.

Add all these costs up; allow for the water used for drinking and coffee making and cooking, include laundry and household cleaning requirements and then consider how you'd go about meeting your water needs if you didn't have a public supply system.

Suppose you want to keep that garden blooming, you've been pouring some 300 gallons an hour on it at a cost of 10 cents or so. Pumping and carrying the same amount of water would take at least six hours. Even if you could get one of the youngsters to work for 50 cents an hour, you would have to spend 90 dollars a month for the service.

Compute any of your other water uses on the same basis and try to think of any other commodity which is delivered to you, guaranteed ready to consume or employ, at a comparable price.

The Important thing about your water bill is not the charges it records, but the savings it doesn't mention.

Bouquet Offered Burk Burnett By Sheppard Airman

609 East Third Street Burk Burnett, Texas October 30, 1951 Editor, Burk Burnett Star, Burk Burnett, Texas Sir:

Whether or not you wish to use this letter to the people of Burk Burnett, Texas in your paper, I will leave to your good judgment, but I should like to have every citizen of Burk Burnett know how sincerely I appreciate all this little town has done to make me, an Air Force Sergeant, feel at home ever since I arrived here with my family about two years ago.

The hand of friendship was extended to us as soon as we inquired about housing in Burk Burnett in November of 1949. As soon as we were established, we were invited to participate in church activities, to join in various organizations throughout the town, and were accepted as "friends and neighbors," and not as "strangers and outsiders."

Where we came from was immaterial, but rather, how we would fit into this community. This was the easiest task we were ever assigned, because everyone in Burk did his utmost to help us accomplish that goal by being friendly, sincere, and hospitable.

Credit was extended to us when it was needed, with little or no questions asked. For those Airmen who have abused this privilege, I can only express my contempt, and I feel confident I speak the minds of the majority of Airmen when I make this statement.

We are being transferred to California in the immediate future, and although eagerly anticipating our new assignment, and what it holds in store for us, it is with heartfelt regret we bid adios to the wonderful Texans of Burk Burnett who have befriended us so outstandingly in these last two years. We can scarcely hope for the same fine, friendly treatment elsewhere.

As a closing remark, I respectfully suggest to the Jaycees of Burk Burnett they have signs painted and posted at all entrances to this town to read as follows: "You are now entering the friendliest town in the United States."

Sincerely, M/Sgt. Seth D. Maine

Sellers Hits Pension Plan

From The Dallas News—

Sulphur Springs, Texas—Grover Sellers, former Attorney General, opposes the change in Texas pension payments to the aged.

The change will be made if voters approve a proposed constitutional amendment on Nov. 13th.

"Contrary to general opinion," Sellers said, "this amendment does much more than raise the ceiling of old age assistance by $7,000,000.

"The Constitution now restricts old age assistance to persons who are over sixty-five years of age and who are citizens of the State of Texas and who have been bona fide residents of the State of Texas for at least five years during the nine years immediately preceding their application, and who have resided in Texas for at least one year immediately preceding their application.

"The proposed amendment eliminates the requirement of citizenship and of actual bona fide residence. The proposed amendment would greatly enlarge the old age assistance rolls of Texas. For example, it would make eligible citizens of Mexico, Germany, England and other foreign countries and citizens of all other states of the union just so long as they reside in the State of Texas. The proposed amendment might even cause many aged persons from outside the state to move into Texas for the purpose of qualifying for assistance under our program. The amendment might well reduce the amount of assistance to be received by those citizens who now qualify because it will take in large numbers who do not participate in present appropriations. The amendment, of course, would tie the hands of future Legislatures and of the courts in the matter of Texas citizenship and resident requirements."

Benefits Of Conservation

Benefits from growing the summer legume, guar, continues to be reported on farms around Margaret, Texas, in Foard County, also in areas in Wilbarger County.

Guar, unlike its sister legumes is a heavy hollow stemmed plant that produces a large amount of seed pods from the base, or axle of the leaves. Guar usually grows to a height from three to three and one-half ft.

Of interest to the conservation farmers is the fact that this legume, under average conditions adds a large amount of nitrogen to the soil, plus a huge tonnage of organic matter.

On Mr. John Jokel's farm last year one acre of guar was cut and weighed for total tonnage. The same was done for an acre of peas. The guar weighed twelve tons to the acre while the peas weighed five tons. On drying, the guar had a dry weight of two tons, while the peas weighed one ton. The advantages of having large amounts of organic matter incorporated into the soil will necessarily increase the yield of the following crop, plus the prevention of wind and water erosion damage. Mr. Jokel has seen the benefits in increased yields from both guar and peas on his cotton and feed crops.

Mr. Karl Zock, Soil Conservation District co-operator in the Elliott Community, and last year's winner of the Wilbarger Lions Club Soil Conservation Award, reports that guar has increased the yield of his cotton as much as a fourth of a bale per acre. He further stated to Soil Conservation Service technicians that no insect damage of any consequence was apparent. Despite the drouthy weather experienced last summer his cotton grew off well, set a large amount of bolls per stalk, and on observation, and boll count, this field will yield about one bale of cotton per acre. Mr. Zock is telling his friends about the benefits of growing guar. He also added that clovers, and other legumes, had their place in a year round soil building program.

Tanda Camp Fire

The meeting was called to order by the President and after roll call, dues were collected by the Secretary, Peggy Terry. Old and new business was disposed of and we had a discussion on Hallowe'en refreshments. We also discussed our Christmas Party which will be held at the home of Charlene Davis. Hand-crafts were discussed. Reporter, Wanda Redman Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Time to settle...

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employes and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employees Accept
Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employes—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse
But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employes. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employes are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?
They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?
Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $3.34 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?
The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employes covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?
The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employes in yard service. The employes can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?
The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated
The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed
With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employes.

Missionary Fed. Met Mon., Oct. 29

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the Christian Church was hostess Monday afternoon, October 29th to the Missionary Federation.

The Church was decorated with chrysanthemums and marigolds. Mrs. Turner opened the meeting by having the audience sing, "Living for Jesus." Mrs. Gragg led the opening prayer. A well planned and inspiring devotional on the use of our talents was given by Mrs. Lewis Brocker. Piano selections of Ethelbert Nevin's "Narcissus," Claude Debussy's "Claire DeLune" and an arrangement of a hymn, "Beyond the Sunrise" were very graciously and ably rendered by Mrs. G. G. Tyler.

Kenneth Newton, pastor of the church, presented a very masterful and challenging talk. His theme was the responsibility of the church and the individual in today's program.

After the benediction the ladies went to the parsonage for a social hour and refreshments. It too was decorated with fall flowers and lovely linens. The silver tea service and the flower arrangement on the service table were beautiful. The women from the other churches expressed their appreciation of the program and entertainment given by the Christian Church. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gilbert are attending Markets in Fort Worth and Dallas this week.
